A young lady who has just returned from the wildest part of the wild West, says the Louisville Commercial, tells a story on herself that goes to prove that there is a good deal in the saying about not judging by appearances. She was staying on a ranch. One day she went alone for a long ride. She finally came to the bank of a dry river bed and rode up the canyon. In the northwest she saw a cloud from which a heavy rain was falling. As it was being rapidly driven toward her by the wind she turned and put her horse in a gallop. The bed of the river was hard and sandy, and her horse skimmed along as if thoroughly enjoying the run. As she turned a bend she looked back and the cloud was almost overhead. She brought her whip down sharply across her horse and turned to look back once more, when what was her horror to see a wall of water six or eight feet high rushing toward her. She turned her horse diagonally across the river bottom and began to ply the whip with might and main. Her horse, now thoroughly aroused, dashed madly forward, as, with whitened lips and blanched face, she forced him on. Nearer and nearer she was getting to high ground, but faster and faster the water approached, its front boiling and foaming in its rush and casting spray high in air as it struck the ground. Suddenly the water was shut from her sight by a small island that she had not noticed until it loomed up between herself and the body of approaching water. The island was a hundred yards above her and toward the water. She turned her horse sharply toward it and, urging him with whip and spur, forced him on. She had almost reached it, when the water struck the other side of the island with a roar that so startled her horse that he came to a dead stand and she was hurled forward. Almost before she struck the ground the water surged around the island. As she gave up hope she was caught around the waist and lifted in front of a man on horseback, who in a few minutes had her in safety. Her horse had reached the road and after she was rested her rescuer brought it to her and helped her mount. For the first time she noticed him. He was fully six feet tall and broad-shouldered. He wore a full beard and, while very rough-looking, was very handsome. She thanked him for saving her life, but he hardly spoke a word, yet did not seem embarrassed. When they reached home she spoke to her sister in French and said: "Is he not handsome? Look what a magnificent figure, etc." He turned and smilingly thanked her in French. She then learned that he was a college graduate and was staying in the West for his health. She saw a great deal of him and it is very probable that, as he saved her life, he will ask the right to care for it always.

HER MATE INDEED.

Delia Cross Captains the Oregon and Her Husband Obeys.

"The greatest storm I ever encountered was off Cape Hatteras. The wind was blowing direct across the bow, and the Oregon was taking in water by the barrel. It was an exciting night I can tell you."

It was Captain Delia Cross, commander of the schooner Oregon, who spoke. Captain Cross is the pretty young married woman who last week applied to Collector Erhardt for a commission, says the Marine Journal.

"I have so trained my voice," Captain Cross said, while her fingers were busy mending a tarpaulin hat much the worse for wear, "that I make myself heard in the heaviest gale. I was about to tell you of the storm off Cape Hatteras.

"The wind was blowing northeast and the sea was very high. The first mate, that's my husband, came aft and said that unless the wind and sea abated and we took in less water we would have to take to the boats.

"I was standing on the poop deck dressed in my tarpaulin coat and hat when a wave higher than the others was seen approaching us. It was a terrible moment of suspense. If the Oregon breasts this she may live, I thought.

"Clutching the guard-rail, I set my teeth and waited. As the wave came nearer I saw it was larger than any other wave I had ever seen. The water struck the vessel with a terrific crash, and I had only time to murmur: 'May God save us.'"

The Oregon shivered from stem to stern, trembled like a wounded bird, and then slowly righted herself. It was a moment of intense excitement for Captain Cross and her gallant crew. The little vessel righted herself, however, and the words of Captain Cross proved true.

The big wave was the tail end of the storm. Soon the wind subsided and the Oregon was safe.

"I ordered the steward to serve up extra grog all around," said Captain Cross, as she finished her story, "and we all thanked our stars for our deliverance."

Mate Cross, Captain Cross' husband, was busily engaged in coiling ropes.

"Does my wife know a ship?" he said, repeating the reporter's question. "Well, I guess she does. I'll match her against any captain in the merchant service."

And here Mate Cross looked affectionately at his wife, the commander of the good ship Oregon.

Why He Lost a Tooth.

The other day a Philadelphia gentleman came to a well-known dentist, suffering from a front tooth. Although it showed no decay it had to be pulled. Around the root was found firmly coiled a little rubber band such as are used to fasten papers. Then the gentleman remembered the explanation of his sleepless nights and long period of agony. A month or more ago his little daughter was playing on his lap and had a rubber band which she playfully fastened in his teeth. It had been allowed to remain without his knowing it and worked down to the roots, causing the loss of the tooth.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,

12 West Second Street,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,

Invites especial attention to his stock of

Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.

In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under

WATERPROOF SHEDS.

Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction. TELEPHONE 129.

Lumber constantly on hand.

Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.

4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in

Pianos & Organs.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.

3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,

79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.

1-24-

R. R. FAIRCHILD,

Furniture & Bedding,

21 EAST FRONT STREET.

Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom

FURNITURE,

Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.

Baby Carriages—The largest assortment in town.

4 DOORS BELOW POST OFFICE. 1-11-t

BOOTS AND SHOES

LOW PRICES.

At C. W. FORCE'S.

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.

11 West Front Street.

TRY

B. T. Barnes'

Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.

Simon Pure—No Adulteration.

12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL.

OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV

YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-30-y

Willcox & Gibbs

S. M. CO.

Orders left at

95 E. FRONT STREET

Will be promptly attended to.

NEEDLES, OIL, &c.

F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-22-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.

1869. JULES BOUTES, 1886

No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.

—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—

Exclusively for

—Ladies and Children.—

N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 15 North avenue, Plainfield. P. O. Box 214. Telephone No. 124. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 4-5-

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR

Gasolene Stoves,

ALL SIZES.

Refrigerators & Freezers,

Horse Sheets and Nets.

tf23

BUY "GRAPHITE"

For your Safeties; reduced from 25c to 17c per Bottle.

Look at the PRICES on

Fishing Rods & Tackle,

Ball Goods,

Spratt's Dog Biscuits, &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,

33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.

4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!

SODA WATER

AT

RANDOLPH'S

This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.

Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.

L. W. RANDOLPH,

21 W. FRONT STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

5-1-tf

U. B. CRANE,

HATTER,

12 PARK AVENUE,

Has fine lot

Spring and Summer Hats,

At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician, 12 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, Diamond Rings, Fancy Clocks, Diamond Rings, Fancy Silverware. Call and examine Goods and Prices. Repairing a Specialty. Don't forget the number.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD

Situated on

NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.

A Convenient and Elegant Resort.

Special attention given to

Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.

FRANK E. MILLER.

5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.

FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.

WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor

UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. E. BUERBOWER, Proprietor.

With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.

J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.

All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.

CHARLES SMITH.

Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.

St. Louis and Imported Beer.

A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day. 4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 | A. M. | to meet | 8.29 | A. M. train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | | do | 10.37 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | | do | 12.08 | P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 | P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.30 | P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 | P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.39 | do | |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do | |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.05 | do | |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 5th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.30, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.36, 5.36, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.

Telephone Call, 18. 7-8-tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE

Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 58, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sundays at 1 00, 4 58, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 58, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 4 58, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M., 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 57 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.

J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 28, 10 15, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 33, 3 30, 5 16 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 2 30, 3 45, 7, 7 45, 9 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 33, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 55, 2 22, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 38, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48 A. M., 2 03, 5 35, 6 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 49, 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 9 05, P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8; 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 09 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 38 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 54, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 2 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 03 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58 a. m., 1 59, 2 32, 4 08, 5 34, 6 30, 7 39, 10 p. m. Sundays—5 45, 8 15, 9 48 a. m., 2 23, 5 34, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 49 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 9 05, P. M.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58 a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14 p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA,

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 8 45, 12 p. m. Sundays—9 a. m., 12 50, 3 10, 5 15, 6 15, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 10, 8 30, 11 06, a. m. 12 53, 5 30, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 8 35 a. m., 12 52, 2 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, AUGUST 8, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURCH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

WE HAVE HAD A LARGER

Trade this season than ever before; simply because we have increased our stock and variety, likewise keeping up sizes as near as possible.

We still have a good variety of Russet goods. They will be worn for outdoor use until the middle of September. THEN, if they are still in good order, make a very comfortable house shoe for Winter.

We close our store 7 P. M., (except Saturday). Please make your purchases accordingly.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

Man wants but little here below—
And don't want that little very long.

Only in a pair of Shoes they want them LONG enough for comfort, and also want them to wear a LONG time. They will surely do it if you buy them of

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

Wishing you good Health
Truly yours
Carl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 19 E. 2d St. [4-2-tf

A TIE-UP EXPECTED

Discharges on the New York Central May Cause Trouble.

KNIGHTS READY FOR A STRIKE.

The Railroad Officials Do Not Anticipate An Outbreak.

A Conference to be Held To-day—The Reinstatement of the Men to be Asked—A Strike Would Affect All the Vanderbilt Lines—Chauncey M. Depew Requested to Interfere.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The question whether there will be a general tie-up on the New York Central Railroad will probably be settled to-day after John Holland, of the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor, sees General Manager Toucey, of the New York Central.

Should there be a general tie-up it will also affect the Michigan Central and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Lines, the three roads constituting the Vanderbilt system between New York and Chicago.

For some time there have been whole sale discharges of men on account, it is alleged, of the antipathy of the company to the Knights of Labor. The leaders of the Knights have become alarmed and have cabled Chauncey M. Depew, who is in Paris, asking him to interfere.

The Knights claim that the whole matter points to a determination on the part of the officials to crush out unionism, and as there are, it is estimated, about 8,000 Knights of Labor on the New York Central, between New York and Buffalo, the consequences of a tie-up will be very serious. The men are anxious to avoid it, and hope to be able to settle matters amicably.

Third Vice-President H. Walter Webb, of the railroad, was seen early in the day and attributed the discharge of the men to a cutting down of expenses. He claimed the men were laid off irrespective of whether they were Knights or not.

General Manager Toucey said: "There was no man discharged without cause, and these men cannot be reinstated."

He did not believe there would be a tie-up. One reason for the discharge of some of these men was that they had become too saucy.

At a conference yesterday a list of grievances was prepared, and a list of forty Knights who had been discharged lately, and whose characters were unblemished, was also drawn up. These men are all tried and experienced employes, none of whom, it is claimed, were less than ten years on the line, while raw young fellows were kept.

Mr. Holland will wait upon Mr. Toucey to-day, and the future action of the Executive Committee will depend upon the report which Mr. Holland makes. It is not believed that the men will be reinstated.

THE KAISER WARNED.

An Unknown Writer Tells Germany's Ruler to be Careful in Russia.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—It is reported in diplomatic circles that Kaiser William has received a mysterious warning to be careful of himself on his visit to Russia, and to avoid political contact with the Czar. The unknown writer of the warning says that the Emperor has begun his reign in a satisfactory manner, and there is a purpose to give him a fair chance to prove himself a man of the people; but that the Czar has condemned himself by his own acts.

Queen Victoria is represented to be much alarmed about the matter and to view her grandson's proposed visit to Russia with many misgivings, which, however, the Emperor does not share.

Routed by the Guatemalans.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 8.—Gen. Irunarey, the leader of the revolt against Barrillas has been routed by the Guatemalan troops at Palo Gran Eyto. A dispatch also states that the Vice-President of San Salvador has organized a government in Salvadoran territory in opposition to that of Ezeta and is being aided by Gen. Miranda, one of the most important men of the Republic, and that Ezeta had caused to be shot many people connected with Riva's movement, among whom were many important personages.

John Burns Goes to Work.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—John Burns, who was praised to the skies for his his conduct of the great London dock strike, and has devoted himself of late to strike matters as a regular business, is going to resume employment as a journeyman engineer, this being his legitimate vocation. His course is due to the falling off in the subscriptions of workingmen to provide for his allowance of £3 per week. He was to receive this sum to support him and enable him to devote all his time to strike agitation.

They Will Come to America.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Leading Jews say there is no reason to expect a great irruption of Russian Jews into England. It is claimed that the vast majority of those about to be expelled will emigrate to the United States and find congenial employment in the large cities of America, and that there is no need of legislative or police action against them in Great Britain.

The Cigarmakers' Long Strike.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 8.—The cigarmakers' strike is now in its seventh week and is no nearer a settlement than it has been at any time since it began. A rumor that 1,000 cigarmakers from Pennsylvania had been sent here had a depressing effect upon the strikers, but when it was learned that the actual number was twenty-five the feeling changed.

MATRIMONY IN HIGH LIFE.

Great Interest in an Engagement Soon to be Announced.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 8.—Society circles here are much interested in an engagement which is shortly to be announced between Virginia Schley, daughter of the commander of the flagship Baltimore, and Ralph Montague Stuart-Wortley, nephew of the Earl of Wharncliffe and son of Sir James Montague Stuart-Wortley. Miss Schley is in her 21st year, and described by those who know her as a very pretty girl, with unaffected and winning manners, which have won for her a host of friends in the society of New York, Washington and elsewhere. She is of medium height, light complexioned, with brown hair and gray-brown eyes.

Mr. Stuart Wortley is between 25 and 26 years of age, a tall, fine-looking young man of light complexion and with a light moustache. He belongs to a well-known English family that is one of the oldest in the West Riding of Yorkshire and connected by blood and marriage with many families prominent in the British aristocracy. The present Earl of Wharncliffe is third in his line and married to a daughter of the Earl Harewood. The seats of the family are Wortley Hall, Sheffield, Yorkshire; Belmont Castle, Meigle, Perthshire, with a London residence at Wharncliffe House, Curzon street, Mayfair. What makes the present engagement all the more interesting is the fact that young Stuart-Wortley is about to become an American citizen.

TURNED THE BULL ON THEM.

A Young Wife's Revenge on Her Husband's Relatives.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 8.—Farmer John Smith, of Johnstown, has a young wife who does not like her husband's relatives. Yesterday the farmer's aunt and a number of cousins were in a pasture on his farm picking huckleberries when Smith's wife, it is alleged, turned a vicious bull into the field.

The bellowing bovine lost no time in attacking the berry pickers. There were feminine shrieks and a retreat in disorder, a spilling of berries and much tearing of clothes in scrambling over fences. Assisted by the animal's horns the berry pickers soon put three fields between the infuriated beast and themselves and were not much the worse for their thrilling experience.

Another Newport Robbery.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 8.—The city is being pillaged by thieves, another big robbery having occurred at the residence of Edwin P. Knowlton, of Brooklyn, corner of Victoria and Bellevue avenues. Mrs. Knowlton places her loss at $8,000, every bit of jewelry, including watches, necklaces, rings, pins and hairpins, except what was on her person, being cleaned out. The city is much excited, and detectives are being called for.

Suspected Criminals Arrested.

ROXBURY, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Local officers arrested two white men and one negro on suspicion of being Ernest V. Utter, bigamist, George H. Caldwell, burglar, and John W. Hill, under indictment for attempting to drown two colored women at Walden. The men escaped from Orange County jail at Goshen, on Sunday morning. Sheriff Johnson has been notified by telegraph and will be here to identify the suspects.

Vice-President Morton's Guests.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 8.—Vice-president Morton and family drove from Sullivan Harbor to Sorrento in the morning. A party of friends lunched with them at Manor Inn. Later, the Despatch arrived at Sullivan Harbor with Secretary Tracy, General Sherman, Mrs. Blaine, Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Wilmerding and others on board. Vice-President and Mrs. Morton met them at the wharf and all dined at Manor Inn.

Relief for the Court of Appeals.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 8.—The committee appointed by the State Bar Association to meet and consider changes in the constitution for the Relief of the Court of Appeals met here, and after a long session appointed Mark W. Cooke, ex-Judge Mason and Judge A. T. Clearwater a committee to draw up a memorial.

Charged With Conspiracy.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Theodore W. Torrey, of New Jersey, charged with conspiracy in that State in compelling a woman to commit adultery so that a divorce could be obtained, and who was arrested in New York, was brought before Governor Hill. A requisition was granted and Torrey will be taken to New Jersey.

A Dispatch from the President.

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Ajutant-General Dalton this afternoon received a dispatch from Washington, stating that President Harrison would arrive at Boston on board the Baltimore about 5 o'clock next Monday afternoon; and that he would leave Boston for Washington by rail late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

A Gorgeous Meteor.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Aug. 8.—A gorgeous meteor burst in the zenith early last evening, sending a thousand brilliant sprays of fire in all directions, lighting the entire country as by a full moon. A report resembling distant thunder was distinctly heard a few minutes after the explosion.

Collector Erhardt's Father Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—John Erhardt, father of Collector Joel B. Erhardt, died at his home No. 60 Moore street, Brooklyn, last evening, of heart failure. He was 89 years old.

Crowds at Chautauqua.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Chautauqua is literally overflowing with visitors. It is estimated that yesterday 30,000 people were on the grounds.

RIOTING IN PRISON

The Boston Police Called On for Assistance.

"CHICKEN" WALSH THE LEADER.

Prison Officers Assaulted by the Convicts and Severely Injured.

Guards Fire at the Prisoners—Held at Bay With Revolvers—Convicts With Crushed Skulls Taken to the Hospital. The Objectionable Photographing System Caused the Revolt.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 8.—A general riot took place in the State prison shortly after 1 o'clock. After dinner the prisoners marched back to the shops very quietly, but hardly had they entered when a terrific and general yell broke out. Windows and furniture were broken and the men rushed into the yard and the entire crowd dashed for the various walls.

The guards on the fences fired, at first to terrify the men, but as several nearly gained the top of the wall, the bullets were aimed to kill. The officers with clubs and pointed revolvers held the prisoners at bay until reinforcements arrived.

Every available man on the Boston police force was sent to the prison, and fully 300 officers were massed in the yard and corridors.

Officers Assaulted.

A large force of the police was summoned to assist in removing the prisoners to their cells. Those already in their cells added to the disturbance by smashing the windows. The prisoners are especially violent in the north and south wings which overlook the streets.

A large crowd gathered around the prison and added to the disturbance by their cries. Several prison officers were assaulted by the convicts and severely injured. Three or four convicts are now in the hospital with crushed skulls received while desperately resisting the officers.

The "strike" was preconcerted and was to have taken place at 1 p. m., but was postponed. "Chicken" Walsh was the ringleader.

What Caused the Riot.

The trouble is a culmination of the difficulties attendant upon the enforcement of the Bertillon system of measuring and photographing the prisoners, aggravated by the attempted escape of "Chicken" Walsh, his recapture and subsequent punishment.

A Bread and Water Diet.

The convicts will be kept on bread and water until they express their willingness to obey the rules of the prison. During the confusion in the harness shop a fire was started by some of the prisoners, but was quickly extinguished. It is thought that the plan of the prisoners was to start a fire and in the excitement, when the outer gates were opened to admit the fire department, make a break for liberty.

TEMPERANCE MEN EXCITED.

A Priest's Remarks Hissed by a Total Abstinence Convention.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 8.—A motion to insert temperance lessons in Catholic school books gave rise to stormy scenes during the session of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America. Father McTighe objected, stating that the church never sanctioned the movement, and declared that a glass of wine, beer, or ale will injure no one.

Groans and hisses greeted the remarks, and the convention was in a tumult. The chairman ruled Father McTighe out of order. That gentleman was not to be squelched, and again took the floor, saying: "The insertion of temperance lessons in school books would turn from the church all German Catholics who uphold the church but want their beer."

Father McTighe was again called to order. An excited Boston delegate who attacked the chair was compelled to apologize.

A motion to refer the school book question to the general council caused a repetition of the turbulent scenes. Father McTighe making vigorous objections with pointed remarks. He was repeatedly hissed and created a perfect bedlam by saying: "The saloon cannot go and must not go, let us direct our efforts in new channels and fight intemperance by prayer and fasting."

Father Sheedy, the author of the disturbing question demanded that Father McTighe withdraw his remarks. Father McTighe demanded that a minute be made of his protest and left the hall. The motion was adopted.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Cotter, of Wisconsin, was elected president; Father Sheedy, of Pittsburg, first vice-president, and Father Manning, of Cleveland, O., second vice-president; Father McMahon, Cleveland, O., treasurer; P. A. Nolan, Philadelphia, secretary.

Washington was selected as the next place for the convention and the union adjourned.

Must Not Shave on Sunday.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 8.—Magistrate Milligan, under the law of 1794, fined three barbers each $4 and costs of $3.50 for keeping their shops open and shaving persons on Sunday. Notices of appeal were given in each case. Five others paid the costs and had the fines remitted upon the acknowledgement of their guilt and promises to keep their shops closed on Sunday in the future.

A Yachting Party Rescued.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 8.—While the yacht Pilgrim, of this city, with a party of thirteen ladies and five gentlemen on board, was half a mile out from Black Rock Harbor last night, she capsized. A rescuing party, headed by Brig.-Gen. Watson, went to the relief of the distressed [illegible] and all of them [illegible]

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | x | —5 |
| New York | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | — | 4 |

Batteries—Vickery and Clements; Sharrott and Clarke.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 3 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 3 | 4 | 0 | x | —14 |
| Boston | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —3 |

Batteries—Lovett and Daly; Nichols and Bennett.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 4 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 7 | 0 | 1 | —16 |
| Chicago | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —4 |

Batteries—Smith and Zimmer; Stein and Kittridge.

AT CINCINNATI.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cincinnati | 2 | 5 | 4 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 2 | 5 | 0 | —23 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0 | 9 | —17 |

Batteries—Foreman and Keenan; Baker and Bergor.

Players League.

AT CHICAGO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 2 | 6 | 2 | 3 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | —18 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —4 |

Batteries—Baldwin and Farrell; Bakely and Sutcliffe.

AT PITTSBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —3 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 1 | x | —10 |

Batteries—Morris and Carroll; Twitchell and Mack.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 0 | —4 |
| New York | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —2 |

Batteries—Radbourn and Kelly; J. Ewing and Ewing.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —5 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —4 |

Batteries—Sowders and Cook; Knell and Cross.

American Association.

AT LOUISVILLE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louisville | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | x | —7 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | — | 2 |

Batteries—Murphy and Pitz; Ehret and Bligh.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | —8 |
| Syracuse | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | —3 |

Batteries—Ramsey and Wells; Keefe and Briggs.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | —11 |
| Rochester | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 2 | —6 |

Batteries—Smith and Sage; Barr and McGuire.

Atlantic Association.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —3 |
| Newark | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | x | —8 |

Batteries—German and Townsend; Fitzgerald and Childs.

AT WILMINGTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wilmington | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | —7 |
| Harrisburg | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 1 | —5 |

Batteries—Anderson and Corcoran; Baxter and Gibson.

AT LEBANON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lebanon | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —4 |
| New Haven | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 4 | —9 |

Batteries—Swift and McCaffrey; Gilliland and Hofford.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 50 | 29 | .570 | Chicago | 47 | 42 | .528 |
| Philadel. | 47 | 32 | .540 | N. York | 36 | 51 | .427 |
| Boston | 46 | 34 | .522 | Clev'l'nd | 34 | 52 | .395 |
| Cincin'ti | 43 | 34 | .500 | Pitts'rg | 18 | 68 | .209 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 55 | 36 | .604 | Philadel. | 48 | 41 | .539 |
| Brookl'n | 52 | 40 | .565 | Clev'l'nd | 36 | 52 | .409 |
| Chicago | 48 | 45 | .516 | Pitts'rg | 37 | 47 | .440 |
| N. York | 47 | 49 | .540 | Buffalo | 24 | 56 | .293 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lou'v'le | 53 | 30 | .639 | Syracuse | 37 | 39 | .487 |
| St. Louis | 50 | 34 | .595 | Col'mb's | 42 | 44 | .488 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 39 | .536 | Toledo | 39 | 42 | .481 |
| Athletic | 46 | 41 | .529 | Brookl'n | 35 | 58 | .301 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'more | 63 | 22 | .741 | Harrisb'g | 33 | 53 | .383 |
| Hav'n | 56 | 24 | .700 | Wilm'n | 29 | 57 | .358 |
| Newark | 46 | 35 | .568 | Hartford | 20 | 58 | .256 |
| Lebanon | 39 | 35 | .527 | Wash't'n | 37 | 45 | .451 |

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 2,221 | ..... |
| Cleveland | ..... | 551 |
| Brooklyn | 650 | 2,310 |
| Philadelphia | ..... | 2,500 |
| Boston | 3,570 | ..... |
| Pittsburg | 1,094 | ..... |
| Cincinnati | ..... | 606 |
| Totals | 7,485 | 6,078 |

Schedule of To-day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
New York vs. Philadelphia at Philadelphia.
Chicago vs. Cleveland, at Cleveland.
Cincinnati vs. Pittsburg, at Pittsburg.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

New York vs. Boston, at Boston.
Philadelphia vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Cleveland vs. Chicago, at Chicago.
Buffalo vs. Pittsburg, at Pittsburg.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

New Haven vs. Newark at Newark.
Washington vs. Lebanon, at Lebanon.
Baltimore, vs. Harrisburg, at Harrisburg.
Hartford vs. Wilmington, at Wilmington.

SARAH ALTHEA'S DEFEAT.

She Will be Left Penniless by the Sharon Will Decision.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Sarah Althea is completely knocked out by Judge Shafter's findings in the Sharon case. He finds that she was never the wife of Sharon, as there is no evidence to show that Sharon ever signed the alleged marriage contract or lived with her as his wife.

The conclusion of the court is that as the plaintiff and Sharon were never husband and wife she has no right or claim to any share of the Sharon estate, and that the defendant may recover his costs.

If the latter decree be carried out it will strip Sarah Althea of everything she has. Her little property left by Judge Terry won't pay one-fifth of the costs of the action.

Bold Robbery in a Saloon.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 8.—A colored man who gives the name of James Wallace, and a white man named Philipel both of whom profess to live in Jersey City, entered the saloon of Thomas McGuire, on Nesbitt street. After playing a few games of pool Wallace succeeded in stealing from the money drawer a roll of bills amounting to $1,700. He was caught, and after surrendering the money was arrested. Phillips escaped.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

The Senate's Substitute for the Lodge Election Bill.

SEVERAL IMPORTANT CHANGES.

The Army at the Polls Section Omitted from the New Measure.

Congressmen Ask for a Week's Recess. Fight for a United States District-Attorneyship—Duty on Sheet Iron—War Vessels Ordered to Boston—Premium on Gold Bars for Export.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Mr. Hear, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, reported to the Senate a substitute for the Federal Election bill, known as the Lodge bill, which passed the House on the 2d of last month. The substitute reported varies from the Lodge bill in some important particulars. The more important modifications and changes are as follows:

The army at the polls section of the Lodge bill, or rather that section which in effect incorporates the army at the polls section of the revised statutes in the bill is omitted from the Senate committee's bill.

The certificates of election of members of Congress issued by the State boards of canvassers—which under the House bill are to be accepted by the clerk of the House, under the Senate committee bill may be contested and are subject to final adjudication before United States Circuit Court judges. The house to house visit clause for the purpose of verifying registry lists, in the House bill, is omitted from the Senate committee bill, and United States marshals are not permitted to select juries.

The penalties for crimes which may be committed under the Senate bill with the exception of bribery, are all made misdemeanors instead of felonies, as under the House bill, and the penalties are correspondingly lighter.

It is understood that the amended committee bill does not meet the approval of all the Republican members of the committee—several of them being dissatisfied with some particular though unimportant features in it. They hope to secure still further modifications before the measure is put upon its final passage in the Senate.

Democratic members of the Senate Privileges and Election Committee, in criticising the substitute say there is no radical difference between the House bill and the substitute reported, and save in the matter of expression, the two measures are alike in principle and desired effect.

ASKING FOR A RECESS.

Congressmen Want the House Closed From Saturday Until Friday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—A petition to be presented to the Committee on Rules has been signed by 125 Republican members, requesting that it report a resolution for a recess of the House from Saturday of this week until the following Friday, with the understanding that no business of importance shall be brought up until Saturday, practically a week's holiday.

Many of the Republican members desire to go to the Grand Army encampment at Boston, while others want to go home to look after their political fences.

Reforming the Civil Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The House committee on reform in the civil service has began its investigation of the workings of the office of the civil service commission. Only three members of the committee were present at the meeting, and they listened to statements made by Commissioners Lyman, Roosevelt and Thompson, explanatory of the technical processes of the business of the office in making examinations for eligibles. Nothing exciting or important was developed, and the committee adjourned to continue the investigation to-morrow if a quorum can be secured.

Duty on Sheet Iron.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Treasury Department, in a letter to the Collector of Customs at Philadelphia, has rejected an appeal from the Collector's decision assessing duty at two and one-half cents per pound on certain sheet iron imported per British Prince and Lord Clive. The importers insisted that the importations were dutiable at eleven-tenths and twelve-tenths of a cent per pound respectively, with one-quarter cent additional.

Gold Export Laws.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Secretary of the Treasury has declined to give out the opinion of the Attorney-General on the question of charging a premium on gold bars for export. It is known, however, that the Attorney-General decided that it could not be done. There is authority for the statement that the President and Secretary Windom have not and do not contemplate any change in the laws to prevent or restrict gold exports.

The Fight in New Jersey.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Attorney-General Miller says that the appointment of a United States District Attorney for New Jersey would be made before the President left again for Cape May. "As soon as I can get 15 minutes with the President we will settle the matter," he said.

War Vessels Ordered to Boston.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The United States steamers Baltimore, Kearsarge, Atlanta, Yorktown, Dolphin, Petrel, Vesuvius and Cushing were ordered to rendezvous at Boston next week, so as to take part in the naval manœuvres which will be under the direction of Rear-Admiral Ghserardi.

GAS IN THE WELL.

And by a Foolish Trick Three Men Are Terribly Burned.

NORWOOD, O., Aug. 8.—An accident occurred here on the premises of O. Buddemeier by which three men will probably lose their lives. Contractor Espel, who was at work on the church adjacent, was granted the privilege of drawing all the water he wanted from Buddemeier's well. The fact that it is sixty feet deep and contains forty-five feet of water was scouted by one of the victims. Michael Kuenzel and Joe Sebastian were drawn into the discussion, and the former was not willing to accept the statement that the well was so deep.

He opened the trap door on the six-foot-square platform over the well's mouth. Lighting a match, Kuenzel dropped it toward the water, but it went out. "I smell gas," remarked Mr. Kuenzel. He did, but he foolishly twisted a newspaper and sent it after the burnt-out match. In an instant there was an explosion. Kuenzel, Sebastian and a teamster named Barney Prues, who were standing on the platform, were blown into the air. All were horribly burned and bruised, and it is doubtful if any one of them recovers.

WOMEN AT THE POLLS.

They Secure Control of the School Board in a New York Town.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 8.—At the election held at Randolph, N. Y., Mrs. Jane Crowley was re-elected school trustee and Mrs. Mary Johnson was also elected. The new board of trustees will consist of two ladies and a gentleman.

At Waverly, N. Y., over one hundred women voted at the school election. Mrs. H. C. Lowman and Mrs. Bennet were nominated for trustees and came within 13 votes of success.

About 400 ladies voted at the school election at Jamestown, N. Y., which though spirited was quiet and orderly. Of the twelve hundred votes cast two ladies received a large vote, but not enough to elect them.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

There were five deaths from heat in New York yesterday.

Judge Lilly, guarded by troops, opened court in a tent at Pikeville, Ky.

The granite workers of Westerly, R. I., will strike unless a rule forbidding smoking is revoked.

Addison Cammack, the well-known Wall street operator of New York, was injured by falling at Saratoga.

Mr. Henry George and his wife have arrived in London. Mr. George is in excellent health and spirits and expects large results from his trip to Australia.

The large ice house at Concord Junction, N. H., owned by John K. Merrill, containing many hundreds of tons of ice, was burned during the night, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars. Insured. The cause of the fire was probably incendiary.

Superintendent Frankland, of the School Census Bureau, of Chicago, has just presented his final and corrected census report to the Board of Education. According to it the population of Chicago is 1,208,669, or 107,406 more than Superintendent Gilbert has found in the city.

John Taggart, an employe of the water works at Westfield, N. Y., was killed by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge. He had lighted the fuse, and the cartridge not exploding he went to examine it. Just then it exploded, blowing him 75 feet into the air and mangling him. Taggart was 24 years old and unmarried.

The storehouse of the Thomas Iron Co. at Hokendaugua, Pa., was burned at an early hour. All the patterns accumulated for the past thirty-three years were destroyed. Nine horses that were in the structure at the time were burned to death. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin. Loss $35,000; insurance $1,800.

The strike at Farmington, N. H., of the Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union for a restoration of 5 per cent. cut down at the factory of H. B. Edgerley & Son has been settled in favor of the strikers, the terms being: The wages restored, a union shop in the future and the ultimate reference of future troubles to the general board of the union.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.—For New England: Fair; variable winds; stationary temperature.

For Eastern New York: Fair, followed by local showers during the evening; southerly winds.

For Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Fair; southeasterly winds; slight changes in temperature.

For Western New York: Warmer; generally fair; southeasterly winds.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Money on call to-day 7 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg. | 104 | 104½ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup. | 104 | 104½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg. | 124½ | 124½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup. | 124½ | 124½ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canada Pacific | 79½ | 79 |
| Central Pacific | ..... | 39 |
| Chicago, Bur & Quincy | 102½ | 102¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | 145¾ | ..... |
| Del. Lack. & Western | 145¾ | 145¾ |
| Erie | 25¾ | 25¾ |
| Erie pref. | ..... | ..... |
| Lake Shore | 102¾ | 102¾ |
| Louis & Nash. | 85 | 84¾ |
| Michigan Central | 99 | 99¾ |
| Missouri Pacific | 69¾ | 69¾ |
| New Jersey Central | ..... | ..... |
| Northwestern | 110½ | 110¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | ..... | 101 |
| Pacific Mail | 45¾ | 44 |
| Reading | 43 | 43 |
| Rock Island | 89½ | 89½ |
| St. Paul | 71¾ | 72¼ |
| Union Pacific | 69¾ | 69¾ |
| Western Union | 88 | 88½ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Look for don't among our advertisements.

—The next regular meeting of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, will be held on Monday evening at eight o'clock.

—The Chathams of North Plainfield defeated the Dwarfs at base ball this morning, by the score of 15 to 11. The battery for the Chathams consisted of C. Colthar and G. Bolsterle; for the Dwarfs, A. Perrin, H. Bezer and J. Heffernan.

—The American Steam Laundry, 14 East Front street, has changed owners and the new proprietor, C. A. Brown, proposes to do good work only at fair prices, and in a card in another column he solicits your patronage, and promises to give satisfaction in all cases.

—It is a gratification to those who have been compelled to experience the discomfort of leaving the sidewalk and wading through Park avenue mud, the past few days, to know that the work of excavating for the foundations of the new Coward building is nearly completed, and by Sunday, teams hauling soil will no longer block the way of pedestrians.

A Big Game and a Big Crowd To-morrow.

The talk on the trains is that people are coming from all over to see the colored Gorhams of New York defeat the Crescent League team on the LaGrande avenue grounds, to-morrow afternoon. There will be a large attendance, but possibly they won't see such a victory for the colored boys as they expect.

The Crescent League's players are feeling very much ashamed of last Saturday's defeat, and naturally want to win to-morrow if possible. The Gorhams, however, have defeated the Ridgewoods who defeated the Crescents last Saturday. So far as known the home nine will be the same.

As told in THE PRESS yesterday, the Gorham's celebrated short stop and coacher, Collins, will be with them. But the majority of Plainfield's base ball audience want to see a game of skill, and care little for any end-men accompaniment.

Changed Their Constitution to Elect Mr. Corwin.

The members of the American Philatelic Association, which has just concluded its fifth annual convention at New York, were so anxious to have Chas. B. Corwin of East Ninth street, as their Vice President, that they made a change in the Association's constitution expressly that he might be elected. Heretofore no two officers could come from the same State, and one of the officers holding over was a Jerseyman. Acting on Mr. Corwin's idea, the Association will give an exhibition of the postage stamps of the World, in New York, next year.

A Reporter Discovers an Unprecedented Case.

There is a child on LaGrande avenue who is suffering an attack of whooping-sneeze. Unless THE PRESS is mistaken, it is the first to record such a case. The neighbors have been kept awake recently by a noise they could not describe nor account for, until the reporter discovered the phenomenon. The child "whoops" and sneezes in rapid succession for many minutes at a time.

Paralyzed While at Work.

Chas. A. Westervelt was at work decorating the interior of a house, yesterday afternoon, when he was stricken with paralysis. His tools fell from his hands, and he sank to the floor. He was assisted to his home at No. 7 New street, and medical aid was summoned. His entire right side is helpless, and his voice is paralyzed. He is a well known fireman.

Plainfield Knights to Parade.

Plainfield members of the Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, are planning to participate in the annual parade of their order in New Jersey, to be held at Red Bank, Sept. 1. Nearly one thousand Knights are expected to attend. During the day there will be a competitive drill for valuable prizes.

Died in Its Mother's Arms.

A woman with a child in her arms dismounted from an afternoon train at Dunellen today and engaged a hack-driver to take her to Taylor's Hotel. On the road her child gave a sudden gasp and died in her arms.

Don't disgust everybody by hawking, and spitting, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and be cured.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

George H. Burgess and family of Central avenue, are at Belmar.

Edward Tomlinson and Cyrus Moore are at The Brunswick, Asbury Park.

Mrs. W. E. Stewart and family of West Seventh street, left yesterday for Sea Girt.

Dr. Robert Wilson, of Glasgow, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. John Wilson, of Washingtonville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Runyon, of Madison avenue, are at the Duncan House, Asbury Park.

J. E. Morse and family, of Franklin place, leave town to-morrow for a two weeks' sojourn at Oriskany Falls, Oneida county, N. Y.

Addie Deitrich of North Plainfield has sold to James Flynn of this city, a lot on Elizabeth street, West of Central avenue, 50 by 150 feet, for $500.

Mrs. Dr. Edwards, the clairvoyant, who has been at Somerville since her visit here, will leave there on Tuesday of next week to return to Plainfield.

The True American says: "Mr. Gilbert S. Martin and wife, of Plainfield, N. J., are visiting relatives at 49 Carroll street for several days. Mr. Martin is a compositor on The Daily Press."

Miss Annie Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Martin of Muhlenberg place, has returned to her studies at Rahway, from a vacation spent in this city. Her sister Minnie is spending two weeks with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Dunn left Plainfield yesterday for Fairhaven, Washington, where Mr. Dunn has been offered an attractive position as electrician. They were accompanied by Mrs. L. A. Dunn and child, who go to join husband and father.

Struck an Innocent Man.

Those gathered in Chas. Smith's barroom last evening were surprised to see the head barkeeper strike his assistant heavily across the face with the flat of his hand, and punch him in the chest with both fists. Instead of striking back, the subordinate, whose eye was already beginning to swell from the force of the blow, went upstairs, removed his apron, and put on his coat and hat. He told the chief dispenser of beverages that he was going to leave, and asked for his money. The head barkeeper said he owed him none, and the other walked out.

This morning the victim of the head bartender's wrath sought out Justice Nash, and asked him to collect $8 due him from his former chief. Justice Nash examined into the case and said that as the man had left of his own free will before his time was up he could not collect anything. The head bartender denied that any wages were due.

The trouble is said to have originated because Mr. Smith's little boy told his mother of something the head bartender had done. The head bartender thought his subordinate had been the tale-bearer, and therefore struck him. The assistant bartender said he would have had his assailant arrested for assault, but Mr. Smith was away, and if the arrest were made there would be no one to take charge of the saloon.

He's as Surely Dead as the "news" Itself.

In calling attention again to the enterprise of THE PRESS in always being ahead, last evening's news said:

"The only newspaper in Plainfield" had a bulletin out yesterday morning by ten o'clock reading thus: "Kemmler's Execution Successful." This was another one of its usual fakes. The only correct news legitimately obtained, and not anticipated, was that contained in THE NEWS, which showed that the execution was not successful.

At first one might be startled, because if the execution was not successful the man would not be executed but still alive. In another column of the same paper, however, the statement is printed that "The doctors all claim that the murderer died instantly."

Gershom Gives the Little Ones a Fresh-Airing.

It is evidently the desire of Gershom Frazee to be known as the George Francis Train of Plainfield. Scarcely a day passes that he does not appropriate, for a time, the use of one of the toy wagons standing on the sidewalk in front of a Park avenue store, pick up some wandering infant in the street, jam him in the wagon, and give him a ride around the block. Certain youngsters are now beginning to look for the favor, and very soon Gershom will have his hands full of his self-appointed work of humanity.

The Testimonial of a Connoisseur.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I wish to call the attention of the ladies of Plainfield to the taste and ability of Wm. J. Stephenson of North avenue, as a caterer. From experience I know that he is qualified and equipped in every way to furnish as well-ordered, well-cooked and well-served a supper as most of the metropolitan caterers, and at a price more satisfactory.

MRS. GEORGE LISSIGNOLO.

The Correct List.

The following is the official list of the Commissioners of Deeds for this city, appointed by Governor Abbett, as recorded at the County Clerk's office. There has been an omission in all previously published lists.

First ward, Walter L. Hetfield, Louis F. Wadsworth, and Edward P. Thorn; Second ward, John Mortimer and James A. Demarest; Third ward, Levi C. Kline; Fourth ward, Wm. A. Coddington.

Plainfielders Look Upon the Handsomest Train Service in the World.

Three of the handsomest trains ever seen on any railroad in America are now ready for New York and Washington service over the Jersey Central and Baltimore and Ohio, passing through Plainfield. One of the trains has been stationed in the yards at Jersey City, two others at Washington. They will begin their trips at a very early date, possibly to-morrow. The trains from Washington made trial trips today, one stopping at Plainfield at about one o'clock, the other about two.

Each train is known as the "Blue Imperial." Its cars are of a beautiful dark blue color, with almost a black tinge in it. "New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington," is the inscription on each coach. The trains are vestibuled throughout. The appointments are the most perfect ever enjoyed by passengers. The builders have availed themselves of all the modern improvements in car architecture. The trains are the pride of railroad men.

Another train is to be built at once. One of the trains, built by the Central, is to bear the coat of arms of the State of New Jersey. Another, built by the Baltimore and Ohio, will bear the coat of arms of Maryland. A third is to bear the coat of arms of Pennsylvania, and a fourth that of the District of Columbia. Thus the coats of arms of all of the commonwealths through which the trains will pass will be emblazoned in public sight.

It is the object of the Baltimore and Ohio ultimately to have every train in its Washington service a "Blue Imperial," and every train will pass through Plainfield for Plainfielders to admire. There'll be no other service like it in the World.

Where Equity Will Relieve.

An opinion was filed yesterday by Chancellor McGill in the case of Herbert v. Herbert, in which the ownership of some land in Monmouth county is involved. On motion to dismiss the bill the Chancellor brings out the following legal statements:

Equity will relieve where, in ex parte proceedings in foreign attachments, advantage, after being waived for, has been deliberately taken of a complainant's absence, to obtain, without his knowledge, a judgment upon a claim to which he has a sufficient defense either at law or in equity, and sell his land for an inadequate price to the plaintiff in the attachment suit. In such a case the bill should fully, definitely and with certainty state the claim upon which the judgment is founded and how it is impeachable. A general charge that such a claim was not legal or valid sufficiently alleges that it was not just. Equity, acting in analogy to the rules at law, will not suffer the recovery of a claim which would, at law, be barred by the statute of limitations, unless intervening circumstances of special character should otherwise demand. Complainants are not misjoined when they have a common interest in the attainable object of a suit, and their interests, though perhaps not co-extensive, are not inconsistent and conflicting, and these interests are supported by the same equity against the defendant, and his defense against one of them is his defense against the other.

The Dance To-night at Hotel Netherwood.

The first German of the season will be held at The Netherwood this evening. A number of New York society people will come out purposely to enjoy the affair. The favors selected, which are particularly handsome, will be distributed by Mrs. O. B. Bridgman, Mrs. F. H. Richardson and the Misses Forker. Supper will be served at eleven o'clock in the main dining hall.

Those who will take part include the following:

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McCabe, M. and Mrs. W. E. McCreedy, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wimple, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thorn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raser, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lattin, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roome, Mr. and Mrs. Trafton, Mrs. F. H. Richardson, Mrs. Geo. W. Crossman, the Misses Forker, Miss Plum, Miss Gregory, Miss Burt, Mr. Weston, Mr. Rice, Mr. Spencer, Mr. Eaton, Mr. Watt, Mr. Quinlan, Mr. Martin, Mr. Bridgman and Mr. Benary.

Mr. Plummer Says Mr. Darling Ruined Him.

John F. Plummer, whose home was formerly in Plainfield, where he was widely known, has arrived at Duluth on his way from Tacoma to New York. He is the guest of Charles M. Colby, ex-president of the Wisconsin Central and a prominent stockholder in the Northern Pacific, who is returning with a party of friends in a special train from a trip to Alaska.

Mr. Plummer stated that although he had lost all through the dishonesty of his partner, he was as hopeful as ever, and believed he would yet retrieve his fortunes. He said he contemplated embarking in an enterprise on the Pacific Coast which he thought would yield him good returns. As Messrs Rockafeller and Colby, his warm friends, are heavily interested in the Puget Sound country, it is probable that he will be interested in schemes with them. Mr. Plummer declares that he has done with a mercantile life.

Not Satisfied With Their Success.

Two hundred dollars is the profit to the Reform Club from yesterday's excursion. Except for a tedious delay at Brooklyn, which was no fault of the Club management, the day's entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed. The Club is so elated that they propose running an excursion to Mauch Chunk, next month.

FOR LOVE-SICK YOUTHS.

The Income Needed to Support a Family of Two.

Fifteen Dollars a Week Will Do It, If You Are Willing to Simply Exist Instead of Living—The Views of a Single Man and a Benedict.

In these days the young man who works on a salary perhaps does well to hesitate before making a plunge into the sea of matrimony. There is no doubt but that a proper marriage is in the interest of happiness and health, but there is room for question as to its economy—that is for young men of small means.

A young man recently told a Cincinnati Times-Star reporter how he contrived to get along quite nicely on $12 a week. He is a salesman in a large retail furniture house down-town, and has to present a neat appearance. He keeps an account of all his expenditures, and from his little memorandum book he allowed the following figures to be taken. He gives his expenses for one year as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| One summer suit | $25.00 |
| One winter suit | 25.00 |
| One heavy overcoat | 20.00 |
| One spring overcoat | 15.00 |
| One stiff hat | 2.50 |
| One straw hat | 1.00 |
| Two pair shoes | 6.00 |
| Two suits heavy underclothes | 6.00 |
| Two suits light underclothes | 1.50 |
| Six shirts (unlaundried) | 3.00 |
| One pair suspenders | .50 |
| Collars and cuffs | 3.50 |
| Six neckties | 1.50 |
| Eight handkerchiefs | 2.00 |
| One pair kid gloves | 1.00 |
| One pair heavy gloves | .50 |
| Two pairs overshoes | 1.50 |
| Total | $115.50 |

These are his other expenses:

| | |
|---|---|
| Room rent at $2 a week | $104.00 |
| Board at $4 a week | 208.00 |
| Laundry 75c a week | 39.00 |
| Car fare | 20.00 |
| Places of amusement | 12.00 |
| Incidentals | 20.00 |
| Total | $403.00 |
| | 115.50 |
| | $518.50 |

This divided by fifty-two gives our young man's expenses as $9.96 a week, leaving him of his weekly salary $2.02, or $105.04 a year to lay aside for the proverbial rainy day. He is well dressed and always looks well. If he doesn't get sick or maimed he can save in ten years over $1,000.

The reporter knows a married man who has been well schooled in practical economy. He has been married five years and has two children, a boy four years and a baby two years. He is bookkeeper for a large manufacturing concern in the city and receives $30 a week. His expenses for last year were as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Clothing for himself | $55.40 |
| Clothing for wife | 120.00 |
| Clothing for son | 46.30 |
| Clothing for baby | 35.50 |
| | $257.20 |
| Home and living expenses | 928.92 |
| | $1,216.00 |

Dividing by fifty-two we have his weekly expenses at $23.38, leaving a balance of $6.62 to lay aside to buy a home or to have in readiness in case of sickness or misfortune.

To the question: "Can a man marry on $15 a week?" he answered: "I know he can, for I did it. But it requires rigid economy, and I shouldn't advise any one to try it." He had money enough to furnish his house and leave a little over. At that time he was employed in a railroad office and took a house of six rooms on the railroad, the rent of which was $15 a month. The railroad fare was $4 a month. On his clothing account he was especially saving. He wore a heavy overcoat for three winters and a light overcoat for three seasons. Two suits each of light and heavy underwear were made to do duty for two seasons. He bought two suits of clothes a year, but they were ready-made, and cost only $30 for the two. His clothing account for the year was $72.25. His wife practiced economy also, and brought her expenses down to $80, but then she could sew very nicely and made her own clothes. They managed to keep their grocery bill down to an average of $5 a week. Of course they didn't entertain their friends to any great extent at that rate. Their expense account for the first year was as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| House rent | $187 00 |
| Car fare | 48 00 |
| Clothing for husband | 72 25 |
| Clothing for wife | 80 00 |
| Light and fuel | 60 00 |
| Grocer's bill, $5 per week | 260 00 |
| Incidentals | 25 00 |
| Total | $735 25 |

This makes on average of $14.13, leaving only 87 cents out of the weekly salary for any extraordinary expenses.

"We had good luck and didn't have any sickness and managed to squeeze along," said the young man, "but I tell you I wouldn't try it again. No, sir; don't get married on $15 a week is the advice of one who has been there, unless you are willing to simply exist instead of living."

All the Way from England.

A so-called American joke is circulating through the London clubs. It tells of a Yankee whose body, according to ante-mortem instructions, was given into the glowing chamber of a crematory. Half an hour had passed when the sorrowing friends, impelled by a morbid curiosity, slyly opened the door and peeped in to see how the melancholy work of dissolution was progressing. To the surprise of all, the corpse sat up stark, blue and shivering, and cried out: "Please shut that door—you know very well I never could stand a draught!"

Why the Bed Was Hard.

On a recent trip north a party of men stopped over night on a ranch at Elko, Col., and when the lady of the house showed one of them to a room she remarked by way of apology: "You will find the bed kind of hard. We took the hay out of the mattress last winter to feed the starving cattle."

A New-Born Babe with Teeth.

Mrs. Carl Dimble, of Cincinnati, has given birth to twins, one of which has two large front teeth at least an eighth of an inch in length and perfectly formed. The teeth are of a pearly whiteness and look as natural as those of a child of six or eight years.

Hackmen Call Names and Throw Stones.

A wrathful argument was indulged in by hackmen Max Newman and John Kiely, Jr., at the North avenue railroad station, last evening, and a quarrel that threatened to assume the proportions of a fight resulted. The two men left their hacks, chased one another around several blocks, threw stones back and forth, and clawed at one another's coat tails when they got a chance.

Special officer Rockafellow and policeman McCue arrested the men, and they were taken before City Judge Codington. They pleaded not guilty, were bailed in $100 each, and trial was set for Monday morning, at ten o'clock.

If your dealer says he does not keep Hires' Root Beer in stock, go to the next one who does. There is no valid reason because he hasn't the genuine to accept an imitation. Would you take counterfeit money? The dealers business is profit.

A Brutal Husband.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 8.—Catherine Sweet, who lives at 128 Frankfort street, was the victim of a murderous assault. Her husband, Jerome Sweet, 35 years of age, an ice peddler, for some reason unexplained poured kerosene oil on her and set fire to her clothing. She was attended by Doctors Matthews and Sprague, who say she cannot recover. The husband was arrested later.

Rejoicing in Buenos Ayres.

PARIS, Aug. 8.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres says the election of Senor Pellegrini to the Presidency has caused great popular rejoicing. The city is profusely decorated with flags and banners. The official decree just issued raises the siege and declares the liberty of the press.

Cremation Interests.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—The International Cremation Congress has appointed a committee, consisting of members from the different countries represented at the congress, for the purpose of furthering the movement for the cremation of the dead.

Expelled from the Land League.

DUBLIN, Aug. 8.—The Mayor and several members of the municipality of Limerick have been expelled from the National League in consequence of their recent action in voting against Mr. John Dillon.

First Bale of New Cotton.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 8.—The first bale of the new crop of South Carolina cotton was received here to-day from Barnwell County.

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-y

G. H. VAN NEST

Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!

Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.

39 SOMERSET STREET.

Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 6, 1890.

| | |
|---|---|
| Arnold, M E | Hall, Miss Lelia |
| Benke, Wm | Huntington, Mrs J C |
| Burnett, Courtney | Kennedy, James |
| Brockway, Mrs Thomas | Kline, Miss Gussie |
| Brown, Mrs Mary | Lane, Miss Mary J |
| Brodbeck, Miss Laura | Lee, Samuel |
| Billon, Lucien | Lynch, Francis |
| Blisner, John H | Lorser, J F |
| Bradford, H | Lockerby, Mrs |
| Cummings, Mrs Geo E | Leonard, C W |
| Delainy, Mary | Maher, Jas |
| Dunan, Mr | Martin, Mr |
| Dillon, Hank | More, Mrs Mary |
| Drake, Miss Cornelia | Mills, Mrs Frank H |
| Eckart, Miss Lizzie | Ortiman, Mrs |
| Farron, Mrs Bettie | Rogers, Mrs Catherine |
| Fuller, Geo | Reisey, Mrs Lena |
| Guetting, Mrs L C | Rigbie, Geo |
| Gran, Miss Louisa | Schults, Edw |
| Green, Miss Rose | Stinson, Mrs Eleanor |
| Hull, Miss Mary | Steveson, Edw |
| Hill, James C | Vanderbilt, Miss Jennie |
| | Wright, Chas |

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. B. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7: 30, 8 40, A. M., 12: 15, 2: 30, 5: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 and 9: 30 A. M., 1: 45, 6: 30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND BARTON MAILS.

Arrive—9: 40 A. M., 2: 40, 6: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 A. M., 4: 30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4: 30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9: 30 to 10: 30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6: 30 P. M.

E. B. POPE, P. M.

MARRIAGES.

HUNTSMAN—LISSIGNOLO—By the Rev. Dr. D J. Yerkes, August 4, 1890, Robert F. B. Huntsman to Miss Leontine Lissignolo.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

STRAYED from 27 Washington avenue, a Liver and White Pointer Bitch. A liberal reward will be paid for her return or for information leading to her recovery. 8-7-3

REMINGTON and Yost type writers for sale or to rent. Address W. C. H., DAILY PRESS. 8-7-3

3 OR 4 unfurnished rooms wanted in private house by young couple who board outside. Good neighborhood indispensable. Address, Theodore, PRESS office. 8-6-4

CELERY Plants, extra fine, beautiful Palms at Denton's Hillside Ave. Greenhouses. 8-6-4

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

WANTED—A girl for general housework, at No. 8 Central avenue. 8-5-4

LADY wishes position as housekeeper. Address S. T., PRESS office. 8-5-5

FOR SALE—Move off premises, one-story store, 12x26, on North avenue. E. C. Mulford, Broker. 7-28-tf

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing and calsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 305 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with Jones & Co. 6-13-tf

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons, whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 25c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Graulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEMAREST. 25 PARK AVENUE. 8-8-t

COMING!

BOB HUNTING'S

New Railroad Show.

AT PLAINFIELD,

TUESDAY, AUG. 12.

Five times Larger and Better than Ever.

We Come with New Acts.

New Faces, and

New and Startling Features.

Admission—Adults, - 20 Cents.
Children, - - - 10 Cents. 8-6-w

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM.

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

TRY OUR

Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.

HENRY LIEFKE

NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 9-14-tf

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-7

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

46 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[TOUCH'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting. 3-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,

Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 58.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-4-t

PECK'S CORNER.

A COOL STORE,

AND

A WARM WELCOME,

AT

PECK'S!

28 WEST FRONT STREET.

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.

Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons.
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-P." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

—SELLING OUT CHEAP!—

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-3-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters,
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 25 Points worth considering: 65

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-y

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,

A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

The Growth of Christianity.

H. K. Carroll, D. D., of North Plainfield, Chief Clerk of the Bureau of Religious Statistics of the eleventh census of the United States, with offices in the Chotola building, this city, furnishes the following figures for publication. They are the only statistics officially coming from him. In some cases the figures are estimates, but on the whole the results very closely approximate the truth.

There are in the United States 151,261 churches of all denominations, 103,300 ministers, and nearly 22,000,000 members. During the year there has been an increase of 8,500 churches, nearly 4,900 ministers, and nearly 1,090,000 members.

The most numerous denomination is the Roman Catholic, with its 7,500 churches, 8,300 priests, etc., and 8,277,000 population, of whom 4,676,000 are estimated to be communicants.

Then come the Methodists, with, in round numbers, 4,980,000 communicants; Baptists, 4,292,000; Presbyterians, 1,229,000; Lutherans, 1,086,000; Congregationalists, 491,000, and Episcopalians, 480,000.

The increase in the Catholic population during the year was 421,700. The estimated gain in Catholic communicants was over 238,000.

The growth of Protestant membership was 668,000. The Methodists gained more than 256,000, the Baptists more than 213,000, the Lutherans 98,000, the Presbyterians nearly 49,000, the Congregationalists more than 16,000, and the Episcopalians about 9,500.

The accession of new members was even larger than these figures, since in every denomination there were deaths of members whose places were filled by new acquisitions. The number of deaths in the Methodist Episcopal body, for example, was reported at 28,300.

This is a highly satisfactory and encouraging showing to all who have the welfare of the church at heart. A gain of nearly 1,100,000 in membership in one year, with a corresponding increase in the number of churches and ministers, indicate that Christianity is marching on with no uncertain stride.

The Universal Complaint.

(From the New Brunswick Home News.)

The postal arrangements for transmission of newspapers are simply outrageous. New York morning and evening papers arrive here by mail three or four hours after publication, but Plainfield and other New Jersey papers, which reach New York in the evening, do not reach here until from one to three days.

For instance, a Plainfield paper mailed there at four o'clock Monday was not delivered at this postoffice until this morning and that is a common occurrence. Subscribers to the HOME NEWS complain that it takes three or four days for them to get their papers in places like Asbury Park, Long Branch, etc., and frequently three or four papers are delivered at a time. Such mismanagement of the mails is unbearable and calls for immediate remedy in New York.

They Have Named the Happy Day.

Hunting's new railroad shows will exhibit in this city on Tuesday next. This old-time favorite comes this season with an entire new show; new acts, new faces, among which will be found the famous Tybells, king and queen of the air; Frank Appell, champion tight rope artist of the World; Prof. Austin with his troupe of performing ponies and dogs; Ricardo and Fitz, champion triple bar performers; Hollis, the boneless wonder; the Murrays, John J., and Florence; the Christie Bros.; M'lle Austin on the balancing trapeze; Master Lew Hunting on the high tight wire; the Dazzian Bros.; last, but not least, America's famous clown, Bob Hunting, appear at every performance. This is not the largest, but the best show on earth for the price of admission. Prices of admission. Adults, 20 cents. Children, 10 cents.

Only Required as a Matter of Convenience.

An item is going the rounds of the press, saying that a "postal regulation requires that the stamps on letters be placed on the upper right hand corner of the envelope. The postmaster has the right to forward to the dead letter office all letters not so stamped."

The statement is not true. There is no such postal regulation, and a postmaster has no right to forward a letter carrying the requisite amount of postage, to any place other than the place of destination intended by the writer, if such intention can be ascertained, whether the stamp is on the right hand or any other corner. As a matter of convenience to the postmaster, it should be placed in the upper right hand corner of the envelope, as it is much easier to cancel the same.

The Jersey Central's Fast Run.

Engine No. 374, of the New Jersey Central Railroad, drawing the "press train," left the station at Jersey City at 1 P. M. recently, on its daily trip to Monmouth Park. The train, which consisted of two parlor coaches and seven ordinary cars, reached Monmouth Park, a distance of forty-seven miles, in fifty-three minutes. It is claimed by the officials of the road that this is the fastest time on record for a train of that size over a trip of that length. The previous record was held by this train for trips both ways over the same run, made in fifty-five minutes going and fifty-seven minutes returning.

That distension of the stomach which many feel after eating, may be due to improper mastication of the food; but, in most cases, it indicates a weakness of the digestive organs, the best remedy for which is one of Ayer's Pills, to be taken after dinner.

Dr. Mitchell's Amusing Statement.

The court room of 'Squire Borden at Asbury Park was comfortably filled Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at the hearing of Dr. Henry Mitchell upon complaint of James A. Sangston of this city, manager of Kinmonth's West End Pharmacy, for assault and battery.

Mr. Sangston was first sworn, says the Journal, and said that he had had prescriptions brought back to him, the parties saying that Dr. Mitchell had said they were not compounded properly. He visited the Doctor at his office for an explanation, and asked him by what authority he had done it. He said at this moment the Doctor replied: "You are getting on a high key," and ordered him to leave the house, giving him two minutes to do so. He started toward the door with the Doctor following, and when they got on the porch the Doctor made a pass at him with his hands, and in doing so scratched his (Sangston's) neck.

He was not positive whether the Doctor's hands were open or closed, but his neck was slightly cut in the affray.

Dr. Mitchell was sworn and stated that a young man had called Tuesday afternoon at his residence. He handed his card, and when he was at leisure he asked about the prescriptions. "I did not understand until then," said the Doctor, "what he was there for. He looked ill, and I thought perhaps he needed a glass of water. He made threats against me, and said he would 'fix me.' He wanted to know by what authority I had requested the return of certain prescriptions. I saw he was in an over-excited condition, and gave him two minutes in which to leave my house. When he went out he made a violent statement and shook his fist at me, saying: 'I'll get even with you,' or 'I'll fix you.' I pushed him away with both hands, but did not strike him. My glasses became disarranged, and while I was straightening them he kept punching me in the chest. I put my arms around him with the intention of carrying him to the street, but he was the stronger and we both fell on the porch together. He still kept up his abuse, and only left when I grasped a chair."

The Doctor said he had been assailed in his own house, and endeavored to eject the intruder.

Mr. Stout summed up for Sangston, and 'Squire Borden, after some moments of painful silence, announced that the Doctor was held in $100 for his appearance before the October Grand Jury. Dr. Mitchell became his own bondsman.

A Crying Nuisance.

The following paragraph from the New York Tribune is commended to the perusal of managers of New Jersey and New York ferries:

"Ferryboat managers who allow bootblacks to make a living on the boats might gain the thanks and applause of a suffering public if they would put some check on the insolence of the boys who go swinging through the cabins, their boxes banging people's knees and threatening to send men's heads off their shoulders. The writer watched one of these afflictions of the flesh stand off twenty feet and throw his box under a vacant seat. Men were sitting on both sides of the unoccupied seat and the deadly weapon with its great nails all over it shot like a cannon ball between two pairs of legs, sending two brushes and a small box of blacking flying against unprotected trousers. This may be fun for the bootblack, but the helpless victim of his reckless insolence may be pardoned for asking if passengers pay for this unexpected bombardment or get it for nothing. It's dear at any price."

Life at Crescent Lodge.

There are none who enjoy the beauties of Lake Hopatcong to a greater extent than Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Frothingham, (formerly Miss Bedloe of this city), in their elegant residence, Crescent Lodge. Mrs. Frothingham is still quite ill, but is on the way to recovery. Her guests at present are Miss Bigelow of New York, and Miss Jeanie Woodhouse and Mr. Woodhouse of Elizabeth.

On Saturday Mrs. Frothingham, her health permitting, will give a very enjoyable picnic, leaving the house in her beautiful steam launch, the "Crescent," to be gone all day, and will join her husband, when he will no doubt have captured some fine bass and pickerel. Mr. Frothingham has been very successful of late in fishing. On Saturday and Sunday last he landed some beauties.

The Men Who Help the Town Along.

A casual glance at a newspaper will show a list of men who help to build up the town. If you see a good-sized, live advertisement in the paper by each of the principal merchants, and a card from each of the small ones, you need not inquire as to the prosperity of the town—it's solid. But if you find the most extensive merchants not advertising their business, then you set it down as a fact that those who do try to push their business and the town with its interests, have a hard time and an uphill journey all the year round.

What it Cost This District.

The cost of taking the census of the Second Census District of New Jersey, including Hudson, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Somerset, Mercer and Union counties, will approximate $15,000.

The vicissitudes of climate are trying to most constitutions, especially to people having impure blood. For all such (and they constitute the majority), the best safeguard is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the use of which cleanses the blood and strengthens and invigorates the system.

STRANGE PRESENTIMENT

How a Railway Wreck Was Prevented by a Dying Man.

A Story with a Supernatural Tinge Told by a Conductor—Engineer Boardman's Mind Follows a Train Drawn by His Locomotive.

A number of railroad men sat in the rotunda of the Laclede the other night exchanging reminiscences, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The conversation gradually drifted into stories having a supernatural tinge, and among these was the following related by a well-known conductor:

"Some years ago," he said, "in the town of Garrett, in Northern Indiana, the headquarters of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad's Chicago division, there lay sick an engineer named Boardman. He was wildly delirious and his ravings took a serious aspect at times. One evening he was told that Engineer Moses had been called to take out his engine, No. 712, on an extra run, following No. 5. Engine 712 was the pride of the road and of its engineer, then so seriously sick. It had not been sent out before, the foreman of the roundhouse wishing to gratify the wishes of the engineer, but on this occasion it was necessary, as a special train containing an opera company had to make Washington in twenty hours, a run of 853 miles from Chicago, and no other engine on the Chicago division was equal to the speed demanded by the company.

"Boardman, lying in his bed, was suddenly gifted with a supernatural power, and in his ravings would say:

"'Hicksville! Ha! How she spins! Runs up the St. Joe grade like the wind! Twenty-two miles; one stop for water, one stop for railroad crossing and thirty minutes gone!'

"Then he would be quiet as the grave for a moment.

"'Holgate! Listen at her spin! She's got the crossing. There she goes. Defiance to Holgate was like a step to her.'

"His watchers looked at one another. Could he have the power of second-sight to watch the movements of the train? One of the boys was sent to the dispatcher's office, but a few blocks away. Before he returned Boardman had called out a water station, and said:

"'Four minutes lost. Why couldn't she do without water? Ah, ha! Watch her pound sand now. Isn't she a beauty?'

"The man had returned from the telegraph office and, in a whisper, told the other watchers that he had followed the train correctly. A feeling of awe came over the boys. The sick engineer was in a seeming trance. His breath came slower and more laborious. The boys crowded nearer and were about to raise him in the bed, so that he could catch his breath easier, and the family were called, when he sat erect, looked wildly about him, and cried:

"'Tiffin! Red light! Stop for orders! My God! [Here he held up his hand as if reading an order.] Train No. 'second 5:00, engine No. 712. Prepare to meet thy God.

"'O. K. COCKRELL.'

"Then he sank back in the bed, dead. The horrified boys stood amazed and speechless. It was a presentiment. One rushed forth to the dispatcher's office and cried to the east-end man:

"'For God's sake, Dixey, stop second five at Republic.'

"Quick over the wires the call went, and was answered, and then this message: 'Stop second five.' There was a wait of breathless anxiety when the news came back: 'Second five is stopped. Conductor wants to know what for.' By this time the story was known in the dispatcher's office, and the answer was sent to Republic: 'Had a terrible presentiment. Tell conductor to proceed cautiously to Chicago Junction.'

"Hardly had the answer gone when Attica called up and said:

"'Stop second five at Republic. First five ditched a mile west of here; engine and three cars off. Cow on track. Engineer killed by jumping.'

"And the man who had saved probably five score of lives lay a corpse at his home, with his sorrowing family surrounding him. The opera company made up a purse, which, together with the life insurance he had carried, made the engineer's family independent for the rest of their lives."

AN ACTRESS' WAGER.

She Goes Into a Market and Sells Vegetables Without Being Recognized.

Fraulein Ilka Palmay, the famous soubrette of the Vienna Theater, a handsome blonde woman whose features are familiar to trader and noble alike in the Austrian capital, has won a large sum of money and a breakfast from Prince Franz von Lichtenstein in a most amusing manner, says the Pall Mall Budget. The Prince was chaffing her the other night and told her that she could never disguise her identity from the Viennese. She at once exclaimed that she was willing to make a wager that she would sell vegetables for a whole morning in one of the public markets without being recognized, although she would not put on any disguise beyond the ordinary attire of a small farmer's wife.

The Prince accepted the bet, but was so certain that the actress would lose that he insisted on laying her a thousand florins against a pair of riding boots. The bet was duly decided on Friday morning. Shortly after two a. m. Fraulein Palmay appeared behind a stall in the "Am Hof" market, loaded with all sorts of green stuff and spring vegetables. She was attired in a calico skirt, woolen shawl and wore wooden shoes. Until the sun was high in the heavens she did a roaring trade, making the best of bargains, and returning the chaff of the market men without anybody suspecting that she was other than what she pretended to be. Finally the Prince, and two of his companions who were lounging around disguised as peasants, declared himself satisfied, and, to the astonishment of the rest of the market, the stranger greenswoman and the three men jumped into a splendid carriage and drove away.

PAT, PERT AND PUNGENT.

IN speaking of color, "the winds blew."

A PRETTY girl isn't often in a hurry, but she usually takes a short-cut when selecting a bathing suit.

HUSBAND—Dr. Foote, the chiropidist, will dine with us to-day. Wife—All right; I'll order corned beef.

"GET on to the bloke with the calcimined feet," yelled an irreverent newsboy, the other day, as a dude strutted by, wearing a pair of white duck overgaiters.

"WILL shoes be higher?" asked the market reporter. "Not until men's legs are longer and hotel porch railings are raised," answered the paragrapher, as he dodged a paper weight.

FIRST student of medicine—"I say, Fritz, did you see those boys stick out their tongues at us?" Second student—"Yes, and it does me proud. They evidently take us for full-fledged doctors."

A CENSUS enumerator in Hannibal, Mo., after asking a woman in that city all he could think of about her family of seven boys and girls, finally asked if they were all white. She replied: "They generally are when their faces are clean."

LITTLE Brother—"See that pretty bird out there in the rain. I wish he would go to sleep in the grass so I could catch him." Little Sister—"Why don't you wish he'd go to sleep on the sidewalk, 'cause then you could catch him without getting your feet wet?"

"DO YOU think your sister likes me, Tommy?" "Yes, she stood up for you at dinner." "Stood up for me? Was anybody saying any thing against me?" "No, nothin' much. Father said he thought you were a good deal of an ass, but Ethel spoke up and said you wasn't, and told father he ought to know better than judge a man by his looks."

A BELFAST, Me., wag decorated a milk team that stood on the street. He harnessed the horse wrong end to the wagon, placed an old hat upon its head, hung a milk can upon either side, and a placard bearing the words: "Sweet milk" upon the tail. The poor old beast stood all the afternoon, causing a smile to appear on the most solemn countenance.

HE had made a hearty meal at a restaurant, and, getting up, he said to the waiter: "I declare if I haven't forgotten my purse." The waiter fired up, and hurled big words at him for full three minutes before pausing for breath. When a chance came the stranger continued: "But I have a five dollar bill here in my waistcoat pocket." The waiter couldn't smile to save his life.

A SEA captain who was asked by his wife to look at some pianos while he was in the city with a view of buying her one, wrote home to her: "I saw one that I thought would suit you; black walnut hull, strong bulkheads, strengthened fore and aft with iron frame, sealed with white wood and maple. Rigging: steel wire—double ratlines and whipped wire on the lower stays and heavy cordage. Belaying pins of steel and well driven home. Length of taffrail, over all, six feet, one inch; breadth of beam, thirty-eight inches; depth of hold fourteen inches; hatches can be battened down proof against ten-year-old boys and commercial drummers, or can be clewed up, on occasion, and sheeted home for a first-class cyclone."

ON SCIENTIFIC SUBJECTS.

MANISTIQUE has an aqueous volcano, a spring 250 feet wide and 400 feet long. The water and sand boil up from a depth of 65 feet and throw the little lake up into conical shape. It supplies a creek 20 feet wide and 2 feet deep the year around.

THROUGH the medium of the locomotive telephone signal two trains approaching each other establish communication by closing the circuit when two miles apart. The ringing of a gong warns the engineers, who, by means of the telephone, can talk to each other.

THE fact that the waves in the North Sea differ in shape when caused by a northeast wind under high pressure from those caused by a southwest wind with low barometer, is considered as a proof that the air in an anti-cyclone is a descending current and the air in a cyclone an ascending current.

EXPERIMENTS by means of photographic plates in the Mediterranean Sea show that in the middle of a sunny day in summer the rays of the sun do not penetrate the waters of that sea a depth of more than one hundred and fifty fathoms. In September the distance penetrated is much reduced, the depression on the plates at the above depth not being greater than that made by starlight.

NEVADA has what are termed "traveling stones." They are described as being perfectly round, about as large as a walnut, and of an ivory nature. When distributed about on the floor, table, or other level surface within two or three feet of each other, they at once begin to move toward each other until they meet in a common center and there lie huddled in a bunch. They are largely composed of magnetic iron ore.

TELEPATHY is being developed from phenomena to a recognized science subject to definite and traceable laws. It is simply psychical telegraphy, and there is no doubt but that as the finer civilization advances to use higher and subtler forces, it will take as recognized a place in the activities of the world as telegraphy does now, and it will be no more marvelous to the people of the year 2000 than is the telegraph to the people of the year of grace 1890.

ACCORDING to analysis by Dr. Lancaster, an eminent physician of London, a human body weighing 154.4 pounds contains the following: 23.1 pounds of carbon, 2.2 pounds of lime; 23.3 ounces of phosphates, and about one ounce each of sodium, iron, potassium, magnesium and silicon, 5,595 cubic feet of oxygen, weighing 21 pounds; 105,900 cubic feet of hydrogen, weighing 15.4 pounds, and 52 cubic feet of nitrogen. All of these elements combined in the following: One hundred and twenty-one pounds of water, 16.5 pounds of gelatine, 1.32 pounds fat, 8.8 pounds of fibrin and albumen, and 7.7 pounds of phosphate of lime and other minerals.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

A PLAIN STATEMENT
To the People of Plainfield and Vicinity.

Whereas, we are in sympathy with the Clerks of Plainfield, still we have our own ideas of doing business, and employ our Clerks at such wages as they are willing to remain with us until such an hour evenings as our customers demand their attention; and the unprecedented success with which we have met with shows to us conclusively the appreciation of the public in general of the low prices and attention we are giving them; and so long as this appreciation continues we are willing to work early and late to serve our patrons, and decline to close our store to please our would-be competitors; so that customers who find it inconvenient to do their trading before 7 P. M., will be treated in the same courteous manner after that hour as has been customary with our store in the past.

Below are a sample of prices on best goods:
Granulated Sugar, 6¾c; Pillsbury Flour, (best) $5.99 bbl; Best Kerosene Oil, 10c gallon; Best Breakfast Cocoa, 39c lb; Special Mixed Tea, 39c lb; Extra No. 1 Mackerel, 12c lb; Fresh Country Eggs, 22c doz; 6 lbs Best Crushed Oatmeal for 25c; 5 lbs Best Starch, 25c; 4 lbs Best Currants, 25c; 4 lbs Best Rice, 25c; Creamery Cheese, 12c lb.

United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET.
7-14-m

DESIRABLE
Netherwood Building Sites
FOR SALE.
Apply to J. F. LOESER,
P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J.
7-16-m

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit.
3-7-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-17-tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE.
5-26-w

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St
-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

A PLAIN STATEMENT
To the People of Plainfield and Vicinity.

Whereas, we are in sympathy with the Clerks of Plainfield, still we have our own ideas of doing business, and employ our Clerks at such wages as they are willing to remain with us until such an hour evenings as our customers demand their attention; and the unprecedented success with which we have met with shows to us conclusively the appreciation of the public in general of the low prices and attention we are giving them; and so long as this appreciation continues we are willing to work early and late to serve our patrons, and decline to close our store to please our would-be competitors; so that customers who find it inconvenient to do their trading before 7 P. M., will be treated in the same courteous manner after that hour as has been customary with our store in the past.

Below are a sample of prices on best goods:
Granulated Sugar, 6¾c; Pillsbury Flour, (best) $5.99 bbl; Best Kerosene Oil, 10c gallon; Best Breakfast Cocoa, 39c lb; Special Mixed Tea, 39c lb; Extra No. 1 Mackerel, 12c lb; Fresh Country Eggs, 22c doz; 6 lbs Best Crushed Oatmeal for 25c; 5 lbs Best Starch, 25c; 4 lbs Best Currants, 25c; 4 lbs Best Rice, 25c; Creamery Cheese, 12c lb.

United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET.
7-14-m

DESIRABLE
Netherwood Building Sites
FOR SALE.
Apply to J. F. LOESER,
P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J.
7-16-m

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit.
3-7-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-17-tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE.
5-26-w

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St
-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week!
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouzes and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.
6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes.
7-26-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Door and Window Screens a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK
6-3-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS.
1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.
6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
34 store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.
5-4-7

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
P. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.
4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-25-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. BOX 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

Drink Moy's Soda.--N. B.--None Better!
Tenney's
NEW YORK.
Fine Confectionery at the Moy Pharmacy.
OUR SPECIALTIES:—Pure drugs, the careful compounding of physician's prescriptions, proprietary medicines, toilet soaps and all articles pertaining to a TEMPLE OF PHARMACY.
THE MOY PHARMACY CO.
T. S. BURR, President. G. W. V. MOY, Sec'y—Treas'r.
3-24-y

FINEST CREAMERY
BUTTER, 20 CENTS POUND!
J. F. Mac DONALD, Grocer, 46 & 48 E. Front Street.
1-18-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal.
7-18-3m

Miss C. S. HELLWIG,
A graduate of the Moscow Gymnasia, and possessor of a Golden Medal presented by the Russian Empress to the best scholar, wishes pupils in the German and French Languages, and also Art Painting. Apply for particulars to Miss C. S. HELLWIG, 236 East Front street. 9-17-1y

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 N. FRONT STREET. my1dy

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT M. COOK

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
7-31-1

ALLEN,
THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
23 EAST FRONT ST.

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
24 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 132. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my10

Carpenters and Builders.

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709. Plainfield, N. J.
Slate work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing.
6-19-y

R. V. SAUNS,
Carpenter and Builder.
Residence Clinton avenue, near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.
9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot.
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS.
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home.
6-14

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 9 p. m. H. HONNIER, 26 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Prime, Townsend, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong.
6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M.
8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 3-21-y

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLE
21 East 5th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid. MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-1m-1

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Bothering
1-14-tf

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
6-4-6m

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-15-to-sep1

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what they contain. TRY THEM.

RUNNING A NEWSPAPER.

Why an Obituary Was Printed Instead of a Salutatory.

It had been the dream of my life to own, edit and publish a newspaper. I was not particular as to whether it was a daily, weekly or monthly; I simply wanted to run it, and try my hand at molding public sentiment, as my grandfather had done before me. He was a good editor and ran a weekly newspaper as long as his creditors would let him, and when at last he died of his debts the sheriff gave him an obituary of which any editor might be proud.

Well, when I had saved up sixty dollars my opportunity came. A friend of mine who owned a hand-press and a box of type offered to trade the outfit for my watch and the sixty dollars. The watch was an old Waterbury, so it did not take long to wind up the business, and I soon found myself in full charge of a flourishing country newspaper.

With great pride I prepared my salutatory, but while I was in the act of putting the finishing touches to it, and had just penned the usual words: "We are here and here to stay," a prospective subscriber stalked into the sanctum and seating himself calmly upon the editorial desk, said:

"That's your salutatory, is it? Now, you're a stranger here, and may be you'd like a few hints as to what the people want? Well, I'm the man to give 'em to you. Let's see what you've wrote there?"

He suited the action to the word and took the editorial from my reluctant hands.

"It won't do," he said, when he had labored through my ponderous sentences. "I see you don't understand this people very well. You know, there's more Baptists in this community than there is Methodists. In fact, we just rule things, and if you don't put in a good word for the Baptists you're a ruined man. By the way," he continued, mistaking one of my red slippers for a spittoon and flooding it with tobacco juice, "what church do you belong to, anyhow?"

I was almost afraid to tell him, but I ventured to hint that I had a leaning toward the Methodists.

"Keep it quiet," he said, almost in a whisper, "for the Methodists ain't nowhere around these diggin's. They only have preachin' once a month, and they ain't got but one man on the town council, while the Baptists is got one mayor, four aldermen, one express agent and two telegraph operators. O, we're in the lead, I tell you; so you'd better keep your weather eye open, and look to your interest. That's all I've got to say."

And he left me to my sad reflection.

But I was not left entirely alone, for ere the footsteps of my Baptist friend had died into an echo, a tall, slim man, wearing a nervous smile and a pair of spectacles entered and tip-toed toward me.

"I saw old Jenkins coming out just now," he explained, as he sat down on my ink bottle, "and I'll bet I know what he was up to. He was trying to tell you how to run the paper—now, wasn't he?"

I admitted that his language had impressed me in that way.

"Don't mind a word he says," said my new adviser. "He's crazy on the subject of religion, and don't know what he is talking about. What you want to do is to praise up the Presbyterians. They're getting stronger and stronger every day—going to build a brick church and a public school next week, and before six months is out they'll be in full control of the town. Take my word for it, if you want your paper to succeed, you will have to give the Presbyterians a showing. And that's all I've got to say."

WHY, GOD BLESS US, BROTHER.

I heaved a deep sigh of relief as he vanished through the door, which I was about to look after him when an old man, wearing the look of a Methodist preacher, pushed his way in.

"How is it with you, brother?" he asked, shaking hands heartily, as he plumped down in the only chair in the room.

I told him it was not as well as it might be, but that I hoped to pull through.

"You'll never do it," he said, "by listenin' to them Baptists and Presbyterians. They are tryin' to run this town, but we're goin' to git up a revival which will sweep 'em from the face of the earth!

"Baptist?"

"No, sir."

"Presbyterian?"

"Not exactly, sir."

"Episcopalian?"

"Not very much, sir.

"Why, God bless us, brother," he exclaimed, as he jumped up and grasped my hand, "you're a Methodist, ain't you?"

I told him no, but that I had once fallen from grace, and that I supposed that was the next thing to it.

"Don't worry over it," he said, soothingly, and giving me a slap on the back which set me to coughing. "You ain't the first man that ever fell from grace. But we are going to throw the props around you and keep you up. Now, I'm going to sit right down here and pray for you—right on this floor, which ain't been swept in ten years—and I want you to git down with me."

It was in vain that I told him I was in a big hurry and would rather wait till dark. He would take no denial, and in a second he had started a revival in that office which would have done credit to a first-class camp-meeting. He had warned me beforehand that he would remain upon his knees until I was converted, and I mentally decided that my case was hopeless. As the good old man prayed for my salvation he beat the air wildly with his hands, and as I was in the air myself, I came in for a good share of the beating. He followed me all over the room in the agony of his plea, now knocking my head against the composing stone, or jostling my breast with a severe blow in the ribs, just to emphasize his words. Sometimes I would dodge, and his hand would hit the wall hard, but he only shouted the louder when this occurred.

We were both perspiring freely with the exercise; his paper collar had melted and run down his back, and my celluloid cuffs had caught fire five times. One or the other had to weaken, and I felt that the other was myself.

"Brother!" he shouted in desperation, "is the work done yet? Do you feel any change?"

I was about to tell him that I had spent the last cent I had, and felt no change at all, but I knew he wouldn't let me up on that, and so I told him yes, that I was a changed man.

"Where do you feel it?" he asked, as he paused for breath.

"In my back and side," I answered. "In fact it's all over me!"

He gave a shout that shook the building, rose to his feet, told me that I was a sinner saved by grace, mopped his brow in the office towel, said to me that he would call on me to lead the meeting that night and went forth rejoicing.

Then I sat down to my desk again, weak and helpless, and wrote my own obituary; and when I re covered from the spell of sickness which ensued, I sold my paper to the Baptists for seventy-five dollars and hired out to a heathen as clerk in a grocery store.—F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

Afraid It Would Follow Him.

Waiter (to diner)—Excuse me, sir, but whistling is not allowed in this restaurant.

Diner—I am not disturbing any one, am I?

Waiter—No, sir; but that last lot of cheese we got in is very sensitive.—Judge.

A Breakfast Unpleasantness.

"Marriage is indeed a lottery," sighed Tomnoddy, after a tiff with his wife.

"And we both drew prizes," returned the lady.

"Ah!" said T., somewhat mollified.

"Yes. You got a capital prize and I took the booby."—Harper's Bazar.

But She Had Not.

Merrill—I'm going to be married next week. It's a big risk to take, isn't it?

Scott—Yes, it's a lottery, but, after all, you're better off than the girl you're going to marry. You have a chance of drawing a prize.—Munsey's Weekly.

Good Advice.

Fastleigh—Yes, Bronson, I have made up my mind to give up all my bad habits, get married and settle down.

Bronson—You will do well to settle down, Fastleigh, but you owe me $100, and I'd like still more to see you settle up.—West Shore.

Can't Stop to Think.

Slowcoach (from Philadelphia)—Have you ever stopped to consider, my dear sir—

Hummer (from New York)—No, sir, never. I do all my thinking on the elevated.—West Shore.

A Good Recommendation.

"Are these complexion powders warranted fast colors?"

"Well, madam, I can not say that they will wash like the natural complexion, but they won't rub off on a coat sleeve."—Life.

Applying the Theory.

Old Chingwag—It's my opinion, sir, that if a man drinks beer he will think beer; and if he drinks wine he will think wine.

Young Barrett—But what must he drink to talk slop?—Puck.

Where to Get It.

"I must go down to the hotel awhile to-night," remarked a Brooklyn writer to his wife.

"For inn-spiration, I suppose," she replied, sweetly and sarcastically.—West Shore.

Too Bad.

"Did you propose to Henrietta?"

"Yes."

"Engaged?"

"No. I was for the League, but she preferred the Brotherhood."—Life.

How Foolish She Was.

Little Johnnie—Tommy fired a toy pistol at Billy Green, and it killed him.

Mrs. Brown—Killed Billy Green!

Little Johnnie—No; killed Tommy.—The Jury.

Spiritual Indigestion.

Darlington—I wonder what can have made our friend Anderson such a pessimist?

Runk—He's had too much of the good things of life.—Puck.

The Dear Girls.

Ethel—He fell in love with me at sight.

Maud—How nice! What a lot of worry that must have saved you.—Munsey's Weekly.

Where English Is Unknown.

Gazzam—Why are you studying German so industriously?

Maddox—Because I have just accepted a business situation in Milwaukee.—Judge.

She Was Peculiar.

McFingle—Miss Backnumber must be forty odd by this time, eh?

McFangle—Well, I won't vouch for the forty, but I am sure of the odd.—Light.

THE BOWSERS.

Mr. Bowser Tackles a Stove with Dire Results.

LAST fall Mr. Bowser put a base-burner in the front hall to keep it at a comfortable temperature during the winter, and when spring came nothing was said about moving the stove. It was not in the way. We had no place to move it to, and when summer came without Mr. Bowser having said any thing about a removal I felt perfectly assured that he would leave that stove alone. Great was my consternation, therefore, when he suddenly observed the other evening, as we roasted on the front steps:

"Well, well, but how absent-minded I have become! Why didn't you call my attention to the fact that that coal stove had not been moved out of the hall?"

"Because it is to be left there."

"Not much! People must have thought us a queer family to leave it there as long as we have."

"Mr. Bowser, that stove is not in the way, and it is not an eye-sore. Besides we have no place to store it."

"It goes to the barn, of course."

"It would be the most foolish thing you could do."

"Humph! How would it look to have a snow-shovel standing on each side of our front door with the thermometer at 95 degrees in the shade? One must have any eye out for consistency and the eternal fitness of things."

"Well, if you are determined to move it, if you will move it in spite of my protests, send up a couple of men to-morrow and have it over with."

"Send up nothing! Do you suppose I'm going to pay some one two dollars to lift that stove out when I can do it myself with a twist of the wrist? I'll have it out of the way in ten minutes."

"Mr. Bowser, you can no more move that stove than I can fly."

"Can't I? I can do it with one hand tied behind me, and I'll go right at it."

I argued and entreated, but it was no use. It was a dreadfully warm evening, and Mr. Bowser was panting as he sat fanning himself, but what did he do but walk in and prepare for the struggle. I felt that I ought to make one last appeal, and I followed him and said:

"Mr. Bowser, if you won't touch the stove to-night I'll make a big pitcher of ice-cold lemonade."

"Lemonade! Nonsense! One would think from the way you talk that I was going to murder somebody. Just sit right here and enjoy the cool breeze while I skip the stove out. I'll get the wheelbarrow and take it to the barn."

"THUNDER AND BLAZES!"

"Mr. Bowser, remember that I protest."

"Certainly. You are the great American protester, any way. If I killed a fly you'd protest."

I went back to the steps, knowing well what would happen, but I felt that I had done my duty. I heard him fussing around for awhile, and then he muttered:

"She's purty hefty, but she's got to come out o' this."

Ten seconds later there was a wild whoop, and when I got into the hall Mr. Bowser stood on one foot and was shaking the other in the air, while the top of the stove lay on the floor. He had pulled it off at the first grab.

"Thunder—and blazes—and Jewhittaker—and Texas—and Jemima!" he was yelling as he waved his foot aloft.

"Didn't I tell you?" I queried as I looked at him.

"No! Never! You never said a word—not a word!"

"Now will you let the stove alone?"

"NO! I'll take it out of here if I die for it!"

"Mr. Bowser, this pig-headed obstinacy of yours will surely lead to—"

But he made a jump at me, and I fled back to the front steps and waited in suspense and terror for the climax. It was prolonged for about ten minutes. Mr. Bowser had decided to go slow and avoid another accident. He took off all the loose parts, removed his coat, vest, collar and cuffs, dropped the suspenders off his shoulders, and I plainly heard him spit on his hands and growl:

"None of the Bowser family were ever yet downed by a coal stove, and it's too late to begin now!"

Another man would have removed the legs first. He didn't think of it, but undertook to move the stove as one moves a barrel standing on end. He had progressed about five feet when there was a sound which frightened the whole neighborhood. My first impression was that the ginger ale factory in the alley had exploded and driven our barn up against the kitchen. My next was that a British gun-boat had slipped around from the Behring sea and dropped a four-hundred-pound shell on the roof of our house to offset Mr. Bowser's assertions that we were the greatest fighting Nation on earth.

I knew what had happened. So did the cook. So did the neighbors. It was a minute before I could move, and I was flying in-doors when I heard Mr. Bowser utter a strange sound—something between the last roar of a dying lion and the plaintive moan of a cow for her lost calf. I couldn't see him at first. It was all stove, and the stove was on top of him. Between my screams and the cook's shouts we got a neighbor in, and the three of us lifted up the stove and dragged Mr. Bowser out.

"You are the biggest fool in America, and I'll gamble on it!" exclaimed the neighbor, as he stood over Mr. Bowser.

A long-drawn groan.

"It ought to have killed you! A man who doesn't know better ought to have a ton of iron fall on him! I suppose your wife will be foolish enough to send for a doctor, but if you were any kin to me I'd take you out and drive you headfirst into the alley!"

With that he went away, and I got the doctor up. No bones were broken, but Mr. Bowser had collapsed, like an empty barrel, and every square inch of him was bruised and pounded. It was long after midnight before he said any thing. I was rubbing him with arnica with one hand and fanning him with the other, when he looked up and asked:

"Mrs. Bowser, is it fatal?"

"Oh, no, dear."

"Any bones broken?"

"None."

"Did the stove fall on me?"

"Yes, dear."

"Don't 'yes dear' me, Mrs. Bowser, for I won't stand it! The scales have fallen from my eyes at last, and I know you for what you are! A nice job, wasn't it! Calculated I'd be driven through the floor, didn't you? Hoped to be a widow by this time, eh? To-morrow, Mrs. Bowser, I'll call up a lawyer and we'll see what's what!"—Detroit Free Press.

Assuming Responsibility.

Two colored porters in a Texas hotel were about to wrestle with the large trunk of a newly-arrived stranger when one of them took occasion to remark:

"Dis heah trunk weighs at de leas' twenty-five pounds more den free hundred pounds, and I kaint lift no moah den free hundred pounds."

"Nebber mind, Sam," replied the porter; "jest catch on and tote free hundred pounds up de sta's and I'll be 'sponsible for de rest."—Texas Siftings.

From the Tragedy of the Future.

Bismarck—The Emperor's a brute.

Mrs. Biz—Why so, oh! man of blood?

Bismarck—He doth burlesque.

Mrs. Biz—And hew, oh! Iron ex-Chancellor?

Bismarck—When he did seek to know the status of me health he put it thus: "How doth the little Bizzy be?"

Mrs. Biz—Ye gods! What baseness here there is!—Life.

Simply Another Name for It.

Miss Weary (listening to the steamboat whistle)—I wish that dreadful noise would stop. It makes me feel nervous.

Mr. Borem—Is that so? Do you know, I don't think I have such a thing as a nerve about me?

Miss Weary—Indeed! What do you call it then, gall?—The Jury.

A Fine Distinction.

Mother—Freddy, you have been very naughty. I heard what you said to Tommy Jones. Don't you know that "he that calleth his brother a fool is in danger of—"

Freddy—Oh, that's all right, ma! Tommy ain't my brother, and, besides, I didn't call him a fool—I said he was a darned idiot!—Light.

Her Mistake.

Frank—How did she act when you proposed?

Fred—She acted well. She pretended that she had never been proposed to before. In fact, she was an amateur.

Frank—Ah! that was a fatal mistake to make with a professional.—Munsey's Weekly.

Sand and Dust.

First Sporting Man—I admire that fellow Jackson. He'd be willing to fight Sullivan for $10,000 any day. He's got lots of sand.

Second Sporting Man—Yes; but I doubt if he's got the necessary dust.—West Shore.

SHORT OF MATTER.

Great Magazine Editor—We are very short of matter. All the great generals, notorious politicians, famous lawyers, popular actresses, eminent physicians and prominent scientists seem to be too busy to write for us just now.

Assistant (meditatively)—Perhaps we might get some articles from literary men.

Great Editor—Good idea! I'll make a tour of the poor-houses to-morrow.—Life.

The Innocent Farmer.

Traveler—How far is it to the next town, Johnny?

Farmer's Boy—How'd you know my name was Johnny?

Traveler—O! I guessed it.

Farmer's Boy—Well, if yer so blamed good at guessin', guess how far it is to th' next taown.—Light.

A Sure Sign.

Hawkins—You were pretty full last night, Lushington, I was sorry to see.

Lushington—No, sir; I was not. What made you think so?

Hawkins—Well, you were going around offering to bet twenty-five dollars that you were sober.—West Shore.

TWO-HEADED MOCCASIN.

An Encounter with a Venomous Reptile Doubly Armed.

A party of fishermen returned home this evening from the Cut Off, three miles below this city, writes the Galena (Ill.) correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, where they had been angling since early morning with splendid success. These particular disciples of Walton not only secured an abundance of black bass, salmon, pike and sunfish, but brought back with them the most decided curiosity in the shape of an oviparous monstrosity ever witnessed in this city. It was no less than a double-headed snake, pure and indisputable, and a monster serpent at that, of the moccasin variety, its length being little short of five feet and its circumference around the thickest part of its body eight inches plump.

The serpent was killed near the water's edge by Captain Leo Helt, an intrepid old soldier, who was fiercely attacked by the reptile, and would no doubt have been severely bitten, had it not been for his prowess as a marksman and the rapidity with which he drew his revolver from his pistol pocket and fired a couple of balls in rapid succession into the body of his dangerous antagonist.

The snake had evidently crawled out of a hole in the decayed stump of a tree, and when first discovered was lying full length in the sun just in front of the aperture. Captain Helt first imagined there were two reptiles lying together, but on cautiously approaching the spot observed, to his amazement, that it was one snake only, but with two distinct and perfectly formed heads.

The hideous reptile, which had evidently been in a stupor, suddenly became aroused, and was in the act of darting at the captain, when, as above stated, a couple of doses of cold lead from Helt's revolver brought the serpent to a halt, almost at his very feet.

On examining the moccasin it was found that the two heads forked at right and left angles from the body, each head having between three and four inches of neck. The heads were perfectly formed and exactly alike, and when the serpent was aroused from its stupor both gave forth a horrible hissing sound which for an instant nearly paralyzed the captain.

The latter gentleman says he has faced during his manhood about every thing that was calculated to try a fellow's nerve, from a band of Forrest's guerillas to a Rocky Mountain lion, but he never tackled any thing yet that tried his courage more effectually than that double-headed moccasin.

SEVEN SPOOK EVENTS.

No Particular Locality Has a Monopoly of the Spirit Throng.

A woman died under suspicious circumstances in a small house near Marshall, Ill., last November. Since then it is said that a form in white has been seen to pass in and out of the house at the same hour each night.

On a farm near Springfield, Mo., a spectral rabbit lingers about an old well, into which the dead body of a murdered peddler was thrown many years ago. The animal is bullet proof. No matter how many shots are aimed at it, it maintains its position day after day.

A New York widower, on the night of his marriage to another woman, was surprised by a visit from the spirit of his first wife, who delivered to him a lecture on the evil of his ways, giving him to understand in the most emphatic language that she strongly disapproved of his course.

As a Maine judge was riding past a grave-yard one moonlight night, he thought he saw a ghost. There was something white on top of a tomb, and it moved. Getting nearer, he saw its eyes gleam. But determining to solve the phemonenon, he advanced into the grave-yard and discovered that the spectral object was only a stray sheep.

An elegant Indianapolis mansion is empty and is offered for rent at a very low figure. The owner vacates because he is tired of the racket kicked up by invisible midnight visitors. Furniture is turned upside down and the piano played by unseen hands. A ghostly finger appears and traces on the mirror letters of the color of blood, spelling out the word "Beware!"

A correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says that while he was in the army in 1863 he awoke one morning on hearing his name called by his sister's voice! No one else heard the sound and the occurrence passed from his mind a few days later, when he received a letter from home stating that his sister had died on the very day he was so strangely awakened.

Mandan, Dak., has a spook and is proud of it. A man named Lansing died in 1881 in a house which has been vacant ever since. Those who pass the place in the night-time see strange lights flitting about in the deserted rooms and hear groans and cries of distress. One farmer who had the courage to look in the window declares that he saw Lansing, with a face as pale as death, lying on the floor.

Sparrows Stop a Town Clock.

The Sarnia (Ont.) town clock stopped at 4:30 one Thursday morning, and Mr. Williams, on going to ascertain the cause, found the hands had been securely tied down by strands of twine and grass. The mischief had been done by a pair of English sparrows, who had selected the angle formed by the hands as a site for a nest. The movement of the hands interfered with their plans, and the birds put their wits to work to devise a remedy that would secure the stability of the nest. Their first scheme was to wind the shaft on which the hands are pivoted round and round with grass and cords. That failing, they tied the hands together and to the framework in such a manner that it took considerable time and a great deal of labor on Mr. Williams' part to remove the obstructions. The engineering skill displayed by the birds in accomplishing their object showed that they possessed reasoning powers of no mean order, besides an amount of industry and perseverance in gathering the material within the few hours at their disposal that is almost incredible.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction. TELEPHONE 128.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE.
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
Baby Carriages—The largest assortment in town.
4 DOORS BELOW POST OFFICE. 1-11-t

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At G. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-12-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
12-20-7

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 5-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 102. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 10-tf

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
423

BUY "GRAPHITE"
For your Safeties; reduced from 25c to 17c per Bottle.
Look at the PRICES on
Fishing Rods & Tackle,
Ball Goods,
Spratt's Dog Biscuits, &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

12 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Fancy Clocks, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms and Jewelry. Don't forget the number.

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. ESTERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. E. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway, 7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 | A. M. | to meet | 8.32 | A. M. train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | | do | 10.37 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | | do | 12.08 | P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 | P. M. | do | 2.18 & 2.39 | P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet | 3.51 | P. M. train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do | 5.20 | do; |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do | 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do | 7.03 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.20, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.20, 3.45, 4.34, 5.20, 6.20, 8. P. M.

Sundays at 10.41 A. M. and 7.47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 22, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 06, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 29, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 27, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 32, 3 20, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 5 12, 5 51, 5 06, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 50, 3 20, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 05, 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 20, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 22, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 7 48, 8 20, 9 45, 11 15, 12 49 P. M. Sunday—8 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48, 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 3 05, 3 52, 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 6 05, 6 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 30 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 05, 5 05 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 50 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 05 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 27 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 21, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 27, 8 52, a. m., 3 20 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 27, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 07, 5 51, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 27, 8 52 a. m., 3 20 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 27, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 21 7 03 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 20, 9 48, 11 58*, a. m., 1 58*, 3 32*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 38*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58*, a. m., 2 40, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 30*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 05, 9 45, 12 p. m Sundays—9 a. m., 12 50, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—8 10, 8 20*, 11 08, a. m. 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 8 35 a. m., 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 20, 4 00, 7*, 8*, 9*, 10 10, 11 55 a. m., 1 25, 2 10, 3 40*, 5 25, 6 20, 8 47, 10 p. m. Sundays—1 30, 4 09, 9 55 a. m. 1 26, 4, 5 55, 7, 8 47 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen. Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass Agent.

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, AUGUST 9. 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

WE HAVE HAD A LARGER

Trade this season than ever before; simply because we have increased our stock and variety, likewise keeping up sizes as near as possible.

We still have a good variety of Russet goods. They will be worn for outdoor use until the middle of September. THEN, if they are still in good order, make a very comfortable house shoe for Winter.

We close our store 7 P. M., (except Saturday). Please make your purchases accordingly.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

Man wants but little here below—
And don't want that little very long.

Only in a pair of Shoes they want them LONG enough for comfort, and also want them to wear a LONG time. They will surely do it if you buy them of

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

Wishing You Good Health
Truly Yours
Karl Karth
Plainfield N J

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 6-2-tf

OUT ON THE CENTRAL

A General Strike Ordered on the Great Railroad.

NO TRAINS LEAVING NEW YORK

Employes Stop Work as Soon as Notified by the Knights of Labor Officials.

The Railroad Officials Say They Will Fight to the Bitter End—Police Reserves Called Out in New York—The Trouble Expected to Extend to All the Vanderbilt Lines.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad and the West Shore road, both run by the Vanderbilts, were "tied up" last night at 7 o'clock. After that time not a wheel turned, excepting the 9 and 11:40 p. m. mail trains from the Grand Central station. Over 20,000 men are idle this morning, and the probability is that the strike will be long and bitter.

This is the first strike of any moment on the New York Central since its formation, and bids fair to be one of the most memorable in the history of labor troubles in the country. It was ordered by the Knights of Labor on the road, and the completeness of the tie-up surprised every official of the road. The Knights were found in every department, from the dispatcher's office to the cleaners of the engines. Engineers, firemen, brakemen, freight conductors, switchmen, switch tenders, dock laborers, clerks and every other class of labor fell into line.

The cause of the strike, which came so suddenly, has already been published in these dispatches. For months, according to the workmen, prominent members of the Knights of Labor on various sections of the road have been discharged without any reason being assigned.

Several of the strikers were interviewed on the matter but declined to talk further than to say that it would prove to be the biggest strike before it was over that the people in the east had seen for some years.

A rumor that the men had gone out on the Lake Shore road as far as Chicago could not be verified.

Done at Short Notice.

So brief has been the controversy that led up to this clash between the workmen and the great corporation that comparatively little publicity had been given to it in the newspapers, and the travelling public was practically unprepared for it. Those who intended to travel from the city on trains over the Central and other roads after 7 o'clock last night, got their first intimation of the trouble when they reached the station.

The Call-Out Dispatch.

The words "Webster's Dictionary" had been selected as the cipher by which the news of the inauguration of the strike should be made known. The words which meant so much to the business of New York was telegraphed to every local assembly on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad and the West Shore at 6:30 p. m. The men at the Grand Central Depot struck at 7:15, and no train except the fast mail left after 7:30.

The Brotherhood in the Fight.

It is said that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are urging on the fight against the K. of L. men in retaliation for the Knights' action in the big Philadelphia & Reading railroad strike several years ago. It is claimed by some that at that time when the engineers and firemen were on strike the Knights assisted the company in getting outside men to take the strikers' places. Members of the committee who are in the city looking after the interests of the Knights, were asked as to the rumor, and, while none of them denied it outright, all said that they did not believe that the Brotherhood had any hand in the matter.

Police Protection Called For.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The officials of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company called upon Acting-Superintendent Byrnes, of the Metropolitan police force, for protection. In compliance with this request the reserves in all precincts on the east side below Forty-Second street have been ordered held in readiness for any emergency.

Nearly All Out at Utica.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 9.—In and about the Utica station and yards of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad about 150 men are employed. The yardmen went out at 8:35 o'clock last night. There are on duty now only the baggage master, yard master, gate tender, ticket seller and the telegraph operator, five in number. The freight handlers went out this morning. The men say they go out, not from any local grievance, but because they are Knights of Labor.

Tied Up Tight at Troy.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The entire Central and Hudson River Railroad business at this station is tied up. The Hudson River locals on the belt line have been abandoned. The only service between Troy and Albany is by way of the Delaware and Hudson, and that company's trains are obliged to use the west side going and returning.

Has Reached Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The New York Central Railroad strike has reached here. Those trainmen whose homes are in this city are leaving their trains as fast as they arrive here. As far as known at this time, the strike has not affected the employes in the yards at East Rochester.

Troops Held in Readiness.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The Tenth Battallion, N. G. S. N. Y., has been ordered to be in readiness to respond to a call, and there is an extra force of police ready for any emergency. Trouble is expected at the West Albany shops.

Quiet at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 9.—There are signs of a strike here and trains are running as usual. The men say they have received no intimation that anything will happen.

BACKED BY THE ORDER.

A Member of the Executive Board Says the Knights Must be Recognized.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mr. J. J. Holland, a member of the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor and the real leader of the present movement, was seen at the Grand Union Hotel, where he was continually receiving reports on the progress of the strike all along the line. He said:

"I am here at the request of D. A. 246. The delegates of this assembly went to the general office in Philadelphia on Tuesday and laid their grievances before the General Executive Board. You know that every trades district has the power to declare a strike in its own trade, but if they want the support of the whole order, they must first lay their troubles before the General Board. D. A. 246 did this, and the board came to the conclusion that the men's grievances were founded on facts and not imagination. As chairman of the National Legislative Committee, I was in Washington at the time. I received a telegram to come on here, and met the Executive Board of D. A. 246 yesterday. They formulated a list of their grievances. They requested me to ask the officers of the New York Central to reinstate the men who had been discharged.

"When I saw Mr. Webb he said that he could not treat with me, but only with the employes of the company. The company is trying its best to destroy the order. The men either had to submit to the disruption of the organization or do as they have done. I will lay the matter before the General Executive Board, which meets in Detroit on the 13th, and if the struggle is not over by that time, it can take upon itself the fight. Everything has been done by the District Assembly and myself to avert this trouble. If a favorable disposition had been shown by the officers of the company the matter could have been amicably adjusted."

Mr. Holland then shut right up, and wouldn't say another word to reporters.

THE COMPANY'S STATEMENT.

Acting President Webb Tells What Led to the Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A statement on behalf of the railroad was made by Vice-President Webb, who, during Chauncey Depew's absence in Europe is acting president. Mr. Webb said:

"The Forty-second street yard, comprising the Grand Central, Hudson River, and New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads, the freight yard at Sixty-fifth street and North River, and the West Albany yard are affected. The switchmen, yardman, and perhaps some trainmen are comprised in the strike. We can not tell positively about points other than those named, but we don't believe there is any trouble elsewhere.

"The cause of the strike was the discharge of fifty-five men for good and sufficient reasons. We were given the option of reinstating those men or submitting to a strike. We declined to reinstate the men and do not propose to reinstate them under any circumstances. The discharges took place two or three weeks ago and a number of committees have been to see General Manager Toucey, and I see the papers say I snubbed Mr. Holland, the chairman of the committee. This is not true, as I treated him courteously."

Mr. Webb was asked whether Mr. Depew had been cabled to come home, and replied that he had not and that, so far as he was informed, Mr. Depew was not coming home. Mr. Webb appears to regard Mr. Toucey and himself, with their assistants, competent to take care of the strike.

Volunteer Firemen on Strike.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 9.—Of thirteen volunteer fire companies which held a meeting last night, nine decided to do no duty after noon to-day without pay. These companies had asked the Board of Aldermen for an increased appropriation which the Board refused to grant. The Aldermen say that a paid fire department cannot be established under existing laws. Business men are alarmed as the striking firemen own their engines and equipments. A few policies on buildings have been cancelled by the insurance companies.

The President's Trip.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—President Harrison will arrive in this city late this afternoon, and will embark on the United States cruiser Baltimore, off Twenty-third street, where the peerless White Squadron lies at anchor. The Baltimore will then proceed to Boston, but will not arrive there before Monday, because the President has issued orders for the cruiser to lie over in the Sound over to-morrow.

Silk Workers on Strike.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 9.—Seventy male and thirty female employes of Landrau's silk factory struck for an increase in wages. They claim that they are paid but 12 cents per pound for work which earns 27 cents in other factories. There was some threats of violence on the part of the men, but no serious trouble has yet occurred.

An Old Clergyman Dead.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Rev. Francis Clark, one of the oldest priests of the Buffalo diocese, died in this city at the age of 64 years. His funeral will take place at Hornellsville on Monday. The deceased was born in Ireland and has been attached to the parishes of Hornellsville, Owego and Elmira.

THE LOTTERY BILL

A Bitter Fight in Prospect in the House.

THE ISSUE WILL BE FORCED.

Congressmen Anxious to Have the Measure Called Up for Consideration

General Grubb of New Jersey Mentioned for the Spanish Mission—No Congressional Recess Will Not be Taken—Rough Estimates of the Population of the United States and New York State.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—There is a disposition on the part of members of Congress to force the fighting against the Louisiana Lottery Company. A petition signed by about one-fourth of the House has been presented to the Committee on Rules, asking that a day be named for the consideration of the Anti-Lottery bill recently reported from the Committee on Post-Offices and Post Roads.

Gen. Bingham, the chairman of the committee, says that if the bill gets a day it will undoubtedly be passed.

State Senator Goldthwaite, of Louisiana, one of the chief attorneys of the Louisiana Lottery Company, and the man who conducted the fight in the Louisiana Legislature for the renewal of the company's charter, has arrived in the city and is already at work influencing legislation.

SALVADOR'S SUCCESS.

Troops Sent to the Frontier to Push the Invasion.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—An unofficial dispatch received in this city says that anarchy reigns in Guatemala and General Barrundia has invaded the country from the Mexican frontier. The Salvador troops have gone back to the frontier to push on the invasion of Guatemala.

General Miranda, commandant of the forces of Ayala and an aspirant to the presidency of Salvador, has been routed and Salvador is free from invaders.

The outrage by Guatemala in seizing the arms ordered by Salvador from San Francisco created great excitement. Some assert that the seizure of war material in the harbor of San Jose was agreed upon by the Government of Guatemala and the United States Legation, but this is not generally believed.

Minister Mizner's despatches have not interfered with Salvador, though his silence in regard to the Colima outrage is not understood by the Government of Salvador.

A diplomatic settlement of the trouble with Guatemala is expected.

THE SPANISH MISSION.

General E. Burd Grubb May Receive the Appointment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The name of General E. Burd Grubb, of New Jersey, is being seriously considered by the President and Secretary Blaine in connection with the Spanish Mission. The suggestion of the diplomatic appointment comes from General Sewell. It is understood that Mr. Blaine is in favor of filling this vacant mission at once, but the President desires to defer both this and the Brazilian Mission until the fall campaign opens.

Population of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Rough estimates of the population of all the States, prepared from the enumerators' postal card reports, show the total population of the United States as about sixty-four millions, without the inhabitants of State prisons, insane asylums and similar institutions. These will probably bring the total up to about sixty-five millions. The unofficial first count of the State of New York shows 5,998,693, which will probably be increased to six millions by the time the official count is completed.

No Recess for Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The Committee on Rules did not consider the question of a recess next week brought before it by the request of about 130 members, most of whom want to go to Boston to attend the G. A. R. encampment. The understanding is that no recess will be taken, but leaves of absence will be granted to all that want to go. In that event it is expected there will be no quorum present in the House from Monday until Thursday.

Removal of Gen. Grant's Remains.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Senator Plumb's resolution, introduced a few days ago, expressing the desire of Congress for the removal of the remains of Gen. Grant from Riverside Park to the National Arlington Cemetery, passed the Senate. The general belief is that Gen. Grant's remains will never leave New York.

The Rug Not Admitted Free.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Assistant Secretary Spaulding has denied an application for the free entry of a rug of the sixteenth century, on the ground that a recent decision of the Department, and existing law, precludes the free admission of a single article, and provides only for "collections of antiquity."

Poured Kerosene Over His Wife.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 9.—Jerome Sweet, who poured kerosene over his wife's clothing and set it on fire has confessed that he did the deed, and also admitted that he intended to set fire to his own clothes in a like manner but had not the courage. The woman is dying in the hospital.

Boden and Vaqualin to Fight.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A dispatch from New Orleans says that Mike Boden and Felix Vaqualin will fight at the Columbia Athletic Club, on August 15, for a purse of $800.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—5 |
| Chicago | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 0 | x—7 |

Batteries—Wadsworth and Zimmer; Hutchinson and Kittridge.

AT CINCINNATI.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 3—9 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1—6 |

Batteries—Duryea and Keenan; Osborne and Wilson.

POSTPONED.

At Philadelphia—The New York-Philadelphia game was postponed on account of rain.

At Brooklyn—The Boston-Brooklyn game was postponed on account of rain.

Players League.

AT CHICAGO.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1—4 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 4 | 1 | x—8 |

Batteries—Hartson and Farrell; O'Brien and Sutcliffe.

AT PITTSBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 6 | 3 | 0 | 2—18 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2—5 |

Batteries—Maul and Quinn; Cunningham and Mack.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 1 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 0 | 0—10 |
| New York | 2 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1—11 |

Batteries—Gumbert and Kelly; Crane and Ewing.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 5 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—7 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0—4 |

Batteries—Weying and Cook; Buffinton and Hallman.

American Association.

AT LOUISVILLE.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louisville | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 0 | x—7 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Daily and Pitz; Goodall and Kyan.

Atlantic Association.

POSTPONED.

At Newark—The New Haven-Newark game postponed on account of rain.

At Harrisburg—The Hartford-Harrisburg game postponed on account of rain.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 59 | 29 | .670 | Chicago | 46 | 43 | .517 |
| Philadel. | 57 | 35 | .540 | N. York | 38 | 51 | .427 |
| Boston | 56 | 34 | .622 | Clevl'nd | 29 | 62 | .295 |
| Cincin'ti | 54 | 34 | .614 | Pittsb'rg | 18 | 69 | .207 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 52 | 34 | .605 | Philadel. | 48 | 42 | .533 |
| Brookl'n | 53 | 40 | .570 | Pittsb'rg | 38 | 44 | .463 |
| N. York | 48 | 40 | .545 | Clev'l'nd | 37 | 48 | .435 |
| Chicago | 46 | 41 | .539 | Buffalo | 24 | 59 | .289 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'ville | 54 | 31 | .635 | Col'mb'a | 43 | 44 | .488 |
| St. Louis | 50 | 34 | .595 | Toledo | 39 | 42 | .481 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 39 | .536 | Syracuse | 37 | 49 | .424 |
| Athletic | 46 | 41 | .529 | Brookl'n | 26 | 58 | .301 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'more | 63 | 22 | .741 | Wash't'n | 37 | 45 | .451 |
| N. Hav'n | 56 | 24 | .700 | Harrish'g | 33 | 52 | .388 |
| Newark | 46 | 35 | .568 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 53 | .358 |
| Lebanon | 39 | 35 | .527 | Hartford | 30 | 56 | .356 |

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | 3,325 | ..... |
| Chicago | 1,209 | ..... |
| Brooklyn | 299 | ..... |
| Pittsburg | 1,919 | ..... |
| Cincinnati | ..... | 1,438 |
| Cleveland | ..... | 600 |
| Totals | 5,753 | 2,038 |

Schedule of To-day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
New York vs. Philadelphia at Philadelphia.
Chicago vs. Cleveland, at Cleveland.
Cincinnati vs. Pittsburg, at Pittsburg.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

New York vs. Boston, at Boston.
Philadelphia vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Cleveland vs. Chicago, at Chicago.
Buffalo vs. Pittsburg, at Pittsburg.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

St. Louis vs. Brooklyn, at St. Louis.
Louisville vs. Syracuse, at Louisville.
Columbus vs. Rochester, at Columbus.
Toledo vs. Athletics, at Toledo.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

New Haven vs. Newark at Newark.
Baltimore vs. Harrisburg, at Harrisburg.
Washington vs. Lebanon, at Lebanon.
Hartford vs. Wilmington, at Wilmington.

A PRIEST SWINDLED.

The Savings of Fifteen Years Captured by Two Sharpers.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Rev. Father Peter Saponari, pastor of the Italian Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, in this city, has been swindled out of $3,000 by two of his fellow countrymen.

One of the men came to him a few days ago and said he had a nephew, an orphan, whom he desired to put in his charge, saying that the boy's father had left $10,000 in cash for him, and he knew of no better man to assume the care of the orphan than the priest. He asked the pastor to meet him at Delmonico's to get the $10,000, and told him to bring $3,000 with him as security.

The pastor drew $3,000 from the bank, met the two men at Delmonico's and gave them the money, receiving in return a tin box, which the sharpers told him contained $10,000. The men said they would call at the priest's house that evening.

As they did not come the priest opened the box yesterday and found that it contained only a small book. The $3,000 was Father Saponari's savings for 15 years. The police are looking for the swindlers.

Policemen Arrested for Manslaughter.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Chief of Police Moon and Policemen Weaver and Hale were arrested on warrants issued by Coroner Van Duzen, charging them with manslaughter, and Dr. J. J. Towle was arrested on a charge of culpable negligence in the case of young Callahan, who died in the lock-up a short time ago. All gave $500 bail to appear before the grand jury next month. The policemen and the doctor are those who gave Callahan treatment which, it is claimed, contributed to the cause of his death in the Jamestown jail.

Pennsylvania Increases Wages.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The employes of the Pennsylvania freight yards in Jersey City, received the announcement that their wages had been increased 15 cent.

REBELLIOUS TROOPS

English Soldiers at Chatham Garrison Revolt.

TWENTY MUTINEERS ARRESTED

Public Sentiment Demands the Resignation of the Duke of Cambridge.

Emperor William Bids Farewell to the Queen—Henry George Talks About His Australian Receptions—An Appalling Number of Suicides Among Children in Germany—Queen Natalie's Last Notion.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The Government is considerably exercised over the discontent which exists among Her Majesty's troops. A large portion of the Army Service Corps of the garrison at Chatham, becoming incensed at the action of the sergeants who imposed vexatious and needless duties upon the men without authority from the superior officers, refused to obey an order to parade and barricaded the store. Twenty of the mutinous troops have been arrested.

Bloodshed would have followed had not the mutineers been overawed into surrender. The ringleaders were put into rigorous confinement and promptly court-martialled and sentenced to imprisonment for a month.

There is a general public feeling that something is rotten in army circles when such demonstrations appear necessary to obtain a redress of grievances, as the army rules nominally afford opportunity for a hearing in a legitimate way.

The Chronicle, commenting on the fact, expresses deep regret at the perfectly plain fact that discontent is rapidly spreading in the British army and warns Parliament of the consequences of its neglect to devise means to check it. At the present rate, the paper is convinced, it will not be long before the army will be in a similar condition to that of France before the revolution of 1789, and with greater reason.

Public sentiment strongly demands the resignation as Commander-in-Chief of the Duke of Cambridge, uncle to the Queen, as utterly incapacitated to deal with modern military conditions. It is said that but for her Majesty's influence, the present Government would have abolished the office of Commander-in-Chief.

Queen Natalie as an Abbess.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The report that ex-Queen Natalie, of Servia, has resolved to devote the bulk of her fortune to the erection of a nunnery in Russia in which she will instal herself as abbess, has not found many supporters here. In view of the well-known fact that the royal lady has in progress several schemes for avenging herself upon her unfaithful husband—in which relation she still regards ex-King Milan in spite of the decree of divorce obtained by him—the statement that she contemplates religious seclusion needs confirmation.

Children Committing Suicide.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Of late there has been an appalling number of suicides among children in Germany. A large percentage of these self-murders have taken place among school children, as the result of over-study, failure to pass examinations and similar causes, and it is suggested that school discipline be relaxed as a means of lessening the suicidal tendency.

Henry George Interviewed.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Mr. Henry George, in an interview, talked enthusiastically of his Australian receptions, which he regarded as more flattering to himself and favorable to his theories than any he had ever received. Mr. George declared his belief that Imperial Federation was dead and expressed his belief that even Colonial Federation was waning.

Emperor William Leaves England.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Emperor William bade farewell to the Queen at Osborne last night, and departed on the yacht Hohenzollern for Heligoland.

MURDERERS FRIGHTENED.

Their Lawyer Will Work for Repeal of the Electrocution Law.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The criminal lawyers may take a stand against the electrical execution law. Lawyer John R. Heinselmann, who defended three murderers who are now awaiting execution, said that he, like many others of his profession, believes the killing of murderers by electricity to be inhuman and horrible, and that he will take immediate steps to have Governor Hill respite all murderers condemned to die by electricity until the Legislature meets.

Mr. Heinselmann said that this appeal would be in the shape of a petition, and that when the Legislature meets he will ask permission to present a bill calling for the repeal of the law.

He had investigated and found that many lawyers are bitterly opposed to the new law as cruel and inhuman. Mr. Heinselmann said that the murderers awaiting execution are frightened out of their wits since they heard of the horrible death of Kemmler, and it is believed by prison officers that one of them will become crazy.

Warden Durston's Statement.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Warden Durston, of Auburn State Prison, while in this city was asked by a reporter whether the statement that the execution of William Kemmler was true. He said: "The execution was a thorough and complete success, as the official reports will show. The public should take the evidence of physicians who saw it. It was far superior to hanging the man. Much of the matter telegraphed from Auburn was for effect. Strip it of verbiage and the result is apparent. It is said that a Westinghouse man was at the switch. That is false and can be proved if necessary."

SUNOL'S FAST TIME.

Fifteen Thousand People See the California Wonder Trot at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Fifteen thousand people went out to the Driving Park, attracted by the announcement that Sunol and Belle Hamlin would attempt to lower the records of 2:10¼ and 2:12½, made by them respectively. The track was dry and in seemingly good condition but it lacked elasticity. It was dragged just before the special event.

Both the flyers received a warm reception from the thousands that filled the grand stand and lined the track. After some preliminary warming up, the judges announced that the horses would go to the limit of their speed but would be sent to beat 2:15. This was for the purpose of giving Sunol a record as a 4-year-old the best record up to this time being 2:16.

Belle Hamlin was sent first. Andrews gave her her head and she flew to the quarter in 33½ and to the half in 1:06. The running mate joined her on the next quarter and she reached the three-quarters in 1:40. Coming into the stretch the wind blew straight in her face and she did not make the finish that was expected. She came steady but at the distance pole she was perceptibly tiring. Andrews did not punish her but let her make her own pace and she passed under the wire in 2:14¾.

The California wonder, Sunol, was then called up. As she passed up the stretch for the start she received a salvo of applause. Turning just above the distance pole she got under headway and passed under the wire in full motion. She reached the quarter in 33¾, slow time for her, but she made up for it in the distance to the half, which was reached in 1:05½, or 81½ for the quarter. To the three-quarters, where the track was poorest, she lost again, reaching the third pole in 1:38¼. At the head of the stretch the runner was waiting for her, but before he got turned around Sunol had passed him and was away ahead. The runner did not catch her until well down the stretch, and when she heard him on her wheel, the gallant little mare flew onward and passed under the wire in 2:12½, just three-quarter seconds slower than her California record. As the time was hung out the crowd burst into applause, long-continued.

Considering the track and the fact that the wind on the stretch made a difference of a full second, Sunol's performance more than equals that which ranked her next to the Queen of Trotters, Maud S.

Punishing the Rioteus Prisoners.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The rioting convicts in the State prison are still in "Fort Russell," and will remain there several days. All the other prisoners are locked in their cells with the exception of twenty or thirty trusted ones, who are at work in the shops and yard clearing away the debris. Chairman Fitz, of the State Prison Commission, visited the jail to-day and heard an account of the riot from Warden Russell. To a reporter he said that the riot seemed to be a craze with the prisoners, and that an investigation would be made by the Board of Prison Commissioners in regard to the cases which led up to the riot, and the discipline and management of the institution.

Liverpool Jack Arrested for Murder.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Longshoreman William Reilly, who accuses John Fitzpatrick, alias Liverpool Jack, of having on Saturday last beaten and kicked him in a most brutal manner, died at the Homeopathic Hospital on Ward's Island at a late hour last night from lockjaw, resulting from his injuries. Fitzpatrick is under arrest.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The President has signed the Original Package bill.

Edward de Bauernfeld, the most distinguished Austrian poet of modern years, died at Vienna yesterday at the advanced age of 89 years.

The house, barn and contents owned by Joel de Wolf, at West Deerfield, Mass., were burned yesterday. Loss, $7,500; insurance, $6,000.

The Louisiana Anti-Lottery League has issued a strong appeal to the people of the United States to assist them in their fight against the lottery.

Thomas Bridgeforth, colored, of Bridgeport Conn., took out a license to marry Anne Temlett, a white woman. She will make her intended husband a present of $2,000.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 9.—For New England: Warmer; generally fair; southeasterly winds.

For Eastern New York: Fair in northern, showers in southern portion; warmer; winds shifting to southerly.

For New Jersey: Showers; warmer; variable winds.

For Western New York: Fair; followed by local showers on the lakes; southwesterly winds; warmer, except near Rochester stationary temperature.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Money on call to-day, 7 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 104 | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 104 | 104 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 124½ | 124½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 124½ | 124½ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canada Pacific | 79 | ..... |
| Central Pacific | 39 | ..... |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 106¾ | 106¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | 141 | 141 |
| Del., Lack. & Western | 145½ | 145½ |
| Erie | 25⅝ | 25⅝ |
| Erie pref | ..... | ..... |
| Lake Shore | 106¾ | 106¾ |
| Louis. & Nash | 84⅝ | 85⅛ |
| Michigan Central | 95½ | 95 |
| Missouri Pacific | 69⅝ | 70¼ |
| New Jersey Central | ..... | ..... |
| Northwestern | 110½ | 110 |
| Oregon Navigation | 101 | ..... |
| Pacific Mail | 44 | 45¼ |
| Reading | 43 | 43⅝ |
| Rock Island | 89¼ | 89⅞ |
| St. Paul | 71⅝ | 71⅞ |
| Union Pacific | 49⅝ | 50⅛ |
| Western Union | 87½ | 87½ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

IT IS DEVOTED TO THE DISCUSSION OF SUBJECTS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER. IT CONFIDENCE IS NOT ENJOYED, THE TRUTH CANNOT BE HOPED FOR IN COMMUNICATION.

CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND NOTICES OF CHURCH AFFAIRS, OR THE DECISIONS OF SOCIETIES, LECTURES AND ENTERTAINMENTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, ETC., IF THEY ARE NOT ADVERTISED, INSERTION FREE, OR WHICH MAY BE ADVERTISED.

MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—The evening service at Trinity Reformed church to-morrow evening.

—Devoe's prediction for yesterday was: "Cool northerly winds; pleasant weather."

—There will be interesting shooting matches on the grounds of the Middlesex Gun Club, August 27, at live and inanimate targets. In October there will be a week's tournament on the grounds.

—The first of the Congressional Conventions in this State will be that of the Fourth District Democrats, which will be held at Belvidere on September 17. Congressman Fowler will be re-nominated.

—Bridgeton, Cumberland county, August 16, will be a grand carnival on Lake Hopatcong. The illuminated boats will assemble at T. Khor Phillips' handsome cottage, the "Kenmore." It is expected that this event will be one of the grandest at the lake.

—The plane that was in the Crescent League club house and badly damaged at the time of the fire, was covered with a "nothing" policy that went with the instrument wherever it was rented. It was the only piano so covered of all the music dealer had rented.

—The Scattered Four will hold a grand picnic at Mt. Bethel Hall, on Monday evening next, and those having the matter in charge are leaving nothing undone that will make the affair one of the most successful of the season, and long to be remembered. Stages will leave the corner of Park avenue and Second street at 6 o'clock of that evening.

—A beautiful gauze-winged locust escaped from its woodland home and spent an hour or two dodging to bewilderment in and out among the carriages and pedestrians on Cadwallader's wagons and pedestrians on West Front street yesterday afternoon. A group or newsboys finally espied it and sought its capture. The locust led the gamins a hot chase, but eventually had to surrender and was born away in triumph.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisk are at the Delaware Water Gap.

John A. Van Winkle, Esq., and J., left to-day for Asbury Park. They are registered at the Grand Avenue Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair and son Tommy, of East Second street, started yesterday to spend a week at Asbury Park.

E. P. Thorn and Wm. Egbert captured 22 black bass of the Oswego variety, in the Rahway River, yesterday, the largest weighing 3½ pounds.

Freeholder J. Frank Hubbard and County Engineer F. A. Dunham, are about to build on their newly-purchased land on Madison avenue.

H. Mulford Estill and Dr. T. S. Davis and family have safely crossed the Atlantic for a European visit. A cablegram dated Queenstown, August 8, and saying "Good voyage; all well," was received from Mr. Estil at 8:45 this morning.

Prof. N. J. Miller, formerly Vice Principal at the Stillman High School, and very popular in Plainfield, has accepted the professorship of Latin at Brown University, Providence, R. I. Before taking the chair he will make perfection perfect by studying a year at Yale.

Thirteen musical compositions by Dorsey W. Hyde, including three piano pieces, an anthem and nine selections for the organ, have just been accepted by the John Church Publishing Co. of Cincinnati, Chicago and New York. The young composer so honored, deserves it.

Miss Phoebe Neal, daughter of Rachel and the late Wm. H. Neal, died at her home on Central avenue this morning, after a brief illness. She went on the excursion of the Park Avenue, Baptist, First Presbyterian and Congregational churches to Asbury Park August 1, and during the day was stricken with nervous prostration, which resulted in her death.

Wm. C. Smith, S. V. C., of Post 73, of this city, who by an order issued from Headquarters of the G. A. R., August 4, has been appointed an aid upon the staff of National Commander Alger, in company with Comrades G. W. Moore, H. C. Drake, W. R. Moore, C. B. Stephens, Edward Willis, Jr., P. V. D. Stryker, Wm. H. Day, Levi Sutton and others, will leave Monday to attend the National Encampment of the G. A. R., to be held in Boston, August 11 to 16.

HOME OF THE COUNTY COUNTRY CLUB.

A Brief Description of the Plans of the Building Already Under Way.

The erection of the future home of the Union County Country Club, is rapidly progressing at the corner of West Seventh street and Arlington avenue, according to the elaborate plans by Architect Barlow of New York, as accepted by the building committee of the Club. The walls of the Arnold house standing on the property, will be utilized and added to in grouping that is exceedingly pleasing to the artistic sense and taste, appropriate to the eye and completely arranged for its interior purposes. The club house proper will face on Seventh street, while the Casino will stretch along Arlington avenue. The building will thus form an L in the inside angle of which will be the tennis grounds overlooked by balconies on a Spanish court.

On entering the club house from Seventh street, members will step into a large reception room about 25x16 feet, with open fireplace, handsome mantels and rich furnishings. From this opens a reading room and a parlor, all of which are so connected that with the dining room on the same floor they can be thrown together should occasion demand. There is also on this floor but not exactly in the club house proper, a ladies room that by its dimensions alone will be a source of gratification to the women visitors. It is just across the foyer of the Casino and opens into the hall at the foot of the staircase leading from the gentlemen's room above.

The Casino's auditorium is 75x40 feet with a convenient stage. 500 opera chairs will seat the audience upon the occasion of concerts by the Melopsia, lectures before the Monday Afternoon Club, private theatricals or other like entertainments. These chairs, however, will not be fixed and will be removed when the Assemblies are held. Below this auditorium floor are four bowling alleys of regulation length, and thoroughly well ventilated by windows opening on Arlington avenue.

This basement story also contains bath, toilet and coat rooms, store rooms and kitchen. The latter is connected by dumb waiters with the butler's pantry adjoining the dining rooms above. Supplies of all sorts and coals will be taken in through an area from the Arlington avenue side out of sight of the Club house windows.

In the second story of the club house on Seventh street, are located a spacious billiard room, four card rooms and a private dining room. From this floor also is a balcony looking on the tennis courts, and opening from the front of the house is a roomy gallery. In the building will be living rooms for the Chef and such other servants as may necessarily be always in attendance. The house complete, but unfurnished, with the price of the land, is to cost $30,000. It is to be ready for occupancy in three months at the most. The construction of the building is in the hands of John Chandler.

A Gay and Goodly German.

The German at The Netherwood, last evening, was complete in every way. Its consummation left nothing to be desired, and when dancing ceased at one o'clock this morning not a feature that combines to make such affairs enjoyable, had been missing.

The ladies looked unusually handsome and were especially well clothed. None were more charming nor more bewitchingly attired than Mrs. Oliver B. Bridgman and Mrs. H. A. Lattin, who distributed the favors so satisfactorily. These pretty gifts were selected in New York by Miss Plum and the Misses Forker, chaperoned by Arthur Rice. Supper was served at eleven o'clock.

The dance was led by H. W. Williams, and well led, too. He introduced a number of new figures that of course augmented the success of the affair. Eighteen couple took part, including Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McCabe, M. and Mrs. W. E. McCreedy, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wimple, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thorn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raser, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rooms, Mr. and Mrs. Trafton, the Misses Forker, Miss Plum, Miss Gregory, Miss Burt, Mr. Weston, Mr. Rice, Mr. Webster and Mr. Bridgman.

Three of the Little 6 Make a "Mistake".

Councilmen Jenkins, Johnson and Rushmore, the Auditing committee of the Council, did not pass Officer Grant's bill for police duty with the rest of last month's bills, and he has thus been kept out of his wages.

Such an act will be considered a mighty mean piece of spite work by those who may not hear that Chairman Jenkins says it was a "mistake". If the bill is not audited today, a special meeting will probably be called and the negligent committee will be given a piece of the majority's mind.

A Hackman Runs Over a Bicyclist.

A daughter of Asa Collier was riding a new safety bicycle on the driveways at Crescent Park this morning when a horse and carriage driven by a hackman collided with her machine and threw her to the ground. The horse was driven directly over both wheel and rider. The bicycle was considerably damaged, and the girl was severely bruised, and is suffering from the attendant nervous shock.

If your dealer says he does not keep Hires' Root Beer in stock, go to the next one who does. There is no valid reason because he hasn't the genuine to accept an imitation. Would you take counterfeit money? The dealers business is profit.

SUCCESS OF A PLAINFIELD IDEA.

Dr. Hurlbut's Young Folks' Society Achieving Widespread Renown.

The Epworth League, the new star in the Methodistic constellation which was organized in Plainfield, two or three Winters ago, by the Rev. Dr. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, has already achieved great success in numbers and results, and is attracting much attention among the conventions at Ocean Grove and other places. One of those foremost in the work of the League writes that the name Epworth is very suggestive of a rural home in the small town of that name in England, where Susanna Wesley (that model mother) presided over her large family and shaped in great measure the lives and characters of her two sons, one of whom became the founder of a great denomination and the other the writer of the hymns that have been the inspiration of the church for a hundred and fifty years.

This new society has for its object the development and education of the young people of the Methodist Episcopal church along the lines of "Christian work." The plan, if successfully carried out and encouraged by the pastors, will lead to increased activity on evangelistic lines, such as special revival services and meetings in neglected neighborhoods, and in many phases of church activity that have heretofore been done in a sort of haphazard manner by individuals or organizations outside of or beyond church control.

Should this new departure achieve the success which it deserves there will be developed an army of young people who will be thoroughly conversant with the machinery and connectional system by which that great church has accomplished so much. It is not narrowness or bigotry that makes a denomination seek to retain its children within its own fold and there find them work that shall develop their spirituality and give them at the same time that mental pabulum which shall make them well-rounded Christians. It is hoped that this home training in the Methodist church will do as much, if not more, for the cause of Christ in the World as the home training in the rectory at Epworth did.

This society has six departments entitled severally Christian Work, Mercy and Help, Literary, Entertainment, Correspondence and Finance.

The following well-known men are officers of the organization: The Rev. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, D. D., of Plainfield; recording secretary, Dr. R. R. Dohirty, of New York; treasurer, the Rev. James M. Freeman, D. D., of New York. The League is governed by a Board of Control, composed of members appointed by the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school Union and the Tract Society, and by each General Conference district. The Executive Committee represents the different sections of the country, the members of which are C. L. Doty, of Cleveland, Ohio; the Rev. Lyman E. Prentiss, of Knoxville, Tenn.; the Rev. Arthur Edwards, D. D., of Chicago, and W. W. Foote, of St. Joseph, Mich.

The League has already established an official organ entitled "The Epworth Herald," which is intended to be a stirring wide-awake periodical for young people. It is edited by the Rev. Joseph F. Berry, D. D.

Badly Hurt in a Runaway.

Jno. Thayer, who works the Blake farm in the neighborhood of Stirling, back of the Watchung Mountains, was seriously injured in a runaway accident on Somerset street, North Plainfield, this afternoon.

He was driving near Arnold's store when his horse was frightened and dashed off towards the city. Mahyer did his utmost to check the mad plunges of the animal, but at Harmony street his wagon struck an obstacle and he was thrown heavily to the ground. He still clung pluckily to the reins, but was dragged with his foot in the wheel over the ground. At Craig place he was forced to release his hold, and found himself suffering such severe pain that he had to be assisted to Warren Engine House.

Three physicians, Dr. Carman, Dr. Mattison and Dr. Hedges, soon reached his side and attended to his hurts. He had bad cuts and gashes on the face and back of the head, and was injured seriously in various parts of the body. Fears that his skull was fractured were dispelled by examination.

Elizabeth Kicks 'Cause She Can't Play Ball.

(From the Rahway Record.)

It is rumored that it cost the Rahway management $100 for the game Saturday. The biggest part of the money must have gone to the umpire.—Elizabeth Journal.

"Whatever ill fortune befalls you attribute it to the umpire." This paraphrase of a saying of one of the wise men, appears to have been adopted as a rule by our Elizabeth neighbors, but when a base ball score foots up 24 to 8, such insinuations as the above carry their own refutation.

They'll Do What They Think Will Benefit the City.

It is said that the Little 6 will oppose the putting of a fire alarm service in the city, just because it is proposed by the Big 6. This may not be so, but the vote will tell. However, if the Big 6 think it will be a benefit to the city, the service will come.

Cut by Flying Trains.

A part of the ceiling in the dining-room at the home of Mrs. L. Prescott, 31 West Second street, fell at noon to-day. Mrs. Mary E. Potter, the mother of Mrs. Prescott, was slightly cut on the head by a piece of the plaster.

The Next Plainfielders Eat.

M. A. Haven, Manager for the Plainfield Beef Company, reports that during the week ending today he has sold 90 carcasses of beef, each weighing on an average 665 pounds, at an average price of 6.85 cents per pound. The number of sheep and lambs sold during the week was 145, and the average price per pound was 9.46 cents.

—The New York Sun says that a pessimist is a man who growls, even when the home club wins a game. Plainfield is full of 'em.

GAMIN AND LAWYER.

How a Chicago Attorney Acquired a Stock of Penny Papers.

"Do you know Attorney Van Buren?" asked one legal light of another the other evening, within hearing of a Chicago Mail reporter. "Yes? Well Van got it worked on him pretty nicely the other day. He's pretty smooth, you know; don't trust anybody unless he knows 'em, and watches them even to it he does.

"Well, Van came out of the county building yesterday about five o'clock and started down the street. A little fellow of a newsboy ran across, held out a penny paper and vociferated: 'Paper, sir? Evening paper, five o'clock edition, all about the world's fair,' as he ran along beside the attorney.

"Van took a paper, dove down into his trousers for a penny, couldn't find one, and handed the boy a dime.

"'I ain't got no change, mister. You just wait here an' I'll get it for you in a second,' said the kid, and started off.

"'Here, you!' yelled Van. 'Come here. If you're going after the change you just give me your papers till you come back.' I'm onto your curves, my lad. You can't do me.'

"The kid grinned, vowed innocence of any intention to defraud, and instantly forked over the bundle of papers.

"'All right, sir; you just hold 'em all. I come back,' he said, and skipped across the street.

"Van read his paper, absently holding the others under his arm, for about 10 minutes. Then he looked around for the boy, but he hadn't returned. It gradually dawned on Van's mind that possibly the boy wasn't coming back, and he at once began investigating his securities. There were only eight papers in the lot besides the one he was reading. Van cast the eight wrathfully into the gutter and walked away with a muttered expression which didn't reflect much credit on a lawyer who allowed himself to be done up so beautifully and perfectly by a gamin of the streets, even while he was taking unusual precautions to avoid that very end. They say Van is a perfect terror about the sufficiency of bonds in the practice since the event occurred."

Several Persons Drowned.

Baltimore, Aug. 9.—There was quite a sensation in this city when the news was received of a drowning accident in St. Inigoes Creek, St. Mays county. The lost were members of a party of fourteen Baltimoreans who were boarding for the summer at Rosecroft, a fashionable summer resort. The following were drowned: Mrs. Mollie Storm, the wife of W. S. Storm, a clerk in the tax department at the city hall, and Edith, his daughter; Mrs. P. Johnson, wife of the secretary of the Viaduct Manufacturing Company, and Carroll, son of J. S. Grahame, clerk of Spring Green asylum. The bodies were recovered by oysterman in the vicinity and were brought to this city.

Ball Players Fined for Drinking.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 9.—At a meeting of the directors of the Pittsburg Players' League Club, Ed. Morris, the left-handed pitcher, was released, and six others, it is said, were heavily fined. The charges against the players are that they had been drinking to excess were sustained.

Mr. and Mrs. Damrosch Home Again.

New York, Aug. 9.—Mr. Walter Damrosch and his wife, nee Margaret Blaine, arrived from Europe on the steamship Columbia.

A Jesus Woman Hangs Herself.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Miss Jesus King, of Orleans, hanged herself during a fit of temporary insanity caused by sickness.

Communion Wine.

Physicians who have used Speer's Port Grape Wine, of New Jersey, and have applied to it the strictest test, pronounce it strictly pure and rich body, and recommend it to the aged and infirm, and for general use where wine is desirable, as the most reliable of wines to be had. Mr. Speer also preserves the Grape Juice fresh and sweet just as it runs from the press, not by the use of spirits, but by electricity extracting the fermenting principles from the ripe grapes when mashed. It is called Speer's Unfermented Grape Juice. For sale by druggists.

Rexwheat.

The most healthful, appetizing and palatable

SPRING AND SUMMER FOOD

For young, old, weak or strong. Marion Harland calls it: "Delicate and Delicious."

At leading grocers. Wholesale, by H. W. FRENCH.

AN ORDINANCE.

An Ordinance to establish the grade of a portion of Belvidere avenue.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the grade of Belvidere avenue, Southerly and Northerly, from its intersection with Broadway be established to conform to the grades shown on survey and map, on file with the Street Commissioner, dated "Grade Map of part of Belvidere Avenue," dated April, 1890, and the grade of said portion of Belvidere avenue is hereby established, as indicated on said map and survey, namely:

Beginning at a point in the centre of Belvidere avenue, distant three hundred and fifty-two and five-tenths (352.5) Southerly from the Southerly side of Broadway as an elevation of 101.72 feet above the City base; thence along the centre of said Belvidere avenue, with a descending grade to the Southerly curb line of Broadway, produced at an elevation 100.52 feet above the City base; thence with an ascending grade to a point, distant one hundred and thirty-seven and five-tenths (137.5) feet Northerly from the Northerly side of Broadway, at an elevation of 100.87 feet above the City base; the elevation of the curb line to be six inches at the general expense of the City; property owners to pay as specified two hundred and twelve dollars and fifty cents, being one-half of the total estimated expense, payable, for a width of six to eight feet on each side of the centre line thereof, and for a depth varying from two to six inches, as circumstances may require, under the direction of the Street Commissioner,

Who Are the Sons of Revolution.

The officers of the Society have issued a neat pamphlet containing the Constitution, By-Laws, and list of members. The objects of the Society as simply set forth in the Constitution, are purely patriotic, historical and social. Any descendant of the Revolution of the age of twenty-one years is eligible for membership, provided that he be properly vouched for by at least one member of the Society or some well-known citizen of New Jersey; and the eligibility clause has been so carefully and clearly worded as to render it impossible for any man to obtain admission whose ancestor did not render material service to the cause of American Independence. The initiation fee is $5, and the annual dues $3, the payment of $50 constituting a life membership in the Society.

The greater part of the book, some eighteen pages, is devoted to an alphabetical list of 126 members who have been admitted to the New Jersey Society prior to the 28th of May. The following were the members from Union county up to that date:

Andrew D. Melick, Jr., George P. Melick, Charles W. Opdyke, Capt. Samuel C. Peck, Jr., Julian Scott and Wm. M. Stillman, of this city. Alexander S. Brown, George C. Brown, Dr. Henry R. Cannon, Henry B. Cannon, David E. Downer, Gov. Robert S. Green, George B. Halstead, Col. Rufus King, Joseph G. Ogden and George T. Parrott, all of Elizabeth. Joseph T. Crowell and John H. Lufbery, of Rahway, and Appleton Morgan, of Westfield.

Of the 126 members, there are two sons of Revolutionary sires, twenty-five grandsons, eighty-nine great-grandsons, and nine great-great-grandsons.

A Unique Advertiser Who Doesn't Stop in the Dull Season.

(From the Central Times.)

Heat and cold may come and go, but Peck goes on forever inserting a new advertisement every week. He doesn't stop in the dull season, for he believes that will only make trade duller. He began his unique career as an advertiser in the Times when he began business in 1871, and he has had week after week, for nineteen years, something original to say to buyers. Sometimes, out of consideration for the printer, he says only a few words, but they are to the point. And in all that time we have never known him to ask for a local notice or to growl over the service given him, and seldom even to criticise the method of displaying his matter. And yet these things are expected from advertisers occasionally, and the publisher does not complain thereat. After such a record, covering nearly a score of years, it is time for us to "go to Peck's" and acknowledge the facts, which we hereby do.

[Mr. Peck has advertised in THE PRESS from the day of its birth.]

A Plainfield Lawyer President of a Shoe Company.

The long established business of J. Bach & Sons, manufacturers of fine shoes, which was founded by the elder Bach many years ago, passed into the hands of a new regime yesterday, when a number of capitalists met in Plainfield and incorporated "The Bach Manufacturing Company." The incorporators were Harry M. Bach, Albert Bach, Michael Regan, Wm. Abel, M. Murphy and L. Heltzmann, of New York; Wm. A. Coddington of Plainfield; Geo. M. Homan, A. J. Redden and Frank P. Haffner of Dunellen, and J. R. Phillips of Evona. The capital stock paid in was $50,000. Wm. A. Coddington was elected President, and will have charge of the Plainfield office of the concern. The membership of the Board of Directors includes W. A. Coddington ex-officio, F. P. Haffner and A. J. Redden of Dunellen, and J. R. Phillips of Evona. Mr. Haffner is Vice President, Mr. Homan Secretary, and H. M. Bach Treasurer. The manufactory will continue to be at 30 Warren street, New York.

A New Terminal to Connect at Bound Brook.

The Reading Railroad Company has secured an independent outlet to New York harbor. The site for the new terminal is situated on the New Jersey side of the Arthur Kill, near Perth Amboy, at its confluence with the Raritan Bay, and a short distance above the mouth of the Raritan River. The depth of water at this point at low tide is from thirty to forty feet, so that it is accessible by vessels at all times.

Two large coal shipping piers, extending 700 feet from the shore line; a commodious freight and storage yard, comprising 24 tracks, each of 1,500 to 2,000 feet in length, and facilities for handling coarse freight of all kinds will be provided. A branch line of railroad eighteen miles in length, to connect Bound Brook with the terminal yard and the Perth Amboy piers, will also be constructed.

New Market is Justly Proud.

(From the Christian Endeavor Union.)

The Rev. L. E. Livermore, pastor of the New Market Seventh Day Baptist church, delivered a temperance address in Reform Hall, Plainfield, recently, which the Plainfield Press pronounces "one of the ablest addresses ever heard." Few men are so thoroughly at ease on the pulpit platform or the speaker's stand as our popular Seventh Day brother, and the high praise of the Press is only an echo of the sentiment of all who have heard him talk. New Market is proud of Rev. Mr. Livermore.

Don't disgust everybody by hawking, and spitting, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and be cured.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Brief notices will be inserted under this head free of expense, but must be delivered at this office not later than eleven o'clock on Saturday morning to insure publication.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting to-morrow afternoon will be led by Frank Baynard.

L. Warren Randolph will lead the meeting at the Mt. Pleasant Mission, to-morrow evening.

First Unitarian Society, Second place. The Rev. Robert Clark, pastor. Services to-morrow at 10:30 A. M.

The Rev. L. E. Livermore will occupy the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church, to-morrow morning at 10:30.

The Rev. Thos. Gill, Chaplain U. S. Navy, will preach at the First Baptist to-morrow morning at 10:45 and evening at 8 o'clock.

The masses in St. Mary's church to-morrow will be at 8:30, 9:45 and 10:45 A. M. Vespers will be held at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Meetings at Reform Hall, to-morrow, under the auspices of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society at 9:30 A. M. and at 4 P. M. "Lend a hand."

The Rev. V. Nicholas, of Somerville, N. J., a graduate of Princeton College, will occupy the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church to-morrow morning. No service in the evening.

Warren Mission Sunday school to-morrow at 2:30 P. M. No evening service during August. Young People's meeting Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. All are invited.

Gospel Temperance Meetings at the W. C. T. U. rooms, 73 West Front street, Sunday at 3 P. M. and 8 P. M. Saturday at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday at 4 P. M. All are welcome.

To-morrow only one service will be held in the German Reformed church on Craig place, North Plainfield, at 10:30 A. M. Sunday school at 2:30 P. M. Weekly service Friday evening at eight o'clock.

Meetings in Reform Hall to-morrow at the usual hours at 9:15 A. M., 4 and 7:45 P. M., to which a cordial invitation is extended to everybody. In the the evening there will be short and appropriate addresses.

Meeting to-morrow of the First church of Christ at Amphion Hall, preaching by J. B. Cleaver, the Lord willing. Morning theme: "Kemmler's Execution, and the Ethics of Capital Punishment." Evening theme: "Christian Baptism—its action, subject and design. Part II" to which all are welcome.

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET CHURCHES.

Holy Innocents Episcopal church. Sunday school at 2:45 P. M. Church service at 3:30 P. M. The Rev. H. St. Sharpley.

Presbyterian—The Rev. W. C. Stinson, pastor. Services at 10:30 A. M., and 8 P. M., on Sunday. Sunday school at 2:30 P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Methodist—The Rev. J. W. Seran, pastor. Preaching on Sunday at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Sunday school at 2:30 P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Baptist—The Rev. J. A. Cubberley, pastor. Preaching Sunday at 10:30 A. M. Sunday school at 12:45 A. M. Y. P. S. C. E. prayer meeting Sunday evening at 7:30. General prayer meeting Friday evening at 7:45.

Seventh Day Baptist—The Rev. J. E. Livermore, pastor. Services Sabbath morning 10:30 A. M. Sabbath school at 3 P. M. Y. P. S. C. E. prayer meeting at 7 P. M. General prayer meeting Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Jabbed Tobe in His Eye.

A young short-haired miss engaged in the cultured occupation of manipulating chewing gum with smacking lips and soiled fingers was walking up West Front street this afternoon when a grimy, bare-foot urchin of eleven Summers crept up to her side, whispered a juvenile insult in her ear and drew back grinning, and expecting "sass." The girl said nothing, but her eyes blazed volumes, and with a sudden sweep of her arm she slapped her treasured chewing gum into the eye of the broad-mouthed youngster. The boy set up a howl, clawed away at his injured and gummed-up optic, and danced about in grotesque attitude on the pavement. The girl walked on majestically, evidently conscious of having resented an insult with maidenly dignity and effectiveness.

Saved a Month's Interest on His Fine.

A battle was waged between two denizens of the festive boulevard, about a month ago, and such a mighty fight it became that even the neighbors of the delectable region raised objection. As a consequence one of the fighters, Peter Ross, was arrested and fined $5. The other, Michael Cox, kept in successful hiding till yesterday, when he fell into the hands of the law and was taken before City Judge Codington. He pleaded guilty and was this morning fined three dollars.

Boys, Read This.

Among the new New Jersey laws is one relating to smoking by boys, which provides that on and after the 1st of September next, no child actually or apparently under sixteen years of age shall smoke or in any way use cigars, cigarettes or tobacco, in any form whatever, in any public street, place of resort, and that any violation of this act shall be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $10 nor less than $2 for each offence.

Who Located That Lamp?

In 1888 an electric lamp was located on Stiger alley at the corner of Lake street. It has burned there out of sight at some expense to the city ever since. The Council of '90, however, do not see the necessity of it, and have instructed Lamp Committee to take it away and save the people the price of it. By the way, who located it there?

"Our hemisphere is polished clean
And lighted more and more,
While everything is clearly seen
Which seemed so dim before."
The air is clear as mud since
Of gone to College's store.

A MISAPPREHENSION.

Adelbert Dangleboy Seeks Refuge in a Water Pipe.

Meanwhile His Rival Makes Love to His Best Girl and Scares a Fresh Man Per-fidious Gertrude's Head Turned by a Foolish Betrothal.

Adelbert Dangleboy and Gertrude Gigglefitter were threading their way toward the Gigglefitter mansion through the moss-bathed suburbs of the city, says the Burlington (Vt.) Free Press. It was all soft light in spring and the ice-cream saloon, once more luring its unwary victims from among the dispersing worshipers of Venus, had detained their innocent footsteps until the great hands of the city clocks already shadowed the hour of midnight.

Still, as the lovers turned their faces homeward, dreamy quiet of the night, the witching spell of the moonlight and the fullness of their own hearts, with the regions subjacent there to, forbade unseemly haste, and attuned their footsteps to a kind of adagio stroll, with variations (from the strain, of course).

At length they turned into a street shimmering with long lines of unlaid water pipes, awaiting the operations of one of the city gangs. For a few minutes they stopped to admire the effect of the moonlight on the great black cylinders, stretching away until they melted into a vista of golden mist and cool carts.

Suddenly Gertrude Gigglefitter started and grasped Adelbert's arm tightly. "Who is that coming?" she gasped. Adelbert looked and beheld a stalwart figure was walking swiftly down the avenue toward them, breasting the moonlight as a ship's brow breasts the incoming tide. "He is papa!" exclaimed Gertrude, with a convulsive shudder. "What shall we do? You know he has positively forbidden our meeting again. You must hide somewhere. I will face him alone. He is so short-sighted, I am sure he does not see us yet. Hide, Adelbert, here, crawl into one of these pipes. That is right. Thank heaven, my darling is safe!"

Just as Adelbert Dangleboy's coat-tails had disappeared within the long, cylindrical pipe the pedestrian whose rapid approach had startled the lovers came abreast of the trembling girl and stopped in amaze.

"Miss Gigglefitter! What are you doing here at this time of the night—and alone?"

Heavens! It was Richard Clawtail, a rival suitor!

Gertrude stammered, snickered and burst into tears, and sitting down on the pipe in which Adelbert Dangleboy was now hopelessly entombed, buried her face in her hands. Richard Clawtail sat down beside her and succeeded in engaging one of her hands. It was an old trick of his, but was as far as his engagement with Gertrude Gigglefitter had now succeeded in going.

"If you won't tell me why you are here all alone at midnight," he said, tenderly, for his throat was still raw from the effects of the grippe, "you will certainly permit me to remain by you as your protector, or, better still, allow me to escort you home."

What could Gertrude Gigglefitter say? She could not give away the dear admirer wedged fast in the water-pipe. That would be too humiliating a triumph to the hated rival. Neither could she in consistency object to the rival's courteous offer of protection. For she realized that circumstances had indeed placed her in a very compromising situation. Poor, innocent, unsuspecting lovers! How suddenly had fickle fortune brought them into tight quarters! Fight for Gertrude, and very, very tight for poor Adelbert!

Miss Gigglefitter meditated upon the situation for a few moments. Then—for she felt the pipe begin to vibrate beneath them with Adelbert Dangleboy's frantic efforts to release himself—she rose and said, sweetly: "You are very kind, dear Mr. Clawtail, and I shall be most happy to have your company as far as my home." There was something both in the words and the tone, which have deceived Richard Clawtail and may not. At any rate an osculatory sound-wave went billowing away into space, followed by the nervous titter of a young female who is accustomed to being kissed and has fallen into an irresistible habit of objecting to it. At the same time a pair of shoes appeared at the black throat of the pipe, and a tremendous throe ran along its huge hollow length. But Richard Clawtail walked away with Gertrude Gigglefitter upon his arm, seeing nothing but the lovelinees of her face and hearing nothing but the music on her voice.

Fifteen minutes later a sorry-looking figure emerged from the water-pipe and stood upright. Not even its own mother would have recognized it as the exquisite Adelbert Dangleboy. Its hat was gone, its face was livid with passion and suffocation, its coat hung in tattered folds about its shrunken and compressed form, its trousers were shredded above the knees and its shoes gaped hideously with long kicking at the pavement.

The figure stood irresolute for a minute, then lifted its bloody fist, shook it impotently in the moonlight and sneaked away into the nearest alley.

A Hog and a Lily Bulb.

A Winston County (Ala.) farmer brought some Chinese lily bulbs and after getting them home threw them into the hog lot with a bucket of spoiled potatoes. A few days afterward one of the largest hogs became sick, refusing food, and laying down in the corner grunted as if in constant pain. No signs of disease could be discovered, but a few days later the hog died. It was decided to cut up the hog and find out what caused death. This was done, when it was discovered that the animal had swallowed a bulb whole and there was sufficient moisture in the stomach to cause it to grow. The bulb had not only swelled and sprouted, but leaves had actually formed.

MAKING MUMMIES.

The Curious Secret Held by an Old West Virginia Mountaineer.

Three miles over the mountains from Philippi, W. Va., is the house of G. W. Hamrick, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. It is a five-room log-house, the exterior weather-boarded, but not painted, yet it was full of mummies, both of brutes and human beings. Here are mummies that outrival any Egypt ever knew. The Egyptian embalmers removed brains and blood and viscera, and wrapped the clay shell that was left in bandaging, saturated with oils and ointments.

In this house lie the bodies of two adults, natural almost as in life, every particle of skin exposed to the air, blood, brains and viscera remaining. In the veins and arteries the blue and black blood stands out as clear and natural as when these people lived and walked and knew the passions and emotions of being.

The finger and toe nails show the pink flesh of life, and on the cheek of one who died of consumption the scarlet mark of that disease remains clear and distinct. For two years, exposed to the air, without decay or odor, these bodies have lain in this man's house just above his bedroom. His process is a discovery of his own, but it is so simple, he says, that a boy of fifteen, after a single lesson, can do the work as effectually as the inventor himself.

The rooms of Mr. Hamrick are miniature museums. In the door that leads to his bedroom a large white cat sits on guard, its tongue, undecayed, lolling up as if it were about to lap milk. For four years that cat has been the sole guard of that lonesome door. On a mantel, in attitude of listening, is a young deer.

Rabbits, pigs, squirrels, chickens and even a calf are to be seen, all as natural as in life, and all preserved by this wonderful secret. Mr. Hamrick claims that in an hour he can prepare a body without making any incision of any sort or removing any part of the body, so that it may be taken around the world without ice or arsenical fluids. These two bodies which lie in modest state in his humble house have turned parchment color with the hurrying of time, and the eyes have become much sunken.

There was no odor, no puffing up of the flesh. The ghastly look is wanting, and one almost feels that it is not the solidified clay of some loved one, wonderful likeness caused by a sculptor from some rare wood of sleeping with these dead and petrified bodies.

But this is not all that this old wonder-worker of the mountain does. He can stop decay at any point. Cures ulcers of long standing by an external application of this discovery. By the same process he keeps fresh, without ice, salt or brine, all his meat, butter and eggs, and does the same thing for his neighbors. Fruit of all sorts, vegetables, etc., are kept just as easily without decay, and watermelons, strawberries and peaches and cream are now assured for the Christmas dinner.

Mr. Hamrick has made little or no effort to put forth his process, which such learned men as Drs. Cilley and Freeman, of this city; White, of Washington; Doremus, of New York, and Hordesley, of Wheeling, W. Va., pronounce one of the greatest discoveries of the age, far ahead of what the Egyptians knew. Indeed, Hamrick seems to regard it rather as a curious experiment than otherwise.

AN ENTERPRISING WOMAN.

How an Iowa Girl Became the Owner of Several Farms.

Miss N. M. Ault, private clerk of Major J. A. Pickler, her brother-in-law, member of Congress from South Dakota, is an excellent type of the wide-awake, enterprising young women of the West, says the New York Star. She is a native of Johnson County, Ia., a farmer's daughter, graduate of the Iowa City Academy. She accompanied Major Pickler and his family to Faulk County, S. D., in 1883. Settling on Government land, thirty miles from the railroad, she resided on the first tract, a pre-emption, for six months, and made proof, obtaining title thereto. Miss Ault subsequently settled upon a homestead, and for five years resided upon it, much of the time traveling seven miles, from Faulkton, where she was engaged in Mr. Pickler's law and land office, each evening to her land and returning in the morning. Quitting the office in the evening, hitching her horse, she would drive in an hour to her home, returning to her business in the morning. She endured the hardships of pioneer life, as many young women do in the West, for the purpose of obtaining land. Having become proficient in the land business and law practice, she was for some time deputy clerk of the district court of Faulk County, S. D., and as such made a large number of "final proofs" for the settlers, their last act in obtaining title, requiring the settler's own testimony and that of two witnesses as to his settlement, occupancy, residence and improvements. She is regarded as well versed in practical law, is a first-class typewriter, and, having had three years' experience in Mr. Pickler's office, she accompanied him to Washington upon his election and attends to his very large correspondence. In addition to the pre-emption and homestead, she also holds a quarter section under the timber-culture act, making 480 acres of land that she owns.

Matrimony and Hydrophobia.

A young bride has been taken to the Pasteur Institute in New York for hydrophobic treatment. After their marriage in Cincinnati a few days ago she confided to her husband that she had been bitten by her pet dog about a month before. After their arrival at the institute the newly-made husband said to the physician: "On our way here she acted very strangely, and twice when I attempted to kiss her she bit at me." The young wife, who is decidedly pretty, is alarmed over her condition.

Undoubtedly a Freak.

A literary man in England who is not writing a life of Browning has been engaged by a dime museum.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-28-7

A PLAIN STATEMENT
To the People of Plainfield and Vicinity.
Whereas, we are in sympathy with the Clerks of Plainfield, still we have our own ideas or doing business, and employ our Clerks at such wages as they are willing to remain with us until—at an hour coming as our customers demand their attention and the unprecedented rush is over. We ask those with whom to do business the appreciation of the public in general of the low prices and attention we are giving them; and so long as this appreciation of our store to please our customers continues, so that customers will find it inconvenient to do business elsewhere, we shall be treated in the same courteous manner at the close hour as has been customary with our store in the past.
Below are a sample of prices on best goods: Granulated Sugar, 9 lbs; Roasting Flour, (best) 48 lbs; Rolled Oats, 6 lbs; Cornmeal, 6 lbs; Best Breakfast Cocoa, 35c lb; Special Mixed Tea, 50c lb; Rice No. 1 Imported, 10c lb; Fresh Creamery Eggs, 20c doz; 5 lbs Best Crushed Sugar for $1; 5 lbs Best Rice, 25c; Creamery Cheese, 12c lb.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
29 WEST FRONT STREET.
7-16-m

DESIRABLE
Netherwood Building Sites
FOR SALE.
Apply to J. F. LOENER,
P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J.
7-16-m

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depot Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Traps,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM.
23 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M.
1-4-tf

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Boys and Youths, at prices that cannot fail to suit.
3-17-tf

SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-13-tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. E. FORCE.
6-26-w

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering as a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RARD,
24 West Front St.
6-27-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This property is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 30 Craig place.
5-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of ICE CREAM
Remains the same at MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street.
6-27-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week!
200 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.
6-28-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS,
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes.
7-26-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Door and Window Screens a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK, D. L. HULICK.
6-24-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75. GROCERS.
1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.
6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
2d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.
3-15-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
P. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.
4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO.
11-26-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Montague Avenue.
P. O. BOX 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough.
3-8-tf

Drink Moy's Soda.--N. B.--None Better!
Penney's
New York
Fine Confectionery at the Moy Pharmacy.
OUR SPECIALTIES:—Pure drugs, the careful compounding of physician's prescriptions, proprietary medicines, toilet soaps and all articles pertaining to a TEMPLE OF PHARMACY.
THE MOY PHARMACY CO.
T. A. BURR, President. G. W. V. MOY, Secy.-Treas.
2-24-y

FINEST CREAMERY
BUTTER, 20 CENTS POUND!
J. F. Mac DONALD, Grocer, 46 & 48 E. Front Street.
1-18-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal.
7-19-3m

Miss C. S. HELLWIG,
A graduate of the Moscow Gymnasies, and successor of a Golden Medal presented by the Russian Empress to the best scholar, wishes pupils in the German and French Languages, and also Art Painting. Apply for particulars to Miss C. S. HELLWIG, 236 East Front street.
9-17 1y

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 E. FRONT STREET.
my19y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants,
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my19y1 ROBERT H. COOK

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
REFERENCE: W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 3d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-25-3m

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year.
22 EAST FRONT ST.

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
54 West Fourth street, Carriages to meet trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 151. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 24 North ave.
my19

Carpenters and Builders.

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER AND REPAIRER,
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore. Sta. Yard, near Pengite House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.
All New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles a Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing.
4-19-3

R. V. SAUNDERS,
Carpenter and Builder.
Residence, Clinton avenue, near depot, Knowlton. P. O. Box, 1228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.
8-16-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot.
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 12,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 24th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS.
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
TWO GRAND BALLETS "Peace and War." and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:15, giving ample time to reach all trains for home.
6-14

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED Sulphur and Vapor Baths followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 A. M., 1 to 8 P. M. H. HOMMEL, 25 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Radiced, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefeller and T. F. Armstrong.
6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE 20 W. FIFTH ST., Corner of Liberty.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., 6 P. M.
6-26-1y

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds. Special Master, etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building.
my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor at Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-25-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENCY.
With Clark & Reed. 3-21-y

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 251 West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152.
6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLE
213 East 24th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a Specialty.
6-20-1y8-1

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 years. N.B.—No Humbugs
1-14-tf

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGES.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
6-4-6m

TIERS
PARK AVENUE,
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks, of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sept

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
"We manufacture them and know what they contain." 6-27-tf-w&s

STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

FOR SUNDAY READING.

GOD'S SURPRISES.

Care and trial and bitter pain,
Clouds and tempest and pelting rain,
Hide the sun from the longing sight
And bury the world in shades of night;
Yet if we feel, in loving trust,
That God will be with us come what must,
He yet will send to the watching eyes
Of faith, some beautiful, bright surprise.

The heart must listen, the soul must wait,
Must humbly kneel at the Beautiful Gate
Of His holy temple, till He shall send
The blessing, the long-expected end;
For it will not tarry, no word shall fail
Of all He has said, the cloudy vail
Will pass from earth, and the sunlit skies
Shine out with His beautiful, bright surprise.

God's surprises—they come to bless
In the time of deepest loneliness.
When friends forsake us and hopes are few,
When nettles spring where the roses grew,
When we sit in darkness and have no light,
When we walk by faith and not by sight—
Then God to our utmost need replies
By sending some beautiful, bright surprise.

Let us watch and wait for these gifts of God
That fall like dew on the thirsty sod,
For He knows our want, He hears our prayer,
His love is about us everywhere;
Fidelity, Hope and Trust must meet
In reverence at His sacred feet,
Till His voice shall bid our hearts arise
To take His beautiful bright surprise.
—Helen Chauncey, in Chicago Advance.

IN OLD AGE.

How the Aged May Behave Themselves Wisely and Well.

Old age, especially when it is far advanced, is the period of life's physical decay. The body yields under the accumulating infirmities of time, and usually the mind more or less shares in the decay. The general fact of lost power that nothing can recover, forces itself upon the consciousness, and there abides as a felt experience. It can not be forgotten. Every motion of the body, and every attempt to do any thing, reveals this fact. The state of passivity reveals it. The pains and aches, the sense of weariness, the inaptitude to action, the disrelish of former pleasures, the incapacity to do what one once did with ease, and the resulting insignificance of one's personal life as compared with what it was in other days—all these facts tell a story in the consciousness of an old man which it takes an old man to understand. He will read the twelfth chapter of the Book of Ecclesiastes with an apprehension of the meaning of the words which no mere skill in verbal exegesis can give. He knows just what the chapter means by his own experience.

Now, to behave one's self wisely and well at this time of life, and in this condition of the body and mind, so as to present a genuine example of graceful old age, is no easy task. It takes more good sense and higher qualities of character than many aged persons, whether men or women, really possess. The first condition of such gracefulness is the acceptance of the facts, without any repining or murmuring, or any attempts to conceal them from one's self or from others. A great victory is gained when this acceptance becomes as really an experience of the heart as is the fact of age itself. The man or woman, as the case may be, then adjusts himself or herself to his or her condition, and consents to be just what he or she is, without the possibility of being any thing else. Some old people try to be young, and try to act as if they were young, because they are not content to be old, and they are always sure to make fools of themselves. The world readily sees that they are fools; and they are such, engaged in the fruitless attempt to be what they are not, and what they can not be by any amount of effort. They may load themselves down with diamonds, and parade themselves in gorgeous equipage, and yet this will not change the fact that they are old, and in the state of decay and infirmity. This fact sticks to them, and goes with them wherever they go. They can not conceal it from any body. The best thing for them to do is to admit the fact cordially and quietly, and go along with it as an order of things which nothing can change, and with which they must be content.

The patient endurance of the ills and infirmities of this period, so that one is not chafing his own mind, or fretting against events, is another element of graceful old age. Such patience will not conceal or remove these ills and infirmities, but it will make them far less afflictive than they otherwise would be. The really patient man is a victor, no matter what may be his condition. He conquers by not fighting. He triumphs by submission. He endures without complaint what he can not cure. He does not add to his ills those of a sour temper. He takes the condition as it is, and is resolved to be content with it. Such a mood of the mind not only befits old age, but will immensely comfort and help it.

Still another element of graceful old age is a willingness to be superseded and displaced by others who are in the state of vigor, and have the power of present action, so to speak; to get out of their way and thus make room for them. Aged people must do this, whether they like it or not; and the better way for them is practically to like it in the sense that they make no attempts to resist it. Those who have held high position, and, as such, have been leaders among men, and have outlived their capacity to hold such positions, and meet their demands, make a great mistake for themselves when they undertake to retain them as against those who are younger and more active and better fitted for the duties thereof. Old men do not always avoid this mistake, and when they do not they are generally crowded out and shoved into retirement by sheer force. The work of society has to be done by those who can work; and when one has passed the period in which he can meet this demand, he had better cheerfully consent to let others take his place and get himself out of their way. His refusal to do so will be his folly, since he will be compeled to do what it would be much wiser for him pleasantly to do.

A good hope of Heaven, founded upon the Bible and the work of Christ as revealed in that Book, is the climax and crown of graceful old age. The sight of a venerable man who has borne the heat and burden of the day, whose life has in every way been a credit to himself and blessing to society, whose powers are now faded and rapidly fading, but who has had the wisdom to make his peace with God and serve Him, whose memory brings to him but few regrets, and who, as his sun goes down in this world, is covered by a clear and well-founded hope of a blessed immortality, and is patiently and quietly waiting for the final hour to call him hence, is really one of the most beautiful spectacles of humanity that can be presented in this world. That man may have been the president of a college, or a minister of the Gospel of the Son of God, or a missionary in heathen lands, or the head of a commercial firm; or he may have moved in the humbler walks of life. It is quite immaterial in what particular sphere of life he spent the vigor of his days. He did the work of life wisely and well; and now he is about to pass to the better world. He is ready for the change, and willing to make it whenever it shall please his Heavenly Father to call him away. Old age sits gracefully on his brow. The battle of life has been fought, and his work is done. He is simply waiting for his exit. Blessed man! The last things of life with him are alike instructive and beautiful, especially when compared with the hideousness and wretchedness of a godless and graceless old age.—N. Y. Independent.

Duty and Comfort.

Happiness is the great quest of the world, and Christians often give themselves earnestly to the same pursuit. But they will ever miss it who make it the prime object of life. Matthew Henry truly says: "Duty and comfort go abreast; neither are to be neglected. Men are willing to separate them. They love, with Ephraim, to tread out the corn; but not with Judah, to plow, and with Jacob, to break the clods. They love to hear of comforts; those are smooth things; but not to hear of duty. What, however, God has joined, let not us think to separate. Those who would reap in glory must sow in duty. Justification is to be tried by sanctification. They are evermore concomitants."—Christian Inquirer.

WISE SAYINGS.

—Nothing is easier than fault-finding; no talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business; but those who are moved by a genuine desire to do good have little time for murmuring a complaint.—Robert West.

—The invincible man has been happily described as "one who feels that he is working out God's plan, and that God is working out a plan through him." Such a one can not be defeated, because he knows that God's will, in the end, must prevail.—Interior.

—Selfishness may rule in the heart of a church. There are churches which apparently have no more regard for the welfare of other churches than rival business establishments for each other's prosperity. All their plans are for themselves, their benevolence begins and ends with their own comfort, and even in their prayers they seem to have no thought beyond their own interests. A selfish church is a monstrosity.—Christian Inquirer.

—There is not a little silly talk among some superficial thinkers about modernizing Christianity, so as to adjust it to the demands of thought in the present age. They might as well undertake to modernize the old-fashioned sun that shines in the heavens. The only Christianity that is worth any thing is that found in the Word of God; and that will stand just as long as God's Word stands, and stand just as it is in that Word, no matter whether men like it or dislike it. This Word will not be amended in order to please any body.—N. Y. Independent.

—The way to let your light shine is not to take care of its reflection, your reputation. You can not secure fame by hiring some one to write a paper or print eulogies. Make the flame of the candle bright and strong, and it can not help shining. A merchant can not make himself rich by signing checks when he has no money in the bank. Be good, be Christian, and reputation will be good and will do good. It is no effort for a lighted candle to shine. If you are good, men will feel your influence for good. If the lamp of character is lighted, it can not help shining.—Chicago Advance.

—The work of Sabbath reform is making some progress in this country, as also in Europe. Associations which have for their object the better observance of the day of rest have been formed in many of the States, and are actively at work. Petitions to Legislatures and Congress, asking for such enactments as will secure to every citizen the right to a rest day, have been circulated and largely signed. Many railway corporations have suspended unnecessary Sabbath traffic. But much remains to be done before the Sabbath is observed as it ought to be.—United Presbyterian.

—High praise is due to any person who simply does his duty. It has been said, indeed, that a hero is a man who in an emergency does that which it would be a shame not to do. Duty doing at every cost is heroism. Shirking duty because of its cost is meanness. In judging the acts of another, let us accord to him the meed of heroism if he is simply faithful in duty. In passing judgment on our own course, let us bear in mind what is the sure penalty of any failure in duty-doing.—S. S. Times.

—Death, to the Christian, so far from being the ending of life, is rather life beginning. It is not losing, but gaining, not parting, but rather meeting, not going away, but rather arriving. Interpreted by the revelations and promises of God, death, to one who has the grace of God in his heart, and Heaven in immediate prospect, is a glorious hour. The Christian in dying does not go forth into a world of mystery and darkness, of which he has no knowledge, but he does go to be where Christ is, and to dwell with Him forever.—N. Y. Independent.

UNCLE FRANZ.

Romantic Story of the Great Ohio Floods.

"BUT you can help us so much, and we need just such help as yours!"

Annette St. Clare, vivacious, petite, profuse in her expressions of sympathy or dislike, was the ideal French maiden transplanted to American soil; while Rosa Schuman was an equally clear type of the Teutonic race. Tall, large-framed, slow of speech, hesitating in manner, to a casual observer there was nothing prepossessing about the girl, and yet, within the two short weeks of their acquaintance, a firm friendship had grown up between these two, cemented by suffering and fortitude on one side, and sympathy and assistance on the other.

It was the season of the Ohio floods, and the St. Clares, from their abundance, had been lavish in expenditure and prompt in offers of relief to the refugees who stood in need. Rosa's sad face and Annette's bright one had proved mutually attractive, and when the rich girl learned that the other was an orphan and homeless, made so by the raging waters, her impulsive heart opened to the friendless girl, and she insisted upon taking her home. Rosa was proud, and the thought of dependence on strangers was very trying.

"But you can help us so much," said Annette, "and we need just such help as yours. What are your plans for the future?"

Alas! Rosa had no plans. A few days before, happy with her father and mother in the little home on the river's bank, she had tended her chickens, knit her father's socks, listened to her mother's recital of scenes in far-away Germany, and built a glorious air-castle, in which she sailed and sailed away across the ocean to visit the fatherland. Then came the storm. Four days and nights it rained incessantly. Each day the river rose higher and higher, and each day the prospect of fair weather seemed less promising. The chicken-coops floated down on the tide, trees and floating timbers obstructed navigation and made communication with neighbors hazardous, and still it rained, and rained, and rained.

Rosa's father became very impatient. He must needs go out in his boat, and learn the worst. Perhaps his neighbors needed assistance; perhaps—but who can account for a restless man's whims? Rosa only knew that her father went out to his death; that there, within sight of the window where she had spent so many happy hours, her father went down, struck by a heavy timber, and his boat, keel upwards, floated on the stream.

The poor wife, rushing madly to his rescue, found the water rising rapidly around the house, and half frantic at the thought of her husband's death, with still sufficient forethought for her own and her daughter's safety she made her way to the out-houses, and for an hour or two, with almost superhuman strength, carried in article after article that she felt they would need in case the water rose so high as to cut them off from all communication with land. Her daughter, accustomed to implicit obedience, and excited to unusual strength by the event of the morning, took without complaint what her mother brought, and placed it beyond the reach of the terrible waters. It was only when the prostrate form of the intrepid woman lay across the threshold, half buried in water, that either realized the danger to which the mother had exposed herself. By a mighty force of will, she rose, and with her daughter's help, mounted the narrow stair-case and fell fainting on the bed.

STRONG ARMS LIFTED THE SICK WOMAN.

The darkness of the storm closed around them. The sick woman rallied, but a violent fever ensued, and all night long, racked with pain and maddened by her grief, she called in piteous tones to her dead husband. Then, drawing Rosa to her side, she bade her listen, while she gave her instructions for their safety, and counsels for the future, should they be separated.

"Take that little purse," she said; "your Uncle Franz gave it to me on Christmas day, when I was about as old as you. Put this money that I have in my pocket into the purse, and fasten it inside your dress. You may see the time soon when you will sorely need it."

All night long, Rosa administered to her mother's needs, and toward morning the weary woman slept. Rosa, relieved of her care and exhausted by fatigue, lost conciousness, and dreamed that she was on the ocean steamer going to Uncle Franz. She felt the swash of the waves against the boat, the pitch and tumble of the vessel as it rose and fell. She woke, the house was moving, she was sure of it. She stepped on the stairs, and found the water nearly to the top. The clock had stopped, the outer darkness was impenetrable, her mother still slept, and for what seemed years instead of hours, the girl waited for her doom. She was roused finally by the sound of voices, and lifting her head, which she had buried in her pillow, she saw the morning light straggling in, and realized that a boat was coming to her assistance. Strong arms lifted the sick woman, and Rosa was soon beside her, adrift on a pitiless waste of waters. But other help was close at hand. A Government boat received the wanderers, and kind hands ministered to their wants. In a few hours the spires of Cincinnati loomed in sight, and once more Rosa stepped on the solid earth.

Sheds and warehouses had been hastily converted into hospitals, and in one of these the poor girl saw her mother pass out of this world, leaving her friendless and homeless in the great city. Taught to be helpful, and unwilling to become a burden, she offered her aid as a nurse and servant, and it was here that Annette St. Clare had found her, and had begged her to go home with her. Rosa had been captivated by Annette's graceful manners and helpful spirit, as she had worked with and for her about the building, and the appeal was more than her stoical pride could resist, though she meant to keep her place, she said to herself, and do a servant's work.

But Annette thought otherwise. The St. Clares opened their hospitable doors as to an equal, and Rosa became a member of the family.

ROSA LAID HER PURSE ON THE BASKET.

At first she resisted all invitations to mingle with them in their social pleasures, but there came a time when she found it impossible to do so. Abbey's opera troupe was in the city, and it was announced that they would sing on Sunday afternoon for the benefit of the flood sufferers.

"You must surely go, Rosa; it is for charity, you know, and everybody will be there," Annette had said, and a strange longing had come into Rosa's soul. She wanted to see a crowd of people. She half hoped to see a familiar face and hear from what was once her home.

Never in all her young life had Rosa imagined such beauty, such magnificence, such wonders as she saw around her that day. It was like a dream, and the music was but a small part of the enchantment. In fact, it is doubtful if she gave full attention to the stage until her wandering thoughts were recalled by the sweet and simple ballad, such as only Nilsson could sing: "Please give me a penny, sir." A hush had fallen on the multitude, followed, as the singer stepped down from the platform amongst the audience to ask for a proof of their appreciation, by such an outpouring of generosity as was never seen in the rich city before. Rosa laid her own little purse and its contents in the rapidly filling basket as a hand just behind her held out a pile of shining gold. Forgetful of decorum, in her astonishment at the sight of so much money, she turned around and looked fairly in the face a blue-eyed, bronzed, elderly gentleman, who met her gaze with one equally astonished.

"Child, who are you, if not Madaline Schwartz's daughter? Who gave you that purse?"

"Oh, sir, what have I done?" she said. "That is all I had in the wide world; and my mother told me to hoard it for a time of need."

"Your mother? Where is she? I have sought her for the past week in vain. Did she ever speak of her brother Franz?"

"Indeed, indeed she did," said Rosa, "and have you come for me at last?"

This little by-play passed unnoticed by those around, for as the money fell in Nilsson's basket, the wildest enthusiasm prevailed, and the applause was deafening. Men stood on the chairs, and waved their hands, forgetting every thing in their excitement but the present. And, in the midst of it all, as I have said, Rosa found a friend, with both the desire and the ability to make her life pleasant and profitable.

"And did Uncle Franz take Rosa to Germany?" you ask, "and give her the advantages of a foreign education?" No, indeed. Uncle Franz's gold bore the stamp of the American eagle. He had suffered from the oppression of the Old World, and had come to America for freedom. He placed his niece where she could have a thorough American training, in one of our best schools, and spared neither money nor sympathy.

The trip to Germany came later, however. In fact, it was on their return voyage that I made the acquaintance of Rosa and Annette and Uncle Franz. The girls had feasted their eyes on the beauties of Europe, studied the evils with trained senses, and were coming home to work, as so many women are doing to-day, for the uplifting and purifying of society. God bless and prosper them in their undertaking.—Josephine P. Holland, in Woman's Journal.

—A farmer, not less than sixty-five, entered the office of one of our cotton mills the other day and asked the genial agent for a job at book-keeping, says the Lewiston Journal. He said he'd farmed it from a boy up and that he had decided to try something easier the rest of his days. He said, too, that he had not been educated in keeping books, but he was confident he could do it. The agent who tells of the incident says he heard the old gentleman's story and kindly told him that he saw no vacancy then, but that he would remember him.

FADS OF THE FASHIONABLE.

BANGLES for dogs' legs are the latest foolishness.

WOMEN'S secret societies are being boomed in Boston under the impetus of a fad.

THE fashion of planting large fuchsias on the grass is popular in lawn decoration this summer in England.

MRS. DOROTHY TENNANT STANLEY has a peculiar fad. Her hobby is parasols, of which she has a wonderful collection.

THE newest wrinkle in Boston weddings that take place in church is to have the pulpit draped to match the bride's costume.

A NEW style of mourning paper drops the band of black all around the sheet, and has it drawn diagonally across the left-hand corner only.

IT is the fashion now for the woman of fashion to carry two fans, one large and one small, to be used as occasion may require. Mme. Carnot started it.

THE use of flowers for decorative purposes is almost a fureur this season, and any device, provided it necessitate the use of a profusion of blooms and foliage, is permissible.

AT the wedding of Miss Theresa Fair, in San Francisco, the rooms were decorated with draperies of white silk muslin, while the ices were served in cases of brocade silk.

ENGAGEMENT rings, according to the new idea, fad, caprice, or whatever else it may be called, are of the stone representing the month in which the young woman was born.

AN hostess of authority in Paris has adopted the innovation of seating a large dinner party at small tables. It is said that the French view of flirtation, from which their young people have hitherto been carefully guarded, has materially changed, and that it is to become an admitted feature of their society.

THE latest fashionable "fad" is reported from Yalesville, Pa. At a village improvement entertainment eleven young ladies personated slaves and were put up at auction. They were draped in sheets so as to be unrecognizable, and brought from forty to ninety-five cents each. That quotations ran so low is explained by the fact that it was incumbent upon each purchaser to buy for his slave all the ice-cream, cake and lemonade she demanded, and to escort her home after the entertainment.

FEMININE toilets in England have this year reached a hitherto unheard-of luxury of costliness. Natural flowers have been entirely discarded for imitation blossoms made of jewels. At a recent state ball Lady Brooke had a Nile satin dress vailed with transparent white silk muslin, all sewn over with scattered diamonds, and having on the shoulders epaulets consisting of two big fish made entirely of large diamonds, with sprays of smaller brilliants gushing from their mouths down over her arms. The Duchess of Leinster had serpents of diamonds coiled all over her bodice and others erect rampant on her shoulders, and chains upon chains of these precious stones were about her throat and arms. Nothing like it has ever been seen among English women before.

ODD AND OTHERWISE.

A CHILD was born at Lima, O., with six toes on each foot. The peculiarity is the doubling of each little toe. The little fellow is healthy and lively. The mother has six toes, and her mother also had the same peculiarity.

THE influenza was not wholly an ill wind. On account of its sway the beef extract companies have been unusually successful, one company having lately declared a dividend of six per cent. in addition to a bonus of nineteen per cent.

A GERMAN named Lilienthal, after experimenting for twenty-three years with artificial wings, has succeeded in raising himself, weighing one hundred and sixty pounds, with the aid of a counter weight lifting eighty pounds. How to raise the other eighty pounds is still beyond him.

A COMPANY has been formed to rent out steamer chairs for one dollar for a trip across the ocean. The chairs are supplied with little tables designed to hold a plate, tumbler and a bottle. Several thousand of these rented chairs are now in use, and the demand for them is constantly increasing. The idea is that most travelers would rather pay one dollar for the rent of a steamer chair than buy one and be bothered with storing it when they get to Europe.

THERE are many people in Cincinnati who speak and read French. There are so many of them, indeed, that the big book stores down town always keep in stock a very large supply of French novels. There are quite a colony of French people in the city, and they are good customers of the booksellers. Most of them subscribe for a French newspaper, and one book store has on its list 150 subscribers for a French daily newspaper published in New York.

A SHORT time since a prominent physician of St. Helena, Cal., received from the East some new medicine that was intended for a patient. In order to test its strength the doctor injected a little of it into his own arm. The effect was sudden and startling. His arm began to swell to large proportions and other alarming symptoms appeared of the worst kind of blood poisoning. He called in his brother physicians, and they in turn sent to San Francisco for a third, and for some days and nights they stood watch over the unfortunate patient. At present he is out of danger, but it will be weeks before he can leave the room.

THEY use a clothes wringer for a letter press in one of the largest of the Wall street telegraph offices. The messages to be copied are treated as usual until the time for the putting of them into the press; then, instead of the ordinary screw press, which it takes time and muscle to use, the message and damp tissue copy paper are simply run through a clothes wringer. The rubber rollers answer every purpose of a press, and the operation is almost instantaneous and much easier than the usual way. The machine is placed at the basement window, and there is always a little throng on the sidewalk watching the boys wring out messages.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a
Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.
And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of
Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.
Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.
N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction. TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 23 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE.
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
Baby Carriages—The largest assortment in town.
4 DOORS BELOW POST OFFICE. 1-11-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-20-7

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WHEELS, Agent. 5-25-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888.
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-14-tf

Marketing.
J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 22 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 108. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 10-1

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
5-23

BUY "GRAPHITE"
For your Safeties; reduced from 25c to 17c per Bottle.
Look at the PRICES on
Fishing Rods & Tackle,
Ball Goods,
Spratt's Dog Biscuits, &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-7

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,

13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Fancy Clocks, Diamonds, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms, Silverware, Spectacles, &c. Repairing a Specialty. Don't forget the number.

Hotels and Saloons.
HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUSSEBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day. 4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway, 7:40 A. M., to meet 7:50 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 | A. M. | to meet | 8.39 A. M. train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | | do | 9.32 do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | | do | 10.37 do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | | do | 11.34 do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | | do | 12.08 P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 | P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.39 P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet | 3.51 P. M. train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do | 5.39 do; |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do | 6.07 do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do | 7.03 do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.39, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 5.30, 6.30, 7. P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8-tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

2:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:05 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1:00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach) week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days. For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 2. P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 57 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket offices at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices,

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 34, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 57, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 51, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 34, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—5 03, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 36, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 20, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 34, 8 20, 9 43, 11 12, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 09, 2 30, 5 14, 8 05, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 20, 7 03, 7 35, 7 48, 9 05, 11 00, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 6 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 50 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Dritton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 40 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, (5 07, through coach,) 3 51, 8 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 09 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 09 p. m.

ROUND BRO

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, AUGUST 11, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURCH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

WE HAVE HAD A LARGER

Trade this season than ever before; simply because we have increased our stock and variety, likewise keeping up sizes as near as possible.

We still have a good variety of Russet goods. They will be worn for outdoor use until the middle of September. THEN, if they are still in good order, make a very comfortable house shoe for Winter.

We close our store 7 P. M., (except Saturday). Please make your purchases accordingly.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. [THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.]

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

Man wants but little here below—
And don't want that little very long.

Only in a pair of Shoes they want them LONG enough for comfort, and also want them to wear a LONG time. They will surely do it if you buy them of

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form. and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Truly yours
Carl Kaerth
Plainfield N. J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. (4-3-tf

THE GREAT STRIKE

Brotherhood Firemen Join the Striking Knights.

MORE ROADS TO BE TIED UP.

The Central Officials Refuse an Offer to Arbitrate.

BOTH SIDES ARE STILL CONFIDENT.

Militia Escorting Trains Driven Back by Strikers.

Vice-President Webb Issues Another Document—Powderly Says This Will be the Biggest Fight the Knights Ever Had—The Situation Grows More Serious Every Hour at Albany—Vanderbilt Thinks the Strike Will Not Last Long—Pinkerton Men on their Way from Chicago.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Everything in and around the New York Central depot is quiet and orderly. Nearly all of the trains ran on schedule time, the only ones that were not started out being the 8:40 Croton local and the Peekskill accommodation, which was to start at 10:25.

There were rumors that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers would come to the aid of the strikers, but so far the engineers have made no move toward a strike.

The railroad company claim that they have received a large number of applications for the positions vacated by the strikers, and that a great many of the places have already been filled by experienced railroad men.

Among the Strikers.

Master Workman Lee, of the District Assembly, arrived from Albany at noon, and attended a meeting of the Knights at Wendell's Assembly Room in Forty-Fourth street. Mr. Lee was most enthusiastically received. Reports were received from various local assemblies along the line of the road What they were could not be learned.

MR. WEBB EXPLAINS.

He Believes That the Strike is Ill-Advised and Cannot Succeed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Vice-President Webb to-day gave the following circular to the press:

"The position of the company is this: We will select our own men, and we do not propose that they be designated by the Knights of Labor or its committees. When men are dismissed we shall get rid of the inefficient, the most vicious and those least in accord with our interests.

"When promotions are to be made we will not be bound by the seniority rules promulgated by the Knights of Labor.

"A due consideration will always be given to length of service, but the first and most important rule will be the qualifications of the men for the place.

"If our men have grievances the proper officers will be willing to grant hearings and see that consideration is given, but we will not allow outsiders to interfere between the employer and employe.

"For this reason alone I refused to allow Mr. Holland to discuss any differences alleged to exist between the company and its men; and not for the reason, as stated, that we object to our employes being members of labor organizations.

"These are my views, and I am satisfied that they are concurred in and approved by every official of the company, by its Board of Directors, and by the gentlemen who are most interested in its securities.

"The strike is ill-advised, cannot succeed, and we will put it down and maintain the position we have taken."

Mr. Holland was not at the hotel and his views of the circular could not be learned.

AT ALBANY.

The Situation Grows More Serious Every Hour.

ALBANY, Aug 11.—The situation here grows more serious every hour. The men are watching "scabs" closely, and those who ventured to do duty during the day have left, being afraid to stay. Every available policeman in the city is on duty. The Knights are in session, but no proclamation is to be issued to-night. The engineers are also in session. The West Shore shut down at 7 o'clock this morning, and if necessary the Erie road men will strike at night. The railroad authorities here are very anxious, and the indifference of yesterday has disappeared. Of twenty-seven men out of 400 who staid at work in the West Albany shops, there were only seven left to-night. The others will all join the Knights to-morrow.

Passenger trains come now and then with a few passengers aboard, but with no degree of regularity. Fifty Pinkerton men arrived from New York and are now on duty watching switches and caring for property.

At Schenectady the Brotherhood of Firemen unanimously decided to sustain the strikers, and they will join them immediately.

Only about 50 of the 100 men employed in these yards have struck. The yards are picketed by Knights who are discouraging anyone from making application for situations. No attempt was made to dispatch or make up freight trains. The officials of the West Shore road would not discuss the situation, merely saying they expected to handle all their freight in a short time.

Three of the other roads are in imminent danger of being shut down. A strike was ordered on the Delaware and Hudson at 7 o'clock last night, but was withdrawn until freight manager Farlins return. The cause assigned is that the road is carrying freight belonging to the Central road. Warnings were sent last night to the Boston and Albany and also to the Fitchburg road, to desist in handling the Central freight. Assistant Superintendent Harrington says: "We have got a 100 men to assist in the general train service. No more men will be hired until the men now out have have had a chance to return. After to-morrow, however, we will fill their places. At 11 o'clock last night Local Assembly 10854 was ordered out to protect the tracks at West Albany and protect the company's property."

A GREAT FIGHT.

Powderly Says the Support of the Entire Order Will be Given to the Strikers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11.—General Master Workman Powderly, head of the Knights of Labor, was interviewed to-day.

"Of course you are conversant of the trouble with the company and the Knights?"

"I am," said Mr. Powderly.

"The strike was not brought to the attention of the Executive Board?"

"It was not. The papers say the Executive Board is in session in Philadelphia ready to be called on, if their presence is desired. That is not so. Mr. Holland is the only one who has gone to New York."

"Are the strikers well organized?"

"Nearly every man on the New York Central, from engineer to flagman, is a Knight."

"Do you know the cause of the present trouble?"

"I do. In April last the company commenced to lay off or discharge every man who took a prominent part in the Knights of Labor or any organization intended for the betterment of workingmen. When asked why they discharged the men, the only excuse given was that the company had nothing for them to do. Within the past few weeks the company has gone into the matter of discharges wholesale and among the number discharged was Master Workman E. J. Lee, a locomotive engineer."

Mr. Powderly told a friend in confidence that this would be the greatest battle the K. of L. had ever fought. The order all over the country would be asked for contributions to sustain the men on strike.

Some months ago several organizers attempted to organize the telepraph operators on the Delaware, Lackawana & Western Railroad. The organizers were proceeding quietly with their work, having the sanction of the division superintendent of the road, when all at once orders came from headquarters in New York to desist, and every operator was warned to leave the organization or lose his employment.

MR. VANDERBILT SANGUINE.

From What He Hears He Thinks the Strike Won't Last Long.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 11. Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt said to a reporter:

"You may say that I certainly approve of what Mr. Webb is doing, and that we shall most decidedly stand by him. That is certain. But wait a moment while I get some telegrams which have been received during the day."

Mr. Vanderbilt went to his library, and soon returned with a bundle of dispatches all neatly arranged and endorsed, and many of these he read. They were all signed by Mr. Webb, and gave an encouraging account of the progress of the strike and of that official's efforts in the direction of preserving order and running the trafic. Mr. Vanderbilt did not at any time regard the situation as particularly serious, and was sure the strike was of the flash in the pan sort, one of very brief duration.

FIREMEN GO OUT.

Members of the Brotherhood Join the Striking Knights of Labor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Just after midnight this morning all the locomotive firemen (members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen) on the Hudson River division of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad joined the striking Knights of Labor who went out last Friday night.

This defection of firemen will, it is feared, completely block travel over the New York Central between this city and Albany, as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are pledged not to run with any firemen except those belonging to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

Pursuant to order of Hudson Assembly, No. 2,246, yesterday, all the employes of the N. Y. Central at Hudson went out. The signal men in the tower set the signals at "danger," gave notice to the station agent and turned over the keys. Their places have not been filled.

This order affects all engineers, firemen, baggage men, trainmen, flagmen, signal men, brakemen, trackmen and freight handlers connected with the Knights of Labor.

TROUBLE AT SYRACUSE.

Military Escorting Trains Are Driven Back by the Strikers.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The Central strike developed a most grave aspect here when the military came into collision with the strikers. The attempts to move trains were baffled to a great degree by the menacing attitude of the men.

The soldiers escorting one train were driven back by the strikers before they had an opportunity or regained their self-possession sufficiently to repel the assault. Revolvers were drawn, and quiet for the nonce restored. Rioting, however, is looked for at any moment.

State Arbitration Asked.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Mr. Florence M. Donovan, a member of the State Board of Arbitration, received a dispatch last night from District Master Workman Lee, of District Assembly 246, K. of L., Albany, stating that the employes of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad are desirous of submitting the questions at issue between them and the company to the State Board of Arbitration for settlement. Mr. Donovan has submitted the dispatch to the other members of the board, Messrs. Purcell and Robertson.

THE NEXT MOVE.

Reports that the Trainmen on the Jersey Central Will Go Out.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—There is great danger that the railroad strike will extend to the New Jersey Central and Erie Railroads. It is said that both these roads are handling New York Central freight. If this is openly done the men will strike.

Everything is quiet about the yard, but the officials are non-committal. Meetings were held by the Knights of Labor, but none of their proceedings have as yet been made public.

There is a well defined rumor that the Erie and Jersey Central will be tied up to-day. The police have been ordered to protect railroad property in any emergency.

FOUR ELOPEMENTS.

A Deserted Husband Shot Dead While Chasing His Faithless Wife.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Benjamin Halstead and her daughter Mary, her sister, Mrs. Peter Loran, and a daughter of Mrs. B. Benjamin Halstead, four women in all, and representing three generations, eloped with four Italian laborers of Hancock, N. Y. Mrs. Peter Loran's lothario was Joseph Murray, and as a sequel to the four-ply elopement, Murray is lodged in jail charged with murder.

Mrs. Loran and Murray fled from Hancock to Sterling, a small village just over the State line in Pennsylvania, and went to a house prepared there by Murray. Loran, the deserted husband, got track of the elopers early in the morning, and with an officer went to the house and entered it. The Italian and the faithless wife saw him coming, and the former called him to halt. Loran did not heed the command, but rushed up a stairway in the direction of a room in which his wife had locked herself. As he reached the head of the stairs the Italian drew a revolver and shot him dead.

Loran bore a good reputation and had been married to Mrs. Loran sixteen years. They have five children, the youngest of whom accompanied her mother when the latter left home. Loran was about 45 years old and his wife about 35.

A BIGAMIST'S CRIME.

He Hurls His First Wife Down a Precipice at Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 11.—One of the most atrocious crimes ever perpetrated in this locality has just come to light here.

J. C. Hayden, chief of the Rochester, N. Y., detective force, accompanied by his assistant, Detective Furtherer, arrived here in the morning with Mrs. Mary Quigley, wife of Charles H. Quigley, a lather by trade, of Rochester. The detectives notified the police authorities here that they were in quest of the body of a woman who was supposed to have been murdered here on the 27th of July last by her husband. The woman was the accused husband's sister, and had come to point out the spot where the crime had been committed and to identify the body.

The party proceeded toward the Whirlpool, and when about 200 yards below the elevator leading to the Whirlpool rapids the woman exclaimed:—

"There is the spot! Under that precipice lies the body of Arthur Day's wife."

Officers Hayden and McMicking, going after an hour's hard climbing reached the spot indicated, where the body of the unfortunate woman was found mangled on the rocks with her clothes very much torn.

From what few particulars obtained, it appears that Day had committed bigamy and that he is charged with having hurled his first wife down the precipice at the Whirlpool. It also appears that wife No. 2 became acquainted with these facts and notified the police.

Bakers Will Boycott.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Bakers Union of the States of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Connecticut held a special convention here for the purpose of considering the boycotting of Fleischmann's yeast. Twenty-five unions were represented and Frederick Hacker, of Philadelphia, presided. An agreement was reached that none of the members of the unions represented should use the yeast until the firm has settled with the New York bakers. An organization was also perfected for the purpose of thoroughly organizing the union in the different States.

Hog Cholera.

MAY'S LANDING, Aug. 11.—An epidemic of hog cholera is prevalent in this place and in the vicinity, and many porkers have died with the disease during the past few days. Spencer Smith, a prominent farmer, has lost several Jersey reds, one weighing 500 pounds. About 50 have died so far, and as many more are sick. The farmers in other parts of the county have likewise suffered, and the disease is making fearful ravages. The hogs first become weak and then lose desire to eat or drink. The disease is doing the most damage in the lower part of the county.

Two Terrible Deaths.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Andrew Halstrom, a tailor, jumped from the third-story window of his home on Twenty-third street, while suffering from delirium tremens, and was so badly injured that he died shortly afterward. Frederick Andriton, 24 years of age, committed suicide by severing the arteries of his arm and then hanging himself. Despondency is supposed to be the cause.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

The Tariff Debate Resumed in the Senate To-day.

LITTLE WORK IN THE HOUSE.

A Large Number of Congressmen Go to the Grand Army Encampment.

Senators Anxious for Night Sessions—The River and Harbor Bill to Be Called Up—Democrats Have a Majority in the House—Important Measures Not to Be Considered at Present.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Tariff discussion will predominate in the Senate this week until Friday, when Mr. Frye, in accordance with the notice he gave last Thursday, will call up the River and Harbor bill.

There are several conference reports that may be submitted and break in on the tariff discussion almost any day, so the prospect for making much progress with the Tariff bill this week is not very good. The Senate started in to-day with about half of the metal schedule finished, and with thirty of the 180 pages of the bill out of the way. Mr. Hoar's resolution to hasten the close of debate offered Saturday and referred to the Committee on Rules, is likely to be considered in caucus before the week ends.

Another proposition—that of holding night sessions of the Senate in order to hasten final consideration of the Tariff bill—is also talked of by some Republican Senators, but thus far it has not found many enthusiastic supporters.

The Grand Army reunion at Boston has disarranged the plans of the House Committee on Rules for this week. It was the intention of the Committee on Rules to set apart the week for the consideration of the Compound Lard bill, the bill to extend the act in regard to experiment stations at agricultural colleges and the Meat Inspection bill; but so many of the Republican members will be absent in Boston that it is considered dangerous to call up these measures.

The probability is that the House will do very little work, some conference reports being the only matters that have a chance for consideration. The absence of Republican members will probably leave a Democratic majority in the House.

THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Boston Decorated for the Veteran's Parade To-morrow.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Crowds of people from neighboring cities and towns have visited this city to inspect the decorations arranged in honor of the Grand Army encampment, which opens here to-morrow. The Commons and public gardens were crowded all day. The floral display in the public garden, in which the Grand Army badges are represented, were the centre of attraction and were greatly admired. The decorations on buildings along the streets through which the procession is to pass also attracted much attention from the visitors.

Among the members of the Grand Army who have arrived are delegations from Jacksonville, Florida; Lincoln, Nebraska; Fort Davis, Texas; twenty-five members of various Idaho posts; large delegations from Maine; Michael Dillon, Commander-in-Chief of the Medal of Honor Legion; Mrs. C. E. Hirst, National Senior Vice-Commander of the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic; Department Commander Floyd Clarkson, of New York, and members of his staff, and Past Commanders-in-Chief R. B. Beatt and Lucius Fairchild.

The United States cruiser Yorktown, from Bar Harbor, Maine, and the United States torpedo boat Cushing, from Newport, arrived in the harbor last night.

Powderly Settles a Strike.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11.—The strike of the employes of the Sheldon Axle Company, which was inaugurated five months ago, has been settled. Grand Master Workman Powderly had a conference with the officers of the company. Concessions were made by both sides, and it was agreed that the men shall return to work immediately. All of the strikers are to have their old positions, and hereafter no discrimination is to be made against Knights of Labor.

Father Burtsell Presented With $5,000

NEW YORK, Aug 11.—Rev. Father Burtsell, formerly pastor of the Church of the Epiphany of this city, was last night presented with a check for $5,000 by the parishioners of that church at Chickering Hall. He thanked the members of the congregation for the gift, but made no reference whatever to the cause of his removal from the Epiphany parish.

Salvationists Ordered Out of Finland.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Recently the Salvation Army has been very active in Finland, and have received repeated warnings from the authorities there to desist from their peculiar labors. These warnings not having been heeded, the local government has ordered the Salvationists to leave the country forthwith on the pain of pretracted imprisonment.

Poisoned by Birch Beer.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 11.—James O'Neil and Charles Beach, two boys aged 8 and 9 years respectively, were poisoned at Whitney's Point by drinking birch beer. O'Neil is dead and Beach cannot live. It is thought they got some poison herb instead of the birch root.

IN THE BASEBALL WORLD.

The Boston Clubs Have the Best Chances for Winning the Pennant.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Once more the Brooklyn National League team have assumed the authority to lead their competitors in the struggle, and their work at present is of good order. They have had little difficulty in the pitcher's box until the past week, and Lovett's injury may argue strongly against them. Terry is now called upon to do the bulk of the work, as Caruthers has proven too light to pitch against such teams as the Phillies, Bostons and Chicagos. Boston has the best chances of winning the pennant, as its pitchers are all in fine fettle. There are many chances of a change, however, within the next two months. During the week Cleveland and Cincinnati have improved their style of work considerably.

Kelly's men have not shown any inclination to release their hold on the Players' pennant as yet. Neither has Captain Ward abandoned his idea of overtaking the Beaneaters. Since these clubs came east again they have not let down in their fine playing. Small crowds at home do not discourage the Brooklyns in the least, and obstacles that frequently upset other players only inspire the "wonders" to more persistent work. They have thus maintained a lofty position all the season.

BASEBALL GAMES.

American Association.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 2 | 6 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0—14 |
| Brooklyn | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Hart and Wells; McCullough, Pits and Bower.

AT LOUISVILLE.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louisville | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 3 | x—8 |
| Syracuse | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Ehret and Ryan; Keefe and Burke.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 1 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0—7 |
| Athletic | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0—6 |

Batteries—Healy and Welch; Seward and Baldwin.

AT COLUMBUS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbus | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0—6 |
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0—3 |

Batteries—Gastright and O'Connor; Titcomb and McGuire.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 60 | 29 | .674 | Chicago | 47 | 43 | .522 |
| Philadel. | 57 | 33 | .633 | N. York | 38 | 52 | .422 |
| Boston | 57 | 34 | .626 | Clevl'nd | 37 | 52 | .369 |
| Cincin'ti | 54 | 35 | .607 | Pittsb'rg | 18 | 70 | .205 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 62 | 35 | .639 | Philadel. | 49 | 49 | .538 |
| Brookl'n | 54 | 40 | .574 | Pittsb'rg | 38 | 45 | .458 |
| Chicago | 49 | 41 | .543 | Clev'l'nd | 38 | 48 | .442 |
| N. York | 48 | 41 | .539 | Buffalo | 24 | 60 | .286 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 56 | 30 | .651 | Col'mb'a | 44 | 44 | .500 |
| St. Louis | 50 | 35 | .588 | Toledo | 40 | 43 | .482 |
| Athletic | 47 | 40 | .534 | Syracuse | 37 | 51 | .407 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 41 | .523 | Brookl'n | 27 | 59 | .314 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 64 | 23 | .736 | Wash't'n | 37 | 44 | .457 |
| N. Hav'n | 58 | 24 | .707 | Harrisb'g | 33 | 55 | .375 |
| Newark | 47 | 36 | .566 | Wilm'n'n | 30 | 53 | .361 |
| Lebanon | 39 | 36 | .520 | Hartford | 21 | 58 | .309 |

Schedule of To-day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Brooklyn, at New York.
Philadelphia vs. Boston; at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Cincinnati, at Cleveland.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Pittsburg.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

New York vs. Philadelphia, at New York.
Boston vs. Brooklyn, at Boston.
Chicago vs. Buffalo, at Chicago.
Cleveland vs. Pittsburg, at Cleveland.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

There are no American Association games scheduled for to-day.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Newark vs. Hartford, at Newark.
Lebanon vs. Baltimore, at Lebanon.
New Haven vs. Wilmington, at New Haven
Harrisburg vs. Washington, at Harrisburg

Fugilist Dixon Welcomed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—George Dixon, the Boston colored pugilist, arrived on the steamship Etruria. A number of colored men met the steamer down the bay, where the young colored fighter was given a hearty greeting. Dixon's manager announced that Dixon would gladly meet Cal McCarthy, but the latter's backers would have to make the fight for $5,000 a side.

His Wife Fatally Wounded.

NEW YORK Aug. 11.—Michael Trula, an Italian, quarreled with Joseph Calls over a game of cards at Trula's home Trula shot Colls in the head. Trula's wife attempted to separate the men and was shot in the right breast by her husband. Colla's wound is not considered dangerous, but it is feared Mrs Trula's wound will prove fatal. Trula escaped.

Two Boys Drowned.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug 11.—John T. Cousing and Samuel H. Merrill, each aged 14 years, were drowned in the Piscataqua River at West Falmouth, while bathing. The Merrill boy went to the assistance of Cousing, who had gotten beyond his depth, when the latter boy seized Merrill around his neck, and both were drowned.

Kerosene Oil Killed Her.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Jerome Sweet, upon whose clothing her husband poured kerosene oil and then lighted it, on Wednesday last, died last night. Although suffering excruciating pain, Mrs. Sweet refused to make any statement against her brutal husband. Sweet will be arraigned for his wife's murder.

40,000 Socialists Parade.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11.—Forty thousand Socialists, including a large number of women, paraded the streets here in a demonstration in favor of universal suffrage. Many of the paraders came from the provinces, some of them walking long distances to take part. The troops were confined in the barracks all day and the police patrolled the streets, but there was no disorder.

DESPERATE BATTLE

Eight Monster Sharks Attack a New Yorker.

FOLLOWED BY THE MANEATERS.

Help Came in Time to Save the Man's Life.

His Arm Lacerated by the Shark's Teeth. Dragged Exhausted Into the Boat—The Finny Monsters Kept at Bay With a Clam Hook Until Men From the Shore Arrived.

NORWALK, Conn., Aug. 11.—Raymond D. Odell, a wealthy New Yorker, who is summering with his family at Phipps Point, Green's Farms, a seashore resort five miles east of this city, had an experience with sharks that he will never forget. Mr. Odell was wading neck deep in the tranquil waters of the Sound treading for clams. His basket was full, and he was about to retrace his steps to the shore when an immense shark with fiery eyes and expanded jaws appeared before him. Others followed, and in an instant the lone fisherman found himself surrounded by a shoal of the finny monsters, who made a combined rush at him.

Mr. Odell fought desperately for his life, keeping the huge black monsters aloof, while he worked his way foot by foot, into shallow water. The sharks in the meantime swam swiftly around their prey, viciously snapping their great ivory-lined jaws. Mr Odell used his heavy clam hook as a weapon and vigorously pounded the noses of his enemies.

One of the sharks, more daring than the rest, finally made a dash from the rear, taking Mr. Odell unawares and catching his left arm in his wide open mouth and closing it with a bang. During the struggle men from the shore had been hastening to the relief of Mr. Odell, and were only a few feet away from him when the shark seized him. Just as the shark's teeth closed on Mr. Odell's left arm, one of the rescuers leveled a gun at his ugly nose and fired. The bullet sped true to its mark, and, although the monster was only stunned, he released his hold long enough to be deprived of his prey, and Mr. Odell was drawn into the boat totally exhausted. Mr. Odell's arm is lacerated by the shark's teeth.

The sharks were of that variety known as maneaters, and they followed the boat on its return to shore as far as the shallowness of the water would permit. There were eight of the monsters in the school, and the largest could not have been less than ten feet in length. Sharks have been seen near here a number of times this summer, and several have been shot along the shore.

SLASHED WITH A RAZOR.

An Insane Prisoner Cuts His Throat from Ear to Ear.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 11.—The prisoners in the Camden County Jail had just been given the freedom of the corridor, when they were startled by one of their number cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor. He died a few minutes afterward. The dead man's name was Stiles, and it is said that his father and brother live in Brooklyn. Stiles was sent to jail by Justice Plum, of Stockton Township, for five days, under the Vagrancy act. On Saturday he gave evidence of insanity, and as a result, four other prisoners were selected to watch him. All night long the men watched the insane prisoner. He was very violent at times, and the guard did not leave him until 8 o'clock in the morning, when they permitted him to run around the corridor of the jail. It was believed to be improbable for danger to come upon him while all the prisoners were out of their cells.

In the center of the corridor William Benson, a colored man, who is locked up awaiting trial for highway robbery, was shaving and slipping the wiskers of another prisoner. When Benson began his tonsorial work Stiles was at the end of the corridor. Benson laid down his razor to pick up the scissors, when Stiles stole up behind the barber, snatched the razor and without a word drew it across his throat three times in rapid succession.

The sight sickened some of the prisoners. The cell door near where Stiles committed suicide was covered with blood, while the crimson fluid from the wound flowed all over the flagging of the corridor.

Killed While Committing a Crime.

ANNA, Ill., Aug. 11.—J. Green boarded a train at a station about twelve miles from here, and with the aid of skeleton keys got into the mail car. He threw out several pouches and then gave the signal to stop. As the train slowed up he jumped, but fell under the wheels and was fatally crushed. He lived just long enough to tell that he was trying to rob the car. He was a son of the Rev. J. W. Green, a very prominent preacher at Centralia, Ill.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—There is no change in the Welsh strike. Food is becoming scarce owing to the suspension of transportation. Mr. Reed, M. P., has written that the differences between the men and the employers are so narrow that they ought to be arbitrated. He regards the demands of the men as reasonable.

Pinkerton Men in Transit.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 11.—A car load of Pinkerton men, numbering about forty, passed through from Chicago on the eastern express. They refused to tell their destination.

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

I. A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—The wild carrots in the City Park are knee high.

—Go to Mt. Bethel this evening with the "Scattered Four" if you want to enjoy yourself.

—J. F. MacDonald changes his advertisement in today's PRESS. It will pay you to read it.

—A donkey party, to occur Thursday evening, is on this week's list of festivities at Hotel Netherwood.

—The Young Chathams of North Plainfield defeated the Young Arlingtons at base ball this morning, by the score of 18 to 9.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association are offering further inducements to cash buyers. Read their adv. today.

—The congregation of the First Church of Christ had a good time at Boynton Beach Wednesday. They journeyed in Hand's stages.

—An evening reception is to be given by the Catholic Young Men's Literary Union at St. Mary's school hall this week Wednesday evening.

—The oil in a lamp at U. B. Crane's store on Park avenue, caught fire Saturday night and threatened serious consequences. A clerk carried it out and put an end to the blaze.

—"Yellow-jackets" have for several weeks had a snug nest under the board walk on Jackson avenue. Yesterday they were dislodged by a crowd of boys, who had great sport and didn't get stung.

—The contract for painting the Hon. Alvah Clark's $18,000 residence, built for him at Somerville by Architect Charles Smith of this city, has been awarded to F. O. Smith of Plainfield, who also has the painting of I. C. Pierson's remodelled home on Broadway.

—The charge of intoxication, made by Marshal Rutlege, of the Borough, against Frank Moncton, Saturday night, cost Moncton a fine of five dollars. "Pop" Werner also fell into the clutches of Marshal Rutledge, and will be tried for disorderly conduct to-night.

—A great heap of refuse from the sewer basin at the corner of Park avenue and Front street, has occupied the gutter all day, causing much offense to people who like to breathe pure, sweet air. To all appearance no attempt was made to provide for prompt removal of the stuff, and no attempt for removal at all has yet been made manifest.

Knights of the Table Entertainment.

The guests of Hotel Netherwood were entertained by the waiters, Saturday afternoon, by a series of athletic games. The contestants in the various events did their best to make the contests amusing and exciting, and the affair was a complete success.

Good time was made in the mile and a quarter foot race. Jerry Donoghue secured the lead, but was closely crowded by Harry Kraters. Donoghue finally won in 5 minutes and 16 seconds, with Kraters not far behind.

Henry Unfug made a spurt at the start in the one hundred yards dash, and crossed the line the winner in ten and one-half seconds.

Laughable incidents were plentiful in the three-legged race. While the other contestants were tumbling over each other Unfug and Thirson kept on their feet and finished the one-hundred yards in 48 seconds.

A handicap race of two-hundred yards was the fourth race. John Flannery covered the distance in 24 seconds, and was declared winner.

The sack race was very funny. The men shambled and stumbled and hopped along in all sorts of queer shapes. Henry Unfug was first to reach the goal.

A hot contest had been expected in the tug-of-war, and both teams strained their utmost to win. Victory perched on the banner of Patrick Bolger's men, and everybody cheered.

John Flannery was the most active in picking up potatoes in the vegetable race, and was through in two and one-half minutes. Jerry Donoghue was a trifle slower, and the others were further behind.

The officers of the day included H. Brewster, Leroy Brewster and Messrs Wimple and Martin, judges; John Dillon, starter; and Edward Borne, time-keeper.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Garrett Q. Packer and family, are at Chautauqua.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Runyon spent Sunday at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Randolph are at Point Pleasant for one week.

Little Miss Leola B. Jackson is visiting relatives at Hammontown, N. J.

Miss Sadie Hand of West Second street is visiting friends in New Brunswick.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rogers, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Burnet are at The Fremont, Sea Girt, for two weeks' recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dollner of Madison avenue, are at Hotel Breslin, Lake Hopatcong.

The Superintendent of the Census has appointed Wm. C. Hubbard of this city, a special agent.

Miss Kitty M. Blimm, of Somerset street, is visiting the Misses Zimmerman, of Martinville.

Miss Florence V. Hurlburt of North Plainfield, is registered at the Union Hotel, Califon, N. J.

Wm. G. Brett and family of East Ninth street, will leave Plainfield this week for a month at Saratoga.

Mrs. F. M. Whitely and children, of the Borough, are spending the week with friends on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Smith returned last evening from their wedding trip. They will make their home in Dunellen.

Wm. B. Goff, of Randolph's City Pharmacy, will leave town Saturday for a two weeks' trip through the Niagara Falls region.

The engagement has just been announced of Miss Clara Dunn of Park avenue, and Secretary J. H. Manning of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman of Sycamore avenue, Washington Park, are enjoying the pure mountain air at Mount Pocono, Pa.

Supt. John Brooks of the Potter Press Works, has just been granted two more patents for rotary paper-cutting adjusting device for printing machines.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Martin of Somerset street, returned home Saturday, after a week's recreation with friends in Hunterdon and Mercer counties.

James Gordon, Jr., life guard at Ocean Beach, and nephew of W. F. Fulper, of North avenue, saved the life of Prof. A. J. Ryder, of the Trenton Business College, yesterday.

Miss Hudson, of North Plainfield, took so prominent and attractive a part in some tableau vivants at the Coleman, Asbury Park, Friday evening, that the papers of that place are full of praise of her.

Mr. John S. Higby well-known to many friends in Plainfield, spent an hour pleasantly among them to-day. He is now enjoying a lucrative position in the car account office of the N. Y., L. E. and W. R. R., Jersey City, N. J.

The guests at The Netherwood were entertained the other evening by the singing of a male quartette consisting of Wm. Runyon, Alfred Holmes, George Stevens and Fletcher Hallock, of this city, who were the guests of Mrs. Collis Armstrong.

L. B. Woolston, Secretary of the Endowment Rank, Knights of Pythias, received a check this morning for $1,000, payable to Mrs. Amy E. Lorton, widow of the late Eugene V. Lorton, who died on the 12th ult. This is considered one of the promptest returns on record for a similar case.

A persistent party of expert whist players, including Mrs. Eaton and Mr. Tobey, Mr. Eaton and Mr. Kirk, who have played night after night for a month past in the reading room of The Netherwood, found when they adjourned Friday night that the continuous count stood 1392 to 1391. Only one point difference in 2,783.

Miss Georgie L. Chamberlin of Madison avenue, will in September discontinue her present work at Chautauqua Headquarters in Buffalo, and will become Secretary of Dr. W. R. Harper's new Chautauqua School of the English Bible, with headquarters at New Haven. She will have charge of correspondence with pupils all over the World.

Fought and Threatened Arson.

The family troubles of Patrick Day of West Third street, are said to have caused another big boulevard row Saturday, and the police have been trying to secure evidence enough to warrant arrests. The fight is said to have originated over the gift of a bedroom suit to one of the younger Days. A Day youth is reported to have struck his father in the jaw, and this, it is reported, promptly caused a free fight. The distribution of kerosene through the house, preparatory to converting it into a huge bon fire, is mentioned as one of the interesting incidents.

A Little Lad Breaks His Leg.

Freddie, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Bird, of East Front street, met with an accident on Saturday evening. While playing upon the back stoop the little one accidently fell to the ground. Dr. Probasco was summoned and upon examination it was found that the large bone of the right leg had been broken. The leg was so swollen that it was impossible to set it until yesterday when Dr. Probasco, assisted by Dr. Hedges, put the limb in a plaster cast. It is not expected that the little sufferer will be able to be around for a couple of months.

The Colored Champions Fall.

The remarkable pitching of Michael Gregg, Saturday, which has never been equalled on the Crescent League's grounds by anybody, defeated the colored Gorhams by the score of 8 to 3. Otherwise the game was not particularly interesting. Jones caught to perfection, and the infield was up to the mark. McIndoe played with his usual listlessness and did not even try to make a hit. Gillis got two singles, a two-bagger, and two earned runs. At last an umpire to suit the cranks has been discovered. Wash Berriman, of the Brooklyn Association, who officiated Saturday, pleased everybody. The attendance, in spite of threatening weather, was 860. The score:

CRESCENT LEAGUE.

| | AB | R | BH | SB | SO | LB | PO | A | E |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Martin, ss | 5 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 1 |
| Luftery, 2b | 4 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 | 2 | 0 |
| Wiegand, 1b | 4 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 8 | 0 | 0 |
| McIndoe, lf | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 |
| Hatfield, rf | 4 | 2 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 |
| Gregg, p | 4 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 1 |
| Lee, 3b | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 |
| Jones, c | 4 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 8 | 4 | 1 |
| Gillis, cf | 4 | 2 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 |
| | 8 | 13 | 2 | 3 | 5 | 27 | 13 | 5 | |

GORHAMS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Freeman, 3b | 4 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 1 |
| Barton, p | 4 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 1 |
| Collins, ss | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 4 | 1 |
| Peterson, 1b | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 12 | 1 | 0 |
| Dickenson, cf | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Evans, 2b | 4 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 7 | 3 | 2 |
| Douglass, lf | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Smith, p | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 3 | 1 |
| Thompson, rf | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Davis, rf | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| | 3 | 3 | 5 | 1 | 5 | 9 | 24 | 14 | 6 |

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Crescent League.....0 2 0 0 0 1 0 2 *—8
Gorhams.....0 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0—3

Earned runs—Crescents, 5. First base on errors—Crescents, 4; Gorhams, 2. First base on hit by ball—Gormans, 2. Two base hits—Hatfield, Gillis. Flies caught—By Crescents, 6; by Gorhams, 6. Time of game—1:30. Umpire—Washington Berriman.

A Rock in His Hand, and Murder in His Heart.

John Keely and Max Newman, the two hackmen who chased each other around the block Thursday evening, throwing stones, pulling coat tails and calling names, appeared in court before City Judge Codington this morning to answer to the charge of violating city ordinances. Newman pleaded guilty and was fined five dollars. Keely pleaded not guilty, and trial was set for Friday morning at ten o'clock.

Patrick Keely, John's father, was tried on the charge of using profane and indecent language to Policeman McCue when the officer was arresting John by the back of the neck. Patrick was adjudged guilty, and will be sentenced Friday, when he will also be tried on the charge of fast driving on Broadway and Peace street.

Patrick is determinedly on the warpath. He says that Newman was chasing John with a great big rock in his hand and murder in his eye and heart, and he wants Newman arrested for murderous assault. He also wants hackman James Farley arrested for assault and battery, and wishes to bring charges against Policeman McCue for "inefficiency, unworthiness, and unfitness," for ordering a hackman back to his stand when that hackman left his horse and carriage and told McCue that Newman and young Keely were "lambastin'" each other.

They Ran Against Rutledge's Club.

Two old sports, James and Charles Cashen, borrowed a horse and surrey of Peter Seader, of North Plainfield, yesterday, and were making things hum along the driveways of Washington Park when they fell into the clutches of the law. They were arrested by Marshal Rutledge and Councilman Smalley. Seader's surrey and new harness were scratched, and the skin had been knocked off the horse in spots. In making the arrests Rutledge swung his club around and struck one of the men a smashing blow in the head.

Charles was fined five dollars and James was held for trial to-night at nine o'clock. It is said that James will make a counter-complaint against Marshal Rutledge for unnecessary use of his club.

A young man named Daly was also arrested in connection with the affair, but was released.

Mr. Rose Speaks From Experience.

A very interesting address was delivered in Reform Hall, last evening, by Mr. Rose, late of Worcester, Mass. He had formerly been addicted to intoxicating drink, and the story of his reformation, coupled with the terrible results of liquor drinking he had witnessed and experienced, produced a marked effect upon the audience, among whom was quite a representation of young men. George M. Angleman followed with a few appropriate remarks.

President Harper presided, and Mrs. King, Miss Hawkins, Miss Smith and Mr. Spencer composed the efficient choir.

He Concluded Not to Jump.

Newsboy VanNest, one of the smartest of THE PRESS carriers, ran down the track to the gas house, Saturday, where a Philadelphia express had stopped, and got on the rear platform to show the other newsboys how easily he could get off when the train flew by the station. He was carried through to Bound Brook, however, where he soon sold enough papers to pay his fare back on a coaler.

Imitation goods are gotten up for the ignorant and gullible. The persons able to read and write are not so easily fooled. They will insist that Hires' Root Beer is handed them, and nothing else "just as good." The best imitation is no good, and you know it.

MYLORD'S MINK FARM.

How a Young Irish Lawyer Victimized a British Nobleman.

Lord Wynford, an English nobleman, stopped at North Platte, Neb., during his tour of the prairies, says the Chicago Tribune. He seemed greatly pleased with the wild West, and intimated that he would like to invest some money in something good. There was a smart young Irish lawyer in the town, whose parents had had some unpleasant dealings with Lord Wynford in the old country. This young lawyer had lived in North Platte about two years. He came there to examine a claim he had purchased on paper. To his disappointment, his farm was nothing but a prairie-dog town.

You could not raise even sage brush on the claim so close together were the burrows of the little animals. He had about given up all hopes of disposing of his land when he learned that Lord Wynford was looking for a good investment. Then he called upon the wealthy foreigner and offered for sale what he called "the most profitable industry in America." He told the British lord that he had been ten years establishing a mink farm, and just as the enterprise was beginning to coin money he was obliged to go South on account of his poor health. He explained how the minks were raised, how their skins were disposed of, and the great demand for mink fur in this country. The young Irishman pledged Lord Wynford to say nothing of the deal, as his mink farm was only known to a few who were in similar enterprises. Then he drove his guest out to the prairie-dog farm.

Here an extensive tract of land destitute of trees and alive with little animals that burrowed in the ground and barked like small dogs was thoroughly inspected. The possibilities of furnishing the West with mink fur in the autumn delighted Lord Wynford, and returning to the city he gave $500 for the dog town. He owns it now, and the good-for-nothing place is called "the Lord's mink farm."

QUEER PLAYFELLOWS.

The Fun a Brooklyn Dog and Cat Have with Each Other.

It is generally supposed that dogs and cats are natural enemies, but if taught not to regard each other in that light, they will generally be found, when living in the same house, to be very good friends. A half-grown coach-dog and a kitten a few months old, living together in Brooklyn, have as much fun with each other as if both were dogs or cats. It is amusing to see how both enjoy the play, while each frolics in its own way.

The moment the kitten comes into the room the dog makes a bound for her as if he would eat her. Puss throws herself on her back, all four paws ready for use, showing at once that she receives him as a friend.

The dog seizes her by the throat, shakes her as he would an old shoe, and drags her around the room, growling as if he were engaged in the most serious fight.

Puss shows her teeth, lays back her ears, and apparently she, too, is serious in resenting his treatment. But there are her four paws with their full supply of needle-points, which she does not use. She boxes his ears now and then, and pushes against his body, but her claws are sheathed.

Soon the dog drops her throat, snatches at an ear, a leg, or the tail, and drags her around and around until she thinks she has enjoyed his rough dog-play long enough, and then she instantly puts an end to the fun by a little—a very little—scratch across the nose.

Instantly the dog drops her, and runs whining to his mistress, while the kitten rises and walks off with the calmness and dignity of an old cat. But he's ready to begin again the next minute, and so in fact is she.

STREET CAR COURTESY.

A Few Rules That Should Be Observed by Travelers on All Lines.

When you enter a street car place your parcel or bag beside you, as it is entitled to the room of a passenger, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Always stand on the rear platform of a street car and chin to the conductor about the lady passengers. It shows your manners.

Sometimes you see a person sitting with one foot resting upon his knee. This is not to discommode others, but only to protect his corn patch.

When a lady with a babe in her arms enters a car don't get up; bury your head in a newspaper and read between the lines that a woman who takes a child out for an airing has no business to get into a crowded street car, as there is always danger of the babe catching mumps or measles.

Always cross your legs while riding in a street car, particularly if you wear barber-pole socks, and then the ladies brush the dust from your shoes as they pass by.

If a lady and gentleman enter a car together and you are asked to move up a little, don't do it. It is not necessary that they should sit beside each other; and the conductor has no rights that you are bound to respect.

You can generally tell a dude by the size of his cane. Entering a car he should always carry his stick under his arm. The ladies having a care for their optics will notice him more fervently.

The selfish man always spreads himself out and reads his paper with stolid indifference. To move up a little he might lose the thread of the subject in hand; therefore it is best not to disturb him.

Fear Not Always Cowardice.

When any kind of fear so takes possession of a man as to destroy or palsy the antipodal quality of courage, then it is that it degenerates into cowardice. Fear and courage are counterparts in the human character, each needing the other to balance and limit it. The fear of fire, for example, is absolutely essential to preserve life; but let it be unaccompanied by courage, and the pitiable coward crouches in terror while his wife and his children perish in the flames.

How Intelligent Women Decide.

When the question has to be met as to what is the best course to adopt to secure a sure, safe and agreeable remedy for those organic diseases which afflict the female sex, there is but one wise decision, viz., a course of self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is an unfailing specific for all functional disorders that render the lives of so many women miserable and joyless. They who try it, praise it. Of druggists.

AN ORDINANCE.

An Ordinance to establish the grade of a portion of Belvidere avenue.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the grade of Belvidere avenue, Southerly and Northerly, from its intersections with Broadway be established to conform to the grade shown on survey and map, on file with the Street Commissioner, marked: "Grade Map of part of Belvidere avenue," dated April, 1890; and the grade of said portion of Belvidere avenue is hereby established, as indicated on said map and survey, to wit:

Beginning at a point in the centre of Belvidere avenue, distant three hundred and fifty-two and five tenths (352.5) Southerly from the Southerly side of Broadway at an elevation of 101.73 feet above the City base; thence along the centre of said Belvidere avenue, with a descending grade to the Southerly curb line of Broadway, produced at an elevation 100.52 feet above the City base; thence with an ascending grade to a point, distant one hundred and thirty-seven and five-tenths (137.5) feet Northerly from the Northerly side of Broadway, at an elevation of 103.61 feet above the City base; the elevation of the curb line to be six inches lower.

SEC. 2. That the roadbed over said portion of Belvidere avenue be repaired and permanently improved with broken stone, to be laid to grade established by this ordinance, for a width of six to eight feet on each side of the centre line thereof, and for a depth varying from two to six inches, as circumstances may require, under the direction of the Street Commissioner, at the general expense of the City; (property owners having subscribed two hundred and twelve dollars and fifty cents, being one-half of the total estimated expense, towards reimbursing the City) to be paid for out of the moneys raised by taxes for the improvement of streets, as provided by the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the roadbeds of the streets at the general expense?" Approved March 13, 1884.

Adopted by the Common Council August 4, 1890.
Approved by the Mayor August 5, 1890.

JOB MALE, Mayor.

Attest: JOSEPH B. COWARD, City Clerk.
Fees, $4.50.

AN ORDINANCE

To amend an Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance concerning the construction, maintenance and repair of sidewalks," approved October 4, 1887.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield by their common council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That section 2 of the ordinance bearing the title above recited, be and the same hereby is amended by adding thereto the following, namely, "that within that portion of the city of Plainfield described in this section, in all cases in which sidewalks are not already curbed with stone, cement, concrete, brick, or hard and durable substance, said sidewalk shall be curbed at the expense of the abutting land owners, and unless otherwise permitted by resolution of the common council, shall be curbed with blue stone or ironolithic, not less than four inches thick in the thinnest part and sixteen inches in depth, smooth and even on the surface and laid in one course, under the direction of the street commissioner."

Adopted by the Common Council, August 4, 1890.
Approved by the Mayor August 5, 1890.

JOB MALE, Mayor.

Attest: JOSEPH B. COWARD, City Clerk,
Fees, $2.70.

AN ORDINANCE

To fix and regulate the salary of the Street Commissioner for the year ending the first Monday in February, A. D., 1891.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That (whereas Robert A. Meeker, the present Street Commissioner was asked to accept his said office with the understanding that the salary therefor should be made at the rate of fifteen hundred dollars per annum for the year ending the first Monday in February, A. D., 1891, and the said salary has not been heretofore fixed by ordinance) the salary of said Robert A. Meeker, as Street Commissioner for the year ending as aforesaid, be and the same is hereby fixed at the rate of fifteen hundred dollars per annum, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided.

Adopted by the Common Council August 4, 1890.
Approved by the Mayor August 5, 1890.

JOB MALE, Mayor.

Attest: JOSEPH B. COWARD, City Clerk.
Fees, $2.70.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have appointed Jeremiah Manning, Edward C. Mulford and Joseph A. Hubbard as Commissioners to assess the damages and benefits the owners of land will sustain by the laying out and opening of Orchard Place in the city of Plainfield from its present easterly terminus to New Street, passing over lands of John P. Emmons and Peter A. Emmons as described in said ordinance. That the Common Council have appointed Saturday, August 23, 1890 at 8 o'clock p. m. as the time, and the Council Chamber as the place for the said commissioners to meet, for the purpose of laying out and opening of said Street, at which time and place all persons interested therein may be heard.

JOSEPH B. COWARD, City Clerk
Plainfield, N. J. August 5, 1890.
Fees $1.80.

Arrival and Departure of Mails

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. B. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

FOR SALE, Cheap—Two 3-seat sleighs and one cutter. Price $40. Also, two sets of double harness, $15. One first class Landau, and gold-mounted harness, price, $350. Apply 34 Arlington avenue. 8-11 3

LOT FOR SALE—Elegant building lot on Sanford avenue. Good investment. Apply E. C. Mulford, Broker. 8-11-6

WANTED—Girl for general housework. 27 Bay street.

WANTED—By gentleman and wife, select board in a desirable locality. South side of railroad preferred. Address "Select," P. O. Box 353, city. 8-11-3

CANOE for sale (or sail). A bargain, at 7 Madison avenue. 8-11-3

HOUSE and Lot for Sale, No. 22 Duer street. House in perfect repair; newly painted; well rented now; will sell low; $1,300 can remain on mortgage. Apply to No. 7 Madison ave. 8-9-3

TWO Furnished Rooms near depot, for young men; (bath room and electric light). Terms moderate. Enquire PRESS office. 8 9 3

GIRL wanted for general housework, etc. Must be able to return to her own home nights. Sherwin's, 23 W. Front st. 8-9-tf

FIFTY Acres Good Pasture, with running streams, for horses and cattle. Apply Ellis Campbell. 8-14-os-tf

BOARD with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

FOR SALE—Move off premises, one-story store, 12x24, on North avenue. E. C. Mulford, Broker. 7-26-tf

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing, kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 258 Broadway. Wm. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with Jones & Co. 8-11-tf

OUR MOTTO.—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 25c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Graulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEWARENT. 25 PARK AVENUE. 8-6-t

MOY. 8-11-tf

First Evening Reception OF THE Catholic Young Men's Literary Union, At St. Mary's School Hall, Wednesday Evening, August 13. Tickets, 25 Cents. 8-11-3

WASHBURN & ARLINGTON'S NEW UNITED MONSTER SHOWS.

Congress of Nations, World's Fair, Roman Hippodrome, Egyptian Caravan, Arabian Camel Train, Moorish Encampment,

WILD WEST AND WILD EAST,

Will Exhibit at CIRCUS GROUNDS, PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, AUG. 18.

100 HANDSOME GREY HORSES. 100 WORLD RENOWNED PERFORMERS

A Beautiful Living Calliope In the Grand Street Parade, Will fill the air with music from a steam organ, costing $10,000. 8-11-w

J. T. VAIL, REAL ESTATE, AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE. DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE AGENTS, 61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM. Real Estate and Insurance, 7 EAST FRONT STEET. 3-13-y

TRY OUR Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD. HENRY LIEFKE NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 5-31-tf

HOUSE AND FRESCO PAINTING, Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE. MARSH & AYERS. Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished. CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD, THE GROCER! 92 Somerset St., opp. Emily, NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON, FIRE INSURANCE. OFFICE—30 DUER STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD, 45 North Avenue, Opposite Station. REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL, Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors, [FOSTER'S HOUSE,] No. 5 North Avenue. Special attention paid to Children's Hair Cutting. 2-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO., DEALERS IN Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed, Straw and Grain. TELEPHONE CALL, 58. Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station. The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER. A COOL STORE, AND A WARM WELCOME, AT PECK'S! 28 WEST FRONT STREET.

FRUIT JARS. JELLY JARS, CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE. FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES. GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.

Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons.
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-P." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER, Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE. SELLING OUT CHEAP! Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture! Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large. FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-9-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD! 42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish, Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T Get OVERHEATED! DON'T Buy POOR Goods, You can always find Good ones at H. A. POPE'S, Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS. The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER! The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 50 Points worth considering:—

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE., Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J. N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-1

E. P. THORN, No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J. ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc., WHOLESALE AND RETAIL. PURE WINES AND LIQUORS FOR FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE, A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER And Builders Supplies LOOMIS & RICE 49 B'DWAY

THEIR LEADING MEN FROM PLAINFIELD.

Prof. McClintock and Artist Knaufft Winning Fame at Chautauqua.

Likenesses of Ernest Knaufft, of East Front street, and Prof. W. D. McClintock, another popular Plainfielder, adorn the pages of today's Tribune. Mr. Knaufft is Director of the Art School at Chautauqua. He has a large room in the museum building filled with plaster casts, easels, crayon sketches and studies in oil and water color, and to this room most of the available models about the grounds of Chautauqua sooner or later find their way. Any fine afternoon one may find sketching parties, pupils of Mr. Knaufft, in the parks or on the lake front putting on canvas the brilliant hues of Summer foliage or studying the distribution of shadows on the unruffled bosom of the lake.

Mr. Knaufft, who is a graduate of the New York Art Students' League, is described by the Tribune as a man of refined appearance. He was born at Summit, N. J. He studied in New York under Frank Fowler, Walter Satterlee, William G. Chase, J. Carroll Beckwith and George De Forest Parrish. He was an instructor at Princeton College for two years, was an art critic in New York and has recently published a series of papers on "Pen and Ink Drawing for Photo-Engraving," which have been taken as text-books by several art schools. He now teaches drawing and painting at Purdue University in Indianna, to ninety-night students having the largest class in the institution. He has been connected with Chautauqua for three years and has at Chautauqua fifty students. Through the Chautauqua corresponding school he conveys instruction to about 400 pupils all over the country, even in Florida and Alaska.

"I can't teach a beginner by correspondence to learn to draw," he says, "but I can make an artist of a man who has mastered the rudiments, or who possesses an undeveloped natural gift."

Prof. W. D. McClintock, who has just assumed the onerous office of Secretary of the Chautauqua University Extension organization, is an untiring worker in the development of the new idea. He comes of the family of McClintocks to which belonged the famous British sailor who went to the Arctic regions in search of Sir John Franklin. Professor McClintock has already conducted several courses of lectures under the new system, in Washington, at Plainfield, in Kansas, in Kentucky and in the City of New York. He has also studied its workings abroad and is full of plans for its development.

"My ideal of a university extension course," he says, "embraces three things—lecture, a class drill on the lecture, with criticisms and suggestions, and a paper directing the readings for the next week. The plan of the syllabus, which is distributed in advance, has so far worked admirably. It saves students the trouble of taking notes and insures their preservation of the exact outline you want them to carry in their minds. One of my most successful sources was delivered in New York, the subject being 'The Greater English Poets.' Within the last three days we have had seven calls for courses, from Ohio, New York and Philadelphia. I think the movement will open an entirely new and profitable field for young professors. I could spend all this Winter at the work and do nothing else. It will not only benefit people outside of colleges, country institutions having small faculties will be only too glad to supplement their staff by our itinerant lecturers."

Professor McClintock comes from the blue grass region of Kentucky. He was educated in the Wesleyan College, at Milksburg, was a graduate student in English at Johns Hopkins under Dr. Albert S. Cook, now of Yale, and won there a graduate scholarship. He has been a teacher in Kentucky, and at the Union Seminary, in New York, a preacher in Kentucky, and since 1881 has been connected with Chautauqua, as Professor of English and as Registrar. He is also Professor of English Literature at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y. He has traveled and studied abroad.

That's Nothing!

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I see by THE PRESS that Messrs Egbert and myself caught 22 black bass on Friday and that one weighed 3½ pounds. Now I would not lie about a little thing like that. The number was correct, but the largest one weighed three pounds and fourteen ounces.

Respectfully,
E. P. THORN.

Oh, well, Ed, don't mind a little discrepancy on weight, like that. You know that you and your old partner have caught a larger number and of more weight, in a day, than last Friday's catch, more than once in times gone by.

For Plainfield Fishermen to Catch.

Three wagon loads of trout fry have been released by Fish Commissioner F. M. Ward of Newton, in the streams surrounding Dover. Some of the fry were yearlings several inches in length. A great abundance of trout has been caught in the vicinity of Dover this year, and the Commissioner is determined that a plentiful supply shall be maintained.

Smashed in His Forehead.

The young son of Wm. W. Wilson, of West Third street, was playing at the hatchway of the cellar, Saturday, when he slipped and fell down the entire flight of stone steps. The sharp edges cut and bruised the lad severely, and the frontal bone above the eye was crushed. Dr. Boone was summoned and dressed the injuries.

A Business Man's View of the Force Bill.

Wm. L. Saunders, of Mercer avenue, furnishes the following to the press for publication.

SIR: I send you herewith a letter which we have just received in the ordinary course of business. It touches so pointedly on a subject of general popular interest at this time, and coming from a representative Southern business man, it occurs to me that it might be of interest to those of your readers, who, like myself, regard the South as a field for business, not for battle.

WM. L. SAUNDERS.

Sec'y Ingersoll-Sergeant Rock Drill Co. New York, August 5.

"GRAYSVILLE, Ga., August 2, 1890.

"Ingersoll-Sergeant Rock Drill Co., N. Y.:

" . . You will pardon us for digressing from business matters to politics, and we will here add that a man's politics and religion never have anything to do with us in business. We wish to call your attention to the effect the 'Force Bill' will have upon the business of this country should it become a law. Already our customers are laying plans for curtailing their building and other enterprises they have in view, and they are only awaiting the final action of this bill before they determine what they will do. As to the question of 'boycott,' we take no stock in it and it is not the thing we want. We do not want any law passed which will demoralize, disorganize, and disrupt this great improvement and building boom now upon the South. Our company is composed of Northern men and Southern men, of Democrats and Republicans, and we are all opposed to the 'Force Bill' or 'boycott,' and are in favor of peace and harmony between all sections. Now, if it meets your views, we will be glad to have you use your influence to prevent this iniquitous bill being placed upon us.

"Respectfully, etc.,
"F. A. VAUGHAN,
"Secretary and Treasurer."

The Wheelmen and the Ladies are Not the Offenders.

(From the Elizabeth Journal.)

The City of Plainfield is suffering from the occupancy of the sidewalks by the bicyclers. The Press says that

Most of the offenders are young men of a smaller growth, and their impudence in taking places that belong to pedestrians is ofttimes astonishing. The young wheelmen, with an air of supurb impudence, dash up and down along the smooth pavements, swerving neither right nor left, and calmly maintain possession of the centre of the walk as far as they please.

Such work as this brings law-abiding wheelmen into disrepute. In this city the wheelmen have asked council to pass an ordinance prohibiting bicycles from being ridden on any sidewalk, and it is for their own protection as well as for the good of the city that such an ordinance is asked for. It is also made a regulation of the Wheelmen's club, and the members are required to live up to it. Those who ride bicycles on the sidewalks are therefore not members in good standing in any league, and are not to be so considered. They are simply the younger, more reckless and more discourteous riders who happen to have wheels of their own, without belonging to any recognized club.

Her Grave Lined With Evergreens.

M. Amelia Morse, wife of David R. Morse of Brooklyn, and daughter of the late Robert J. Randolph of Plainfield, died at the Grant House, Catskill, N. Y., Thursday, August 7. Funeral services were held from her late home, 112 Fort Greene place, Brooklyn, this morning. The remains were brought to Plainfield this afternoon and interred in the beautiful family plot at Evergreen Cemetery. The grave into which the casket was lowered was completely lined with evergreens.

Mrs. Morse was widely known in this city, where, as Miss Randolph, she lived many years on the old homestead at West Front and New Streets.

Ex-Councilman Bowers a Director.

The New Jersey Postal Telegraph Company has just completed its organization and has begun the construction of its line. The officers of the company are: President, Everett Frazar; Vice President, Henry P. Winter; General Manager, Joseph A. McClary; Secretary and Treasurer, Edward Alden; Directors, Benj. O. Bowers, of this city; Jos. S. Case, New York city; Gardner Colby, Orange, N. J.; Everett Frazer, Orange, N. J.; John R. Sivermore, Montclair, N. J.; Philip Lowry, Newark, N. J.; Jos. A. McClary, Rahway, N. J.; Francis A. Upton, Orange, N. J.; Henry P. Winter, Orange, N. J. John R. Hardin, of Newark, N. J., has been appointed counsel of the company.

Elizabethans Bow to Plainfield's Acting Mayor.

Elmore Drake Moffatt, says the Elizabeth Journal, who is deputy county clerk and also president of the Plainfield common council, is acting as mayor of that city during the six weeks' absence of Mayor Job Male from the city. The mayor pro tem. bears his honors meekly, and the attaches of the county clerk's office pay their respects to him each morning on his arrival with more dignity than usual.

Peter Brown Gives Thanks.

Peter Brown, whose house near the mountain was burned some weeks ago, has taken possession of a new home which his friends have kindly aided him in procuring; and he wishes to express to them, through THE PRESS, his sincere gratitude for the generous assistance which they have given him in his time of trouble.

AFRAID OF BANKS.

A Divorced Wife Loses $15,000 Alimony Hidden in Her Bosom.

Why is it that the majority of women are so afraid of a bank? asks the New York Star. They are only satisfied with money; checks, bank-books, or other evidence of money do not please them. When I read about the woman a few days ago who put her money under the waist of her dress and then lost it, I was reminded of a similar loss, only of a larger amount, which occurred in this city a few years ago. After much litigation in the Supreme Court an ill-used wife got a decree of divorce and about $15,000 alimony. The lawyers and the wife and her mother met in one of the small rooms of the court-house and settled. The husband's lawyer had a certified check for the alimony, but the wife wouldn't touch it; she wanted money. In vain did her own counsel assure her that the check was better than money; it was so much safer. Her husband's treatment of her had been cruel, and he had fought her application for divorce in such a mean way that she had come to distrust every thing he proposed. She believed that the check was a trick, and she wouldn't have it. So the two lawyers went out, got the check cashed, and came back with the money. She took it, carefully deposited it in her bosom, smilingly observing that no thieves could get hold of it there.

She and her mother left the court-house and took the Sixth avenue elevated for Forty-second street. When they got home the money was gone. Womanlike, they believed that the judge who decreed the alimony could in some way make the loss good, and they rushed back to the court-house and obtained an interview with him. He is one of the tenderest-hearted men in the world, and he has since described the meeting as one of the most painful he ever had. The loss of the money rendered them absolutely penniless, and there were two children whose custody had been given to the mother, the father being worth less in every respect except pecuniarily. The wife cried and the mother sobbed. The judge explained to them that the case was closed; that final judgment had been rendered and complied with; that they had insisted upon taking bills instead of a certified check, which had been offered to them, and that they had only themselves to blame for the loss. He didn't convince the excited and heart-broken women by such arguments. Finally, there being no other way of getting rid of them, the judge agreed to send to the husband and lay the case before him. He was not called upon in any manner to do this, nor, in fact, had he any right to; but his magnanimity and pity caused him to. I never heard that he succeeded, however, and am under the impression that the wife never got any thing more from her husband. He had paid the court's decree and he let her go—to starve, if it should so happen.

TENDER AS A BABE.

That Is Why an Irish Barber Sympathized with His Victim.

The village of Garrison's, on the Hudson, is the home of a few wealthy city people during the heated term, says the New York Sun. Garrison's is not populous enough to support a regular barber, and so this very necessary function has been assumed by the baggage-man at the Hudson river railroad station, who is known as Dan. It is a funny sight to see a lawn-tennis dandy with yellow shoes lying in an ordinary arm-chair, his head over the back and resting on the book in which Dan keeps his accounts, and which lies upon a desk. For scraping the jowls of the city boarders the baggage-man earns many a dime between trains.

This reminds the writer of an experience in the Arran islands, on the west coast of Ireland, last February. He had three weeks' growth of beard on his face, and he hunted over the three islands for a barber, at last finding one who was willing to undertake the job. The Arran barber had never shaved a Yankee, and was overjoyed at the chance. He was twenty years old, and had been engaged all his life at building stone walls. He sharpened his razor on a piece of smooth flagstone, and seated his victim in a kitchen chair. One man held the patient's head, and a dozen interested spectators looked on, for it was an altogether unprecedented event in the islands. The lathering was done with a piece of hard brown soap, which was rubbed over the face. Grabbing a handful of hair on top of the patient's head, the stone-wall builder flourished the razor in the air and exclaimed:

"Are yo all ready, sir?"

"All right," was the trembling reply. Down came the razor with a sweep like that of a scythe. The implement was evidently as full of teeth as a buzzsaw. It tore the hair out by the roots. It raised the victim bolt upright as if a cannon cracker had exploded. Tears gathered in his eyes. His hands clinched convulsively, and a rivulet of blood ran down his cheek. The butcher went to the window to wipe his weapon clean. While standing there he looked up and exclaimed sympathetically:

"Shure, sir, ye have a face as tindher as a little babby!"

The shave was concluded three weeks later in the city of Galway.

An Anecdote of Douglas.

The late Beverly Tucker was a genuine F. F. V. He was handsome, popular and the best story teller in Washington. He was a great friend of Stephen A. Douglas, and one day, when Tucker was walking down Pennsylvania avenue, the Little Giant overtook him, threw his arm around his shoulder and exclaimed: "Bev, old boy, I love you!" "But, will you always love me?" asked Tucker. "If I don't, may I be damned. What do you want me to do? Say what you will, and I'll remember it." "Well," said Tucker, "when you get to be President, all I want you to do for me is to choose some public place like this, put your arm around my neck just as you are doing now, call me 'Bev,' and tell me you love me." The bargain was made, and it wasn't the Little Giants fault that it wasn't carried out.

THE SILVER DOLLAR.

History of the Popular Coin From the Year 1792 to Date.

In the year 1878 the standard or "Bland" dollar was first issued, and most people considered it a very handsome coin; but there are some critics who have never ceased to complain of the eagle with uplifted wings, which they derisively term a "buzzard." This talk has borne such fruit that Congress has decided to improve the figure of the eagle and has authorized the director of the mint to procure new designs.

Therefore, the present seems to be a good time to give a history of America's most popular coin, and we can not do better than give the substance of an interview with R. A. McClure, curator of the cabinet, and one of the best-known numismatists in the world, says Golden Days.

The first silver dollar was coined under the act of February 12, 1792, and weighed 416 grains, and had a fineness of 892.4, which standard was continued for a number of years.

In 1794 the silver dollar issued had on the obverse side a liberty head facing right with flowing hair, fifteen stars, above the head the word "Liberty," beneath 1794. Reverse side, an eagle with raised wings, encircled by branches of laurel, with the legend "United States of America" around the edge of the coin, while the edge of the coin contained: "Hundred cents, one dollar or unit."

The next year, 1795, the design was again changed as follows:

Obverse side—bust of Liberty, facing right, hair bound by a ribbon, shoulders draped and fifteen stars showing in the field. Reverse side—an eagle with expanded wings standing upon clouds, with a wreath of palm and laurel, which is crossed and tied, and the inscription: "United States of America." In 1798 the same design was used, except the using of two stars less in the field on the obverse side.

On the reverse side of the 1798 dollar a change was made by placing on it an eagle with raised wings, bearing the United States shield upon its breast and in its beak a scroll with the inscription "E Pluribus Unum" upon it: a bundle of arrows, thirteen in number, in the right talon. Above were clouds and thirteen stars, and upon its field United States of America.

From 1805 to 1839 inclusive there were no silver dollars coined for general circulation. In 1840 another change was made. On the obverse side of the coin was Liberty seated upon a rock, supporting with her right hand the United States shield, across which floats a scroll inscribed "Liberty," and with her left hand supporting the staff and liberty cap; below the date of coinage.

On its reverse side an eagle with expanded wings, bearing the United States shield upon its breast and an olive branch and three arrows in its talons. Legend: "United States of America, One Doll.," reeded edge, size 24. From 1866 to 1873 same design was used, the words "In God We Trust" being added above the eagle.

From 1874 to 1877 none were issued, and the next design accepted was the present one in use, which was struck off for general use in 1878. On the obverse side we have the Liberty head facing left, upon which is a cap, a wheat and cotton wreath and a band inscribed Liberty. Above the band the words "E Pluribus Unum;" beneath, the date and 13 stars.

The reverse side has an eagle with expanded wings, pointing upward; in its right talon an olive branch with nine leaves; in its left talon three arrows; in the field above, the words, "In God We Trust;" beneath, a semi-wreath, tied and crossed, reaching upward to the wings of the eagle. Legend: "United States of America. One Dollar."

The trade dollars were coined from 1873 to 1883, inclusive, under very peculiar circumstances. American merchants, trading with Asiatic and South American ports, were seriously hampered for lack of suitable currency. The standard dollar of 412 grains was light weight and would not pass current outside of the United States, and so these traders appealed to Congress to coin a trade dollar of 420 grains, stamping on its weight and fineness.

It was really an ingot of silver, and not intended for circulation in this country at all. But, somehow, the trade dollars flowed back to this country, and for a time floated at par, until their legal standing was discovered; then they dropped to 80 or 90 cents.

This decrease gave rise to a clamor that the Government should redeem the trade dollars, and eventually Congress passed a law to that effect. At the present day trade dollars are only worth their bullion value.

Upon the obverse side of the trade dollar was Liberty seated upon a cotton bale, facing left; in her extended right hand an olive branch; in her left a scroll inscribed "Liberty;" behind her a sheaf of wheat; beneath, a scroll inscribed "In God We Trust," and below the date are thirteen stars. On the reverse side an eagle with expanded wings; in its talons three arrows and an olive branch; above, a scroll inscribed "E Pluribus Unum;" beneath, on the field, "420 grains 900 fine. United States of America."

In 1836, 1838 and 1839 some designs were struck off, but none of them were accepted or put into general use. About 1000 1836 dollars were circulated in this way.

This is the history of the silver dollar up to date, and we must wait for a year, perhaps, before we can add to it a description of the new silver dollar.

Small-Mouthed Rock Bass.

Indian river, Michigan, has among its fish one that no one seems to have found in any other water—a small-mouthed rock bass. The rock bass of the New York lakes is especially remarkable for its enormous mouth and glaring red eyes. The Indian river rock bass has the red eyes and every other marking of the lake rock bass, but its mouth is less than half the size. It is very gamy, and takes the trout fly so readily that it is as great an annoyance to the trout fisherman on Indian river as its big-mouthed relative is to anglers for black bass on Lake Keuka and Seneca Lake.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-7

COMING!
BOB HUNTING'S
New Railroad Show.
AT PLAINFIELD,
TUESDAY, AUG. 12.
Five times Larger and Better than Ever.
We Come with New Acts.
New Faces, and
New and Startling Features.
Admission—Adults, - 20 Cents.
Children, - - - 10 Cents.
8-6-w

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4¾c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150 test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET.
7-14-m

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

LAUNDRY.
Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r.
8-8-7

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St
-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 3-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week!
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.
6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Door and Window Screens a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK
6-3-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS.
1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.
6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.
3-6-7

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
P. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.
4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
33 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-25-7

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 207. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

DON'T FORGET!
That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT 7 P. M.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street.
1-18-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal.
7-18-3m

J. G. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my19y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD.
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my19y1 ROBERT H. COOK

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 76 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
7-21-1

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
23 EAST FRONT ST.

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables.
54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 121. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my19y

Carpenters and Builders.

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 708, Plainfield, N. J.
New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing.
6-19-y

R. V. SAUER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Residence Clinton avenue, near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-1y

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE.
5-26-w

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit.
5-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
AND HIS
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
ALSO
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. H. Hommel, 26 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. 6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 9-25-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building.
my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer,
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

DESIRABLE
Netherwood Building Sites
FOR SALE.
Apply to J. F. LOESER,
P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J.
7-16-m

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLE
21 East 5th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-105-1

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—NO BOTHERS 1-16-tf

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
AND
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 20 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
6-6-6m

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sep1

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 27 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
No manufactures them and knows what they contain. ASK THEM.

TRUE BLUE.

No; marriage ain't no sinecure—jes' lay the baby down,
He's fas' asleep. Go easy, now, 'n' turn the cradle-roun'
Out o' the sun—the little lamb! He didn't sleep last night,
Them ol' moskeeters buzzin' roun'—'n' spread the net—that's right,
He's safe 'n' soun', 'n' thank the Lord—jes' pick up off the floor
Them clo'es-pins he was playin' with. I'll need 'em all 'n' more.
The washin' 's pilin' big this week—'n' Mandy, you come here
I want them things run thro' the blue, 'n' rinse 'em lively, dear.

Of course folks got to marry, child—them on the b'iler-lid—
The Lord ain't meant no different when He made 'em as He did.
I allus think it's worried Him right from the very firs'
To have ol' maids left over—'n' bachelors is worse!
'N' yet, they have the bestest time; they git some peace 'n' ease,
'N' there's lots o' comfort, Mandy, 'n' doin' as you please.
But, sho! I wouldn't change with 'em; they ain't got much to fear,
Nor nothin' much to hope, I guess—keep rinsin' lively, dear.

I bin through troubles, firs' 'n' las,' enough to turn my hair
Whiter 'n' them there pillar-shams—why, la! the wear 'n' tear
Jes' of the every days, not countin' sickness in, nor death,
But jes' the chil'ren 'n' the meals 'n' drawin' daily breath
'N' goin' daily roun's—my, my! But there, I won't complain;
I'd turn back to my weddin'-day 'n' start right in again
'N' go clean through it, every ache 'n' pain 'n' smile 'n' tear—
Don't let them collars git too blue; keep rinsin' lively, dear.

I can't see as we've any right to lounge about 'n' laze;
I know I'd be a-scared up roun' the las' part of my days
To think I'd had too good a time. It ain't a Christian's lot;
Not 'cordin' to the promises. I'd liefer far than not
Jes' feel the thorns a-hurtin' 'n' the cross I'm boun' to bear—
Folks don't git crowns fer nothin', Mandy, here nor anywhere.
I'd rather have my ups 'n' downs whichever way I steer,
'N' life won't never git too blue, a-movin' lively, dear.

—Madeline S. Bridges, in Judge.

BATTLING WITH SHARKS.

Novel and Perilous Adventure with Huge Man-Eaters.

Captain Joe Holland and His Stalwart Colored Man Engage in a Strange and Terrible Struggle—Pursued by Pirates of the Sea.

THIS is one of the most beautiful spots in sunny Florida. It is out of the world in some respects, but its native beauties command admiration from all who visit here. The lake, a vast inland sheet of water, clear as crystal, is a picture in itself, while the houses arranged around its clear, open beaches make a most fitting frame for such a picture. The residents are all great fishermen, and many are the marvelous stories told of big catches of fish and adventures on the coast.

Captain Joe Holland is one of the veterans of Lake Worth, and here is his latest fishing adventure while on his last trip from the Bermudas a few weeks ago: The captain's pet boat is a small sloop, and his crew consists of himself and a stalwart mulatto and a pet monkey. The latter had been taught to haul ropes and do many other things of the kind. When out from the islands on their last trip, and in the Gulf stream, they encountered a school of sharks. The captain, it appears, tried every way to get rid of his unwelcome followers, but to no avail, as they clung closer than a debtor, and night or day their ugly-looking fins and shovel-shaped noses were clearly visible close by.

While proceeding along under easy sail the captain began practicing on the sharks with his rifle, while Emmanuel, the mulatto, tried his skill with an old fish harpoon. The captain finally wounded one, and the whole school turned on it as its blood began to flow and a terrible commotion began near the vessel. To add to the confusion Emmanuel struck a big one, too, and its frantic struggles, coupled with the streams of blood that flowed from its wounds, soon brought up all the maneaters within a mile, as the captain averred. The huge, ugly creatures plunged round about the vessel, striking at the wounded ones and taking great pieces out of their sides. The fight grew furious, the sharks jumping out of the water and rushing at each other with wide-open mouths, armed with such ugly-looking sets of teeth, as, the captain says, fairly made his blood run cold. In all, over forty big sharks were engaged in the scrimmage, and the commotion they caused was terrible.

THE CAPTAIN WOUNDED ONE.

The captain and Emmanuel both feared that this fight would do them damage, as every once in awhile a resounding thud on the boat's bottom would show that the ravenous creatures cared little for such a vessel as theirs. All of a sudden a big fifteen-foot wounded shark rose a short distance off, with another, double his size, in pursuit. He rushed on, and in a jiffy had sprung right into the boat and the other followed. 'Tis hard to say who were the most surprised—the sharks or the captain and his crew. The monkey flew up the mast chattering with fright, while Emmanuel sought safety on the bowsprit and the captain jumped into the cabin. The two big fish floundered around in the boat, the sides being just high enough to prevent their getting over again. The boat rocked to and fro frightfully as the huge sharks kicked about. Captain Joe says that he expected to go to Davy Jones' locker at any moment. The sharks both lay with their heads towards the bow and their tails near the cabin door.

Venturing forth, after awhile, the captain seized an axe, and, standing near the door, he brought it down with all his strength upon the tail of the big fellow. The effect was electric; up went the flukes with a tremendous whisk, and, while the axe went out to sea a dozen rods, the captain was whirled backward into the ocean, just catching the rudder-post as he fell. Emmanuel thought that the captain had gone for good, and he halloed outright in his fright. The captain's voice, somewhat choked with sea water, reassured him, and the brave fellow ran nimbly down the side of the boat, jumping over one of the sharks, and, on reaching the stern, helped the captain up from his perilous position.

RIDING ASTRIDE ONE OF THE SHARKS.

After the skipper had recovered they started for the sharks again. With an adze and the rifle active warfare was begun. Blow after blow was landed on the tough hides of the plunging monsters, while they thrashed about in the most lively manner, the little boat creaking in every timber from the shock. Finally Jocko came running down the shrouds to take a hand in the fight. He picked up a belaying pin, and creeping up to one of the sharks, brought it down with stunning effect on the man-eater's head. The huge fish jumped for it with wide-open mouth, but the nimble monkey jumped out of the way, and came back with another blow. Notwithstanding their serious predicament, the captain and his ally could hardly keep from laughing at the spectacle. But the most serious part of the fight was now over, and the vicious-looking sea tigers lay gasping out their lives as the men rained blows upon them.

All this while the monsters outside kept up their infernal warfare on each other, and the sea was blood-colored for a considerable distance. Over a dozen bodies floated to the surface, some half eaten and others with many gaping wounds in their sides. The two on deck were finally killed and they were thrown overboard. The deck was slippery from their blood, and as Emmanuel stood by the gunwales, a sudden lurch of the boat threw him over. A hoarse cry, and in he went right among the sharks, now furious with their bloody feast. The captain rushed up and threw a rope; but Emmanuel was nowhere to be seen. Soon a commotion was observed some twenty feet away, and his head emerged suddenly from the water, and he shot up in sight riding astride one of the sharks.

Emmanuel was blue with fright, but he jabbed his queer steed with his big knife that he always had in his belt, and the vicious monster plunged forward, fortunately carrying him nearer the boat. Recovering from his astonishment, the captain flung forward another rope, which, fortunately, Emmanuel caught. Rising up on the shark's back, Emmanuel took the rope with a firm grip and jumped for the boat. Several of the monsters plunged at him as he fell among them, but by some strange good luck they missed him and the captain hauled him on board, one shark just nipping off a bit of his heel as he was hauled over the side. This decided the captain on the shark question, and they tried by means of sweeps, etc., to get out of this dangerous neighborhood. Several hours later a breeze sprang up and wafted the boat away from the crowd of sharks that kept up their fight as far as could be observed by the captain.

Capt. Holland says this was the worst experience he has ever had with these sea-fighters, and he hoped it would be the last. The sides of his boat show plainly where great pieces were bitten out by the sharks, and the effects of their tail blows on the decking are still plainly to be seen.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

—Undoubtedly there is a similarity in the appearance of cyclones as they move along their course, but the likeness can not be as close as between the accounts of the storms given by newspaper correspondents. A "dark funnel-shaped cloud," accompanied by "a fearful roaring," and "spreading destruction along its track" is the same old cloud that has been doing service for twenty years. Will the cyclone correspondent please strike up a new tune, or give us new words to the old tune?—Milwaukee Sentinel.

HIS TRIUMPH.

How John Walton Took a Sweet Revenge.

"GET OFF from here, you little beggar!" said Oscar Ronalds, imperiously.

The speaker was a well-dressed boy of fourteen, and the words were addressed to a boy of about his own age and his sister of eight. The contrast between their outward appearance was striking. Oscar was of light complexion, and looked like a petted child of the aristocracy. He held a club in his hand, which, it might be judged from his scowling face, he would not be unwilling to use.

John Walton, who confronted him without fear, was a stouter boy than Oscar. His complexion was dark, his hair, black as the raven's wing, hung over his forehead. His clothing was coarse and well-worn, his pants were tucked up nearly to his knees, and shoes and stockings were luxuries with which he dispensed. His little sister, terrified by Oscar's rude manner, clung to her brother in affright.

"Don't be scared of him, Lizzie," said John. "He won't dare to touch us."

"Won't I, though?" said Oscar, clutching his stick tighter.

"Not if you know what is best for yourself," said John, looking fixedly at him.

"You have no business here, you beggar," said Oscar, furiously.

"I am no beggar," said the barefoot boy, proudly.

"This is my father's land. Can you deny that?" demanded Oscar.

"I know it is, and I suppose it will be yours some day."

"Then why do you intrude here?"

"I did not suppose it would do any harm to pick a few berries, which would otherwise decay on the vines."

"Then you know it now. I don't care for the berries, but I don't want any beggar's brats on my father's place."

"Stop there, young master," said John, firmly. "You call me a beggar, and I did not care much, but if you call my mother by that name, you'll be sorry."

"I?" said Oscar contemptuously. "What will you do?"

"I'll beat you with that stick you hold in your hand."

"Then I do call her a beggar," said Oscar, furiously. "What are you going to do about it?"

"You'll see."

John Walton let his sister's hand fall, and springing upon Oscar, wrenched the stick from his hand, laid it over his back with sharp emphasis three times, and, then flung it into the pool hard by. Leaving his young enemy prostrate, he took his terrified sister by the hand, and saying: "We'll go home now, Lizzie," walked quietly away.

Oscar picked himself up, mortified and furious. He would have pursued John, and wreaked instant vengeance upon him if he had dared, but in the hands of the young savage, as he mentally characterized him, he had felt his own utter inability to cope with him, and resolved that vengeance should come in another shape.

"My father shall turn the beggars out of house and home," he muttered. "I wish they might starve."

The father of Oscar Ronalds was the proprietor of a handsome house and large landed estate, including several tenements which he rented out. In the poorest of these lived John Walton and his mother. They lived poorly enough: how, it would be hard to tell, but at all events they lived, and never sought help.

When John told the story of his encounter to his mother she was disturbed,

"I'M NO BEGGAR," SAID THE BAREFOOT BOY.

fearing that trouble might come of it. So, indeed, it did.

The next morning Squire Ronalds, with his stiff, erect figure, was seen approaching the widow's cottage.

Mrs. Walton opened the door.

"Won't you come in, Squire Ronalds?" she said, nervously.

"No, madam, I have but a word to say, and that is soon said. Are you aware that your boy grossly insulted my son Oscar, yesterday?"

"He told me that Oscar called me names, and he knocked him down. He has a hasty temper."

"Your son is a ruffian, ma'am."

"Not so bad as that. He is a good boy to me, Squire Ronalds."

"It is a pity he can not treat others with proper respect."

"Do you think he was wholly to blame?"

"Certainly he was. My son caught him trespassing on my land and very properly ordered him off. I don't care to argue the matter. If he will apologize to Oscar, I will let it pass. Otherwise, as your month's up to-day, I shall require you to leave this tenement."

John, who had been inside and heard what had been said, came forward, looking resolute and self-sustained.

"I shall not apologize to Master Oscar, sir," he said. "It is he who should apologize to me."

"You are an impudent young rascal."

"Mother," said John, quietly. "There is no use listening further. I shall not apologize, and am ready to take the consequences. Don't be alarmed. I'll take care of you."

"You must leave this house to-morrow," roared Squire Ronalds, in a very undignified rage, stamping his gold-headed cane upon the ground.

"What shall we do, John?" said Mrs. Walton, dismally.

"I'll tell you, mother," said John. "There is nothing for me to do here. We'll go to Brandon, where there are woolen mills. Then I can get a chance to work, and I'll rise, never fear. It is best for us to go."

Twenty-three years passed. To the barefooted boy they brought wonderful changes. At thirty-four he found himself superintendent of the mill where he had entered as a poor operative, earning a salary of five thousand dollars a year. He had built a handsome house over which his mother presided with matronly dignity. His sister Lizzie was the wife of a young physician in successful practice in the same town.

One winter evening they were all seated in a luxuriantly-furnished room before a glowing fire. His sister had come to spend the afternoon, but was prevented by the violent storm from returning to her own home.

"What a storm it is!" she exclaimed, shuddering. "I pity those who are out in it."

"Yes," said her brother, "it is the most violent storm of the year. The snow must be two feet deep at least. But we need not feel troubled. It is summer indoors."

"Who would have thought, John, we should come to live in such comfort,"

"WILL YOU GIVE ME SHELTER?"

said his mother. "Twenty years ago we were poorly off."

"I well remember it. It was a lucky thing we came to Brandon."

"So it has turned out. But I was alarmed when you quarreled with young Oscar Ronalds."

"I have forgiven him. The harm he intended has only done us good."

"Have you heard any thing of him lately?"

"Not lately. His father died ten years since, and I am told Oscar is very extravagant, that's all."

The storm increased in violence, shaking the house, firm and strong as it was. All at once the door-bell rang sharply.

"I'll go myself," said John. "The servant may not be able to close the door again."

He opened the front door, and a sharp cutting wind entered with a flurry of snow.

"Will you give me shelter?" said a faint voice.

It was a man who spoke, still young. He stepped in quite exhausted. John Walton closed the door.

"You have had a hard struggle with the storm, have you not?" he said.

"I have indeed. I am chilled to the bone."

"Come in to the fire," and John threw open the door of the sitting-room.

He perceived that the stranger had no overcoat, and appeared thoroughly chilled. Warm drinks were ordered, and in half an hour he was more comfortable. He looked thin and haggard, and his face bore the impress of dissipation.

He had more than once looked earnestly at John Walton. Finally he said abruptly:

"Will you tell me your name? Your face looks familiar."

"My name is John Walton."

"What?" said the other, with a start. "Did you live, when a boy, in the town of M——?"

"Yes, but I don't remember you."

"I am Oscar Ronalds," said the other, in a low voice.

"Is it possible?" exclaimed the three, and they involuntarily glanced at the ill-clad stranger.

"I see what you are thinking of. I don't look much like the boy you used to know. I have been wild and extravagant, and lost or squandered all my property. I have gone down hill—you have gone up."

"I am sorry for your misfortune," said John, kindly. "If I can be of service to you, I will."

"I came here, hoping to get the post of clerk, which I understood was vacant. If I had known you were here, I would not have come."

"And why?"

"Because you can not have forgotten my ill-treatment of you."

"It is not forgotten, but quite forgiven," said John Walton, kindly. "Unconsciously you did me a service. The clerkship you seek is mine to bestow. You shall have it, and I will guarantee your good conduct. The salary will be small, only eight hundred dollars."

"It will be a fortune to me, who am penniless. God bless you, John Walton, for your generosity. You shall not find your confidence ill-bestowed."

I have no more to tell, except that then and there began a new and better life for Oscar, who was after awhile promoted, and now has a modest and cheerful home of his own, with a good wife to add to his happiness. And this was John Walton's revenge, a noble and Christian revenge, the only one worth taking for an injury.—Horatio Alger, Jr., in Yankee Blade.

ON DIVERS TOPICS.

THE invention of smokeless powder has been followed by a counter-invention in the shape of a "smoke rocket," to be used to screen the advance of a body of troops. It has been tried with success.

A NEW element, named "damaris," is said to have been discovered in the crater of an extinct volcano in Damaraland. It is reported to have an atomic weight of only 0.5 or half that of hydrogen, and, therefore, it is the lightest known substance.

WHILE the heavy rain and hail-storm was passing over Mars Hill, Ga., lightning struck a small oak tree under which six horses were tied. The tree was completely shattered, but strange to say none of the horses were hurt. Several persons were also near, but they received only a slight shock.

PEOPLE are wondering in Santa Cruz County, Cal., about a shower of red-eyed worms which recently fell near San Andreas station during a rain-storm. The residents would like to know where the worms came from. They resembled grub worms, and were about an inch and a half long and white in color.

THERE are 208 clubs in the city of New York and very few have less than 200 names on their rolls. Some are purely social, while others mix politics or religion or literature or athletics with sociability. Some of them own great buildings and maintain expensive cuisines. Nearly every fourth adult man in New York is a member of a club.

A GENTLEMAN remarked in one of the hotels the other evening that he noticed during several years experience in a position requiring the use of a large amount of small change that for about six months of every year there are more pennies than he knows what to do with and during the remainder of the year it is almost impossible to get enough pennies to transact business.

"ENGLISH as she is writ" receives a curious illustration in the circular of a German manufacturer, which is headed: "1000 Mk. reward to any one who will procure me the proves of a falsification to be legally persecuted." The opening proceeds in the same style: "The surprising results produced by my new Gold-sizes encourage me asking you too to make a trial no doubt that you will at once derive from it the great advantages they present."

AN ingenious instrument called the telecone is now used to control any individual signal at any desired point on a main line circuit. It enables a signal to be exhibited at any point without interfering in any way with any other signals on the same circuit. It is worked by the ordinary transmitting key, and the Morse alphabet is used. The instrument can be advantageously used on telephone lines, patrol systems, and for many other purposes.

A SEAL recently caught in the River Parker by two fishermen of Newburyport, Mass., was a day or so afterwards returned to the river, "but it refused to be left behind and followed the men back to the wharf, crying to be taken into the boat. Finding it impossible to force the seal to leave them, they made a little house for it on one of the wharves, and every day since it has gone into the water to get food, returning at night to be locked up in its new quarters."

MECHANICAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

A DERRICK used by a shipping company at Hamburg can pick up a ten-wheeled locomotive with perfect ease.

A NEW industry in Southern California is mackerel fishing. The pack is yet small, but the fish are myriads in number.

ELECTRICITY is now used to clean files, and it is claimed that by its use they are restored almost to their original condition.

PAPER is now molded into spokes for carriage and wagon wheels. It is claimed to be both cheaper and better than wood for that purpose.

THE largest sheep ranch in the world is in the counties of Webb and Dimmet in Texas. It contains upwards of 400,000 acres and yearly pastures 800,000 sheep.

THE biggest plate glass factory in the world is soon to be established at Irwin, Pa., on the Pennsylvania railroad, by a syndicate of English and American capitalists, which, it is reported, has a capital of $50,000,000 at its disposal.

IT has never hitherto been found possible to make a drilling machine which would drill square, hexagonal, oblong and octagonal holes in metal, but such a tool has been devised and its appearance before the public is promised at no distant date.

A LIGNITE sugar refinery has been established in Philadelphia for utilizing "black strap," the refuse of molasses. Hitherto this substance has been used in making rum, but the product has always been in excess of the demand. The inventors claim that the process will revolutionize the sugar industry. It is clarified through pulverized lignite.

THE Journal of Commerce says: "In using a file there are shop hands who prefer to work with one side until it gets well worn out and then take up with the other, and, in order to keep the run of the sharp and dull sides, a piece of chalk is kept on the shelf to rub over the reversed side occasionally. We have just come across a shop hand who has bent the shank of his file for years, first one way, then the other, as fast as each side becomes worn out. The file sets better in the hand, and can never be used the wrong side up, and, on the whole, makes it more comfortable to work with."

WITH reference to a question put to the Academy of Medicine by the president of the commission of the Chamber of Deputies, Paris, relative to night work by women in the public factories, Dr. Rochard, reporter for the academy, replied that any law which would authorize women to work at night in the manufactories would produce most disastrous consequences on their health. At the last meeting of the Council of Public Hygiene, the law regulating the work of young girls was confirmed, by which it is forbidden to employ girls under sixteen years of age at sewing machines worked by means of pedals.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following
Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-26

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE.
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
Baby Carriages—The largest assortment in town.
4 DOORS BELOW POST OFFICE. 1-11-t

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp Electric Light Station.
12-20-y

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1885
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand, or MADE TO ORDER. 5-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 102. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 5-17

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.

BUY "GRAPHITE"
For your Safeties; reduced from 25c to 17c per Bottle.
Look at the PRICES on
Fishing Rods & Tackle,
Ball Goods,
Spratt's Dog Biscuits, &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
12 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, Diamond Rings, Gold Pens, Gold and Silverware. Don't forget the number. Sole Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles. 12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. H. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1st trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.32 A. M. | train. |
| 2d do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.37 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.24 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.08 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.25 P.M. | do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.39 | do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.03 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.32, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45, 4.34, 5.20, 6.20, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal Systems.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 53 A. M., 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach) week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 2 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 53 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 57 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 22, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 51, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—2 37, 5 38, 8 05, 8 32, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 39, 1 33, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 50, 3 30, 3 45, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 9 30, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 52, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 51, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 32, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 39, 1 70, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 30, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 08, 7 12, 7 34, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 16 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48, 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2, 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 22, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 02, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

5 20 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 28 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 21, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 02, a. m., 2 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 21, 7 05 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 02 a. m., 2 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 21, 7 05 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58*, a. m., 1 52*, 3 52*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 30*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58*, a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA,

Ninth and Green streets, 7 20*, 8 20*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 8 45, 12 p. m. Sundays—9 a. m., 12 50, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—8 10, 8 20*, 11 08, a. m., 12 02, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 9 25 a. m., 12 02, 3 20, 6 18, 8

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

WE HAVE HAD A LARGER

Trade this season than ever before; simply because we have increased our stock and variety, likewise keeping up sizes as near as possible.

We still have a good variety of Russet goods. They will be worn for outdoor use until the middle of September. THEN, if they are still in good order, make a very comfortable house shoe for Winter.

We close our store 7 P. M., (except Saturday). Please make your purchases accordingly.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

Man wants but little here below—
And don't want that little very long.

Only in a pair of Shoes they want them LONG enough for comfort, and also want them to wear a LONG time. They will surely do it if you buy them of

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Lady Jane
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N. J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-3-tf

TRAINS IN MOTION

The Firemen Refuse to Join the Strikers.

ALL QUIET ALONG THE ROAD.

The Central Officials Claim that the Strike is Nearly Ended.

The Knights of Labor Leaders Still Confident of Winning—Pinkerton Detectives Charge on the Strikers at East Syracuse—Two Freight Wrecks Caused by Carelessness.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The situation has not changed at this point of the New York Central Railroad strike. At the Grand Central Depot trains are arriving and departing nearly on time. Neither Holland, Hayes nor Lee were to be found.

Vice-President Webb was seen. He said the latest advices from Syracuse were that the yards there and at Dewitt were in the hands of the military and the Pinkertons, and that trains were moving all right.

During the day many men applied for reinstatement. Mr. Webb said that the Croton locals, comprising ninety trains, would start again. The Spuyten Duyvil's locals, eight trains, will also start again.

The Central officials declare that the backbone of the strike is broken and that the entire business of the road will be in good shape within 48 hours. The strikers did not make the slightest attempt to interfere with the making up or dispatching of freight trains, and the 1,500 policemen on guard over the company's property had nothing to do but spend their time in dignified leisure.

The trains on the New York, New Haven & Hartford road were all on time.

No word had come from Mr. Depew, but Cyrus Field called and approved of Mr. Webb's actions. Several other directors expressed satisfaction.

Strikers Full of Hope.

The strikers are full of hope, notwithstanding the statement of the company that they could get all the men they needed.

The strikers say that in any strike of such magnitude as the present one it is impossible to prevent some people from going to work, but as matters stand at present the outlook is very favorable to them.

Chief Arthur Against the Strike.

A prominent member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said that Chief Arthur had sent on a dispatch saying that the strike was none of the Brotherhood's business. This is understood by the engineers to mean that the Brotherhood should take no part in the strike.

The Number of Men Out.

District Master Workmen E. J. Lee informed the newspaper reporters that between here and Buffalo there were about 8,000 men out. Reports received by him from all along the line show everything to be in good condition. In his opinion those men who have not gone out lean very strongly toward the strikers.

The West Shore.

Everything is quiet at the West Shore depot and yards in Weehawken. Deputy sheriffs are patrolling the yards and guarding the company's property.

There are now about 90 men of the West Shore Company on strike.

The officials of the West Shore are inclined to be reticent when questioned about the strike, and but little or no information can be learned from them.

It was rumored that if an attempt were made to ship New York Central freight over the West Shore Road a general strike would be ordered. Superintendent Bradley said that as yet no freight from the New York Central had been offered, but that the West Shore Road would receive all that came.

VERY QUIET AT ALBANY.

The Confidence of the Men Annoying the Railroad Officials.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—At the railroad yards both in this city and at West Albany everything is extremely quiet and the men are not to be found near the railroad. This seems to annoy both the railroad people and Detective Pinkerton, both of whom are at a loss to know what it means. The confidence of the men seems to say that the engineers and firemen are with them and a complete shut down is evidently anticipated by the railroad company.

A committee of the strikers waited upon Attorney-General Tabor for his opinion as to the legality of the Pinkerton men being allowed to patrol under arms. He decided that the railroad could have them as long as they remained upon their property, but if any of them intruded on the public streets they were liable for arrest.

While the railroad sends out flowery statements from New York that they are afraid is evidenced by the fact that carpenters have began erecting berths in the car shops for the occupancy of the militia that may be quartered at West Albany.

Last evening a train on the Central bound for Troy was stopped at the Iron Works. After warning the trainmen that if they attempted to run after dark they would be stoned, the train was allowed to proceed.

A committee of the strikers held a conference with Delaware & Hudson managers, and they refused to aid the Central road. About the same time Sheriff Rooney was notified by the Central road that their West Albany shops were in danger, and that they should expect him to furnish protection. The important switches at Albany were filled with three sets of men, each set going out when annealed to by the strikers. Five switches are without any care, and the others are under green hands and an accident is probable at any time.

The Situation at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The New York Central yards and depot here show little evidence of the strike except in the handling of trains at the depot, where the lack of experienced switchmen and switch tenders was apparent. Trains were somewhat delayed, but as the day wore on they came in closer to the time.

NO STRIKE IN NEW JERSEY.

Trouble Avoided by the Roads Refusing to Handle Central Business.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 12.—A spirit of uneasiness pervaded the managers of the various lines leading out of this city.

Sympathetic strikes were rumored, and the eagerness with which all the railroad employes about the yards discussed the situation showed that such a complication was imminent.

The employes of the Erie, Pennsylvania and New Jersey Central Roads had no grievances of their own, but they would not work against their brethren on strike by handling any New York Central freight. The companies promptly averted this possible source of danger by refusing to receive any freight from that line.

About the yards matters were very quiet. All freight was being handled expeditiously and without delay.

As the trains came in the trainmen gathered in little groups and discussed the situation with the yardmen, and many a whispered consultation was held. But throughout the day everything was quiet, and it was the prevailing opinion that there would be no strike.

NO TROUBLE WEST.

The Railroad Men at Chicago Do Not Belong to the Knights.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—So far as present indications go there is no possible chance of the strike on the New York Central road affecting the Chicago roads belonging to the system, where at present the trouble is raging.

The situation is this: The fight now going on is one backed by the Knights of Labor. West of Buffalo there are no railroad men members of that organization or, more properly speaking, no assembly of railroaders belonging to that body. The jurisdiction of the Knights of Labor does not therefore extend to Chicago. Railroad men here belong to what is known as the Federated Railway Organization and, if anything, are not very friendly to the Knights, on account of previous stands taken by them during railroad troubles in this city.

Grand Master Sweeny, of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association, positively asserted that "there will be no strike in Chicago. The Knights of Labor will have to fight it out alone, and they have no jurisdiction whatever on any of the lines centering here. The Council of the Federated Railway Organization alone can order a strike, and that at present is not even remotely probable, or even possible."

WRECK ON THE CENTRAL.

The Result of a Blunder in the Order Given to Two Trains.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 12.—A bad freight smash-up occurred on the Auburn division of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad at Railroad Mills, about 25 miles east of this city. At 12:40 p. m. regular freight No. 42 collided with an extra freight train at that point. Both engines were completely demolished. About 20 cars were wrecked. Two cars actually leaped over the telegraph wires along the track and tore them down. The regular train was in charge of Conductor Addison and the extra was in charge of Conductor Bath. The accident was the result of a blunder in the orders given to the two trains.

A list of the killed and injured follows: Fireman George Lightheart, pinned under the tender; both legs broken. He died in a few minutes from internal hemorrhage; Brakeman Fred Harris, head injured, doubtful; George Horstler, back hurt, hopeful; Engineer Louis Palmer, jumped; badly hurt; Engineer Jesse Dansey, probably dead.

Pinkerton Detectives in Troy.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Fifty Pinkerton men are scattered along the tracks here. There is not the slightest necessity for their presence, and they are likely to precipitate trouble. The freight trains are motionless on the Central Hudson, but the Fitchburg company is meeting with no difficulty in moving both freight and passenger traffic. Not more than half a hundred persons are hanging around the depot, and the strikers are not molesting any of the new hands.

Trains Pass Poughkeepsie on Time.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug 12.—This city is suffering from an ice famine brought on by the Central strike. The local dealers have consignments of ice on the way here which have been delayed by the strike. The hotels and estaurants are suffering greatly and some of them may have to close. Railroad officials here say that the backbone of the strike has been broken. All trains to-day have passed along nearly on time. Everything is quiet between New York and Albany.

Detectives Drive Strikers Back.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Last evening 50 Pinkerton detectives and 100 railroad men went to East Syracuse. The Pinkertons formed in line and cleared the yard, the strikers yielding without a struggle. It was reported that the strikers were advised by their leaders at Albany to surrender, on having word from Governor Hill that the military would be ordered to East Syracuse at once if the running of all trains was not permitted. Mr. Holland is here.

VETERANS IN LINE

Grand Army Men Have a Big Day in Boston.

200,000 STRANGERS IN THE CITY.

The Streets Resound With Martial Music and Boys in Blue Everywhere.

The President Given an Enthusiastic Reception—Accompanied to the Hotel by an Escort of Cavalry—Surrounded by His Cabinet and Many Generals He Reviews the Great Parade.

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The great Grand Army parade took place to-day and the encampment was formally opened.

Over 200,000 strangers are in the city and the streets have not been so crowded since the quarter-millenial celebration ten years ago.

The street scenes of to-day have been of the most picturesque and stirring description. One cannot walk the length of a block down town without meeting a score of soldiers.

Music, too, is heard at every turn. Washington street, especially from Dover street north, is thronged with strangers, who lounge along the sidewalk, stopping here and there to study a particularly attractive decoration.

The familiar blue of the Grand Army uniform dots the moving mass of black and gray, into which white and gayer hues are mixed.

President Harrison, surrounded by members of his Cabinet and generals of the army, reviewed the parade.

RECEIVING THE PRESIDENT.

Enthusiastic Multitudes Greet the Chief Magistrate With Cheers.

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—As the Baltimore, flying the President's flag and carrying the President, Secretaries Rusk and Noble and Private Secretary Halford, entered Boston harbor she was met by other vessels of the fleet, the Atlanta, Kearsarge, Petrel, Yorktown, Dolphin and the torpedo boat Cushing, all save the Kearsarge and Cushing firing salutes. The revenue cutter Gallatin, with Governor Brackett, Collector Beard and Mr. and Mrs. McKee on board, escorted her to her anchorage. Mayor Hart and other members of the city government also went down the harbor in the J. Putnam Bradlee to welcome the Chief Magistrate, while Mrs. Noble and other ladies were on board the Vigilant.

President Harrison landed amid the thunder of cannon at Rowe's wharf, and was escorted to the Hotel Vendome by the first battalion of cavalry, Major Horace G. Kemp commanding, the route being through Broad, State, Washington, School, Tremont, Boylston and Dartmouth streets. The sidewalks and windows along the line of march, which was nearly two miles long, were packed with enthusiastic multitudes, who greeted the President with handclapping and cheers. The President rode with Gov. Brackett in a carriage drawn by four dark bays. He carried his hat in his hand and bowed right and left at the greetings of the throngs. Behind rode Secretaries Rusk and Noble, and in the third carriage were Private Secretary Halford and members of the Governor's staff.

At the Vendome a battallion of the First Corps of Cadets was drawn up in waiting, and as the Presidential party alighted quickly opened an avenue to the State entrance of the hotel, the President mounting the steps arm in arm with Governor Brackett. The Cadets were then detailed to guard the various approaches to the President's apartments and the reception room.

A few minutes having been allowed the visitors to remove the marks of travel, the party proceeded to the state dining hall, where two long tables were arranged lengthwise of the room, with a third one across the upper end of the hall. At the latter Governor Brackett occupied the place of honor, and the State's guest, President Harrison, at his right with Secretary Proctor on his left. Also seated at the table were Secretary Noble, Secretary Rusk, Governor Leon Abbett of New Jersey and Lieutenant-Governor Hallo of Massachusetts. The adornments of the tables and hall were profuse and elegant. The table decorations were handsome, the masterpiece being a fac simile of the White House and the State House in white sugar.

The company sat down shortly before 7 o'clock and it was past 8 when Governor Brackett broke the almost painful stillness that had prevailed throughout the entire feast, with the announcement that carriages were waiting. This was the only audible speech that was made during the entire banquet, the entire absence of speechmaking being one of the conditions upon which the President accepted the invitation to a State banquet. The party under the escort of the Governor were then driven to the Parker House, where they attended a reception given by the E. W. Kinsley Post of Boston to Lafayette Post 149 of New York.

Hiring Men in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—About 200 men have been hired in this city by a representative of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. The men are not told to what point they will be sent, the usual answer being: "You will learn when you get on the train." The Pinkerton Detective Agency here is also hiring men to act as "guards," who are being sent East with the men hired by the railroad representative. About 100 men have been hired thus far.

Cars Wrecked and Burned.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—A collision between two freight trains occurred at Clark Mills, six miles from this city, on the West Shore road, about 3 a. m. Several of the cars were wrecked and catching fire were burned. No one was injured.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 1 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1— | 7 |
| Cincinnati | 1 | 1 | 3 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0— | 9 |

Batteries—Beatin and Zimmer; Mullane and Harrington.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 4— | 14 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0— | 4 |

Batteries—Clarkson and Bennett; Vickery and Clements.

AT PITTSBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0— | 6 |
| Chicago | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 4 |

Batteries—Phillips and Decker; Stein and Nagle.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0— | 3 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 0 |

Batteries—Welch and Clarke; Terry and Daly.

Players' League.

AT CHICAGO—FIRST GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0— | 9 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4— | 5 |

Batteries—Baldwin and Doyle; Cunningham and Mack.

SECOND GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4— | 7 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 4— | 8 |

Batteries—Baldwin and Boyle; Twitchell and Mack.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 2— | 7 |
| Brooklyn | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 1 |

Batteries—Daley and Murphy; Sowders and Cook.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 3 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 3 | 0 | 0— | 11 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 6 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 6 | 1 | 0 | x— | 15 |

Batteries—O'Day and Brown; Knell and Hallman.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 2 | 3 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1— | 11 |
| Pittsburg | 3 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | x— | 9 |

Batteries—O'Brien and Sutcliffe; Tener and Carroll.

American Association.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0— | 6 |
| Athletic | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0— | 5 |

Batteries—Smith and Welch; McMahon and Baldwin.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 0 | 0 | 6 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 3 | 0— | 15 |
| Brooklyn | 3 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0— | 9 |

Batteries—Stivetts and Ramsey; Daily and Pitz.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEWARK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Newark | 2 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 5 |
| Hartford | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 2 |

Batteries—Fitzgerald and Murphy; Staib and Stallings.

AT LEBANON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0— | 6 |
| Lebanon | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0— | 2 |

Batteries—German and Townsend; Price and Gulp.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 2 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 1— | 9 |
| Wilmington | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 0 |

Batteries—Homer and Hofford; Anderson and Corcoran.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | 2,525 | 2,085 |
| Chicago | 3,446 | ..... |
| New York | 1,985 | 904 |
| Pittsburg | ..... | 1,125 |
| Cleveland | 803 | 950 |
| Totals | 8,759 | 5,064 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 60 | 30 | .667 | Chicago | 47 | 44 | .516 |
| Philadel. | 57 | 34 | .624 | N. York | 39 | 52 | .429 |
| Boston | 56 | 34 | .630 | Clevl'nd | 27 | 63 | .300 |
| Cincin'ti | 55 | 35 | .611 | Pitts'rg | 19 | 70 | .213 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 53 | 35 | .602 | Philadel. | 50 | 42 | .543 |
| Brookl'n | 54 | 41 | .569 | Pitsb'rg | 39 | 45 | .464 |
| Chicago | 50 | 42 | .543 | Clev'l'nd | 38 | 49 | .437 |
| N. York | 48 | 42 | .533 | Buffalo | 25 | 60 | .291 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'le | 56 | 31 | .644 | Col'mb's | 44 | 44 | .500 |
| St. Louis | 50 | 36 | .586 | Toledo | 41 | 43 | .488 |
| Athletic | 47 | 42 | .528 | Syracuse | 36 | 51 | .414 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 41 | .529 | Brookl'n | 27 | 60 | .310 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 65 | 23 | .739 | Wash't'n | 37 | 45 | .452 |
| N. Hav'n | 58 | 24 | .707 | Harrish'g | 34 | 53 | .380 |
| Newark | 48 | 36 | .571 | Wilm'n'n | 30 | 54 | .345 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 36 | .526 | Hartford | 21 | 60 | .25 |

Schedule of To-day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Brooklyn, at New York.
Philadelphia vs. Boston; at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Cincinnati, at Cleveland.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Pittsburg.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

New York vs. Philadelphia, at New York.
Boston vs. Brooklyn, at Boston.
Chicago vs. Buffalo, at Chicago.
Cleveland vs. Pittsburg, at Cleveland.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Athletics, at Toledo.
Columbus vs. Rochester, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Syracuse, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Brooklyn, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Newark vs. Hartford, at Newark.
Lebanon vs. Baltimore, at Lebanon.
New Haven vs. Wilmington, at New Haven.
Harrisburg vs. Washington, at Harrisburg

Mediation Refused by Ezeta.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 12.—A dispatch says that President Ezeta, of Salvador, has refused to accept any mediation from any power until he is fully recognized as the chosen provisional President of Salvador. It is understood in official circles here that recognition will first be made by the United States before any offer of mediation will be made by the latter or by Mexico in the trouble between Salvador and Guatemala.

A Well Known Driver Released.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 12.—C. J. Hamlin and his driver, W. J. Andrews have parted company. They came to words after Mr. Hamlin's pacer Wardwell won the second heat of the 2:11 pace in the unlooked for time of 2:15½ and the result was Mr. Andrews dismissal.

Pritchard and McCarthy to Fight.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A special cable says a fight has been arranged between Ted Pritchard, of England, and Billy McCarthy, of Australia, for a purse of £250 and the middle-weight champion ship of England. The fight is to be decided at the Pelican Club during the first week in October.

OVER NINETY YEARS

Cardinal Newman Succumbs to Pneumonia.

END OF A REMARKABLE CAREER.

The Venerable Prelate Retained His Intellectual Powers to the Last.

The Pope Notified of His Death—His Body Lying in State To-day at the Oratory Church—The Date of the Funeral Not Yet Fixed—A Tribute from the London Times.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Cardinal Newman is dead. He was in the ninetieth year year of his age, and was created a cardinal in 1879.

He became ill on Saturday, when he had a severe chill. He passed into a comatose condition on Sunday and remained unconscious until he died.

The date of the funeral is not yet fixed, but it will most probably take place in the cemetery attached to the retreat of the Fathers of the Oratory at Redual, in the Lickey Hills in Worcestershire, a favorite summer residence of the deceased Cardinal.

The body will lie in state from noon to-day in the Oratory church. The death of his Eminence has been telegraphed to the Pope and to Cardinal Manning.

His death marks the end of a most extraordinary literary and politico-religious period. Only a few of his old antagonists remain, notably Mr. Gladstone, who was ever ready to enter into the arena of polemics with the Cardinal. Like Cardinal Manning, John Newman actually thought himself and then wrote himself out of the Established Church of England and into the Church of Rome.

In 1843 Dr. Newman resigned his living in the Church of England, and in 1845 joined the Roman Catholic Church, of which he was soon after, in Rome, ordained a deacon. When he returned to England he established a branch of the Congregation of the Oratory of St. Philip Neri, Birmingham, of which he was appointed the superior.

From 1852 to 1857 he was rector of the Catholic University, Dublin. Returning then to Birmingham, he resumed his residence at the Oratory, and in connection with which he established a school of higher studies.

The Times this morning devotes much space in its editorial columns to the late Cardinal. It says:

"A great man has passed away, a great link with the past has been broken. At ninety years of age, full of years, full of honor, but not of honors, in the obscurity of his almost private home the great man receives his last summons and quietly obeys. The most interesting chapter in our history closes with his death; and a life that bears strange testimony to the permanence of certain types in human nature becomes a part of the past. Once more the world is reminded of the degree in which respect and love still attach to the saintly life, when it is coupled with one or another kind of intellectual leadership."

A CENSUS REPORT SOON.

Figuring on the Apportionment for Representation in the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Superintendent Porter says he will make a report, which will go to Congress, showing the net population of the States, some time during the last week of this month. It is believed that a bill providing for the reapportionment of Congressional representation can be introduced from the Committee on Census by the second week in September.

The apportionment for representation of membership of the House will probably be fixed at 180,000 souls, the present basis being one member for every 157,000 or fraction thereof. The intention is to not increase the membership of the House over 25, and it is estimated that on the basis of 180,000 the membership of the House will be about 325.

Natural Gas Explosion.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Aug. 12.—At 9 a. m. a terrific explosion of natural gas occurred near Ogden's graveyard, two and one-half miles south of Waldron, causing great excitement throughout the county. Ten acres of land were torn to pieces. The flat rock bottom of the river was blown up, and large stones were thrown fully half a mile from the scene. The gas is burning fifteen feet high from the centre of the river and from fifty or more points of the land. The whole country is excited, and no means are known by which the flow of burning gas may be stopped.

Machinists Strike for Nine Hours.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—Two thousand five hundred machinists and skilled mechanics struck for nine hours for a day's labor, with ten hours pay rule. About 1,500 of the strikers are employed by the Westinghouse Electric Company and the Westinghouse Machine Company. The remainder were employed at various shops in Allegheny City and Pittsburg. Several firms in both cities have acceded the demands and the strike will probably be of short duration.

A Saloon Keeper Found Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—James Scalze, a saloon keeper on the aqueduct at Anowalk, N. Y., was found dead at the foot of a high embankment at that place. He had a quarrel yesterday with some unknown men and the police think he was murdered.

A Mine on Fire.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—At an early hour the mine operated by M. S. Kemmerer & Company, at Sandey Run, was discovered to be on fire. The fire is still burning. The loss is as yet unknown.

THE DEAD EDITOR.

The Funeral of John Boyle O'Reilly to Take Place To-morrow.

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The funeral of John Boyle O'Reilly will take place to-morrow. Thousands of telegrams of sympathy have been received from prominent Irishmen throughout the country.

A dispatch from Bar Harbor says that Cardinal Gibbons, on being informed of John Boyle O'Reilly's death, said: "It is a public calamity. Not only a great loss to the entire country, but also to the church and humanity in general." Turning away he added: "It's a great loss, a great loss." Archbishop Ryan seemed greatly shocked and said: "Humanity can ill spare such a man as John Boyle O'Reilly from the foremost ranks. It is indeed a painful surprise." Secretary Blaine seemed painfully surprised to hear of the death, but made no comment.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—A meeting of the Parnellite members was held in the House of Commons to give expression to their sorrow at the death of John Boyle O'Reilly. Resolutions were passed expressing regret that he had not been spared to return from his patriotic exile in the day of his country's freedom.

THE MURDERER IN COURT.

Bigamist Day Held for Pushing His Wife Over a Precipice.

NIAGARA FALLS, Aug. 12.—"Killed by being thrown over the bank by her husband, Arthur Hoyt Day," was the verdict in the preliminary examination of the murder case brought to light Sunday, and Mrs. Mary Quigley, sister of the dead woman's husband, was held as a witness.

Early in the day the accused man, Arthur Day, was brought to Niagara Falls, Ont., where the examination was held. The clothes of his wife were brought into court, but he appeared not to recognize them. He listened to the testimony of his sister without a change in his features, afterward questioning her on some points. He strongly resembles Birchell, the murderer of F. C. Benwell, who coolly stood his trial in the same court room last spring. The body of the murdered woman was buried at Niagara Falls. Day was taken to the county jail at Welland to await trial in October.

FOUND A FORTUNE.

The Money Returned to the Owner and No Reward Accepted.

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 12.—While passing through the observation car attached to his train, W. H. McCartney, a passenger conductor on the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, noticed an old pocket-book lying on the floor. He picked it up, and on opening it, found bills and checks aggregating $158,000.

He made enquiry, and soon found the owner, who proved to be a Kansas City cattle raiser returning from a successful trip to the east. He offered to reward Mr. McCartney quite handsomely, but that gentleman refused to accept anything.

Two Men Killed by Runaway Horses.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Thomas J. Wansor, the driver of a team drawing staves, and Charles von Strömer, who was riding with him, were killed at Glen Cove, L. I., by the running away of the team.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Joseph King was killed in Burlington, Vt., by the bank of an excavation caving in on him.

Crops, especially corn and tobacco, in southern and southeastern Connecticut were ruined by the recent storms.

E. W. B. Canning, the well-known educator and writer of prose and poetry, died suddenly at Stockbridge, Mass. He was 75 years old.

A statement just issued shows that the net earnings of the New York and New England Railroad for the year ending June 30th are $2,071,284.

The firm of Whitall, Tatum & Co. of Millville, N. J., have signed the green glass scale adopted by the Baltimore convention. They have also employed enough blowers to run every factory.

A party of Italians employed in Washburn Bros.' brickyard at Glasco, N. Y., engaged in a dance in the rear of a saloon there. Near midnight a quarrel ensued, in which knives, stilettos and pistols were freely used. One of the men was killed and another fatally wounded. Four of the Italians engaged in the affair have made their escape.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—For New England: Fair; northerly winds; stationary temperature, except in western portion slightly warmer.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware: Fair weather; northerly winds; slightly warmer except in Northern New York, stationary temperature.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Fair; warmer; northeasterly winds, shifting to southeasterly.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Money on call to-day 7 and 8 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Saturday. | Closing To-day |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg. | 104 | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup. | 104 | 104 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg. | 124½ | 124½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup. | 124½ | 124½ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Saturday. | Closing To-day |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | — | 78¾ |
| Central Pacific | — | 35 |
| Chicago, Bur & Quincy | 103½ | 102 |
| Delaware & Hudson | — | 161 |
| Del., Lack. & Western | 145¼ | 143¾ |
| Erie | 25½ | 25 |
| Erie pref. | — | — |
| Lake Shore | 108⅞ | 108⅝ |
| Louis. & Nash. | 85¾ | 85¾ |
| Michigan Central | 95 | 94⅝ |
| Missouri Pacific | 70¼ | 67 |
| New Jersey Central | — | 122 |
| Northwestern | 110 | 109¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | — | 101 |
| Pacific Mail | 45¼ | 43 |
| Reading | 43⅝ | 43 |
| Rock Island | 77¾ | 76¾ |
| St. Paul | 71⅝ | 71 |
| Union Pacific | 50⅝ | 50⅝ |
| Western Union | 83½ | 82 |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—There will be a donkey party at The Netherwood, to-morrow evening, and a phantom party on Thursday evening.

—More than half of 1890 is gone, but we still have a half-dozen mosquitoes. They never sang louder nor bit harder.

—The Carpenters' and Joiners' will hold their regular meeting this evening at eight o'clock, in Jr. O. U. A. M., Hall.

—Anyone who has lost a pocketbook containing a sum of money, may hear of it by applying to Sergeant Lynch of the police force.

—The exact population of the United States by the new census returns will not be known for some time, but it will be very close to 64,000,000.

—The congregation of the First Church of Christ will spend to-morrow in solid enjoyment at Boynton Beach. They will journey in Hand's stages.

—The Plainfield Crescent League will meet in adjourned meeting, to-morrow evening, in Laing's Hall. A report of the Board of Trustees in the matter of a new club house, is expected.

—A man from South Plainfield tried to maintain possession of the entire length and breadth of Plainfield avenue, last night, but was unsuccessful. This morning he was fined five dollars for intoxication.

—An observing mathematician calculates that the man who makes good resolutions and keeps them to himself holds out faithfully ten times, where the man who parades his good intentions holds out once.

—Messrs Yose and Conover took a four horse stage load of people from North Plainfield, this morning, to Boynton Beach for a day's outing. They will also take another load from North Plainfield to-morrow.

—The days are an hour shorter than a month since. It will soon be time to hustle up the stoves again, so bear the heat as easily as possible. It will be cold enough by the time you get a car load of coal hauled home—and paid for.

—During the morning service, Sunday, in the Bound Brook Reformed church, a portion of the ceiling fell and striking Mr. Conover on the arm badly bruised him. A PRESS correspondent writes: "The officers of the church arose and left precipitately."

—One of the old barns on the Gardner estate on East Front street, just above the Stiles building, collapsed yesterday, and a portion of it was carried away by the water of the raceway over which it stood. The barns have been landmarks a long time.

—Hunting's circus orchestra, in a big gilded chariot, passed through the streets today and furnished music for the populace. On Somerset and Front streets the horses at the hitching-posts became so turbulent at the sound of the instruments that a curious effect in frequent sudden tootings and frequent sudden stoppages was produced.

—Those who would like to attend the great parade of the subordinate councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M., at Asbury Park on August 20, can have tickets at reduced rates by applying to the members of the council in this city. The train will leave Elizabeth at 8 A. M., and Asbury Park at 10 P. M. They will go via., the Pensylvania railroad.

—The Plainfield fisherman who are always complaining about the scarcity of bait may be interested in knowing that a good way to secure angle-worms for bait is to make a strong solution of salt water and sprinkle it over the ground thoroughly where the worms are likely to be found, when they will speedily crawl out. This is a method that involves no labor, and discounts the use of a spade on a warm day, a consideration of exceeding importance to Reed, Rockfellow, Vanderbeek, Swalm, Stelle, et als.

—The workmen engaged in cleaning out the sewer-basins along the streets of this city, seem to consider it a part of their duty to act as a society for the dissemination of disagreeable odors. Instead of removing the malodorous excavated material promptly they string it along in great heaps by the curbing and let it lie, offending sensitive nostrils, as long as possible. Yesterday the point of offense was the corner of Park avenue and Front street. Today it is the Park avenue railroad bridge. It is impossible however, to cast it away until it drains dry.

—The District Messenger office is undergoing repairs. It is said that the messenger boys are to be provided with new suits and bicycles.

—Some one has started the yarn that there is a worm in the end of each ear of sweet corn. It is described as 1½ inches in length, dressed in seal brown, and has two rows of strong legs.

—A game of base ball will be played on the Crescent League grounds Thursday afternoon between the Centrals, a colored nine, and the Athletics, both Plainfield teams. The game will be called at 3:30

—Attorney-General Stockton has written a letter to a member of an election board in Warren county, saying that in his opinion no election officer can be appointed a member of the Board of Registration by the Chairman of the County Committee.

—The Plainfield Hod Carriers' Union was organized at St. Mary's Hall, their regular place of meeting, Monday night. Officers were elected as follows: President—Patrick Bergen; Vice President—N. Kelly; Secretary, Thomas Brown; Treasurer—James Muldowney; Sergeant-at-Arms—John Burns. The Union has thirty-seven members.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. R. B. Rogers of Madison avenue, is visiting friends at Patchogue, L. I.

Miss Freeman of Rahway, is visiting at the home of Wm. C. Ayers, West Second street.

S. Clinton Crane and Arthur B. Crane, of East Second street, are at Ocean Grove.

Miss Madge Sutphen of West Second street will start to-morrow for Mt. Pocono.

Mrs. Andrew W. Johnson and son Russell, of the Borough, are at White's, Asbury Park.

City Treasurer Al. Shotwell of Fargo, with his family, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Miln of Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kellogg and daughter, and Mr. A. V. Searing, are visiting relatives at Hempstead, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Dunn of East Seventh street are expected home from an extended Western tour next week.

Miss Ethel Williamson of Califon, Hunterdon county, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mary Hoffman, of West Front street.

Ex-Councilman Slater, wife and niece, Lottie A. Morse, started yesterday by the Fall River Line for a two weeks' outing at Wallarston Heights, Boston, Mass.

John Mosher, manager of the Alfred, N. Y., Sun, spent a few days last week with his brother, Elias Mosher, of East Fourth street. The former had not been in Plainfield for eighteen years.

Wm. F. Grover, representing Miss Cora Tanner, who will be seen at Music Hall Wednesday of next week in her new play, "One Error," arrived in town this morning to pave the way for his star.

Capt. Ben. Doane and son-in-law, J. Hervey Doane of LaGrande avenue, accompanied by Miss Beatrice Craig of West Fourth street, are enjoying the Atlantic breezes at the Leadly, Asbury Park.

George Taylor and Charles Watt, of Netherwood, sail at noon today on the "Alaska." They will go to Ireland. Mr. Taylor will return with his family in October, while Mr. Watt will probably be back sooner.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Berry of Craig place, are today observing, in a quiet way, the sixty-first anniversary of their wedding day. They are surrounded by their children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Owing to the illness of one of the great-grandchildren, no attempt at elaborate celebration of the event was made, but all are pleasantly enjoying the day.

The Picnic at Mt. Bethel.

Last evening the "Scattered Four" held their first grand picnic of the season at Mt. Bethel Hall, a large number being in attendance from this city. The music for the occasion was furnished by Prof. S. D. Frazee, and the young people tripped the light fantastic until the wee sma' hours of the morning. The picnic passed off quietly nothing occurring to mar the pleasure of the evening. During the evening supper was served by the proprietor of the hotel, Eugene L. Pavillard, to which the young people did justice. About forty couple took part in the grand march. Those having the matter in charge were E. Apgar, J. Carty, P. Blimm and W. Boss. The affair proved a financial success.

End of the Order of American Firemen.

At a meeting of the Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association last night the report of a committee appointed at the last regular meeting to confer with a like committee from the Order of American Firemen, as read. The report recommended that the Exempt Association assume the proprietorship of the furniture and pictures left by the disbanded Order of American Firemen and also assume their debts. The report was received, and the recommendation was adopted. Most of the members of the O. A. F. are already members of the Exempt Association, and those who are not will probably join.

Much injury is done by the use of irritating, griping compounds taken as purgatives. In Ayer's Pills, the patient has a mild but effective cathartic, that can be confidently recommended alike for the most delicate patients as well as the most robust.

Luck Thrust Upon a Morris County Farmer.

Everybody has seen and admired Palmer Skillman's big gray coach horse. Its mysterious disappearance was told of exclusively in THE PRESS some week's ago. The camps of the outlying gypsies and the stables and barns of the vicinity, were thoroughly searched by amateur and professional detectives actuated by a tempting $50 reward. Still no trace was discovered anywhere.

The owner, who is occupying the handsome home called "Norwood," on Somerset street, had given up all hopes of getting back the horse which was valued at $1,200. It was supposed that thieves had dyed the animal in a way to disguise it, and had subsequently sold it. The family were compelled to content themselves with their bob-tailed span of cobs, and their stylish surrey horse.

But the big gray has been found. It strayed into the fields of a Chatham farmer who kept it and advertised for an owner in the Morris county papers. When Mr. Skillman heard of this he applied at the address given, identified his horse and presented the farmer with $50. The latter used the money towards lifting a mortgage off his little property.

Marshal Rutledge's Club Again.

Another offender arrested in the Borough and brought before Mayor Place last evening, accused Marshal Rutledge of clubbing him. It is about time that the Marshal should be notified that he must stop his too free use of his club or it will be taken away from him.

The prisoner mentioned was accused by the Marshal with being drunk and disorderly, and of threatening him. The Marshal had no witnesses, so the accused could not have been very disorderly nor have "exposed" himself much when there was no one in sight, and it was after dark of Saturday. The Marshal said that the prisoner threatened to cut his throat.

The accused was too teutonic to entirely understand the Mayor and the Marshal. He said, however, in a general way to the latter: "You vas a lie!" A companion of the accused testified that he heard him say to the Marshal: "I'll gut your drote of you clup me some more, already!" This witness whose name was John Bremmer, also said to the Marshal: "Don't you hit him!"

The Mayor fined the accused $10, and $2.50 costs. It was paid on the spot.

Fought Over a Game of Cards.

Jacob A. Clark and Alfred J. Upton were enjoying a game of cards in Bock's saloon, a few evenings ago, when a dispute arose and Clark made an uncomplimentary remark concerning Upton's veracity. As a quick and effective way of responding to the assertion Upton struck Clark heavily between the eyes. The sharp seal of his ring cut Clark's nose open, and Clark went outside, bled several pints of blood, and sought out Justice Nash, in whose office he bled another pint. On Clark's complaint Upton was arrested and held under bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury. Yesterday Upton, who had admitted Clark's charge, made a counter-complaint that Clark had stabbed him in the hand with a knife. Clark denies the accusation, but will have to furnish bonds for the Grand Jury.

Attracted to the Crescent City of New Jersey.

The following are the arrivals at Hotel Netherwood during the past week:

Hugh Taylor, Belfast, Ireland; Thos. M. Gale and family, E. J. Stellwagen and wife, Washington, D. C.; E. H. Gregory, Miss S. Gregory, Miss M. C. Gregory, St. Louis; Geneva Armstrong, Fayetteville, N. Y.; Chas. Wallace, Philadelphia, Pa.; Wm. S. Righter, Newark, N. J.; Miss A. B. Foote, Elizabeth, N. J.; G. W. Plum, Thos. H. Cole, A. H. Combs, C. W. Morrell, F. Fleirtman, Jere Beall, F. S. Jordan and family, F. S. VanHorn, Miss Lizzie Reed, Mrs. E. B. Marcose, Miss B. Marcose, Mrs. S. R. Jaques and son, Mr. F. A. Dana and wife, Mr. S. G. Nelson and wife, New York city; Mrs. Andersen, son and nurse, Mrs. M. Galway, Brooklyn, N. Y.

An Equine Disrobes Himself.

A horse belonging to a Washingtonville farmer got tired of standing still in front of a Park avenue store this morning and began to unharness himself for his own amusement and the edification of the public. After successfully removing his head stall he began straining at his collar, and made several futile efforts to walk away from his harness altogether. The current of life among the Park avenue clerks was so feeble that not until all had watched the equine exhibition several minutes did one of them shake off his apathy sufficiently to be able to re-harness the horse.

They Got Off Easy.

James Cashen, one of the two reckless drivers arrested by Councilman Smalley and Marshal Rutledge in the Borough, Sunday, was arraigned before Mayor Place, last evening, and fined five dollars. This is the same price charged the other for his share in the offence, and is much too small. Councilman Smalley said he would not again go through what he did in helping to make the arrest, for twice the amount of the fine imposed.

Love Letters Stopped the Way.

Two young ladies sat in a carriage on Park avenue this morning, reading letters, and all unconscious that they were causing a blockade of vehicles. A bad tangle of horses and wagons resulted. When the girls got ready they folded up their correspondence and drove merrily away, while coachmen frowned and tradesmen's drivers said naughty things.

THE EMPEROR NERO.

One of the Most Brutal Fellows That Ever Ruled a Great Country.

Britannicus, his brother by adoption, a boy of fourteen, is in the way; he is poisoned, thanks to Locusta's art, at a dinner given by Nero. Suetonius records the popular belief that the motive to the crime was no less a professional jealousy of his voice than a politic fear of his ambition. The first dose only made the boy very sick, whereupon Nero sent for Locusta and chastised her with his own hand. She excused herself; a stronger dose would have been a quicker method certainly, but a more public. "As if," replied Nero, "the Julian law had terrors for me," and compeled her, there and then, to concoct the strongest and most effectual mixture she knew. This was offered to a goat; the goat lived five hours, to their great disappointment. But when a draught was produced by their joint efforts, which proved the instant destruction of a pig, then an invitation was sent to Britannicus. He fell dead at the first mouthful. "That epilepsy has carried him off at last," said Nero, and no one contradicted him.

These were strange doings for a model young Emperor, but of course Seneca, the Stoic, knew of them; there was no cause for alarm. His young pupil does not poison only; he dances, he sings (and that execrably,) he produces elaborate euphuistic verse, he drives chariots. Strange and new as it was, what did it matter to the populace? No more than the murders of Agrippina and Octavia, mother and half-sister, since they coincided with schemes for remitting the public taxes. There is no sudden frenzy to account for the growth of crime within Nero; all is orderly, progressive, a conscious rake's progress, from the good young Emperor to the crowned victor of Olympia among his claqueurs. It may seem strangely perverse that Nero should have been loved, lamented, adored. He killed his mother, he killed men by companies; he even, writes Juvenal, composed an epic poem—yet he was not loathed nor an object of repulsion. Great criminals are mainly admired as great, aspiring, possessed. Nero, who has none of these, was not admired, but loved. "Even now," says Dion Chrysostom, writing in the time of Trajan, "even now the people long for him to be alive." And women, who could not have given themselves up to the vulgar brutalities of Tiberius, clung with real love to Nero. Poppea, whom Josephus calls a devotee, a refined nature, with a delicate inclination toward Jewish piety; Acte, whom some have thought a Christian, Nero's first love, and loving him past death; the two nurses who prepared his body for burial; the unknown hands that for years threw flowers on his tomb—all these loved him with varying but with evident love —Macmillian's Magazine.

THE TEXAN COWBOY.

He Is Bold, Fearless and Generous, with Nothing Small About Him.

Cowboy life has in the last few years lost much of its roughness. The cattle barons have discharged most of the men who drank, and have frowned so persistently upon gambling that little of it is done. Cards and whisky being put away, there is small temptation to disorderly conduct; so it is only when they reach some large city, and are not on duty, that they indulge in a genuine spree. On the ranches kept under fence they have little to do when not on the drive or in branding-time, the cattle being all safely inclosed. But they must take their turns at line riding, which means a close inspection of the fences, and the repair of all breaks and damages. Where night overtakes them, there they sleep, staking their horses, and rolling themselves in their blankets. These rides of inspection take days to accomplish, for there are ranches in Texas which extend in a straight line over seventy-five miles. Those ranches which are not kept under fence necessitates more work. The boys must then keep their cattle in sight, and while allowing them to graze in every direction, must see that none in the many thousands stray beyond the limits of their own particular pastures. They go then in parties, scattering over the territory, for they must cover hundreds of thousands of acres in a day.

It is not a life of hardship, and pays well enough. Every thing is furnished to them free and of the very best, and they are paid besides thirty dollars per month. Each party stays out from two to three weeks at a time; but they take with them the finest of camp wagons, with beds and bedding, cooking utensils, the best of groceries of all kinds, and as excelent a cook as money can employ. The prairies are full of game, and their rifles are ever handy. The life is free, fascinating, and peculiarly healthy.

These men are exceedingly chivalrous to all women; this seems to be a trait born in them, as much a part of their moral nature as it is of their physical to have small feet, for it is seldom that a genuine Texas cow-boy can be found who has not the distinguishing mark of a handsome foot, and his boots are to him all that the sombrero is to a Mexican. He will deny himself many pleasures, he will go without a coat, and be seen in most dilapidated attire, but his boots must be of the best and most beautiful make that the country can afford; high in heel and curved of instep, a fine upper and thin sole, fitting like a glove, and showing the handsome foot to perfection.

Take the cowboys as a class, they are bold, fearless and generous, a warm-hearted and manly set, with nothing small, vicious nor mean about them, and Texas need not be ashamed of the brave and skillful riders who traverse the length and breadth of her expansive prairies.—Lee C. Harby, in Harper's Magazine.

—"No," said the comedian, "it isn't as easy as it looks. I find my task a very hard one. It struck me as ne laughing matter when I saw you at the theater last night."—Washington Post.

Anxious to Meet the Crescents.

(From the New Brunswick Home News.)

Manager Harkins, of the Union Base Ball Team, is trying to arrange another game either here or at Plainfield with the Crescent Base Ball team of that city, from whom the Unions received almost their first defeat this season. Since Mr. Harkins took charge of the Unions they have steadily improved in their work, losing but one game under his management (that of the Rahways), and it is believed that if they could cross bats again with the Plainfield nine the Crescents would be beaten this time.

Still Crazy Enough for Confinement.

John Ryman, of Steiner place, North Plainfield, who was taken to the insane asylum three months ago, was brought home "cured" last week, but yesterday he became again violent, ripped up his wife's carpets, smashed pictures, and tried to get hold of weapons to kill his neighbors and himself. Today he was taken back to the asylum.

No medicine in the World is in better repute or more widely known than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a safe and certain remedy for all manner of blood disorders, leading physicians and druggists everywhere recommend it in preference to any other.

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood." —Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 25c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Graulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEMAREST,

25 PARK AVENUE.

8-6-t

MOY.

8-11-tf

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. B. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

LOST, TODAY, between Second street and Steiner place, a red leather pocketbook, containing about $16. Finder will receive liberal reward. Call at PRESS office, or 26 North ave.

BOY WANTED at Sherwin's, 23 W. Front st. 8-12-tf

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms, to respectable colored family. Apply PRESS office. 8 12-tf

DRESSMAKING in all its branches: cutting and fitting by the McDowell system. Satisfaction guaranteed. Call at No. 5 West Second street. 8-12-6

FOR SALE, Cheap—Two 2-seat sleighs and one cutter. Price $40. Also, two sets of double harness, $15. One first class Landau, and gold-mounted harness, price, $350. Apply 34 Arlington avenue. 8-11 3

LOT FOR SALE—Elegant building lot on Sanford avenue. Good investment. Apply E. C. Mulford, Broker. 8-11-6

WANTED—By gentleman and wife, select board in a desirable locality. South side of railroad preferred. Address "Select," P. O. Box 333, city. 8-11-3

CANOE for sale (or sail). A bargain, at 7 Madison avenue. 8-11-3

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 208 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 6-11-tf

REXWHEAT

Largest package, greatest usefulness of any cereal.
Equally delicious and wholesome in porridge and mush (hot, cold or fried), Gems, Griddle Cakes, etc.
Better than drugs as a hot weather tonic and regulator.
For young or old.
At leading grocers.
Wholesale by M. W. FRENCH. 5-24-6m-t,tas

First Evening Reception
OF THE
Catholic Young Men's Literary Union,
At St. Mary's School Hall, Wednesday Evening, August 13.
Tickets, 25 Cents. 8-11-3

WASHBURN & ARLINGTON'S
NEW UNITED
MONSTER SHOWS.
Congress of Nations,
World's Fair,
Roman Hippodrome,
Egyptian Caravan,
Arabian Camel Train,
Moorish Encampment,
WILD WEST
AND
WILD EAST,
Will Exhibit at CIRCUS GROUNDS,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
MONDAY, AUG. 18.

100 HANDSOME GREY HORSES.
100 WORLD RENOWNED PERFORMERS
A Beautiful Living Calliope
In the
Grand Street Parade,
Will fill the air with music from a steam organ, costing $10,000. 8-11-w

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c.
8-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM.
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 8-12-y

TRY OUR
Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 8-17-tf

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING,
Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,
NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE.
OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 3-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
45 North Avenue.
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-3-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[PUNCH'S HOTEL.] No. 5 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting.
3-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 58.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.
A COOL STORE,
AND
A WARM WELCOME,
AT
PECK'S!
28 WEST FRONT STREET.

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS,
CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST.
10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.
Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons.
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-P." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.
SELLING OUT CHEAP!
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.
1-5-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters,
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON.
3-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 25 Points worth considering:
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-y

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE;
A SPECIALTY.
4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And
Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

DEAD TO THEIR OWN INTERESTS.

The People of North Plainfield Display Amazing Apathy About the Opening of Another Inlet to the Borough.

Councilmen Hegemen, Buckle and Needham, composing the Borough Street Committee, and Mayor Place, met last evening in the North Plainfield Council chamber to hear the people upon the question of the opening of Peace street from the city's limit to the mountains. Though a number were present, the boroughites as a whole gave no evidence of their interest in a project of such importance to them.

Councilman Hegeman stated that the meeting was called for the special purpose of considering the opening of Peace street through the Borough, should the City widen it to its limits. The only action the Borough Council could take, he continued, would be to give the tax payers official support and recognition when they came forward with a petition and formulated plan for the opening of the street. The matter had been called up and the present meeting arranged, because of the message of the Mayor concerning the project published in full in THE PRESS of last Tuesday. Mr. Hegeman said further, that he understood the City of Plainfield had taken no decided action in the matter, as the Y. M. C. A., had purchased a lot for their new building directly in the way of the proposed widening and extending of Peace street in the city's limits. He understood that the Association had named $6,000 as the amount they would be damaged. Nothing could be done, therefore, until the city did its part in opening the street to the Borough limits.

Mr. Hegeman spoke further of the great benefit there would be to the Borough at large, as well as to the property owners directly effected, by the opening of a thoroughfare from the City through the Borough, between Westervelt avenue and Somerset street.

He said he could speak with assurance for his own committee and with confidence for the whole Council, that they would all assist the people in anyway towards the consummation of the project. Still it must be remembered that the Borough was not in a position to do anything financially. It must all be accomplished by private enterprise and public spirit. The people must give their own property and their own money. But after the street had been laid out, the Council would keep it in order.

Mayor Place said he had had a talk with Mayor Male about the matter, and found the latter very much interested in it and anxious for the success of the plan. Mayor Male said that he would recommend that the City pay the Y. M. C. A., $2,500 damages for the loss of such portion of their lot as might be thrown into the street, and with that sum they could buy a strip adjoining on the other side. The property of the Association would be more valuable on the corner of a thoroughfare, than as now on the corner of a lane. Mr. MacDonald who is the largest owner on Peace street in the city, Mayor Place said, had agreed to give free all of his land that was necessary for the proposed widening; and Borough Councilman Sebring, who also owned a property on Peace street, had offered to do the same. But until the matter was brought more definitely before the Council by those personally interested and effected, the Mayor thought nothing could be done.

Councilman Buckle, Needham and Smalley also spoke of how much the proposed street was needed in the Borough, and how great a benefit it would be to North Plainfield in increased population and value of real estate. John Goodwin, the only one of the people present who had anything to say out loud, said that the Township had years ago spent $1,500 for the making of a map that had the proposed street all laid out, but they found that the Allen estate was entailed property, and they could not cut through it.

Chairman Hegeman said he would see the Chairman of the Plainfield Street committee and try to arrange for a joint meeting with the North Plainfield Street committee, of which due notice would be given. The meeting then adjourned.

Cool Weather in August.

Yesterday was unusually cool for August. Simultaneously with the departure off the Atlantic Coast of the storm from the West, the temperature fell rapidly all through Sunday night. Three hours after midnight the mercury in Plainfield had touched 61 degrees, and at 6 A. M. yesterday the record was 56 degrees. With the advance of the morning the temperature rose a little, but it was never higher than 68 degrees. Following this cool wave is a warm rain, which will bring with it a rise in temperature.

A Furniture Store Changes Hands.

R. R. Fairchild has sold his furniture business to his brother, Geo. H. Fairchild, who has already taken possession. R. R. Fairchild will remove with his family to Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 1, to assume proprietorship of an old-established furniture house at that place.

How Intelligent Women Decide.

When the question has to be met as to what is the best course to adopt to secure a sure, safe and agreeable remedy for those organic diseases which afflict the female sex, there is but one wise decision, viz., a course of self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is an unfailing specific for all functional disorders that render the lives of so many women miserable and joyless. They who try it, praise it. Of druggists.

TRENTON'S INSUBORDINATE FIREMEN.

They May Perhaps Lose the Benefit of a $25,000 Relief Fund.

The Common Council of Trenton, last night, took the first step toward the establishment of a paid Fire Department. An ordinance was introduced and referred to a committee, since the nine companies in the Volunteer Department refused on Saturday to do fire service. The Fire Commissioners have made arrangements so that the city is protected by six companies.

The refractory firemen found out yesterday that they had made a mistake, and some of them begged to be taken back into the service of the city. They belong to a relief association, which has $23,000 in the treasury. They learned that if they were expelled for insubordination they would not be able to receive any more benefit from this fund. The Commissioners decided to suspend them for twenty-four hours for insubordination, and to-morrow afte noon they will have an opportunity to respond to a fire alarm. The companies which do not respond will be expelled from the department.

Had Plenty of Fun and Won the Fight.

A plucky Somerset county farmer has just won a funny fight against the Rockaway Valley Railroad company. When the road was built the company agreed to fence in the tracks where they crossed farms, to protect the cattle. The promise has not been kept and the farmers have been complaining. One of them was so insistent that the officers finally told him to "get out and stay out." He said nothing and went.

Friday morning he built a heavy rail fence across the track. Then he sent a brief note to the office of the company. It said: "Look out when you cross my land. Danger!" The engineer and fireman of the first train had to remove the obstruction. The farmer built it up again, and the crew of the next train took it down; and all day long the trainmen kept taking the fence down and the farmer kept putting it up. The railroad men blasphemed; the farmer smiled.

Friday night a gang of men tore down the rails and carried them away. Bright and early Saturday morning the company received another note from the enterprising granger. It said: "Look out when you cross my land. Danger!" There was the fence again, a little further down the track, and all Saturday morning the trainmen stopped their trains and pulled it down and the farmer complacently built it up again.

At noon word was sent that the tracks would be fenced in, as agreed, at once. But the farmer will keep the rails and posts near by until the track fence is completed.

Changes in Realty.

The following are the transfers of real estate in this city, and consideration therefore, recorded in the County Clerk's office yesterday:

Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company to Charles H. Westphal, of this city, land 33x52, $100.

John B. Mills and wife and Francis S. Runyon, of this city, to Nicholas Bowers, of Warren Township, Somerset county, N. J., lot Northeast side of Bay street, 100x40, $2,666.

Wm. M. Stillman and wife, of this city, to Amanda Doty, of this city, land on Southeast side of Fourth street, corner of Prescott place, 100x50, $2,000.

Cyrus W. Field and others of this city, to Mary Field of this city, 29-100 acre land corner of Liberty and Third streets, $1.

Mary Field to Daniel H. Thickstun of this city, lot on Liberty street, 50x100, $400.

Fredrick F. Glasby, Sheriff, to Isabella L. Titsworth and John H. VanWinkle, executors of Randolph Titsworth, deceased, land on Southeast side of Front street, this city, 52 feet Southwest from Netherwood avenue, being 52x143 feet, foreclosure of mortgage held by the estate of R. Titsworth against Albert H. Jones and wife, $1,259.40.

One Way to Get News.

(From The Press of August 5.)

Andrew Vanderbeek, Jr., and Joseph Sattels, have shipped boat and tackle and gone themselves to New Foundland for a genuine hunting and fishing trip.

(From the Westfield Standard of August 8.)

Mr. Joseph Sattels, formerly of Westfield and Andrew Vanderbeek, Jr., have shipped boat and tackle and gone to New Foundland for a genuine hunting and fishing trip.

(From the Plainfield "news" of August 9.)

Mr. Joseph Sattels, formerly of Westfield and Andrew Vanderbeeek, Jr., have shipped boat and tackle and gone to New Foundland for a genuine hunting and fishing trip.

Turning Over a New Leaf.

The World this morning has an article concerning the inexhaustibility and purity of Plainfield's water supply, that is a very welcome article to Plainfield's people. More of just such truths of general interest and to the city's benefit, will in time overcome the community's condemnation of the World for the way they have been misrepresented by vicious Plainfield correspondents. And the circulation of the World in this city and the borough, will be recovered and extended.

Imitation goods are gotten up for the ignorant and gullible. The persons able to read and write are not so easily fooled. They will insist that Hires' Root Beer is handed them, and nothing else "just as good." The best imitation is no good, and you know it.

PRECIOUS GOLD DUST.

Kept in a Table Drawer at the Government Printing Office.

Seven thousand dollars' worth of gold dust in a table drawer! Poke your fingers into the yellow stuff and notice how soft and agreeable to the feeling it is, says the Washington Star, while the attendant in charge watches you carefully and sees that you do not get away with any of it. It is smooth to the touch, because it is all composed of gold-beater's film rubbed to almost impalpable powder. For the same reason, too, it is absolutely pure and virgin metal, twenty-four carats fine.

The drawer is in charge of a pretty young girl at the Government printing office. Her work there is to stamp gold lettering and ornamentation upon book covers. The precious substance comes to her in the shape of little rectangular sheets of foil inexpressibly thin, laid between layers of tissue paper made up in book form, each book holding twenty-four gold sheets. Handling them is a matter requiring great skill, though you might not imagine it from casual inspection. To begin with, say the young woman places on the table before her an ordinary leather book cover. She takes from the little gold book a sheet of the foil, not with her fingers, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she cuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go; another she also puts on the back, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on the table. In the press, face downward, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be incased in the cover, the author's name and the ornamental design referred to. The die is kept heated by gas. A movement of a lever worked by hand brings the die down upon the cover, and the raised lettering and design burn the gold foil wherever there is contact, so that it is made to adhere to the leather in those spots. The die is lifted, the cover is withdrawn from the press, and the gold is rubbed off with a piece of soft leather on the end of a stick. Wherever the die has not touched it the film comes off readily, leaving the lettering and the design adhering so closely to the leather that they could not be removed, save by hard scraping. Finally the young woman rubs the leather with a chunk of burnt rubber, which takes off all undesirable particles, so that the ornamental pattern and the names of book and author shine out with beautiful clearness of outline in twenty-four carat gold. The whole process has taken a good many words to describe, but it is actually performed very quickly, the covers being spread with gold, stamped with the heated die, and rubbed off in rapid succession. Each fresh sort of book-cover has to have a new die, of course.

The operator is very careful in rubbing off the loose gold after each stamping, so as to lose none of it. As she uses the leather-tipped stick she permits the yellow stuff to fall through a crack in the table top into the drawer beneath in the shape of dust. It is allowed to accumulate there until the drawer is full. The drawer is quite big and deep, and will hold $10,000 worth of the dust. You would not imagine it to be any very precious substance if you found a quantity of it in some odd place; it looks as much like powdered tinsel as any thing else. However, it is worth $20 an ounce, and when a drawer full is collected the gold is forwarded to the mint in Philadelphia, which subjects it to assay and sends back a check for its value.

The burnt rubber used for the final polishing off of the gold lettering, etc., is simply India-rubber which has been subjected to a peculiar fire process that makes it very spongiose and absorbent. So remarkable is its latter quality that a chunk of it as big as three of your fingers will take up more than $15 worth of gold in its pores. When, after some months of use such a piece of burnt rubber is loaded with all the gold it will comfortably carry, it is sent, with a lot of others in the same condition, to the mint to be assayed.

Real gold is only used in this way for particularly fine books. Designs and lettering of the sort for ordinary volumes are done at the Government printing office in nearly the same manner, but with a yellow composition called "German metal," which looks very much like the gold and is decidedly cheaper. No trouble is taken to save the wastage, and each book-cover, after being stamped by the hot die, is simply put through a brushing machine.

The Electric Express Train.

Dr. Louis Bell says the electric express train in the near future will in all probability contain one or more powerful motors on the axis of its drivers, and aggregating perhaps 1,000 horsepower as a normal output. It will be lighted and heated by electricity. The track over which it will run will be straight and smooth, like the great English trunk lines of to-day. The train will start smoothly into motion, fly along the track at the rate of one hundred miles an hour or more, and stop quickly and easily by applying its electric brakes. An automatic block system will be used that will secure perfect control of the trains and almost absolute immunity from collisions.

A Mighty Smart Dog.

There is a butcher's boy in Seattle who travels around on horseback a great deal that attracts considerable attention. He has a dog, and that animal will perch on the horse's back and ride along the street apparently with as much ease and enjoyment as the boy himself. But when the boy wants to hitch the horse is the time the dog comes in handy. The dog is told to sit down, and the horse is fastened to him, when the two animals are left, to all intents and purposes, in perfect security.

FROM OVER THE OCEAN.

THE obelisk in London can not stand the climate.

THE army bill, as passed by the German Reichstag, fixes the peace effective at 486,983 men until April, 1894.

UP to the end of May, 1890, the imperial German mints had coined $610,000,000 in gold and $113,000,000 in silver.

HERR KRUPP, the great gun manufacturer of Essen, has submitted a plan to the Austrian Government for placing the city of Vienna in connection with the Danube by canal.

A "FOSSIL FOREST" has been discovered in Scotland. Thirty or forty fossil trunks have already been laid bare, most of which are gray freestone. One of the trunks is at least two feet in diameter.

THE gold key of the library building at Edinburgh, Scotland, which was built by Andrew Carnegie, bears the inscription: "Edinburgh Public Library, gifted by Andrew Carnegie." To use "gift" as a verb, says the London Times in referring to the matter, may be good Scotch, but it is very indifferent English.

ONE of the deepest coal mines in the world is at St. Andre du Poirier, France, and yearly produces 300,000 tons of coal. The mine is worked with two shafts, one 2,952 feet deep and the other 3,083. The latter shaft is now being deepened, and will soon reach the 4,000-feet level. The remarkable feature in this deep mine is the comparatively low temperature experienced, which seldom rises above 75 degrees Fahrenheit.

A PRIZED palm tree in Rome was blown down during a recent gale. It stood in the gardens of the British Embassy, and was, perhaps, the tallest tree in Rome. It was historical as having been pierced by a cannon ball during the attack on the city in September, 1870. It was strapped with iron where the ball had pierced it, and was the only object in the vicinity which showed the traces of the attack which opened Rome to the Italian army.

M. Bunall Varilla has come forward with a new plan for uniting England with the continent. He has overcome the objections at once to the bridge scheme and to the tunnel project, by combining both. The plan now to be considered projects a pier or viaduct that shall extend out from each side of the channel about a mile. From the sea-end of these piers connection is to be made by tubes with a submarine tunnel. Through these tubular approaches railway trains will be lowered on an incline into the main tunnel.

SINCE about the middle of May the city of Tomsk in Siberia has been under water. The river Toma began overflowing its banks as soon as the ice broke, and the inundation continued increasing until more than three-quarters of the city was covered. Many houses were destroyed by the current and the drifting of ice-blocks, and many lives were lost. The churches, the school buildings, the markets were inundated, and the rapid increase of water created a panic among the citizens so that they were entirely helpless, and many of them rushed to certain death. The fire department and the military posts of the place could do very little to help the panic-stricken citizens and they had to make gigantic efforts to save the Government property and the important city archives.

ART AND LITERATURE.

UPWARD of 32,500 volumes were added to the library of the British museum last year.

TOLSTOI'S "Kreutzer Sonata" has been forbidden in Austria as "dangerous to the State."

THE only woman in South American journalism is Mrs. Jose do Patrocino, the wife of the Brazilian abolitionist.

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY copies of Stanley's new book, "In Darkest Africa," are to be printed as an edition de luxe. He is to number and sign each copy himself, and each is to cost fifty-two dollars.

THE Czar of Russia, Alexander III., has purchased Sierneradzki's celebrated picture, "Phyrne in Eleusis," for 55,000 roubles, and it is to be hung in one of the drawing-rooms of the Chateau Petethof.

FROM the Salon of 1890 the Department of Fine Arts has purchased for the State, among other things, the marble statue called "The Siren," by Denis Puech, and the landscape by Fernand Quignon called "The Harvest."

M. ROVAISSON, an old guardian of the Louvre, has been engaged in constructing the group of which he thinks the Venus of Milo formed a part. As his ideal stands, the goddess is leaning her left arm upon the shoulder of Mars, the right reaching toward his breast.

THE museum of the Peabody Academy of Science of Salem, Mass., has lately been enriched by a fine collection of objects illustrating the art and ethnology of Japan. This has been formed by Prof. Edward S. Morse, who some time ago spent several months in Japan. The catalogue of Japanese accessions enumerates 691 specimens, the most conspicuous objects being life-sized figures, representing different classes of the community. These models were all made for the museum and are the best that have ever been brought to America. The collection also includes many fine old swords, sets of tools and pictures illustrating various trades and professions.

THE Department of Middle Ages and the Renaissance in the Louvre (sculpture) has received a present of two bronze statuettes cast toward the end of the fifteenth century by a little-known sculptor called Ulocrino. They come from the Eugene Piot sale. One group shows a nude nymph reclining in a chair of peculiar shape who props her head on the right hand and stretches out the left while a serpent twines round her arm. A satyr playing a flute advances toward her. The other shows a nude man asleep before an altar on which burns a sacrificial fire. A woman stretches out her hand to the fire as if to keep it going, while with the other she presents to the face of the sleeper a large bearded mask. These Renaissance groups appear to have been influenced by terra cottas found in Greece.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

6-30-y

COMING!

BOB HUNTING'S New Railroad Show.

AT PLAINFIELD,

TO-NIGHT

Five times Larger and Better than Ever.

We Come with New Acts.

New Faces, and

New and Startling Features.

Admission—Adul's, 20 Cents.

Children, 10 Cents.

8-6-w

Don't Miss This!

Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of

"Stanley in Africa."

(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)

This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.

The Wonderful Discoveries!

Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.

Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.

United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.

Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,

29 WEST FRONT STREET.

7-14-m

G. H. VAN NEST

Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!

Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.

39 SOMERSET STREET.

Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r.

8-8-y

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of

SODA WATER

AT MILLER'S PHARMACY,

No. 10 East Front Street,

Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.

Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.

12-17-tf

Paper by the Pound.

We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front St

-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,

On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,

7 West Front Street,

Popular Dry Goods House.

Special Bargains This Week!

300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.

50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.

Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.

Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.

Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.

I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.

6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.

Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.

Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.

All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.

We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.

Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.

Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,

CARPENTERS,

And General Jobbers.

SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

Door and Window Screens a Specialty.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK

6-3-tf

WE SELL

TO THE

BEST TRADE

IN

PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!

If You Want Selected Goods,

TELEPHONE TO

R. W. RICE & CO.,

Number 75, B. GROCERS.

1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in

Ladies Oxford Ties

AND

Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,

Everybody goes to

KENNY'S,

At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.

6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS

Gasolene Stoves,

Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,

Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.

A. M. GRIFFEN

13 East Front Street.

TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Base Ball

AND

Lawn Tennis Goods,

Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.

Joseph M. Harper,

No. 75 PARK AVENUE,

3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.

6-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.

The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.

P. WESTPHAL & SON,

Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.

6-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,

23 North Avenue,

A full line of

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-28-y

P. AGNEY,

KINDLING WOOD.

Yard—Mountain Avenue.

P. O. BOX 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 5-6-tf

DON'T FORGET!

That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that

I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT

7 P. M.

J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,

Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street.

1-18-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY

Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.

For particulars, address

Miss E. E. KENTON, Principal.

7-18-3m

J. C. POPE & CO

INSURANCE AGENTS

No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my189

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,

Lumber and Coal Merchants.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD.

PLAINFIELD.

All kinds of Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.

ALFRED D. COOK. my1091 ROBERT M. COOK

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 18 Vine st.

H. K. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.

ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-21-t

ALLEN,

THE STATIONER,

Has added to his stock a fresh line of

Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year

23 EAST FRONT ST.

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,

Livery Stables.

54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 121. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my69

Carpenters and Builders.

JOHN T. ODAM,

Plain and Ornamental

SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.

Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.

New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-19-y

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter and Builder.

Residence Clinton avenue, near depot, Fvona. P. O. Box, 1228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET

Screens Fitted to Your Windows

For 15 cents per square foot,

At No. 30 Somerset Street.

Also JOBBING of all kinds.

HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

Woman's Exchange

8 PARK AVENUE.

Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.

Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 8-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

AMPHITHEATRE.

The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.

SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.

Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.

SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.

EVERY NIGHT AT 8.

Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.

STRAUSS,

AND HIS

Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.

ALSO

TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."

250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.

Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.

The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

--No. 8--

PARK AVENUE,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

STAMPING!

PROMPTLY EXECUTED.

FANCY GOODS,

NOTIONS, ETC.

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. H. HORNISH, 25 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Bockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—20 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.

OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 6-25-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,

Counselors-at-Law

Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Supreme Court Commissioner.

First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,

Counselors at Law,

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.

COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,

Typewriter and Stenographer.

COLLECTION AGENT.

With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

DESIRABLE

Netherwood Building Sites

FOR SALE.

Apply to J. F. LOEBER.

P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J.

7-16-m

CARRIAGES

Of every description in stock or built to order.

Coupes, Cabriolets,

Surries, Depot Wagons,

Buggies, Road Wagons,

Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,

AT

RYERSON'S

Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods

EMPORIUM,

33 Somerset Street.

Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

NEW LIVERY!

IRVING C. STELLE,

(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at

No. 26½ West Front Street,

In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.

First-Class Horses and Carriages

Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.

A share of public patronage is solicited.

Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLE

21 East 5th Street

Special attention to all

AWNING WORK

Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.

MATTING.

Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-105-1

House Numbers

At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.

Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—NO BOTCHING 1-14-tf

FISCHER

ESTABLISHED 1840.

PIANOS

RENOWNED FOR

TONE & DURABILITY

MODERATE PRICES

EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.

DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 20 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY

Catalogue Mailed on Application.

110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,

NEW YORK CITY.

4-4-6m

TIER'S

ICED CREAM!

In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.

8 Bank Place—East Front Street.

6-16-to-sept

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at

Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.

We manufacture them and know what they contain. ASK TRY THEM.

THE THREE BACHELORS.

Three bachelors slept in their shuttered room—
In their shuttered room when the sun shone high;
Not one of them felt he must rise till noon
Or take his breakfast till by and by;
For single men may happily sleep—
A pillow is good and breakfast will keep
Till ten o'clock in the morning.

Three fair maids smiled on these bachelors three—
On these bachelors three when they came to town;
They waltzed, they sang, they made high tea
And had their accomplishments quickly known;
For it matters not if bachelors sleep,
The maids are awake quite soon in the week,
And sometimes rise in the morning.

Three married men jumped when the sun arose,
And left their pillows in swift dismay;
They felt for their boots, they grabbed their clothes,
And thoroughly realized it was day;
For women will never let men sleep
When there's breakfast to get and a wash for the week,
Though it's five o'clock in the morning.
—Libbie Adams Turner, in Judge.

DESPERATE OUTLAWS.

How They Were Disposed of by Two Scouts.

In September, 1866, word came into Helena that an outlaw named Bill Traver had taken up his retreat in the woods a few miles below and on the Mississippi shore of the river. Indeed, the word came to us direct from him, and was brought by a colored man. Not being able to write, he had to send a verbal message, and it was to the effect that he hated the Government, had killed fifty Yankees during the war, and now defied the military force to capture him. William Bastrop and myself, both being on duty as scouts, were detailed to investigate. The order detailing us meant this:

"You are hereby granted ten days' leave of absence to kill Bill Traver, outlaw, or to be killed yourselves."

The negro disappeared after delivering his message, and we waited two days before making a move. We were then set across the river in a skiff at night and left to pursue our plans. Traver would be expecting us to approach his retreat in front and by boat, while we proposed to go in by the back door, if at all. He might be in the woods and he might not, although the negro was honest in telling his story. We doubted if any human being could live in the woods at that season on account of the torment of the insects. We had in mind an old cabin in a clearing two miles back of the river. A squad of fifteen of us had once captured five outlaws in this cabin, and in the fight two more had been killed. For this reason no one would occupy the cabin, not even a negro squatter. Whether Traver would be affected by a like superstition we did not know, but proposed to find out. We each had a Winchester and a revolver, with a pack of provisions, and an hour before daylight we were in hiding close to the cabin. When day broke we saw that the door—there was but one—was shut, and that an old coffee sack had been nailed over the only window. These were evidences that the house was occupied by some one, and from our ambush behind a log and only pistol-shot away we kept a closer watch.

It was about eight o'clock in the morning when a colored man came out of the cabin and built a fire on the ground and began to cook breakfast. We could smell the frying bacon and catch the odor of the coffee, and we felt sure that Traver or some other white man was inside. It took the man about half an hour to prepare the meal, and during this interval we made up our minds that we had never seen him before. When he had every thing ready he went to the door and called, and five minutes later Traver appeared. There was no mistaking him, as he tallied point for point with the description given us. He was a ragged, dirty, desperate-looking fellow, and he was evidently in bad humor. He kicked the negro aside and sat down to his breakfast, and for ten minutes he kept up a continual growling and cursing. The negro retired to a log ten feet away, and while he made no reply to the abuse heaped upon him, he did not seem much disturbed by it.

There was no doubt that Traver was well armed. Had he not considered himself perfectly safe he would not have stirred out doors without a weapon. While he had been outlawed, and while we knew him to be a robber and murderer, we could not kill him off hand. Either one of us could have sent a bullet into his head from our ambush, and we knew that he would shoot us down like dogs if he had the chance. We finally decided to flank him right and left, and hope to get so near the cabin as to cut off his retreat to it when we called upon him to surrender. I passed to the right and Bastrop to the left. He had the best cover. When I had accomplished half the distance the negro suddenly rose up, alarmed by the breaking of a twig, saw me, and uttered a whoop. Bastrop rose up and demanded a surrender, while I fired on the outlaw. In an instant both men were in the cabin with the door shut, and our game was blocked. We dropped to the ground, and five minutes later one passing by could not have told that there was a human being within twenty miles of the spot.

After a quarter of an hour of the deepest silence we moved back until we came together. We had caged our man, and the negro was evidently a bad one as well. We had the advantage of being able to command the only exit from the house, but there was no telling what sort of a dodge Traver would be up to as an offset. We decided to guard the door and window for the day at least, feeling certain that the outlaws had no supply of water in the cabin. That day seemed long enough to make a full week. We were tormented by mosquitoes, had only hardtack to satisfy our hunger, and our thirst was quenched with water unfit for an ox to drink. We were constantly expecting to see the men open the door and spring for cover, only a few feet away, and the situation was a constant tax on the nerves. Noon came, mid-afternoon came, the sun went down, and not the slightest move had been made by our enemies. Had we not seen them rush into the cabin and shut the door we should have said that the place was untenanted. Traver, though a desperate man, had too much sense to expose himself to our fire by daylight. He knew that there were at least two of us, and perhaps he feared that we numbered five or six. He had only to wait until night came to get a more even show.

As the sun went down and darkness settled upon the wood we crept nearer the house, and when we finally got settled it was at the roots of a tree not over twenty feet from the door and directly opposite. While the night was a fairly dark one, the door could not be opened without our hearing and seeing. It was our idea that along about midnight it would be suddenly flung open and the men would leap out to the right and left, and therefore neither of us slept—indeed, sleep, with the myriads of mosquitoes swarming around us, would have been impossible. There were times when it seemed as if we would be eaten alive and when we had to lay down our guns and make a fight for it. At about one o'clock there was a pounding on the door of the cabin, and the thick voice of the negro called out:

"Hey, you white men out dar'!"

We did not answer until he had called several times, and he then announced:

"Marse Traver ar' dead, an' I want to surrender."

"When did he die?" I asked. "Jes' 'bout an hour ago; one o' you shot him dis mawnin' an' he's been bleedin' all day."

I had fired upon him, and I felt quite certain that I hit him, and so this statement seemed very reasonable. After consulting for a bit we called to him to throw open the door and come out, but he answered:

"Ize dun afeared you'll shoot me down."

"But we promise not to fire if you do not seek to escape."

"What's de time o' night?"

"About one o'clock."

"Den I'll wait 'till daylight afore I come out. Den you kin all see dat I want to surrender an' go up to Helena and jine my wife. I didn't dun want to be heah, but Marse Traver made me cum."

This plan suited us just as well, and every thing went along quietly until day was just breaking, when Bastrop suddenly roused up and whispered:

"What infernal fools we are! Don't you smell the rat?"

"No."

"I'll bet a hundred to one that the nigger was giving us taffy. They have dug out under the logs on the back side while we were waiting here."

It struck me that this was the dodge he had played, and, leaving my comrade to watch the door, I made a circuit to approach the cabin in the rear. The first thing I saw was a pile of fresh dirt close to the logs, and this was proof that the outlaws had escaped. The talk of the negro was a part of the plan to throw us off our guard, and he had probably gone with Traver. My first thought was to advance to the cabin and settle the question, but as I was about to leave my cover, I heard a noise inside which satisfied me that at least one of the pair was still there. If so, he would shoot me as soon as I exposed myself, as there was no chinking between the logs on the back side of the hut. After a few minutes' reflection I felt that I had sifted the plan. Traver had left by the hole, not for the purpose of running away, but to circle around to our rear and then creep up and shoot us.

It had now come to be broad day, and I moved swiftly to get back to Bastrop. I had to make a considerable circuit, and as I approached the spot, dodging from tree to tree, I heard the report of a rifle, followed by a ringing war-whoop. Next instant I saw the outlaw before me, holding a smoking rifle in his hands, and I took a snap shot and dropped him in his tracks. Next moment another rifle cracked, and I heard a yell from the negro, followed by a call from Bastrop. I advanced to find him sitting on the ground, with the blood flowing from his head, and at first I thought he had a fatal wound. An investigation, however, revealed the fact that he had had a narrow escape. The bullet fired at him by the outlaw had raked his scalp and knocked him down, but he had jumped up just as the negro flung the door open to come out, having a rifle in his hands. Bastrop had fired upon him and sent a bullet into his shoulder, and the fellow was rolling around on the earth and howling like a wolf with pain and fear. Traver was stone dead. The bullet had struck him in the head, and he fell in a heap. He had a Winchester, two revolvers, and two knives, and there was such a look of ferocity in his face that we had to turn away from it.

The negro was also well armed, but the wound had taken all the fight out of him. He had been with Traver for three months, and admitted to having had a hand in several serious crimes during that period. We took him to Helena, where he suffered amputation of the wounded arm and died soon after.—N. Y. Sun.

A Shower of Ants.

A peculiar sight was witnessed in Ansonia, Conn., recently. It was what might be styled a shower of ants, and lasted nearly two hours. The air was completely filled with the insects, and they evidently had midair combats, for the street was full of dead and injured and the wings of other unfortunates.

He Misunderstood.

"I do hope you'll get home before it rains," said the young woman, with anxious solicitude, and it was not until some time after he had gone that she began to understand why the young man had left her so abruptly at the door and gone away without the usual kiss.

The Appreciative Sucker.

"Well," said the Sucker, as he was landed in the middle of a half dozen speckled beauties by the lone fisherman, "you have got me into a pretty mess, haven't you."

CARE OF BABIES.

Leading Physicians Tell Mothers How to Save the Little Ones.

The Trouble to Infants Comes from Overfeeding, Want of Good Milk Properly Prepared and Absence of Cleanliness.

[Special New York Correspondence.]
[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]

The care of infants in hot weather is one of the greatest troubles of the poor mothers of the city. Their housework takes so much of their time that poor baby is left almost to himself and bottle. His bottle provides a certain amusement, and is intended to keep a supply of nourishment for baby's wants. When baby cries, in pain, on the sweltering days of midsummer, his mother leaves her work long enough to put the bottle to his mouth again and stifle his cries. Somehow it does not strike her that she may be feeding baby's pain, rather than alleviating it. In similar ways the poor little ones are made to suffer by those who are but too anxious to soothe their pains, but through ignorance add to them.

Dr. Henry S. Chapin, professor of diseases of children at the New York Postgraduate Hospital and in charge of the "Baby Wards" attached to the hospital, on this subject says:

"The ordinary diseases of children are varied with the seasons. Lung diseases predominate in winter and diarrheal diseases in summer. The cause of the summer diseases is found in the heat, which wears out the nervous vitality of the child and in the spoiled food that is given it. Milk is the ordinary food given a child. Now, heat causes rapid fermentation in milk, making it sour and unfit for food for the weak stomachs of children. In a city like New York the milk bought in the stores or from milkmen is always from twelve to twenty-four hours old before reaching the baby, and is in an advanced stage of decomposition. You have often seen milk bought from grocers who sell it at five cents a quart. Good milk, proper for children's nourishment, can not be bought for that price. There is a way of treating this milk, however, that will render it wholesome. I will tell of that later.

"While we are speaking of milk let me contradict the popular error that one cow's milk is best for children. I don't know where this popular delusion sprang from, but the fact is that the average milk from twenty cows is much better. Skim milk should not be used for babies. Infants need fat to nourish them and this is absent in skim milk. A child fed on skim milk actually goes into a state of starvation, and when diarrhea comes the system has no power to resist it.

HEALTHY AND HAPPY.

"The great remedy for disease of course is prevention. That is what we desire to attain in our institutions. We are open at all hours of the day and night, summer and winter. From here we send to the seaside as we find it desirable. The preventive of sickness in infants is proper food and pure air. Cleanliness is always necessary. The food for infants is milk. Here we sterilize all the milk we give children. This is done by steaming in a cotton plugged bottle placed in a steamer prepared for the purpose. The milk as soon as we get it in the morning is so steamed for two hours. Milk prepared in that way will keep sweet for a month, under any conditions. I have kept sterilized milk sweet for six months. If there is no sterilizer boil the milk for a half hour, put it in a clean jar and set it on the ice. Great care should be taken not to overfeed infants. Some people seem to think that when a child gets diarrhea, for instance, food should be given in unlimited quantities, and when it makes its complaint by crying the bottle is given it to soothe it. Food simply feeds the disease. It would be better to give it nothing but water and that freely. The cure for this trouble in infants is restricted feeding and liberal water.

"I would recommend plenty of water for the house also. Absolute cleanliness of the premises is necessary for the health of infants. Slops and things of that nature should not be left around to vitiate the atmosphere. While diarrheal diseases are the most common, they are not the only summer diseases of infants. Pneumonia is quite frequently met with in summer, and diphtheria, scarlatina and scarlet fever are as common in summer as in winter. Modern treatment of these as well as of other diseases is dietetic. In conclusion let me advise not to give liquors to children."

Dr. J. Milton Mabbott, house physician at the Nursery and Child's Hospital on Lexington avenue, between Fifty-first and Fifty-second streets, when asked what would his advice to a mother in a poor tenement district of the city be for the welfare of her infant, replied: "Give it proper food, keep it in a clean, well-ventilated place and keep yourself and the child perfectly clean." When asked what medical treatment he would advise as a general rule to follow for babies, he said: "I have just given you the best medical treatment. In the matter of medicines the simpler the treatment the better.

There are no new remedies for children's diseases; the old axiom applies to them as well as to us: 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.' Where the mother has to bring her child up on a bottle I would recommend cows' milk. Of course this should be the best procurable. It will be impossible for poor people to pay for fancy milk, but milk of a good quality is within the reach of all. It would be well to pay a cent or two more for the baby's milk than what that for common use costs. When the milk is got it should be put into a thoroughly cleansed bottle and sterilized or boiled to destroy the germs. These germs are present in all milk, and heat alone destroys them. It is not the germs alone that cause the trouble, but their excretions, which make the milk poisonous. Heat destroys the germ and prevents excretion. The bottle should be plugged with cotton to prevent any impurities entering. When sterilized sufficiently (a half hour for boiling, about an hour and a half for steaming), it should be put in the ice box and kept there until wanted. I would advise not to prepare more than is needed for each day. A different bottle should be kept for feeding, with a rubber nipple fitted over the neck.

THE BABY'S ALL.

When the child has been fed this nipple should be taken off and thoroughly cleansed with clear warm water, and kept while not in use in a solution of borax and water. If the milk is too strong a food for the child's stomach, and if there is too much acid in the stomach, as indicated by the excrement being greenish, it may be diluted with lime water or carbonate of soda. Barley water made with five ounces of pearl barley to two quarts of water and allowed to simmer down to one quart is a good food for a child whose stomach will not retain milk. When the mixture has simmered down to a quart the liquor should be drawn off without straining. It should be kept in the ice-box or a cool place and fed to the child one-half to two-thirds the quantity as of milk, for a child of three months or less one fourth of a pint, always cleansing the bottle and nipple after each meal. A good drink for infants can be prepared by mixing barley water and sterilized milk in equal quantities, adding to the mixture a tablespoonful of lime water and a little sugar or salt. Fifteen drops of brandy may be added to the barley water if the child needs stimulants."

At the Foundling Asylum on East Sixty-eighth street, between Lexington avenue and Third avenue, Dr. Clark, who has charge of the seven hundred children of the institution and assists in the care of those who are placed in charge of selected nurses outside, gave the reporter his experience with children's diseases. "To put the whole thing in a nutshell," said the doctor, "the proper way to care for an infant in this hot weather is to give it proper food and keep it clean."

"A pleasant food for a child from one year to eighteen months old is made by crumbling into condensed milk, bread that has been toasted. A good point to impress on mothers is not to overfeed their babies. If a child vomits immediately after nursing or taking food it is usually a sign of over-feeding. By restricting the amount the child will retain its food. To dilute the milk use water that has been boiled, if the child is well. If the child is troubled with diarrhea, passing a greenish matter mixed with white substance, showing that the food has not been digested, use lime-water in the proportion of one-third to one-half as much lime-water as milk. An infant should be bathed every day in tepid water. This keeps the skin clean and the pores open so that they may perform their proper functions. The habit that is prevalent in some parts of giving the babies a sip of beer or other liquors that the parents may be drinking can not be too severely condemned. The same may be said of the habit of feeding the child from the table. In the house there should be plenty of ventilation, but care should be taken to keep the baby out of draughts. If the little one is in a room warmed by a stove it should not be suddenly removed to one that is cold. I would advise light clothing in hot weather, but always have a flannel garment, not too thick, next the skin. It is a very bad idea to let a child crawl about a dirty floor: a shawl or some other clean article should be spread under it. The bowels should be kept open and, if necessary, castor oil will do this. Impress on mothers the necessity of proper food and cleanliness."

SUMMER SLUMBER.

THEORY VS. PRACTICE.

Major Thompson Tries It on Leading a Cow.

[Written for This Paper.]

VERY THING seems easy to be done until we have tried it ourselves. No doubt the reader of these lines has had occasion to observe what a vast rippling distance there is between theory and practice. In other words, a great many things seem to be very easy of accomplishment until we make an effort to accomplish them. How easy and gracefully the skater glides over the shining ice. It seems to be as easy as rolling off a log, and so it is to the man who knows how; but let the man who has had no experience in skating put on a pair of skates and attempt to glide gracefully, like a fairy, over the ice— There are scores of people who imagine, on reading a humorous sketch, that of all easy things writing such stuff is the easiest. They dash off a sketch and fire it at a publisher, and, if stamps have been enclosed, back comes that sketch, before the writer has had time to catch his breath. After half a dozen attempts with similar result, the theorist comes to the conclusion that there are some things that look much easier than they really are,—but I am drifting away from what I was going to say.

One of the things that does not seem to require much ability is leading a cow from one place to another. This was the opinion of Major Thompson, a gentleman living on the outskirts of a western Texas town, but who had recently moved into that neighborhood from a large city. He wished to remove a cow with a young calf from his own place to that of a friend half a mile distant. A colored man named Sam Johnsing, who lived in the neighborhood, offered to attend to the matter for a trifling pecuniary consideration, but his offer was declined.

"UNTWIST THE CALF'S TAIL, YOU FOOL."

After Major Thompson had made several ineffectual efforts to persuade the cow in the right direction, a happy thought occurred to him. "I will take advantage of the brute's maternal instinct. Tom, come here."

Tom was the Major's son, a boy of fifteen.

"Tom, you pick up that calf and start down the road for the Jones place."

Tom did as he was told, and the procession started under the most encouraging auspices, the cow following her offspring quietly, although occasionally indulging in a "moo" of maternal apprehension.

All would have ended well had not Tom, instigated by Satan, no doubt, undertook to have some fun at his paternal ancestor's expense. Tom had observed that the old man had tied around his wrist the rope attached to the cow's horns. Tom, holding the calf in his arms, began to trot, and to increase the anxiety of the cow twisted the calf's tail, thereby causing it to emit a piteous wail, as if opposed to an encore of the tail-twisting performance. The cow, also, began to trot, and as Major Thompson could not release his wrist, he, too, struck a lively trot. Being a stout man, with short legs, he suffered considerable loss of wind and dignity.

On the other hand, Tom perceived, to his dismay, that the cow was not only gaining on him, but that she was shaking her horns and, from the tone of her voice, was laboring under intense excitement.

"Hold back the cow, pa!" he howled, looking over his shoulder.

"Untwist—untwist—the—calf's—tail—you fool!" panted the old man, whose arm was threatening to come out of its socket.

And thus the procession went on merrily down the road, gaining in interest every minute, the cow polishing her horns from time to time on the ceiling of Tom's pants, while the unfortunate Major, whose legs looked like the spokes of a buggy wheel in rapid motion, acted as a brake, he lying on his back and plowing up the earth with his spine.

As the procession was passing Sam Johnsing's field that colored gentleman managed to quit laughing long enough to call out to Tom:

"Drap de caf! Drap de caf!"

Tom did so and escaped, whereupon the cow paused to caress her offspring, and then, suddenly wheeling, charged the breathless Major, who tried to climb the fence, in which effort he was materially assisted by the justly exasperated bovine, to whom he was so much attached.

The job was turned over by the city folks to Sam Johnsing, who made the transfer without any difficulty, thereby illustrating what I have already stated as a fact—that there is a vast rippling distance between theory and performance.

ALEX E. SWEET.

The Time to Call.

Mother—Mr. Bore called to see you, Loise, while you were out.

Loise—How thoughtful of Mr. Bore!

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-26-

R. R. FAIRCHILD,
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
Baby Carriages—The largest assortment in town.
4 DOORS BELOW POST OFFICE. 1-11-t

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At G. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No—Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AVE
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp Electric Light Station.
12-20-y

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-25-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 5-16-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 159. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 10-7

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
tf3

BUY "GRAPHITE"

For your Safeties; reduced from 25c to 17c per Bottle.

Look at the PRICES on
Fishing Rods & Tackle,
Ball Goods,
Spratt's Dog Biscuits, &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
19 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-6

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.33 A. M. train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.17 do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.24 do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.06 P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.25 P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 P. M. train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.39 do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.02 do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.39, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M., 2.04, 2.30, 3.45, 4.34, 5.30, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily to Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05 A. M. and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 2 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 57 A. M.; 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 8 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 56, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, 11 29, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 33, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 38, 6 20, 6 38, 7 05, 7 12, 7 34, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 05, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 33, 1 15, 1 46, 3 05, 3 25, 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 05, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Manticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 09 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 8 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 21, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 03 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 20, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 1 58*, 3 20*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 38*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 30*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 8 45, 12 p. m Sundays—9 a. m., 12 50, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—8 10, 8 30*, 11 06, a. m. 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 9 35 a. m., 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Tren

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 13. 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

WE HAVE HAD A LARGER

Trade this season than ever before; simply because we have increased our stock and variety, likewise keeping up sizes as near as possible.

We still have a good variety of Russet goods. They will be worn for outdoor use until the middle of September. THEN, if they are still in good order, make a very comfortable house shoe for Winter.

We close our store 7 P. M., (except Saturday). Please make your purchases accordingly.

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3.00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. K 4-3-1

DECLINE TO GO OUT

The Firemen Refuse to Help the Strikers.

SERIOUS BLOW TO THE KNIGHTS.

The Central Officials Say They Have Won the Battle.

The Strikers Anxious to Hear from Today's Meeting at Detroit—An Appeal to Labor Organizations—The Freight Blockade Not Raised at Albany—Master Workman Lee Talks About the Letter.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—At a meeting of Metropolitan Lodge. 363, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, in Suburban Hall, 140th street and Third avenue, last night, it was decided that they would hold aloof from the present strike. This lodge contains 82 members, and takes in the Hudson River division, extending from New York to Albany.

This is interpreted as a serious blow to the cause of the strikers.

Their hopes of success have depended upon their appeals to other labor organizations to come to their assistance.

The action of the firemen is sure to greviously disappoint the leaders of the movement.

Webb Says the Strike is a Failure.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—"All the trouble is over as far as the company is concerned," said Third Vice-President Webb, of the New York Central.

"Both freight and passenger traffic has been resumed. The passenger service is almost as thorough as it was before the strike. As to the freight traffic, we have continued the movement begun yesterday in the local yards and besides sending out many additional trains have got the yards in shape all along the line between New York and Buffalo and started trains from some of them.

"In a word, the strike is an utter failure. The men that struck will not be taken back. Exceptions may be made in a few cases where it is shown that well meaning men were intimidated into going out. But there positively will be no general taking back of strikers, and absolutely no new men will be discharged to make places for repentant strikers.

SANGUINE STRIKERS.

They Are Waiting to Hear from the General Executive Board.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The impression at the headquarters of the Knights of Labor is that no new move will take place in the nature of further tie-ups until the General Executive Board meeting in session at Detroit to-day takes some action on the present difficulty.

District Master Workmen Valentine positively denies that the Knights have given in or considered themselves defeated because of the refusal of the locomotive engineers and firemen to respond to the call to abandon their work in sympathy with the strikers. "This strike is not yet over," he added, "nor will it be until the Central people accede to our requests. This fight is on for good so long as the company deny us every request. We wanted the trouble settled by arbitration, but Mr. Webb declines to do this. Our men are strong and as determined as ever to win this fight. The Central management is too sanguine. The fight is not ended and there will be developments to-morrow that will surprise some people."

THE FREIGHT BLOCKADE.

Business Badly Blocked at Albany and Strikers Cheerful.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The utter absurdity of the statement that the freight blockade has been raised is patent to any one who is acquainted with the situation here. Not a pound of freight has passed West Albany, despite the company's statement that trains would be sent through there today. Freight is being sent south over the Hudson River division, but it is all freight that has been held in the yard there since last Friday. Freight comes through from the West as far as the West Albany yards, but it stops there.

When asked if the company would try to force through a train, Superintendent Bissell said he did not know. Railroad men who have examined the condition of affairs in the yard say it will take nearly a week to clear out the accumulation of freight there. Every freight train that has gone out from here has been manned by Pinkerton men and heavily guarded.

Peace Reigns at De Witt.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 13. — The troops have left De Witt for home. Pinkerton detectives are in full control of the freight yard at De Witt and the freight cars are being rapidly formed into trains.

Pinkerton Men Leave Troy.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Pinkerton's men have disappeared from this city, and half a dozen policemen only are on guard around the depot. Trains are now moving with regularity.

No Inconvenience at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 13.—All local passenger trains are now running nearly on time and there is no lack of men to do all the work. Shippers have suffered no inconvenience in despatching or receiving freight.

Little Delay at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Trains are moving out of this city with greater regularity, further indicating steady improvement all over the road and the mails are but little delayed.

An Appeal to Labor Bodies.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The Executive Board of District Assembly No. 246 has issued the following appeal to organized labor bodies: "We desire to ask your assistance and co-operation in this gigantic struggle in which we are engaged. Words are not necessary to impress upon you that this fight is your fight as well as ours, and upon the issue depends your future as well as ours. Any assistance you extend will be heartily appreciated."

MEETING OF KNIGHTS.

Master Workman Lee Denies that He Wrote the Central Letter.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—A meeting of the Knights of Labor from all the local assemblies and many in the vicinity was held with closed doors. Thomas Goffrey presided and over 600 Knights were present.

Much interest centered in Master Workman Lee as to how he would explain the letter alleged to have been written by him to Mr. Voorhees of the Central road last April.

Mr. Lee, in a short statement, absolutely denied the authorship of the letter and branded it as a forgery. He then outlined the present situation of the strike and declared that the Knights would win. He added: "If the situation requires it I will see that other bodies of the Knights come out. Many others on the Central road will soon follow our example. The General Executive Board," he said, "alone had the power to order out at one time the men on the roads throughout the country, and any apparent delay in forcing a conclusion is because we are awaiting the endorsement of that body." Mr. Lee stated that no conference had been had with Mr. Powderly.

A vote of confidence was then given Mr. Lee and the meeting decided to leave the entire control of affairs in the hands of the executive officers.

STRIKES SPREADING.

Several Pittsburg Firms Grant the Demand of the Machinists.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.—The strike for nine hours work and ten hours pay, begun yesterday by the machinists and skilled mechanics, is resulting favorably for them, several firms having granted the demand to-day. The prospects are that they will have won the fight and all be at work in a few days.

At the same time the strike spirit is spreading and several hundred men will come out to-morrow. The molders, about 1,000 in number, are also preparing to make similar demands of their employers.

It is said that the Westinghouse Electric Company and Machine Company will try to fill the strikers' places with new men.

SALVATOR IS CHAMPION.

He Wins the Title in a Fair Contest With Tenny.

MONMOUTH PARK, N. J., Aug. 13.—Over 20,000 people saw Salvator win the Champion Stakes in a square contest with Tenny, the only horse on the American turf that has the right to dispute the title with him.

Salvator was the favorite at 4 to 5 on, while 6 to 5 could be had on Tenny all over the betting ring.

Both got away to a very even start, but in a few jumps Salvator's blazed nose showed in front on the outside. For five furlongs they ran in this order. Then, as they struck the turn for home, Garrison let out a link on Tenny and he shot to the front, getting a lead of half a length. Murphy on Salvator, however, did not let him get any further away. He at once sent Salvator after the little swayback and was soon at Tenny's neck. From this point to within three furlongs of home it was a pretty race.

Then Murphy began to ride and the shout went up: "Tenny is beaten!" It was true. Tenny had to acknowledge defeat. When Murphy found that he had beaten Tenny he eased up, and as Garrison done the same thing it was a tame finish, Salvator winning by four good lengths.

This victory settles decisively the relative merits of Salvator and Tenny.

Cardinal Gibbons in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Cardinal Gibbons has arrived here from Bar Harbor. The Cardinal is the guest of John D. Kelley, Jr., of 213 Clermont avenue. The Cardinal called upon Bishop Loughlin, and the two clergymen drove through Prospect Park to Coney Island. Cardinal Gibbons expressed great regret at the death of Cardinal Newman, whom he termed the most distinguished English Churchman of the day. The Cardinal will start for Baltimore to-morrow.

Green Goods Men in Jail.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The "Green Goods" men, Charles Morton, Joseph Barnard and James J. Daly, who attempted to defraud Mr. Russell B. Harrison, were arraigned before Commissioner Shields and at their own request were remanded until to-morrow when they expect to be represented by their counsel, Mr. Charles Hess. The men were taken back to Ludlow Street Jail.

A Life Saver Drowned.

ROCKAWAY BEACH, L. I., Aug 13.—William Klapper, the life saver at Cote's Beachmere House, Rockaway Beach, was drowned at noon. With his young brother he was rowing in the surf when the catamaran capsized. The brother was saved by Alfred Cameron, the life save at Harper's bathing beach. The body of the drowned man has not yet been recovered.

The Father is Dying.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 13.—A message from Whitehall says that Mrs. Wuchter, the famous faster, is rapidly sinking, and her death is hourly expected. The relatives remain at her bedside. She has eaten nothing for 130 days.

VETERANS AT WORK

The Grand Army Encampment in Session To-day.

ADDRESS BY GENERAL ALGER.

The Women's Relief Corps Holding a National Convention.

Echoes of Yesterday's Great Parade—Over Five Hours in Passing a Given Point—President Harrison Makes a Speech and Leaves for Washington—Detroit After the Next Encampment.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Thousands who came to see the Grand Army parade left the city late last night and early this morning.

The encampment convened this forenoon at Music Hall and General Alger delivered his address and the business of the session commenced. At the same hour at Tremont Temple the national convention of the Women's Relief Corps met, with Mrs. Anne Wittenmeyer presiding.

President Harrison was entertained at dinner by the Mayor's Club last evening, after which he looked in at the reception tendered the G. A. R. at Mechanics' Building. At least 15,000 people availed themselves of the opportunity to see and hear the distinguished persons who were announced to be present.

The visitors were welcomed by Gov. Brackett, who was followed by Mayor Hart, both receiving hearty applause throughout their addresses. Mrs. Wittenmeyer spoke on behalf of the Woman's Relief Corps. Gen. Alger was next called upon, and his words of thanks on behalf of the Grand Army for its reception by the city, State and comrades were cheered to the echo.

Following Gen. Alger, President Harrison was introduced as Comrade Harrison, President of the United States, and was greeted with tremendous applause. President Harrison said:

"As my furlough is almost done and the train is already waiting that must bear me back to Washington, I can only express again the cordial, sincere and fraternal interest which I feel in meeting you all. I can only hope that God will so order the years that are left to you that for you and those who are dear to you they may be ordered in all gentleness and sweetness, in prosperity and success, and that when at last the comrades who survive you shall wrap the flag of the Union about your body and bear it to the grave you may die in peace and in the hope of a glorious resurrection." (Applause.)

On closing the President left at once for the Shore Line depot, where he took the midnight train to Washington.

Vice-President Morton also made a few remarks.

The Next Meeting Place.

The Michigan men are making great and well-directed efforts to secure the next National Encampment for the city of Detroit. The regular G. A. R. delegation are reinforced by a committee of fifty citizens of Detroit, who have come especially to urge the claims of their city. The influence of General Alger will, of course, be thrown for Detroit, and it is expected that an advantageous bargain can be made with one of the sections desiring the Commandership for next year, whereby the strength of such section will go toward the selection of Detroit.

Echoes of the Great Parade.

It was 7:30 o'clock last evening when the last carriage in the G. A. R. procession entered the Square. The parade was five hours and thirty-five minutes passing the reviewing stand.

One of the sights of the parade was the presence of Generals Alger and Butler, standing side by side, saluting column after column as they passed. After the long march which the veterans had undergone, they braced themselves for a good appearance as they passed their commander, and they did fine. Post 5 of Chicago gave the first cheer at the call of "Hurrah for our next President," and it was given heartily. Next came a call of "Three cheers for General Butler," from a Wisconsin Post, and they were given with a will. In fact, both were heartily cheered throughout the passing of the procession.

On the appearance of the Pennsylvania Posts with their torn battle flags rousing cheers went up on all sides. The entire parade was a series of ovations for all the departments along the line of march. The largest Post in the procession was Post 5 of Lynn, Mass., which numbered 725 men in line. All the past commanders of this Post are living, sixteen of whom marched on the staff of E. W. Hall, the present commander.

Delaware Democrats.

DOVER, Del., Aug. 13.—The Democratic State Convention nominated Robert G. Reynolds for Governor on the first ballot. He received 150 votes out of 183. The wildest excitement prevailed. John W. Causey secured the Congressional nomination by acclamation. The platform as adopted scores the McKinley bill, denounces the rulings of Speaker Reed, advises the revision of the State constitution, affirms the principle of civil liberty, arraigns the Republican administration for reckless expenditure, protests against the Force bill and declares for the Australian ballot system.

Shot a Prominent Physician.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Dr. Edward P. Sawyer, one of the oldest and best known physicians in this city, was shot and probably fatally wounded at noon. His assailant was J. Dalton Fancher, a travelling correspondent of the Chicago Horseman. It is said that Mrs. Fancher confessed to her husband, who had just returned from a trip on the road, that she had sustained illicit relations with the physician for three years. Fancher is under arrest.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 |

Batteries—Smith and Zimmer; Rhines and Harrington.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Nichols and Bennett; Smith and Clements.

AT PITTSBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 1 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0—12 |
| Chicago | 2 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1—13 |

Batteries—Gumbert and Decker; Hutchinson and Kittridge.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Rusie and Buckley; Caruthers and Daly.

Players' League.

AT CHICAGO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 2 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 3 | 2 | 14 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—King and Doyle; Haddock and Mack.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 |

Batteries—Radbourne and Kelly; Weyhing and Kinslow.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |

Batteries—Ewing and Ewing; Buffinton and Milligan.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 7 |
| Pittsburg | 2 | 6 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | x | 12 |

Batteries—Bakely and Sutcliffe; Maul and Carroll.

American Association.

AT COLUMBUS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbus | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 |
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Chamberlain and O'Connor; Barr and McKeogh.

AT LOUISVILLE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louisville | 0 | 5 | 3 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 2 | x | 18 |
| Syracuse | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 |

Batteries—Lincoln and Burke; Jones and Bligh.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 3 | 3 | 5 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 3 | 21 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 4 |

Batteries—Hart and Munyan; Murphy and Pitz.

Atlantic Association.

AT HARRISBURG.

The game between the Harrisburg and Washington clubs was forfeited to Harrisburg on account of non-appearance of the Washingtons.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 2 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 1 | 9 |
| Wilmington | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Gilliland and Hofford; Wehrle and Corcoran.

AT LEBANON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 9 |
| Lebanon | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 6 |

Batteries—Baker and Townsend; Daly and Koons.

AT NEWARK.

The Newark and Hartford game postponed on account of rain.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | 5,500 | 3,950 |
| Chicago | 690 | ..... |
| New York | 1,723 | 1,830 |
| Pittsburg | ..... | 1,385 |
| Cleveland | 790 | 875 |
| Totals | 8,703 | 8,006 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 60 | 31 | .659 | Chicago | 58 | 44 | .522 |
| Philadel. | 57 | 35 | .620 | N. York | 48 | 52 | .435 |
| Boston | 59 | 34 | .634 | Clev'land | 37 | 64 | .297 |
| Cincin'ti | 59 | 35 | .615 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 71 | .211 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 53 | 36 | .596 | Philadel. | 50 | 43 | .538 |
| Brookl'n | 55 | 41 | .573 | Pittsb'rg | 49 | 45 | .471 |
| Chicago | 51 | 42 | .548 | Clev'land | 38 | 50 | .432 |
| N. York | 49 | 42 | .538 | Buffalo | 25 | 62 | .287 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 57 | 31 | .648 | Col'mb's | 45 | 44 | .506 |
| St. Louis | 52 | 36 | .591 | Toledo | 41 | 45 | .488 |
| Athletic | 47 | 42 | .528 | Syracuse | 36 | 52 | .409 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 41 | .523 | Brookl'n | 27 | 61 | .307 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'more | 63 | 23 | .739 | Wash't'n | 37 | 46 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 59 | 24 | .711 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 55 | .393 |
| Newark | 48 | 36 | .571 | Wilm't'n | 30 | 55 | .345 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 36 | .526 | Hartford | 21 | 60 | .259 |

Schedule of To-day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Brooklyn, at New York.
Philadelphia vs. Boston; at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Cincinnati, at Cleveland.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Pittsburg.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

New York vs. Philadelphia, at New York.
Boston vs. Brooklyn, at Bostoa.
Chicago vs. Buffalo, at Chicago.
Cleveland vs. Pittsburg, at Cleveland.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Athletics, at Toledo.
Columbus vs. Rochester, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Syracuse, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Brooklyn, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Newark vs. New Haven, at New Haven.
Baltimore vs. Lebanon at Baltimore.
Washington vs. Harrisburg, at Washington.
Hartford vs. Wilmington, at Hartford.

TROTTING FOR $10,000.

The Grand Circuit Opens at Rochester in an Exciting Contest.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The opening of the Grand Circuit races was the most successful ever had in this city.

The great feature of the day was the Flower City $10,000 guarantee stake, to which the followers of the circuit had been looking forward for some time. It proved a great race.

There were sixteen entries and twelve starters and it took six heats to finish it. Leopard Rose, the "phenom," who did a mile in this class in 2:15¼ at Cleveland, was a hot favorite in the pools before the races opened, but she only took one heat. She was speedy but unsteady.

Pixley, Budd Doble's mare, took two heats, but the race was won by Keno F, a comparative stranger, whose dam is unknown. This horse is owned by Bob Stewart of Kansas City and is a remarkably steady trotter. Three of the heats were made in 2:17½, which is the fastest ever made here in the 2:30 class. The race was a puzzle to the gamesters and the betting was heavy.

COMMONERS EXCITED

Two Members Indulge in Sharp Personalities.

SPANISH SOLDIERS KILLED.

Warships Dispatched to Punish the Murderous Natives Who Made the Attack.

Thousands of Mourners to Follow Cardinal Newman's Remains to the Place of Burial—A Russian Envoy Becomes Insane—Desertions from the British Army—Irish Leaders Coming Here.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—An extraordinary scene was enacted in the House of Commons last night while Mr. Matthews, the Home Secretary, held the floor.

Mr. Matthews was addressing the House in reply to severe censures which had been passed upon his method of dealing with the matter of capital sentences, when he was interrupted by Mr. Tanner, Member for the Middle Division of Cork, who exclaimed: "How about Dungarvan?" To this Mr. Matthews replied: "I do not know who that vulgar interrupter is."

Mr. Tanner immediately appealed to the Chairman, who justified the expression which Mr. Matthews had made use of. Upon this Mr. Tanner sprang to his feet, and in a loud and angry voice denounced the Home Secretary as "the dirtiest skunk who ever sat upon the Treasury Bench."

A scene of intense excitement followed, members demanding that the words be taken down, others shaking their fists at one another and still others bandying epithets.

At this juncture Mr. Sexton approached Mr. Tanner and with considerable difficulty persuaded that gentleman to withdraw the offensive words and offer an apology.

SOLDIERS KILLED.

Spaniards Savagely Attacked by Natives on the Island of Yap.

MADRID, Aug. 13.—The Government has received advices from the Island of Yap, one of the Caroline group, in the Pacific Ocean, to the effect that while a detachment of the Spanish garrison were cutting wood in the forest they were suddenly and furiously attacked by the natives.

The Spaniards lost in killed one lieutenant and 27 soldiers, the rest of the party escaping with great difficulty.

A steamer dispatched by the governor of the Carolines to punish the belligerent natives having run aground, a landing party was sent out in two boats, but was compelled to return to the steamer.

The Spanish Government has ordered warships to immediately proceed to Yap and punish the hostiles.

The Big Strike in Wales.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Lord Dunraven has written a letter to Benjamin Tibbett, the labor agitator and leader, stating that he will be delighted to act as arbitrator in the Welsh strike if both sides are entirely willing. As the masters are in a very angry frame of mind over the turn which their affairs have taken through the determination of the men and the large amount of public sympathy which is being bestowed upon them, however, it is regarded as likely that they will refuse the offer of Lord Dunraven or anybody else in the capacity of arbitrator and continue to fight the strike.

Irish Leaders Coming to America.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Mr. Timothy Harrington has decided to accompany Mr. William O'Brien and Mr. John Dillon on their proposed trip to America for the purpose of reorganizing the National League of the United States and placing it under the direct control of the League in Ireland. During their stay in America the three gentlemen will deliver addresses in the principal cities.

Cardinal Newman's Funeral.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Thousands of sincere mourners are arranging to follow Cardinal Newman's remains in procession to his place of burial on Tuesday next, and many other demonstrations in honor of his memory are in preparation. The beautitude of his life and the happiness of his last moments are also alluded to as entitling his memory to be honored by all Englishmen, and accentuating the certainty of his heavenly reward for his blameless career.

British Army Desertions.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The number of desertions from the British army because of the tyranny of the non-commissioned officers, and from other causes, is increasing. The police are scouring the country for deserters, and several of them have already been apprehended and returned to their regiments and confined.

A Russian Envoy Becomes Insane.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—M. Persiani, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Russia to the Court of Belgrade, who is visiting Paris, has become insane and has been placed in confinement in this city.

Mr. Depew in Germany.

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—Mr. Chauncey M. Depew, president of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, was at Oberammergau on Sunday. It was his intention to go thence to Homburg.

Tariff Talk in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Mr. Morgan concluded his argument begun yesterday on the Tariff bill, and was followed by Mr. Daniel who spoke principally on the tin plate paragraph.

THE ANTI-LOTTERY BILL.

Mr. Bingham Defends the House Committee on Postoffices.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—General Bingham, of Pennsylvania, who has been criticised for dilatoriness in reporting the Anti-Lottery bill, in defence of his House Committee on Postoffices points out that the Senate committee only yesterday reported favorably the same bill. The House committee reported the bill on July 25.

The bill was prepared by the Postoffice department and is known as the Wanamaker bill.

The Senate Committee added the following amendment: "Provided that this shall not be construed to exclude newspapers published in foreign countries from the mails, unless, in the opinion of the Postmaster-General, they are being circulated for the purpose of advertising such schemes in the violation of this statute, which said advertisement shall not be publicly contradicted or repudiated by said person, firm, bank, corporation or association."

Sixteen Millions of Dollars.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Chief Meredeth, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, will to-day deliver to the Secretary of the Treasury the first lot of new silver certificates. They are of the denomination of $1,000, and the total par value of the lot is $16,000,000. These certificates are believed to be the handsomest piece of note work ever executed. They bear on their face the vignette of Gen. Meade.

Mr. Clarkson to Retire Soon.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Mr. Clarkson, the First Assistant Postmaster-General, has written to the President that he would expect to retire from the Postoffice Department as soon as his report on the operations of the department in the West is completed. This, he estimated, would be not later than the 1st of September. Gen. Clarkson expects his successor to be nominated by that time.

Extending Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A concurrent resolution passed the House extending to August 29 the appropriations for the support of the Government now already provided for in appropriation bills passed.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Prohibitionists of the Fourth district of Maine nominated Volney B. Cushing of Bangor for Congress.

Careful estimates of the growing Florida orange crop places it at about 2,000,000 boxes or about the same as last year.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Widner was convicted at Little Rock, Ark., of murdering her husband. The murderess is 70 years of age.

It is estimated that 15,000 original package saloons in Iowa were in operation Friday and nine-tenths of these have now closed up shop.

The well-known capitalist, Nicholas Luning, died from heart disease in San Francisco last night. His wealth is variously estimated at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

The annual report of N. J. Bachelder, Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration of New Hampshire, shows that of 1,842 abandoned farms reported in the State last August, 301 are now occupied.

Prince Napoleon has arrived at Tunis. He is reported to be traveling under an assumed name and to have a passport from the Italian Government. It is stated that a desire to inspect an estate is the reason for his visit to Tunis.

A young man named Michael Carney put his head out of a car window while passing through Harrison, N. J. He was caught by a pole and his body drawn through the window and horribly mangled. Death resulted instantly.

Max Schultz is under arrest in Chicago on a warrant sworn out by Tina Witte, who says she married him a few weeks ago, not knowing that he had five wives living at the time, as she now asserts to be the fact.

It rained in the vicinity of Emporia, Kan., almost continually since Friday night until noon yesterday. Nearly five inches of rain have fallen, which thoroughly dampened the earth, and farmers say that much corn may yet be saved. Grass and fodder are assured. Specials received here show the rain to have been widespread throughout the State.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—For New England: Fair; slightly warmer in eastern; stationary temperature in western portion; northeasterly winds, becoming variable.

For Eastern New York: Fair; slightly warmer; northerly winds, becoming variable.

For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Fair; slight changes in temperature, except warmer in New Jersey; variable winds.

For Western New York: Warmer; fair weather; winds shifting to southeasterly.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Money on call to-day, 8 and 1 8 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 104 | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 104 | 104 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 124¼ | 124¼ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 124¼ | 124¼ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 78⅝ | 79⅛ |
| Central Pacific | 33 | ..... |
| Chicago, Bur & Quincy | 102 | 103¼ |
| Delaware & Hudson | 101 | ..... |
| Del. Lack. & Western | 143¼ | 144¼ |
| Erie | 25 | 25⅜ |
| Erie pref | ..... | ..... |
| Lake Shore | 106¾ | 107⅜ |
| Louis. & Nash | 83⅛ | 83⅜ |
| Michigan Central | 94⅝ | 97⅛ |
| Missouri Pacific | 97 | 98¼ |
| New Jersey Central | 122 | 123 |
| Northwestern | 109¾ | 109¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | 101 | ..... |
| Pacific Mail | 42 | 44 |
| Reading | 43 | 43¼ |
| Rock Island | 89¼ | 89 |
| St. Paul | 73 | 74⅜ |
| Union Pacific | 56¾ | 57⅛ |
| Western Union | 83 | 83 |

THE DAILY PRESS

IS AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—The nurse maids of The Netherwood had a straw ride last night.

—Six stages containing the Sunday school of the First Church of Christ, of this city, left this morning for Boynton Beach.

—The first evening reception of the Catholic Young Men's Literary Union will be held in St. Mary's school hall this evening.

—The Grangers' Club of Roseland, Essex county, hold their tenth annual picnic at Tuttle Grove on the banks of the Passaic, Thursday of next week.

—The Carpenters' and Joiners' Union held their regular meeting last evening at eight o'clock, in Jr. O. U. A. M., Hall. Business of importance to the Union was transacted.

—The tournament of the Middlesex Gun Club will take place one week earlier than previously announced. Instead of October it will be in September. Full notice later.

—The First Church of Christ meets at Vanderbeek's Hall every Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:45 o'clock. Subject this evening: "The Second Coming of Christ." These meetings are very instructive. All are welcome.

—Farmers in the vicinity of Plainfield report legions of rabbits this year. They say that this game has not been so plentiful before in fifteen years, but don't let anybody get over-excited. Perhaps the report is set afloat to boom the powder and shot trust.

—A large bat flew into a Plainfield drug store last night and caused considerable excitement among clerks and customers. The bird knocked over several bottles and caused two or three crashes in glassware. It finally flew through a window-pane and vanished.

—For a short time you can buy a $90 safety for $65, all ball-bearing, all parts interchangeable, the best wheel made for the price. You will do well to take advantage of this rare opportunity, before buying elsewhere. Call at 33 Park avenue and examine. Ask to see the "Jewel."

—Members and friends of the Warren Mission Sunday school will journey by excursion train to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove Friday, August 22. The train will leave Dunellen at 7:45, and Plainfield at 8 o'clock. Returning, the excursionists will leave the Park at 6 o'clock. The train will stop at Long Branch both going and coming.

—Through the kindness of Joe Miller, the manager of Low Dockstader's Minstrels, an attractive advertisement banner has been flung to the breeze across Front street, opposite Music Hall, announcing the date of performance here, August 26, of the newly-organized George Thatcher's Minstrels. Joe is generous in thus advertising his friend, who is also in the same line of business.

—The excursion of the Temperance Society and the Emerald Association, connected with St. Mary's church, takes place August 27. The trip includes a fine sail up the East River, to Grand View Park, on the steamer Blackbird and barge C. A. Arthur, allowing all an opportunity to witness the many interesting sights that are to be seen. Dancing will be indulged in, and Prof. Cahill, of Elizabeth will furnish the music. All who go will be assured of a pleasant time.

A Denial Concerning John Reinmann.

Mrs. Reinmann, whose husband was returned to the Trenton asylum, yesterday, as still uncured, says he was not violent in any way. When Dr. Ward permitted the patient to leave the asylum Saturday, he told Mrs. Reinmann that he could not tell how her husband would be affected upon returning to live among his children and neighbors; and he told her to send Reinmann right back if he was the least flighty.

The unfortunate man remembered all his old friends and familiar faces, when he arrived home Saturday evening, and greated everybody cordially. He was perfectly rational until Sunday night when he insisted that the pictures in the room were hung crooked, and he got out of bed and took them down. It was therefore thought best to return Reinmann to the asylum, and he accompanied his wife there yesterday as told in THE PRESS. Mrs. Reinmann wishes to deny all reports that were given the papers for publication, to the effect that her husband was violent.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blimm are at the Voorhees cottage Ocean Grove, N. J.

Miss Emma Dayton of Brooklyn, is visiting Mrs. Wm. Babcock of Webster place.

Miss Whitman of East Front street, has just returned from a visit to Tarrytown.

Mrs. J. T. Case of 11 Vine street, North Plainfield, is slowly recovering from her recent severe illness.

Mrs. James Patterson and children, of West Front street, returned yesterday from a trip to Scotland.

W. L. Titsworth of East Fifth street, with his son Sidney, is spending the week at Lake Hopatcong.

Mrs. A. Lutkins and Mrs. L. A. Hummer and son of North Plainfield, are at Oradel and Westwood, N. J.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes left Plainfield today for Saratoga, where he will spend several days previous to visiting the mountains.

Mrs. Lance and daughter, Eva, of Emily street, North Plainfield, returned home this morning from their visit among friends at Califon, N. J.

Mrs. E. Chapin, Mrs. Wm. H. Brokaw and Mrs. G. W. Clark of East Fifth street, are having an outing at the Oranges, with Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkins and family.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut of Plainfield, conducted a Round Table among the students at Chautauqua yesterday. The students became highly enthusiastic, and were sorry when the end came.

Walter L. Hetfield, executor of Antoine DeBaud, deceased, of Plainfield, has transferred to Mary K. Illsley, of Bound Brook, two lots West corner Bartle and Stout avenues, Fanwood, 100x148 feet, for a consideration of $120.

John K. VanNess has taken possession of his recently purchased "Rutka Villa" on East Front street, and will soon commence the erection of a handsome new dwelling on the premises. Mr. VanNess is a prosperous attorney, whose office is at 212 Broadway, New York.

Early Closing.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The Clerks' Association of Plainfield have been working in a courteous manner with the different lines of trade in our city, and with good success; and to whom do we owe our success? The all-grasping merchant who works for his own selfish gain, with no regard for his clerks' or any one else's pleasure, or the liberal, prosperous merchant? whose liberal ideas allow him to see the benefit of shorter hours, and is willing to give those who toil for his gain, a chance for pleasure as well as himself.

We will give you a list of the merchants who so kindly responded to our request, and leave it to your judgment as to which class of merchants we have been successful with, and at the same time appeal to you, the people, for the kind consideration of our cause, and take it home to yourselves. Would you not rather have your husbands, sons or daughters, who may be compelled to work, at home with you spending a pleasant evening, than to be confined in a hot, ill-ventilated store two hours extra every day, twelve hours each week; in twenty years very nearly three years extra. Of course you can give but one answer. Now it lies with you to place and keep over a hundred such employed into shorter hours, (and not unreasonably short either), 7 P. M., Saturdays and Holiday eves excepted, is all we ask. And the way to do this is simple. All you have to do is, not to trade with those who do not appear on our list. By so doing you will encourage those who have so promptly responded, and cause the others to see the error of long hours, and complete our already successful movement.

Yours truly,
CLERKS' EARLY CLOSING ASS'N.

Grocers—G. W. Rockfellow, P. M. Demarest, Barkalew & Dunn, R. O. Howell, Estelle, Taylor & Neuman, James M. Dunn, Martin Brothers, J. A. Smith, J. F. MacDonald, B. D. Newall, T. Randolph, Andrew Love, Jr., R. W. Rice & Co., J. K. Arnold, Chas. Tallman, Barnes Brothers, S. Sharkey, J. H. Blimm, B. S. Braider, J. P. Humble.
Gents Furnishing Goods and Clothiers—W. H. Sebring, Schwed Brothers, A. C. Horton.
Dry Goods—Seeley Edsall, H. A. Pope, S. H. Whitney, S. C. Peck.
Butchers—Lutkins & Hummer, Smalley Brothers, G. A. Moore, J. W. VanSickle, Jesse Hatfield, I. Lewis, I. D. TenEyck & Co., G. H. VanNest, N. B. Smalley & Co., George Orleman, George Feller.
Boots and Shoes—Doane & VanArsdale, Rogers Brothers, H. Sherwin, G. W. Force, John Kenney, C. P. Wheeler, Alex. Willetts, B. R. Force.
Hardware—A. M. Griffen, J. P. Laire & Co., J. C. Pierson & Co., J. C. Allen & Co.
Jewelers—C. Dickenson, Asa Collier, J. Hervey Doane, J. Moraller.
Millinery—Mrs. P. Dunn.
Furniture—G. Q. Packer, R. R. Fairchild, Fowlison & Jones.

—Ed. Thorn and his "old partner" yesterday nearly broke the record of a recent catch of black bass reported in these columns by Ed. and friend. They caught thirteen "dandies," as the saying goes, and could have done better, only they desired to leave a "few" for others. A monster snapping turtle had the audacity to swallow a choice bait on partner's hook, and became a captive in consequence. The scene of the "catch" was at Cranford river. Now don't all go at once.

A GROVE STREET MYSTERY.

Story of a Strange Bundle and Its Sensational Sequel.

A man with a straw hat and a big brown bundle is the cause of a sensation that has just begun to spread in Plainfield. The individual with the headgear of vegetable fibre crossed the Grove street bridge from the Borough at dusk Monday evening, bearing a large package with wrappings of a diluted chocolate color. At the high board fence inclosing the grounds at the rear of the Schepflin building the stranger halted a moment, tossed his burden over the fence, wheeled about, and returned to the seclusion of North Plainfield.

Wm. Campbell saw the queer proceeding, and at once reported to Geo. W. Grant, Captain of Police, that he had run against a mystery. Captain Grant visited the scene of the bundle-throwing, and by the aid of Mr. Campbell's friendly boost was able to see the bundle as it lay where it had rolled, down the bank sloping towards the raceway, in a corner of the fence. The gates were closed and locked for the night, and owing to the presence of a sharp-edged fringe of spikes along the fence-top the fence could not be scaled. It was therefore decided to let the bundle lie in its seclusion till daylight.

At five o'clock Tuesday morning the gates were opened according to custom. Between that hour and the hour when Captain Grant arrived the bundle vanished. It has not been heard from since, nor has any one interested in solving the mystery of the bundle seen anything of the man with the straw hat.

This morning, however, Nicholas Conway found in the spot where the bundle had been, a cigar box filled with tiny bones, seemingly those of an infant. He devoted hours to detective work, in his efforts to ascertain the source of the box and its osseous contents, before he found out that his friends in Schepflin's had been playing a practical joke.

If the second bundle was a joke, however, the original package wasn't, and the employes of Schepflin & Co., are spreading among their friends the tale of mystery, and all are wondering what was in the bundle and why it appeared and disappeared so strangely.

Peaches a Failure but Jersey Farms a Good Investment.

A correspondent writes that the peach crop in Southern New Jersey has been a disastrous failure this season. Orchard after orchard has barely enough fruit to furnish a dozen cans of preserves for the owners. The reason for this is said to be that the very mild Winter caused the trees to blosom, which was followed by blighting frosts. One may ride over a large tract of country without finding half a dozen trees which bear any fruit at all. This means a considerable loss to the farmers down there who rely largely on their orchards for their profits.

On the other hand, there has not been such a successful berry season as the one just passed in many years, and some of the farmers have cleared large sums out of their berry farms. Sweet potatoes are also unusually promising, and perhaps between them and the berries the farmers will be tided over. As a rule South Jersey farms are very valuable and give large net returns.

In talking with the farmers the writer learned that the value of the farms has increased very largely within the past few years, although the vineyards have proved failures. In a number of instances farms that had been bought for $2,000 five years ago have recently been sold for $10,000 and $15,000. A good deal of speculation is going on there, too, and some of the farmers are holding land with the expectation of continued increase in values.

Mistress and Servant "Sass" One Another.

A story of household infelicity was reported to Police Captain Grant yesterday by Lizzie Mallin, who had been working for Mrs. Martin Geagan, of West Front street. Lizzie said that she and Mrs. Geagan had had a row, and Mrs. Geagan had abused her and sworn at her.

"Are you sure she swore at you?" asked the Captain.

"Yes," was the response. "And I swore at her too."

"I guess you were as much to blame as she," said Mr. Grant, and advised her to make no complaint.

Lizzie said she'd have the satisfaction of leaving, anyway, and went to Mrs. Geagan's to resign and get her clothes and wages.

East Plainfield to be Forever Misrepresented Abroad!

That the World is still the victim of fake correspondents in this city, is again shown by the following in this morning's issue. There is not a word of truth in the whole story, as everybody knows:

The hot weather of the past few weeks has produced rabies among the mongrel homeless dogs in the country surrounding Plainfield. In the past few months several mad dogs have entered the city limits, created consternation among the people and bitten several dogs. These were as far as possible killed. On Monday a small bull dog went mad and bit several dogs on Somerset street, a cow and some hogs belonging to a resident of Greenbrook road, and was killed after tearing a small dog to pieces. The bitten dogs were either instantly killed by their owners or are kept securely chained to await developments.

A Very Fine Church Site.

The lot that the Unitarians have purchased for their proposed church edifice, is one of the finest sites in Plainfield. It is in the middle of the block on which the Park House stands, and has a frontage of 75 feet on Park avenue, with a depth of 200.

PITH AND POINT.

—"Oh, mamma, won't you please give me a piece of that cake?" "No, my dear; it will make you sick." "I don't want to eat it; I only want to make some sinkers for my fish-line."—Golden Days.

—Beggs—"I wonder why Mrs. Jaggs won't let her husband employ a female typewriter operator?" Foggs—"Don't you know? She was his former typewriter operator herself." — Munsey's Weekly.

—Doctor—"What is your husband's complaint ma'am? Is it chronic?" Wife—"Yes, sir. I have never known him to be satisfied with a meal for the last thirty-five years."—Burlington Free Press.

—"Dear, I do wish I could think of some way to make the congregation keep their eyes on me during the sermon." Little Tommy—"Pa, you want to put the clock right behind the pulpit."—The Epoch.

—Miss Debutante—"Were you at the Bjones' reception, yesterday, Mr. Bjonson?" Mr. Bjonson—"Yes, I stepped in for a few minutes, but there was such a lot of uninteresting girls there I soon left. Were you there?"

—Young Husband—"What! You are twenty-five years old to-day? Why you told me a year ago, just before the wedding, that you were only twenty." Young Wife (wearily)—"I have aged rapidly since I married."

—Clerk (in ready-made clothing-store)—"Will you please give me an hour off this afternoon, sir?" Proprietor—"What do you want to get off for?" Clerk—"I want to go and buy a suit of clothes."—Boston Courier.

—"Hullo, Stiggins! I hardly knew you. When I last saw you you were dying from sleeplessness, and here you are, fat and happy. What has cured you?" "Been appointed on the police force."—Philadelphia Times.

—Aunt Maria—"Your husband seems unusually amiable and pleasant now, dear." Ethel (recently married)—"Well, yes. You see, I have stopped going to cooking school, and we now have a cook."—Harper's Bazar.

—First Citizen—"I hear the Government has rejected one of the new cruisers. What was the matter with it?" Second Citizen—"I presume it hadn't enough speed to get away from a foreign battle-ship."—N. Y. Weekly.

—Batchell (to happy father)—"Congratulate you, old man, on the new arrival. Whom does he look like?" Father (remembering the visitors' comments)—"He looks like all his relatives on both sides of the family."—Exchange.

—Fond Mother—"I have called Johnnie a dozen times to come in and go on an errand, but he won't come. He is out there playing with one of the neighbor's children." Caller (meaningly)—"He—won't come?" Fond Mother—"No. Those neighbor children ought to have more respect for my feelings than to go on playing with him after he has been called, and I shall send them home this instant."—N. Y. Weekly.

REMARKABLE CAREER.

An Arab Foundling Now a Colonel in the French Army.

The public has been reading lately a great many dispatches from France and Africa giving the progress of the war which the French Government has been waging in Dahomey. Lieutenant-Colonel Archinard was the officer mentioned as being in command of the French troops, who, although merely a handful of some 400 or 500 cavalry, have inflicted great slaughter on their opponents, killing as many as 1,000 in a single engagement.

There recently arrived in this city a young French officer who is an intimate friend of Colonel Archinard and who relates the following strange history of the dashing young Colonel's life:

"About twenty-six years ago, at the time France was engaged in a series of petty wars against the nomad tribes in Algeria, and after one of these engagements, a certain Gaston Archinard, then a Captain in a cavalry regiment, was attending to the removal of the wounded, when one of his men discovered a little Arab child who had evidently been abandoned by its parents in their flight. Being a bachelor, and, liking the bright, intelligent look in the little fellow's face, the Captain determined to adopt him and give him his name. He therefore sent him to a lycee or French school in Bordeaux, where the lad was educated, and later, in 1875, the Captain having risen to the rank of Brigadier-General, he caused him to be enlisted as a private in the Seventh Hussars, under his own name of Archinard. Gaining rapid promotion he was soon sent to the cavalry school at Saumar, from whence he graduated in 1880, only ten years ago, as a sub-Lieutenant of cavalry. He was then sent to Tunis and fought through the campaign of 1882, and the following year saw him commanding a battalion in Tonquin. In 1887 he was sent to Senegal as a Major in the famous regiment of Spahis Senegalais, which he commanded as Lieutenant-Colonel in his late successful campaign in Dahomey. Although a pure-blooded Arab, with a thorough French military education, Colonel Archinard, it is whispered in prominent Parisian military circles, is next on the list for promotion to the coveted rank of General of a division of the French army.—San Francisco Examiner.

Practical Economy.

First Collegiate—What in the world have you stopped smoking cigarettes and started in on cigars for?

Second Collegiate—Oh, father made me promise to try to save money by swearing off cigarettes, you know.—Munsey's Weekly.

Turn About.

Smiley—I'm going to be married to the beautiful Miss Sharpe. Congratulate me, old boy, and come and drink her health.

Slimley—Yes, you're right to toast her now—she'll toast you when you're married.—West Shore.

And Old Army Wound Stops a Sermon.

A colored preacher visiting in Plainfield preached in the Immanuel Mission rooms, in Cutter's Hall, Sunday, and was in the midst of his discourse when an old sore, the result of an army wound, burst, and bled so profusely that in a few minutes the preacher became very faint, and medical assistance had to be summoned. The minister was assisted from the pulpit to his stopping-place. He is still confined to his bed with the resultant weakness.

—In that haven of saintly rest, Asbury Park—remarks the New Brunswick Home News—a local doctor and a Plainfield drug clerk have had a good, square, old-fashioned slugging match because they could not agree about the fatality of one of the doctor's prescriptions. Had such a thing happened anywhere else it would have been regarded as lamentable.

Beauty Without Paint.

"What makes my skin so dark and muddy?
My cheeks were once so smooth and ruddy!
I use the best cosmetics made,"
Is what a lovely maiden said.
"That's not the cure, my charming Miss,"
The doctor said—"remember this:
If you your skin would keep from taint,
Discard the powder and the paint.
"The proper thing for such ills
Is this," remarked the man of pills:
"Enrich the blood and make it pure—
In this you'll find the only cure."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do this without fail. It has no equal. All druggists.

Wedding Tour on a Bicycle.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 13.—H. T. Backus and Miss Genevieve A Smith were married yesterday evening. Both bride and groom were attired in bicycle costume, and as soon as the ceremony was over they mounted a tandem and started on their wedding trip. Their proposed route was to South Norwalk, New Rochelle, Albany and Paterson.

Senator Quay's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Senator Quay startled his Republican and Democratic colleagues by offering a resolution which explicitly provides for a postponement of the Lodge Election bill until next session. The resolution provides that only the tariff, general appropriation, public building, land and pension bills be considered this session.

Floods in Hungary.

VIENNA, Aug. 13.—The floods in Hungary continue. A large number of houses have been undermined and have collapsed, and a number of lives have been lost. In many large sections the crops have been entirely destroyed.

Secretary Windom's Vacation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Secretary Windom left Washington in the morning for a very short vacation. He went to New York and will take a vessel there for a cruise in Long Island Sound, after which he will go to the White Mountains for a few days. He expects to be away from official cares for about two weeks. Assistant Secretary Spaulding will act as Secretary during his absence.

Death Resulted from Diving.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Edgar Martin, aged 23, married, while diving in Kingston creek, Sunday, in shallow water, struck bottom with such force that he sustained an injury to his spine that resulted in his death last night.

Thinks Her Husband Has Eloped.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 13.—Walter Elder, the pitcher of the baseball club of this place, is charged by his wife with having eloped with Mamie Kelly, 16 years old, who has resided in the same house with the Elders. Walter left the house on Saturday, taking with him his eight year old son. He said he was going to Morristown to pitch for the club. Shortly after Mamie left the house, stating that she was going to spend the day at the seashore. They have not been seen since.

DR. PARR, the celebrated scholar, was once preaching in the country parish of another clergyman, and, as was his habit, used very learned language. The rector afterward said to him: "They could not understand you." "Nonsense," said Dr. Parr. "I am sure there was nothing in my sermon which they could not comprehend." "Well," said the rector, "I will call one of them in and see if he understands the meaning of the word 'felicity.'" So he called in a laboring man and said: "John, can you tell me the meaning of 'felicity?'" "Well, I don't know, sir," said John, "but I believe it is some part of the inside of a pie."

Constable's Sale

Of Crockery, Glassware, Tinware, etc., at 35 West Front street, Thursday, August 14, at 10 A. M.
G. R. ROCKAFELLOW, Constable.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

ROOMS to let, in a nice location. Address L., PRESS office. 8-13-2

A YOUNG man would like a situation with either a grocer or butcher; good references. Address "Willing," PRESS office.

FRONT room (unfurnished) to let, No. 11 West 6th street. Inquire at 13 West 6th st. 8-13-2

3 OR 4 unfurnished rooms wanted by man and wife. Will board outside. Private house preferred. Address, F. W. Runyon, Box 764. 8-13-2

BOY WANTED at Sherwin's, 23 W. Front st. 8-12-tf

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms, to respectable colored family. Apply PRESS office. 8-12-tf

DRESSMAKING in all its branches; cutting and fitting by the McDowell system. Satisfaction guaranteed. Call at No. 6 West Second street. 8-12-6

FOR SALE, Cheap—Two 2-seat sleighs and one cutter. Price $40. Also, two sets of double harness, $15. One first class Landau, and gold-mounted harness, price, $250. Apply 24 Arlington avenue. 8-11 3

LOT FOR SALE—Elegant building lot on Sanford avenue. Good investment. Apply E. C. Mulford, Broker. 8-11-6

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing, kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 6-11-tf

Arrival and Departure of Mails

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 9 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 2:45, 5:30 and 9 P. M.
SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.
SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.
E. R. POPE, P. M.

MOY.

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.
The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 23c pound.
Havermeyer & Elder's standard Granulated Sugar.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEMAREST, 25 PARK AVENUE. 8-6-tf

Assignee's Notice to Creditors

Notice is hereby given to the creditors of Andrew L. Carney and John H. Carney, partners as Carney Bros., plumbers and tinners, at No. 9 Somerset street, in the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, that all claims against the estate of said firm must be exhibited to the subscriber, their assignee, at his office No. 34 West Front street in said city of Plainfield, under oath or affirmation, on or before the second day of September next, being three months from the date of the assignment, or be forever barred from coming in for a dividend of the estate; and the said creditors are further notified that a list of the claims against the said Andrew L. Carney and John Carney, partners as Carney Bros., will be filed with the Clerk of Common Pleas of Union county, at the expiration of said three months, when exceptions thereto may be filed by any person interested.
Dated July 18, 1890.
WM. M. STILLMAN, Assignee.
7-23 30-8-6 13 20 27

First Evening Reception
OF THE
Catholic Young Men's Literary Union,
At St. Mary's School Hall, Wednesday Evening, August 13.
Tickets, 25 Cents. 8-11-3

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-9-y

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 8-13-y

TRY OUR
Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 8-11-tf

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING,
Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 5-25-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,
NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE.
OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
45 North Avenue,
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[POPE'S HOUSE,] No. 6 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting. 2-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 58.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-1

PECK'S
CORNER.
A COOL STORE,
AND
A WARM WELCOME,
AT
PECK'S!
28 WEST FRONT STREET.

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS.
CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.
Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons.
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-F." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.
—SELLING OUT CHEAP!—
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.
1-5-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish, Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 25 Points worth considering:
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-y

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,
A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And
Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

DIED IN THE CAUSE OF CHRIST.

Young Gates, Who Left This City for Africa in May, is Cut Down in the Very Beginning of His Work.

News has been received of the death of Warren J. Harris and Frank Gates, missionaries, at Sierra Leone, Africa, of fever, July 9. Gates is a nephew of Wm. L. Gavett of this city, and Harris is a son of Gen. B. E. Harris of Augusta, Me.

The young men were in Plainfield, Sunday, May 11, and spoke at the Y. M. C. A. rooms and the Crescent Avenue church. They attracted many friends and sympathizers by their earnestness and sincerity. Mr. Gavett told a PRESS reporter this morning that he had heard nothing of the circumstances surrounding the death of his nephew. He had just received a letter from missionary Gates' brother, containing merely a statement of the death.

One of the party wrote home upon their arrival as follows:

SIERRA LEONE, WEST COAST OF AFRICA, June 30, 1890.

The little party of eight that sailed from New York May 14, reached Sierra Leone on the 16th of June. The following two weeks have been spent in getting settled in our temporary quarters and in much waiting before God for further plans. We have taken a house for a month or longer, as we shall be led to remain, and are now comfortably located in a healthful place. Not one day of sickness has come to any member of the party since landing and indeed our Lord has been pleased to take from us even the aches and pains that were brought with us from Kansas and elsewhere (Matt. 8:17). Neither is the praise for this due to medicine, for not one grain of it has been taken, but wholly to the abiding faithfulness of our Lord, whom alone we trust for all things.

The rainy season had commenced two weeks previous to our arrival and will last through October. This is considered the unfavorable season for both health and travel, especially the latter. Mr. Kingman had therefore thought it would probably be wise for us to remain in Sierra Leone until dry weather, and according to the prevalent idea here anything else would seem out of the question. However, we remember that "the time is short" and "the coming of the Lord draweth nigh." We are reminded also that less than a year ago this little party looked from their Western homes toward Africa through seemingly impassable barriers. When the first three started from Kansas, altogether they possessed not enough to pay the fare of one of them to New York—and yet the number increased to nine and without human promise of support, the impossibilities have faded away, the ocean has been crossed and all now stand "by the will of God," on the border of the Soudan. After much prayer therefore, it has been decided to send three of the brethren into the interior at once, planning for one to rpturn as soon as the necessary information about the people and country can be obtained, probably in from three to five months. Messrs Kingman, Gates and Jaderquist have been set apart to go forward and bear the hardships while the rest remain behind for a time and minister to them in prayer. We are now arranging as rapidly as possible for the trip and hope that they may start about the Fourth of July. Looking forward to what we know they must encounter through the sun and rains of the season, it is with a deeper desire than we can express that we who are left behind ask our brethren at home, with us, to commit unto the God of the sea, and the wilderness, of David and the Hebrew captives, these three who go for His sake into the "regions beyond."

Believing that God himself hath committed unto our prayer and care this great field, we are bold to ask Him for help, and we confidently hope that the great Missionary Convention at Indianapolis next September will be the "Farewell meeting" for the largest Missionary party that has ever left America.

On the next mail I hope to write you more in detail concerning the equipment of the first expedition and also much information that will be helpful for the next party.

Bound Brook—Suffering From Tramps of Both Sexes.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The people of this place are doing some very deep thinking in regard to having police protection. There are places in town where the rougher classes make their headquarters and insult most every passer by. It is hardly safe for a lady to venture past these places after dark. A lockup is also spoken of, and no doubt one will come before long. With a lockup and a few policemen, the ladies would have no fear of going and coming from church, at least.

A number of girls have banded themselves together and won the name of "The Five Cent Fiends." Every night they are out making victims of all the young men they possibly can. At times they are unsuccessful but most always when they surround their victim, the poor young man for the sake of getting rid of them will gladly pay them each the five cents they demand. Lately a young man was captured by them, who is now doing his best to wipe them out. Every young man in town wishes him success.

E. J.

His First Vacation in Eighteen Years.

Peter Hoagland, the expressman, whose face is familiar to all Plainfielders, left town today for an extended visit among relatives in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kansas. This is Mr. Hoagland's first vacation of any kind since he bought his express business of Charles Bryan, in 1872. His constant and careful personal attention to business has brought him a large custom, the care of which has of late been so great as to make a period of rest imperative. During his absence his son, Alvin E. Hoagland, who has for some time been associated with him in the business, will be in charge of the express, which is now the oldest-established in Plainfield.

American Day at Asbury Park.

In the article which appeared in yesterday's issue relating to the grand celebration and parade of the Jr. O. U. A. M., at Asbury Park on August 20, next Wednesday, their was an error in the time. The train will leave Elizabeth at 8:30 returning leave Asbury Park at 9 instead of the time mentioned before. The tickets will be one dollar from Elizabeth.

MAY EAT MEAT ON FRIDAY.

The Catholics of Plainfield Can Take Advantage of the Indulgence.

There are many Catholics in Plainfield who are in doubt whether they can eat meat or not next Friday. Many of the Catholic and secular papers have contained copies of a circular in which an indulgence is granted to the members of the church and allows them to eat meat, instead of abstaining, as is the established rule for Friday.

A number of Plainfield Catholics told a PRESS reporter this morning that their Bishop had given them no notice about the indulgence, but that the information was very generally known. They had no reason to suspect that the circular letter published was not genuine, and if the Catholics of Plainfield wish to take advantage of its provisions, they can do so.

The permission to eat meat on next Friday grew out of a request presented to the Pope in the beginning of the present year. It was known that the Feast of the Assumption, which is one of the most religiously observed of the Catholic feasts, fell this year on Friday, and it was deemed necessary for its joyful observance that no restriction consequent upon the feast falling upon Friday should be permitted. It was to this feeling that the attention of the Holy See was called and his intervention sought. It was promulgated by Cardinal Monaco, Prefect of the Congregation of the Holy Office, on July 25. This is a translation of his letter to the Bishops all over the World:

"As the Feast of the glorious Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary falls this year on Friday, the Holy Father, Pope Leo XIII., yielding to the solicitations of the Bishops of many Sees, has granted to all Christians throughout the World the privilege of eating meat on that day, (August 15), without, however, removing the obligation of fasting on Thursday, the vigil of the Feast. The Holy Father will be pleased that all the faithful, in return for this favor, will say the third part of the rosary, according to this intention."

What THE PRESS Correspondent Sees in Warrenville.

James Pollock has built a new hay barrack.

Mr. Renoux has built a new barn, and is making other improvements on his farm.

Miss Mabel Whitten is visiting friends and relatives at Teaneck, N. J., and New City, Rockland county, N. Y.

The Sunday school of the Warren Congregational church will hold their annual picnic at Chimney Rock, Wednesday of next week.

The Rev. Mr. Jordan of the Bound Brook Congregational church, preached Sunday evening in the Warren Congregational church.

BEN BOLT.

Last but not Least.

Washburn & Arlington's monster shows will visit this city next Monday. The Worcester Mass., Gazette says of it all:

"The company attracted attention to the show's notable number of horses and performers, by a procession through a number of streets, and created a favorable impression, which resulted in a generous patronage of their evening exhibition at Agricultural Park. More than 3,000 people attended the show during the evening, and barring the lack of pleasant weather, a verdict of satisfaction was gained. The acrobatic corps of the company, including the Brothers Vernon, of mid-air celebrity, a slack wire performer of great expertness, and Lowelli, a wonderful contortionist, won special plaudits, notably merited."

The Rejected Suitor Gets the Bridegroom's Cash.

A young colored fellow named Gordon, whose home is in Plainfield, is being sought for by the Newark police. Gordon visited Arthur Thompson, a newly-married colored grocer, of Thomas street, Newark, Monday. Thompson had never met Gordon before, but Gordon had been an old flame of Mrs. Thompson when she was Martha Rich, a Westfield damsel, and the Plainfielder was told to make himself "entirely at home." Soon after Gordon's departure Thompson missed his savings of $175 cash, and at once connected their disappearance with Gordon's absence. He told the police at once.

New Postal Cards for Women.

The Postoffice Department has issued orders for samples of pearl gray postal cardboard. This board is to be used in the manufacture of cards to be used by women and is intended simply for a correspondence card. The card for women is to be one-third smaller and the business card one-third larger than the present card. The mill is now running two machines on the cardboard for the regular cards. The card factory prints 2,200,000 cards daily and from 1,950,000 to 2,000,000 of these are packed ready for shipment each day.

Another Exciting Contest.

The ball team that is to play the Crescent League's nine, Saturday, is the team that beat them in a twelve-inning game, April 12, by the following score:

| | | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Star Athletics | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1—4 |
| Crescent League | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—3 |

Livingston pitched the above game. Saturday Gregg will try his hand against the heavy Newark batters.

Imitation goods are gotten up for the ignorant and gullible. The persons able to read and write are not so easily fooled. They will insist that Hires' Root Beer is handed them, and nothing else "just as good." The best imitation is no good, and you know it.

SAVED BY A COACHMAN.

Mr. Smith's Narrow Escape From a Mother-in-Law's Vengeance.

Mr. Smith, a recently-married man, observed with a foreboding of evil that his mother-in-law, Mrs. Duzenbury, had in her eye an ominous glare. When she looked at him there was a glitter in her eye that filled him with apprehensions of the most dismal character.

His worst fears were realized when she invited him into the parlor for the purpose of having a confidential talk with him.

"Yes, Mr. Smith," she began, in a solemn voice, "quite inadventently, I assure you, I happened to—to—examine your dress coat, and what do you suppose I found on it?"

One evening not long before this conversation, Mr. Smith, under the pretext of attending an important meeting at the lodge, had participated in a stag party at which there were oysters and champagne, songs, hilarity, etc., so thinking that his mother-in-law in some mysterious manner had got wind of the affair, with a guilty look on his face he averted his eyes from her basilisk gaze.

"On that coat," continued Mrs. Duzenbury, in a tone of voice that would have done credit to a judge on the bench sentencing a prisoner to death—"on that coat, Mr. Smith, I discovered two long, dark-red hair."

Feeling sure that the old lady was on the wrong track, with a wild outburst of virtuous indignation Smith replied, scornfully:

"Well, Madame, what of it? Do you mean to insinute that I—"

"I do not mean to insinuate at all," replied Mrs. Duzenbury; "I have other and more convincing proofs of your duplicity. Perhaps you know something about this letter?" and she shook a greasy looking document under his nose.

"Where—where did you get that letter?" stammered Smith.

"In removing the hairs from your coat, accidentally—quite accidentally, I assure you—I felt this letter in the breast pocket. I hope you don't suppose that I would stoop so low as to pry into other people's affairs."

"Of course not; but I don't know any thing about that letter."

"Then I will read it to you. While I read please examine this garnet ring which was in the pocket with the letter.

"DEAREST HENRY—Wait for me on the corner this evenin'. My husband is orful jealous, and keeps his eye on mee. Thanks for them flours. Yours tell I death, LOWISA."

"I swear I know nothing—"

"Silence, ter-raitor!" and she raised her hand impressively. "To-morrow Clara, poor, wronged child, will return with me to her proper home, from which she has been wrenched by a villain."

Just at this crisis the coachmen entered, and a broad grin of pleasure spread over his face as he saw the letter.

"Excuse me, boss, but I have been hunting everywhere. I couldn't think where I put it," he said, very much confused.

"Then I suppose this ring belongs to you, too," said Smith, holding up the cheap piece of jewelry.

"That's mine, too," grinned the coachman.

"Is your Christian name Henry?" asked Mrs. Duzenbury, with a piercing glance.

"Yes, mum."

"How did these evidences of guilt get into my son-in-law's pocket."

"I ought not to have done it, mum, but I borrowed Mr. Smith's coat without asking him, to attend a little party given by the Hired-Coachmen's Social Club and a lady——"

"Silence, base man!" and she haughtily swept out of the room.

Smith avers that even after this complete vindication she still regarded him with suspicion, and prolonged her visit three weeks in order to watch him.—Alex. E. Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

THE CZAR'S POWER.

It Is Limited to a Great Extent by Four Important Conditions.

But the Czar's power is absolute only in the sense that wherever and however his personal will reaches and exerts itself, it receives obedience. It is humanly impossible, even were the Czar a man of the most comprehensive political genius, that he should be able to cover with his vision, and direct by his personal motion, the administration of an empire so huge and so unwieldy, comprising so wide a variety of races, and presenting such an infinite complexity of demands upon the ruling power. In the first place, the Czar's power is limited by four conditions: First, that the crown shall descend by right of primogeniture; second, that the heir to the throne shall be declared of age when he has completed his sixteenth year; third, that the Czar, his wife and his children shall be members of the orthodox Greek church; fourth that the issue of any member of the imperial family who marries without the consent of the Czar shall be excluded from the right of succession to the throne. It is true that one Czar can undo what a previous Czar has done. But so imbedded are those conditions in imperial custom, and so vital is the necessity of sustaining the exalted idea of the crown in the eyes of his subjects, that the Czar scrupulously pays pious heed to these decrees of his predecessors. The Czar's power is further limited by the necessity to which his human fallibility subjects him, to call in to his aid other intellects, and thus the Czar is compeled, in reality, to yield up, divide and widely distribute that prerogative which, in theory, is his sole prerogative.—Boston Post.

Unparalleled Growth.

Citizen of Boomtown—Our city has increased nearly one hundred and fifty per cent. in the last ten years.

Citizen of Upthecreek—That's nuthin', Aours hez increased five hundred per cent.

"I don't believe it."

"Ye needn't, but hit's a fact. In 1886 we had only ten inhabitants, an' now we've got over fifty, by gum!"—Chicago Tribune.

ABOUT PAPER MONEY.

Convenience Is the Chief Reason for Its Circulation in America.

All paper money seems alike to us the first time we see it, but after awhile we notice that some bills are worth more than others, according to the marks 1, 5, 10, etc., that they bear. Here our observation generally stops and we never think of any other difference between different paper notes.

Yet there are considerable differences. The main one is in their different securities. You know, of course, that if there were not some real coin to pay for these paper notes they would be worthless.

What makes them of value is that there is security—silver and gold, or their equivalent—somewhere, that will be paid upon presentation of the paper notes. These are of three kinds: "Greenbacks," certificates and bank notes.

The greenbacks are paper notes that were issued by the treasury during the war of 1861-65. The Government keeps ready enough coin to redeem at any time one-third or one-fourth of all these notes—over three hundred million dollars' worth.

You see, therefore, that over two hundred millions are represented by nothing in the Treasury; but the people have faith in the Government, and so don't ask to have these bills redeemed. A law made some years ago regarding them, ordained that they be reissued as they come into the treasury.

None may be canceled. So, you see, their chief security is the confidence of the people in the Government.

Gold and silver certificates are pieces of paper which states that for every dollar of them issued, there is set apart in the treasury, ready to redeem them, a gold or silver dollar. Consequently these certificates are as good as gold or silver, and are—the gold ones especially—the very best kind of paper money. Their security is cash in full.

The other kind of paper money is the National bank note, which is issued by certain banks called National banks. These notes are secured by United States bonds which are deposited with the Treasurer of the United States. Thus, for example, if a bank to-day wanted to issue $900,000 in paper money, it would buy bonds whose face values amounted to $1,000,000, and on depositing these with Mr. Windom, would receive $900,000 worth of bank notes. These it could lend out at interest.

You will no doubt wonder why we have paper money at all. The main reason is for convenience.—Santa Claus.

RUSSIAN RED TAPE.

Laws Governing the Publication of Patent Medicine Advertisements.

The publication of patent medicine advertisements is combined with great difficulties in Russia, and tooth powder, cosmetics, medicated soap and similar preparations are comprised within the category of patent medicines. The article must first be submitted to the examination of the medical authorities. If they approve of it, they place the manufacturer under bonds that he shall make his preparations for the market precisely according to the sample they have examined. Hereupon they give him a certificate which must be deposited with the Medical Censor. The latter again gives him a certificate which must be presented to the General Censorship Bureau. If the General Censor has no objection to the wording of the advertisement, it may go into the papers. If one and the same advertisement is to be published in twenty different papers it must go through this process from the Medical Commission down to the Censorship Bureau for twenty different times. The name of the paper in which it is to be published must be specially mentioned and the wording and size of the advertisement designated in the original application and approved by the various authorities. Now, in order to do away with this laborious process, or at least with the repetition of it in the case of each publication, the Medical Council of the Minister of the Interior proposes to have each authenticated advertisement of this kind published in the Pravitelstvennig Viestnik (the general official organ) of St. Petersburg, and to allow all other papers to copy it verbatim et literatim from that paper without extra revision. Of course, the publication in the first, as in all subsequent instances, must be made "at the expense of the advertiser."—N. Y. Sun.

A Bird That Kills Rattlers.

Riding in California one day my companion called attention to a bird in the road ahead of me. It was something like a prairie-chicken, but much more slender and graceful in build. It was not using its wings, but it moved very rapidly and we had to keep the horse in a pretty good trot to keep up with it. My friend told me that it was a "road-runner," a bird that was noted there for its pedestrian accomplishments, and a peculiar habit they have is to walk always in the center of the road. When one of these birds meets a rattlesnake it behaves in such a coy manner that it leads the snake to think it will become the victim of its charms, and while it is keeping the snake in doubt as to its intentions, it runs about in the cactus and picks off the thorns with its bill, dropping them in a circle around the snake until it has him completely surrounded by cactus thorns. Then it flies to some elevation and sits there to watch the snake stick himself to death on the thorns trying to get out of the ring.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

—An interesting event took place on the Clyde the other day in the launching of a Japanese steel-plated war vessel. She is 300 feet in length by 42 feet in depth. Her tonnage is 2,450; she has twin screws and three masts with military tops. She carries 27 guns and 3 torpedoes, and is manned by a crew of 300. Viscountess Kewase, a Japanese lady, christened the ship the Chiyoda.

—The population of the United Kingdom in the middle of 1889 was estimated at 37,808,892 persons—29,015,613 in England and Wales, 4,077,070 in Scotland and 4,716,209 in Ireland.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

6-30-y

WASHBURN & ARLINGTON'S NEW UNITED MONSTER SHOWS.

Congress of Nations, World's Fair, Roman Hippodrome, Egyptian Caravan, Arabian Camel Train, Moorish Encampment,

WILD WEST AND WILD EAST,

Will Exhibit at CIRCUS GROUNDS, PLAINFIELD, N. J.,

MONDAY, AUG. 18.

100 HANDSOME GREY HORSES. 100 WORLD RENOWNED PERFORMERS. A Beautiful Living Calliope In the Grand Street Parade, Will fill the air with music from a steam organ, costing $10,000. 8-11-w

Don't Miss This!

Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of

"Stanley in Africa."

(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)

This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.

The Wonderful Discoveries!

Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.

Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4¼c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.

United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.

Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,

29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-m

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of

SODA WATER

AT MILLER'S PHARMACY,

No. 10 East Front Street,

Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.

Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST

Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!

Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.

39 SOMERSET STREET.

Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.

We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front St -tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,

On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 35 Craig place. 3-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,

7 West Front Street,

Popular Dry Goods House.

Special Bargains This Week!

300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.

50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.

Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.

Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.

Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.

I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.

Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.

Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.

All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.

We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.

Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.

Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,

CARPENTERS,

And General Jobbers.

SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

Door and Window Screens a Specialty.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK 6-3-tf

WE SELL

TO THE

BEST TRADE

IN

PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!

If You Want Selected Goods,

TELEPHONE TO

R. W. RICE & CO.,

Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in

Ladies Oxford Ties

AND

Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,

Everybody goes to

KENNY'S,

At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS

Gasolene Stoves,

Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,

Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.

A. M. GRIFFEN

13 East Front Street.

TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Base Ball AND Lawn Tennis Goods,

Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.

Joseph M. Harper,

No. 75 PARK AVENUE,

3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 5-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.

The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.

P. WESTPHAL & SON,

Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,

23 North Avenue,

A full line of

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY,

KINDLING WOOD.

Yard—Mountain Avenue.

P. O. BOX 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

DON'T FORGET!

That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that

I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT

7 P. M.

J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,

Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Strret. 1-18-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY

Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.

For particulars, address

Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal. 7-18-3m

J. C. POPE & CO

INSURANCE AGENTS

No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my187

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,

Lumber and Coal Merchants.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD

PLAINFIELD.

All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.

ALFRED D. COOK. ROBERT E. COOK my1071

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 13 Vine st. H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.

ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-21-t

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,

Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year

23 EAST FRONT ST.

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,

Livery Stables.

54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 121. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my101

Carpenters and Builders.

JOHN T. ODAM,

Plain and Ornamental

SLATE ROOFER AND REPAIRER.

Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.

New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-19-y

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter and Builder.

Residence Clinton avenue, near depot, Bronson. P. O. Box, 1228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-18-tf

YOU CAN GET

Screens Fitted to Your Windows

For 15 cents per square foot,

At No. 30 Somerset Street.

Also JOBBING of all kinds.

HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

Woman's Exchange

8 PARK AVENUE.

Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.

Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 9-27tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

AMPHITHEATRE.

The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.

SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.

Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.

SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.

EVERY NIGHT AT 8.

Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.

STRAUSS,

—AND HIS—

Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.

—ALSO—

TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."

250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.

Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.

The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED Sulphur and Vapor Baths followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. H. ROMMEL, 25 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Hudson, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.

OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,

Counselors-at-Law

Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. MCCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Supreme Court Commissioner.

First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,

Counselors at Law,

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING!

W. V. STEELE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner,

COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY G. RUNYON,

Typewriter and Stenographer.

COLLECTION AGENT.

With Clark & Reed. 3-21-y

DESIRABLE

Netherwood Building Sites

FOR SALE.

Apply to J. F. LOESER,

P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J. 7-16-m

CARRIAGES

Of every description in stock or built to order.

Coupes, Cabriolets,

Surries, Depo Wagons,

Buggies, Road Wagons,

Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,

AT

RYERSON'S

Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods

EMPORIUM,

33 Somerset Street.

Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

NEW LIVERY!

IRVING C. STELLE,

(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at

No. 25½ West Front Street,

In the rear of S. C. Peck's store,

First-Class Horses and Carriages

Constantly on hand for hire, calling and pleasure purposes.

A share of public patronage is solicited.

Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLE

21 East 54th Street

Special attention to all

AWNING WORK

Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.

MATTING.

Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-to6-1

House Numbers

At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.

Established, 30 YEARS, N.B.—NO BOTCHING 1-14-tf

FISCHER

ESTABLISHED 1840.

PIANOS

RENOWNED FOR TONE & DURABILITY

MODERATE PRICES

EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.

DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY

Catalogue Mailed on Application.

110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street, NEW YORK CITY. 4-4-6m

TIER'S

ICED CREAM!

In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.

8 Bank Place—East Front Street. 6-16-to-sept

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.

He manufactures them and knows what he contain. ASK TRY THEM.

SONGS BY THE POETS.

Twilight.

A dull gray sky
O'er which swallows fly,
And sweeps of meadow, parched and dry.
The twitter of birds,
The lowing of herds,
And a rift in the clouds in the west
The sough of the winds
In the sun scorched pines,
Then the moaning of doves and the whip-poor-will's cry;
The echo of wheels
In the mown hay-fields,
And the day with a quiver's at rest.
—Robert Adger Bowen, in Youth's Companion.

Dirge of the Seaside Belle.

There are, no young men at the beaches this summer.
—Current Item.

The Atlantic Ocean is a tolerable ocean,
Perhaps a desirable sea;
And the waves on the beach are good enough waves—
But not good enough waves for me.
And the sky above is a pretty fair sky,
The surf there are many to laud;
But there's no man in sight from morning to night,
And I think the whole thing is a fraud.
For the waves as they curl,
With their swish and their swirl,
Without a young man, are a bore to a girl.

The Atlantic Ocean is a popular ocean
With people fond of the sea,
But the sea without men is a dull kind of thing
And it's no kind of ocean for me.
They rave o'er the glow of the sunset sea
And the moon with its lane of light;
But in the broad day or beneath the moon's ray
There's never a man in sight.
And the sun and the shade
And the moon, I'm afraid,
Without a young man, are a bore to a maid.

The Atlantic Ocean is a good enough ocean,
A pretty well-advertised sea;
But without the young man and all that sort of thing,
It's no kind of ocean for me.
I know that the poets have sung of the sea,
As soft silly poets will sing;
But a bare stretch of beach and no man within reach
Is a very lugubrious thing.
And the summer hotel,
And the surf and the swell,
Without a young man, are a bore to a belle.
—S. W. Foss, in Yankee Blade.

A Summer Sonnet.

It is the summer-time; sweet odors rife
From flower-lips, breathing fragrance, fill the air,
For Earth's great heart is warm with rich, full life,
And golden sunshine lingers everywhere.
Bright blossoms crown the mountain's rugged brow,
And happy birds make glad the verdant wood,
Where, tinkling low 'neath overhanging bough,
A brooklet seems to murmur: "God is good."
Pale roses blush, as wooing breezes pass,
And roseate clouds wait on the radiant morn;
While, from her lowly home amid the grass,
The lark soars far above the ripening corn,
Singing her Maker's praise in strains sublime.
Sing, too, sad heart: it is the summer-time!
—E. Matheson, in Demorest's Monthly.

Song of the Shears.

With a click and a zip
I slash and I snip,
And I plunge through the editor's choicest exchange;
There is joy in the work,
And I never can shirk
When I'm wanted to gather things newsy and strange.
With a clippity clip,
And a snippity snip,
I eagerly, earnestly, endlessly rip.

In a vigorous nip,
I feel the firm grip
Of the editor's fingers when comes to his eye
Something new in his line
Which he thinks very fine
And worthy a place in his paper so fly.
With a clippity clip
And a snippity snip,
I ruthlessly, rapidly, recklessly rip.
—Frank B. Welch, in Western Journalist.

The Spinners.

They learned their art, these weavers, long ago
In those sweet days when Pan went to and fro,
Making all other music strangely mute
Before the sweetness of his reeded flute;
Or when in flaming forge great Vulcan wrought
Achilles' armour, and Athene caught
From off the distaff her fair wroughten weft.
Now when the reeds and thickets are bereft
Of these god wanderers—lo! their old-time ways
Are still revealed in these later days,
When in the long-forsaken haunts young leaves
Hide the brown bird, that with shy cunning weaves
Quaint-shapen nest; or when the spider's chain
Their silken hammocks to the wind-bent grain;
Or, sweeter token, when we spinning things
Await in frail cocoons their coming wings.
—Lucy E. Tilley, in Harper's Weekly.

Came, Saw and Conquered.

I came (the spangled heavens shed a radiance o'er the scene.
The dimpled wavelets on the beach,
Wooed and coquetted, and the reach
Of transient joys were mine, oh me!
Life was a lingering ministery).
I saw (and as I feasted, great and wide
My love-touched heart yearned and I sighed.
The heavens unpinned their cloudlets black,
The silver tears gushed forth alack!
Oh, doubts! oh, fears! she was so coy!
Would she breathe yes, or smile, poor boy).
I conquered (Ah! the charm, the dizzy sweetness of that yes,
The warbling songsters carrolled its caress,
Renewed my life, my strength, my hope, my rest—
When she, my little love, that yes confessed).
—Anna M. Williams, in Brooklyn Eagle.

SAPIENT SAYINGS.

If you wish to destroy your influence, make the impression that you are a chronic faultfinder.

He who is truly at peace with himself never suspects others. But he who is ill at ease and discontented is disturbed by suspicions.

It is a great gain when a man sees the real foundations of success in life with such clearness that he is no longer confused or led astray by illusions.

No matter how many of our laden ships may come safely into port, that one which was lost at sea will always seem to us to have carried the richest cargo.

Let your conversation be without malice or envy, for it is a sign of a tractable and commendable nature, and in all causes of passion admit reason to govern.

You can't straighten a boy's moral nature by castigations. Find out the home life of the boy; discover if you can what has caused this twist in his nature, and seek for a remedy.

They are ill discoverers that think there is no land when they can see nothing but sea. Because it is silly to believe every thing, there are some so wondrously wise as to believe nothing.

When a brother comes to deal with the mistakes of a brother, he should remember his own frailties, and in gentleness rebuke, in kindness instruct, and in love admonish.—Joseph B. Cain

HO, FOR CAMP-MEETING!

Woods and Vales Now Resounding with Songs of Worship.

Twenty Thousand Souls Simultaneously in Camp All Over the Country—Great Meetings and Those Who Lead Them—Women as Exhorters.

[COPYRIGHT 1890.]
[Special Correspondence.]

"Whatever else may change, the camp-meeting goes on just as it used to do in the days of our grandfathers."

So spoke the Methodist deacon, now old and gray in the service of the church, and who for many years was intimately associated with the "Father of American Camp-Meetings," the late Rev. John Inskip, of New York.

"It's the same primitive, hearty, thoroughly-enjoyable gathering of earnest worshipers that it ever was," he added. "One hears the same sturdy orthodoxy, the fervid and sometimes incoherent style of exhortation, the full-lunged volume of prayer and praise, and the same resounding responses that seem like echoes starting from the depths of the woods. Yes, new-fangled notions and creeds have invaded the pulpits, I know; and some of the old forms of belief have been shattered—some say by religious evolution—but when I go to camp-meeting all these cob-webs are blown away by the breath of the pines. It's like returning to the early religion that lies closest to the heart, and the fire that would smolder in the city burns all the brighter when it sends its incense up through the woods. But to fully enjoy camp-meeting you must make it a habit as I have done for thirty years."

Outside of the actual participators, few people have any idea of the vast extent of these gatherings, which are already under full headway and which last from June till the early October frost nips the trees and makes the woods no longer cool and grateful and the night bird's call no longer soothing. Just now is the season when the nomad instinct of man asserts itself, and, like the hunter and the gypsy, he takes to the woods. This instinct is latent in the bosom of the sedate church-goer and never crops out save in summer time, when the sight of a ripening watermelon and a singing camp kettle develop it instantly. As many as twenty thousand souls are in camp at the same time in different parts of the country, and fully six times that number in the whole season. In July camp-meetings were held at Mountain Lake Park, Md.; Fall River, Mass.; Otto, Ia., and other places, but the great meetings have yet to come. One is now in progress at Desplaines, Ill., near Chicago; another at Sloan, Ill.; a third at Douglas, Mass., and others at Chester Heights, Pa., and Simpson Grove, Pa. During August there will be meetings at Orrville, O.; Linwood, Pa.; a great gathering at Pitman Grove, N. J., and one at Intervale Park, besides others at Urbana, O.; Attica, Ia.; Lake Bluff, Ill.; Mount Vernon, O.; Joanna Heights, Pa.; Niagara Falls; Anderson, Ill.; Carthage, Ill.; Storm Lake, Ia.; the inter-State meeting at Griggsville, Ill.; the Central Illinois Association meeting at Paxton, Ill., and a meeting at Grant City, Mo., as late as September 5, practically ending the season.

LOUIS KLOPSCH. STEPHEN MERRITT.

The greatest and most largely attended of all the camp-meetings are those at Ocean Grove, N. J.; Mountain Lake Park, Md.; Pitman Grove, Pa; Old Orchard Beach, Me., and Martha's Vineyard. Thousands congregate at these gatherings, and during the week or ten days of spiritual wrestling scenes are enacted which it would be impossible to duplicate anywhere else in the world. The general management and programme of the meetings is pretty much the same all over. Days are set for "Holiness Meetings," at which both men and women take part and where remarkable things occur when the worshipers are "under conviction," and where, be it said, many receive good impulses which last as long as their lives. Then there are the "Children's Days," "Young People's Meetings," "Business Men's Meetings," temperance and Sunday-school meetings or "conventions," and "Old Folks'

DR. C. C. M'CABE.

Days." At all the services there is a fervor and directness that comes from the contact with nature in the woods, and grace has full swing while the meeting lasts.

It is in the West and South, however, that the typical camp-meeting is found; for the East, with its many improvements, has obliterated some of the old-time features. It is not unusual, at some Western camps, to find that the idea of social enjoyment and relaxation between services is very free indeed. With the utmost confidence in the innocence of human nature, smoking, flirting and gossiping help to pass the time. Sometimes a breath of scandal invades the piny woods, when a brother, more impassioned than devout, pays too urgent suit to a fair worshiper; yet even the dissipations are innocent as a rule. It is seldom that drunkenness excites a scene, and if there occasionally arises a dispute, these incidents are due entirely to malicious outsiders.

The meeting at Ocean Grove begins on August 19 and closes on the 29th. President Stokes, of the Camp Meeting Association, will be assisted by the eloquent evangelist, C. H. Yatman, this year. The great camp-meeting at Old Orchard Beach, Me., which opens on August 1 and lasts ten days, is one of the notable gatherings. Being so near the famous summer resort it is not an unusual sight to meet there men who are noted in the affairs of the Nation although they rarely take an active hand in the exercises. At Camden, Del., during the first ten days of August, will be held a National camp-meeting, and another at Decatur, Md., beginning August 16 and lasting a week.

MRS. OSBORN.

A unique feature of the season is the "Women's Camp of Holiness," which pitches its tents at Mount Tabor, N. J., on the 9th of August, for a seven days' sojourn in a very pretty wilderness, indeed. It is at the camp-meeting that woman comes out strongest in defense of the faith that is in her. In the inspiring shadows her bonds are loosened, and she has freer speech and finer eloquence than at any other time. At the Silver Lake meeting, near New Albany, Ind., lately closed, Isabella Leonard was one of the most impassioned leaders in the exercises, and helped to bring many to the anxious seat. At the Des Moines State camp-meeting Mesdames Pippet, Boyd and Leonard, with other ladies, were the right wing of the arm which, under Rev. Isaiah Reed, swept the hardened sinners into line. Mrs. Osborn, who has been selected by the National Holiness Association to go to Old Orchard Beach and take a leading part in the services there, is one of the bright phalanx of Methodist women who make the great camps a success annually.

Mrs. Osborn is the head of the missionary training school and was the first lady in America to establish, unaided, in her home at Niagara Falls, an institute which has in a few years sent out missionaries to many countries. The school is a great establishment in Brooklyn now, with many pupils, but the principal still has time to devote to her annual outing with the worshipers in the woods. Another lady who is a popular figure at camp-meetings is Miss Jennie F. Willing, one of the cultured leaders at Chautauqua. Miss Willing, who is related to one of the leading families at the National capital, is an enthusiast on camp-meetings.

PRESIDENT STOKES, OF THE C. M. A.

A majority of the Methodist camp-meetings—and these comprise the greater part of these gatherings—are under the authority of the National Holiness Association, which assigns the speakers of both sexes. There are many men whose fame as exhorters has become almost National. Among these are Revs. G. A. McLaughlin, Joshua Gill, Dr. Cullis, A. B. Simpson, T. Harrison and others. Each orator has his peculiar style and his own band of admirers, and it is safe to assert that a wider variety of diction, deeply emotional to the plainest of every-day Saxon—straight from the shoulder—is heard at camp meeting than anywhere else. Among those who, though not noted as exhorters, are prominently known in the management of the meetings in many States, are William McDonald, a Californian of 65, and editor of the Methodist Witness, and Dr. C. C. McCabe, of New York.

The champion camp-meeting goer of America is Steve Merritt, the "eloquent undertaker" of New York city. Mr. Merritt has been a regular attendant at the Sing Sing camp for forty years, never missing a summer. He is a ready speaker, quick-witted and full of repartee and saving grace together. Several years ago he consented to run for a political office, and his canvass excited a great deal of talk here. The Sing Sing meeting is the oldest in the country, having been established fifty-eight years ago and kept up ever since without a break. Its Sunday-school, which is the most popular of any camp-meeting in the United States, has for years been under the superintendency of Mr. Louis Klopsch, proprietor of the Christian Herald. GEORGE H. SANDISON.

NOVEL SPORT.

The Gymkhana Races Imported From India.

The Pony Racing Association Treats Americans to Something Interesting—Feats Requiring Skill, Ingenuity and Nerve.

[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]
[Special Correspondence.]

The Gymkhana races are something new, something amusing and ought to become popular. As the name indicates they are of Eastern origin, having been imported from India. They were introduced into this country by Mr. F. A. Blacque in the spring of the year, and only two of the races have yet taken place on American soil. Others, however, are promised before the season for such things closes.

Some description of the races and of the manner in which they are conducted will be of interest.

First of all the object of the races is not to test the comparative endurance and speed of horses. Indeed, speed has nothing to do with them, and therefore the gambling element is completely eliminated. Instead we have the polo pony or the mustang, and the contest in which he forms a prominent feature consists in the ease with which his rider is able to overcome a series of obstacles which are placed in his way.

The mustang, as is well known, has the endurance and strength of steel, and withal he is small, quick in his movements and excessively intelligent. He is, as a rule, a thoroughbred and consequently nervous, being in this respect far more "gamey" than the ponies of any other breed. Brought up on the parched grasses of the plains and accustomed to hardships of every kind, he combines tractability with spirit and answers on the instant to a good rider's command. Almost universally used in the far West, particularly on the cattle ranches, his many excellent qualities have lately brought him into popular favor in the more settled parts of the country. Mustangs are furthermore very cheap, good ones being sold from fifty to one hundred dollars when first brought from the West, and there are few regions now where they are not commonly known, for they are quite equal to the work of a full-grown horse, and if a vicious one is not got will furnish a person with as pleasant a ride as can be had on any thing that holds a saddle.

The first requisite in the Gymkhana races is the presence of a number of ponies in any vicinity, and as good an afternoon's sport can be had as you could wish. The sport, furthermore, is interesting as well to the contestant as to the onlooker, for superiority in any one of the feats undertaken betokens on the part of the rider skill of one kind or another over his antagonists, while the situations of the contestants are constantly made lively and amusing.

MANIKIN RACE.

The races—"games" they should more properly be called—are given upon a polo field or in any open meadow which can be conveniently staked off for the events and which is fairly level. A box and railing erected at a convenient spot serves for a judge's stand, while the spectators can roost upon fence rails, if the dignity and comfort of a grand stand can not be readily had. The ground itself should give a straight-away gallop of three or four furlongs. Around this a course can be laid off with pennants according to the requirements of each of the races, a longer or shorter stretch being used, according to the problems which the riders are given to solve.

In order to give a better idea of the games, however, the writer will describe them as they occurred at Oyster Bay and at Cedarhurst, N. Y., this year, the only two places in which they have yet been given. At these places, of course, all the appendages of comfort are already provided in the established polo fields, with their stands, dressing-rooms and other paraphernalia. Regular entries are made for the different events, a rider usually putting his name down for all of them, as it is not too hard for his pony to struggle through the list.

An entry fee of one dollar is charged to each contestant, and first and second prizes are offered in each event. Polo balls, buckets, spoons, umbrellas and all the objects necessary for the races are provided by the committee getting up the games.

The feats to be performed consist in solving problems with these various articles which require dexterity, good horsemanship, coolness or some such qualification on the part of the rider, while on the part of the pony obedience and fearlessness are prime qualifications. This will be appreciated after mention of a short list of events. These may begin, for example, with the "manikin race," which consists of assembling all those who take part at the starting point and providing for each rider a manikin stuffed with moss or straw. The manikin is laid upon the ground, and weighs perhaps as much as a man. Each rider must dismount and, at a signal, lead his pony up to his manikin, pick it up, and, mounting his pony, carry the manikin to a goal at a convenient distance—say one hundred and fifty yards or more. In this case a fearless pony is a gem, but one whose pet aversion is manikins will give his rider some lively play before he will consent to have the ugly mass deposited on his back, and when securely placed there there is still some fine work left for the rider in getting his mount.

SPOON AND EGG RACE.

The second race may be a "dressing" race, and affords an equal amount of amusement. Riders present themselves at the starting place, and must have their coat and vest and the saddle lying at their feet on the ground. The pony must then be saddled and in his presence the rider must don his coat and vest, mount, and by the time he reaches the winning post must have his garments completely buttoned.

Furthermore, there must be at least five buttons to his vest and three to his coat, and when he reaches the winning-post his garments must be in good condition. In this contest over-haste works great damage to the rider's chances, and the faster his pony goes the harder are the buttons to find.

BALL AND BUCKET RACE.

For a third we may have the "spoon and egg" race, an extremely difficult one which consists in making the circuit of the field holding an egg balanced in a wooden spoon. If the egg drops the rider must return to the start for another and begin his wanderings over again.

The fourth race will consist in a quarter-mile race, the course of which is broken by three sunken buckets. Each entry is provided with three polo balls and must drive these along the ground from the starting point, dropping one ball in each of the three buckets and then crossing the finishing line.

Still another very amusing race is the "umbrella and cigar" race. Riders are dismounted at the start and are given an umbrella, a cigar and a box of matches. The cigar must be lit, the umbrella opened and the rider must reach a goal with the cigar lighted and his umbrella in good shape and opened. A mustang is not likely to take kindly to the opening of a vari-colored umbrella, no matter what his previous record for docility has been, and surrounded by a lot of plunging companions will make things lively for his rider before he will submit to close communion with such a strange object.

These races, it appears, are common enough in India, where the English officers in garrison, and the natives as well, take very kindly to them. They have recently been introduced into the south of France, at Nice, Pau, and at points along the Mediterranean coast, but were never known in America until this season, when the American Pony Racing Association, of New York, was organized for the special purpose of establishing a taste for them here. The association was organized on the 27th of January last, with Mr. Jenkins Van Schaick, of New York, as chairman; J. R. Wood as secretary, and A. R. Purdy as treasurer.

In explaining their object the chairman said that the sole purpose of the association was to make the games a popular form of equestrian sport which all could attend and encourage, and which could teach the youths of the country better morals than could be taught on the regular racing grounds. The association will start the games, therefore, in different parts of the country, the next races being booked for Buffalo, New York. Clubs are now being organized in other places to take them up. There can be little doubt of the popularity which the Gymkhana races will meet with, or of the vast benefits they will confer in spreading a taste for a form of exercise and pleasure which has no equal in its health-giving qualities and other delights.

UMBRELLA RACE.

Of course the effect of these contests is greatly heightened by having proper costumes for them. In those which have taken place the young gentlemen have usually worn a racing cap of silk and vari-colored silk shirts, white trousers and riding boots. In default of these a white, loose shirt and trousers, with a colored sash, is enough to give brightness to the scene and avoids the necessity of getting a special outfit. There is little or no danger in the races which a rider would not encounter under ordinary circumstances, nor is there any rough play at any time. The handling and mounting of a fractious pony is perhaps the most difficult feat to be met with, and experience in this can never do harm to a rider.

The members and executive committee of the Pony Racing Association, which is doing what it can to introduce the games into this country, are H. L. Herbert, T. Hitchcock, Jr., J. C. Groome, J. Clinch Smith, J. D. Cheever, A. J. Cassatt, J. E. Cowdin, T. H. Powers Farr, Harry Hamlin, S. S. Howland, G. E. Kissel, E. H. McCullough, B. Nicoll, E. Outerbridge, J. Parker, F. Pendleton, E. C. Potter, A. B. Purdy, Douglas Robinson, Elliott Roosevelt, A. C. Tower, F. T. Underhill, Jenkins Van Schaick, J. M. Waterbury and J. R. Wood, all of New York.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 128.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
2-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD,]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE.
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
Baby Carriages—The largest assortment in town.
4 DOORS BELOW POST OFFICE. 1-11-t

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
12-20-7

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-25-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 6-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 108. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 5-7-

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
w23

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUTTERWORTH, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. E. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.32 A. M. | train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.60 | do | 10.27 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.08 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 P.M. | do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do meet | 3.51 P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do do | 5.20 | do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do do | 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do do | 7.09 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 9.22, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.35, 3.45 4.34, 5.20, 6.35, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Buses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:25 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:05 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:45 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 07 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 21 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 07 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 50 A. M.; 2 24 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 50 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 50, 9 35, 11 07 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 55, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 22, 10 05, 11 09, 11 29, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 27, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 35, 3 23, 5 16, 7 01, 7 15, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15 night. Sunday—8 00, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 35, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 15, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 50, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 9 25, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 9 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 54, 6 20, 6 38, 7 09, 7 12, 7 34, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 46, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 55, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 02, 7 36, 7 45, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 26, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 30, 6 40, 8 03, 8 55, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 40 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nantcoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 38 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 27 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (3 07, through coach,) 5 21, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 27, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 27, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 07, 5 21, 7 05 p. m. Sunday—3 27, 9 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 27, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 5 21, 5 21 7 05 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 20, 9 46, 11 58* a. m., 1 05*, 3 20*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 26*, 8 20* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 46, A. m., 2 20* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 14. 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURCH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-2-1

Wishing your good health
Truly Yours
Carl Kaerth
Plainfield N. J.

THE CRISIS PASSED

New York Central Officials Claim a Victory.

STRIKERS ARE STILL HOPEFUL.

Master Workman McCarthy Says the Knights Are Defeated.

Mr. Powderly Remains Silent and No Action Has Been Taken by the General Executive Board—Pinkerton's Men Charge on Strikers at Albany—A Local Assembly Surrenders Its Charter.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—In and around the Grand Central Station many surface indications presented themselves to show that the crisis in the fight had passed. Passengers hurried in and out as usual, the policeman looked more cheerful, and the swarm of cabmen who haunt the depot had resumed their business-like methods.

The big gate between the main depot and the annex was opened for the first time since the strike began.

It is publicly announced by Vice-President Webb that the entire schedule of passenger trains running out of the Grand Central Depot had been resumed with the exception of a few local trains to Spuyten Duyvil. On the other hand it is confidently asserted by the men who are on strike that not much more than one-half of the regular passenger schedule is in operation.

Denis McCarthy, of the Executive Board of D. A. 246, said it was his belief that the Knights of Labor had been defeated by the Central road. Though they were beaten this time there would be another strike which would be of greater import and further reaching, that would result more disastrously for the Central road.

Will Take Back the Men.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Superintendent Voorhees said that the company would take back nearly all the men who had gone out, as nearly all were sorry for their hasty action.

A Local Assembly Surrenders.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Vice-President Webb gives out the following statement "Reports just received indicate unconditional surrender on the part of the K. of L. of the Harlem division. A committee waited on Superintendent Worcester and informed him that Local Assembly No. 1705 at Dover Plains had surrendered their charter. The men asked for positions and I told Mr. Worcester to take on four of the old conductors and twelve brakemen, the balance of the men to report to this office. Their cases will be held under advisement."

THE FIRST AFFRAY.

Pinkerton's Men Charge on a Crowd at West Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The first affray of the strike occurred at West Albany last night. The assertion had been frequently made that if the Pinkerton men attempted to move the freight they would be stoned. The detectives were evidently scared, for last night when a crowd of spectators gathered on the bridge they determined to clear it before they started a freight train.

Accordingly, they moved up toward the crowd. Their orders were not obeyed, and in an instant the fellows began to use their clubs. The crowd retaliated, and when the city police cleared the bridge two Pinkerton men were found badly hurt and one spectator had a fractured skull.

The city police say that the Pinkerton men had no business to rout the crowd.

NO SIGN FROM POWDERLY.

He Will Not Say Whether Action Will Be Taken on the Central Strike.

DETROIT, Aug. 14.—General Master Workman Powderly, J. J. Holland, chairman of the National Legislative Committee and organizer of the New York Central Railroad strike, John W. Hayes and John Devilan, all members of the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor, are in the city and some important action in connection with the great railroad tie-up is generally looked for.

"The purposes of this meeting," said Mr. Powderly to a reporter, "are of a general character. As far as we know there will be nothing but routine business come before us."

Questioned as to whether or not the New York Central strike will be considered during the meeting, Mr. Powderly said he was unable as yet to tell whether it would receive official attention. "It may," he said, "and again it may not."

Pinkerton Men Put Away Their Clubs.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Everything is quiet at East Syracuse and the Pinkerton men no longer think it necessary to carry their clubs. Freight operations are hampered by a lack of men, but considerable activity prevails. The local assembly of the Knights of Labor which has been in continuous session since Friday, expresses the belief that the Knights will succeed. Representatives are here from Albany.

Freights Under Way at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Superintendent Burrows of the Central said to a reporter: "Everything is all right here. The strike is over, so far as we are concerned; we have got more men than we need now. Our passenger trains are moving all right and all the local freights are under way. I have no further trouble on my division."

Lee Denounces the Letter Again.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14—E. J. Lee, the [illegible] workman of the strikers on the Central Hudson system, again denounced the letter to Superintendent Voorhees as a forgery, and said the Knights looked upon it as a last resort by the company to aid in claiming the strike a failure.

Mr. Depew Heard From.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Mr. Webb showed a cablegram from Mr. Depew dated Milan in which he sustained the actions of the managers of the road, and said that any other course would have brought the management into contempt and the company to disaster.

BLOCKED AT ALBANY.

The Railroad Officials Are Powerless to Move Freight Trains.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug 14.—The strike, at least in Albany, does not look as if it was ended. The Central road which was to have moved a large number of freight trains at West Albany to-day has moved just one, and that consisted of only 35 cars. It will be seen that this is a petty move when it is known that on an average of 100 freight trains a day, each consisting of about fifty cars, are moved. The road did succeed in closing the draw of the freight bridge last evening and one train was drawn from the approach. About 50 train hands from the Michigan Central railroad arrived here last night and are assisting in raising the blockade.

The railroad officials have evidently received a set back in the strike on the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company's road. The large freight house of that road is deserted, and the depot presents the appearance of Sunday. The importance of this move must not be underestimated. The road from Albany north to Saratoga, Montreal and other points, as well as to Vermont, is used by the West Shore, New York Central & Hudson River and the Pennsylvania railroads. All of these are, therefore, affected by the strike. It is thought, however, that the road will effect a settlement at once. The Boston & Albany and Fitchburg roads are in danger, but they will probably stop handling New York Central freight.

AMERICANS MURDERED.

Two Young Missionaries Meet a Tragic Death in the Soudan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Word has just been received in this city of the deaths of F. M. Gates, E. Kingman and John E. Jaderquist, Presbyterian missionaries in the Soudan. They were murdered by Arabs, but no details beyond the simple announcement of their tragic end have reached America by cable.

Mr. Gates came from Plainfield, N. J. May 13 of this year he and two other young men bade good-bye to their friends at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association in that city. They came to New York and met seven other missionaries all bound for the Soudan, the wild African country where England has recently waged such a fierce war with the natives. Among the party were E. Kingman, John E. Jaderquist, Roy G. Coddington, Warren G. Harris, F. M. Gates, Mrs. F. Kingman, Miss Jennie Dick and James Trice.

All these missionaries were young and full of enterprise. They knew that no Christian teacher had ever returned from the Soudan, but they felt a special call to go and labor there. They were not sent out by any church or missionary society. They were very poor. Seven of the party had been sent on from the West by various Christian societies. They had no money. On May 14 they sailed from New York for Sierra Leone, on the western coast of Africa.

Connecticut Prohibitionists.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 14.—Dr. John A. Rockwell, of Norwich, was made temporary chairman of the Prohibition Convention. The Committee on permanent Organization was appointed and reported the following officers who were elected: President, Charles A. Northrop, of New London; Vice-President, William Ingalls, of Windham. The committee also reported committees on resolutions, credentials, finance and rules. Nominations were made as follows: Governor, P. M. Augur of Middlefield; Lieutenant-Governor, Dewitt C. Pond of Hartford; Secretary of State, Henry R. Palmer of Stonington; Treasurer, John B. Smith of New Britain; Comptroller, Fred M. Hawley of New Canaan.

The Baltimore to Sail for Sweden.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—The flagship Baltimore received orders to sail at 10 o'clock this morning for New York and to sail thence August 23 for Sweden with the remains of the inventor Ericcson. The announcement will be a great disappointment to thousands of people here, and was a surprise to the fleet itself. Captain Howell, of the Atlanta, is left in command of the fleet.

Important Resolutions Referred.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—In the Senate Mr. Edmunds' resolution, limiting debate on the Tariff bill; Mr. Elair's previous question resolution and Mr. Quay's resolution providing for a vote on the Tariff bill on the 30th instant, and ignoring consideration of the Federal Election bill this session were all referred to the Committee on Rules.

Many Indictments for Murder.

HAZARD, Ky., Aug. 14.—The Grand Jury yesterday found indictments for murder against the Fugetts. The presence of the troops and Judge Lilly's firmness is beginning to be felt and the outlaws are fleeing. It is believed that 40 more indictments will be found for murder and at least 25 hangings will be the result.

Boot and Shoe Dealers Elect Officers.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—The National Association of Retail Boot and Shoe Dealers to-day elected the following officers: President, James G. Kinne of Fort Edward, N. Y.; Secretary, W. H. Gleason of Binghamton, N. Y.; Treasurer, J. B. Arnold of Findlay, Ohio.

A NEW COMMANDER

Gen. Veazey, of Vermont, the Grand Army's Choice.

THE NEXT RALLY AT DETROIT.

The Order Now Has a Membership of Nearly 400,000.

Fire Commissioner Tobin, of Boston, Chosen Senior Vice Commander-in-Chief—Convention of the National Women's Relief Corps—Addresses by Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Alger.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—General Wheelock G. Veazey of Vermont is the new Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was elected by a unanimous vote.

Governor Hovey of Indiana and Colonel Smedberg of California were the only ones whose names were mentioned in connection with the office, and they were withdrawn before the vote was taken.

Fire Commissioner Richard A. Tobin of Boston was chosen Senior Vice-Commander-in-Chief, and First Sergeant George B. Creamer of Baltimore is the new Junior Vice-Commander-in-Chief. These votes were unanimous.

After electing these three officers and selecting Detroit as the headquarters of the next encampment, the veterans adjourned and plunged into a whirl of sightseeing and good-fellowship.

The Adjutant-General's Report.

The total amount expended by the Grand Army from July 1, 1871, to July 1, 1890, amounts to the enormous sum of $1,987,534.55. Adjutant-General Hopkins' report shows that on June 30, 1890, there were in the several departments 7,178 posts, with a membership of 397,383. The gains since June 30, 1889, were 520 posts and 20,217 members. The losses were 20 posts and 1,581 members. The number of deaths during the past year was 5,476. The total amount expended for relief for the year ending March 31, 1890, was $221,350.18; number of comrades relieved, 19,470; others relieved, 8,949. For the quarter ending June 30, 1890, $51,599.01 was expended.

"House of Lords."

A test vote was reached upon the question as to the abolition of the so-called "House of Lords" in the order, the vote being upon a motion to assign the question for debate at 2 p. m. This was defeated and the question will take its regular turn. Massachusetts and Ohio seemed to be solidly against the "House of Lords."

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

The Membership Has Now Reached Nearly One Hundred Thousand.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—The eighth annual convention of the National Woman's Relief Corps was held in Fremont Temple. Mrs. Annie Wittemeyer of Philadelphia, national president, in the chair. President Mrs. Wittemeyer was in the midst of her address when Secretary Rusk, Mrs. Alger, Mrs. John A. Logan and Mrs. Livermore were announced.

In the absence of Mrs. Charity Rusk Craig, past national president, the gold badge voted her by the encampment was presented to her father, Secretary Rusk, for her. Mrs. Bagley of Ohio made the presentation. In his reply Secretary Rusk said that the prosperity of the G. A. R. largely depended on the efforts of the Woman's Relief Corps.

Mrs. Logan, who is a member of the National Pension Committee, W. R. C., gave an interesting account of the Nurses' bill now pending in Congress.

Mrs. Alger was introduced and acknowledged the greeting of the encampment. On motion of Mrs. E. Florence Barker a vote of thanks was given Mrs. Alger for co-operating with her husband in aiding the W. R. C. work.

Mrs. Wittemeyer, in her annual address, stated that the membership of the corps now reached nearly 100,000; that a reserved fund of $123,000 is on hand in the treasuries of local corps, and that the charity work of the year amounted to over $100,000. Permanent departments have been organized in Texas, North Dakota and the Potomac.

Death Caused by Malpractice.

DANBURY, Conn., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Daniel Leach of this city died very suddenly Tuesday morning. It was not until preparations for her immediate burial were made that suspicions of the neighbors were aroused. Medical Examiner Wile was acquainted with the facts, and a post-mortem has just been held. It was found that the woman's death was due to a criminal act. An investigation will be held.

A New Conductor Killed.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Henry Wandell, forty years old, of Brooklyn, a new conductor on a freight train on the Hudson River Railroad was struck by a bridge just south of Montrose last night and killed. His body was brought to this city.

Used Kerosene to Light a Fire.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Tilly Cohen while attempting to light a fire in the kitchen stove with kerosene was terribly burned. She died at the hospital as the result of her injuries.

Died Suddenly of Apoplexy.

PALMER, Mass., Aug. 14.—Henry M. Needham, a well known lawyer of Brooklyn, N. Y., died suddenly of apoplexy at his summer residence in Wales.

The President in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The President and party arrived in Washington from Boston last night.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 3 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 7 | 4 | x—20 |
| Pittsburg | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 2—9 |

Batteries—Young and Zimmer; Osborn and Decker.

AT CINCINNATI.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0—4 |
| Chicago | 0 | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1—6 |

Batteries—Mullane and Harrington, Stein and Kittridge.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0—6 |
| Brooklyn | 2 | 1 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x—7 |

Batteries—Getzein and Ganzel, Terry and Clark.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0—3 |
| Philadelphia | 2 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | x—5 |

Batteries—Burkett and Clarke, Gleason and Clements.

Players' League.

AT CHICAGO.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 2—4 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Baldwin and Boyle; Staley and Quinn.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 4 | 0—8 |
| Philadelphia | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0—7 |

Batteries—Kilroy, Murphy and Gumbert, Sanders and Milligan.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 3 | 4 | 0—11 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 7 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0—8 |

Batteries—O'Brien and Sutcliffe; Cunningham and Mack.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 3 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—6 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2—3 |

Batteries—Keefe and Ewing; Hemming and Cook.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 1 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—5 |
| Newark | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Doran and Cahill; Miller and Murphy.

AT HARTFORD.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hartford | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 8 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1—14 |
| Wilmington | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Staib and Stallings; Williams and Tiernan.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 2 | 1 | 2—13 |
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—O'Rourk and Townsend; Price and Guinasso.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | 2,465 | 3,979 |
| Chicago | 1620 | ..... |
| New York | 2,862 | 740 |
| Pittsburg | ..... | 1,385 |
| Cleveland | 600 | 600 |
| Cincinnati | ..... | 2,348 |
| Totals | 6,837 | 7,658 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 61 | 31 | .663 | Chicago | 49 | 44 | .527 |
| P'hiladel | 58 | 35 | .624 | N. York | 49 | 53 | .430 |
| Boston | 59 | 35 | .628 | Clevl'nd | 28 | 64 | .304 |
| Uincin'ti | 56 | 36 | .609 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 72 | .209 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 54 | 36 | .600 | Philadel | 50 | 44 | .532 |
| Brookl'n | 55 | 42 | .567 | Pittsb'rg | 40 | 46 | .465 |
| Chicago | 52 | 42 | .553 | Clev'l'nd | 39 | 50 | .438 |
| N. York | 50 | 42 | .543 | Buffalo | 25 | 63 | .284 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 57 | 31 | .648 | Col'mb'a | 45 | 44 | .506 |
| St Louis | 52 | 36 | .591 | Toledo | 41 | 43 | .488 |
| Athletic | 47 | 42 | .528 | Syracuse | 36 | 52 | .409 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 41 | .523 | Brookl'n | 27 | 61 | .307 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'more | 66 | 23 | .742 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 60 | 24 | .714 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 54 | .393 |
| Newark | 48 | 37 | .565 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 56 | .341 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 37 | .519 | Hartford | 22 | 60 | .268 |

Schedule of To-day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Philadelphia, at New York.
Brooklyn, vs. Boston, at Boston.
Pittsburg vs. Cleveland, at Cleveland.
Cincinnati vs. Chicago, at Cincinnati.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Brooklyn vs. New York, at New York.
Philadelphia vs. Boston, at Boston.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Chicago.
Buffalo, vs. Cleveland, at Cleveland.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Columbus vs. Syracuse, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Rochester, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Athletics, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Newark vs. New Haven, at New Haven.
Baltimore vs. Lebanon at Baltimore.
Hartford vs. Wilmington, at Harford.

The Teutonic a Record-Beater.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The agents of the White Star Line have received many congratulations over the record made by the steamship Teutonic, which arrived here from Queenstown after a passage of five days, nineteen hours and five minutes, the fastest on record. The City of New York, of the Inman line steamers, with which the Teutonic was supposed to be racing, came in 3 hours later.

Scotland's Exhibit at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The World's Fair Commissioners have received a novel suggestion from Edinburgh, Scotland. It is a proposal to exhibit during the fair, an exact reproduction of the apartment of Mary Queen of Scots, with a part of Holyrood Castle, Shakespeare's house at Stratford-on-Avon, and also the house in which Robert Burns was born.

Tenny to Run Against the Record.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Brighton Beach Racing Association have offered a purse of $2,500 to Mr. Pulsifer to allow Tenny to run against the mile record, 1:39¾, now held by Raveloe. Mr. Pulsifer has accepted and if the conditions are favorable the attempt will be made on August 20th.

Republican Senators to Hold a Caucus.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—A Republican Senatorial caucus has been called to consider the question of postponing the consideration of the Federal Election bill until the next session of Congress, as proposed in the resolution of Mr. Quay referred to the Committee on Rules.

WILL VISIT AMERICA

Comte de Paris and Duc d'Orleans Coming.

DIPLOMATS SEEKING PEACE.

Salvador and Guatemalan Troops Keeping Quiet at Present.

An American Doctor Loses $6,000 at Poker—Bitter Attack on the House of Lords—Parnell's Quarrymen on Strike—Celman Handled $500,000,000 in Currency—Stanley Tired of Dining Out.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—It is reported that the Comte de Paris will sail with the Duc d'Orleans for New York on Sept. 24, on board the White Star steamer Germanic.

A distinguished party of Frenchmen will accompany the Comte de Paris. After making a tour of the principal cities they will go to Washington for a few weeks' visit with some friends in that city.

It is said that the Duc d'Orleans will remain in New York city all winter.

WATCHFUL ARMIES.

Guatemalan and Salvadorian Troops are Camped Near Each Other.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 14.—A dispatch received here says the armies of San Salvador and Guatemala are now camped within sight of each other, ready to anticipate any movement looking to a renewal of the warfare. In the meantime the Ministers of Costa Rica and Nicaragua have not ceased their efforts in behalf of peace. They have been hard at work and have had the active co-operation of the entire diplomatic corps.

War with Honduras now appears to be inevitable. The actions of President Bogran of that country have not been satisfactory to Provisional President Ezeta of Salvador, and he is irritated beyond measure. Ezeta is watching the situation closely and may take summary action at any time.

Lost $6,000 at Poker.

VIENNA, Aug. 14.—The body of Dr. Stephenson, of Adrian, Mich., is in the hands of the Vienna authorities, and an inquest will be held: It is known that on the evening during which he committed suicide he had lost $6,000 while playing poker with a number of his medical colleagues. The police physician has discovered that Stephenson took a large quantity of morphine immediately after the conclusion of the game, and it is surmised with suicidal intent, although no positive proof has yet been discovered.

King Kalakau to Visit England.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—King Kalakua of Hawaii has definitely announced that in all probability he will be in London in the autumn. So far as appearances go he will excite but a languid interest. He has been moved by the report of the reception which was accorded his spouse. But the Queen of Hawaii visited England at an opportune time, and she attracted attention because of the homage she desired to pay to Queen Victoria. She was certainly an interesting figure in the jubilee pageant and procession.

Attacked the House of Lords.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—In a speech at Derby Sir William Harcourt attacked the House of Lords, characterizing it as a standing obstruction to useful legislation. As a deliberative assembly, he said, the House of Lords had almost ceased to exist. It had done nothing this session beyond promoting a bill to preserve hares, or to extend and increase the stringency of the game laws.

Parnell's Quarrymen on Strike.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The workmen in the Parnell quarries at Wicklow have struck. The strikers attacked the residence of Samuel McAlister, Mr. Parnell's foreman, with the result that Mrs. McAlister was so frightened that she gave premature birth to a child and is now lying dangerously ill. Mr. Parnell threatens to close the quarries if the disturbances continue.

Minister Reid Forwards the Request.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Mr. Whitelaw Reid, the American Minister to France, has informed M. Ribot, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, that he has forwarded to Washington the desire expressed by the Consular Conference for a milder application of the McKinley bill in conformity with the wishes of the Chamber of Commerce.

He Handled $500,000,000 in Currency.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres states that the financial statement to be issued by the government will show that $500,000,000 in currency passed through Celman's hands while he was President, and that the country derived little real benefit from it.

Stanley in Paris.

PARIS, Aug 14.—Henry M. Stanley, the famous explorer, is enjoying a short stay in Paris. He is on his way to Lucerne, whither he will go in a few days. The great traveler is not looking well, and says he would rather travel a thousand miles than undergo another public dinner.

Boot and Shoe Manufacturers Fail.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—By proceedings in the Court of Common Pleas the failure of Ogden & McCormack, boot and shoe manufacturers of this city, is made known. The firm, which has effected an assignment, attributes its failure to business troubles affecting other houses in the same line of business with which it had transactions.

CLAIMS SHE WAS DRUGGED.

Clara Fales Asks for a Divorce and Does Not Remember Being Married.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 14.—Clara Fales, of Newark, has filed a petition for divorce from Frank E. Stevens of this city. The filing of the petition reveals a peculiar case.

On July 4 Miss Fales came to this city to visit Mrs. Charles Stevens, where Frank Stevens was also a visitor. Four days later the couple were married. The girl returned home to Newark, but no mention of the marriage was made. Last week Stevens visited Newark and demanded his wife. The Fales girl denied all knowledge of the marriage and refused to go with Stevens.

In explaining the marriage, she said that if it took place, as alleged, that she must have been drugged, as she had not the slightest recollection of the fact. She also stated that she returned to Newark suspecting that the coffee given her daily had been doctored. The parents of the girl came here to endeavor to break the marriage.

Photographers Nominate Officers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Photographers' Association of America continued in session all day. The following report of the nomination committee for officers for next year was presented: President, George Hastings, Boston; first vice-president, S. L. Stein, Milwaukee; second vice-president, W. S. Tuber, Louisville; secretary, L. C. Overpeck, Hamilton, Ont., and treasurer, Dr. G. M. Carlisle, Washington. The report will probably be adopted.

A Rescued Crew Safe in Port.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 14.—Captain Olsen and crew of eight men of the Norwegian bark Gerda, which was wrecked at Sable Island, on the night of July 27, were brought to this port yesterday by the steamer Despatch. The Gerda was bound for Quebec and is a total loss. Those on board were saved by the life savers on Sable Island.

Kemp and O'Connor to Row.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A rowing match for £1,000 has been arranged between Kemp and O'Connor. The race will take place on the American Pacific coast in March next. The race between Kemp and Stansbury, on the Parramatta river in Australia, has been fixed for October.

Burglars at Long Branch.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 14.—Jacob Rothchild's cottage in Ocean avenue was robbed last night of jewelry and valuables amounting to $2,000. The burglars escaped.

Rained Frogs.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—During a heavy downpour of rain at Hollywell tens of thousands of small frogs came tumbling to the ground and swarmed over the roads.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Wildcats have appeared in a swamp between Trenton and Bordentown, N. J.

Two horse thieves, 11 and 9 years old respectively, were arrested in New York.

The population of Vermont is 332,000. The census returns of 1880 gave the population as 332,286.

Secretary Windom has begun his purchases of silver under the new law; 310,000 ounces were bought.

The work of the census enumerators show the population of Maine to be 658,454, an increase of 9,500 since 1880.

Mrs. Lincoln, wife of the United States Minister, accompanied by her two daughters, returned from England on the steamship City of New York.

Mr. Shannon, the Dublin solicitor of the London Times, who was connected with the Pigott scandal, and who mysteriously disappeared several months ago, has returned to his home.

The Russian Government has decided that, after the completion of the autumn manœuvres, the soldiers serving in the artillery and infantry branches of the service, and who enlisted from 1885 to 1887, shall be placed in the reserves.

A new schedule of prices for leather is to be issued by the Newark, N. J., manufacturers to-day, increasing prices 10 per cent. all round. The manufacturers say the increase is made necessary by the advance in the duties on green hides and oil.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—For New England: Fair; warmer; winds shifting to southerly.

For Eastern New York: Fair; warmer; winds variable.

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Warmer; fair; southerly winds.

For New Jersey: Fair; clearing in southern portion; slightly warmer; variable winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Light showers; easterly winds shifting to southerly; stationary temperature, except warmer in northern portion of Western Pennsylvania.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Money on call to-day, 4 and 5 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 104 | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 104 | 104 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 124¼ | 124¼ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 124¼ | 124¼ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 79¾ | 81¼ |
| Central Pacific | | 38 |
| Chicago, Bur & Quincy | 103¼ | 103¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | | 142 |
| Del. Lack. & Western | 144½ | 145 |
| Erie | 25¾ | 25¾ |
| Erie pref | | |
| Lake Shore | 107¾ | 107¾ |
| Louis. & Nash | 85¾ | 85¾ |
| Michigan Central | 97½ | 98 |
| Missouri Pacific | 69¾ | 69¾ |
| New Jersey Central | 123 | 123¾ |
| Northwestern | 109¾ | 109¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | | 89¾ |
| Pacific Mail | 44 | 43¾ |
| Reading | 42¾ | 42¾ |
| Rock Island | 80 | 80¾ |
| St. Paul | 70¾ | 70¾ |
| Union Pacific | 50¾ | 50¾ |
| Western Union | 82 | 82¼ |

THE DAILY PRESS

IS AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST, MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—What has become of the "Boys' Club?"

—The regular meeting of the Reform Club will be held in Reform Hall this evening at eight o'clock. All will be welcome.

—Attention brothers to the regular meeting of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., in their hall, this evening at eight o'clock.

—The names of Miss C. E. Clarke and Gavett & Co., were omitted by mistake from the names of early-closers on the circular the Clerks have published.

—"Glenside," or as it was formerly called, Feltville, has become a popular Summer resort. Under its present management by Charles J. Drake, it is becoming more popular every day.

—Programmes are out announcing a shooting tournament on the grounds of the Middlesex Gun Club, September 20, under the management of Chas. Smith, alias "Dutchy." Both live birds and inanimate targets will be used.

—Amockeag Council, Order of American Firemen, of this city, will hold a regular meeting this evening, and act upon the proposed project of the Exempt Association to absord them, as exclusively told in THE PRESS of Tuesday.

—G. B. Musgrave, of 52 Madison avenue, is a reliable and practical carpenter and builder, and wisely uses the advertising columns of THE PRESS to tell the people that he is ready to do their jobbing and repairing in the best workmanlike manner and at the lowest prices.

—The Democratic Committee of the Fourth New Jersey Congressional District have called a Convention to meet at Belvidere, N. J., on Wednesday, September 17, 1890, at 11 o'clock A. M., to nominate the candidate for Representative to be supported in the ensuing election.

—A correspondent writes: "A dead cat has lain for two days on Somerset street near the engine house, while a member of the North Plainfield Board of Health sits opposite on Collector Spencer's stoop and breathes the air that arises whenever a wagon runs over the animal's remnants."

—The London Assurance and the Hamburgh-Bremen companies, of which Messrs Lyman & Anthony are the agents, have paid the Crescent League $1,700, the full amount of their insurance. The companies also give the League all the furniture and everything else saved in the fire except the damaged billiard tables.

—The official census of New Jersey shows a population of 1,456,336, an increase of 325,220 in ten years, or 28.75 per cent. The population of the counties is as follows: Hudson, 275,103; Essex, 258,116; Passaic, 104,841; Camden, 88,601; Mercer, 80,075; Union, 79,947; Monmouth, 69,056; Middlesex, 60,729; Burlington, 58,572; Morris, 54,005; Bergen, 47,188; Cumberland, 46,408; Warren, 36,646; Hunterdon, 36,295; Atlantic, 28,825; Gloucester, 28,684; Somerset, 28,186; Salem, 25,116; Sussex, 22,759; Ocean, 15,958; Cape May, 11,226.

Locomotive Rising May Result in Death.

John Shackelton of Bound Brook, was seriously injured in a runaway accident, yesterday. He was seated in a buggy standing near the Bound Brook railroad station when his horse took fright at the blowing off of steam from a locomotive, dashed down the street, collided with a telegraph pole, and threw Mr. Shackelton heavily to the ground. He was badly cut on the head and was seriously injured internally. Two physicians are in attendance, and reports concerning the condition of the injured man are very unfavorable.

Imprisoned His Head in a Box.

Mansfield G. Duckworth fell down the cellar stairs at Doane & VanArsdale's shoe store this morning and jammed his head into a wooden box he was carrying. His shoulders were wedged so tightly in the box that assistance had to be procured to remove the unusual and unwelcome headgear. Mr. Duckworth was considerably bruised and scratched by the accident, and suffers considerably from the jar of the fall.

No medicine in the World is in better repute or more widely known than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a safe and certain remedy for all manner of blood disorders, leading physicians and druggists everywhere recommend it in preference to any other.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Emma V. Fish of Franklin place, has gone to Mount Pocono.

Frank Clawson of West Second street, is enjoying the Belmar breezes.

Mrs. George A. Moore is slowly recovering from her recent serious illness.

Charles Potter, Jr., and family, have gone to Watch Hill, R. I., for two weeks.

Miss Alice Gay of Rahway, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Woodruff, of East Second street.

Miss Annie Miller of Miller's Hotel, is enjoying a deserved rest and visit at Asbury Park.

Misses Lizzie and Ellie Dunn of West Fourth street, have gone to Seabright for a few days visit.

Miss Mabel Force of North avenue, is visiting her friend, Miss Emma Shepherd at Bound Brook.

Mrs. T. S. Armstrong, son and daughter, are at Middletown, N. Y., for a couple of weeks.

Miss Florence Titsworth of Madison avenue, left town today to join a party of friends at Belmar.

C. W. Beebe and family of Central avenue, will leave town this week for an outing on Long Island.

J. G. Cadmus is so much recovered that he was able to dispense with the services of his nurse, today.

Dr. W. E. Mattison, of North Plainfield, has been appointed a Commissioner of Deeds, by Governor Abbett.

George M. Griffen has entirely recovered but will spend the balance of the Summer in rest and recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmon Parse have returned from a sojourn at the Pocono Mountain House, Mount Pocono, Pa.

Among those who were contestants in the annual tennis tournament, at Asbury Park, Tuesday, was Dr. Vincent Baker of the Crescent League.

Thos. S. Armstrong, chief clerk of Reynolds' pharmacy, left today for the coast of Maine where he will spend a three-weeks' vacation in camp.

Mrs. James Andrews has returned to her home at Jersey City Heights after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Andrew Muir of West Fourth street.

Mrs. W. A. Freeman, organist of Grace church, and the godmother of its surpliced choir, has gone with her two sons to Brooklyn, Conn., for a short stay.

Mary R. Loomis and husband, of North Plainfield, have sold to Clarence J. Rice, of North Plainfield, lot Northeast side of Bay street, this city, 40x100 feet, for $600.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Mary Ingersoll Sanger to George Warren Little, on Wednesday evening, August 27, at 12 Adams street, Mount Vernon, N. Y. Miss Sanger is a daughter of E. P. Sanger formerly of Plainfield.

The Rev. C. M. Rupe of the Franklin, Ohio, Baptist church, who preached in the Memorial chapel at Washingtonville, last Sunday evening, is a brother-in-law of the Rev. J. C. Fernald of this city. He will preach in the First Baptist church next Sunday.

"The Royal Punch and Judy and Specialty Show," representing the aggregated vaudeville talent of the Duer street young idea, and including "the only W. H. Rice; all others are humbugs," has been entertaining the region 'round about Emily and Duer streets.

A letter received in Plainfield from the Rev. P. E. Smyth locates the pastor of St. Mary's church at Cognac, France, where he is the guest of a former Plainfielder, Consul Preston. Father Smyth is in the best of health. He will leave Europe for home about August 19.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut presided at the Methodist Episcopal Congress at Chautauqua, yesterday. The Methodist Congress was one of twelve denominational conventions, usual to "Denominational Day," held for the discussion of church affairs with special reference to Chautauqua work.

Col. Henry S. Webb, Chief Engineer of the Virginia Coal and Iron company, is the guest of Col. C. K. Moore, of Fanwood. They are the twin Colonels who a few years ago put 70 miles of railroad through Southern Virginia where the natives openly threatened to murder any Northern capitalist who entered their country.

The death is announced of David K. Milliken, an old and respected resident of Somerville. Mr. Milliken was a brother of "Uncle" John Milliken of this city and Elias Milliken of Dunellen. Mr. Milliken's wife died a few months ago. He has been sick for a long time. The funeral will take place from his late residence in Somerville to-morrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

He Held the Crescents Down to Six Hits.

Hetzell, who pitched when the Star Athletics of Newark defeated the Crescents in April, will pitch again on Saturday afternoon. The batting order of the Stars will be: Dare, short stop; Pierson, second base; Willis, catcher; Larie, third base; McCue, center field; Quinn, first base; Feennan, right field; Hetzell, pitcher; Edmeston, left field.

The record of the Stars for this season is; 23 games played of which only two were lost and one was tied. The Crescent League's team will be the same as last Saturday.

—A great deal of repairing is being done on the public streets, which are expected to be in perfect condition during Fall and Winter.

ANOTHER FAIRY TALE

But One Which Speaks Well for the Judgment of Ex-Postmaster Force in the Selection of Capable Men to Serve the Public.

(From the New York Times.)

Plainfield's Republicans are disgruntled because the new Postmaster, Elias R. Pope, does not discharge the staff of clerks and carriers left to him by the Democrat administration and appoint some of the 124 Republican applicants in their places. Postmaster Pope says that the force is very efficient and could not be improved, but a petition is being numerously signed, to be sent to Washington, asking that Mr. Pope be "influenced" to make a radical chnage and distribute the spoils of office. Several of the applicants are men who were turned out four years ago to make room for Democrats. Mr. Pope says he will be governed strictly by civil service regulations, and will dismiss no man who is doing his duty satisfactorily. The postmaster is support d by the Plainfield women, who are the chief patrons of the postoffice, most of the men being New York commuters, and who are preparing a petition, to offset that of the politicans, to have the present service continued.

(From the New York Star.)

The Republican patriots of Plainfield, N J., have forwarded a petition to Washington asking that E. R. Pope, the postmaster, be directed to discharge the clerks and carriers left in office by the Democratic Administration, and to substitute in their places "deserving" Republicans. The postmaster has only been in office a few months, and he has already received 124 applications for positions. Mr. Pope says he will adhere to Civil Service Law.

[But right here in connection with the report that such a petition has been either circulated or signed, it is proper to remark: As you didn't see it in THE PRESS, it isn't so! ED.]

A "Dude Engine" to Run Through South Plainfield.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company is running a "dude engine" on the Geneva and Sayre branch. She is an output of the Sayre shops and was built under the direction of Master Mechanic Weaver. Her name is Col. J. H. Horton, and No. 526.

While this engine contains all the necessary equipments of modern railroad ing, she is ornamented to a degree seldom attained by any other engines of the present day. The engineer's comfortable cab is constructed in Queen Anne style with stained glass windows. In the cab is a large clock and a steel engraving of Col. Horton, while the metal-work is nickel-plated. On the outside of the cab under the window is the name Col. J. H. Horton and a picture in a nickel-plate frame fifteen inches in diameter. The Lehigh Valley is the only company hereabouts that continues the old custom of putting engines in "real dress" with lots of brass work, and while it may be very pleasing to the company the fireman who does the cleaning up and scouring the jacket with patented preparations would much rather have a machine of sombre appearance.

Ex-Councilman Bowers Assures Good Messenger Service and Additional Telegraph Facilities, for Plainfield.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I call attention of the public to the advertisement of the N. J. Postal Telegraph Co., now building towards Plainfield. The company is a branch of the Postal Telegraph Co., and of the Mackey Cable Co., and comes to stay. Its service will be first-class in every particular. By the prompt delivery of messages by uniformal messenger boys on bicycles; by keeping its offices open day and night; and by courteous and liberal treatment of the public, we feel that the N. J. P. T. Co., will supply a long felt want to the city of Plainfield and will receive a liberal patronage from the citizens. The company is composed of representative and progressive men from the cities of Newark, Orange, Montclair, Plainfield, Rahway, and other points in the State. I have the honor of being one of its directors and chairman of its Executive Committee, and shall interest myself in the Plainfield office to see that good service be given.

B. O BOWERS.

Ate the Man's Luncheon and Got Paid for It.

A woman whose husband is employed in one of manufactories prepared an appetizing luncheon for her husband yesterday, called a boy in from the street, and offered him a nickel if he would take the parcel containing the lunch to her husband. The boy gladly accepted the offer, started briskly off, returned in an hour with the empty dinner pail, and received his money. In the evening the husband returned home hungry and angry. No luncheon had arrived at the shop for him, and because of his disappointment he had been subjected all the afternoon to the raillery of his fellow-workmen. Investigation showed that the small boy had not gone to the factory with the food, but had sought a sequestered spot, had calmly eaten the goodies, and had then returned for the money for doing the errand. This morning his father paid a little bill of the son's contraction, and taught the boy a substantial lesson in the privacy of the cellar.

King William's Programme.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—Kaiser Wilhelm will arrive at Narva, Russia, on Sunday next. A banquet will be given there in his honor, and he will witness the military manœuvres, departing on Thursday for St. Petersburg, where he will remain Saturday and Sunday. He will return to Germany by sea.

The Welsh Strike.

CARDIFF, Aug. 14.—The negotiations between the railway directors and the representatives of the striking employes have been resumed, and the outlook for a settlement of the troubles is good. Sixty thousand men are idle in consequence of the strike.

FIENDISH AMAZONS.

Revoltingly Shocking Things Dr. Bayol Saw in Dahomey.

A letter from Paris, giving details of the adventures of Dr. Bayol, the Governor of Kotonou, who was imprisoned by the King of Dahomey, appears in the Vossische Zeitung. Dr. Bayol himself was not ill-treated, but was forced to witness the most horrible executions, and was closely watched night and day by three of the most important chiefs. He was forced to be present at the execution of his secretary and his interpreter, and was a spectator of the sacrifice at one time of eighty-four human beings and at another of forty-two. The victims were bound, mutilated in a horrible manner, and then, still alive, hung up by the heels. Then their bodies were opened, with large round knives and the intestines taken out, after which the corpses were thrown into a "place of skulls," where in forty-eight hours they were reduced by birds of prey to skeletons.

Dr. Bayol was every time compeled to view each corpse, while the executioners carefully turned the heads of their victims toward him. Upon one occasion he desired to buy off some negroes, whom he recognized as proteges from Porto Novo, but the King angrily refused to allow it. Every day his dusky Majesty danced before the doctor, executing steps and jumps which would have been highly entertaining under other circumstances. At these times the King wore sandals and a sort of Grecian cap on his head, and six Amazons danced with him.

The Amazons Dr. Bayol describes as very fiends. One day the doctor witnessed a spectacle which he will never forget. At a sign from the King five hundred Amazons rushed upon a living ox and tore it into pieces in a few seconds; then each, with a piece of raw flesh in her mouth, marched off singing, while five of their number held the skin and head of their victim aloft in triumph. In festal garments they witnessed from the roofs of the neighboring huts the human sacrifices of the next day, and laughed heartily. They always appear perfectly resigned, and go quietly to death when their turn comes. The King is very suspicious, and would not sign the letter written to the President of the French Republic. Dr. Bayol's return to the coast was extremely dangerous, for he had no passport, and was therefore obliged, in spite of illness, to march more than fifty miles in one day through country with which he was quite unacquainted. On arriving at Kotonou he heard of the death of the King, whom, had he been still at Dahomey, he would probably have been accused of poisoning.

Curious Belief of the Maoris.

The Maoris of New Zealand and the adjoining islands have a strange belief concerning the cause of the ebb and flow of the tides. These phenomena, it seems, they attribute to a huge water-breathing dragon, which they call Parata, who is said to do his work by powerful and regular respirations, or ingurgitations and regurgitations of water. With one tribe in Australia, and another in the Sandwich Islands, it is customary to speak of a drowned person as having fallen into the great throat of Parata, a superstition which proves a connection between these widely-separated islands at a remote period of their history. The New Zealanders have a myth which tells that their island was populated by Parata bringing a loaded canoe in his mouth from some far-away land. A cunning priest confined in the monster's mouth with the others in the canoe recited a charm which caused the dragon to disgorge his load in time for those imprisoned to safely steer to the coast of what is now New Zealand. The words of this charm are still preserved and recited in times of extreme peril.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Indigestion

IS not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

Rich Cash Asks for Money.

Miss Maggie Cash says that John Day and Catherine Day, his wife, owe her $55, borrowed money, and has brought suit to recover the amount. The Days deny the debt, and claim that instead Maggie owes them $6.23 for dressmaking. A legal adjustment of affairs will be made next Tuesday, when Maggie will seek to secure judgment for the full amount of her claim.

A Beauty Without Paint.

"What makes my skin so dark and muddy?
My cheeks were once so smooth and ruddy?
I use the best cosmetics made,"
Is what a lovely maiden said.

"That's not the cure, my charming Miss,"
The doctor said—"remember this:
If you your skin would keep from taint,
Discard the powder and the paint.

"The proper thing for such ills
Is this," remarked the man of pills:
"Enrich the blood and make it pure—
In this you'll find the only cure."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do this without fail. It has no equal. All druggists.

THE WARREN MISSION
EXCURSION
FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1890,
To Asbury Park and Ocean Grove,
Stopping at Long Branch both ways.

Leave Dunellen, 7:45; Plainfield, 8 A. M. Returning, leave Asbury Park, 6 P. M.

Adult Tickets, $1 25.
Children, 5 to 12 years, 50 cts.

All baskets and parcels, properly marked with owner's name, will be in charge of a responsible person on the train, and will be delivered both ways, free of charge, to "Ross" pavilion, Ocean Grove. 8-14-w

N. M. A.
MUSIC HALL.
WEDNESDAY, AUG. 20.
Engagement of the Young American Star,
CORA TANNER,
Under the management of Col. Wm. E. Ginn, in a new and original play, written expressly for her by Mr. Edward E. Kidder, entitled
"ONE ERROR,"
Presented by an Elegant Company, and Elegant Parisian Costumes.
PRICES—25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.
Seats on sale Monday. 8-14-td

IMPORTANT NOTICE
To Messenger Call Box Subscribers, Firemen, and the General Public.

The New Jersey Postal Telegraph company, which is now building its lines rapidly towards Plainfield, from which point it will do a general telegraph business in connection with the Postal Telegraph company and Mackey Bennett Cable company throughout the World, have purchased the entire Messenger service plant of the Plainfield Fire Alarm and Telegraph company which is to be reorganized at once, and put in active service. It is respectfully requested that all parties having Call Boxes of Firemen's Badges in their buildings, report to our office, No. 4 Park avenue, in person or by letter, that the Manager may make a record of it and put in proper working order. Good service will be guaranteed in future.

J. A. MCCLARY,
General Manager New Jersey Postal Tel. Co.
8-14-2

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
56 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-7

CLAIRVOYANT.
By request of her many patrons, MRS. DR. EDWARDS, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 13, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26, when she leaves positively. 8-14-6

List of Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 13, 1890.

Ball, Miss Mary D
Clemishue, Mrs E
Copp, Fred C
Connelly, John
Comer, Miss Mary
Coll, John
Dabrosio, Nicoli
Ferringer, H B
Hansler, Ernest
Klieger, Mieser
McClain, Mrs J
Nelson, L P
Tower, Miss Emma

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 8 50, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 4:30 and 6 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:00, 6:30 P. M.
Close—8:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

LOST—Tuesday afternoon, a pocketbook containing a sum of money. Finder will be suitably rewarded on leaving the same at Sherwin's shoe store.

LOST—On Wednesday, a small alligator skin pocketbook; silver flap, with monogram, M. A. D. Please return to PRESS office.

LOST or Stolen—Between the depot and 26 Somerset street, a bundle containing lady's wearing apparel. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to City Mills.

ROOMS to let, in a nice location. Address L. PRESS office. 8-13-3

FRONT room (unfurnished) to let, No. 11 West 6th street. Inquire at 19 West 6th st. 8-12-3

3 OR 4 unfurnished rooms wanted by man and wife. Will board outside. Private house preferred. Address, F. W. Runyon, Box 764.

BOY WANTED at Sherwin's, 23 W. Front st.

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms, to respectable colored family. Apply PRESS office. 8-12-tf

DRESSMAKING in all its branches; cutting and fitting by the McDowell system. Satisfaction guaranteed. Call at No. 6 West Second street. 8-12-6

LOT FOR SALE—Elegant building lot on Stanford avenue. Good investment. Apply E. C. Mulford, Broker. 8-11-6

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing and kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. 7-26-tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 238 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 8-11-6t

Rexwheat.
The most healthful, appetizing and palatable
SPRING AND SUMMER FOOD
For young, old, weak or strong. Marion Harland calls it "Delicate and Delicious."
At leading grocers. Wholesale by N. W. FARNUM.

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.
The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 28c pound.
Havermeyer & Elder's standard Granulated Sugar.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DESMAREST,
25 PARK AVENUE. 8-4-t

MOY.
LAUNDRY.
Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-7

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 2-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 8-2-y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STREET. 5-12-y

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 37 WEST FRONT STREET. 5-17-tf

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING.
Nos. 20 and 20 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 6-28-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily.
Fine Teas and Coffees a Specialty. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE.
OFFICE—20 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 1-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
45 North Avenue,
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-3-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[PECK'S CORNER,] No. 4 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting.
8-25-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale.
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 28 Craig place. 8-14-6t

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 58.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the LOWEST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.
A COOL STORE,
AND
A WARM WELCOME,
AT
PECK'S!
28 WEST FRONT STREET.

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS.
CROCKERY. CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETTS, 15 E. FRONT ST.
10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.
Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons.
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-P." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.
SELLING OUT CHEAP!
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.
1-3-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish,
Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 20 Points worth considering:
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building). Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,
A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And
Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

TRIBULATIONS OF A BANKRUPT.

Creditors Question a "Failure," and Accuse the Debtor of Various Wrong-doings.

Financial difficulties have enshrouded S. Frucht, of Sycamore street, for several days. A short time ago the young merchant "failed," and some of his creditors were so ungenerous as to question his motives and to make unpleasant accusations. Mr. Frucht with broad and honest smiles denied each soft impeachment, and insisted that business had been "verra poor," and that he could get no money to pay his bills. Constable G. R. Rockafellow levied on the goods in Frucht's store, and today was set for their sale. Suddenly however, some of the goods mysteriously disappeared, and Frucht was accused of having spirited them away. Sufficient evidence was obtained, it is said, to establish a case against the enterprising bankrupt. He was to be arrested on two different warrents, when the goods again came to light. The woman at whose house the missing property was found insisted that she was not an accomplice of Frucht and was not storing the goods for him, but had bought and paid for them. She readily surrendered them, however, and seemed to consider that it would be easy for her to get back whatever money she might have expended. As the goods were recovered the arrest of Frucht was deferred.

As a sort of counter-charge Frucht complains that the Constable and three appraisers broke into his cellar yesterday, and that he detected one of the four trying to steal a package of envelopes. He himself, however, admits that after the constable had levied on the goods in the cellar and had placed them under lock and key he tampered with the fastenings and thus made it necessary for the appraisers to break through the door.

If the settlement of Frucht's business is not satisfactory he will probably be arrested within a short time on the two warrants on which he was to have been arrested yesterday before the missing goods were found.

The Election Officers.

Pursuant to the requirements of the new ballot law, the County Board of Registration, consisting of Judge James Wiley, ex-Senator Robert L. Livingston, William Chamberlain and Edward Woodruff, met in the office of the Surrogate at Elizabeth on Wednesday, and confirmed the nominations of the Democratic and Republican county committees as Boards of Registry and Election for the various wards and townships of Union county. Among them are the following from Plainfield:

DEMOCRATS.

First ward—John J. Kenney, John McIntyre.

Second ward—Louis M. Stover, Lewis H. Brown.

Third ward—F. M. Bacon, William Wright.

Fourth ward—First district—Vincent L. Frazee, Wm. H. Warner.

Second district—Edward C. Searing, M. R. Flynn.

REPUBLICANS.

First ward—Richard E. Corriell, George W. Moore.

Second ward—John H. Doane, Wm. Messerschmidt.

Third ward—B. Frank Corriell, Randolph Dunham.

Fourth ward—First district—Jos. B. Higgins, Louis W. Titsworth.

Second district—Robert Mitchell, Jas. B. Martin.

From Tears to Sugared Happiness.

A six-year-old youngster seated complacently in a toy express wagon was being drawn along the streets by his ten-year-old brother this morning. A bright new cuspidor, newly purchased by the youngsters, also reposed in the wagon. The bigger boy started to run, and was going at full speed, greatly to the younger brother's delight, when the wagon collided with a post, and boy and cuspidor were thrown to the pavement. When the fast young runner looked around he found that the foot of his howling brother had been jammed into the cuspidor, and though he tugged and strained manfully he could't remove the unpleasant attachment. Finally, by dint of much hammering and jerking, the imprisoned foot was released, but the cuspidor was a battered wreck, and both youngsters sat on the pavement and blubbered, till a benevolent old man happened along and gave them money enough to renew their purchase and enable them to go home happy. This gave them an idea, and they kept on blubbering till they got another quarter, when they visited the candy shops and had a jolly time.

South Plainfield News.

E. E. Teeple has just received his new gun from Ithaca. The boys will have to shoot sharp now.

The South Plainfield Cornet Band spent a very pleasant day at Boynton Beach, Tuesday.

On Wednesday one of the railroad employees notified E. E. Teeple that there was a package at the station for him from Ithaca. Mr. Teeple hurried down, thinking they had sent him some circulars, as he has taken the agency for a gun. When he got there he found a very large valise. He carried it up the street like some big New York drummer. When he opened it in Manning's store, where he is employed, he found it filled with old shoes, straw hats, coupling pins, railroad spikes, etc.

Much injury is done by the use of irritating, griping compounds taken as purgatives. In Ayer's Pills, the patient has a mild but effective cathartic, that can be confidently recommended alike for the most delicate patients as well as the most robust.

The Fascinating Cora Opens the Season.

Cora Tanner and an excellent company opens the season at Music Hall Wednesday of next week, in Edward E. Kidder's play, "One Error," and the indications point to an emphatic success. It is not a "one part" play, but contains a round dozen of strong characters in addition to that of Judith Orme, played by the "Star," who has the greatest faith in the production. This faith is also shared by her

CORA TANNER.

Manager, Colonel Sinn, to such an extent that he has booked "One Error" for a solid forty weeks' season throughout the country, and is having expensive scenery painted for it. Miss Tanner's outlay for dresses for this play has been very liberal; they were made by Felix of Paris. Her part is an emotional one, and the scenes portrayed are those of high life in Nice and Paris. There is a great deal of comedy also, in the play, which will have its metropolitan production at the new Fifth Avenue Theatre, on Monday, August 25, inaugurating the Fall and Winter season.

The Over-the-Brook Board of Freeholders.

The monthly meeting of the Somerset County Freeholders was held at the Somerville Court House Tuesday, all the members being present.

The resignation of Hugh Gaston as County Collector was tendered and accepted. The members voted to extend to the retiring Collector their thanks for the able manner in which he had discharged his duties, for his uniform courtesy and friendship, and his fidelity to the interests of the county.

The members furnished the following estimates of expenses for the coming year for each of their respective townships:

| | |
|---|---|
| North Plainfield township and borough | $5,500 |
| Bedminster | 1,800 |
| Branchburgh | 2,000 |
| Bernards | 1,000 |
| Bridgewater | 9,000 |
| Franklin | 2,000 |
| Hillsborough | 5,000 |
| Montgomery | 2,000 |
| Warren | 2,400 |
| Total | $30,400 |

It was ordered that the sum of $80,000 be raised by taxation to meet expenditures for the current year.

E. B. Allen was chosen County Collector by a vote of 6, to 4 for High Gaston. The Collector will furnish bonds for $50,000. He will assume the duties of the office to-morrow.

The Board adjourned to meet at Stirling next Saturday at 11 A. M.

At the Circus Last Evening.

The Bridgeport Post has the following to say of the circus that is coming to Plainfield next Monday:

"At the Washburn & Arlington show last evening, there was an audience that filled all the seats, "reserved chairs" included. Late comers had to be content with standing room. The show opened with a grand entree, in which the whole company took part, Wild West, Moorish caravan and all. The programme included some excellent trapeze performances and daring leaps through the air. There was also a very fine contortion act, first-class horizontal bar work, dancing barrel act and dog circus. There was also one of the best slack wire performances ever seen here. The show was all and really more than could reasonably be expected for the small price of admission. It was worth twenty-five cents to see the crowd alone. 'Bridgeport is a good show town,' remarked one of the managers, and he was right. One thing more can be said in favor of the show, and that is, that everything under the tent and connected with the performance looked clean and neat, and the attaches were uniformly polite. The side shows came in for a large share of patronage."

Washingtonville Whisps.

Mrs. John Sawyer with her family of Brooklyn, is again spending the Summer with their friends, the Misses Spencer at their handsome villa.

Miss Carrie Totten of Newark, is visiting her friend, Mrs. Andrew Willson.

A fine, large, brown mare belonging to S. H. Beeching, is suffering from spinal meningitis. The veterinary has little hopes of her recovery.

The Sunday schools of Passaic Valley along the line of the D. L. and W. railroad, had their annual excursion yesterday to Coney Island. About fifteen cars carried the excursionists. It was under the management of the veteran conductor, Thos. Rundle.

H. W. R.

Bank Place to be Improved.

The Latimer real estate on East Front street, consisting of dwelling house and barn, corner of Bank place, and a vacant lot on the Easterly side, has been purchased by W. C. Butler, who will improve Bank place and its surroundings and still hold the property in the market.

Imitation goods are gotten up for the ignorant and gullible. The persons able to read and write are not so easily fooled. They will insist that Hires' Root Beer is handed them, and nothing else "just as good." The best imitation is no good, and you know it.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

AUNT MAG'S EXPERIENCE.

Why She Won't "Tone Up" on Rock and Rye or Madeira and Beef.

"Did you want me to go nussin', ma'am? I'm glad I'm not needed in that line, as I've my hands full here at home. A young fellow was hurt by a bank cavin' in on him while diggin' on a side hill, and they brought him to me, knowin' I'm allus glad to be able to arn an honest penny an' stay at home. The comp'ny pays all his bills.

"'Do I give him tonics, an' somethin strengthenin'?' Yes'm, I does.

"You've heard rock an' rye was a great strengthener—um—yes. Not a drop of the rye has that pore boy tasted since he has be'n in my hands; but he kin have all the rock he wants, an' if he has a sweet tooth, that'll be considerable. The doctors an' me have scrimmaged over the rye, but I beat 'em an' they had to hold their wrath.

"Jes' listen, an' I'll tell you why I'm so down on rock an' rye. I hain't allus been pore an' lived in a little house, savin' to work lively for daily bread, as once I had a good husband an' four promisin' sons, who kept me real comfortable.

"Consumption took off my husband, an' John, the oldest boy, soon followed him, an' you wouldn't blame me for tryin' any an' every remedy I ever heerd of when Willie an' Eddy took a cough. Good old port, with a raw egg beaten in it, we had for Willie, then another sort o' wine with raw beef chopped in it, come next, an', ma'am, I was so foolish as to think the red flush on his cheek meant the honest red belongin' to returnin' health, so I kept givin' it to him, keepin' the poor boy half drunk with wine. I had to give him up. Oh, those were bitter times! I felt that my God had forsaken me in my darkest hours. Past experience hadn't taught me to throw away such deceivin' medicine, so I began to dose Eddy with brandy an' loaf sugar, takin' great pains to get apple or peach brandy of great age and purity' (?) which cost more than I was able to pay. One thing comforts me, Eddy never learned to like it. All through his sickness he hated it, never hunted it up of his own accord, as did John an' Willie.

"You can guess what a sore heart I carried when I was forced to see Eddy, just turned seventeen, fadin' away. Every day he grew a little weaker, an' thinner, but was always patient an' lovin'. The priceless (?) brandy didn't save him, an' one winter morning there was a fourth grave dug under the row of cedars that my mothers hands had planted long ago, in old Mount Zion church-yard.

"I made an idol of Gilbert, the last one left. No, it wasn't right, but I did it, feelin' rebellious when the thought would come; 'He'll go the same way the others have;' I watched him carefully, thankful that he seemed strong in body. His limbs were straight, and he had a handsome face. My Gilbert, the baby, was a winnin' lad. Oh, the pity, the pity!" and the large, almost masculine figure for the moment swayed with emotion.

We looked about us and saw that bare and poor as the small room was, it was very, very neat and clean, though Aunt Mag hadn't an over-supply of time to spare from her "washin', ironin' and scrubbin'," engagements, to spend in looking after her own home.

"Gilbert," she resumed, "learned fast, and got to be a telegraph operator, and his office was in the little depot, just across the way; you can see it from the east window. But his work was night work, an' it's wearin' on a young boy to be up all the night. He was lookin' to get the day job. When he began to get peaked an' thin-faced, I fixed up the most temptin' lunches I knew how to get up, but he kept losin' appetite an' flesh, an' one mornin' he fell faintin' at my feet. Somebody said: 'Get him rock and rye; that is the very best medicine prepared for debilitated folks. The rye will brace them up, the glycerine and rock candy is soothin' to the cough.' I got the rock and rye. Gilbert liked it. I had no trouble to get him to swallow his medicine.

"'It's doing me good, mother; I can work all night and not get tired,' said he, and I began to hope that there wouldn't be a fifth grave soon, dug under the cedars. That bottle had to be re-filled right away; we hadn't the money to get it as often Gilbert wanted it, and then he was angry with me for being so stingy. I was frightened when it was too late, but my pleadin's were in vain, and one day he came in at the door discharged from his position. 'For what, son?' I asked, and a thrill of pain shot through my heart as I read in the superintendent's letter that somebody had complained: 'He was no longer to be trusted, an' telegraph operators should be sober and trustworthy.'

"After that he wash't long in fallin' to the lowest notch. How fast he went, and I couldn't stay his course one little moment, though my heart was breakin'. Soon he became known as that 'good-for-nothing Gilbert Wade,' ready to do any thing for a drink of liquor. One mornin' there was an unusual crowd gathered at the depot waitin' for an excursion train, and I sat at the window watchin' Gilbert, with a great fear in my heart; he was just drink enough to be insultin' and abusive, and there were others there who were not themselves. Some one said something Gilbert did not like, and he struck out his clenched hand, and there before my eyes, oh—ma'am, I can't tell you."

"Don't try," said we, trying to soothe the poor soul, who soon wiped away the blinding tears, and managed to tell us her 'boy was murdered while she sat there."

"Its not only the misery of havin' the boy die in such—such—Oh—its—my—own wickedness—in puttin'—the cup—to his—lips—that's troublin' me. Say, ma—I—the murderer—of my poor boy?" she wailed, and we could not comfort her.

"I'm tryin' to be a good woman, an' look up, not down, but, ma'am, on stormy nights when the winds sweep through the branches of those pines and cedars, they sound like dirges. Their music, even on sunny days, is so sad, sayin' to me over and over, 'the past is beyond recall,' but I know there is yet time with my Master to agree.

"Now, do you wonder that I mean to die fightin' old port and raw eggs, Madeira an' beef, apple brandy an' loaf sugar, whisky an' rock candy, an' to see to it that I don't help death overtake other bright young men? I've set out to try to be a sort of a mother for several homeless young fellers, that brings washin' to me. I watch 'em, an' lecture 'em, but they seem to like plain old aunt Mag, for all o' that."—Ella Guernsey, in Union Signal.

JOHN BURNS' LETTER.

The English Labor Leader Says That Short Hours Bring Temperance.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, one day last month addressed the National Temperance Congress in New York City on the "Attitude of the Working-men on the Liquor Traffic." In his speech he claimed that the movement for shorter hours of labor was a Temperance movement. Leander Thompson contradicted the statement and claimed that the Chancellor of the English Exchequer, Mr. Goschen, had said that the reduction of the hours of labor in England had only tended to increase the drinking habits of the workmen. Mr. Gompers immediately wrote to Mr. Goschen and John Burns. He asked the former if he had been correctly quoted, and the latter if the statement was true. Their replies have just been received. Mr. Goschen denies having used any such expression.

John Burns made a more extended reply, as follows:

□No. 108 LAVENDER HILL, BATTERSEA, LONDON, June 28, 1890.—Dear Sir: The Chancellor of the Exchequer did not say that the increase in wages and reduction of hours of labor of the dock laborers of London had merely tended to increase their drunkenness and largely contributed to an increase in the Treasury from the liquor traffic. His statement that the increase of 2,000,000 was due to the fact that the people had been toasting the prosperity of trade in the country. He had no reference to any class, but did say that there had been a great increase in the duty from rum.

I attended a meeting last night of 6,000 dock laborers, and asked those who ought to know what was the effect of higher wages and better conditions, and the universal opinion was that the workers of London who have received better wages are more sober than ever they were.

As an abstainer myself, I am delighted at the conduct of the dockers, and more than pleased at the diminution, not only of drinking, but of betting among them, due in no small measure to the fact that their leaders, Messrs. Mann, Tillett and others, are Temperance men.

The greatest enemies I have in London are the betting men and publicans. Their enmity is a testimony to this fact, that as we ask for reduction of hours for more leisure and education we urge the men to spend their higher wages in home comforts. In twenty years the amount spent on liquor per head of population has decreased 20 per cent., while the aggregate has increased through growth of population.

In England, as elsewhere, the short hours' movement has always tended to sobriety and increased the intelligence of the workers. In my own trade, twelve or fourteen years ago, secretaries of unions were bribed to transfer the meeting place from the "Pig and Whistle" to the "Brown Bear," so that the publican might have the profit from drink consumed. So great has been the change that the proprietor of the "Brown Bear" will almost give you £20 to take the meeting away, as the drink consumed does not pay him to have the meeting there.

At boat races, bean feasts, holiday gatherings, etc., the change in the drinking habits is most marked. Side by side with the demand for shorter hours is also the demand for free libraries, parks and open spaces, gymnasia, cricket and foot-ball grounds. Leisure to-day does not mean drinking, but the opportunites for thought, education and true thrift, which is impossible to men whose long hours make them animals and content with a brutal existence.

The rich man who drinks does so because he has nothing better to do. This means that the poor man who provides him with the means for drinking has to work longer hours than he should, and, as a consequence, often deals the monotony of his toil by bouts of drinking, the cause of which the eight hour advocates are going to remove by equalizing the labor of both. Thus the lazy man will have something to take an interest in, while the previously overworked slave will have leisure, without which manhood and its best characteristics are impossible. Yours truly,

JOHN BURNS.

ITEMIZED FACTS.

WESLEY called the money received in exchange for drink "blood money."

EVERY American woman in the mining town of Bisbee, Arizona, wears the white ribbon.

NO MAN has yet climbed the ladder of fame on rounds of drinks.—Binghamton Leader.

WHEN the father takes in beer and the mother takes in washing, the children are apt to take in the gutter, the poor-house and the prison.

THE world is full of men who do more for the saloon-keeper's family than they do for their own children. Are you one of them?—Ram's Horn.

A BUG trying to run its head into a gaslight is about as wise as the man who thinks now and then a drink won't hurt him.—Ram's Horn.

A LARGE percentage of persons afflicted with sun-strokes are those addicted to the use of liquor. Drinking men are very liable to be prostrated by the heat.

SIR STEVENS BLACKWOOD said lately that during the fifteen years of secretaryship to the British post-office, he knew of 1,000 officials of that department who had been actually ruined by strong drink.

THE C. T. A. News says that the English bishops, realizing the fearfully increasing evil of drink, have decided that the first Sunday of each month shall hereafter be devoted to the presentation of Temperance from every Catholic pulpit.

SIXTY per cent. of the medical students of Toronto are total abstainers. Canadian doctors are beginning to realize the danger in prescribing alcoholics so freely, and to see the necessity of placing them on the shelf beside arsenic and other poisons.

AT a gospel meeting in Castletown, a Manx fisherman known to be a true Christian said: "In early life I was a slave to strong drink; but through the instumentality of the Temperance movement I was led to give it up. I subsequently became converted to God, and, longing to obey His almost last command: "Do this in remembrance of Me,' I went to the communion. The instant I tasted the wine, so highly was it charged with alcohol, the old longing came back, and from that moment, nine years ago, I have never once been to the Lord's Table. I dare not lead myself into temptation."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

WASHBURN & ARLINGTON'S
NEW UNITED
MONSTER SHOWS.
Congress of Nations,
World's Fair,
Roman Hippodrome,
Egyptian Caravan,
Arabian Camel Train,
Moorish Encampment.
WILD WEST
AND WILD EAST,
Will Exhibit at CIRCUS GROUNDS,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
MONDAY, AUG. 18.

100 HANDSOME GREY HORSES.
100 WORLD RENOWNED PERFORMERS.
A Beautiful Living Calliope
In the
Grand Street Parade,
Will fill the air with music from a steam organ, costing $10,000.
8-11-w

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 25c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
39 WEST FRONT STREET.
11-14-m

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
AH MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge.
11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St.
-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week!
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.
6-26-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Gasoline, Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers. Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes.
7-26-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Door and Window Screens a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK
6-3-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS.
1-13-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.
6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.
9-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
P. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.
4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. KONEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 807. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough.
3-6-tf

DON'T FORGET!
That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT 7 P. M.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street.
1-18-tf

Educational.
PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal.
7-18-3m

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my2y

Coal and Lumber.
A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. myl0y1 ROBERT E. COOK

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine st.
H. E. Gayle, No. 79 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
7-21-t

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
23 EAST FRONT ST.

Miscellaneous.
RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables.
56 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turnouts day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 131. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave.
my20

Carpenters and Builders.
JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER AND REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.
New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing.
6-19-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
Residence Clinton avenue, near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1226. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.
9-16-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE.
8-26-w

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 227 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit.
2-17-tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 24th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
AND HIS
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
ALSO
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home.
6-14

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Professional Cards.
MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 3 p. m. E. HORNEM, 25 W. 3d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong.
8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. Fifth St., Corner of Liberty.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M.
8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. MCCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building.
my29

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law.
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 8-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer,
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

DESIRABLE
Netherwood Building Sites
FOR SALE.
Apply to J. F. LOESER,
P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J.
7-15-m

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depot Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and pleasure purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLE
21 East 5th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-3os-1

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Botching
1-14-tf

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGES.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
6-4-6m

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-tf-eop1

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.
We manufacture them and know what the contain. ☞TRY THEM.

[Allegorical.]

GOLDEN ROD.

In all the world, embraced in mortal sight,
There's nothing seems more like the smile of God
Than flowers do when kissed by morning light—
And Queen of these is lovely golden rod.

In ancient days where'er sweet Flora flew,
In every path the charming goddess trod,
Its germs, with lovely hand, she freely threw,
To deck her fields with brilliant golden rod.

Whate'er the songs that Nature's voices hymn,
There can be none more like the songs of God
Than songs of birds, alone attuned by Him
For Flora's gorgeous fields of golden rod.

Though every bud that blooms with beauty shines,
And bears the tender touch of love of God,
There's none that wilder blooms and brighter shines
Than Queen of all, the gorgeous golden rod.

It bloometh not in spring or summer rays,
When countless minor beauties stud the sod;
But later on, in robes of riper days
And regal splendor, blooms the golden rod.

No rival beauties justly can contend
That decorate the field or velvet sod—
With softer shades its richer colors blend,
Adorning all, this brilliant golden rod.

'Tis not the dainty sort of tender care,
Nor doth it need a special clime or sod,
But bountiful it bloometh everywhere,
This royal beauty, splendent golden rod.

And though it royal be it blooms for all,
And sweetly, lowly bends with queenly nod,
To lesser graces of the golden fall,
Their noble sister, brilliant golden rod.

Although it bears itself with stately mein,
It smiles alike for all, with smiles of God,
Of every field and clime the floral queen,
This ever rich and brilliant golden rod.

The odors pure that precious flowers yield,
Exhaled by solar beams from rain and sod,
Exquisite pleasures give, through wood and field,
Distilled by Him who gives the golden rod.

The perfume sweet that Heavenly Flora makes,
As 'twere the breath of angels and of God,
Is taste of what's beyond the "pearly gates,"
To be bestowed when fades the golden rod.

In all the world embraced in mortal sight
There's nothing seems more like the smiles of God
Than flowers do when kissed by morning light—
And Queen of all is lovely golden rod.
—N. Y. Herald.

SALLY SPARKS.

The Pathetic Story of Her Last Disappointment.

JUST to ease my bursting heart I am going to write out an account of my last disappointment. It is meant only for my own perusal. If I thought anybody else would ever see it I should certainly faint away on the spot.

In the first place, I will set down here what I wouldn't on any account breathe to any living being—I am forty-one years old this spring; and yet I have never quite succeeded in securing a partner to walk with me the thorny paths of existence, as somebody very poetically and feelingly remarked. If I'd only known at sixteen what awaited me I really believe I should have given up. Sixteen! Only think, that was twenty-five years ago—though I give it out to the public that I'm most thirty—but I'm afraid there are some of them that don't believe it.

However, I don't intend to give an account of all my past life. I'm only going to set down the particulars of my last summer's disappointment.

It was just about the first of June that the thought popped into my head, what a good idea it would be to go to the country to board. I'd pretty much given up the prospect of finding a husband in Millville, for the fact is, them factory girls—impudent, brazen hussies, as they are—monopolize the attentions of all the men, so that those who are delicate and refined, like myself, don't stand any chance, because they won't stoop to use the same arts that they do. Bless me! what a long sentence! However, as no eye but my own is ever to read it, it don't make so much difference.

Well, as I was saying, I concluded to go to some country town to spend the summer, hoping that, by passing myself off for a rich heiress or fashionable belle, I might be able to catch a beau.

So I began to look over the advertisements of country board, and at length came to the conclusion to go up to Huckleberry Corner, in New Hampshire, where all the people that ain't farmers are agriculturists.

HE WAS LOOKING OUT OF THE WINDOW.

I provided myself with as many fine dresses as I could afford, for, you know, I wanted people to think I was wealthy. I found it so expensive that, before I got through, I found myself obliged to sell the half-acre of land that Grandfather Sparks left me in his will. But then I thought how much more valuable a husband would be than a half-acre of land. So I submitted to the sacrifice with Christian fortitude and resignation, feeling pretty confident that my reward would come sooner or later.

It wasn't till about the last moment that the most brilliant idea of all came to me. It was this: I would pass myself off for a Southern widow, with a great cotton plantation. I felt pretty sure the men would nibble at that bait. Of course there wouldn't be nobody in Huckleberry Corner that would know me, so I could get along well enough.

I didn't quite know what State would be the best for me to hail from, but I finally concluded that Alabama would be as good as any. So I decided on that. I likewise concluded to change my name so as to avoid suspicion, and I went down to the city on purpose to have some cards struck off with my new name. They looked like this:

MRS. COL. SPARKINGTON,
SPARKVILLE,
Alabama.

I thought Sparkington sounded sort of aristocratic, and as I didn't know the names of any places in Alabama, I thought I would put Sparkville, as that would give people an idea that my husband had been a man of some importance, to have the whole town named after him.

Well, every thing being arranged, I left Millville without letting anybody know where I thought of going. Indeed, I hinted round that I didn't know, but I should visit some of my relations in Boston, which wasn't a falsehood, because I do expect to, sometime, if I live long enough.

On the morning of the second day, I found myself on board the stage that went to Huckleberry Corner.

There wasn't but one other passenger in the stage but myself. He was a tall man with elegant black whiskers and looked as if he might be about thirty years old. I was immediately struck by his appearance, and considered how I might draw his attention to me, for thus far he hadn't taken any more notice of me that if I had been a cat. After a little reflection I thought I would slip one of my cards out of my pocket, and contrive to drop it accidentally at his feet, so that he couldn't help stooping to pick it up; when, of course, he would see the name, and would think more of me in consequence.

So I just took the opportunity when he was looking out of the window at the scenery, and slily dropped the card just at his feet. But would you believe it, the provoking critter kept a looking out of the window for some time, and when he got through doing that never thought of looking at his feet. So I coughed slightly, and remarked in what I considered to be an aristocratic tone:

"Would you be kind enough to hand me the card which I accidentally let fall?"

"Certainly, ma'am," said he, indifferently, stooping to pick it up. But when he saw the name he said in a more interested tone: "I perceive that you are a Southern lady."

I bowed.

"Would you allow me?" he continued, "to retain this card and give you one of my own in exchange?"

"I should be pleased to have you do so," said I, quite delighted at his desire to make my acquaintance.

He handed me a card on which was inscribed the name of Erastus Lyon, M. D.

"Are you indeed a physician?" said I, enthusiastically. "It is a profession that I venerate. It is the mission of the physician to go about relieving pain and sickness, and although my own health has been remarkably good, I value the profession none the less. Let me see. I haven't been sick for twenty years, and as that was when I was a mere child, under ten, I don't remember much about it."

I said this so that he might make a calculation about my age, and think me under thirty. He looked a little surprised, I thought, and pretty soon he said:

"Have you ever been North before?"

"Yes," said I. "In fact I feel pretty well acquainted with you Northerners."

"And how do you like us, may I venture to ask?"

"Very much indeed. In fact I may say that I feel quite as much at home among you as at the South. Since the death of my husband, Colonel Sparkington, I have passed all my summers at the North."

I might have said that I had passed all my springs, falls and winters also, but I thought it wasn't necessary to tell the whole truth.

"May I inquire," said Dr. Lyon, "whether you intend to stop any length of time at Huckleberry Corner?"

"I am thinking of passing the summer there if I like the place and meet agreeable people."

"You have never been there before?"

"No, and I know no one there."

"Indeed," said Dr. Lyon, thoughtfully. After a moment's pause he added: "If our brief acquaintance will justify the offer, I will suggest that the place at which I myself have engaged board is an excellent one, and very pleasantly situated."

"Indeed, sir," said I, considerably more pleased than I was willing to show, "I shall be very much obliged to you if you will take that trouble."

When we reached Huckleberry Corner, I stopped at the stage office while Dr. Lyon went over to engage board for me. He came back in about half an hour, saying it was all arranged and I could go right over.

Half an hour afterwards I found myself settled in a very comfortable room at the house of Ezekiel Preston. He didn't take but two boarders, Dr. Lyon and myself. I wanted awfully to know how much board I was expected to pay, but I didn't dare to ask, as I wanted to pass for a rich Southern widow, to whom money was of no consequence. The next day Dr. Lyon happened to mention to me, of his own accord, that they charged seven dollars a week. It almost made me jump when I heard it, for I had calculated on not having more than half that to pay, and I felt sure that they plied on the price because they thought I was rich. However, when he told me I only said very coolly: "Oh, very well. Quite reasonable, I think." I knew that remark made quite an impression on him, for after that he became quite attentive to me. So three weeks passed away. Every day regular we used to walk out together, and I know the people of Huckleberry Corner had a good deal to say about the rich Southern lady that boarded at Mr. Preston's.

At length the expected declaration came. Dr. Lyon told me that ever since he had seen me he had been powerfully attracted by my beauty and attractions and entreated me to accept him. I told him it was very unexpected, and I didn't know as it would be right to the memory of Colonel Sparkington to marry again, but if he thought it would be right I would make no objection, as I felt to deplore my unprotected situation. I confessed, with blushes, that I had never met a man whom I thought so worthy to fill the place of the dear departed and insinuated that he bore a very strong resemblance to the Colonel.

Dr. Lyon answered that in that case a second marriage might be considered a compliment to my late husband, and intimated that a refusal might have the effect of driving him to suicide. Well, the upshot of it was that we agreed to be married in a week by the minister of

"WHY, THIS IS THE OLD MAID, SALLY SPARKS!"

Huckleberry Corner. Dr. Lyon said he would invite a lady cousin to be present and stand up with me, as I couldn't be expected to have many lady friends at the North. Little did I anticipate who that female friend was. Two days before the ceremony she came, and to my horror I recognized her as my old enemy, Clarissa Higgins, of Millville.

"Mrs. Col. Sparkington, of Alabama," said she in her shrill voice, when we were introduced. "Why, this is the old maid, Sally Sparks, that has lived all her life in Millville."

"Good heavens! is this indeed so?" asked Dr. Lyon, looking from her to me.

As for me, I fainted away in mortification, and when I came to I was told that my husband that was to be had left town, and the marriage was indefinitely postponed. I used up my last cent in paying my board bill and stage fare, and here I am at home again, a penniless and forlorn spinster—no longer Mrs. Col. Sparkington, of Alabama, but Miss Sally Sparks, of Millville.—Caroline F. Preston, in Boston Globe.

A SUCCESSFUL AUTHOR.

An Article That Attracted General Attention and Brought Good Pay.

It is not every ambitious writer that scores success with his first article. I knew one such, though his name has now slipped my memory. At that time he was county treasurer. For weeks after his article appeared in print he was visited by different neighbors and fellow-citizens of that county, who showed their appreciation of his article by leaving with him sums of money varying from one dollar to several hundred dollars in amount.

His theme might have been called "Discourager of Hesitancy," although it was not, for that is what the article did—discouraged the hesitancy of many citizens. The only objection to the article as a literary production was that the story had too many heroes. There were no fewer than 1,500 characters, and each character was a hero in the story. The title of the story was "D.' Lynn Qu'Ent Tacqueslist." The title looks Frenchy in print, but the story was entirely American, and the scene was laid in the author's own county.

What makes me remember the story so well, though I have forgotten the name of the author, is that I was one of the characters mentioned. What was said about me ran something like this:

S½ lot 30 letters Ad. C. B. Holding.....$31.25

I bought one of the papers and took it home to show the paragraph to my wife.

I was informed by the author, when I went up a few days afterward with my father-in-law to congratulate him on his success, that the story had netted him something like $7,780, including the $31.25 which we left with him for mentioning my name and so graphically describing my residence.

The story was published at the author's expense. Several publishers offered to print the narrative for what there was in it, but the author chose to pay for the work outright, and declined the offers of the publishers. The end justified his choice.

I have mentioned this little incident as an offset to the theory that no writer need expect great fame or great pay at the beginning of his career. This incident also illustrates another truth. To be a successful writer one must weave into his history incidents and characters about which his readers are thinking or in which they are personally interested. All the scenes described in this story were such as possessed real interest for every reader. Indeed the same story is published annually and never fails to excite comment and create interest.—C. B. Holding, in Writer.

Almost a Freak.

Pebble—There goes one of the most remarkable men of the age.

Stone—How so?

Pebble—He succeeded in growing to manhood without once having his father's trousers made over for him.—Clothier and Furnisher.

—"We have now heard of salesmen, saleswomen, salesladies, salespersons, and salespeople," says the Toronto Globe. "Why not throw away the whole bundle and say simply 'sellers?'" Agreed, provided you will always speak of "buyers" instead of "purchasers."—Buffalo Express.

SULLIVAN-WILCOX.

A Chapter of Literary Collaboration Stolen from Advance Sheets.

John L. Sullivan and Ella Wheeler Wilcox are to collaborate on a novel.—Exchange.

Chapter I—The dainty ormolu clock on the mantel had just chimed eight in silvery tones which Algernon Percy de Villeford came to time looking fresh as a daisy. The match was to be to a finish, for Ethel Vane had told him it was to be their last meeting. Ethel's father acted as timekeeper. She did not make a move. It was evidently her tactics to wait for Algernon to force the fighting while she played for his wind. Algernon was foxy from the first.

"Algernon," she said, after considerable feinting, "I love you. My soul throbs with the subtle magnetism of your presence. Oh, love, love, is it not a horrible thing? See how it transforms angels into monsters and monsters into angels. When I am with you there is no time, no eternity—nothing but you. The sun shines that it may beam upon your face. The stars glitter only that their light may kiss the path that you are treading. Do not turn your head away. Do you not hear me? Can you not feel the blood that rushes through my hands, madly tingling to the refrain 'I love you! I love you!'"

Algernon came up groggy.

He spoke in monosyllables, undertaking a series of short-arm blows. She made a gallant lead, but he countered.

"Ah—I—am—so—poor," he said. "Were I rich—but think of your family."

"What is wealth or position to me?" she cried.

He reached for her with both hands for a mad embrace. He was playing for her neck, but she caught him with a stunner over the heart.

His breath came heavily; he was evidently pretty well winded.

"Will you consent to brave the future and be mine, in spite of my poverty and humble position?"

"Oh, Algernon," she murmured.

She had knocked him clean over the ropes.—Washington Post.

MORE THAN THE DOCTORS DO.

Woman—Me child is werry sick, sur, an' suppose your medicine don't help her an' she dies?

Patent Medicine Proprietor (with great suavity—Your money will be refunded, madam.—The Jury.

Crazy Dudes.

All of the dudes in Washington are nearly crazy over a pretty face and a fine figure. One of these tender young things who suck their canes in the front row discovered a remarkably pretty girl in the chorus of a comic opera. He winked and blinked and smiled at her, but she gave no sign of recognition. His antics became so violent, however, that his fellow dudes became aware of his passion, so that the whole front row fell into spasms almost whenever the big, cold, blue eyes were turned towards them. Under no circumstances could she be persuaded to take the slightest notice of any of them personally, individually or collectively, save as she would notice weeds or noxious plants by the roadside. This was a truly distressing state of affairs, for even notes, flowers and all the usual means of scraping an acquaintance were found to be utterly useless. But what distracted the entire front row more than every thing else was the fact that this charming young girl was discovered to be a very near relative of President Harrison. This, of course, stamped her with the undeniable mark of royalty and lifted her higher into the atmosphere of worshipful queenship, so that the front row could do nothing more than wear out the knees of its pantaloons figuratively, by worshiping at a safe distance. The cane brigade is still in position and nearly crazy, but the pretty little relative of the President has gone away with the company and will not be here again for some months. Though lost to sight her memory is very dear to all of them.

MUCH AS HE COULD EXPECT.

Farmer Rake (indignantly)—Say, Bill, can't you do any thin' all day but swing in thet hammock?

Young Rake (home from college)—Oh, dear, yes! I can get in it, and I can get out of it!—Puck.

Willing to Help Her Out.

Wife (sobbing)—Some day you'll find me lying at death's door, and then what will you do?

Husband (courteously)—My dear, have you ever known me to be so ungallant as to allow a lady to open a door when I was present?—Texas Siftings.

Why the Birds Twittered.

Algy (unlocking his door as the milkman comes along)—Shay, tell me, John, wha' time ish it, thish mornin'?

Milkman (of a humorous turn)—4:30.

Algy—Haw! It's early. I fawncied it wassh five o'clock!—Texas Siftings.

STANLEY IN AMERICA.

How the Explorer Became a Citizen of the United States.

When an American flag was presented to Henry M. Stanley, at the reception given to him by the Americans in London a short time ago, the great African explorer said that he had always considered himself an American and a citizen of the United States, but the circumstances under which he became a citizen are known to only a few. Stanley was naturalized in the Superior Court of this city on May 15, 1885. A few days ago Thomas Boese, the clerk of that court, told a Tribune reporter the circumstances connected with the incident. "On the date mentioned," said Mr. Boese, "the late A. S. Sullivan came into my office and introduced me to a Mr. Stanley, who wished to become a citizen of the United States. I did not know that my visitor was the great African explorer until he had been in my office some time. Stanley told me that he had always considered himself a citizen of the United States, as he had served in the Union army and been honorably discharged. While traveling in Europe, however, he had met an American gentleman who had informed him that he must go through the forms as provided by statute before he became a citizen, and the fact that he was an honorably-discharged soldier did not make him a citizen of the United States. Stanley was about to depart for Africa at that time, and told me that he had come from London to New York especially to be naturalized and that only a few persons knew that he was in this country. He swore and produced witnesses who swore that he had always considered himself as a citizen of the United States, so he received his certificate and departed."

Among the 300,000 or 400,000 autographs which Mr. Boese has, attached to naturalization papers in his custody, Stanley's is the one which is probably prized the highest.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE TOMB OF EVE.

According to an Arab Tradition It is Located at Jiddah

The Arabs claim that Eve's tomb is at Jiddah, the seaport of Mecca. The temple with a palm growing out of the solid stone roof (a curiosity which is itself the wonder of the Orient) is supposed to mark the last resting-place of the first woman. According to Arabian tradition Eve measured over 200 feet in height, which strangely coincides with an account of our first parents written by a member of the French Academy of Sciences a few years ago, who also claimed a height of over 200 feet for both of the tenants of the Garden of Eden. Eve's tomb, which is in a graveyard surrounded by high white walls and which has not been opened for a single interment for over 1,000 years, is the shrine of thousands of devoted Ishmaelites, who make a pilgrimage to the spot once every seven years. It is hemmed in on all sides by the tombs of departed sheiks and other worthies who have lived out their days in that region of scorching sun and burning sands. Once each year, on June 3, which is, according to Arabian legends, the anniversary of the death of Abel, the doors of the temple which forms a canopy over this supposed tomb of our first mother remain open all night, in spite of the keeper's efforts to close them. Terrible cries of anguish are said to emit from them, as though the memory of the first known tragedy still haunted the remains which blind superstition believes to be deposited there.—St. Louis Republic.

The Girl of the Period.

If the young women of the present day go just a little bit farther in their encroachments upon the masculine wardrobe a fellow will soon have difficulty in determining whether it is his brother or his sister advancing to meet him on a crowded street. For things have reached a pass where the young woman thinks it the proper caper to wear a double-breasted vest, a starched shirt front, a high-standing collar, four-in-hand tie with a horse-shoe stud, and an almost brimless Derby tile, any or all of which articles of attire might be worn by her father, brother or sweetheart without exciting remark. In some instances the coat is also cut to resemble as much as possible that affected by masculinity, with split tails, velvet collars and all. If some of the departed people of the last three generations could rise up and behold the change that has come over the outward appearance of the girl of the period they would be justified in asking each other when the young men were going to make their debut in petticoats.—Chicago Journal.

With a Mental Reservation.

"Johnny," said his mother, reprovingly, after the visitor had gone, "what made you tell your little friend you had seen hail-stones many a time as big as a hen's egg?"

"Because he said he had seen 'em as big as a quail's egg."

"But you know you never have seen any as large as a hen's egg."

"Yes, I have," persisted Johnny. "I meant a hen sparrow. S'pose I was goin' to let a Milwaukee boy crow over me?"—Chicago Tribune.

Making Matters Worse.

Among the legends of hotels is recorded the story of a visitor who, in dire displeasure at the amount of his bill, angrily declared to the waiter that he should write at once to the newspapers.

"Yes, sir," was the waiter's answer, as he produced a sheet of paper and an envelope; "yes, sir, only a quarter extra."—The Jury.

The Insurance Solicitor.

"Excuse me, sir," he said as he stepped into the office, "but do you carry any life insurance?"

"I'd like to answer that question by asking another," said the merchant. "Do you carry any fire insurance?"

"Why, no. I—"

"Well, if you go out quietly you won't be fired, that's all."—Detroit Free Press.

—The next Episcopal Church Congress will be held in Philadelphia in November.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,

12 West Second Street,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,

Invites especial attention to his stock of

Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.

In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under

WATERPROOF SHEDS.

Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.

TELEPHONE 129.

Lumber constantly on hand.

Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.

4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in

Pianos & Organs.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.

3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Cased | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,

79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.

7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,

[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD.]

Furniture & Bedding,

21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.

Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom

FURNITURE,

Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.

8-12-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES

LOW PRICES.

At C. W. FORCE'S.

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.

11 West Front Street.

TRY

B. T. Barnes'

Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.

Simon Pure—No Adulteration.

13-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL.

OFFICE—With Adams Express, 35 NORTH AV YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-

Willcox & Gibbs

S. M. CO.

Orders left at

95 E. FRONT STREET

Will be promptly attended to.

NEEDLES, OIL, &c.

F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-28-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.

1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888

No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET,

—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—

Exclusively for

—Ladies and Children.—

N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-16-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANBUSKIRK,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 124. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. myl0

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR

Gasolene Stoves,

ALL SIZES.

Refrigerators & Freezers,

Horse Sheets and Nets,

$90.00 for $65.00.

THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.

The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,

Ball Coods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,

33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.

4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!

SODA WATER

AT

RANDOLPH'S

This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.

Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.

L. W. RANDOLPH,

21 W. FRONT STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,

HATTER,

19 PARK AVENUE,

Has fine lot

Spring and Summer Hats,

At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,

18 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Watches, Clocks, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Chains and Silverware.

Bob Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles.

Don't forget the number. 13-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD

Situated on

NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.

A Convenient and Elegant Resort.

Special attention given to

Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.

FRANK E. MILLER.

5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.

FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.

WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor

UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. E. BEEBROWER, Proprietor.

With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.

J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.

All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.

4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.

Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.

St. Louis and Imported Beer.

A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.

4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE, STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1st trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.29 A. M. | train. |
| 3d do | 9.16 | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.27 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.06 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 P.M. | do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.39 | do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.03 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.50, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M.; 2.04, 2.50, 3.45, 4.24, 5.20, 6.20, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.

Telephone Call, 18. 7-6 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE

Interlocking Switch and Block Signal Systems.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST,

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:38 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:06 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1.00, 6.57, 7.39, 9.05 A. M.; and 9.39 P. M. On Sunday at 1.00, 6.59, 9.05 A. M., 9.39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1.00, 6.57, 7.39, 9.05, 9.35, 11.07 A.M.; 12.55, 1.39, 2.54, 5.15, 6.37, 7.49, 9.39 P. M. Sundays at 1.00, 6.59, 9.05, 9.35, 10.41 A. M.; 5.40 7.47 and 9.39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2.25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1.39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2.25 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1.00, 6.57, 7.10, 7.39, 9.05, 9.35, 11.07 A. M.; 12.55, 1.39, 2.54, 5.15, 6.37, 7.49, 9.39 P. M. Sundays at 1.00, 6.59, 9.05, 9.35, 10.41 A. M.; 5.40 7.47 and 9.39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7.39 A. M.; 2.54 and 5.15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1.39 P. M.

For Flemington—9.35 A. M.; 2.54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7.39, 9.35, 11.07 A. M. 1.39, 2.54, 5.15, 7.49 P. M. Sundays at 10.41 A. M. and 7.47 P. M.

A full line of tickets can be had, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.

J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York: foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 59, A. M., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 2 41, 2 57, 3 30, 3 12, 3 51, 4 08, 5 31, 5 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 26, 10 12, 11 26 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 8, 8 37, 9 23, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 35, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 39, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 24 8 26, 9 13, 11 15, 12 42 P. M. Sunday—8 15, 9 18, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 02, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 2 52 4 05, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 39, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 05, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 05 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 03 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 1 58*, 3 32*, 4 08, 5 54*, 6 38*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58*, a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 54

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, AUGUST 15, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At W. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURCH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer,

Iced Cream in Fancy Form. and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Truly yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-3-1

POWDERLY IS COMING

The Entire Executive Board on the Way to New York.

MR. WEBB TO BE INTERVIEWED.

The General Master Workman to Inquire Into the Cause of the Strike.

Trains Running as Usual from the New York Depot—The Blockade Broken at Albany—Freight Trains Protected by Pinkerton Men—Mr. Lee Said to be Making Overtures for a Settlement.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—To all outward appearances there is nothing about the Grand Central Depot that bears any indication of the present strike. Trains come and go as usual, there is the same crowd of lusty lunged hackmen, newsboys and general hangers on awaiting the arrival of each train, and everything about the place clearly indicates that, as far at least as the railroad people are concerned, the strike is a thing of the past.

The Knights, however, are still confident, and appear to be hanging their hopes upon news from the Supreme Council of the Federation of Railroad Employes, now in session at Cleveland, O. This Council consists of the Conductors', Brakemen's, Firemen's and Trainmen's Brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association.

POWDERLY'S ACTION.

The General Executive Board Will Arrive in New York To-day.

DETROIT, Aug. 15.—The General Executive Board of the K. of L. left this city for New York at midnight. It is understood they intend to complete their work there.

In a speech before an assemblage of Knights last night, Mr. Powderly said he and his comrades were going to New York to demand arbitration in the matter of the New York Central strike.

Just before leaving the city, Mr. Powderly stated that they had heard nothing from D. A. 246. They thought it strange and were going to investigate. Continuing, Mr. Powderly said they would see Mr. Webb the first thing, and if the New York Central men were found to be in the wrong they would applaud the action of the railroad company in discharging them. Mr. Wright, he said, would meet them in New York.

Mr. Holland expressed his positive belief that the Brotherhood of Firemen would strike. He thought that the conference with Grand Master Sargent, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, would take place in Utica, and that the local authorities of the Order would press to go out. "In case they do," said Mr. Holland, "the engineers are pledged to run with no non-union firemen, hence the engineers will be practically on strike."

THE BLOCKADE BROKEN.

Freight Trains Moving at Albany Protected by Pinkerton Men.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The Central Railroad has broken the blockade and four freight trains were moved west and three south. Each train was protected by about 20 Pinkerton men. No trouble was made by the strikers and the trains moved without opposition.

The men on the Delaware & Hudson road went back to work last night without any concessions being made by the road. The strike, so far as the roads are concerned, seems to be over, although the men are as strong in numbers and as confident as ever.

There was a fracas at East Albany between Pinkerton men and strikers in which the latter were worsted. No blood was spilled but two prisoners were rescued.

Loaded Freight Cars in the River.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The strikers say that ten loaded freight cars are at the bottom of the river at Weehawken owing to the awkwardness of the new men at work. The cars were rolling from the pier to a float, which had not been secured and which shoved out from the dock, dropping the cars into the river. A big force of men with derricks and engines will have a hard job for some days in pulling up the cars.

Another Crowd Coming East.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—A dispatch from St. Louis says that fifty-five men left that city for the East last night to take the places of the New Central railroad strikers. They were in charge of a Pinkerton detective and no one was allowed access to see them. Their departure has aroused considerable feeling here. Most of the men were strangers and it is said that but few of them were railroad men.

No Brakemen Sent from Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—It is positively denied that 150 Michigan Central brakemen had been sent to West Albany to move freight for the New York Central. The men in the yards said that they had not heard of it. They said that no men had been sent from Chicago, and that if any had been sent from Detroit they were not members of the Brotherhood of Brakemen.

Morocco Finishers on Strike.

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 15.—Forty finishers of John T. Moulton's morocco shop, have struck, the Manufacturers' Association having refused to adopt the price list submitted by the men. The prospect is for a long fight.

Cardinal Newman's Successor.

ROME, Aug. 15.—The Vatican party favors Archbishop Walsh, of Ireland, as the successor of the late Cardinal Newman.

TRAPPED BY HER FATHER.

A Rascal Captured and Locked Up on a Serious Charge.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 15.—Charles Levy, of Elizabeth, was arrested here on a serious charge.

Levy had written to a girl in Elizabeth, whose name the authorities refuse to reveal, asking her to come to Asbury Park. The girl is 16 years old. Her father got hold of the letter and came here at once with his daughter and Chief of Police Austin.

The father, chief of police and Detective Dexter laid back while the girl alighted from the train. Levy ran to meet her and the detective stepped forward and arrested him. Through the letter the father had discovered his daughter's condition.

Levy was taken to Elizabeth and locked up.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS.

The Town of Austin, Pa., Nearly Wiped Out by Fire.

AUSTIN, Pa., Aug. 15.—A fire started on Main street at 11 p. m. and burned with great fierceness until 4 o'clock in the morning, wiping out the business portion of the town, including the Buffalo Hardware Company's establishment and the Ellsworth House.

Forty-two houses were burned and a large number of dwellings. Hundreds of people are made homeless.

The loss is estimated at half a million. The town will be rebuilt.

Shot While Hunting Rats.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—A melancholy shooting affair occurred on the Delaware, near Minersville. Charles Hoellmann, aged 19, in company with a number of young men, was hunting rats in a barn. One report was that the boy in handling his gun accidentally struck the trigger against a plank, causing its discharge. The boy was shot in the breast and died instantly. Another report was that the boy was accidentally struck by one of his companions. The coroner will hold an inquest.

A Young Female Horse Thief.

AUBURN, N. Y., Aug. 15.—A girl giving her name as Mabel Sears, and apparently about 17 years of age, was arrested in Weedsport while driving a stolen horse, the property of Charles Paddock, of Port Byron, which she is charged with having stolen. Paddock left the horse by the roadside for a short time and the girl drove off with the rig. She was arrested six hours later in Weedsport. She is now in the lock-up at Port Byron, waiting examination.

Wedded in the Circus Ring.

READING, Pa., Aug. 15.—A unique and unexpected feature was introduced at the evening performance of T. R. Burk's circus in the shape of a wedding ceremony in the ring. The bride was Miss Lizzie Jones of this city and the groom was D. O. Bauman, formerly a resident of Ephrata, Lancaster County, but recently employed as a driver by the Reading Transfer Company.

A Raging Forest Fire.

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N.H., Aug. 15.—A destructive forest fire began in the morning on Cow Brook, east of Frankenstein Castle in the Crawford Notch, and has since been raging. Several hundred acres of heavily timbered spruce have already been burned and the loss will be heavy. Attempts have been made to check the flames but without success and the fire appears to gain rapidly.

Offices for Amateur Oarsmen.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 15.—The executive committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen held a meeting at the Bay State House and reorganized the board of officers. President W. H. Garfield was again elected and Charles Catlin of Chicago was elected vice-president. Secretary Gibson, of Washington, was also re-elected, and H. K. Hinshman was again chosen treasurer.

Will Sell Party Tickets.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 15.—The Pennsylvania Company makes the following announcement to the public: "Beginning August 18 the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg will resume the sale of party tickets making a rate of two cents per mile one way to parties of seven people or more." This is the most liberal party ticket arrangement yet announced by any railroad.

An Ex-Minister Attempts Suicide.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Andrew Colville, aged 46, who was formerly a Methodist Episcopal minister, attempted suicide by shooting while in a drunken delirium. He has drank incessantly for four years. His wife's refusal to live with him any longer prompted the attempt upon his life. His wound is not considered dangerous.

Kate Castleton's Play a Failure

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—It is announced by her manager, Mr. Harry Philips, that Kate Castleton will not go out this season, the new farce comedy written for her by Mrs. Charles A. Doremus and entitled "Just for Luck," having proved unsatisfactory.

Took an Overdose of Morphine.

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—J. A. Hernstein of San Francisco, was found dead in his room at the United States Hotel from an overdose of morphine, taken, it is supposed, with suicidal intent. He left no word of any kind.

Suing for a Large Amount.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—George F. Livingstone, of Massachusetts, began suit against the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for $100,000 damages for injuries received while a passenger on one of the company's steamers.

VETERANS ADJOURN

The Boys in Blue Wind Up With a Grand Banquet.

CHEERS FOR CORPORAL TANNER.

He Eulogized the Faithfulness of the Volunteer Soldier.

General Sherman's Parting Words—As One of the Old Commanders He is Well Pleased With His Home—A Big Clam bake for the Vets at Plymouth To-Day.

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—The principal events of Grand Army week were fittingly concluded last night by a grand banquet in Mechanics Hall, complimentary to the delegates to the Encampment, and invited guests.

The great hall of Mechanics building was transferred during the day from a gigantic bedroom into a mammoth dining palace. Across the platform was laid a table for the 64 invited guests, and the main body of the hall was filled with long lines of snowy white tables stretching from the platform to the Huntington avenue entrance, at which sat the delegates and others, some 1,000 in number.

Reeves band of Providence, stationed on a corner of the platform, played the "Star-Spangled Banner" as the delegates marched in at 8:30 o'clock. The platform table was banked by choice exotics and all the tables were profusely decorated with flowers. The menu was exceedingly elaborate, and at every plate was placed a beautiful and fantastic souvenir in the form of a Japaneses screen menu bearing on the front a likeness of Commander-in-Chief Alger printed on silk, and on the back a stand of colors, State and National.

Department Commander Innis presided at the platform table, while each of the floor tables was provided with a chairman to look after the entertainment of the guests. The entire banquet was an affair of great elegance.

Among the invited guests who occupied the seats of honor were General Sherman, Gov. Brackett, Mayor Hart, Lieut.-Governor Haile, Gen. Sickles, Collector Beard, Hon. John D. Long and Past Commander-in-Chief Devins of Boston, Merrill of Lawrence, Kounts of Toledo, Fairchild of Wisconsin and Warner of Missouri.

Cheers for Veazey and Tanner.

At 9:30 the new Commander-in-Chief, Judge Veazey, entered with Corporal Tanner. This was the signal for a great shout, the veterans arising, waving their handkerchiefs and napkins and shouting "Veazey! Veazey!" At 9:50 Gen. Alger came in and was similarly greeted, the veterans arising at the call of Department Commander Innis and giving three cheers for the Past Commander-in-Chief.

Col. Taylor of the Boston Globe was toast-master. The first speaker was Governor Brackett. His remarks were greeted with cheers and at the conclusion with singing of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching."

Gen. Sherman's Address.

General Sherman was then introduced and addressed the assemblage. After referring to his own pleasure in Boston's entertainment the General said: "I am glad that you have taken command; I have seen one young man pass to-day and a new one installed with that gentleness and subordination to authority which makes our American history, and which is the best promise of a glorious future of any single feature in our American Government. In looking back upon the past I, one of your old commanders, am well pleased with you myeons." (Applause.)

The last speaker was Corporal Tanner, who was received with cheers, the assembly rising. He eulogized the faithfulness of the volunteer soldier, and closed an eloquent address with another tribute to the hospitality of Boston, and Massachusetts.

At 12:30 the assembly broke up with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

The veterans who remained in the city went to Plymouth to-day for a clambake.

Miles of Timber on Fire.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 15.—In the Southern Hills, within a few miles of this city, dark volumes of smoke are rising from a region understood to be twenty miles in extent. The wind at one time cleared the atmosphere of smoke and a good view was obtained. There are two fires between this city and Rochford. The fire is four miles east of Rochford in dead timber. It originated from lightning, which struck ten days or more ago and is spreading all the time in every direction and consumes everything in its way. Not far from Pinkerton's saw mill another fire has been raging. The fire has destroyed a great deal of timber.

Troops in Ireland Discontented.

BELFAST, Aug. 15.—It is feared that a revolt will occur in the garrison in this city. The pickets have been doubled and every other precaution against a revolt has been taken, but the likelihood of trouble is still very great. The discontented feeling among the troops in Ireland is similar to that which exists so generally in England and the clamor for an official investigation into the causes of the trouble and redress of the grievances of the men is increasing.

Bismarck's Interview.

VIENNA, Aug. 15. — Several papers here print a report of an interview had by a Hungarian deputy with Prince Bismarck, in the course of which the ex-Chancellor declared that he maintained now the views and principles he held while in office, and that it would be ridiculous for anybody to think that he had changed.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | —6 |
| Cleveland | 3 | 3 | 3 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x | —11 |

Batteries—Phillips and Decker; Beatin and Zimmer.

AT CINCINNATI.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | — | 2 |
| Chicago | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — | 1 |

Batteries—Stein and Kittridge; Rhines and Harrington.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —1 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —2 |

Batteries—Clarkson and Ganzel; Caruthers and Clark.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | —8 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | —5 |

Batteries—Rusie and Buckley; Vickery and Clements.

Players' League

AT CHICAGO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 0 | 1 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | —11 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | —7 |

Batteries—King and Boyle; Toner and Quinn.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —2 |
| Philadelphia | 1 | 8 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 6 | 2 | x | —19 |

Batteries—Gumbert and Murphy; Knell and Hallman.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | —9 |
| Buffalo | 2 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —8 |

Batteries—McGill and Sutcliffe; Haddock and Mack.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | —5 |
| Brooklyn | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —4 |

Batteries—O'Day and Ewing; Weyhing and Kinslow.

American Association.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —5 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —2 |

Batteries—Healy and Rogers; Ford and Bowers.

AT LOUISVILLE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louisville | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 5 | 0 | 2 | x | —17 |
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —5 |

Batteries—Stratton and Bligh; Titcomb and McGuire.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 2 | 0 | —6 |
| Athletic | 1 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —5 |

Batteries—Ramsey and Munyan; McMahon and Baldwin.

AT COLUMBUS.

The game scheduled for to-day between Columbus and Syracuse was an error.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 2 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | —10 |
| Newark | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —2 |

Batteries—Homer and Hofford; Serad and Childs.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — | 6 |
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | — | 3 |

Batteries—Baker and Townsend; Swift and Koons.

AT HARTFORD.

Wilmington and Hartford game was not played on account of small attendance.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | 2,230 | 3,690 |
| New York | 3,347 | 814 |
| Cleveland | 230 | 725 |
| Cincinnati | ..... | 1,128 |
| Chicago | 1,911 | ..... |
| Totals | 8,168 | 5,367 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 61 | 32 | .656 | Chicago | 49 | 45 | .521 |
| Philadel. | 58 | 36 | .617 | N. York | 41 | 53 | .436 |
| Boston | 60 | 35 | .632 | Clev'l'nd | 29 | 64 | .312 |
| Cincin'ti | 57 | 36 | .613 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 73 | .207 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 54 | 37 | .593 | Philadel. | 51 | 44 | .537 |
| Brookl'n | 55 | 43 | .561 | Pittsb'rg | 40 | 47 | .460 |
| Chicago | 53 | 42 | .558 | Clev'l'nd | 40 | 50 | .444 |
| N. York | 51 | 42 | .548 | Buffalo | 25 | 64 | .281 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'v'le | 58 | 31 | .652 | Col'mb's | 45 | 44 | .506 |
| St. Louis | 53 | 36 | .596 | Toledo | 42 | 43 | .494 |
| Athletic | 47 | 43 | .522 | Syracuse | 36 | 52 | .409 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 42 | .517 | Brookl'n | 27 | 62 | .303 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 67 | 23 | .744 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | 447 |
| N. Hav'n | 61 | 24 | .718 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 54 | .393 |
| Newark | 48 | 38 | .558 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 56 | .341 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 38 | .513 | Hartford | 22 | 60 | .297 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Philadelphia, at New York.
Brooklyn, vs. Boston, at Boston.
Pittsburg vs. Cleveland, at Cleveland.
Cincinnati vs. Chicago, at Cincinnati.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Brooklyn vs. New York, at New York.
Philadelphia vs. Boston, at Boston.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Chicago.
Buffalo, vs. Cleveland, at Cleveland.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Columbus vs. Syracuse, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Rochester, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Athletics, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Newark vs. Hartford, at Harford.
Baltimore vs. Harrisburg, at Baltimore.
Washington vs. Lebanon, at Washington.
Wilmington vs. New Haven, at Wilmington.

Explosion in a Soap Factory.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 15.—An explosion originating from some unknown cause occurred at an early hour on the third floor of the Kendal Manufacturing company's large soap factory at the corner of Page and Friendship streets. The flames came with the suddenness of a flash of lightning and those in the rear part of the room suffered most. The principal damage was done on the third floor where flames burst forth and acids were flowing about. There were seventy persons at work and of these ten were taken to the hospital badly burned.

Rioting Prisoners Resume Work.

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—After ten days close confinement in the cells of the Charlestown State Prison in consequence of the recent riot, two-thirds of the prisoners went to work in the morning. No disturbance occurred. Of the 78 men in Fort Russell for punishment, the ringleaders in the outbreak were removed to pleasanter cells in the prison proper where they will be kept for some time to come, a mild form of punishment as compared with

THE ELECTIONS BILL

No Action Taken by the Republican Caucus.

IN SESSION OVER TWO HOURS.

Fifteen Senators in Favor of Letting the Bill Go Over.

They Urge the Necessity of Putting the Tariff Bill Through at an Early Day. Resolutions Approved by the President. Minister Phelps Says He is Not a Candidate for Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The Republican Senators held a caucus last night from 8 o'clock to 10:35, to discuss, and if possible, to formulate an order of business to govern the Senate during the rest of the present session of Congress. There were 39 Senators present. Senator Edmunds presided.

No definite proposition was brought before the caucus, but the subject discussed was the advisability of laying aside the Federal Elections bill and arranging with the Democratic Senators to have a vote on the Tariff bill in the near future.

Both of the Pennsylvania Senators, Senator Plumb and others, advocated laying the Elections bill over. They said that it would be bad policy to keep Congress here much after the first of September, because members of both Houses were needed in the States to take part in the canvass for members of the House of Representatives. Senator Aldrich and other members of the Finance Committee expressed the belief that the Democrats could keep the Senate busy with the Tariff bill for two months longer, unless some agreement was reached and they urged the necessity of putting the Tariff bill through at an early day.

Senator Aldrich said that he did not believe the Senate could pass a resolution to amend the rules so as to provide for calling the previous question. He said that it would be necessary to have a quorum of Republicans present and there was so much sickness now among members that it was extremely doubtful if a quorum could be got together.

Senator Spooner and Senator Hoar urged the necessity of passing the Elections bill now and the hopelessness of trying to pass it during the short session.

Finally, after more than two hours debate, without coming to any agreement as to the future action of the Senate and without fixing a day for reassembling, the caucus adjourned. The debate developed the fact that about 15 of the Senators present were in favor of letting the Elections bill go over.

A special injunction of secrecy was placed on those who were present.

Approved by the President.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—The President this morning approved the joint resolution to permit Capt. Geo. W. Davis, U. S. A., to accept a position in the Nicaragua Canal Construction Company; the joint resolution to continue the provisions of existing laws providing temporarily for the expenditures of the Government; the joint resolution to accept from the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic a statue and pedestal of the late Gen. Grant, and the act amendatory of the act entitled "An act to provide for taking the eleventh and subsequent censuses."

Trouble on the Mexican Border.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—A special from San Diego, Cal., says: Ernest Wolff, a cattle dealer near the Mexican line, a few days ago crossed the border for his cattle and on returning with them was forced to pay $500 to Mexican officials as export duty. Next morning he crossed the line again and was arrested and imprisoned. Yesterday 15 of his friends armed themselves to free him but finally decided to try stategy first. One of them went to the guard house with a quantity of doctored mescal and succeeded in drugging all the Mexican officials. He then released Wolff and fled. Further trouble is feared.

Minister Phelps Not a Candidate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The many stories that Minister Phelps, of Germany, is to resign his post to run for Congress in his old Paterson district and become the administration leader in the next Congress, have been effectually disposed of by a letter that Congressman Beckwith has received. Mr. Phelps writes that he will not be a candidate, but will be happy to assist Mr. Beckwith to return to Congress.

Population of Three Cities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The Census Office announces the population of the following three New Jersey cities: Hoboken, 43,560, increase since 1880, 12,561, or 40.52 per cent.; Elizabeth, 37,644, increase 9,415, or 33.35 per cent.; Trenton, 58,484, increase 28,474, or 95.53 per cent.

No Trouble at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The situation in this city to-day is practically unchanged. In the depot passenger trains are running closely on time and the new men were doing their work in fair shape. It could be seen easily that the hands employed were inexperienced and some inconvenience to travelers was the result. However, no serious delay was occasioned.

Syracuse Knights Confident.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The Knights of Labor continue their meetings in this city and are expecting critical news regarding the action of the firemen and engineers. They express themselves as confident. Passenger trains are running on time.

POPE LEO TO LEAVE ROME.

He Will Soon Issue a Manifesto to the Catholics of the World.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Manchester Courier says: "In consequence of the fierce persecution of the Church, which is the policy of Crispi, the Pope will soon issue a manifesto to the Roman Catholics throughout the world, giving his intention of leaving Rome, together with his court and all his adherents. From a practical point of view this means ruin to Rome, for with the Pontiff will go the Cardinals, the prelates, and the vast number of persons who annually come to Rome as pilgrims. In fact commercial ruin stares innkeepers and shopkeepers in the face.

"Still it is impossible for any earnest Christian even now to live in Rome, which is fast becoming the headquarters of atheism and free thought. The shop windows are full of shocking caricatures of the Deity, license is allowed for blasphemy, and its indecency has never been surpassed in history, even during the French year of 1793."

Wm. Tell Out of Swiss History.

GENEVA, Aug. 15.—By order of the Cantonal Government of Schwyz, the story of Wm. Tell is henceforward to be religiously excluded from all school histories published by authority, and it is officially proclaimed that the Tell stories are neither more nor less than fanciful, if patriotic, legends of German origin. The despair of the Swiss, who kept and exhibited Tell's chapel, pointed out the exact spot where he made his famous shot at the apple, and who owned and navigated the steamers that brought credulous travellers to the shrine, may be imagined.

Garibaldi's Widow Will Remarry.

ROME, Aug. 15.—The report that the widow of Gen. Garibaldi is about to marry again is confirmed by the Sardegna, of Saisari, which says that Dr. Gabriel Tanferna is the happy man. The doctor, who is now practicing his profession at the naval academy at Leghorn, studied at Saisari, where he met Signorina Garibaldi, who two years ago, made considerable of a sojourn there during the illness of her son Manlio.

A Chemical Monopoly.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—A combination having for its object the control of the chemical trade, has been formed in this city. The movers in the enterprise represent a capital of $40,000,000.

Crisis in the Austrian Cabinet.

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—There is a crisis in the Austrian Cabinet which will probably terminate in the resignation of Count Taafe, Chief of the Council.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Four men were blown to atoms by a boiler explosion at Newberry, N. C.

William H. Smith, of Pittsburg, Pa., the colored wife murderer who was twice sentenced to be hanged, has been declared insane.

Jerry Wilkrout, a railroad night watchman, was run over by the cars and killed at Cayuga, N. Y. He had been drinking.

Train Despatcher E. G. Kirk, whose orders caused the disaster at Railroad Mills, N. Y., has been arrested on a charge of criminal negligence. He was released on his own recognizance.

Thomas Seccombe, of Boston, Mass., a labor advocate of more than local repute and the founder of the Amalgamated Building Trades Council, in that city, is dead. He was a carpenter by trade.

The clothing house of S. Sonneborn of Wilkesbarre, Pa., was closed by the sheriff on six executions issued by various firms, amounting in the aggregate to $6,000.

A daring highway robbery occurred at Niagara Falls at 6 o'clock last evening. Chas. McDonald of Elmira held up Peter Thompson of Jackson, Michigan, at the point of a revolver, secured $26, and fled, threatening to shoot if Thompson pursued. Thompson gave chase and with the aid of the police caught McDonald. He was locked up.

Henry A. Pratt, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of Oldtown, Me., was found terribly wounded and unconscious in his carriage on the road from Oldtown to Pushaw Lake. His lower jaw was split, several teeth were knocked out and he had a deep gash in his neck and a long cut on his head. It is supposed he was waylaid by robbers.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—For New England: Fair; followed by local showers; stationary temperature in eastern, slightly cooler in western portion; southwesterly winds.

For Eastern New York and New Jersey: Showers; followed by clearing weather slightly cooler; westerly winds.

For Western New York: Generally fair southwesterly winds; slightly warmer, except near Rochester; stationary temperature.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Money on call to-day, 6 and 9 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 105¾ | 105¾ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 103¾ | 103¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 123¾ | 123¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 123¾ | 123¾ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 81¼ | 81¾ |
| Central Pacific | 32 | 32 |
| Chicago Bur. & Quincy | 103¾ | 103¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | 125 | — |
| Del., Lack. & Hudson | 144¼ | — |
| Erie | 25¾ | 25 |
| Erie pref. | — | — |
| Lake Shore | 107¾ | 107¾ |
| Louis. & Nash. | 81¼ | 81¾ |
| Michigan Central | 95¾ | — |
| Missouri Pacific | 69¾ | 70 |
| New Jersey Central | 122¾ | — |
| North western | 106¾ | 123¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | 96¾ | 106¾ |
| Pacific Mail | 43¾ | 96 |
| Reading | 43¾ | 44 |
| Rock Island | 87¾ | 43¾ |
| St. Paul | 79¾ | 88 |
| Union Pacific | 50¾ | 79¾ |
| Western Union | 83¾ | 50¾ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Three stage loads of young ladies belonging to one of the sodalities connected with St. Mary's church, spent yesterday at Boynton Beach.

—The new scenery in Music Hall, includes a new drop curtain. Stage Manager Mattox will do his part during the coming season, to please the public.

—An important meeting of Miantonomo Tribe will be held to-night to complete arrangements for their visit to New Brunswick on next Tuesday evening.

—A very enthusiastic and interesting meeting was held by Franklin Council, Jr. Order of United American Mechanics, in their rooms, last evening. Steps are being taken by members of this Council to organize one at Somerville.

—A boy dropped a compressed yeast-cake on the sidewalk this morning, and another boy accidentally stepped on it, fell down and hurt his arm. The careless lad at once pounced on the injured one and added insult to injury by punching him vigorously, despite his protestations that the ruin of the fallen cake was just as much an accident as the dropping of it.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Wm. Colthar and his son Chauncey are fishing for fish in the Raritan, today.

Councilman Hetfield and family leave today for two weeks at Block Island.

Miss Mabel Woodruff is visiting her cousins, the Misses Stokes, at Philadelphia.

The Rev. Charles B. Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell have gone to Liberty, Sullivan county, N. Y.

Councilman Smith has been called to Hartwick, N. Y., where his family are, by the serious illness of his oldest son.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Cadmus of the Borough, are at Mt. Tabor, Morris county, for the remainder of the Summer.

The Rev. A. Armstrong of Plainfield conducted the devotional exercises at the Seaside Assembly, Avon-by-the-Sea, yesterday.

Geo. E. Vincent, son of Plainfield's Bishop, presided at the closing session of the College of Liberal Arts at Chautauqua, yesterday.

Mrs. W. H. Griffin, the artist, at her home in the Park, last evening, displayed a beautiful night blooming cereus plant containing six flowers.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut of Plainfield, was yesterday re-elected Secretary and Treasurer of the Normal Hall Alumni Association of Chautauqua.

Mme. Alberti, a former Plainfielder, and Miss Eleanor T. Morrison, of North Plainfield, took part in an entertainment at Melrose Inn, Belmar, last evening.

A party of young anglers started for Bound Brook, this morning, where they expect to catch all the bass in the river. Those who went were Willie A. Swalm, Victor Faytell and Clarence Swalm.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Blair of East Second street, returned home this afternoon, after a week spent at Asbury Park. The Misses Bessie and Aggie Blair go on next Tuesday to spend a week at the same resort.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle, formerly pastor of the Plainfield M. E. church, but now of the Mt. Vernon M. E. church of Baltimore, will occupy the pulpit of the Rev. G. W. Smith at Hackettstown, one of his former charges, next Sunday.

The funeral of the late D. K. Milliken, whose death occurred on Wednesday morning at Newark, took place from his late home in Somerville this afternoon. The services were held at the Reformed church at that place at 2:45 o'clock.

Carl Gallup, Harry Yeager, Arthur Serrell, Walter Serrell, Edgar Serrell, Willie Thiers and Walter J. Swalm, started at 6:30 this morning for Chimney Rock where they will spend the day. They expect to arrive there at 9 o'clock as the walking is good.

The Donkey Party at Hotel Netherwood, Wednesday evening, was a source of much pleasure to the old as well as the young folk. Mrs. H. W. Williams and Mrs. J. R. Plum purchased and distributed the favors. Among the fortunate ones were Leroy Brewster, who won two prizes, Georgie Crossman, May Lattin, Gladys Balch, Bessie Thorn, Nellie Drake, Edna Wimple, Weston Williams, and Simon Pinner.

A FLASH IN THE PAN.

An Attack on the Water Works Company of Plainfield Treated With the Contempt it Deserves.

The attack of the news upon the Water Works Company of Plainfield, has fallen as usual with a thud as dull and sickening as the paper itself. Those interested in the Company who had noticed the attack at all, said it was too ridiculous to be taken seriously, and too plainly what the boys call a "strike" to have any effect on even the ignorant.

No matter at how cheap a price a man may offer his mouth, the Company has no need to pay a cent of hush money. The work as it progresses will speak for itself, and time will prove the good faith of the Company with the people, better than words can.

The franchise was granted by a majority of the Council of 1889, under the leadership of Mr. Newhall and the advice and direction of the Corporation Counsel. If it was granted under an unconstitutional law (which it is not) the present Council is not to blame, and if the contract is leaky (which it is not) the fault is the fault of the last Council.

Contractor Moore was this morning shown by a PRESS reporter, the attack on the Company that had been made upon such disjointed misrepresentations and ragged legal specifications as had been furnished probably by Mr. Carey's Attorney, Frank Bergen. Col Moore glanced over a few lines, laughed heartily at the utter nonsense of the article, said he was too busy to read it but would have his secretary write an open letter and ask the editor his price as a matter of curiosity.

NOT POLITICS, BUT PLAINFIELD.

A Critic's Opinion of the "Big 6," the "Little 4" and the "Indifferent 1."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—If the voters of Plainfield, when next they vote for their representatives in the city council will attend to the interests of the city, we shall have a very "Big 11," instead of only a "Big 6," an Indifferent 1, and a positively Small 4.

The policy of the Big 6, "Not politics, but the interests of Plainfield and its suburbs," should be the motto of every man who casts a ballot. We owe much to the 6 gentlemen, who give their time, in looking after our interests. I need hardly enumerate what they have done, but one thing is certain, they have the right man, in the right place, in our Street Commissioner R. A. Meeker, who in my judgment is certainly the best, and only competent one Plainfield has ever had. Voters remember "Not Politics, but Plainfield."

CRITIC.

Hackmen's Self-Inflicted Woes.

Patrick Keely, hackman, contributed ten dollars to the city treasury today against his will. Several days ago he was adjudged guilty of using profane and indecent language to Policeman McCue because McCue had arrested hackman John Keely, his son; and this morning Judge Codington fined him five dollars for the offense. Patrick was also placed on trial on the charge of fast driving. Several witnesses testified that Patrick had driven his horse down Broadway on a run, compelling others to drive upon the curbing to get out of his way. He made no defense, and was told to surrender five dollars more.

Patrick said if there were any more cases against him he'd give right up and go to Elizabeth and the county jail, but took encouragement from the court's assurance that no other complaints had been made and agreed to pay the $10 and save himself from twenty days' imprisonment.

Patrick's son John was tried on the charge of fighting with hackman Max Newman on the public streets. Newman had already pleaded guilty and paid a fine for his share of the fun, but John insisted on his own behalf that he was entirely innocent. Hackmen Max Newman, James Farley and John Kelly all agreed that Keely had called Newman bad names because Newman had touched him accidentally with his whip, and that Keely had dared Newman to cross the street and hit him and had picked up stones to throw at Newman, whereupon Newman gave chase. The row was at its height when Constable Rockafellow appeared and arrested Newman, while Policeman McCue arrested Keely.

Keely and Michael Kennedy, another hackman, testified contrariwise. They said that Farley fell against Keely and tried to knock him over, that Newman then struck Keely over the head with his whip, that Keely grappled with Newman, that Newman kicked Keely on the shins the specific number of five or eight times, that Keely broke away and was chased by Newman in and out among the hacks, and that Keely was then stoned down the street by Newman.

The problems in the case were so intricate that the court exercised the prerogative of weighing the case in his mind for twenty-four hours before announcing his decision.

Drink, Kind Master, and Patient Friend.

Alex. Thorn has provided two very welcome accompaniments for the driven well and pump in front of his store on Somerset street. The one is a cup by means of which the thirsty traveler may refresh himself, and the other is a watering trough, brimming over with nature's nectar, for the faithful horse.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of nasal catarrh, also "cold in the head," coryza and catarrhal headaches. 50 cents, by druggists.

ENTANGLED IN CUPID'S WEB.

A Plainfield Young Man Willingly Ensnared by a Bogus Country Girl.

A charming little romance, involving the happiness of two fond, fluttering, youthful hearts, is being developed, these merry Summer days, between a young man well known in Plainfield society, and a fair young maid who has become to the young man's existence the best, most beautiful, and truest thing in life.

The young man of this story of reality is something of a poet in his way, and rambles about, when opportunity affords, among the wilds of nature, communing with the woods, the hills, the brooks, the birds and flowers. He is something of an historian as well, and when the Battle of Springfield was celebrated, several weeks ago, in the quiet, quaint little village among the hills in the upper part of Union county, he was one of the interested witnesses of the celebration. He became so pleased with his new surroundings that he remained at the old historic inn several days, spending the hours in drives and rambles. One morning his walk took him along a country lane which terminated abruptly at an old-fashioned farm-house, nestling cosily among trees and shrubbery. He entered the door-yard, tapped at the door, and asked the kind-faced, motherly woman who responded, for a drink of water. Instead of bringing the glass herself, she sent her daughter, and the daughter was such a vision of loveliness that the young man from Plainfield was conscious of nothing but thrills of covetousness during all the long walk back to the inn.

The poet-historian-rambler could not resist the temptation to stroll next day again towards the nestling farm house, and he could not fail to notice a glad gleam of welcome in the young girl's eyes as he once more paused to ask her for a glass of water. In a few days these visits became a matter of course, and the young man from Plainfield began to think that he should have to make the Springfield inn a place of permanent abode. The two young people, hopelessly in love, spent many ecstatic hours together. The girl's mother was a considerate chaperone, and kept herself in comparative seclusion. The new goddess showed her adorer the bubbling spring whence came the sparkling waters whose quaffing had made their first acquaintance, and he sat down on the mossy bank beside the dripping stones on the hillside and wrote a poem about it, and the girl said 'twas the loveliest thing she had ever read—so much nicer and sweeter than Goethe and Browning.

Goethe and Browning! The young man started. So much education, so much refinement, and in a country girl? He queried, and she blushed and stammered and confessed. They weren't country people at all. Their home was in New York, but she and mamma had persuaded papa to let them rent a genuine country house and spend the Summer in a real rural way. And it had been so lonesome—till he had come to give her a happiness she had never known before. Papa had been in Europe a month on business, but would soon be home. By the way, she naively added, the young man would have to see papa, at which unwelcome information the young man groaned.

Papa has since been "seen," however, and everything is satisfactory, and that's why a certain young man from Plainfield makes so many mysterious trips, by cars or carriage, in the direction of Elizabeth, each week. The wedding will occur probably in the Spring.

An Amazon Rampant on the Boulevard.

The delectable region of the boulevard was aglow with excitement last night, and two or three hundred people gathered on West Third street to witness the antics of Bridget Newman. Bridget had been imbibing freely of the flowing bowl, and was having a glorious time making things lively and interesting for the assembled populace when Policeman Kiely hove in view. The windows in Sullivan's saloon had been smashed, and various portable objects which the portly Bridget could reach had been shattered. When told that she was under arrest she threw herself on the pavement and refused to budge. Four men dragged her, fighting, kicking, screaming and cursing, to the station-house. This morning she appeared before City Judge Codington, a pitiable object. Her face was bruised, discolored and swollen, and her eyes were bleared. She was told that she was charged with intoxication, fighting, swearing and using indecent language. She compressed her lips firmly, pleaded not guilty, and stated that she could bring a dozen or two dozen witnesses to prove her innocence. She will be tried to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.

New Club Stables.

Messrs C. C. Brower & Co, of this city, have just opened the new club stables on West Sixth street near Park avenue, where special attention will be given to trotting and road horses. The stables which have been re-modeled and put in good order, will be devoted exclusively to boarding and training purposes, and the new firm's many years' experience in the business is a guarantee of their capability and efficiency in this particular line. Horses will be trained and put in condition for the track. Terms made known upon application.

No medicine in the World is in better repute or more widely known than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a safe and certain remedy for all manner of blood disorders, leading physicians and druggists everywhere recommend it in preference to any other.

Watermelon Seeds Help to Lift a Mortgage.

A novel scheme for creating interest and entertainment, and at the same time assist in a charitable object, was developed a few days ago at Hotel Netherwood, by Mrs. H. W. Williams. Each payment of 50 cents entitled the one to a guess as to how many seeds were contained in a watermelon. The money thus secured was to be used towards helping a worthy poor woman to lift a debt off her home. The one guessing nearest the correct number was to receive a large doll, handsomely dressed by Mrs. Williams and provided besides with a trunk full of clothes. At first there was not much interest in the matter outside of its scheme for charity's sake. Everybody thought they knew about how many seeds there were in a watermelon.

But as the list of guessers grew and their guesses ranged from 2,000 down, much rivalry arose and a discussion of the question became the one topic of conversation. At luncheon and dinner the ladies jumped all the courses down to fruit, and ordered watermelon by quarters and halves for the purpose of counting the seeds. It is even said that the waiters have been bribed to tell the correct number.

The majority of the guesses were from 700 up. But towards the last the tide ebbed and as low as 100 was a frequent quotation. The melon was cut last evening, and the cleverest man of all was shown to be Wm. J. Boome of Washington Park. His guess was 1,010 and the number of seeds in the melon was 1,007.

Besides about sixty dollars that were paid in by the guessers, there were a number of wagers of ten and twenty dollars each that may be added to the sum sent to the worthy object.

—Masses were celebrated in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's churches this morning in honor of the Feast of the Assumption. Services will also be held in St Joseph's church this evening at eight o'clock.

Imitation goods are gotten up for the ignorant and gullible. The persons able to read and write are not so easily fooled. They will insist that Hires' Root Beer is handed them, and nothing else "just as good." The best imitation is no good, and you know it.

Died in Great Agony.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 15.—Condy O'Boyle, of Beaver Meadow, met a horrible death at that place. A slow going coal train passed over his body, and, although his intestines were scattered about the track, he lived for ten minutes after being picked up. He was a school director and a prominent citizen.

End of the Great Wales Strike.

CARDIFF, Aug. 15.—The railway directors and the delegates representing the striking employes held another conference and succeeded in reaching an agreement satisfactory to both sides. The men will return to work at once. This means the end of the great Wales strike.

Cut Her Cousin's Heart Out.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 15.—Near Booneville, Owsley County, John Bowman knocked his cousin, Henry Bowman, down, after which his sister Topsy cut his heart out with a bowie. The girl says Henry insulted her.

Drowned at Asbury Park.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 15.—Florence Sullivan, a daughter of Thomas Sullivan of No. 602 Broadway, and a man named Hurlbutt of Buffalo were drowned while bathing at Spring Lake.

Striking Miners to be Evicted.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 15.—A dispatch from Irwin, Pa., says the Westmoreland and Pennsylvania Coal companies, whose 3,000 miners have been on strike since May 1, have given notice that in ten days they will evict all strikers occupying company houses. Citizens have decided to throw their vacant buildings open to the unfortunates. Of the strikers, all save 200, have secured work elsewhere, but the men have been unable to remove their families.

Finely-Balanced Doors.

The Bank of England's doors are now so finely balanced that the clerk, by pressing a knob under his desk, can close the outer doors instantly, and they can not be opened again except by special process. This is done to prevent the daring and ingenious unemployed of the great metropolis from robbing this famous institution. The bullion departments of this and other great English banking establishments are nightly submerged in several feet of water by the action of the machinery. In some of the London banks the bullion departments are connected with the manager's sleeping-rooms and an entrance can not be affected without setting off an alarm near that person's head. If a dishonest official, during either day or night, should take even as much as one from a pile of a thousand sovereigns the whole pile would instantly sink and a pool of water take its place, besides letting every person in the establishment know of the theft. —Chicago Herald.

—In Switzerland and other mountainous countries the goat leads long strings of animals to and from the mountains, but it is in South Africa that it is regularly kept and employed as a leader of flocks of sheep. Should a blinding storm of rain or hail drive the silly sheep before it, or cause them to huddle together in a corner so as to be in danger of suffocation, the trained goat will, by a method best known to himself, induce them to follow him to a place of safety.

—It is proposed to establish a medico-legal institute in the center of Paris. Many post-mortem examinations, which at present have to be performed at the morgue, will then be made in the new institution, and it is hoped that this arrangement will enable the practical teaching of forensic medicine to be carried on without wounding the feelings of the relatives of the deceased persons.

Much injury is done by the use of irritating, griping compounds taken as purgatives. In Ayer's Pills, the patient has a mild but effective cathartic, that can be confidently recommended alike for the most delicate patients as well as the most robust.

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

C. C. BROWER & CO.,

Proprietors of the

New Club Stables,

WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.

Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.

Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 6-15-m

IMPORTANT NOTICE

To Messenger Call Box Subscribers, Firemen, and the General Public.

The New Jersey Postal Telegraph company, which is now building its lines rapidly towards Plainfield, from which point it will do a general telegraph business in connection with the Postal Telegraph company and Mackey Bennett Cable company throughout the World, have purchased the entire Messenger service and plant of the Plainfield Fire Alarm and Telegraph company, which is to be reorganized at once, and put in active service. It is respectfully requested that all parties having Call Boxes or Firemen's Bells in their buildings, report to our office, No. 4 Park avenue, in person or by letter, that the Manager may make a record of it and put in proper working order. Good service will be guaranteed in future.

J. A. MCCLARY,
General Manager New Jersey Postal Tel. Co. 8-14-2

Woman's Exchange

3 PARK AVENUE.

Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.

Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

CLAIRVOYANT.

By request of her many patrons, Mrs. DR. EDWARDS, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 13, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26. Will then leave positively. 8-14-6

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,

On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 13, 1890.

| | |
|---|---|
| Ball, Miss Mary D | Dabrosio, Nicoli |
| Clemishue, Mrs E | Ferringer, H B |
| Copp, Fred C | Hansler, Ernest |
| Connelly, John | Kissger, Misses |
| Comer, Miss Mary | McClain, Mrs J |
| Coil, John | Nelson, L P |
| | Tower, Miss Emma |

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. B. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7: 30, 8 40, A. M., 12: 15, 2: 30, 5: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 and 9: 30 A. M., 1: 45, 5: 30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8: 40 A. M., 2: 40, 6: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 A. M., 4: 30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4: 30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9: 30 to 10: 30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6: 30 P. M.

E. B. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

FOR SALE—A black cob built family horse; warranted perfectly sound. Address G., PRESS office.

LOST or Stolen—Between the depot and 36 Somerset street, a bundle containing lady's wearing apparel. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to City Mills. 8-15-tf

BOARD WANTED—For gentleman, wife, and child, 10 years old. Address, X., PRESS office. 8-15 3

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms; to respectable colored family. Apply PRESS office. 8-12-tf

DRESSMAKING in all its branches; cutting and fitting by the McDowell system. Satisfaction guaranteed. Call at No. 6 West Second street. 8-12-6

LOT FOR SALE—Elegant building lot on Sanford avenue. Good investment. Apply E. C. Mulford, Broker. 8-11-6

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 308 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 8-11-tf

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 23c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Graulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEWAREST, 25 PARE AVENUE. 8-8-t

THE WARREN MISSION

EXCURSION

FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1890,

To Asbury Park and Ocean Grove,

Stopping at Long Branch both ways.

Leave Dunellen, 7: 45; Plainfield, 8 A. M. Returning, leave Asbury Park, 6 P. M.

Adult Tickets, $1 25.

Children, 5 to 12 years, 90 cts.

All baskets and parcels, properly marked with owner's name, will be in charge of a responsible person on the train, and will be delivered both ways, free of charge, to Ross' pavilion, Ocean Grove. 8-14-w

M. H. A.

MUSIC HALL.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 20.

Engagement of the Young American Star,

CORA TANNER,

Under the management of Col. Wm. E. Sinn in a new and original play, written expressly for her by Mr. Edward E. Kidder, entitled

"ONE ERROR."

Presented by an Elegant Company, and Elegant Parisian Costumes.

PRICES—25c., 50c., 75c, and $1.

Seats on sale Monday. 8-14-td

MOY.

8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue,

Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15-tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-y

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-7

M. M. DUNHAM.

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEET. 3-13-7

TRY OUR

Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.

HENRY LIEFKE

NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 5-1-tf

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-7

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

4-18-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 3-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

45 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-3-7

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[PUNCH'S HOTEL.] No. 5 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting.

3-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed, Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 68.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS,

CROCKERY. CHINA. GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.

Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons.
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-P." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

—SELLING OUT CHEAP!—

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-3-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters.
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 25 Points worth considering:—

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. — (Chotola Building), —Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE, A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

A THEATRICAL PLUNGER.

A Well-Known Hotel-Keeper Going to Manage Three Combinations.

Last Sunday's World published the story given below in connection with a photographic reproduction that wholly failed to faithfully represent the genial countenance of the open-handed and open-hearted citizen of Plainfield whose hearty, affable face it aimed to portray. It is no more than justice demands and his personal worth deserves, that THE PRESS should give a better picture of the man and add to the World's story much of the commendation due him that has been omitted. Here is the better picture, though no picture can do him justice:

JOSEPH BRENGLE MILLER.

The story the World told was as follows:

Among the hotel-keepers of New Jersey there is not one better known or more esteemed than Joseph B. Miller, or Joe, as he is familiarly called by his friends, senior partner of Miller Bros., proprietors of Laing's Hotel, of Plainfield, a public-spirited man, always willing and helpful in any good work for the promotion of public enterprise. Although comparatively a young man he has had considerable experience as a hotel-keeper, having been associated with his father in the City Hotel from 1869 until 1875, which place they gave up to take charge of the Sheridan House at Elizabeth. In 1880, Joe and his brother George bought out the famous old hostelry, Laing's Hotel, or, as it was known in the days of the stage coach, "Laing's Inn." It is one of the oldest hotels in this section of the State.

Mr. Miller has always been more or less interested in theatricals, but when his friends learned that he was to be the President and Treasurer of the Lew Dockstader Minstrel Company for 1891 there was excitement in huge chunks, for the thought that Joe was to be with them no more caused a gloom to settle on those who were accustomed to enjoy his hospitality that would take more than Dockstader's funniest songs to dispel.

Mr. Miller says the well-known theatrical manager, Harry J. Clapham, will manage the company. Minstrelsy has changed a great deal, and is likely to change a great deal more. The negro of today is not the negro of twenty or thirty years ago, nor is the minstrel of today the same. In the Dockstader's Minstrels of next year will be forty-five of the best artists to be procured from both sides of the Atlantic, and the company will embrace novelties never before shown in this country. The costuming of the first part will be a revelation. Spectacular effect will be one of the prominent features of the new troupe.

Mr. Miller will go to Europe in the Fall to engage some of the artists who have become famous there. Besides investing in the Dockstader Company, Mr. Miller has organized a burlesque opera company which will travel under his name and be managed by him. He has also, in conjunction with Mr. Dockstader, leased one of the chief Chicago theatres for 1893 and will run it during the World's Fair season. It is a long time since any outsider plunged so extensively into theatricals.

Mr. Miller retains his interest in the hotel, but in his absence his brother George will assume entire charge.

---

Although all of the above is true and of general interest, there is omitted a merited mention of the most important factor in the coming success of the new enterprises the young hustler has embarked in. That factor is his magnetic personality. None know him but to be charmed with his good fellowship and affability. The press will neglect other attractions to make room for big notices of the genial Joe's ventures, and the people with whom he comes in contact in the North, East, South or West, will put themselves out ever after to give his companies a personal endorsement, boom the advance sales, set the stage with more care and attractiveness, or in a hundred other ways assure greater success.

Harry Clapham, the manager, is another specimen of the right man in the right place. He it was who made Haverly's Minstrels. "40 count 'em 40," is a trade mark of his invention, under which he steered a company all over the World and made thousands of dollars. These two at the helm with Dockstader on deck, will reach any port they set sail for, with a profitable cargo. Everybody in the business, nowadays, promises a novelty in their line, but Lew Dockstader's Minstrels will offer two novelties in the olio. If you don't believe it, count 'em when you see the show. Dockstader himself is the greatest drawing minstrel in the country today, and there will be a talented singing party in the opening. When it is all put on $26,000 will have been spent in costumes, and scenic effects. Not a detail of perfection will be missing.

The Company will open in the East, July 1891. It is already booked for 34 weeks in all the first-class theatres of the best cities.

---

Base Ball Notes.

The Ridgewoods will play the Crescents in Plainfield again, on the afternoon of Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 1.

To-morrow's game will be against the Stars of Newark, who defeated the Crescents the first game they played this year. The same pitcher will be in the box. The Crescents only hit him six times safe.

---

—Seats will be on sale Monday for "One Error."

GORDON'S ACCUSER'S CAREER CHECKED.

Grocer Arthur Thompson Accused of Setting Fire to His Store.

At 3:18 yesterday morning the Newark Fire Department was called out by an alarm from Box No. 31, and an unusually prompt response was made Chief Kierstead and engine companies No. 3 and No. 10. A stream of water was quickly got upon the fire, which was in the grocery store of Arthur Thompson, colored, at No. 155 Thomas street. The flames were extinguished before any material damage had been done, and then Chief Kierstead found that the faucet of a barrel of kerosene had been turned so that the oil was running over the floor, and that the bung of a barrel of coal oil had been removed and the barrel turned in such a way that its contents were also spilled over the floor.

The Chief immediately caused the arrest of Thompson, as it was apparent that he had attempted to burn up his stock to obtain an insurance of $600. Indeed, the Chief found, upon investigation, that he did not have $50 worth of goods in his store. He was taken to Police Headquarters and locked up, and later on Chief Kurstead made a formal complaint against him, and he was committed for trial. He is the same man who some days ago was married to Martha Rich, of Westfield, a young colored woman now awaiting trial for attempted infanticide, and on Tuesday morning last as published in THE PRESS, he reported to Sergeant Detective Stainsby that a colored man named Gordon, living in this city, had visited him the afternoon previous and before leaving had stolen $150 from a trunk in his sleeping room in rear of his store. Detective Jaegers was detailed to look after the matter, and on visiting Plainfield he soon learned that Gordon was not away on Monday last or any other recent day. Then Sergeant Detective Stainsby was convinced that Thompson had told him a falsehood, and when the man came to him on Tuesday night and said that the amount stolen from him was $300, instead of $150, he began questioning him closely and received from him so many contradictory statements that he was satisfied the man had some motive in trying to mislead the people and his creditors.

The police are now satisfied that he is a bad man, and that if he had succeeded in burning his place and obtaining the insurance upon his stock, he would have left the city for good, and his bride and twins to shift for themselves. The damage to the building is estimated at $150, and the owner, who lives over Thompson's store, was not insured.

---

Happings at Washingtonville.

Miss Minnie Spencer and Miss Grace Manwaring of Brooklyn, N.Y., are spending a week at the home of their friends the Winans.

Miss Hattie Longstreet and Miss Grace Arnold of Brooklyn, have been making a short visit with their relatives, the Milligans, at Maplewood cottage.

Mrs. Jerome B. Johnson of Oyster Bay, L. I., is looking after her property here. One of her tentants has vacated the premwithout giving notice or paying the arrears. She is on the war path with a fixed determination in one hand, and the blood is on the moon. She says he burned the board walks and otherwise abused the property.

E. W. Milligan and Peter Oesterman spent a day fishing at Boynton Beach, recently. They report their catch as 18 porgies, 6 sea bass and 24 crabs.

Miss Georgie Spencer is on a visit to relatives at Glenside for a a week.

Theo. Bartells has a fine night blooming cereus with 18 buds which are expected to open this evening. A number of friends will watch it bloom.

SOL. PRINGLE.

---

Bound Brook Briefs.

(From THE PRESS Correspondent.)

St. Joseph's new church is being rapidly finished. The stone walls are almost completed and the carpenters are expecting to begin work in a few days. All the Catholics are working hard to have the structure free from debt when completed. They are giving all their means will allow.

The Star Dramatic Club are going to produce for the benefit of the church, early in September, the following plays: A Western drama entitled "Border Land," and a funny after piece called "The Dutch Justice." As such entertainments always draw large houses, the church will clear about $100 out of the venture.

Bob Hunting's circus played to about four hundred people Wednesday. The people who were there say it was partly good but nothing new. Very little courtesy was shown the press. One reporter who forgot his pass, after showing his credentials was refused admittance; but when Hunting found out that the reporter he refused was a staff reporter of a leading New York paper, he would have gladly made good his mistake.

The parties who were selling liquor without license, have quietly stopped. Some way they found out that two detectives were in town looking up the cases. It is rumored that there are still several places selling.

---

A Big Deal in Real Estate.

The papers were passed yesterday closing the deal by which Mr. Keyser, of Utah, becomes possessed of the tract of land of 27 acres on Broadway, Putnam avenue and Berckman street. THE PRESS told all about it weeks ago, before anyone else knew of it. The agent's commission on the sale is said to be $331.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

ABOUT BATS.

They Are Very Interesting Little Creatures and Not Blind by Any Means.

Most bats have very short ears like mice. But there is one called the "long-eared bat," who is a funny-looking fellow, indeed.

Do you see him in the picture? His big ears look like two parasols held over his head. They must be paramoons, then, for he does not fly by day. He tucks his ears under his wings when he goes to sleep.

Bats are fond of company and do not live alone. They live in flocks or parties. They are friendly and do not quarrel. When the day dawns they go to their dark cave or roof, and hang themselves up by taking hold of the rock or wall with the claws of their hind feet.

So they hang head downwards. That would kill you if you tried it very long, but the bats find it comfortable.

Bats when born look like little mice. They are blind for ten days. Their bodies are about as bare as young birds at first.

A mother bat is very good to her baby. She rubs and brushes it clean with her big lip.

Then she tucks the baby bat into a fold of the skin about her body. The baby bat at once clings fast to its mother with its little hooked claws.

BAT, FLYING.

When the mother bat flies for food she carries the baby along, wrapped up and clinging to her. She never lets it fall.

When the young bat is able to fly the mother still keeps near it, and helps it for some time. A boy caught a little bat and put it in his pocket to take to his teacher.

The little bat cried. Its mother heard it. She flew to the boy, clung to his pocket, and would not let go.

So the boy took both mother and baby to his teacher. They were put in a cage.

Small baby bats are nursed with milk by their mothers, as kittens are.

When a bat is kept in a cage it will eat bread and milk, and bits of raw veal.

You can tame bats easily so that they will come when you call them and eat flies or beetles from your hand.

When people say "blind as a bat," they make a great mistake. The sight of bats is very sharp; but in sunny days, if they are out of doors, they blunder about because too much light dazzles them.

The bat has in all its body and wings very delicate nerves, that help to guide it when it flies in the dark.

Bats go to sleep in the winter and stay asleep until spring. Sometimes for their winter sleep they hang themselves up, but generally they crowd into clefts or holes and lie heaped together to help keep each other warm. Baby bats are mostly born in the early spring.—Julia McNair Wright, in Santa Claus.

WHAT BONY DID.

The True Story of a Little Girl and Her Pet Bear.

This is a true story of a bear.

He was a performing bear, and his coat, which had once been black, was ragged and faded to a rusty brown.

His name was Napoleon Bonaparte, and all through the long, hot summer days he went tramping about from village to village with a hand-organ and a man and a little girl.

The man played the organ, and the little girl, whose name was Lisette, shook her tambourine, and the bear danced and presented arms, and went through with his broom drill and all of his droll tricks a good many times a day—so many times that it was no wonder that the three got very tired of it all.

Some days they reaped a rich harvest of pennies, and some other days, when every thing seemed out of joint, they tramped long distances without getting a pleasant word or the smallest gift of money.

It was at such times that Lisette's black eyes would grow big and wistful, and her father's face would wear a scowl, and Bony, the bear, would tug restlessly at his chain, as if he knew that things were not going just as they should, and as if he were longing for the shady forest and a taste of freedom.

Then the father would give his chain into Lisette's wee brown hand, because Bony would always mind Lisette's voice, and follow where she led. They were such good friends—the big black bear and the little brown girl; at night she often slept with her curly head resting on his shaggy coat.

But times were not often so hard. One day the three came to a little village between two hills where very few hand-organs and never a dancing bear had found the way before.

And when Bony came with Lisette and her father and the tambourine and the hand-organ, the children all flocked to see, and the fathers and mothers came to look after the children.

So Bony, feeling the cheering prospect, danced as he hadn't danced for a long, long time; and Lisette shook her tambourine with a great deal of spirit; and her father turned the organ-crank vigorously; and just as Bony with his wooden musket was presenting arms in his very best style, a dreadful cry was raised:

"The dog is mad! M-a-ad do-og! Clear the way!"

Lisette's father was collecting pennies. The little crowd parted and scattered here and there, until in less time than I can tell you of it, little Lisette and Bony, the bear, stood all alone in the midst of the grassy village square—all alone, with a great savage dog, almost as big as Bony himself, coming upon them.

Bony dropped his musket, and Lisette crept close to him as he stood upon his haunches, straight as a soldier.

And when the dog sprang, with a fierce snarl, at Bony's throat, the old bear caught him in a mighty squeeze; and he hugged him tighter and tighter; and the people cheered.

And Lisette's father shouted: "Run, Lisette!" But she did not.

It was over in a minute, and of course Bony—brave old Bony—had the best of it.

He had hardly a scratch to show for his battle, either, thanks to the thick leather collar about his neck.

And of course, too, Bony was praised and Lisette was petted, and they were all treated so kindly that they haven't gone away from the little village between the hills yet; neither Lisette nor her father nor Bony, the bear.

I saw Bony last summer while I was staying in the little village; and he licked my hand with his rough tongue, and seemed very well pleased with his new home in the inn-keeper's orchard, where every day Lisette comes to play with him for awhile.—Youth's Companion.

LUCY'S PLAYMATES.

A Little Girl's Prayer That Was Promptly Answered.

One night when Lucy was saying her prayers, she said: "Heavenly Father, please bring me a little 'Kunter-Weeker,' and then I will be just as good and kind as I possibly can. amen."

Her mother said: "What do you mean by 'a little Kunter-Weeker?'"

"Why, mamma, you are the one I heard talking about the little Kunter-Weekers that come every summer to stay awhile with the farmers."

Then Mrs. Brown remembered that she had told the little girl of the kind people who hunted up the poor, pale, city children and brought them into the country in the summer time, so that they might see the green trees and breathe the fresh air and grow strong and well again.

Several of these little ones had come into the village where Lucy lived, and went by the name of "little country weekers," and the child had not quite caught the words.

But a few days afterward Lucy and her father were at the station to meet the "Kunter-Weekers."

From the twenty little ones that came that day they chose two small German children—the sister, a pale girl about ten years old, and the brother almost a baby.

That night the children drank the warm milk and ate the brown bread as though in a dream, and the next morning they awoke with the same feeling of puzzled wonder.

But after Lucy had shown them all the chickens and cows and pigs and colts and bees and birds—had walked with them in the gardens and let them swing in her great, strong hammock that hung in the shade—they began to feel more at home and soon were perfectly happy.

Such happy children as they were! They fed the chickens with shelled corn from Lucy's small tin pail; they picked the peas and beans and gathered the strawberries and the currants; they hunted eggs in the barn and rode the horse to water.

The two weeks soon came to an end, however, and how could the poor children bear to go back to the hot, dusty city!

Lucy begged her father to let them stay, and so it came about that their mother was invited to join her children, and to live with them in a pretty cottage under the trees; so that Lucy and her little "Kunter-Weekers" frolicked all summer long and grew stout and rosy.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

---

His Profession.

"If you'll go to work, I'll give you something to eat," said the kind-hearted woman.

"I can't follow my profession unless you do," returned the tramp, "for I am an after-dinner speaker."—Life.

---

Some Other Time.

Young Author—I left a poem with you yesterday. Are you willing to tell me what you think of it?

Editor (in a whisper)—I'd rather not do that just now; there are some ladies in the next room.—The Jury.

---

Geographical Facts.

Inquiring Boy—Some of the towns in my geography is in big letters and some in little letters. What's that for, pop?

Pop (a theatrical manager)—The towns in small letters are one-night stands.—N. Y. Weekly.

---

A Foolish Question.

Intending Purchaser—Is this an old horse?

Horse Trader—I should say not. Who did you think was running this stable, anyway, George Washington?—Drake's Magazine.

---

It Was Loud.

"That bonnet speaks for itself," exclaimed Mrs. Fangle, as she showed her new headgear to her husband.

"Yes; I heard it as I came in the door," replied the brute.—Harper's Bazar.

---

Competitors in Business.

Patent Right Man—Let me sell you a fire-escape.

Citizen—Thank you; I'm in the fire-escape business myself. I'm a minister of the gospel.—Arcola Record.

---

His Extraction.

Johnson—Is Mr. Mahon, the dentist, a man of Irish extraction?

Thomson—No; he advertises that he extracts teeth in the French style.—Light.

---

Question in Mineralogy.

Professor of Mineralogy (at an examination)—Where are the most diamonds found?

Candidate—At the pawnbroker's.—Sonntags-Post.

---

THE excellence of baked potatoes depends upon eating as soon as done, and not before. They are worthless if cooked, and dry rapidly as soon as baked through.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

6-30-y

WASHBURN & ARLINGTON'S NEW UNITED MONSTER SHOWS.

Congress of Nations, World's Fair, Roman Hippodrome, Egyptian Caravan, Arabian Camel Train, Moorish Encampment,

WILD WEST AND WILD EAST,

Will Exhibit at CIRCUS GROUNDS, PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, AUG. 18.

100 HANDSOME GREY HORSES. 100 WORLD RENOWNED PERFORMERS

A Beautiful Living Calliope

In the Grand Street Parade, Will fill the air with music from a steam organ, costing $10,000. 8-11-w

Don't Miss This!

Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of

"Stanley in Africa."

(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)

This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.

The Wonderful Discoveries!

Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.

Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4¾c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150 test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.

United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n,

Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,

29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-m

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of

SODA WATER

At MILLER'S PHARMACY,

No. 10 East Front Street,

Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.

Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST

Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!

Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.

39 SOMERSET STREET.

Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.

We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front St -tf

I. H. BOEHM,

7 West Front Street,

Popular Dry Goods House.

Special Bargains This Week!

300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.

50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.

Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.

Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.

Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.

I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.

Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.

Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.

All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.

We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.

Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.

Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL

TO THE

BEST TRADE

IN

PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!

If You Want Selected Goods,

TELEPHONE TO

R. W. RICE & CO.,

Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in

Ladies Oxford Ties

AND

Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,

Everybody goes to

KENNY'S,

At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS

Gasolene Stoves,

Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,

Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.

A. M. GRIFFEN

13 East Front Street.

TELEPHONE CALL 8.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Base Ball AND Lawn Tennis Goods,

Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.

Joseph M. Harper,

No. 75 PARK AVENUE,

3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 5-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.

The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.

F. WESTPHAL & SON,

Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,

23 North Avenue,

A full line of

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY.

KINDLING WOOD.

Yard—Mountain Avenue.

P. O. Box 307. North Plainfield.

Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,

Plain and Ornamental SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.

Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.

New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,

Has added to his stock a fresh line of

Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year

23 EAST FRONT ST.

DON'T FORGET!

That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that

I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT

7 P. M.

J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,

Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street.

1-18-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY

Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.

For particulars, address

Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal. 7-18-3m

J. C. POPE & CO

INSURANCE AGENTS

No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my19

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,

Lumber and Coal Merchants.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD.

PLAINFIELD.

All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.

ALFRED D. COOK. ROBERT W. COOK my10y1

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.

H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.

ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,

CARPENTERS,

And General Jobbers.

SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

Door and Window Screens a Specialty.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK 6-3-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,

Carpenter and Builder,

66 W. FRONT STREET.

The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.

RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter and Builder.

RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET

Screens Fitted to Your Windows

For 15 cents per square foot,

At No. 30 Somerset Street.

Also JOBBING of all kinds.

HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,

Livery Stables.

54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 132. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my29

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 3-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN AMPHITHEATRE.

The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.

SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.

Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.

SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.

EVERY NIGHT AT 8.

Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.

STRAUSS,

—AND HIS—

Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.

—ALSO—

TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."

250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.

Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.

The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

--NO. 8--

PARK AVENUE,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

STAMPING!

PROMPTLY EXECUTED.

FANCY GOODS,

NOTIONS, ETC.

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED

Sulohur and Vapor Baths followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. E. HORNER, 18 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Prime, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.

OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 6-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,

Counselors-at-Law

Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. E. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Supreme Court Commissioner.

First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,

Counselors at Law,

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,

Counselor-at-Law,

Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.

COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,

Typewriter and Stenographer,

COLLECTION AGENT.

With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

DESIRABLE

Netherwood Building Sites

FOR SALE.

Apply to J. F. LOESER,

P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J. 7-16-m

CARRIAGES

Of every description in stock or built to order.

Coupes, Cabriolets,

Surries, Depo Wagons,

Buggies, Road Wagons,

Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,

AT

RYERSON'S

Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods

EMPORIUM,

33 Somerset Street.

Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

NEW LIVERY!

IRVING C. STELLE,

(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at

No. 26½ West Front Street,

In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.

First-Class Horses and Carriages

Constantly on hand for hire, calling and pleasure purposes.

A share of public patronage is solicited.

Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLE

21 East 5th Street

Special attention to all

AWNING WORK

Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.

MATTING.

Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-to6-1

House Numbers

At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.

Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Botching 1-16-tf

FISCHER

ESTABLISHED 1840.

PIANOS

RENOWNED FOR TONE & DURABILITY

MODERATE PRICES

EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.

DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 30 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY

Catalogue Mailed on Application.

110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,

NEW YORK CITY.

4-4-6m

TIER'S

ICED CREAM!

In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.

8 Bank Place—East Front Street.

6-16-to-sep1

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at

Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.

We manufacture them and know what they contain. TRY THEM.

"A SCOOP" ON SWEET.

The Humorist Was Not a Success as a Reporter.

[Written for This Paper.]

WHILE I have had considerable journalistic experience I have never been, nor am I now, a success at reporting current events. I have been a local reporter on several occasions, but the truth is that in writing I prefer to elaborate on what might have happened rather than to coldly narrate actual occurrences. When the truth accidentally gets mixed up with my writing it is as much of a disturbing element as a large pebble is in a coffee mill.

About twelve or fourteen or more years ago I occupied the position of San Antonio correspondent of the Galveston (Texas) News. It was one of my duties to report promptly by wire any event of importance that occurred in the Alamo city. During the day I got along pretty well, but after seven o'clock I relied on the telegraph operator to transmit the tidings of any catastrophe that might occur, for at that hour I retired to my domicile and remained there until next morning.

This arrangement worked very nicely until one eventful Saturday night when a dreadful tragedy took place in a variety theater. A cowboy named Lanham, jealous of the attentions showered by a variety actress, Georgia Drake, upon a United States soldier, drew his revolver and killed both the actress and her soldier-boy lover.

THE SCENE OF THE TRAGEDY.

I read all about it in the San Antonio Sunday morning papers, and supposed, of course, that my telegraphic friend, Smithson, had wired all the sickening details to the Galveston News. He had done nothing of the kind. An event in his family, which had a direct bearing on its numerical increase, such as have occurred in the best regulated families, called him away suddenly from his post just half an hour before the shooting began, and another telegraph operator, who knew nothing of my arrangement with his predecessor, took his place. The consequence was, while almost every newspaper of prominence in the United States had a thrilling account of the affair, not a line on that subject appeared in the Sunday Galveston News.

A letter from Galveston called my attention to this oversight. It was from the managing editor, who was evidently laboring under considerable excitement when he penned it. It sought to convey the idea that I was to blame for the whole business. At first I was disposed to regard the matter in that light myself, and I felt very bad about it, but the more I turned the affair over in my mind the more convinced I became that my share of the blame was very small indeed, so I sat down and wrote to the managing editor as follows:

DEAR SIR—I do not think that the blame for the failure of the News to publish the details of the recent tragedy in this city should fall entirely on me. A little reflection will show that I was only remotely culpable.

In my opinion, in spite of the proverb de mortuis, etc., most of the blame should be charged up to the deceased variety actress. If she had never gone on the stage the tragedy never would have occurred. Moreover, if she had been intimate with the cowboy and the soldier the tragedy never would have occurred.

Of course, the cowboy is also to blame, as are indirectly the inventor of gunpowder and the late Samuel Colt, who invented the revolver.

If I were you I would let this matter drop right now, because if we proceed any further we are liable to tear open the wounds of the war. The U. S. soldier is to blame directly, but still he was not in San Antonio on his motion, but in obedience to the orders of the War Department. He would probably never have been stationed in San Antonio had not the late war ended in the way it did, so those who started the war are with us in the soup, so to speak. Still they are not altogether to blame, since whoever brought slaves to this country are mixed up in it.

But all these parties are not entirely to blame since the failure of Mr. Smithson, the telegraph operator, was one of the causes why you did not get the news in time. Nor can I blame Smithson very much, since the emergency that called him from his post was a very urgent one, and the question is, moreover, one of too great delicacy for me to discuss, although I do not hesitate to express my belief that the infant itself is not included in the list of those who have contributed to bring about this discussion.

It is, however, different with the mayor and aldermen of San Antonio. They are distinctly in the consomme. If they had not licensed variety shows the tragedy would never have occurred. They should be discharged at once. Going back to the first cause, it strikes me that in this, as in all similar cases, the serpent in the Garden of Eden ought not to be allowed to go unscathed.

I dare say if you think over it you will unearth some of the guilty parties, but even as the case is now the blame, treating the case homeopathically, having been reduced to the sixty-fourth attenuation, my dose should be very light.

Yours truly,
ALEX. E. SWEET.

HAD EXTRAVAGANT HABITS.

Employer—Mr. Casher, I am afraid we'll have to make an investigation of your books. We have reports that you are living extravagantly.

Mr. Casher—This takes me by surprise, sir. I live pretty well, but the salary of five thousand dollars a year you pay me enables me to do it.

Employer—Yes, but it does not enable you to live so extravagantly as the reports appear to indicate. The office boy says he saw the ice-man deliver a piece of ice at your house this morning.—The Jury.

OKLAHOMA COURTSHIP.

Buckskin Pete Convinces Sal That He Is a Man Worth Having.

Buckskin Pete—Sal, I've seen yer fer about three days now, an' I likes yer real well. What der yer say, let's dubble up an' get spliced; an' we'll start er ranch on our own hook?

Sal (the belle of Dead Man's creek)—I don't know, Pete. I likes yer purty well; but I can't say as I'm ded stuck on yer. Look hyar, what's that story I hearn 'bout you runnin' 'way from a tenderfut 'cause he had a shooter?

Pete—'Tain't so, Sal. I killed the varmint plumb ded.

Sal—Good! Got some style, ain't ye? But then I hearn you played poker with Bill Sauters and let him cheat without poppin' him off. What's the matter? he too much fer yer? 'F he is, he's the one I wants.

Pete—Cudden't help that, Sally dear. Bill he got the drop on me and kicked me outen the place.

Sal—All right. 'Nother thing. 'D'you ever steal eny horses?

Pete—Yep. Four, six months ago, while old Sam Wolf was over ter Kansas.

Sal—Git ketched?

Pete—Nope: wudden't be here now 'f I had.

Sal—Good boy. You're a dandy. Only one thing more, Pety. Jane Rawlins says you drink that 'Pollinaris water, what the tenderfuts from the East drink. That so?

Pete—"T's a lie. I drink plain whisky.

Sal—All right. I don't want no man what kan't take a drink 'o whisky now an' then, so I want you to understand that.

Pete—Is it a go, Sal?

Sal—Well, I don't know as I've got eny more objections, 'cept that you ought to wait some night fer Bill Sauters an' pick him off. Howsomever, I'm yours, Pety, old man. So come kiss your little wifey; an' then go out and ask the old man what he ses. If he don't agree, we'll cut out afore he comes home and skip down to the settlement and have the parson do the thing up squar. Whoop la! Go 'long now, Jim, you soft fool, you.—W. J. Hoster, in Munsey's Weekly.

A Private Utterance.

German Hotel-Keeper — Hist! the great Bismarck was here half an hour ago.

Reporter—Ah! did he say any thing to you of an official nature?

German Hotel-Keeper—No; his utterance was merely that of a private gentleman.

Reporter—Tell me what he said?

German Hotel-Keeper — Two beers. —Judge.

Only Work for One.

Clerk—Does it take you an hour to go around the corner?

Boy—A man dropped a quarter down a hole in the sidewalk.

Clerk—And it took you all this time to get it out?

Boy—Yes, sir. I had to wait till the man went away.—Life.

At a Washington Ball.

Miggins—This ought to be a happy crowd.

Wiggins—How so?

Miggins—Why, the ladies do not seem to have any care on their shoulders.

Wiggins—No; and nothing else, to speak of.—Light.

MAKING THE MOST OF IT.

Irate Father (to daughter who has asked for a new hat)—This is the last straw!

Daughter—Then please make it a Leghorn.—Munsey's Weekly.

A CONFERENCE.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Discuss Family Matters.

Mr. J. Anthony DeWitt—Well, so you and the girls have got the sea-shore craze again, have you? Do you think I'm made of money, madam?

Mrs. J. Anthony DeWitt—Now, it's no use for you to go to losing your temper, and being so very disagreeable. Of course, I know you're not made of money; you talk as though I never tried to economize.

"Humph!"

"Oh, you can 'humph' all you please; but if I don't practice economy, I don't know who does. And, as for the girls, the poor dears are positively shabby half the time."

"Shabby! With all the bills that are sent to me for their gowns and their ge-gaws, and fol-de-rols!"

"I guess, if you had some wives and some daughters, and some bills to pay, you'd have something to make a fuss about; that's what I guess. But that's neither here nor there. We simply must go to Newport or Bar Harbor this summer."

"What good did it do you to go last summer?"

"It was very dull at all the summer resorts last summer, as you very well know, while the coming season promises to be a very gay one. I've the actual names of no less than twenty very eligible young men who are going to the seashore this year, and who did not go last. That makes the dear girls' chances much better."

"May be so."

"Oh, you may well say that; for if you are so close and so short-sighted as to refuse them money enough to make a decent appearance, it will be 'may be so,' sure enough, for them!"

"What in thunder do you—"

"Anthony!"

"I don't give a—"

"Mr. DeWitt, have the kindness to remember that you are talking to your wife!"

"I'm not likely to forget it."

"Well, then, address me as a gentleman should address a lady!"

"Pooh! Mighty fine, ain't you? Well, let's get down to business. Let's see—Mag's thirty now, isn't she?"

"'Mag!' I do wish, Anthony, that you would give up at least a few of your vulgarities, and stop calling our Marguerite 'Mag!'"

"WHAT IN THUNDER DO YOU—"

"You used to call her 'Mag' yourself, when we lived on the farm, before I was fool enough to sell off and go into speculation here in the city. Well, 'Marguerite' is thirty."

"She is*not*. She was twenty-nine last July."

"And this is May."

"Well, she's not thirty yet."

"Well, Jen is—"

"Jeannette, if you please!"

"Oh, Jan*nette*! Well, she's twenty-seven, and Mollie is—"

"Why can't you say 'Mamie?'"

"I used to call her Mollie, and no fuss was made about it."

"You are so trying."

"Well, I ain't the only trying person under this roof."

"Go on, go on! Insult me all you want to!"

"Oh, for the Lord's sake don't go to sniffling!"

"How can I help crying when you are so—so—brutal!"

"'Brutal!' Pooh! 'Brutal!' You wimmen beat time for general tom-foolery, anyhow. Well, now we've got down to Kitty and—"

"Kitty will need very little. She is only twenty-two, and she will have to be kept in the background, to give Marguerite and the others a better chance."

"Kit will enjoy that."

"'Kit!' You can be simply dreadful!"

"But I'm never so, when I'm signing checks for you—Oh, no."

"If you would only have some regard for our feelings. Why the girls would die, if you were to call them Mag and Jen, and Kit and Moll, before people. And pray never call me Mat, as you did the other day, before the DeCourcys. I thought I should sink through the floor!"

"I can remember the time when you were glad enough to have me call you Mat and Mattie."

"But Martha sounds much better for a woman of my years, and I ought always to be Mrs. DeWitt to you, before callers, or in society."

"Oh! Madam DeWitt! How does that suit you?"

"Well, it's better than 'Mat.'"

"Well, let's go back to business. Now, if you're not going to put Kitty on the market—"

"Anthony!"

"Well?"

"'On the market!' To speak so of your own daughters!"

"I always call things by their right names, and I always listend to; and if these sea-shore riots ain't regular matrimonial markets, what are they?"

"You will be vulgar."

"I will tell the truth and shame the devil and—"

"Anthony!"

"Well, if Kitty isn't to be disposed of this year, and if there's danger of her putting Marguerite's nose out of joint, why can't she go up to her grandmother's, in the country?"

"She'd be better off with me. Of course, she oughtn't to stand in the other girls' way, but it'd be better for her to—to—"

"Sell herself, eh?"

"I didn't say so."

"You mean it, anyhow. You mean that it would be better to get rid of Kitty than to hold all the girls over another year. Well, may be so. Kitty 'll be getting shop-worn by and by, and—"

"Mr. De Witt!"

"It is n't well to hold stock of any kind over, and—"

"I shall leave the room if your language does not become less offensive!"

"I'm using plain terms, that's all."

"Plain terms!"

"Well, let's get through with this business. How much will it take for their toggery?"

"Well, of course they'll have to be well dressed, and we'll have to live in good style."

"To be sure. One has to spend money to make money. How much is the very least you can get along with?"

"Well, certainly not less than three hundred a week, and about a thousand for replenishing the girls' wardrobes; and—"

"Now, stop right there, Mat! Three hundred a week! A thousand dollars for duds! Jerusalem! Wha—what in—"

"Mr. DeWitt, if you swear in my presence again, I shall leave the room. Why can't you be a little reasonable? Do you expect to go on nothing?"

"Nothing! Great Cæsar! I—I—Now, see here; you may have three hundred for duds, and a hundred and fifty a week for expenses! Not another cent! Not another cent! And, mind you, no bills! Mind that! If a lot of bills come in after you're gone, by the great horn spoon, I'll—I'll—"

"Oh, you'll pay them, that's all."

"I'll be hanged if I will! And another thing; if none of the girls come home engaged, it's the very last time I put up money for a husband hunt of this sort! Mind that!"

"He is so trying," says Mrs. DeWitt, with a sigh, after Mr. DeWitt has gone storming out of the room. "But he'll have the bills to pay, just the same."—Light.

SPOILED THE FISHING.

How an Aged Angler Lost a Beautiful Twenty-Pound Bass.

An old man with a great deal of straw hat and perseverance was fishing from a wharf near the foot of Fourteenth street a day or two ago when a boy came along and asked the usual question about luck.

"Nun yer bizness!" growled the old man. "You jest canter right away from here! I never git sot down to fish that somebody don't come along to spile my luck!"

The boy moved off a few feet and leaned against a timber, to whittle a stick, and it wasn't five minutes before some careless action on his part landed him in the water with a great splash. He hung to a pile and yelled, and the old man got a long stick and pulled him up, but the lad had only reached the wharf when he was taken by the collar and a foot commenced to play on him, and the old man shouted:

"Take that—and that—and that! There was a bass weighing over twenty pounds just opening his mouth to swallow my hook, and you skeert the life out of him! Take that—and git—and skip—and take that, and now there comes an infernal old steamboat and I'll lick the captain or bust a lung."—Detroit Free Press.

A SUDDEN UPRISING.

Mr. Wamples—Da's d' mos' fool-lookin' mewl I ebber seed. Doan' look lak he knowed nuffin'.

Mr. Fondley—Doan', doan' he? Yo' jess watch 'm. Want yo' dinner, Ephus? —Judge.

GOOD PRACTICE.

Jones—Why, Brown, what in the world are you doing?

Brown—My dear fellow, I'm going into business as an insurance agent, and I am developing my cheek.—Munsey's Weekly.

NOTED IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

THE German Emperor's new rules for wearing uniforms in the navy fill a book of forty pages.

A BELL cast recently for the Kharkow Cathedral contains sixty-eight per cent. of pure silver. It weighs 646 English pounds and its vibrations last several minutes.

THE arms of Italy have been altered on the National seal and flags. The two small flags are left out and the colors of l'Annonciad and several other orders are added.

A TRAVELER in Japan writes that the Japanese pay more attention to personal cleanliness than any other people in the world. High and low bathe all over at least once a day and sometimes oftener.

AS SOON as the horse-cars from Cairo to the pyramids are completed, and the work is nearly done, an elevator will be made to the tops of the venerable piles so that ascent may be made quickly and comfortably to the modern traveler.

THERE has just been finished and placed in the cathedral of Charkov, Russia, a clock of solid silver, weighing six hundred pounds. It is in memory of the Czar's escape from death in the railroad accident at Borki, and is so arranged that upon October 17 in each year—the anniversary of that event—it will ring a peal of bells.

THE largest room in the world, under one roof and unbroken by pillars, is at St. Petersburg; it is six hundred and twenty feet long by one hundred and fifty in breadth; by daylight it is used for military displays, and a battalion can completely maneuver in it; twenty thousand wax tapers are required to light it; the roof of this building is a single arch of iron.

THERE is an interesting scheme for establishing a floating hotel at Hong Kong. The vessel is to have three decks, the lower being arranged for dining, billiard, smoking and card rooms. The main deck will contain a drawing-room, twenty-one bedrooms, each with a full-sized bath and dressing-room, while the upper, or spar deck, has been arranged as a promenade.

THE owners of all cabs in Paris have been notified to supply their vehicles with counters before April 1 next. The counter is to indicate at every moment the distance trave led, the hour and the amount due. When the cab is in motion the fare will increase in proportion to the distance gone over, and when the vehicle is standing still it will rise as if the cab were traveling eight kilometers an hour.

A PHENOMENON is reported from Toth-Aradacz, in Hungary, where an aerolite of eighty pounds weight is said to have fallen with such force that it opened a spring of water in the earth. As the neighborhood was badly supplied with water the inhabitants are talking of the occurrence as providential. The aerolite has been purchased for £200 by an Anglo-Australian, who has a collection of such things, and who happened to be the guest of Count Harnoncourt, whose seat is near Toth-Aradacz.

CHINA is spending this year about $5,000,000 in the effort to regulate its wayward river, the Hoang Ho, which has recently caused such terrible loss of life and property. A part of its waters are to be permanently diverted into the Tuhai, a river north of the Hoang Ho and almost most parallel with it. Dams are also to be built to hold back a part of the waters at flood, and the stone walls will be rebuilt along the banks to confine the stream. The ingenuity of man has not yet devised effective protection against this most troublesome of rivers, and when the remedy is found it will probably cost a colossal sum of money to apply it. The Governor of Shantung reports that he needs in his province alone at least $5,000,000 to prevent the recurrence of the floods.

SCIENCE WITH A RELISH.

THE new observatory near Tananarivo, Madagascar, will be one of the highest in the world, as the site chosen is about 4,400 feet above sea level.

QUATREFAGES reckons up at least one hundred and seventy-two races of men, all, however, reducible to the three fundamental, black, yellow and white, stems.

A PAPER of Finland mentions a curious stone that serves as a barometer in the Northern part of that country. It is called "Ilmakiur," and turns black, or dark gray, when foul weather is approaching, becoming almost white in fine weather.

AN explorer who has been collecting specimens from the sea bottom, and also watching the habits of marine animals, says that artists are wrong in representing divers as walking upright, as his experience shows that it is necessary to walk with the body inclined forward at an angle of forty-five degrees.

A WELL-KNOWN scientific man in England has lately given an order to a dealer for a hundred specimens of the electrical eel, for the purpose of closely studying the singular power possessed by these creatures. Hitherto this has not been investigated so far as to determine positively what is the nature of the marvelous emanation that has generally been accepted as electricity.

DR. KONIGSTEIN, while giving directions in his class of the uses and proscribing of spectacles, said that green glass as a protection against strong rays was worse than useless, and did more harm to a sensitive eye than good, as they allowed the yellow rays to be transmitted and unnecessarily irritate the eye. As a protection against strong rays, the blue or smoked glasses were the only protection.

MR. SYDNEY J. HICKSON, an English naturalist who has spent some time on the island of Celebes, has made some extensive observations of the corals of the Malay Archipelago. In regard to the food of corals, he is inclined to the belief that many of them may be vegetable feeders. No doubt the water in the vicinity of mangrove swamps is full of the debris of leaves and wood, which, sinking to the bottom, must enter the mouths of the coral animals. It is suggested that this may explain the vigorous growths often seen near extensive swamps.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,

12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,

Invites especial attention to his stock of

Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.

In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under

WATERPROOF SHEDS.

Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in

Pianos & Organs.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following

Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-26-

Geo. H. Fairchild,

[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD,]

Furniture & Bedding,

21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.

Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom

FURNITURE,

Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At G. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY

B. T. Barnes'

Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.

Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.

OFFICE—With Adams Express, 38 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Elecrtic Light Station.
13-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-25-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER.
5-15-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLEN,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 18 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 102. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 8-9-tf

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR

Gasolene Stoves,

ALL SIZES.

Refrigerators & Freezers,

Horse Sheets and Nets.

$90.00 for $65.00.

THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.

The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!

SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S

This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.

Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.

L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
5-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-7

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician, 13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE Gold and Silver Watches, Diamonds, Jewelry and Silverware. Don't forget the number.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.

Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUZZEROWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Lunch of Free Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway, 7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.33 A. M. | train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | do | 9.33 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.17 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.24 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.06 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.36 | P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.20 | do; |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.03 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.52, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 6.30, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-1 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 24 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 57 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3.12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 8 03, 8 52, 11 02, 11 36 A. M., 12 35, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 03, 8 52, 11 02, 11 36 A. M., 12 35, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 30, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 30, 6 38, 7 09, 7 12, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—8 45, 8 13, 9 45, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 36, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday 2 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—8 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 05, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 39 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 39 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton, 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 9 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 03 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 20, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 1 59*, 2 32*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 39*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 39* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58*, a. m., 1 59*, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 30*, 9 50, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 20, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 9 45, 12 p. m Sundays—9 a. m., 12 00, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 10, 8 30*, 11 05, a. m. 12 53, 3 30, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 9 39 a. m., 12 52, 3 20, 6 15, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 30, 4 09,7*, 9*, 9*, 10 10, 11 55 a.m. 1 28, 2 10, 3 40*, 5 38, 6 39, 8 47, 10 p. m. Sundays—1 30, 4 09, 9 55 a.m. 1 28, 4, 5 55, 7, 8 47 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, Gen. Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass Agent.

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.
Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.
Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.
If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.
I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Lucky yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-24

CHIEFS CONFERRING

Powderly and His Associates Call Upon Webb.

A COMPROMISE MAY RESULT.

The Conference Will Decide the Future Action of the Strikers.

The Usual Declarations Made on Both Sides—Albany Knights Issue a Proclamation—Syracuse Ready to Handle Freight—Excitement Over the Killing of Two Pinkerton Men.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The situation of affairs in the New York Central Railroad strike was much the same today as on the day before. One side had won the battle, the other had victory in its hands, and both were correspondingly happy.

The presence of Mr. Powderly and the Executive Board in the city has had a good effect on the strikers, and loud claims are now made that the Knights will win or a big strike will follow. All are anxiously awaiting the result of Mr. Powderly's interview with Mr. Webb.

Those who claim to know say that a compromise will be arrived at which will be satisfactory to both parties and which cannot be looked at in the light of a backdown for either side.

It is hinted that Mr Webb is more favorably disposed for an amicable settlement than at first, and that the determined stand the company took regarding the men whom it is sought to have reinstated can be bridged over in such a way that no concession will appear to be made.

In any event the ordering of an extension of the strike on the entire Vanderbilt system is looked upon as a very remote contingency.

ANOTHER PROCLAMATION.

Albany Strikers Think the Situation is Extremely Encouraging.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Last night the strikers again issued a proclamation. It read as follows:

"The situation is still improving. Reports from all points indicate that the greatest enthusiasm prevails. Large meetings are being held at all points. Public opinion is increasing in our favor and offers of financial assistance are pouring in from all sides, which tends to make the situation extremely encouraging."

A monster mass meeting was held last night at the Lark street rink by the strikers, and the utmost enthusiasm was displayed. There were many speakers and all were cheered to the echo.

The general opinion here is that the strike is over and the men are simply keeping up appearances.

The Situation at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The situation here in the strike is this: The Central road has moved freight quite rapidly all day and while it was heavily guarded there was no appearance of opposition. The road is fast getting down to business and the West Albany yard has begun to look lively. One hundred new Pinkerton men, uniformed in blue suits, have just arrived. On the part of the strikers everything was quiet, but they still insist that the strike has only just begun and there will be other developments soon.

Syracuse Ready for Freight.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The local authorities of the New York Central road announce that they are prepared to receive consignments of freight for all eastern points, except New York city. This announcement is the most important item of news with regard to the strike. It is now nearly a week since any through freight has left this city for the east.

Two Pinkerton Detectives Killed.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—There was great excitement here when the news got out that two of the Pinkerton detectives at West Albany met a horrible death. They were aiding in getting out some freight cars when one of the engines backed down the cars upon them. Both men were caught by the bumpers and killed.

Eva Hamilton's Trunks.

MAT'S LANDING, N. J., Aug. 16.—Sheriff Smith E. Johnson, of Atlantic county, sent to Mrs. Robert Ray Hamilton, at the State Prison, her three large Saratoga trunks, which have been stored in the little attic cell of the prison here since Mrs. Hamilton stabbed Nurse Donnelly. The three weigh five hundred pounds and are filled with handsome and costly dresses, etc. This ends the famous Hamilton case in Atlantic County.

Report Against the World's Fair Site.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Captain W. L. Marshall, U. S. A., who is in charge of the river and harbor improvements about Chicago, says it is impossible to fill in the area proposed in the inner harbor, in time for the World's Fair. He also stated that the scheme of piling and planking it over would not do at all.

A Strike Declared Off.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 16.—The strike at the Hathaway, Soule & Harrington shoe factory has been declared off by New Bedford Union 103. Some of the strikers will apply for their old positions; others will seek work elsewhere.

No Paper Money for Buenos Ayres.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—A Buenos Ayres despatch states that at a meeting of Parliamentary Committee the Minister of Finance announced that the Government would not authorize any new issue of paper money.

DESERTED HIS BRIDE.

The Husband Starts on a Wedding Tour Alone After Stealing $3,000.

PINE GROVE, Pa., Aug. 16.—A marriage was solemnized here last evening which aroused the interest of the whole community in no ordinary degree. The interest was intensified when it was learned that the husband had started on his wedding tour abruptly and alone, taking a large sum of the bride's money with him, and that another lady, claiming to be the fugitive's wife, had arrived here just too late to intercept him.

Eight months ago a handsome stranger came to Pine Grove, hired a room and hung out a gorgeous sign with the inscription "James Van Nostrand, Dentist." He was a constant attendant at church and became a social favorite, many young ladies vieing with one another to secure him as an escort.

The prize (such as it was) was captured by Mrs. Rushbrook, a handsome widow of 25 years with a comfortable bank account. They were married last evening by Rev. Walter MacKinnon. The bride's residence was brilliantly decorated and illuminated for the occasion.

After dinner the couple began to make preparations to take the midnight express for Elmira, where a week was to be spent prior to a European trip. Van Nostraud, who was apparently in the happiest mood, begged the bride to excuse him while he went to the depot to arrange for the tickets, etc. With many loving injunctions to hurry back, he left the house and was seen no more. He carried with him, she says, $3,000 in cash which she gave him a few hours before the marriage to bear the expense of a three months' trip.

A further surprise was the announcement that the fugitive had already a wife and boy six years of age living in Pittsburg. Through some mysterious means wife No. 1 discovered his whereabouts and arrived here in the morning in search of her truant husband. Van Nostrand at the last moment, it is said, heard that his wife was on her way East, and it was this that caused his hurried departure.

A GLASSWARE TRUST.

Thirty-One of the Forty-Four Factories Join the Combination.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 16.—It is stated on reliable authority that the preliminaries for the formation of the tableware glass factory combine, in which a wealthy syndicate is interested, have been closed in this city within the past forty-eight hours.

Negotiations have been pending for several months, and it is now stated that thirty-one of the fifty-four factories in this country have joined the combination. Among the number are all leading factories of Pittsburg, together with extensive plants in Ohio and West Virginia.

A Brave Woman.

TRENTON, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Lillie Brown, formerly of this city, but now residing at Brown's Mills, a summer resort in the pines of Burlington County, has become a heroine by a brave act. She heard screams proceeding from the cabin of a man having an unsavory reputation and, procuring a revolver, forced her way into the cabin, where she found a man brutally maltreating a little girl. Mrs. Brown pointed her revolver at the man's head and compelled him to release the child. The brutal fellow made his escape by jumping out of a window.

A Railroad Superintendent Found Dead.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 16.—A special from Crestline, Ohio, says: J. J. Kirkland, a prominent Knight of Honor, and superintendent of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway carpenter shops here, has been found dead, face downward in about eight inches of water. His watch and money are missing and the indications point to foul play.

Tobacco Crop Badly Damaged.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 16.—The hail storm did great damage to the tobacco crop, which is just ripe and unusually fine. Many acres of the crop in the southern part of the county were completely ruined, being cut to pieces. The loss will be very large. This is the second hail storm in this county during the present week.

Dixon and Murphy to Fight.

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—George Dixon, the colored bantam weight, and little Johnny Murphy, have been matched to fight for a purse and an outside bet of $1,500 a side. They will fight with two ounce gloves, Queensberry rules, at a point within 200 miles of Boston, on October 8.

A Well Known Baltimorean's Suicide.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 16.—Mr. J. Harry Ward, a well known member of the Corn and Flour Exchange, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been suffering from melancholia. He was 48 years old and unmarried.

Sunol and Palo Alto Entered.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—Sunol and Palo Alto, the celebrated trotters, are entered for the Belmont Park races, this city, on Sept. 4. Sunol will trot against Maud S's record, 2:08¾, and Palo Alto will go against the stallion record of 2:12.

Emin Pasha's Last Letter.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—A letter has just been received here from Emin Pasha in which he denies that he bound himself to Germany after promising to assist England. He declares that he is under obligations to no one, and that he is marching into the interior of Africa simply as an adventurer.

Cholera in Cairo.

CAIRO, Aug. 16.—Three cases of cholera have been reported by the health authories here, one of which was fatal. The appearance of the disease has created great excitement and many persons are preparing to make their departure.

WRECKERS AT WORK

Ties Placed on the Baltimore and Ohio Tracks.

OVER 200 LIVES IMPERILLED.

Two Engineers and an Unknown Tramp Instantly Killed.

Four Pullman Coaches Rolled Down an Embankment—A Crash on the Michigan Central—The Engine Exploded Blowing the Fireman to Pieces—The Engineer Killed and Several Passengers Injured.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 16.—As the eastbound North Shore limited express on the Michigan Central Railroad was passing Augusta, a small town nine miles west of here last evening, it ran into a standing freight train while going at full speed, and crashed through the depot building, completely demolishing it.

The engine exploded, blowing the firemen literally to pieces, and killing the engineer, Charles McRoberts. One brakeman is missing and it is thought he is buried in the debris. Many occupants of the forward coaches were seriously injured and others more or less hurt.

The railroad officials have little to say on the subject, and made every effort to belittle the accident. It was at first supposed that seventeen people were killed, but the latest reports confirm the facts herein related.

WORK OF WRECKERS.

A Very Narrow Escape from a Terrible Disaster.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 16.—The Baltimore & Ohio express train for Philadelphia and Baltimore was wrecked near Osceola, eighteen miles east of here, at 10:30 p. m., under sensational circumstances. Several heavy ties were piled on the track just beyond a sharp curve, and the engineer could not see the obstruction until the engine was only a few yards distant—too late to stop.

The train was running fifty miles an hour. There was a terrible crash as the engine was thrown from the track like a toy. "Yank" Sullivan, the engineer, was instantly killed, as was also another engineer of the road who was riding with him. The body of another man, supposed to be a tramp, was taken from the wreck. Eleven passenger coaches were thrown from the track and four Pullman coaches rolled down a twenty-foot embankment. None of the passengers were killed, and so far as known no one was more than slightly injured.

The accident caused intense excitement in railroad circles. There is no trouble among the employes of the Baltimore & Ohio, and just what object the train wreckers could have is a mystery. It was a very narrow escape from a terrible disaster. The company is making a rigid investigation.

The following is a correct list of the killed: E. J. Sullivan, engineer, Glenwood, Pa.; David Goodwin, engineer, Connellsville, Pa., and an unknown tram.

There were 250 excursionists aboard the train en route for Atlantic City. Several suspicious looking characters were seen in the neighborhood, and they are supposed to have caused the wreck for purposes of robbery.

THE WALES STRIKE.

The Trouble Not Yet Settled and the Workmen Very Incensed.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—A serious hitch has arisen in the negotiations between the striking workmen in Wales and their employers, greatly impairing the prospects of a speedy termination of the difficulties. The men submitted to the companies a scheme of settlement which the latter promised to consider.

It was believed that the agreement would be accepted, but the companies after considering the matter have substituted a form of agreement differing in every important particular from the one framed by the men.

The men are greatly incensed and threaten a general strike on Monday which will involve a large number of workmen not hitherto included in the struggle. It is thought that the result of the fight will be the placing of wages on a sliding scale.

Ireland Fears a Famine.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—From all along the west coast of Ireland the most discouraging intelligence is received regarding the potato crop. Grave fears are entertained that the country is about to be visited by a terrible famine, when the heart-rendering scenes of 1848 and 1849 may be repeated. In the Gweedore district on the northwest coast, the yield is already regarded as hopelessly lost. The Westport "Guardian" says that the reports from Achill, or Eagle Island, off the west coast, are worse than those received up to the same period of 1879.

Wage-Earners Paid Weekly.

ALBANY, Aug. 16.—Factory Inspector Connolly has sent to corporations in this State about 5,000 blanks containing questions relating to the Weekly Payment law. A majority of these have been returned, and from the answers given, Factory Inspector Connolly is satisfied that the law is being generally complied with. The reports in hand show that over 250,000 wage-earners employed by these 5,000 companies, who were formerly paid monthly or semi-monthly, are now paid weekly.

Grain Destroyed by Fire.

NORWICH, Conn., Aug. 16.—Fire destroyed A. A. Beckwith's flour and feed mill store on Water street last evening. There were 30,000 bushels of corn and oats and about thirty tons of hay in the building. Loss about $33,000; insurance $11,000.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —0 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 7 | 4 | x | —15 |

Batteries—Hecker and Decker; Beatin and Zimmer.

AT CINCINNATI.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 2 | —9 |
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | —2 |

Batteries—Hutchinson and Kittridge; Mullane and Harrington.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —4 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —4 |

Batteries—Nichols and Ganzel; Terry and Clark.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —3 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —2 |

Batteries—Welch and Clarke; Smith and Clements.

Players' League

AT CHICAGO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | —3 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —1 |

Batteries—Baldwin and Boyle; Maul and Quinn.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 6 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —7 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | —3 |

Batteries—Radbourn and Kelly; Buffinton and Milligan.

AT CLEVELAND.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —2 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 5 | 2 | 0 | 0 | x | —11 |

Batteries—Bakely and Sutcliffe; Twitchell and Mack.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —5 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 | —4 |

Batteries—Ewing and Ewing; Sowders and Kinslow.

American Association.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 0 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 3 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —14 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 3 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | —11 |

Batteries—Cushman and Sage; Murphy and Bowers.

AT COLUMBUS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbus | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —2 |
| Syracuse | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | x | —5 |

Batteries—Knauss and Doyle; Casey and Burke.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 0 | 0 | 2 | 5 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | —12 |
| Wilmington | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —1 |

Batteries—Gilliland and Hofford; Anderson and Williams.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 4 | —8 |
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | —3 |

Batteries—German and Townsend; Gamble and Sommers.

AT HARTFORD.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hartford | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —1 |
| Newark | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —5 |

Batteries—O'Brien and Moore; Fitzgerald and Childs.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | 1,874 | 3,901 |
| New York | 3,069 | 756 |
| Cleveland | 838 | 850 |
| Cincinnati | ..... | 2,600 |
| Chicago | 1,912 | ..... |
| Totals | 8,293 | 7,907 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 52 | 32 | .619 | Chicago | 50 | 45 | .526 |
| Philadel. | 58 | 37 | .611 | N. York | 42 | 53 | .442 |
| Boston | 60 | 39 | .625 | Pittsb'g | 41 | 55 | .427 |
| Cincin'ti | 57 | 37 | .606 | Pittsb'rg | 20 | 73 | .215 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 55 | 37 | .598 | Philadel. | 51 | 45 | .531 |
| Brookl'n | 55 | 44 | .556 | Pittsb'rg | 46 | 48 | .455 |
| Chicago | 54 | 42 | .563 | Cleve'l'd | 40 | 51 | .440 |
| N. York | 52 | 42 | .553 | Buffalo | 25 | 64 | .289 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lou'v'le | 58 | 31 | .652 | Col'mb's | 45 | 45 | .500 |
| St Louis | 53 | 38 | .582 | Toledo | 43 | 49 | .500 |
| Athletic | 47 | 42 | .528 | Syracuse | 40 | 52 | .435 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 42 | .517 | Brookl'n | 27 | 63 | .300 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 69 | 23 | .750 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | 447 |
| N. Hav'n | 52 | 24 | .724 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 55 | .392 |
| Newark | 49 | 38 | .563 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 57 | .337 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 49 | .500 | Hartford | 22 | 60 | .268 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Boston, at Boston.
Philadelphia vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Chicago.
Cleveland vs. Cincinnati, at Cincinnati.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Boston vs. New York, at New York.
Brooklyn vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Pittsburg, at Pittsburg.
Chicago vs. Buffalo, at Buffalo.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Brooklyn, at Toledo.
Columbus vs. Syracuse, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Rochester, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Athletics, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Baltimore vs. Harrisburg, at Baltimore.
Wilmington vs. New Haven, at Wilmington.

The Mine Fire Still Raging.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 16.—A dispatch from Scottdale, Pa., says fire is still raging in the Hill Farm Mine, where the fire damp explosion occurred a short time ago and killed 31 men. The mine was opened on Wednesday for the first time in five weeks, and the fire damp was so dense as to make entrance impossible. Two large fans have been erected, which will be kept in constant operation until the fire is extinguished. It is estimated that the fire has already done $100,000 worth of damage.

Beat His Skull to a Jelly.

HAZELTON, Pa. Aug. 16.—Anthony Surman, keeper of a low groggery here, became engaged in a quarrel with a crowd of Poles in this place last night. He ejected Andro Martoni, who bombarded the place with stones. Surman seized a club and beat him into insensibility. While thus engaged he was joined by Joeseph Mattis and the two beat the man's skull to a jelly with stones. Martoni will die. His assailants were jailed.

A Lodge Officer Disappears.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Albert E. Waters, recently elected financier of Salt Spring Lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen, has disappeared, taking with him, it is believed, $1,100 of the funds of the order.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

The Anti-Lottery Bill in the House To-Day.

PREPARING FOR THE BATTLE.

The Louisiana Company Gathering Its Forces to Fight the Measure.

Congressmen Hurrying to the Capital to Vote on the Bill—A Call Issued to the Women of the World—The Usual Courtesies to be Extended to the Comte de Paris.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—It is expected that the House will take up the Anti-Lottery bill this afternoon.

Several absent members have wired that they will arrive in time to vote for the measure

The question of consideration is the only one, it is believed, that can in any way delay the adoption of the bill, though the measure will very likely be amended. It is expected that the bill will command an affirmative vote of at least three-fourths of the House.

While the members of Congress are hastening back to vote upon the bill, the Louisiana Lottery Company is not only gathering its forces for the final battle, but its agency in this city is a perfect bee-hive of industry.

Circulars have been mailed to members and a strong lobby is at work to fight the bill at every stage.

To the Women of the World.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Charlotte Smith, president of the Woman's National Industrial League of America, has issued a call to the women of the civilized world, inviting them to attend the Woman's International Industrial Congress, to meet at Chicago during the quadrc-centennial celebration in 1893. This congress is intended to consider problems of woman's advancement in connection with the Woman's Industrial Department of the World's Fair, which the league is working to establish.

Courtesies to Comte de Paris.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Acting Secretary Spaulding has written a letter to Secretary Blaine, in answer to the latter's communication, in which he says that the Collector of Customs at New York has been instructed to show the Comte de Paris and his son, on their arrival in this country, the usual courtesies and to facilitate the passage of their personal baggage.

Watching for Smuggled Opium.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The Custom House authorities at St. Louis are on the watch for a heavy consignment of opium recently smuggled into the country, and which has been traced to Kansas City, from there to St. Joe, and is believed to be in this neighborhood, though it may have been sent to Chicago. The opium was shipped in tea caddies and amounts to 2,000 pounds.

Important Naval Changes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 16.—It is reported in naval circles that Admiral Walker had been ordered to Washington to take the presidency of a naval board of inquiry, and that Rear-Admiral Harmony has been ordered to take charge of the Chicago and the squadron of evolution.

Population of Delaware.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The census office has completed the rough count of the State of Delaware. It shows the population to be 167,872, an increase since 1880 of 21,463, or 14.50 per cent.

READY TO QUIT.

Parliament Will be Prorogued on Monday The Queen's Speech.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—At last Parliament is to be prorogued. To accomplish this the expedient of the double meeting will be adopted on Monday. In the interval between the sessions on that day the Appropriation bill will be sent to the Lords, so that body can act upon and send it back in time for final action at the second session of the House.

Her Majesty's counselors are in conference with her at Windsor over the prorogation speech.

Mr. W. H. Smith has already left for Devonshire, and to-morrow he will start for the south of France, where Salisbury is staying under medical treatment.

In the meantime the opposition is not blind to the advantages given them by the absence of the Government leader of the House and the Premier, and have been preparing a broadside for the leaderless flock. Mr. Jennings is the gunner who will fire the artillery, and his guns are loaded with an array of facts showing how deliberately votes or credits in the Supply bill likely to excite controversy are relegated to the last days of the session and them rushed through a jaded House.

The Hartford Club Disbands.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 16.—The Hartford Baseball Club of the Atlantic League disbanded immediately after the game with the Newarks. President Lang, of the Hartfords, last night wired Secretary Braden to that effect. Mr. Lang wanted the players to finish the season taking their chances for salary from the gate, but this the players refused to do.

Waiting for Extradition Papers.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 16.—John C. Brosi, accused of forging his uncle's name in Pittsburg, Pa., was called up before Magistrate Bartlett and remanded for eight days to await the arrival of extradition papers. If these documents are not forthcoming at the expiration of that time Brosi will be discharged.

CLOSING SCENES.

The Woman's Relief Corps of the G. A. R. Hold a Camp Fire.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 16.—The closing evening of the encampment of the G. A. R. was devoted to a camp fire of the Woman's Relief Corps, held in Tremont Temple. The brilliantly decorated hall was filled by an enthusiastic audience. At 8:15 Governor Brackett and staff and Commander-in-Chief Veazey, of the G. A. R., entered the hall and were received with applause.

Mrs. E. Florence Barker, of Malden, who presided, after reviewing the history of the Woman's Relief Corps, introduced Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. Mrs. Howe recited the famous "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

An address was then made by Governor Brackett, who congratulated the corps on the excellent work performed by it. The Governor was followed by Mayor Hart, who made a brief speech praising the Woman's Relief Corps. Gen. Alger, Mrs. Alger, and Mrs. John A Logan entered the hall at this point and were loudly cheered.

Mrs. Annie Wittenmeyer was the next speaker and repeated the statistics and historical sketch of the work of that organization which she gave at the Presidential reception Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Mary E. Knowles then read a poem by Kate E. Sherwood, entitled "The Massachusetts Woman," dedicated to the Relief Corps, and in particular to Mrs. E. Florence Barker, Mrs. Sarah E. Fuller and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Turner, Mrs. Sherwood's first Massachusetts associates in National Relief Corps work.

Gen. Alger warmly praised the work of the W. R. C., which, he said, was the noblest work under heaven. He was followed by General Sherman, who spoke but briefly.

Corporal Tanner paid a high tribute to the women of the country, and their influence over its affairs.

Behring Sea Negotiations.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—In the House of Commons last night Mr. A. Stanley Hill asked the Government to state the position of the Behring Sea negotiations. Sir James Ferguson said that Lord Salisbury's final reply could not be tabled until it had been presented, and cables from Mr. Blaine intimated that this had been done. Lord Salisbury's action was directed to the establishment of a close time for seals, and to prevent further seizure of British vessels and secure compensation for the seizures made.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The peach crop in Southern New Jersey has been declared a disastrous failure, and the farmers are greatly discouraged.

Mrs. Mary Burke, mother of ex-Congressman Patrick A. Collins, died during the morning at her residence in South Boston, Mass., aged 75

The United Carpenters' Council of Chicago held a meeting last night and decided to call out on a strike all union carpenters Sept. 1. Probably 8,000 men will quit work on that date.

Dr. Chas. Steele Thomson, who died at the residence of his son-in-law, Postmaster Kinney, of Hartford, Conn., was 90 years old and was the oldest living graduate of Yale Medical College.

Michael Carroll and John McElroy, the two men who were injured in the Kendal Manufacturing Company's explosion at Providence, died during the night of their injuries. The eight boys injured are doing well.

A Madrid dispatch says the cholera is nearly extinct in Badajoss. There are still a few cases in Alicante and Valencia. At the latter place two deaths have occurred in the prison, which institution contains 1,500 convicts.

Deverell & Hall, manufacturers of cassimeres, etc., at Rhodale, Mass., have made an assignment to Aaron Shaw of Montville, Conn. The mill will shut down after running out the stock on hand. The firm employed about 100 hands.

Vito Gialella, who, on July 4, shot Thomas Wilson, of Buffalo, N. Y., and then escaped to Canada, was captured in Buffalo in the morning while drawing money from a bank. He was arraigned on a charge of assault and admitted to bail.

Harris, Wolf & Davis drilled an oil well north of Findlay, Ohio, which is, without doubt, the greatest producer ever struck. It flowed over 1,000 barrels the first hour and up to 6 o'clock last evening the production was 6,340 barrels, the first flow beginning at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—For New England: Cooler; generally fair weather; northwesterly winds.

For Eastern New York and New Jersey: Cooler; generally fair weather; northerly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Fair; easterly winds shifting to southerly; stationary temperature, except in Southern Pennsylvania slightly cooler.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Money on call to-day, 6 and 7 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 105¾ | 105¾ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 103¾ | 103¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 123¾ | 123¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 123¾ | 123¾ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 83¼ | 83¼ |
| Central Pacific | — | — |
| Chicago Bur. & Quincy | 103¼ | 103¼ |
| Delaware & Hudson | — | 164¾ |
| Del., Lack. & W | — | 146 |
| Erie | 28 | 28¼ |
| Erie preferred | — | — |
| Lake Shore | 107¼ | 108 |
| Louis. & Nash | 83¾ | 83¾ |
| Michigan Central | — | — |
| Missouri Pacific | 70 | 71¾ |
| New Jersey Central | 123¼ | 123¾ |
| Northwestern | 110¾ | 110¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | 100¾ | 100 |
| Pacific Mail | 39 | 44¾ |
| Reading | 44 | 44¾ |
| Rock Island | 93¾ | 93¾ |
| St. Paul | 76¾ | 77¾ |
| Union Pacific | 59¾ | 60¾ |
| Western Union | 83 | 83¾ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh, for a Fireman's Parade, this Fall.

—The Reform Club will have an excursion to Mauch Chunk, Wednesday, Sept. 10. Fare for the round trip, $1.75.

—The altar in St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, has recently been repainted in an artistic manner, that adds greatly to its appearance.

—The Directors of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will hold their regular monthly meeting at Jackson & Codington's office next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

—There will be a special meeting of Gazelle Engine company, No. 1, held in their parlors on Thursday evening of next week, at 8 o'clock sharp. As business of importance is to be transacted a full attendance of the members is requested.

—The base ball players on the Young Arlingtons' team think the Young Chathams are afraid to play with them. The Arlingtons were on the grounds ready for a scheduled game yesterday, but the Chathams didn't appear, so the umpire gave the Arlingtons the game by the score of 9 to 0.

The People's Understanding of the Case.

THE PRESS has reason to believe that the regular monthly payment of $1,000 by the Water Works company to the city, was deferred in July with the full knowlege and tacit consent of Chairman Newhall of the Water Board, and upon the advice of John Kean, Jr., the principal security on the Company's bond.

Any association of the members of the Big 6 with the granting of the water franchise, or the carrying out of its contract, is but another sample of how low blackguards will stoop in their viciousness. The franchise was rushed through the Council of 1889 to prevent the Council of 1890 having a word to say in the matter. Messrs. Roberts, Smith, Hetfield and Spangenberg were not members of that Council, and Moffett and Gallup were only two in a body that hardly permitted them to even open their heads.

The glory of the whole scheme is therefore entirely Mr. Newhall's and Corporation Counsel Marsh's. The barking of all the dogs in town will not distract the people's understanding from the fact that Newhall and Marsh created the contract, and Councilmen Newhall, Rushmore and Dunham—the partisan Water Board—will be held responsible by the people for any faults or delays that may arise.

The only appearance of the Big 6 in the matter, the people remember, was their endeavor to save the city the $5,500 paid "Supervising" Engineer Hering—who has not been in Plainfield in almost two months. Mayor Male pledged his word he would not sign the contract appointing Hering, but he was "brought around." The people then had no redress except by means of a resolution to cancel the contract. Such a resolution was offered by Councilman Hetfield, and fought over at a meeting of the Council held on St. Patrick's day. It failed—Councilmen Dunham, Jenkins, Johnson, Newhall, Roberts and Rushmore voting to keep on paying Hering thousands of dollars for nothing.

That the Big 6 had any other voice or vote in the Water Works pie, is—as Councilman Spangenberg desires to be recording as saying—"a lie!"

Set "news" Copy and Had a Fit.

Lindsley Woolley, a type-setter employed in a Somerset street printing office, was seized with an epileptic fit while at work setting "copy" at his case this morning. He had exhibited no signs of illness during the morning, but suddenly exclaimed, "Oh, how bad I feel!" and fell writhing to the floor. Dr. J. H. Carman, when summoned, applied the usual remedies. The fit lasted three-quarters of an hour. When the young man had sufficiently recovered he was taken to his home in Westfield. Woolley had never before been subject to such attacks.

The Mortgage Discharged.

The Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, through Trustee Samuel Knox, appointed by the Chancellor of New Jersey on December 30, 1889, yesterday discharged the five-million-dollar mortgage given by the road to John C. Green and Moses Taylor of New York city, in trust. The mortgage was executed December 15, 1868, and recorded in the counties of Hudson, Middlesex, Hunterdon, Warren, Somerset and Union, through which the road and its branches run.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Ex-Councilman Stover is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidell of Netherwood, have been visiting at Rahway.

Miss Kate Weaver of Orchard place, is visiting friends at Flemington.

O. P. Gaston of this city, is visiting at New Brunswick, his former home.

Freeholder Vanderbeek and wife have gone to Newfoundland—New Jersey.

W. L. Titsworth and his son, Sidney, returned last evening from an outing at Lake Hopatcong.

Mrs. Prescott Vail, nee Miss Maggie Bird, is visiting Mrs. J. W. Johnson, of LaGrande avenue.

Miss Ella VanDerveer of New Brunswick, is visiting Miss Fannie Schomp of West Front street.

Ex-Councilman F. E. Marsh has returned from Delaware Water Gap to his home on Madison avenue.

Captain A. D. Holmes and family of East Fifth street, will be at the Windsor, Asbury Park, next week.

Forty seats in the dress circle of Music Hall, have been engaged for Cora Tanner's appearance, by the guests of Hotel Netherwood.

Charles Westervelt, who was struck with paralysis while at work, Thursday of last week, is able to be out again and is slowly recovering the use of his hands.

The pedestrian party of lads that started yesterday morning for Chimney Rock, reached there and home again in good shape. In addition to those whose names were published, should be mentioned Charley Angleman.

A telegram received this morning from Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Dunn and party, who left Plainfield last week Thursday for Fairhaven, Washington, announces their safe arrival at their destination on Thursday, August 14, after a journey of just one week.

Mr. and Mrs. Greensmith of Evona, have gone for a two weeks' visit to Massachusetts. They will centre at Fairhaven where they will be in the midst of their hosts of friends. Miss Mills who has been spending a few weeks with her cousin, Mrs. Greensmith, accompanies them.

Miss Mamie Miller, daughter of Mrs. John L. Livock of New York city, and granddaughter of Mrs. George Goodwin of Plainfield, sailed last evening for New London. From there she will take the cars for New Port, Vermont, where she will spend two weeks of her vacation with friends.

Ex-Councilman Goddard, formerly of this city, and now of Boston, stopped over in Plainfield for a few hours last night on his way to Cape May, where he will attend the National Convention of Central Station Electricians, next Tuesday. Mr. Goddard is a member of the Committee on Insurance rules, which Committee contemplates the adoption of National rules to govern the relations of fire insurance companies with the electric light and power systems, throughout the country.

Will Run Through Here at 70 Miles an Hour.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey is going to run an express train between New York and points South, that it is expected will lower all previous records between Jersey City and Philadelphia. The reduction of time is calculated on by using one engine between the two points, thereby avoiding the delay caused by changing at Bound Brook; by taking water by means of tender-scoops from troughs between the rails while in transit at Green Brook, and by increasing the speed of the train.

One hour and forty-two minutes is reckoned on for the run of 89 miles. Between this city and Elizabeth, where the track is smooth and level, a speed of 70 miles per hour will be made. Were it not for the long trestle across Newark Bay and the city grade crossings, the time would be cut down considerably more.

Opening the Season at Music Hall.

Cora Tanner declares that the character of Judith Orme in her new play "One Error," which will be seen here at Music Hall Wednesday evening, gives her opportunities that no other part ever did. Mr. Kidder, the author, superintended the preparations for the production, and there is a general belief that the season will be a most successful one.

Branching away from the strong main thread of the story—which is that of a young heiress who doubts the honesty of purpose of her admirers and so pretends to be poor, only to be trapped by an adventurer after all—are many side issues, notably that of the American girl in search of a title, which should prove entertaining. New gowns from Felix, of Paris, expensive and elaborate scenery, and a strong and competent cast, are among the other attractions promised.

Wear Your Waistcoat on Your Arm.

The most oppressive garment in hot weather, according to a fat man who has made more or less of a study of the way to resist the high temperature, is the waistcoat. During the intense heat of past days (?) waistcoats have been shed on all sides, but there are a few of them left, and they ought to go. It is by no means an unusual sight to see a man walk along the street with his coat over his arm, while he wears a heavy, cumbersome waistcoat strapped tightly around the body. He would find it cooler if he carried his waistcoat and kept his coat on.

TOO EAGER FOR THE CASH.

Preferred Legal Tender to Plainfield Checks, And Got in Trouble.

The business men of West Front street, in a state of mind because of rumors that a forger was in their midst, gathered in clusters on the sidewalks, last evening, left their stores unguarded, and wondered if they were being robbed, without their knowledge, by rascally bits of fraudulent paper.

The cause of the commotion was an enterprising commercial traveler who had managed to sell several bills of goods in Plainfield, during the afternoon, and who had secured immediate payment by either cash or check, for every sale. One of his customers was Joseph S. Cutter, grocer, of 25 West Front street, who gave the drummer a check for $26.40. The salesman asked that an insertion be made making it payable to E. A. Fowler & Co., the firm he represented, "or bearer." Mr. Cutter objected to the proposed alteration, and said he preferred to make his checks out for the parties whose names appeared as creditors on the bills the checks were to pay. The drummer demurred, but finally took the check as originally written. He had no sooner left the store, however, than he entered another, indorsed the check in the name of the firm, and sought to have it cashed. He urged that the signature on the check wouldn't be known outside of Plainfield, and he'd have trouble in getting it cashed in other towns where he was going. As it was after banking hours, he continued, he had no recourse but the tradesmen. He visited several stores, but was refused the favor of cashing until he called on W. W. Coriell, butcher, of 41 West Front street. Mr. Coriell was not so suspicious of the stranger, and readily cashed "his neighbor's" check. The drummer was profuse with his thanks, and bowed his way out.

Soon afterwards the suave commercial traveler returned, this time with a check bearing the signature of Sylvester Sharkey, grocer, of 68 West Third street.

"I want you to cash this too, my friend," he said. "I don't like to have the trouble of trying to get Plainfield checks cashed in other towns."

Mr. Coriell didn't like to see a man want too much of a good thing from one person, so he grumbled a little and said that he wasn't going to cash any more checks that day.

The drummer, however, was as persistent as Mr. Coriell was obdurate, and finally he told Mr. Coriell that if he'd only cash the check he'd pay him a percentage for the trouble. The offer made Mr. Coriell suspicious and angry. He sent for Mr. Cutter and asked if the signature on the check already cashed was genuine. Mr. Cutter said it was, but when it transpired that the drummer was in all probability not a member of the firm whose name he had written on the back of the check as an indorsement, Mr. Coriell demanded his money back. The drummer declined to return it and said that the check and signatures were all right and that Mr. Coriell would have no trouble in banking the paper. Mr. Coriell sent for a policeman, in a hurry, and Sergeant Lynch promptly responded. With the presence of a big policeman as an incentive the drummer returned to Mr. Coriell the cash for the check and received the check back again. Mr. Coriell threatened to have him arrested for forgery, and he talked loudly of locking up Mr. Coriell for "false imprisonment," though he hadn't yet been under arrest. Finally all parties simmered down, but as soon as the news of the affair spread groups of gossipers gathered on the street, and talked it all over for half an hour. The drummer left town in the evening, with the checks that he didn't want to carry away still uncashed, and muttering uncomplimentary things of Plainfield business men in general, and of one Plainfield business man in particular.

Sudden Death of Marshall Brown.

Marshall Brown, an aged and highly respected colored man, died suddenly, of heart trouble, at his home on Manning avenue, this morning at about 5 o'clock. Mr. Brown, who was acting as cook at Force's Hotel, on North avenue, was about starting from his home to attend to his daily duties, when he was suddenly taken ill. A physician was sent for, but before his arrival, some hours afterward, the sufferer was dead. Mr. Brown for a number of months kept a restaurant under the postoffice.

Death of Aaron B. Allen.

Aaron B. Allen, an old resident and highly respected citizen of North Plainfield, died at his home on Race street, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Allen was a native of Scotch Plains, and was seventy-seven years of age. He left two daughters, both married. One lives at Ithaca, N. Y., and the other is Mrs. Warren C. Squires of Harmony street, North Plainfield. He leaves also three sons. Amos, the eldest, resides at Westfield. Edward in North Plainfield, and Dervinia at Springfield.

Either Very Good or Very Bad.

Pitcher Heitzell is the only man with the Stars today, that played on the team when it defeated the Crescents in April. The other eight are new men, which means that the team is either loaded to win or scratched together to get the guarantee.

Imitation goods are gotten up for the ignorant and gullible. The persons able to read and write are not so easily fooled. They will insist that Hires' Root Beer is handed them, and nothing else "just as good." The best imitation is no good, and you know it.

Sold Again!

(From THE PRESS of Tuesday.)

There will be a phantom party Thursday night at The Netherwood.

(From the news of Friday.)

The phantom party at the Hotel Netherwood last night was a very enjoyable affair.

The joke of the above is, that after the notice published in THE PRESS the party was postponed until this evening and has not taken place yet.

Not This "Daily Press."

The Basking Ridge correspondent of the Bound Brook Chronicle says: "Mr. Mathieson has handed me a cutting from the Daily Press, and which runs as follows: 'L. Matherson, a prominent merchant and influential citizen of Basking Ridge, N. J., is at the Alaska.' Query: Who is he?"

A Prominent Priest Dead.

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 16.—The Rev. Father Michael J. McGivney is dead at Thomaston. He was born in this city 38 years ago, and was educated for the priesthood in Canada and Montreal. He was ordained in Baltimore by Archbishop Gibbons, Dec. 25, 1877. For seven years he was curate of St. Mary's Church, New Haven, and it was while he was there that he conceived the idea of the benevolent Catholic order of the Knights of Columbus. In 1882 the first council organized. To-day the order numbers 6,000.

The Morocco Workers' Strike.

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 16.—The morocco manufacturers have assumed a resolute attitude and have locked out the finishers. The men are as determined to enforce their resistance to a reduction of wages as the masters are to bring it about. It is believed that by Monday twenty-four factories and 1,500 men will be idle as a result of the trouble.

A Bomb for an Official.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—A dyamite bomb was exploded underneath the residence of Councillor Wiherris at Mons, Belgium. The building was much damaged and two of its occupants were slightly hurt, but fortunately there were no fatalities. It is supposed that the outrage was committed by Socialists who were exasperated at the action of the councilor during the late strikes.

A Popular Railroad Man Ill.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—Horace M. Porter, of the Reading Railroad's press bureau, is ill of typhoid fever at his home in this city. Mr. Porter is a son of Gen. Horace Porter of New York and is a general favorite in railroad and social circles.

Two Trains Collide.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 16.—An Erie passenger train ran into a freight train at Riverside, smashing six freight cars and an engine. F. E. Townsend, fireman of the passenger engine, was badly hurt while jumping off. No one else was hurt.

Strikers Sentenced to Prison.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The trial of the five striking cigarmakers who were recently arrested for doing picket duty terminated in conviction. Each was sentenced to one hundred days' imprisonment in the Albany County penitentiary.

A Girl Killed by an Explosion.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 16.—Theresa Leibner, aged 16 years, was instantly killed, and Frederick Spescht, aged 20 years, was fatally injured by the explosion of a centrifugal hydro-extractor in the cleansing room at the Tillit Silk Mills.

Restorative Wine.

If you are weak and suffering from general debility, you should use Speer's Port Grape Wine; it will purify your blood, restore digestion and make you feel like a younger person—in fact it makes you new blood. Speer's vineyards are planted on brown stone shale rock soil containing iron. There is over two miles of carriage drives under grape arbors in his vineyards. For sale by druggists.

NOTICE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J. August 12, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that Mathew Kilpatrick has applied to the Common Council of the city of Plainfield for a license to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors in quantities from one quart to five gallons, in the building occupied by him, situate at 79 West Sixth-st, in the Third Ward, which application is signed by

| | |
|---|---|
| Henry Proescher, | William Flatley |
| James Weston, | Peter Collins |
| Thomas Chamberlain, | Patrick Lynch |
| Henry Lutz, | W. Chamberlain. |

citizens and freeholders. All persons knowing any reason why such license should not be granted, are requested to make known the same in writing to the city clerk (at No. 7 Park-ave), on or before August 30, 1890.

Done in accordance with the requirements of an "Ordinance to license inns and taverns and to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors."

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

NOTICE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., August 12, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that Michael F. Watson has applied to the Common Council of the City of Plainfield for a license to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors in quantities from one quart to five gallons in the building owned by John C. Welch situated at No. 15 Grant-ave corner of South Second-st, in the Fourth Ward, which application is signed by

| | |
|---|---|
| William Ritter, | Mathew Kilpatrick, |
| Henry Kinglow, | Thomas Burke, |
| Daniel Hibbits, | Joseph Footeth, |
| John Randolph, | John Clyne, |
| | William Callahan, |

citizens and freeholders. All persons knowing of any reason why such license should not be grantee are requested to make known the same in writing to the City Clerk (at No. 7 Park-ave) on or before August 30, 1890.

Done in accordance with the requirements of an ordinance to license inns and taverns and to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors.

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

NOTICE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., August 12, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that August H. Krohne has applied to the Common Council of the City of Plainfield for a license to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors, in quantities from one quart to five gallons in the building owned by George D. Bremmer, situated on Stebbins place, between Second and Third streets, in the Fourth Ward, which application is signed by

| | |
|---|---|
| C. L. Sprich, | Samuel W. Baxter, |
| George Hartfelder, | William H. Kitchen |
| Andrew Zeiss, | P. Ward. |

citizens and freeholders. All persons knowing of any reason why such license should not be granted are requested to make known the same in writing to the City Clerk (at No. 7 Park-ave.) on or before August 30, 1890.

Done in accordance with the requirements of an "Ordinance to license inns and taverns and to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors."

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

A Penalty for Every Thistle Seed.

The law prohibiting citizens from permitting Canada thistles to go to seed on the lands they own or occupy seems to have been forgotten by the people. The plant is constantly increasing in the country, and the farmers are complaining that those having them on their lands do not cut or destroy them as they ought to and as the law directs. The law provides a penalty of 25 cents for each stalk or branch allowed to stand until the seeds get ripe. The prosecutor gets the fines.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of nasal catarrh, also "cold in the head," coryza and catarrhal headaches. 50 cents, by druggists.

REXWHEAT

Largest package, greatest usefulness of any cereal.
Equally delicious and wholesome in porridge and mush (hot, cold or fried), Gems, Griddle Cakes, etc.
Better than drugs as a hot weather tonic and regulator.
For young or old.
At leading grocers.
Wholesale by H. W. FRENCH. 5-24-6m-t,tas

C. C. BROWER & CO.,

Proprietors of the

New Club Stables,

WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.

Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.

Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Woman's Exchange

8 PARK AVENUE.

Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.

Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

CLAIRVOYANT.

By request of her many patrons, Mrs. DR. EDWARDS, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 13, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26. Will then leave positively. 8-14-6

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,

On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 13, 1890.

| | |
|---|---|
| Ball, Miss Mary D | Dabreslo, Nicoli |
| Clemishue, Mrs E | Ferringer, M B |
| Copp, Fred C | Hanaler, Ernest |
| Connelly, John | Kissger, Misses |
| Comer, Miss Mary | McClain, Mrs J |
| Coil, John | Nelson, L P |
| Tower, Miss Emma. | |

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:30, 9 40, A. M., 12:15, 2: 30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2: 40, 6: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 A. M., 4: 30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4: 30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9: 30 to 10: 30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6: 30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

DEATHS.

ALLEN—In North Plainfield, August 15, Aaron B. Allen, in his 77th year.

Funeral services to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from his late residence, No. 19 Race street.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

LOST—Between 5th street and station, pocket-book, containing money and jewelry. Finder will please communicate with PRESS office.

LOST—Between the depot and 36 Somerset street, a bundle containing lady's wearing apparel. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to City Mills. 8-16-tf

FIFTY Acres Good Pasture, with running streams, for horses and cattle. Apply Ellis Campbell. 8-14-eo-tf

BOARD WANTED—For gentleman, wife, and child, 10 years old. Address, X., PRESS office. 8-15 2

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms, to respectable colored family. Apply PRESS office. 8 12-tf

DRESSMAKING in all its branches; cutting and fitting by the McDowell system. Satisfaction guaranteed. Call at No. 6 West Second street. 8-12-6

LOT FOR SALE—Elegant building lot on Sanford avenue. Good investment. Apply E. G. Mulford, Broker. 8-11-6

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 8-11-tf

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 23c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Graulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEWAREST. 28 PARK AVENUE. 5-24-t

THE WARREN MISSION EXCURSION

FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1890,

To Asbury Park and Ocean Grove,

Stopping at Long Branch both ways.

Leave Dunellen, 7:45; Plainfield, 8 A. M. Returning, leave Asbury Park, 6 P. M.

Adult Tickets, $1 25.

Children, 5 to 12 years, 90 cts.

All baskets and parcels, properly marked with owner's name, will be in charge of a responsible person on the train, and will be delivered both ways, free of charge, to Ross' pavilion, Ocean Grove. 8-14-w

M. E. A.

MUSIC HALL.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 20.

Engagement of the Young American Star,

CORA TANNER,

Under the management of Col. Wm. E. Sinn in a new and original play, written expressly for her by Mr. Edward E. Kidder, entitled

"ONE ERROR."

Presented by an Elegant Company, and Elegant Parisian Costumes.

PRICES—35c., 50c., 75c., and $1.

Seats on sale Monday. 8-14-td

MOY.

8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S

EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue,

Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15-tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 5-5-y

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 5-5-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3 25-y

M. M. DUNHAM,

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

TRY OUR

Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.

HENRY LIEFKE

NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 5 1y-tf

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

46 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-3-y

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 6 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting. 3-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed, Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 58.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.

WHERE IS

The Crowd Going?

TO

PECK'S!

AS USUAL.

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.

Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons.
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-P." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

SELLING OUT CHEAP!

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.

1-9-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters.
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. — (Chotola Building), —Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-16-t

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,

A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

WASTE-BASKET STREETS MUST GO,

A Feminine Plan to Rout the Banana-Skin Fiend.

Some of Plainfield's best known women purpose organizing a "Ladies' Village Improvement Association" to promote neatness and order in the city and assist in whatever may tend to improve the town and to keep it in a healthy and healthful condition.

The scheme was suggested at a local social gathering several days ago by a housewife who had been reading of a similar organization at Green Cove Springs, a small town in Florida, and in discussing the plan it was considered a good idea to adopt some of the methods of the Green Cove organization.

The members have a villa of their own where visitors to the town are entertained with simple hospitality, and shown the workings of the scheme. The women keep a man constantly going about the streets with a wheelbarrow and picking up every bit of unsightly litter such as disgraces the thoroughfares of every city. Members of the society serve in turn in overseeing this functionary and pointing out to him the chance banana skins or carelessly-discarded waste paper which he may miss.

An important branch of the work of the association is the training which it gives to the children of the town. The young people have been organized into an auxiliary society, every member of which signs the following pledge:

I promise not to litter the streets with paper, fruit skins, or anything else that will make the place untidy; neither will I mutilate or deface fences, kill birds or rob their nests; and I will also use my influence to prevent others from doing so.

As a result of the young people's auxiliary the boys of Green Cove Springs no longer deface terraces or steal flowers or mutilate foliage. Even strangers, throwing banana skins into the extraordinarily neat streets, recognize the fact that the refuse is out of place and is marring beauty, and restore the primness of the thoroughfare by going back, picking up the discarded skins, and putting them in their pockets, in a spasm of shamefaced repentance, till they come to a locality where disorder reigns.

Two of the little band of women who are most enthusiastic in advocating the plan to give Plainfield such an institution, paused near the postoffice this morning and watched with considerable interest the passers-by thoughtlessly throw newspaper-wrappers and fruit-rinds into the gutters. Just then a wagon brimful and running over with all sorts of garbage passed in front of them. The negro driver kept urging his horse forward, utterly oblivious of the fact that at every jolt of the wheels soiled newspapers, tin cans and ashes were generously distributed along the street.

"What a chance for our wheelbarrow man!" one of the ladies exclaimed.

The cleanliness project will be given impetus at a meeting to be held within a few days. Some of the leading spirits in the movement express themselves as desirous of grappling with the street-sprinkling problem, avoiding both dust and mud and establishing a happy medium.

And Best of All is the Plainfield Club.

Plainfield cyclers say that the Official Handbook of the League of American Wheelmen for 1890 is a great improvement over those issued in former years. It is in size about four times as large and contains 125 pages, with much additional information, noticeably a complete table of wheeling records and a directory of wheel clubs in this country, with their membership. Sketches and photographs of the principal League officials and Chief Consul Bull of the New York State Division are given, as is also a list of consuls, hotels, and repair shops in the United States which give League members reduced rates, and of the railroads which transport bicycles free of charge.

The League of American Wheelmen consists of 500 clubs scattered throughout the United States, with a membership of 20,000. The largest wheeling club in the Union is the Chicago Cycling Club, with a roster of 320 members, while the membership of the other clubs varies from six to 225.

A Dissatisfied Cow Learns a Lesson.

A cow belonging to Wm. White, not content with grazing on the green pastures of which it was monarch, and covetous of the grass growing by the wayside along Giraud avenue, just beyond the fence restricting its roaming propensities, sought to climb the barrier separating it from the road, yesterday afternoon, but made a miscalculation and in a twinkling found itself balanced unpleasantly on top of the fence. For several minutes it struggled vigorously, but could not release itself from its predicament. Indeed, its posture was becoming more painful than ever when George Allen, a driver for J. B. Kline & Co., appeared like a good Samaritan and helped the cow down from the top of the fence into the now-welcome meadows which a moment before it had sought to forsake. The cow was considerably cut by the sharp edges on which it had been impaled, and is probably wiser for the experience.

Badly Bruised but not Broken.

John Wilson, an employe of the Scott Printing Machine company, met with a bad accident Wednesday and he is now laid up at his home on Greenbrook road. He was assisting in setting up one of the company's presses in Harlem, when the "track"—a very heavy piece of casting—fell on his ankle and terribly bruised and cut it. Fortunately no bones were broken.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Brief notices will be inserted under this head free of expense, but must be delivered at this office not later than eleven o'clock on Saturday morning to insure publication.

First Unitarian Society, Second place. The Rev. Hobart Clark, pastor. Services to-morrow at 10:30 A. M.

The service at the Memorial chapel at Washingtonville to-morrow evening, will be conducted by A. C. LaBoyteaux.

Mr. H. E. Needham will conduct the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday. The meeting will open at 4:15 and close at 5 P. M. sharp. All men welcome.

Warren Mission Sunday school to-morrow at 2:30 P. M. No evening service during August. Young People's meeting Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. All are invited.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis will preach at the First Presbyterian church to-morrow. The hours of service are 10:30 A. M. and 7:45 P. M.

The Rev. L. E. Livermore of New Market, will preach to-morrow at the Congregational church, where strangers are always welcome.

The masses in St. Mary's church to-morrow will be at 8:30, 9:45 and 10:45 A. M. Vespers will be held at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Services to-morrow in the Trinity Reformed church at 10:30 and 7:45. The pastor, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, will preach both morning and evening. A welcome to all.

Gospel Temperance Meetings at the W. C. T. U rooms, 73 West Front street, Sunday at 9:15 A. M. and 4 P. M., Saturday at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday at 4 P. M., to which all are welcome. The Sunday afternoon meeting will be led by the Rev. C. M. Rupe, of Franklin, Ohio.

Meetings in Reform Hall to-morrow at the usual hours of 9:15 A. M., in the basement parlor, and at 4 and 7:45 P. M., in the main auditorium, to which a cordial invitation is extended to everybody. In the the evening there will be platform addresses.

To-morrow two services will be held in the German Reformed church on Craig place, North Plainfield, at 10:30 A. M and at 8 o'clock in the evening. After the morning service, holy communion. Sunday school at 2:30 P. M. Weekly service Friday evening at eight o'clock.

Meetings to-morrow of the First church of Christ in Plainfield, in Amphion Hall, 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Morning theme: "Will the Second Coming of Christ be personal and visible?" Evening: "The Law of Christian Growth." Mr. Cleaver will (D. V.) speak at each service.

Not Good News for the Farmers.

(From the Elizabeth Journal.)

Farmers in the vicinity of Plainfield report legions of rabbits this year. Says the Plainfield Press—"They say that this game has not been so plentiful before in fifteen years, but don't let anybody get over-excited. Perhaps the report is set afloat to boom the powder and shot trust." It is doubtful if the farmers, however, really have given out this piece of news, for it means, to them, a perfect rush of dogs and guns, and innumerable trespasses and trespassers from November 1 to December 31. It means broken fences, trampled wheat fields, desolated orchards, the utter disregard of the signs "No hunting allowed on these premises," and it means a host of very mad farmers. No, we don't believe the farmers have given it out that there are legions of rabbits this year. If plenty of young rabbits are seen the farmers will either knock them over themselves on November 1, or will send for their friends and have a good hunt over their own fields.

Longed For the Western "Pe-raries."

During the Summer vacation the average school-boy throws grammar to the winds, and the Plainfield boy seems to be no exception to this rule of human nature. One youthful representative of the rising generation stood before a bill-board yesterday reveling in the glories of a flaming circus and Wild West poster. When he had feasted his imagination several minutes he fished a piece of soiled crayon from the depths of a pocket, voiced the longings of his heart by writing below a particularly lively picture the ungrammatical but expressive sentence, "This is me on a horse," sighed heavily and turned regretfully away.

Changes in City Realty.

The deeds of transfer of Plainfield real estate recorded in the County Clerk's office, yesterday, were:

Henry S. Moore of this city, to James Burkett of Rahway, two tracts of land on North side of Milton avenue, Rahway, 46x150 feet and 2,034 square feet, $3,500.

M. F. Marcley and wife of this city, to Aaron Keyser of this city, 26 835-1,000 acres of land on Broadway, Putnam avenue, Webster place and Hillside avenue, $20,000.

More Gas Than All Else.

(From the Newark Evening News.)

An investigating committee reports that the cost of lighting Plainfield and North Plainfield each year is $50,000. Of this sum $28,000 is for gas, $12,000 for electric lamps, $6,000 for kerosene, and $4,000 for gasolene. One-fourth of the expense is for public lighting.

We Only Whistled—To Keep Our Courage Up.

(From the Westfield Standard.)

Let us see—The Acmes "downed" the Crescents of Plainfield; and the Westfields of Westfield, "did up" the Acmes. Did we understand the Base Ball Editor of the Plainfield Press to say "Rats?"

You Can Bet on It.

If you would stop the vice of betting
In every city, realm and clime,
This maxim never be forgetting—
Just keep a good watch all the time.
To compass this to Collier's go
Ere tardiness your weal shall fetter,
And get a Waterbury, so
You'll have a watch, and find no better.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

A MODEL HOME.

It Is Artistic and Handsome and Can Be Built at the Moderate Cost of $2,250.

A beautiful model modern home which can be built for about $2,000 on cedar posts or about $2,250 on stone foundation is herewith presented.

This house is arranged to suit the most artistic taste, and every foot is used to the best advantage.

The size of the house is 32 feet across the front and 30 feet in depth; it contains eight rooms, including the reception hall, which is counted as a room owing to its spacious size. There is room in the attic for two good-sized rooms if the owner desires to finish them at any future time. All the rooms are of an honest size, as shown on plan. The kitchen is arranged so as to be closed off from the other part of the house by two doors, which do not admit of the disagreeable odor and noise, making balance of house very unpleasant. A clothes chute runs from bath-room and from kitchen to basement. The house will be piped for a furnace. The ceiling of first floor will be 10 feet and of the second 9 feet 6 inches clear. There will be two closets in dining-room, the smaller one for silverware and the larger one for china. There will be a balcony off from rear bedroom to permit the airing of bedding, which will be found a very good feature and will be appreciated by all good house-keepers. There will also be a balcony off parlor and a balcony off front chamber, which will have a door from chamber to balcony that will give good ventilation in very hot weather. The basement to be arranged for a laundry and cellar, which is reached by stairs from kitchen.

MODEL HOME.

First Floor Plan

The vestibule, reception hall, parlor and dining-room are to be finished in natural oak, filled and varnished, the balance of the house to be painted in parti colors. There is to be one high window in parlor with stained glass, and one high window in dining-room to have stained glass, both to have artistic designs costing two dollars per square foot. The vestibule doors will have small, beveled glass around one large piece of beveled glass, and the two windows between vestibule and parlor and between vestibule and den will have clear American glass that will give the vestibule a grand effect. There is a seat in one end of the den for any one who might seek a cozy nook, with a beautiful view of the fireplace and windows to the right and front. The fire-place in parlor is to be of a large size, with seats at ends. The fire-place in chambers will be of a small size, and all the fire-places will have tile hearths. The vestibule floor will be of blue tile, and the kitchen and the pantry floors will be maple, two and one-half-inch face stuff. There will be a sink in kitchen with two maple drip-boards, and the sink to be lined with white porcelain. G. A. W. KINTZ.

Second Floor Plan

CARE OF CHILDREN.

Some Things That All Mothers Should Know.

That over-feeding is the chief cause of cholera infantum and other forms of bowel complaint in young children.

That in summer it is often water, not milk, for which the child is crying, and that the stomach may already be dangerously burdened.

That while the natural appetite of the young is a pretty safe guide, so long as the diet is simple, rich pies and cakes and other highly-seasoned food tend to the habit of over-eating, and lay the foundation for future dyspepsia.

That the chief damage by smoking—and cigarettes are at least as bad as cigars—is done within the growing age, while the child is still under the influence of the mother, and that the harm is most serious upon that center of life, the heart.

That the chest is packed full with the lungs and heart, and room is gained for the inflation of the lungs only by a wonderful mechanism which lifts the ribs as the breath is inhaled, and that it greatly imperils health and life to bind down the chest, especially in growing girls, whether with corsets or tight dresses.

That the abdominal cavity is similarly packed with its organs; that the liver alone extends two-thirds across it, and that tight-lacing deeply furrows the liver, sometimes cutting it in two, a thin membrane alone connecting the parts; that the full stomach is thus often pushed up against a weakened heart, and the pelvic organs are so crowded as to produce serious and permanent ill effects.

That the lack of vitality in many children, by which they are rendered peculiarly susceptible to infectious diseases, is due to a deficiency of pure air in their sleeping-rooms.

That a child's brain is not in a condition for study before its seventh year, and that when a child is precocious there is special reason for holding it back, if it is to be saved from brain disease, future dullness, or possible imbecility.

That no growing child should fail to have at least nine or ten hours' sleep in a well ventilated room, and that no sleep is perfect with a light in the room.

That children under seventeen should not be allowed the excitements of evening parties.

That children, from the earliest practicable age, should be trained to habits of self-control in all directions.

That every mother ought to make it a prime object to secure and maintain the fullest confidence of her children and her normal influence over them.—Youths Companion.

FIRE-PLACE IN SUMMER.

How It May Be Adorned During the Summer Months.

The grate in the modern house may be made to fill economically the void left by the disappearance of the old-fashioned fire-place. Have a hammered brass facing, two inches in width, placed about the chimney opening before the insertion of the grate. If it is not easily afforded this bit of extravagance may be omitted and tiles inserted, or a plain brick facing, enameled a brilliant carmine, may be used. Between this border and the mantel, with its series of shelves (a pretty piece of furniture in itself), is a space of five inches, painted in clouded green, with touches of red. The hearth is of shaded green tiles, bordered with the pressed figures of old Egyptian or of Japanese style. The grate and fender may be then inserted, and when the evenings begin to grow cool the dancing firelight and brilliant clouds of sparks light not only the home of to-day but the visionary home of the SUMMER ADORNMENT OF FIREPLACE.

"Long Ago." Coal in grates is much more economical than wood in the old-fashioned fire-place, is much more cleanly, requires much less labor in replenishing and consumes much less fuel.

When "the perfect days of June" have come, then the grate and mantel may be made nooks of beauty and of art by the deft dressing of apt fingers in the use of floral treasures. Gather the generous bloom of the buff and blue iris, and the glossy leaves of the Japan quince, Japonica, or lilac shrub, and fill a stone vase or pitcher with a generous, wide-spreading bouquet. Remove the grate and fill the fire-place with growing ferns and other forest wildings in boxes or pots of rich wood's mold. Place picturesque vases at each side of the mantel support, and fill them with long trailing vines cut from the sweet-scented honeysuckles, wild clematis, or other easily-procurable specimens, and train the vines up and around the shelves above. A large bunch of pale-blue iris and delicately trailing smilax, with vases of the buff iris on either side, may stand on the shelves above and mingle with the glossy leaves of the Japonica beneath.

This is a combination for the earlier summer days, but, as summer deepens, the changes are rung with peonies and peach-bloom, apple blossoms or roses, and dog-wood bloom, syringas, locust and bridal wreath, coral-honeysuckles, catalpas, and lilies, each in its season, golden-rod and autumn leaves, brakes and ferns later on, and we come to regard our fire-place and mantel in the light of an artistic exponent of personal ability of the artist in creating a thing of beauty.—American Agriculturist.

A State of Single Blessedness.

"There is to be no more marriage in Louisiana."

"How's that?"

"Well, they've determined to have no more lotteries there, and marriage is a lottery, you know."—Munsey's Weekly.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889. 6-30-y

WASHBURN & ARLINGTON'S
NEW UNITED
MONSTER SHOWS.
Congress of Nations,
World's Fair,
Roman Hippodrome,
Egyptian Caravan,
Arabian Camel Train,
Moorish Encampment,
WILD WEST
AND WILD EAST.
Will Exhibit at CIRCUS GROUNDS,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
MONDAY, AUG. 18.

100 HANDSOME GREY HORSES.
100 WORLD RENOWNED PERFORMERS
A Beautiful Living Calliope
In the
Grand Street Parade,
Will fill the air with music from a steam organ, costing $10,000. 8-11-w

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; K-rosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St 8-

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-28-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware,
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 9-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-5-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.
Also, New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-19-y

ALLEN,
THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
22 EAST FRONT ST.

DON'T FORGET!
That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT 7 P. M.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street. 1-18-tf

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Door and Window Screens a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK 6-2-tf

G. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. 2 FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 8-17-tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
AND HIS
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
ALSO
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street. 6-16-to-sep1

--NO. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. EF-TRY THEM.

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Boycotting. 1-24-tf

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 A. M.; 1 to 8 P. M. H. HOMMEL, 26 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Prime, Tomkinson, Geo. W. Rockefeller and T. S. Armstrong. 6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—50 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal. 7-18-3m

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD.
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my30y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my30y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
84 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 137. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my30

DESIRABLE
Netherwood Building Sites
FOR SALE,
Apply to J. F. LOESER,
P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J. 7-16-m

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 9 P. M. 1-4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 192. 6-30-2m

J. B. STICKLE
21 East 5th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALITY. 6-30-105-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY. 4-4-3m

RELIGIOUS MATTERS.

WHAT A FRIEND.

"What a friend we have in Jesus,
All our sins and grief to bear,"
'Twas a little child that sang it,
And her young heart knew no care;
Bright the sunshine fell around her,
All the world to her seemed fair;
Little need felt she to carry
"Every thing to God in prayer."

"What a friend we have in Jesus"
Hummed a maiden soft and low,
Dreamy eyes looked on the distance,
And the smiles would come and go;
Not a cloud bedimmed the picture,
Naught dreamed she of grief and care,
On her brow no trace of sorrow,
Felt her heart no need for prayer.

"What a friend we have in Jesus,"
'Twas a woman worn with care,
Sang the words of blessed comfort.
"Take it to the Lord in prayer,"
Had she "trials and temptations"
Which no earthly friend could share?
She would seek that friend "so faithful,"
She would "find a solace there."

"What a friend we have in Jesus,"
Slow and tremulous the tone.
Now she seemed to walk the valley
Of the shadow all alone.
All her dear ones gone before her,
To that home so bright and fair,
But she trusted Him, who promised
That He would soon guide her there.

"What a friend we have in Jesus,"
All her work on earth is past,
She has reached the many mansions;
She has found her home at last;
And methinks if she could whisper
Help to us in time of care,
It would be these words of comfort:
"Take it to the Lord in prayer."
—Mrs. G. F. Ballard, in Christian at Work.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

What the Opening of Museums, Etc., on Sunday Really Means.

Blackstone, in his Commentaries, says: "A corruption of public morals usually follows a profanation of the Sabbath," and the student of history will be able to find abundant illustration in proof of this assertion. In 1793, when the French Assembly decreed the abolition of the weekly Sabbath, and appointed one day in ten as a day of rest, we witness a period of national frenzy during which the women of France became so degraded that they were accustomed to take their needlework and sit to witness the executions as a morning pastime. When the influence of England among the nations was at its lowest ebb, the Sabbath was desecrated by the publication of the "Book of Sports" for Sabbath revelries.

The specious plea of those who would have our museums, galleries, news rooms, public libraries, concert halls and exhibitions open on Sabbath, is that it would result in drawing the people away from the public house and demoralizing pursuits. But this is no argument for depriving the thousands of persons employed at these institutions of their day of rest. They, like the rest of the community, are entitled to the privilege of one day's rest in seven, in which to build up and recruit their physical and mental energies. The people who frequent public houses on Sabbath are, moreover, not the class of people who are thirsting for opportunities to spend their leisure in museums and galleries.

The Sabbath should be made, as far as possible, a day of absolute rest from labor, and for those who are not church and chapel-goers there are many ways of enjoying their day of rest without imposing Sabbath labor on others.

Then, in addition to the parks and promenades, there are numberless ways in which the irreligious sections of society can provide recreation for enjoyment in their own homes. There are books and newspapers for the tired toiler, the society of his wife and children, friends and acquaintances with whom he can spend the day. There is no need to be contriving schemes for attracting people from their homes; what is wanted is that men, as well as women, be induced to take a deeper interest in their homes, to keep them clean, and make them attractive and bright. As Dr. Guthrie says: "The whole tendency of the habit of visiting theaters, gardens, singing and dancing saloons, and, above all, cafes, is to weaken family relations, to blight the domestic virtues, to loosen the marriage ties, and by mutual neglect to promote mutual alienation."

Again, nothing can be more delusive than the supposition that the cry for the opening of museums on Sabbaths comes from the working people. They do not want it; they value Sabbath as a day of rest, and have common sense enough to perceive that open museums and galleries, and libraries, on Sabbath, means Sabbath labor for the labor class. There is a mistake about this; trades union congresses have voted, and workingmen's representatives in and out of Parliament have spoken upon the matter, and all are opposed to opening public places of amusement on Sabbath.

The Lord's Day is one of the greatest boons ever given to man; it is absolutely necessary for his physical health, and to enable him to recuperate from the wear and tear of six days' work. The Sabbath opening of museums means the destruction of Sabbath as a day of rest to numbers. Sabbath opening means Sabbath labor; it means the secularization of the Sabbath. Let the Government set the example of Sabbath opening, and there will be no possibility of keeping private entertainments and exhibitions closed.—National Review.

THE MAN OF FAITH.

Outward Manifestations of the Life Within—The World's Judgment.

When difficulty is experienced by any man in understanding the nature and essence of faith, he may get a new light on the subject by considering some of faith's outward manifestations. Perhaps this suggestion needs to be guarded, lest we seem to forget the primary importance of looking to God for grace and light. As with wisdom, so with faith; if the one lacking and longing for it will ask of God, he will make the best possible beginning and will find God a liberal giver. There need be no hesitation in coupling appeal and confession together. "Help thou mine unbelief" was the cry of one who even possessed some degree of faith. And surely the man who is conscious of his lack of faith need not hesitate to take his own case straight to the Father, and confess how difficult it is to discern spiritual mysteries without light from above. To ask of God, then, is the first thing to do, in all cases of ignorance and indecision. But, with this always applicable qualification, the statement may be repeated that it is generally helpful, when endeavoring to comprehend and cultivate faith, to study its effects and manifestations in the lives of others.

The man of faith is a faithful man. He keeps faith with God. He trusts God, and lives as if he realized that God trusts him in return and expects fidelity in service. This is so commonly understood by the observing world that whoever is found to be neglectful of Christian duties and wanting in Christian graces, while professing the Christian faith, is pronounced a hypocrite and a deceiver. The world knows very well what selfishness is; it knows all the indicia of a heart whose affections are set on the things of earth. It also knows what ought to characterize a life "hid with Christ" and founded on faith; and when the facts of a life do not tally with the pretensions as to faith, the conclusion swiftly and inevitably reached is that the faith is not real. Thus the very servants of the devil confess the power of faith to transform a man, since they uniformly regard unfaithfulness to one's profession as proof of untruthfulness in the profession.

If the world is quick to distinguish between the man of faith and the man without faith, much more so is the blessed Master, who while on earth preached faith and repentance to all who would hear. He, too, is sure to apply the test of faithfulness to the lives and characters of those who profess faith in Him, and who seek, through His blood, forgiveness for their sins. He knows His true disciples by their fruits; by their loyalty to Him in thought and motive, as well as in word and act. And, in the summing up of issues, the same blessedness is bestowed upon him who has faith and upon him who is faithful. It is through faith, be it remembered, that, by the grace of God, we are saved. But alongside of that precious assurance we may place the inspiring promise: "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." The man of faith and the faithful man are one in hope and destiny. The faithful man is the man of faith who endures to the end. Faithfulness is the active characteristic and the convincing proof of faith. By studying the former, we may discover the potency as well as the presence of the latter.

There is an every-day fidelity displayed by servants and employes, which is much prized by employers, and sometimes is fittingly rewarded. Even in worldly affairs, the person who is faithful in a few things, occasionally is made the ruler over many things. Yet the man who is true to his trust, in business life, proves his honesty and reliability merely along certain well-understood lines of activity, wherein rewards and punishments are within easy reach and application. He is in the realm of sense, and material realties are the things of which he takes account. The faithfulness which befits a Christian includes all this and much more. It is of the finer quality and reaches out into the spiritual realm. Faith takes hold of things unseen and makes them verities. So this faithfulness touches the motives and musings of the inward man, and keeps the soul loyal in matters quite beyond sense-perception. When we see in a friend the spirit of faithfulness to all known duties, which goes with and confirms his profession of faith in our Lord and Saviour, we may fairly presume that, in the domain of spiritual life beyond our ken, there is the same faithfulness, and the same fellowship, by faith, with Christ.

In Holy Writ it is recorded that men of faith in olden times accomplished wonders. The present age likewise affords innumerable examples of the power of a vital, working faith, as exhibited in daily faithfulness. Let us look oftener for these examples, study them more eagerly, and try to catch their full spiritual significance, to the end that we may realize in our own lives both the efficiency and the blessedness of "the faith that makes faithful."—Interior.

CHOICE EXTRACTS.

—If you want to have power to mold other men, learn to control the man who wears your hat.—Ram's Horn.

—He who is not willing to stoop will never rescue the perishing, and he who refuses to lose his life will never find it among God's saints.—H. M. Booth.

—There is an unfortunate disposition in a man to attend much more to the faults of his companions which offend him than to their perfections which please him.—Greville.

—They who make the glory of God their end, and the word of God their rule, and the Spirit of God the guide of their affection, and the providence of God the guide of their affairs, may be confident that the Lord goes before them as truly as He went before Israel in the wilderness, though not so sensibly.—Henry.

—One resolution which President Edwards made for himself while yet a young man was that however long he might live in this world his whole life should be arranged in reference to eternity, which he regarded as his true lifetime. There is a possibility of taking such thought concerning the future as to neglect the duties of the present, but if life is rightly directed the heavenly country will be certainly kept in view.—Christian Inquirer.

—To the Christian, instructed by the Bible, cheered by its hopes, and confident in its promises, death is not annihilation, but simply a transition to a higher, happier and more glorious existence. He leaves this world in the joyous expectation of going to a better one. This was Paul's idea in respect to himself; and there is no reason why every Christian should not live and die in possession of the same thought. God's Word authenticates it to the fullest extent.—N. Y. Independent.

HE WAS TOO SMART.

An Amusing Incident of Life on the Road.

He was a thin, sallow-faced man, with a large, drooping mustache, a square jaw, bright, restless eyes fringed by thick, black brows. He placed his smoothly-brushed silk hat on the rack and occupied the place at table opposite me. I was sitting at the dining-table of the Revere House in Albany, and had taken this brief inventory in the casual glance that is exchanged by experienced travelers, then returned to my fruit and quite forgot the fellow's presence.

The trig, little waitress entered, bearing my smoking dinner; while she was still hovering about the table, performing her duties, the man opposite remarked:

"I always pick out the hotels that employ lady waiters, especially pretty ladies."

I looked up just in time to receive the wink which accompanied the sentiment. From his conceited smirk and from the sugared intonation of his voice I knew that here was one of those pests to society—a lady-killer. The gentleman beside me and also the portly, absorbed gentleman at the head of the table looked up with glances of mild interest, then retired behind expressions of disgust to their occupations.

Belated guests arrived and soon our table was surrounded. Several suggestive coughs issued from the man opposite, but there appeared to be no sympathetic spirits in the party. At length he addressed me:

"Are you in the picture business, too?"

I informed him "No," without any attempt at studied civility.

"Perhaps some of the other gentlemen are," he persevered.

A few shakes from as many heads were the only replies he received, but even those encouraged him, for he continued:

"Those are my samples in the office; I tell you—" effusively, he had found a listener at his right—"the picture business is the thing there's money in. You'd be surprised to know the amount of orders I take. You're a traveling man, I suppose?"

The party at his right nodded.

"Us traveling men should be more sociable," continued the picture agent. "What's life without sociability?"

By dint of a tenacity which I was forced to admire the fellow raised quite a conversational breeze. He was in love with his profession. The expression "traveling man" had for him a fascination, and he used it frequently as he related exploits in which he had participated while on the road.

"Oh, us traveling men get on to all the snaps that's going," he declared, and then related with considerable esprit an experience of his on the Southern Pacific road.

"I took the overland at Roseburg," he said. "Sticking on the back of the seat in front of me was a conductor's check. I made a bet with a friend—also a traveling man—that I could use that check as a pass to my destination. I put the thing in my hat. The conductor came through the car, looked at my check and passed on. I won the bet and also the price of the ticket, for here it is, unpunched," and he held aloft the bit of pasteboard.

At the conclusion of this narrative the portly gentleman who occupied the head of the table was regarding him with some attention. This so pleased the fellow that he inquired of the gentleman if the trick had not been well carried.

"Admirably," was the answer. "And is that the ticket in your hand?"

"Yes," in unconcealed glee. "Want to see it?"

The gentleman's face still denoting interest, the ticket was passed to him. During its passage the picture vender

"PERHAPS SOME OF THE OTHER GENTLEMEN ARE?"

offered to dispose of it to any one south bound for half its value.

"You're ahead of the company this time certainly," the portly gentleman declared.

"That's the size of it," with a chuckle.

"You did it very well," in a dignified tone. "You're a successful canvasser, I'll wager."

"Decidedly so," profusely. The man's head was fairly turned by the attention given him.

"What house do you represent?" was the portly gentleman's next question.

Immediately the man's card was forthcoming and passed down the table, while the person whom it advertised principally sat enjoying the situation, fully imbued with the idea that he had attained the acme of popularity.

"Indeed!" the gentleman exclaimed, and read the card; then he placed both card and ticket in his pocket.

"You'll honor me by keeping the card," the man said, jocosely. "but there's money in the ticket, and I generally get out all the money there is in anything."

His was the loudest laugh at this sally.

"I beg you'll excuse me," the gentleman returned quietly. "I would like to retain this ticket, as it bears my autograph."

"Your autograph!"

There was evidently something less comical in the situation, for the man had ceased his hilarity. His face was considerably flushed. A piece of meat he was masticating bid fair to choke him.

"I am the general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific road," was the answer.

The man had evoked a degree of attention really painful by this time. We were all staring and grinning.

"So you evaded your fare?" came the measured tone at the head of the table.

"Well, if you call it that," with a gulp. He looked ill.

"Pretty serious offense, isn't it?" asked the gentleman at my left, who had been one of the original three at the table.

"Not less than six months, nor more than three years' imprisonment," replied the agent. "I have your card, sir," to the thoroughly discomfitted picture man; "I'll wait on you later."

The picture man made a few attempts at his dessert. At last he rose abruptly, upsetting his chair, and reached for his hat, but, on account of excessive nervousness, he only succeeded in knocking it to the floor. Scrambling after it, he dashed from the dining-room.

When we filed into the hotel office the gaudily-painted faces with the picture dealer himself had departed the house. The imperturbability of the S. P. agent's countenance when informed of this fact I attributed to the excellent facilities in his possession for capturing his man at any time. Consequently I was not a little surprised about an hour later to be waited on by the company with whom I had dined—minus the picture vender—and to be invited to contribute my portion toward a general internal shower bath.

"COME, BOYS, DO THE AGREEABLE."

"The S. P. passenger agent, you know!" the crowd explained.

Amid much hilarity I was conducted to that portly personage.

"Hasn't he tumbled?" inquired the S. P. man. "Come, boys, do the agreeable!"

In answer to this request I was presented to Mr. Blank, farming implements, Oskosh.

"Oh, I see," I said, for it began to dawn on me that an Oskosh man would have a free ride to Roseburg.

"And you?" Mr. Oskosh asked; his broad face was beaming with good nature and from the effects of seven drinks.

"Oh, me? Well, I'm only a tenderfoot loose in Oregon. What is it this time, gentlemen?"

"Confusion to the conceited puppies that disgrace our profession!" returned Oskosh solemnly.

Eight hands were lifted; eight heads went back. There was a gurgle as of a rill rippling o'er smooth-worn pebbles as the self-empanelled jury brought in a verdict in the case of the too obstreperous traveling man.—West Shore.

A Man of His Word.

Gilhooly and Gus De Smith were strolling carelessly past a saloon. After they had passed twenty steps beyond the saloon, Gus De Smith stopped and said:

"Let us go back and wet our whistles."

"I thought you promised your wife not to take a drink," replied Gilhooly.

"No, I didn't make any such fool promise as that. What I did promise was that when I came to a saloon I would go past it, and I have kept my promise like a little man. I have passed the saloon, as I said I would. Now, let us turn around and get a drink, as a reward for having kept my promise."—Texas Siftings.

A Cheap Substitute.

Wife—Well, what do you think Johnny wants now?

Husband—I've no idea.

Wife—He wants me to tease you into buying him a bicycle.

Husband (who has tried bicycling himself)—Nonsense; he can't have one. Tell him to go up into the attic and fall down two flights of stairs. It will be just about the same thing, and save me a hundred dollars.—Texas Siftings.

AT TIMES.

Older Brother (to little Paul, just returned from Sunday-school)—Say, Paul, do you believe all they tell you at Sunday-school?

Little Paul—Ye-es.

Older Brother—Do you believe that the whale swallowed Jonah?

Little Paul—Well, I believe it while I'm there; but I don't when I'm home.—Puck.

HASH AND REHASH.

The most successful catcher of sparrows in the country lives in Indianapolis. He captures 25,000 of the little pests a year in immense nets spread on the sides of houses, and makes a good income by selling them in the markets.

In the future, in all government document documents and official publications in Canada, such words as favor, labor, honor, etc., must be spelled with the "u," according to the English usage, as favour, labour, honour, and not as hitherto after the American style.

Louisiana planters say that the slaughter of alligators has allowed muskrats, the great enemies of the levees, to increase at an alarming rate. South Florida people have discovered that the rapid decrease of the alligators in the peninsula has been accompanied by a corresponding increase in the moccasin, the most venomous of American snakes and the alligator's choicest food. The saurian isn't pretty, but he is a friend of humanity, nevertheless.

A large hawk caught a very large black snake, and the snake, in self-defense, coiled around the hawk so that the hawk could not fly. A negro came along, crossed the hawk's legs and tied them. Then the negro hit the snake and killed him, and released the hawk, and he flew off, with the long string flying like a steamer, to a tree top. The string got wrapped around a limb and the hawk swung down. The negro cut the tree down and recaptured the hawk, which he cooked and ate next day for dinner.

A clever swindle is being practiced in Stamford, Conn., by means of a double fountain pen, one end of which is filled with good, substantial ink, the other with ink that fades away in a day or two. The sharper writes his agreement, contract or whatever particular lay he may have chosen with the ink that fades, and his victim signs with the other end of the pen the ink that lasts. In a few days he has a slip of paper with nothing on it but a good signature, over which he writes any sort of a note that he can most readily turn into cash.

Battle Creek, Mich has a smart boy. The muzzling by-law is now in force and one of the principal citizens had to go to the pound three times in one week to get the dog out. He wondered how it was, as his canine but rarely left the house. The poundkeeper told him that the same boy brought the dog each time and received his fifty cents. The citizen watched and caught his own son doing the dog-catching act. As it cost the parent one dollar each time and the boy only got fifty cents, the father strapped the son and then compromised by hiring him to let the dog alone.

A Wood's Holl man writes to the Boston Post: One of my neighbors keeps a store quite near the harbor, and lately he observed his cat bringing in a small fish, which he laid upon the floor and retired. He soon returned, however, bringing a second, which he also laid down, as if to give them to his master. The next day he repeated it, and then his proceedings were watched, and it was found that he went to the shore and watched for a school of fishes to approach, when he would strike out like a flash, fasten his claws into one of them, convey it to his mouth and scamper off with it. He seems to think it an amusing and useful performance."

FACTS AND FANCIES.

It is estimated that about 34,000,000 people die every year, or nearly sixty a minute.

It is estimated $25,000,000 is spent annually in this country alone for advertising.

The average width of the path of destruction with tornadoes is said to be a little more than 1,000 feet.

It is estimated that the number of passengers carried by all the railroads in the world averages 6,500,000 a day.

The center of population of the United States is now at Madison Ind., near the junction of the 39th parallel and the 85th meridian.

If the salt held in solution in the ocean were spread over the earth it would form a layer of more than thirty feet deep, covering the whole globe.

Of the 4,200 species of flowers now cultivated in Europe, only 10 per cent. give forth any odor. Therefore it can not be said that most flowers are fragrant.

A bundle of spider webs, not larger than buckshot, and weighing less than a drachm, if straightened out and untangled, would reach a distance of three hundred and fifty miles.

Here are two sentences, each of which contains all the letters of the alphabet: "John quickly extemporized five tow bags," and "The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog."

A mathematician announces to an expectant world that two persons playing dominoes ten hours a day and making four moves a minute could continue 118,000,000 years without exhausting all the combinations of the game.

Recent investigation has shown that the people of Great Britain swallow over 5,500,000 pills daily, or one pill a week for every person in the population. The pill consumption for one year would weigh one hundred and seventy tons, and would fill thirty-six freight cars.

A French statistician has just ascertained that a human being, of either sex, who is a moderate eater, and who lives to be seventy years old, consumes during "the days of the years of his life" a quantity of food which would fill twenty ordinary railway baggage cars. "A good eater," however, may require as many as thirty.

The rapidity with which flies pass through the air is not likely to be appreciated by those who see only with what apparent ease they do it. Flies will keep up with a fast horse, and that, too, without lighting on him. In an open express car, through which the wind blows, they hold their places, flying this way and that without hitting against the sides. They must, therefore, go faster than horse or car. Give man speak like this proportioned to his size, and going around the world would be a matter of only a few hours at most.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of The Press with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
Plainfield, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 128.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 32 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums, | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD,]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 North Av
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-

Willcox & Gibbs S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1889
No. 7 West Second Street.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of Hair Goods on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 6-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 128. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. my10

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
423

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle, Ball Coods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,
32 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
Plainfield, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician, 13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CLOCKS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Clocks, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms and Silverware. Also Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles. Don't forget the number. 13-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Corner Park Avenue and Second Street.
J. E. BUERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Mill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

To be Run on the Following Schedule. Strictly on Time:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:55 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.32 A. M. | train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.37 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.08 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P.M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 P.M. | do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.30 | do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.03 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.32, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 5.30, 6.35, 7. P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-2 H

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

2:35 A. M. Fast Line, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:05 P. M. Western Express, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. Pacific Express, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 20 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 50, 9 05 A. M., 9 20 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A.M.; 12 55, 1 20, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 20 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 50, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 20 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:35 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:20 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 20 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A.M.; 12 55, 1 20, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 20 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 50, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 20 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 50 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 20 P.M.

For Flemington—7 50 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 50, 9 35, 11 57 A. M. 1 20, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 22, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39 A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 16, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7 45, 9 00, 10 30, 11 30 A. M., 1, 2 00, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M.. 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 8 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 32, 10 36, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 16, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 50, 2 32, 3 45, 4 54, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 34 8 20, 9 41, 11 15, 12 45 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 9 13 A. M., 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 25, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 36, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 2 42 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 6 05, 8 20, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 9 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 22, 4 09, 5 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—9 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 36 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

9 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 5 05 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 27, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 07, 5, 5 31, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 03 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 46, 11 58* a. m., 1 50* 2 27*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 32* 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 46, a. m., 2 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 46, 11 58* a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 46 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA,

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 30*, 9

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. [THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.]

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3.00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties. Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Truly Yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-21

FOUR PERSONS SHOT

Pinkerton's Detectives Open Fire at Albany.

A RIOT NARROWLY AVERTED.

The Shooting Seems to Have Been Unprovoked and Much Trouble Feared.

The Murderous Guards Roughly Handled by the Infuriated Strikers—Two Men, Two Boys and One Woman the Victims—One Boy Probably Fatally Injured—A Policeman Assaulted.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The most disastrous day in the history of the New York Central Railroad strike closes to-day. Fifteen Pinkerton men are under the care of surgeons, and five citizens are so badly wounded that there is fears for their recovery. Three Pinkerton men were arrested, and one was so severely handled by the mob that the police surgeon had to dress his wounds.

The trouble is at the Van Woert street crossing, a few blocks west of the passenger depot, and where the freight trains runs on to the bridge.

Early in the morning crowds began to gather, and by noon there was a huge crowd. Everything was quiet until 1:10 o'clock a freight train came down from West Albany. On the top of each car were two Pinkerton men armed with repeating rifles, and as the cars passed by they flourished them. Suddenly, and without provocation, one of the men fired, and Richard Dwyer, a boy of 12 years, fell shot in the thigh.

The excitementment was intense and a rush was made for the train, and so successful was it, that James Hatton, who fired the shot, was caught. The police charged the mob and rescued the man just as they had him up against a tree ready to hang him. He was badly battered when locked up.

A few minutes after, John Houck, a lumber handler, aged 22 years, was arrested for stoning a train. At 2 o'clock a freight train bound west came over the bridge guarded by Pinkerton men. When it reached the city, several of the Pinkerton men, without provocation, opened fire. Mrs. Thomas F. Hogan was shot through the leg and a small boy was shot through the thigh. The crowd by this time was wrought up to a fearful pitch of excitement, and only by the efficiency of the local police, aided by committees from the strikers, were they kept back.

When the excitement had begun to cool down another freight train came through and the Pinkerton men again fired into the crowd, a boy named Frank Parks, receiving the bullet in his arm. Officer Dunn jumped on the train and tried to find the man, but was unsuccesful. He was carried back to East Albany on another train and there was assaulted by the Pinkerton men, although he was in full uniform. All the police of the city are massed at this point and trouble is expected.

Robert Pinkerton asked for the release of Thomas Burke, who was arrested under arms, but Chief Willard refused, saying that the men were inciting the people to violence. Mr. Pinkerton said that it was simply a matter of protecting the new brakemen and was necessary.

Five Pinkerton men arrested last night were arraigned in the police court in the morning and four were admitted to bail for further examination, ex-State Senator Russell and Depot Master Foster going on their bonds. One man was released.

The only freight train moved during the day has been refrigerator and empty cars. The blockade at West Albany is almost as bad as on the first day of the strike.

SPARRING STOPPED.

The Williams-Warren Fight Will Not Come Off in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Aug. 18.—In accordance with the District Attorney's opinion, Police Superintendent Moran has issued an order commanding captains of all precincts to stop sparring exhibitions of which they have knowledge, occurring either in halls, clubs or private places, and arrest the participants and managers of the contest. Mr. Morin said the order would go into force at once.

A notice was sent to the officers of the Erie County Athletic Club, informing them that the contest between Williams of Toledo and Tommy Warren of California, which they had arranged for next week at their hall, would not be allowed.

Forced to Accept Strikers' Terms.

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 18.—Mark J. Worthley has sent a communication to the Knights of Labor council of shoe workers, accepting the price list rendered on the 15th inst. and asking that the men return to work on Monday. Mr. Worthley says the terms are accepted merely to enable him to fulfil contracts already made. The prices for clothing and stitching he finds very reasonable but those in other departments he considers unreasonable, making as they do an advance of $15,000 per year, which he cannot afford, consequently after completing present contracts he proposes to remove his business elsewhere.

Held Up a Train.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 18.—It is reported that masked robbers held up a train at Otterville, Mo., near Sedalia, and robbed the express car of $30,000. Only a few facts concerning the affair have been received. The scene of the robbery was near the last committed by the James brothers in Missouri.

Nominated for Congress.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The Republicans of Monroe County nominated Hon. John Van Voorhis for Congress by acclamation.

SHOOKING TRAGEDY.

A Husband Has a Desperate Fight With Two Men.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Aug. 18.—A shocking tragedy occurred at Danville last night, the details of which have just reached here. The reports as far as received do not say that the principals of the affair were killed instantly, but subsequent developments show that their wounds are fatal. The names of the victims are Frank Schuraski and Patrick Monohan. John Mininies, who committed the crime, is now in jail awaiting a hearing. Public opinion is in sympathy with the prisoner, as evidence as far as can be learned show he committed the deed while resenting an insult to his wife.

Schuraski and Monahan went to Mininies' house during the night under the influence of liquor. After reaching it some noise was made which attracted the attention of Mininies, who appeared in the door with a lamp in his hand followed by his wife. One of the men told her to go in and mind her own business, but this she declined to do, at the same time making a retort, but before it was finished, the lamp which her husband held was grabbed and thrown across the room in the direction the woman was standing.

Mininies at once became furious, and seizing an axe slashed right and left with terrible effect. The light was now extinguished and a terrible struggle ensued. Mrs. Mininies was knocked to the floor senseless, where she was found when the rescuers arrived. Mininies was also overcome by a blow on the head, but soon rallied. Monahan was found on the step with his skull split, a deep gash was cut in his shoulder and otherwise bruised. His companion, Schuraski, was found in the house, where he had been knocked by a blow in the forehead, which was split clear across. Neither of the men can recover.

IN BOILING WATER.

Terrible Death of Sig. Campanari's Child at Boston.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Little Carmen Campanari, the seven-year-old daughter of Sig. Giusseppe Campanari, the well known singer and violinist, met death in the yard of the Hotel Putnam under most distressing circumstances, the facts of which did not become known to the police until yesterday.

At one end of the yard is an excavation of about 5 by 10 feet and 3 feet in depth, which is constantly filled with hot water from the escape-pipe of the engine which runs the elevator. The waste water was formerly conducted to the sewer by means of a cesspool, but the latter becoming stopped up several months ago, it is said, the proprietor of the building had the excavation made to hold the escaping hot water. The hole thus became a miniature lake, with the water always at a scalding temperature and from which a cloud of steam constantly arose.

The action of the water has undermined the earth about the edge, and when the child, who was playing in the yard with her sister Genie, stepped to the edge of the pool it caved in and submerged her up to her neck. She died at 7 o'clock in the evening, after hours of terrible suffering.

The occupants of the building say the steaming pool has been a nuisance as well as a menace to life for nearly three months. Louis H. Brown, owner of the property, left town in haste to-day, fearing arrest for criminal negligence.

Death of a Prominent Man.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 16.—William N. Sage, one of Rochester's foremost citizens, died last evening at 6 o'clock at Cottage City, Martha's Vineyard, where he was spending the summer. Heart disease was the cause of his death. Mr. Sage was 71 years old, and had been secretary and treasurer of the University of Rochester since its foundation in 1850. He was at one time clerk of Monroe County, and was for several years and up to the time of his death connected with several banking institutions in the city, being president of the Monroe County Savings Bank. Mr. Sage was probably the most prominent layman of the Baptist church in this city, having been a member of the First Baptist Church since its organization over fifty years ago. He was president of the Rochester Missionary Union at the time of his death.

Striking Switchmen Succeed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The strike of the switchmen of the Rock Island Railroad was brought to a temporary conclusion last night, the company, through General Superintendent Chamberlain and Yardmaster Corey, agreeing to reinstate Foreman Murphy and keep him at work pending an investigation of the charge that he reported for duty while drunk. The men immediately returned to work. The loss to the Rock Island on account of its temporary suspension of freight traffic will not be very heavy.

Chicago Carnival.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—With fine weather a grand carnival of trotting sport is promised at Washington Park this week. The meeting opens to-day and will continue six days, during which 21 stakes, purses and matches will be decided. Each class race and stake has received a splendid list of nominations. On Wednesday Palo Alto and Jack will trot for $5,000, and on Saturday Sunol will attempt to beat the world's record of 2:08¼ held by Maud S.

Saw a Schooner Go Down.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 18.—The captain of the steamer Portia, from New York, reports that when off Pollock Rip bell buoy a large three masted schooner was seen to disappear beneath the waves. The name of the vessel could not be ascertained. From appearances the captain thought the schooner had been in collision and that the crew had abandoned her when they found she was sinking.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

Senator Quay's Resolution to be Called up To-morrow.

ANOTHER CAUCUS TO BE HELD.

The Discussion of the Tariff Bill Resumed To-day.

The Committee on Labor to Report Important Bills—The Agricultural Committee to Push Prominent Measures—A Compromise Looked for on the Land Grant Forfeiture Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—There is great uncertainty about the Senate business for the present week—so much depends on the action to be taken on the resolution of Senator Quay to limit the consideration of pending measures during the rest of the session.

Mr. Quay has given notice that he will call this resolution up not before to-morrow. In the meantime a caucus of Republican Senators may be held to determine upon concerted action in regard to the Elections bill, which is the matter in dispute.

The discussion of the Tariff bill will be resumed, subject to interruption by the Committee on Appropriations which will doubtless ask early action on the Deficiency bill now on the calendar. If Mr. Quay's resolution should be adopted, the discussion of the Tariff bill would still continue, but progress in disposing of the paragraphs would be much more rapid. Some conference reports will doubtless be offered for consideration this week. The conferees on the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill will report a further disagreement on the irrigation clause. The conferees on the Land Grant Forfeiture bill will get together early in the week and try to determine upon a compromise between the House and Senate bills.

The programme of business in the House which the Committee on Rules had arranged for last week, and which the absence of quorum caused to be abandoned, will probably be carried out this week. To-day is suspension day, and the bill extending the provisions of the act establishing experimental stations at agricultural colleges will be called up, together with other matters. The Committee on Labor will probably get a day for the disposition of some of the important bills in its charge.

The Agricultural Committee, if the Committee on Rules should bring forward its programme for last week, will have the rest of the week. The measures to be discussed and voted on are the bill to tax compound lard and the meat inspection bill.

ELOPERS IN A BARN.

Sleeping Peacefully on the Hay When the Officers Came Around.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 18.—Robert Kohlus and Lillie Ingalls, wife of H. P. Ingalls, who eloped from this town a week ago, were caught early this morning sleeping on a mound of hay in a barn on Union avenue, three miles from the city police station.

Officers had been chasing about the State in pursuit of the pair, but until last night were unable to locate them.

When the clue was obtained, preparations were made to capture the guilty couple and ten minutes after midnight Sergeant Birmingham, with a patrol wagon and two officers started for the barn where Kohlus and Mrs. Ingalls were found.

The officers returned with their prisoners and locked them up.

Mr. Ingalls was waiting at the station. He refused to recognize his wife or listen to her pleadings.

He said all he wanted to see was Kohlus, who he said was the cause of the woman's leaving home, sent up for twenty years, and if he could in any way do it he would sacrifice everything on earth.

Prairie Fires in Kansas.

ATCHISON, Kan., Aug. 18. — Reports from western Kansas are to the effect that prairie fires are raging in spite of the efforts of the people to check them. In the northern portion of Ford county a tract 20 miles square was burned over inside of two hours. The corn fields are so much like tinder that when the fire strikes one edge of the field it passes through it very rapidly. As yet no houses have been destroyed, as they are protected by the cultivated land.

Banks Flooded With Silver.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 18.—The banks at Kansas City and a few other Missouri points are overwhelmed with silver coin and are trying to reduce it by shipping it to the St. Louis Sub-Treasury and getting silver notes instead. Forty-five thousand dollars came in this morning. The banks have to pay the express charges both ways on the money, which amounts to about $1 per $1,000.

Killed By His Own Burglar Trap.

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., Aug. 1.—The gun store of Willis Tulley was entered by burglars some time ago and robbed of nearly everything in the store. Since then he set a trap for the thieves with a loaded double barreled rifle. Yesterday morning when he entered the store his foot accidentally struck the trap and he received both loads in his side, killing him instantly.

To Become a Democratic Organ.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Beginning September 1, the Dedham "Standard," which for the past ten years has been published as a Republican weekly, will appear as a Norfolk county Democratic organ, under the editorship of Mr. Gardner Boyd. Among the leading Democrats interested in the new venture are Josiah Quincy, George F. Williams, D. Blakeslie and B. Morse.

BASEBALL GAMES.

American Association.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 4 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1— | 9 |
| Brooklyn | 1 | 1 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 7 |

Batteries—Cushman and Sage, Ford and Pitz.

AT COLUMBUS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbus | 3 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 0 | 0—1 | 10 |
| Syracuse | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0— | 1 |

Batteries—Easton and O'Connor; Mays and Burke.

AT LOUISVILLE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louisville | 2 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | x— | 7 |
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1— | 1 |

Batteries—Goodall and Ryan; Fitzgerald and McGuire.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 2 |
| Athletic | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | x— | 4 |

Batteries—Hawes and Wells; Hughes and Baldwin.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brook'n | 62 | 33 | .653 | Chicago | 51 | 45 | .533 |
| Boston | 61 | 36 | .629 | N. York | 44 | 54 | .456 |
| Philadel | 59 | 37 | .615 | Cleve'nd | 39 | 55 | .316 |
| Lincln'd | 38 | 57 | .511 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 75 | .204 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 56 | 37 | .602 | Philadel | 51 | 46 | .526 |
| Chicago | 55 | 42 | .567 | Pittsb'rg | 41 | 48 | .461 |
| Brook'n | 56 | 46 | .549 | Cleve'nd | 42 | 51 | .452 |
| N. York | 52 | 43 | .547 | Buffalo | 28 | 65 | .301 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 60 | 31 | .659 | Col'mb's | 47 | 45 | .511 |
| St. Louis | 54 | 36 | .600 | Toledo | 44 | 43 | .506 |
| Athletic | 48 | 44 | .522 | Syracuse | 37 | 54 | .407 |
| Rosh'st'r | 44 | 44 | .500 | Brookl'n | 27 | 64 | .297 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 69 | 28 | .750 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 63 | 24 | .724 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 50 | .385 |
| Newark | 49 | 38 | .563 | Wilm't'n | 24 | 58 | .293 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 38 | .513 | Hartford | 22 | 61 | .265 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Boston, at Boston.
Philadelphia vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Chicago.
Cleveland vs. Cincinnati, at Cincinnati.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Boston vs. New York, at New York.
Brooklyn vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Pittsburg, at Pittsburg.
Chicago vs. Buffalo, at Buffalo.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled.

HOPES TO AVOID TROUBLE.

Grand Master Sweeney Thinks He Will Settle the Switchmen's Strike.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Frank Sweeney of Chicago, Grand Master of the Switchmen's Aid Association of North America, reached here last evening and attended the meeting of the switchmen at Carabach's Hall. "I expect to meet Mr. Burrows to-day and talk the matter over. I don't anticipate that the trouble will be serious," said Mr. Sweeney.

"Was the strike ordered by you?"

"No, but I've heard the story of the men, and if that story is true the men are justified in taking the extreme measures they did. You know the original cause was the discharge of one of our men, who refused to go to the depot in a striker's place; the men there were out on strike, and it is against the principle of our organization to take a striker's place. The Grievance Committee was sent to meet with Mr. Burrows, and they were treated very discourteously. The switchmen are entitled to some little consideration. Mr. Burrows is himself an employe of the road, and should treat other men as courteously as he would want to be treated. The members of the lodge were no doubt angry when they learned of the treatment the committee received."

"Are the firemen interested in this strike?"

"Not yet. Grand Master Sargeant is somewhere in the East and I expect to meet him before my return. I do not expect, however, that there will be any more trouble."

It is likely, however, that Superintendent Burrows will decline to talk with Mr. Sweeney, in which event the strike will assume a more serious form.

BISHOP NEELY'S ESCAPE.

Caught in an Undertow He Is Carried Beyond the Surf Line.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 18.—Right Rev. Henry A. Neely, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maine, formerly of New York, had a narrow escape from drowning at Scarboro Beach. The bishop is an expert swimmer, having once in younger days swam across Seneca Lake, a distance of two and a half miles.

While bathing at Scarboro Beach he went outside the surf line, and a heavy undertow and ebb tide setting off shore, he was unable to return. After two ineffectual attempts, with rare presence of mind he allowed himself to drift back beyond the breakers and floated quietly outside and shouted for a boat. It was supposed that the bishop was drowning and great excitement prevailed upon the beach. Fifteen minutes passed before a boat was procured, but the bishop was finally rescued. His coolness in not wasting his strength to struggle longer with the undertow probably saved his life.

Thomas M. Tierny Dead.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Aug. 18.—Thomas M. Tierney of this place, who was one of the largest breeders of fine trotting stock in Vermont, and one of the best drivers on the tracks, is dead, aged 45. The deceased was a prominent backer of John McMahon, the wrestler. He leaves a widow and two children.

Discharging Cardiff Dock Laborers.

LONDON, Aug 18.—Hundreds of dock laborers at Cardiff have been dismissed. The employers are determined to resist the demands of the men and serious troubles are feared.

MONARCHS TO MEET

An Event of the Most Momentous Importance.

DISCUSSING EUROPE'S FUTURE.

The Crushing of France the Object of the Kaiser's Visit.

Englishmen Anxious About King William's Conference With the Czar—Russia's Chancellor Will Stand in the Way of German Advancement in the Direction of Paris.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Within a few hours the German Kaiser will be simulating the role of the friendly critic, as his Imperial brother, the Czar, deploys before him the vast hosts of the Russian army. Before the last Cossack shall have finished the depression in salute of his lance's point in the march past, at least four men will know what the near future has in store for Europe. Chancellor Von Caprivi and his master will have it, either brusquely and directly or evasively and diplomatically, from M. de Giers and his master whether it is the will of the Russian autocrat that his country should remain impassive while the armies of the triple alliance pass over the Alps and across the Rhine to attempt the overthrow of the Republic and the elimination of France as a potentiality in European political affairs.

Not even the most sanguine of British Russophobists really believes that an offer from Germany to permit Russia to do in Armenia what she can do just as readily without such permission, will induce the astute De Giers to consent to the crushing of France, the consequent elevation of Germany to the pinnacle of undisputed power in Europe, and the virtual reduction of the nations of Western Europe to the condition of German auxilliaries.

That the meeting is an event of the most momentous importance is nowhere—not even in Paris or Berlin—better understood than in London. Englishmen of habits of reflection and observation well know that the rifle discharged on the Danube or the Rhine may carry a bullet straight to the heart of their Indian Empire. This thought comes to them with redoubled force now that it is on all sides accepted as a fact that the outcome of the recent visit to our shores of the Emperor has been the binding of England to the fortunes of the triple alliance, whether those fortunes be for good or evil.

Should the allies fall apart, or should they encounter disaster in the almost inevitable appeal to the arbitrament of arms, Englishmen of the class mentioned feel that just as surely as the French would be permitted to work out their beloved plans of revenge on Germany, just as certainly would Russia be allowed to march to the Mediterranean in one direction and to the Indian frontier of Afghanistan in another. These same men see no compensating advantages for these great risks in the elevation of a German Emperor to a European dictatorship.

BARILLA'S ULTIMATUM.

He Still Holds that Ezeta Must Yield Up the Reins of Power.

CITY OF MEXICO (via Galveston), Aug. 18.—A dispatch from Guatemala says that President Barillas yesterday received the members of the Diplomatic Corps, who called to ascertain his terms of peace. He responded that the only terms were the retirement of Ezeta from the Government of Salvador and the re-establishment of the state of affairs existing prior to the death of Menendez, on June 22, and that Salvador treat Honduras and Guatemala as allies and not foster a rebellion against either Government.

Gov. Carracosa, of Cheopas, telegraphs that the state forces have been active in preventing the crossing of Mexicans and Guatemalan refugees into Guatemala with revolutionary intent, but numbers of Mexicans have gone to Salvador, where they are offering their services against Guatemala. President Diaz has ordered the authorities on the frontier to exercise the strictest vigilance to preserve neutrality toward Salvador. It is rumored that President Ezeta, of Salvador, will open hostilities to-morrow.

Strikers Celebrate.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—To-day the dockers celebrated the first anniversary of the great triumph of unorganized labor over organized and strongly intrenched capital. The various contingents from the eastern and southern districts of the city, preceded by bands of music playing lively airs, and carrying brilliant banners bathed in the sunshine of a perfect day, marched in columns to Hyde Park. The number of persons attending the meeting, however, was not equal to that which participated in the eight hour demonstration. John Burns, the labor leader, who conducted the dockers' successful movement a year ago, was the principal orator.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Delegates from the 450 German Catholic societies throughout the country are assembled in Baltimore to attend the convention, which meets to-day.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the National Association of Traveling Passenger Agents will begin in Buffalo to-morrow and last for several days.

Annie Connor, the eighteen-year-old girl of Eleventh street, Jersey City, who attempted suicide by drinking varnish, is now out of danger. She says she did it because of love troubles.

A terrific thunder storm did a great deal of damage in the residence portion of Kansas City. Lightning struck a coal shed and killed Archie Trimble and severely injured Ben Diamond, two boys who had taken refuge there.

MRS. GRANT'S WISH.

General Grant's Tomb Is at the Disposal of the People.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Congressman John Quinn received from U. S. Grant, Jr., a reply to his letter to the widow of General Grant, requesting that she state her wishes regarding the proposed removal of the great warrior's remains to Arlington National Cemetery here. It is dated Salem Centre, Westchester County, August 15, and is as follows:

"DEAR SIR—At Mrs. Grant's request I have the honor of replying to your courteous letter of August 11, asking for an expression of her wishes in relation to the removal of General Grant's remains to the vicinity of Washington, as proposed in the concurrent resolution offered by Senator Plumb.

"At a time when Mrs. Grant was with Colonel Grant he wrote a letter for publication, with the intention of saving her, if possible, from the affecting annoyance of being interviewed by the newspapers on the subject, in which he expressed her views and the views of the family in regard to this. In that letter Colonel Grant said in substance that such a removal rested with Congress, and not with General Grant's family. If the people, by act of Congress, choose to remove General Grant's remains to or near Washington, Mrs. Grant will refuse her consent only in case no provision be made for her family resting by his side. This she wishes to emphasize.

"She will be glad to see a monument begun, at least, which will mark the last resting place of her husband.

"Very respectfully yours,

"U. S. GRANT, JR."

Mr. Quinn intends, if possible, to hold the Plumb resolution in committee until the New York delegation shall determine whether or not it will fight the plan to abandon the tomb at Riverside. A meeting will probably be called within a day or two.

SIX PEOPLE SHOT.

Drunken Men Cause a General Fight on a Railroad Train.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 18.—A serious and probably fatal shooting affray occurred at an early hour, during which six people were shot.

It seems that a number of laborers employed by the Addison Pipe Company, whose plant is located fifteen miles from this city, came here during the night and imbibed freely, and on their return home on a "Big Four" train, which tarried a number of other passengers, a general fight ensued among the laborers. Revolvers were drawn, and when the smoke cleared away the following named were found to have been shot, two of them probably fatally: Syl Lewis, shot in the abdomen, fatally; Mrs. Americus Harvey, a passenger, shot in the shoulder, painful; A. L. Hedges, Frank Godfrey Al. Singleton, B. Beckel.

No arrests were made.

Track Laying Under Difficulties.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Aug. 18.—Early in the morning 200 Pennsylvania trackmen arrived here and in forty minutes laid a second track one-fourth of a mile long on Canal street, in the face of the protests of property owners, and in violation of a restraining order issued in 1883. During the operation a property owner attempting to stop the work, three policemen seized him and held him. The Mayor called the Police Board together and the officers were deprived of their stars and dismissed from the force. Supt. Bennett, trainmaster Green and supervisor Jones were arrested last evening and gave bonds.

A Millionaire Commits Suicide.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Millionaire Joseph A. Jameson, of the well known Broad street firm of bankers and brokers, Jameson, Smith & Co., committed suitide by hanging, at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Amos Cotting, on Fifth Avenue. Temporary insanity caused by illness is given as the cause. Mr. Jameson leaves a widow and five adult children.

Seamen Quarrel.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—During a quarrel between Simon Powalski and James Young, seamen on the steamship Rhodora, Powalski picked up a heavy steel wrench and struck Young a terrible blow on the head, inflicting fatal injuries. Young was taken to the Chambers street hospital, where the doctor said he could not live through the night. Powalski has been arrested.

Killed by the Cars.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Henry Hutchingham, a dock laborer employed by W. J. Connors, while returning home and crossing the Erie tracks at Hamburg street was struck by a passing train and instantly killed, his body being almost torn into shreds. He leaves a family at Uniontown.

Deaths from Cholera.

CAIRO, Aug. 18.—Reports have been received here from Mecca and Jeddah that forty-seven deaths from cholera have occurred at the former city and twenty-five at the latter. There have also been eighteen deaths among a thousand pilgrims who are quarantined at Eltor.

A Steamship Ashore.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A despatch to the North German Lloyd steamship agents states that their steamer Aller which left New York about a week ago for Bremen, has gone ashore in the river Weser. The extent of the damage is not known, the despatch being very meagre.

Death of an Old Dry Goods Man.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 18.—Alvah Miller, a resident in this city for the past ten years, is dead, aged 40. He was for many years connected with the great dry goods house of H. B. Claflin & Co. of New York, and was their resident buyer in Paris and other European capitals.

THE DAILY PRESS

IS AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Easter Lodge, Knights of Honor, will meet in regular session to-night in Hand's building on West Second street.

—Peter Weaver has been appointed a substitute letter carrier, and entered on the discharge of his duties today.

—A theatre party from Hotel Netherwood, will attend the production of "One Error" by Cora Tanner and company in Stillman Music Hall, Wednesday evening.

—Otto Hartman, of Greenbrook road, North Plainfield, is to be tried before Justice Hardy, next Wednesday, for alleged cruel treatment of his sister, Henrietta Goetze.

—The regular young people's meeting of the Trinity Reformed church will be held in the lecture to-night at 8 o'clock. Visitors are always welcome to these meetings.

—Four handsome new signs of black and gold gleam down from the walls of the North avenue station of the Central Railroad, informing strangers that this is Plainfield.

—There will be a special meeting of Gazelle Engine company, No. 1, held in their parlors on Thursday evening of this week, at 8 o'clock sharp. As business of importance is to be transacted a full attendance of the members is requested.

—The Postoffice Department has granted Postmaster Pope an additional letter carrier, whose term of service will commence October 1. A new route in the centre of the city, will be laid out and present routes will be changed and shortened.

The Crescents' Fielding Won the Game.

Everybody who was there agrees that Saturday's ball game between the Crescent League's team and the united Stars and Jersey City's, was the finest ever played in this city. As THE PRESS prophesied Saturday, pitcher Hietzell was the only one of the original Star Athletics of Newark who played on the team. His catcher was Dowd, just released from the Jersey City league team, and other players of that disbanded nine were included in his support. The visiting team was in consequence of this strengthing, the best that has been here. A hit over second by Lufbery and Jones' bunt, were the only hits the Crescents made during the afternoon, and only one man got to a base and was left there.

The Stars played without an error. They got to the bases occasionally, but were either doubled-up or left there. The two runs made by the Crescents in their opening, were in this way. Martin got his first on a play that put Hatfield out at second. He stole second at the risk of his life, and started for home on Lufbery's single. The throw in from the field to the home plate was out of Dowd's reach, so Martin scored in safety and Lufbery reached third. The latter hugged the bag until Edmenson had squeezed Wiegand's fly, and then Lufbery beat the throw home. For the rest of the afternoon it was goose-eggs for both sides.

There were about 800 people present and all joined in admiration of the handsome shape the diamond and field is in through the efforts of John Wierenga. Umpire Berriman was also refulgent in a blazier and cap of black and yellow from Horton's attractive stock. The score was:

CRESCENT LEAGUE.

| | AB | R | BH | SB | SO | LB | PO | A | E |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hatfield, rf | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Martin, ss | 3 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 |
| Lufbery, 2b | 3 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 4 | 2 |
| Wiegand, 1b | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 11 | 0 | 0 |
| McIndoe, lf | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| Gregg, p | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 0 |
| Lee, 3b | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 |
| Jones, c | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 6 | 0 | 0 |
| Gillis, cf | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 |
| | 2 | 2 | 2 | 2 | 7 | 1 | 27 | 13 | 3 |

STAR ATHLETICS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Dare, ss | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 |
| Pierson, 2b | 4 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 3 | 0 |
| Dowd, c | 3 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 7 | 1 | 0 |
| Lorrie, 3b | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 |
| McCue, rf | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Quinn, 1b | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 14 | 0 | 0 |
| Hietzell, p | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 4 | 0 |
| Edmenson, lf | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| Gilroy, cf | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| | 0 | 5 | 1 | 5 | 5 | 24 | 12 | 0 | |

SCORE BY INNINGS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Crescent League | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —2 |
| Stars | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—0 |

Earned runs—Crescents, 2. First base on errors—Stars, 3. First base on balls—Crescents, 3; Stars, 1. Double plays—Martin to Lufbery to Wiegand (2); Quinn alone. Passed ball—Dowd. Flies caught—By Crescents, 8; by Stars, 3. Time of game—1:35. Umpire—Mr. Berriman.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

R. M. Shepard of Fanwood is at Avon-by-the-Sea.

Wm. Goff, of the City Pharmacy, is at Niagara Falls for a week.

Cyrus E. Moore and Edward Tomlinson have returned from an outing by the sea.

The Rev. Chas. B. Mitchell has been sojourning at the Avon Inn, Avon-by-the-Sea.

The Misses Lizzie and Ellie Dunn have returned from an enjoyable visit to Seabright.

Wm. Holmes of Somerset street, returned yesterday from a sojourn in Central New York.

John E. Miller, contracting agent for the Erie Railroad, is a guest at Miller's Hotel for a few weeks.

George P. Taggart of Sycamore avenue, left this morning for a short trip to Baltimore and Washington.

L. W. Randolph, proprietor of the city pharmacy, with Mrs. Randolph, has returned from the seaside.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Dunn of East Seventh street, returned yesterday from an extended Western tour.

Robert Crosson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., spent yesterday with his sister, Mrs. J. E. Yose, of West Second street.

Miss Place of North Plainfield, is registered as a recent arrival at the Prospect Park Hotel, among the Catskills.

The Misses Marion and Grace Nevius, of Jackson avenue, left town Saturday for a two weeks' visit to Kingston, N.Y.

The Misses Eleanor and Daisy Mulholland, of Washington Park, are spending a few weeks at Wainscot, Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Fiske of New York, are entertaining Miss Kaufman of this city, at their Summer cottage at Elberon.

The names of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman of Plainfield appear among the list of new arrivals at the Pocono Mountain House, Mt. Pocono, Pa.

Letter carrier Edward T. Dunn, accompanied by his wife, is spending a fifteen days' leave-of-absence in visiting points of interest in Hunterdon and Somerset counties.

According to the New York papers Miss Florence Honnegar of Carleton avenue, is receiving considerable attention at Lake Hopatcong, as "the famous bicyclist and horseback rider."

Among the latest to register at the Asbury Park hotels are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fish of Franklin place, at the Surf House, and Mrs. Smith and Miss Smith, also of Plainfield, at the Madison.

William M. Coward, of the Scott Press works, returned to this city yesterday after a visit to the home of his parents in England, for several weeks. Mr. Coward was accompanied by his father, who will remain in America for two months.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Peck returned Saturday after an absence of about three weeks. During Mr. Peck's absence the store has been in charge of Miss Lizzie Sanders, a faithful employe of many years, who is very popular with the patrons of the store.

Residents of Washington Park are already returning from their vacations at the sea side, the lake shore and the mountains. Among the recent home-comers are Frank Curtis and family, A. E. Faber and family, A. E. Faber, Jr., and family, and E. J. Waring.

James Cashen, of the Borough, who was fined last week for fast driving, is threatened by Peter Seader with a suit for damages. The horse which Cashen drove belonged to Seader, who complains that Cashen injured the horse and damaged the wagon and harness.

Among the prominent men now at Bar Harbor is Chauncey B. Ripley, Westfield's famous citizen, of the law department of the University of New York. This is his first visit to Bar Harbor, but he expresses himself very enthusiastically about the charms of the place. It is hoped by each habitue of the place that his first visit will not be his last.

The Printers' Circular, a widely-read trade paper published at Philadelphia, comments as follows on a recent change in a prominent Plainfield partnership: "C. Potter, Jr., & Co., the well-known press builders, have admitted David E. Titsworth to membership in the firm. This is a merited recognition of the personal worth, intelligence and ability of the new junior member."

Villagers Call Their School House Names.

Lillie Gibbs, a bright little miss of Scotch Plains, has been writing to the editor of the juvenile department in a big New York paper an entertaining letter about her home. "I am twelve years old," she says—"and attend the new public school. While it was being built some people called it a prison and others called it an asylum. I have but one pet; that is a cat; her name is Yellow Ball; we named her Yellow Ball because she is so fat and yellow. If you think my letter is good enough will you please print it?—because papa will be watching for it."

A Successful Editor Buys Another Paper.

Ex-Senator John Carpenter of Hunterdon county has long been dickering for the purchase of The Daily Times of New Brunswick. He has at length effected a purchase, and has filed a chattel mortgage in the County Clerk's office for $10,000. Editor Carpenter has made a great success of The Domocrat of Clinton, and the new life to be infused into The Times is expected to produce gratifying results. The Times is the only Democratic paper in a Democratic stronghold.

WHAT INVESTIGATION EVIDENCES.

The "World" Discharges Its Plainfield Misrepresenter, and Publishes an Apology to the Water Works Company.

In an article recently published in the New York World, through a local correspondent, the legal existence of the Plainfield Water Works Company and its financial condition, were questioned, and the prominence of the gentlemen mentioned caused the World to send out a special representative to make a thorough investigation. The result of such investigation proved so entirely how unfounded the story was, that the World at once wrote to its correspondent here discharging him, and then published this morning the following as the result of its investigation—almost all of which has already appeared in THE PRESS:

The question of a city water supply had been agitated for a number of years, and in 1889 the Common Council, after considerable discussion, invited proposals from a number of prominent contractors, and the one received from the Company represented by the well-known contractor, Col. Charles K. Moore, of Fanwood, being deemed the most advantageous to the city, was accepted. Mr. Craig Marsh, the Corporation Counsel, in conjunction with the legal representative of the Water-Works Company, prepared the articles of incorporation, and the franchise was granted by the Common Council of 1889, which was then led by Mr. Newhall, in accordance with the advice and direction of the Corporation Counsel.

A bond signed by James Moore, consulting engineer of the New Jersey Central Railroad, and ex-Congressman John Kean, Jr., of Elizabeth, for $50,000, was furnished to the city as a guarantee that the work would be faithfully carried out.

One clause of the contract (58) stipulates that "the Company shall pay to the city, as the work progresses, the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) monthly instalments of $1,000 each, beginning sixty days from date of delivery of contract, and any further sum not exceeding $2,000 that the city shall have expended in connection with the said works in excess of said first-mentioned sum of $8,000, said sum or sums to be considered a part of the cost of the works."

These payments have been regularly paid until the July payment fell due. It was omitted, not from lack of funds, as it was claimed, but owing to circumstances that arose it was agreed between the Chairman of the Water Board and the Water-Works Company, that this payment should not be made until certain things had been done by the city. As the difficulty cannot be adjusted without the assistance of the Corporation Counsel (who is now in Europe) it will be deferred until his return, about the middle of September.

In interviews with several prominent city officials they all expressed their approval of the work done thus far, and when asked if they thought the law under which the Company was incorporated was constitutional, they replied, "Yes," and said further that if it was not the city had granted the contract and accepted the bond under direction of its own legal adviser, consequently it could be held to carry out its part of the contract if the Water Company carried out its part.

James Moore was seen at Elizabeth and expressed his confidence in the Company's ability to perform all it had contracted to do, and when asked about the legal status of the Company he laughed and said that any question of it was too ridiculous to talk about. He felt no uneasiness, and as one financially interested he ought to if anyone did.

John Kean, Jr., was found at his office in Elizabeth. When asked if he had made the statement attributed to him, declaring the Water Works Company's charter unconstitutional, he denied the statement in toto and added that there were two other water works companies organized and at work under the same law, one at Bound Brook and the other at Atlantic City.

The land on which the works are located was purchased from the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company, of which several of the incorporators of the Water Company are stockholders. Col. Moore was found at the works superintending the construction of the new pumping-station, a massive stone building with a slate roof, which is nearing completion. Twenty wells have been sunk and several thousand feet of pipe laid connecting with the engine house. These wells, at a recent test for seven days, demonstrated their capacity to be 4,000,000 gallons every twenty-four hours, and the capacity can be increased by sinking more wells.

Col. Moore has had considerable experience in the construction of water works and has just completed one at Greenport and another at Sag Harbor, L. I. When asked about the possibility of his losing his franchise for failing to keep his contract, he laughed at what he termed nonsense and asked whether the work he was doing looked as if he intended defaulting.

The work of laying the mains will soon be commenced and pushed rapidly to completion. So far as can be ascertained the statements in the article before referred to are entirely unfounded.

—Bridget Newman, who was arrested Thursday night for smashing things by the wholesale in the boulevard, changed her mind Saturday about bringing "a dozen or two dozen witnesses" to prove her innocence of the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, pleaded guilty, and paid a fine of $15.

Another Sale of Suburban Land.

The Real Estate Trust has just closed another important sale of Plainfield property. The purchaser is J. H. Haven, a New York merchant, and the land transferred is a portion of the Randolph Stelle property. It has a frontage of 474 feet on Plainfield avenue, and includes Stelle's Grove and the terrace to Ninth street. Plainfield avenue will now be macadamized to the city line, and a new street will be cut through the property from Central avenue to the junction of Plainfield avenue and Ninth street, making desirable blocks for handsome residences.

The Browns.

Brown has a home full of girls and boys,
Rosy and healthy and full of noise.
They are sprightly at work and bright at their books,
And are noted for smartness and wit and good looks.
Brown is healthy, his wife is fair,
And their faces are free from wrinkles of care;
They spend no money for powders and pills,
And never a dollar for doctor's bills.

The reason is that they begin in the right place. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, by keeping the springs of life pure, the blood free from impurities, wards off all those diseases which spring from bad blood. The use of the "Discovery" prevents liver and kidney troubles, dyspepsia, consumption or lung scrofula, stomach and bowel troubles, and forestalls the beginning of disease. That is why the Browns are so healthy. It is also guaranteed to cure these ailments if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be refunded.

A VILLAGE DEMOLISHED.

Contractors Touch off a Blast Which Blows Thirty-Five Houses to Pieces.

RED CLIFFE, Col., Aug. 18.—The contractors for the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, finding they could not finish a piece of road according to contract, put in a heavy blast containing over a ton of powder, after notifying all people to leave the town and seek safety further up the mountains.

The blast was touched off, and after the smoke cleared away it was found that the whole village had almost been demolished. Nothing was left of five houses, while 30 others were badly wrecked and rendered uninhabitable.

The houses will be rebuilt at the expense of the contractors. In the meantime 35 families will be compelled to live in tents.

Chiefs to Gather at Buffalo.

GALESBURG, Ill., Aug. 18.—S. E. Wilkinson, Grand Master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, left here this morning for Buffalo to attend a meeting of the heads of the several railroad organizations called to consider the New York Central strike.

An Insane Woman's Wild Leap.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Sarah Wilson, aged 25 years, while insane last night, jumped from the second story window of her residence, No. 803 Washington street. She was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital suffering from a sprained back. She has been ill for some time

A Policeman Assaulted by Toughs.

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 18.—Policeman Poll while attempting to arrest some men in a saloon was assaulted by a crowd of toughs. Poll drew a revolver and shot John Cleland through the lungs and Al Cleland in the arm. John Cleland cannot recover.

Locomotive Engineer Killed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—James Pollion, 45 years old, a locomotive engineer, was struck by the Spuyten Duyvil local train at Mott Haven and instantly killed. Pollion leaves a widow, who lives in Troy. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Cleveland Cigarmakers Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18.—A general strike of cigarmakers in this city, involving about 400 men, was inaugurated last night for an advance of $1 per thousand for making all grades of cigars.

The Chickasaw Election Dispute.

ARDMORE, I. T., Aug. 18.—The Indian militia were paid off and discharged by Gov. Byrd yesterday. The application of the squaw men to test the validity of Wednesday's vote will not be considered by the Indian courts. Their grievance will be laid before Congress.

Eight Persons Killed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 18.—By the falling of a scaffolding which had been erected on a building on the Nevski Prospect yesterday, eight persons were killed and eight injured.

WHEN FIRST KNOWN.

THE cravat, or as it is more commonly designated necktie, worn almost universally by gentlemen and recently affected by the fair devotees of fashion, was first worn by the cravates or croates soldiers in the year 1661 to support an amulet which, it was believed, would protect them from saber cuts.

MATTING made of the fibrous parts of plants, such as the rushes and straws, was probably the first kind of cloth invented by wild and uncivilized nations; and the art of spinning thread from fine fibers was probably a refinement upon this, which led to the weaving of what we at present term cloth.

AS IS THE case in many other instances, we owe the invention of visiting-cards to the Chinese. So long ago as the period of the Tong dynasty (618-907) visiting-cards were known to be in use in China, and that is also the date of the introduction of the "red silken cords" which figure so conspicuously on the engagement cards of that country. From ancient times to the present day the Chinese have observed the strictest ceremony with regard to the paying of visits.

ABOUT 450 B. C. the Ionians first introduced the present system of writing from left to right. Previous to the above date from right to left prevailed, although the method called boustrophedon (that is, alternately from right to left and from left to right) was somewhat extensively practiced. The ancient Hebrew and Greek languages were written from right to left until about 450 B. C. when the form of the Greek letters were changed from the unical to the cursive, and the manner of writing changed from right to left to left to right.

Three Speakers at Reform Hall.

At the meeting of the Reform Club last evening President Harper was at his post of duty, George M. Angleman offered prayer, and a choice selection of music was rendered by the choir, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. King, and Mr. Spencer, with George Rogers as accompanist.

Brief but pertinent remarks concerning the devastating effects of intoxicating liquor were made by Messrs Lamphear, Angleman and Harper.

The President announced that Reform Hall would be open for meeting purposes every Sunday and Thursday evenings regardless of the weather, and all the people were invited to attend and help on the good work.

Success is the envy of the weak brained. They seek to get there too. No wonder that they resort to counterfeiting. The reputable dealer should not encourage imitators. Be sure and ask for Hires' Root Beer Packages, and be especially sure you get them.

DESIRABLE
Netherwood Building Sites
FOR SALE.
Apply to J. F. LOESER.
P. O. Box 21. Netherwood, N. J. 7-16-m

NOTICE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., August 12, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that Mathew Kilpatrick has applied to the Common Council of the city of Plainfield for a license to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors in quantities from one quart to five gallons, in the building occupied by him, situate at 79 West Sixth-st, in the Third Ward, which application is signed by

| | |
|---|---|
| Henry Proescher, | William Flatley |
| James Weston, | Peter Collins |
| Thomas Chamberlain, | Patrick Lynch |
| Henry Lutz, | W. Chamberlain. |

citizens and freeholders. All persons knowing any reason why such license should not be granted, are requested to make known the same in writing to the city clerk (at No. 7 Park-ave), on or before August 30, 1890.

Done in accordance with the requirements of an "Ordinance to license inns and taverns and to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors."

J. B.COWARD, City Clerk.

NOTICE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., August 12, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that Michael F. Watson has applied to the Common Council of the City of Plainfield for a license to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors in quantities from one quart to five gallons in the building owned by John C. Welch situated at No. 15 Grant-ave corner of South Second-st, in the Fourth Ward, which application is signed by

| | |
|---|---|
| William Ritter, | Mathew Kilpatrick, |
| Henry Kingslow, | Thomas Burke, |
| Daniel Hibbits, | Joseph Footeth, |
| John Randolph, | John Clyne, |
| | William Callahan, |

citizens and freeholders. All persons knowing of any reason why such license should not be grantee are requested to make known the same in writing to the City Clerk (at No. 7 Park-ave) on or before August 26, 1890.

Done in accordance with the requirements of an ordinance to license inns and taverns and to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors.

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

NOTICE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., August 12, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that August H. Krohne has applied to the Common Council of the City of Plainfield for a license to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors, in quantities from one quart to five gallons in the building owned by George D. Bremmer, situated on Stebbins place, between Second and Third streets, in the Fourth Ward, which application is signed by

| | |
|---|---|
| C. L. Sprich, | Samuel W. Baxter, |
| George Hartfelder, | William H. Kitchen |
| Andrew Zeisz, | P. Ward. |

citizens and freeholders. All persons knowing of any reason why such license should not be granted are requested to make known the same in writing to the City Clerk (at No. 7 Park-ave,) on or before August 30, 1890.

Done in accordance with the requirements of an "Ordinance to license inns and taverns and to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors."

J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7: 30, 8 40, A. M., 12: 15, 2: 30, 5: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 and 9: 30 A. M., 1: 45, 5: 30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8: 40 A. M., 2: 40, 6: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 A. M., 4: 30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4: 30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9: 30 to 10: 30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6: 30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

DEATHS.

BROWN—In North Plainfield, Aug. 16, 1890, Marshall Brown, aged 80 years.
Funeral from his late residence, 98 Manning avenue, Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 19, at 2: 30 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

LOST. Saturday evening, two children's dresses. Reward at 15 East Front street.

FULL-SPRING, square-box Buggy, made by Hetfield & Jackson, in good order, for sale. Also small segar case, at No. 17 Park ave. 8 18 3

FOR SALE—Square piano, with rosewood case, carved legs, cover and stool; 7 octave; in perfect order. Inquire at PRESS office.

TO LET—Three rooms; rent low; to small family. Apply at PRESS office. 8 18-3

WANTED—Neat, competent colored woman, for general housework. References required. 148 West Front street.

LOST—A lady's silver watch and gold chain, on Saturday night. Suitable reward to finder. Wm. Smalley, 98 Somerset street.

LOST, a Jersey Cow. The finder will be paid for his trouble by returning her to the owner, 67 Mountain avenue, North Plainfield.

LOST—A watch charm, with two photographs in it. Return to Alfred P. Drew, at Manning's granite yard, Front street, and receive a reward.

LOST—Between the depot and 36 Somerset street, a bundle containing lady's wearing apparel. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to City Mills. 8-16-tf

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms, to respectable colored family. Apply PRESS office. 8-12-tf

DRESSMAKING in all its branches; cutting and fitting by the McDowell system. Satisfaction guaranteed. Call at No. 6 West Second street. 8-12-6

LOT FOR SALE—Elegant building lot on Sanford avenue. Good investment. Apply E. C. Mulford, Broker. 8-11-6

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-1y

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & Co. 6-11-tf

OUR MOTTO.—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.
The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 25c pound.
Havermeyer & Elder's standard Granulated Sugar.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEMAREST, 25 PARK AVENUE. 2-5-t

THE WARREN MISSION
EXCURSION
FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1890,
To Asbury Park and Ocean Grove,
Stopping at Long Branch both ways.
Leave Dunellen, 7: 45; Plainfield, 8 A. M. Returning, leave Asbury Park, 6 P. M.
Adult Tickets, $1 25.
Children, 5 to 12 years, 90 cts.
All baskets and parcels, properly marked with owner's name, will be in charge of a responsible person on the train, and will be delivered both ways, free of charge, to Ross' pavilion, Ocean Grove. 8-14-w

MUSIC HALL. N. H. A.
WEDNESDAY, AUG. 20.
Engagement of the Young American Star,
CORA TANNER,
Under the management of Col. Wm. E. Sinn in a new and original play, written expressly for her by Mr. Edward E. Kidder, entitled
"ONE ERROR."
Presented by an Elegant Company, and Elegant Parisian Costumes.
PRICES—35c., 50c., 75c, and $1.
Seats on sale Monday. 8-14-td

MOY.
8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S
EXPRESS.
OFFICE—39 North Avenue,
Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15-tf

LAUNDRY.
Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-y

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 2-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 8-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM.
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 8-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING,
Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 8-25-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,
NORTH PLAINFIELD.
4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE.
OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
45 North Avenue,
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting. 2-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 58.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-4-t

PECK'S CORNER.
WHERE IS
The Crowd Going?
TO PECK'S!
AS USUAL.

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS.
CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

SPECIAL SALE OF WHITE GOODS.
Our 18 cent Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 18 cent Lace Check and Plaid Nainsook for 14 cents.
Our 12 cent Lace Check Nainsook for 9 cents.
Our 10 cent " " " for 7 cents.
Our 20 cent Plain India Lawn for 15 cents.
Every department filled with fresh choice goods.
Laces, Embroideries, Ruching, Gloves, Handkerchiefs and Ribbons
Our Fast-Black Hosiery for Ladies, Gents and Children—the best make in the market.
A nice assortment of Black Lace Fichues, very cheap.
In our Corset Stock you will find the celebrated "C-P." Thompson's Glove-Fitting, short and medium lengths—French woven—"The Royal Worcester," in grey.
Gentlemen will find all they need in our well stocked Furnishing Goods Department. Latest styles in Neckwear.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE,
—SELLING OUT CHEAP!—
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.
1-8-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters.
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. Points worth considering:
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot.— (Chotola Building), —Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,
A SPECIALTY.
4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And
Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

PLAINFIELD WOMEN THEIR LEADERS.

Feminine Hands That Have Helped to Develop a Great Idea.

The Chautauqua educational movement, whose wonderful growth is familiar to all Plainfielders, is just now receiving a great deal of attention at the hands of the metropolitan newspapers, and the various journals are unanimous and spontaneous in giving praise, for the development of the idea, to the Plainfield women who have been such strong and active leaders in the work. Even Bishop Vincent, "the father of Chautauqua," has received no more journalistic notice than his powerful feminine aids.

Miss Kate F. Kimball, the Secretary of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, whose headquarters were for a long time in New Jersey's Crescent city, is spoken of as one of the youngest and brightest women among the leaders of Chautauqua. She has been a worker in the Society twelve busy years, and the history of her labors and success is fully reported in the columns of a prominent New York paper by a visitor to the University now in session at Chautauqua Lake.

"Another very earnest young lady"—continues the Chautauqua-enraptured correspondent—"who also must have been quite a babe when she entered upon her Chautauquan labors is Miss Georgia L. Chamberlin, also a Plainfield girl. She is a petite brunette with brilliant coloring. She is secretary of the college and has been in that position about nine years. The college building was erected three years ago and contains a number of class rooms, each of which is generally occupied every hour during the day.

"Glancing in at the doors we saw the Browning class, chiefly composed of women, the majority of whom were elderly, Prof. McClintock, a former Plainfielder, was reading aloud Rossetti's 'Blessed Damosel' to rapt auditors.

"Miss Chamberlin said that many theological students avail themselves of Chautauqua's opportunities to obtain a preparatory course at less time and at less expense than it could be got elsewhere. Also college boys cover in six weeks a year's course, and get plenty of boating and tennis besides.

"There is only one woman professor at Chautauqua, although a number of women teach and lecture. This notable exception is Mrs. P. L. McClintock, the wife of the young-looking Plainfield professor who was reading 'Rosetti' to the Browning class. She teaches Anglo-Saxon and old English, and is a tall, graceful young woman who contrives to interest deeply a large class of thirty-eight men and women in the literature of King Alfred and Beowulf. Phonology and grammar are also dealt with. There is a class in Chaucer. Mrs. McClintock is devoted to her favorite study of the historical development of language. She took up teaching from being called upon to fill an accidental vacancy in a college."

"Chautauqua is a village of tents and houses, Swiss chalets and board shanties, 'halls,' a hotel, and an amphitheatre, which is a strange-looking place when empty and a remarkable spectacle when filled. It is on a side hill, which has been excavated to form a hollow, which is lined with closely set tiers of benches, separated by paths which converge and slope down to the platform below the organ loft. The sides are open. The roof, which rises towards the centre, is a perfect sounding-board. The amphitheatre will seat about 7,000 persons. Its acoustics are admirable. When there is any entertainment in prospect people go there hours before the time appointed in order to secure seats. Men take books and papers, and women read or work to while away the time of waiting. Those who arrive late form part of the crowd, sometimes eight or ten deep, standing around outside under the projecting roof, which forms a shelter.

"There are thousands of people at Chautauqua, and not a few of the visitors are from Plainfield, which was long the central home of the thousands of Circles. The community is singularly unconventional. It is eminently democratic, yet not in the least vulgar."

Another correspondent, anxious to do justice to a Plainfield woman in whose praise too much cannot be said, writes truthfully as follows:

One of the chief causes of the growth of the Circle from an original membership of 700 in 1878 is the wonderful energy and ability of its secretary, Miss Kate F. Kimball, who directs a force of twenty assistants, controls about $30,000 a year of the Assembly's funds, and answers 50,000 letters every year. She shows untiring industry, great grasp of detail, and unlimited capacity for business management. Her manner is quiet but alert, and her dark, attractive face expresses unlimited patience and good nature. She has originated some valuable plans of work, and her books show the exact standing of each of the 160,000 readers whom she has brought into direct contact with the main office. She can furnish offhand the number of graduates of any particular class, can tell to a nicety how many of the 13,000 new readers enrolled last Fall will drop out at given periods of the course, knows the name of the publisher of the Assyrian edition of The Chautauquan, and is even believed to be able to read the Japanese translation, which is published every month on the other side of the Pacific for the use of the Japanese circles. She is especially proud of the gain of 33 per cent. in the enrollment this year on the California coast, and of the undiminished number of applications from the Eastern States, where the Circle is "no new thing."

Miss Kimball was born at Orange, N. J., was educated at the Plainfield High School, and has been a Chautauqua worker since 1878. The main offices were lately removed from Plainfield, N. J., to Buffalo. In the current number of The Chautauquan appears a racy article by Miss Kimball, describing what she aptly calls the "Arabian Nights Story" of the development of the Circle, which has enrolled as many as 25,000 members within a single year.

—Congressman J. A. Geissenhainer has the thanks of THE PRESS for valuable public documents.

THE SON OF HIS FATHER.

Bishop Vincent's Shoes None Too Big for "George."

A brilliant and popular young man whose home was for years in Plainfield, till his father became a Bishop, is receiving showers of admiration and commendation from newspaper men for the able way in which he manages affairs at Chautauqua. One voluble correspondent writes as follows concerning the youthful executive, who is constantly proving himself more and more the indubitable son of his father:

Among the hundreds of earnest men at the head of one or other of the departments of work at Chautauqua, the individual oftenest seen but hardest to hold when you catch him is a tall, handsome, alert young man whom all the older Chautauquans address as "George," and about whom all the people on the grounds have something good to say and nothing bad. George has a hard row to hoe. I'd rather run the government of the United States or be the "information man" at the Grand Central Depot than unload George's work upon my shoulders. This young man is a son of Chancellor Vincent, and his father's recent promotion to a bishopric, with consequent absence from Chautauqua, has compelled him to "be about his father's business," and do a great deal of the executive work which Dr. Vincent has been doing the past fifteen years. To be obliged to stand in a great man's place is never a pleasant experience for a young man who has a level head on his shoulders, but the unanimous opinion at Chautauqua is that George in his father's shoes doesn't "rattle 'round" a particle. He is energetic, active, effective, but extremely modest. He "has charge of the programme"—a form of words that expresses nothing to a person who has not been here, but which really requires as much ability as the management of a great business enterprise. On general principles I suppose George sleeps sometimes, but no one ever sees him resting between eight A. M. and half-past ten P. M.—a long business day. Most men would break down under the strain this young fellow is enduring, but fortunately while going through Yale young Vincent did not neglect his duties at the gymnasium and its informal annexes. It is no secret that his endurance and unchanging cheerfulness are partly due to his wife, who seems in full sympathy with him in all his work. To see this delicate, refined little woman dash off with her husband on a steam launch in search of a belated lecturer, go through a train and secure the expected man, while blundering volunteers of the male persuasion are running the risk of being carried off the wrong direction or having their heads knocked off by passing trains, is to realize that women can do whatever they like when they give their minds to it.

Another eminent Plainfielder who is famous throughout the country for his Chautauquan and Sunday school work is the Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, who is referred to by a correspondent as "a versatile and accomplished speaker and writer who is as popular as he is successful. He is the father of the Epworth League, a young people's church association, which in one year has attained the surprising membership of 150,000 and is still growing. In consultation with the chancellor and the secretary, he plans the reading courses in The Chautauquan and selects the books to be studied.

"Dr. Hurlbut's connection with Chautauqua dates from 1875, and he has been principal of the Circle since 1885. He is corresponding secretary of the Sunday school Union and Tract Society. He travels about 20,000 miles a year, has been present at six Assemblies this season, and has spoken since June 1 over 160 times. He is the author of several books, including 'Bible Geography' and 'Studies in the Four Gospels.' He has a pretty cottage at Chautauqua, presides at the Round Tables in Bishop Vincent's absence, and gives daily lectures on the Bible."

THE DEATH OF F. M. GATES.

The Missionaries Trusted to Faith-Cure, and Refused Medical Aid.

The tidings received several days ago by Wm. L. Gavett of Plainfield, informing him of the death of his nephew, F. M. Gates, on the unfortunate expedition of American evangelical missionaries to the Soudan, has been supplemented by information which dispels the idea that savages killed the daring young Christians.

The news comes in the form of a letter from Judson A. Lewis, who for eleven years was the United States Consul at Sierra Leone, and who is familiar with the country through which the missionaries attempted to make their way. The letter contains a clipping from the Sierra Leone Weekly News, of the date of July 12, which is as follows:

Out of a party of nine white American missionaries, including two ladies, who have come from Topeka, Kansas, specially in the interest of the unevangelized of the interior of Africa and the Soudan, and have been staying at the house of J. Augustus Beckley, in Howe street, three of them died during the week of fever, including one lady, Mrs. Kingman, wife of the superintendent of the Mission, who is himself lying dangerously ill. This party, who have been trying to adopt the customs of the country and have insisted to do for themselves, have also refused all medical aid, as they are believers of the faith-healing principles. We understand that the rest of the party are fever-stricken and that steps are being taken to isolate them.

Quoted His Text From Pilate.

The Rev. Mr. Earle, of Westfield, conducted the services in the Church of the Holy Cross, North Plainfield, yesterday morning, the rector, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, being absent from home. A good sized congregation listened with much interest to Mr. Earle's able and instructive sermon which was based on the words of Pilate, "Behold the man," as contained in the XIXth chapter of John.

A Plan to Make Their Royal Order Grow.

The Royal Arcanum Councils of Plainfield, Fanwood, Westfield and Flemington, have been formed into one of twelve State reunion districts, under a new plan approved by the Grand Regent of New Jersey, and twice a month, during the Fall and Winter seasons, the four Councils will meet together and have the merriest kind of a social gathering.

FOR LITTLE PEOPLE.

WHAT EDDY THINKS.

It isn't much fun a-living
If grandpa says what's true,
That this is the jolliest time o' life
That I'm a-passing through.
I'm 'fraid he can't remember,
It's been so awful long,
I'm sure if he could recollect
He'd know that he was wrong.

Did he ever have, I wonder,
A sister just like mine,
Who'd take his skates, or break his kite,
Or tangle up his twine?
Did he ever chop the kindling,
Or fetch in coal and wood,
Or offer to turn the wringer?
If he did, he was awful good!

In summer, it's "weed the garden,"
In winter, it's "shovel the snow;"
For there isn't a single season
But has its work, you know.
And then, when a fellow's tired,
And hopes he may just sit still,
It's "bring me a pail of water, son,
From the spring at the foot of the hill."

How can grandpa remember
A fellow's grief or joy?
'Tween you and me, I don't believe
He ever was a boy.
Is this the jolliest time o' life?
Believe it I never can;
Nor that it's as nice to be a boy
As a really grown-up man.
—Eva Best, in Harper's Young People.

THE OLD TRAMP.

Bessie Was Sorry for Him Because He Was Poor and Cold and Hungry.

Great flakes of snow were falling softly to the ground. Bessie stood watching them from the window. She was alone in the kitchen. Mamma had gone upstairs to make the beds, and the pretty rag doll lay neglected on the floor. Suddenly Bessie heard a sound at the back door.

"That's papa," she thought. But, no! when she opened the door there stood a lame old man, shivering with the cold. He was a funny old man. He wore a hood and a long cloak and a pair of green spectacles.

Bessie was surprised, but not frightened. "Come in, if you please," she said, sweetly.

The old man walked in and sat by the fire.

Bessie sat down opposite him on her little stool. She waited for the old man to speak, but he did not.

Finally she said: "Please, sir, are you a tramp?"

The old man smiled. "Yes," he said, "I've tramped 'way from the village this morning."

"Oh!" cried Bessie, "then you are tired. Are you hungry, too?"

"A little," said the tramp.

Bessie's heart was filled with pity. She went to the pantry and brought out bread, doughnuts, meat and a piece of pie.

"Please eat some breakfast," she said, solemnly.

The old man's eyes twinkled. He sat down at the table. Bessie looked on in surprise. "He is so hungry, poor, poor man!" she said, softly.

Presently mamma's step was heard. She opened the door and stood still.

"Why, Bessie!" she exclaimed.

Bessie ran to her, saying: "Please, mamma, he is very poor, and was cold and hungry."

The old man turned around. And then, what do you think! mamma went right up and kissed him.

Bessie looked very sober. She didn't think it was quite right to kiss a tramp.

"Won't you kiss me, too?" asked the tramp. Bessie shook her head. Mamma laughed. So did the old man.

"Well, will you now, Bessie?" and the lame old man stood up very straight, threw off his cloak and hood, and took off his green spectacles.

"Grandpa, grandpa!" cried Bessie, running right into the old man's arms. She kissed him ever so many more times than mamma did.

She was surprised, but was very happy, to find that the old tramp was really her own dear grandpa.—Dora Leslie, in Our Little Ones.

BEING RICH.

Jasmine Learns That There Are Best Things That Money Can Not Buy.

"I don't like to be poor!" said Jasmine, with a frown on her dimpled face. "'Tisn't nice at all, and I don't like it!"

"Why," said mamma, "I think we are rich."

"Mamma Ferry! we are poor as we can be, almost. I wish you could see the beautiful things at Pauline Carlton's. Lace curtains, and carpets that your feet sink into just as they do in the green moss in the woods; and pictures, and a whole room full of flowers, and the nicest things to eat and—every thing you can think of."

"Those things are pleasant to have," said mamma, with a smile.

"Oh, if you could see Pauline's room, mamma," said Jasmine. "It is just like a bit of fairy-land; and she has a playroom full of dolls, and play-things, and tops; and one doll is most as big as she is. It can talk, and walk, and it has such beautiful dresses. If I had such lovely things as Pauline has I know I should be happy all the day long."

"Do you think so?" asked mamma, still smiling. "Well, perhaps so; but I think, dear, we are richer than the Carltons."

"Why what do you mean?" said Jasmine. "They have every thing, but if there was any thing more they wanted they could buy it, for Pauline says her papa is the richest man in town. He's got piles and piles of money. Why, there is the Carlton carriage stopping at our door!"

Mrs. Ferry answered the door-bell and found the coachman with a letter.

"It is a note from Pauline's Aunt Sarah," said mamma. "She writes that Pauline has a slight cold and would like to have you come and stay a few days, as she is lonesome. Do you want to go, dear?"

"Oh, yes, mamma!" cried Jasmine, delighted. "Please get me ready. I'm so glad Pauline wants me. How long may I stay, mamma?"

"You may stay as long as Pauline wants you, if you like," mamma answered. "Remember, dear, that you are a guest, and try to be polite and ladylike. If you are homesick, you can come back any time."

"Course I shan't be homesick there," said the happy little girl. "Good-bye, mamma, dear."

Jasmine rode gaily away in the fine carriage, throwing a kiss from the window to her mamma, who watched her from the cottage door.

But the Carlton carriage stopped again at the small house the very next afternoon, and a little girl, with a sober face, rushed into her mother's arms.

"I'm so glad to be home," she cried. "Oh mamma, it seems so good to hug you!"

"I am glad to have you back again," said mamma. "Papa and I were very lonesome last evening without our little girl. But I did not expect you so soon. Did you enjoy your visit?"

"No, mamma," said Jasmine. "I tried to do as you said, but I couldn't please Pauline anyway—nobody could. I did every thing just as she wanted it, and then she said I didn't do any thing right. She stamped her foot at the nurse, and talked cross to Aunt Sarah, until I was almost frightened. And, mamma, because Aunt Sarah wouldn't give her five kinds of frosted cake, to play party with, she threw her beautiful tea-set on the floor and broke ever so many of the dishes. I couldn't help crying."

"That is very sad," said mamma.

"I'm glad Mr. Carlton isn't my papa," said Jasmine. "Some men brought him home in the evensng, and I thought he was sick, he talked so queer, and couldn't walk, but Pauline said 'twas 'cause he drank so much wine. Wasn't it dreadful, mamma?"

"Very dreadful," said Mrs. Ferry.

"Then when we went to bed Pauline didn't know a single prayer—nobody told her about it. And no mamma came to kiss us. I cried myself to sleep."

"How very strange," said mamma. "When they have so much money, why couldn't Pauline have sent the nurse to buy her a sweet temper, and a nice papa, who would not drink too much wine? Why didn't she ask Aunt Sarah, or some one, to buy her a dear, new mamma, to kiss her at night, and love her always?"

Jasmine hid her face on mamma's shoulder.

"Mamma Ferry!" she cried, "I'd rather have you, and papa, and my Claribel, with her arm broken, and the paint rubbed off her nose, and our little house with no carpets or pictures—hardly—than all the beautiful things at Pauline's. I had truly."

Mamma smiled and said: "I told you so, dear. We are rich—richer than the Carltons."—Julia D. Peek, in Golden Rule.

The Hen and the Baby.

Once upon a time, long ago, there was an old-fashioned farm-house with a very large kitchen.

This kitchen had two doors, one opening into the yard, and one into the orchard, where the hens were sometimes let out to scratch about.

One morning there was a dear little baby girl sitting on the floor right in the middle of the room, where she could play with her spools and look out of doors at the same time. On one side she could look out into the yard and study the big pump, and on the other she could watch the chickens running about under the apple-trees.

When no one was at the pump she liked the chickens best, and tried to call them to her.

One day the little brown hen came up to the door and looked in. All was still. She could see no one but the brown-eyed baby sitting flat on her blanket.

"Da! da!" said baby.

"Cluck! cluck!" said the little brown hen.

"Da! da!" squealed little brown-eyes, shaking her spools in delight.

The little brown hen cocked her head on one side and looked at baby's little red boots with the black buttons on them.

"They are good to eat," she concluded, and hopped a little nearer, and then a little nearer, until she came at last to the little red shoes—and soon she was tugging at them with her bill, trying in vain to get them off.

"Da! da!" said baby, pleased with her new playmate and not a bit afraid.

"Cluck! cluck!" said the hen, wondering why these strange berries wouldn't come off their stems, when "Shoo! shoo!" came from behind and sent her flying from the kitchen in a hurry to find the other hens and tell them of her discovery.

And then baby began to cry because she didn't like to have her caller driven away so suddenly.—Youth's Companion.

The Same Material.

Whether in-doors or out, walking, riding or rowing; whether in the cellar, kitchen, parlor or bed-room, we see thousands of things made of seemingly strange material, which, if examined, would show us the same stuff—the natural produce of the earth—used by the savages, but differently and dexterously combined by better educated hands.

This fur, which is used nowadays for cloaks, hats, trimmings, rugs and brushes, was at one time used for only a sort of shawl, being merely cut from the animal and put to dry in the sun. Wood, which with mud made the savage's home, or roughly whittled made his tools, is now fashioned into all kinds of furniture, vehicles, instruments of every shape and variety, machines and countless other things.

Iron, from which only money and weapons were once made, is useful in machinery, architecture and a thousand other branches.

Butter, which is almost indispensable to the meal nowadays, was formerly used solely as an ointment. Herodotus, a Greek historian, is the first writer who mentions butter, five hundred years before Christ. The Spartans treated it very much the same as we do cologne, and Plutarch tells how a hostess was sickened at the sight of one of her visitors, a Spartan, who was saturated in butter.

The Scythians introduced the article to the Greeks, and the Germans showed the Romans how to make it. But the latter did not use it for food; they, like the Spartans, anointed their bodies with it.—Santa Claus.

—No one can be much of a Christian without helping somebody.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.
Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
AT MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
29 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 8-26-w

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD,
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 8-1-tf

CLAIRVOYANT.
By request of her many patrons, Mrs. Dr. Edwards, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 13, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26. Will then leave positively. 8-14-6

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
200 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-28-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Bowers and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 8-8-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY.
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 307. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.
Orders promptly attended to. All work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 6-14-y

ALLEN,
THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
28 EAST FRONT ST.

DON'T FORGET!
That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT 7 P. M.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street. 1-18-tf

Carpenters and Builders.
PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Residence—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Door and Window Screens a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. Whitlock. D. L. Hulick 6-3-tf

G. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
Residence—52 Madison Avenue. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
Residence—Clinton ave., near depot, Bvona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 3-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 24th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
Samuel French & Son, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street. 6-16-to-sep1

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Boycotting 1-14-tf

Educational.
PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENTON, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
28 East Fifth Street.
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
French and German taught by the Berlitz method. Mrs. R. C. DINGEE, Principal. 8-16 3m

Professional Cards.
MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. H. Hornish, 16 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Radicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8-27-tf

DR. M. B. SIMPSON,
Office and Residence—20 W. Fifth St., Corner of Liberty.
Office Hours—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
First National Bank Building.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
Cor. Park and North Aves. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.
A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber, and Coal Merchants.
Corner Park Avenue and Railroad,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal Under Cover.
Alfred D. Cook. my10y1 Robert H. Cook

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 3 E. Front Street. my10y

Miscellaneous.
RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 121. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my10

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1-6-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLEY
21 East 5th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a Specialty. 6-30-to8-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840,
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY. 4-4-6m

A RURAL ROMANCE.

(SOMEWHAT IN THE LINE OF LORD TENNYSON'S PASTORAL POEMS, ONLY DIFFERENT.)

Two honest husbandmen dwelt side by side
In farms adjoining. Grubbs and Stubbs their names.
Rough, homely names in sooth; but all they had,
And oft those names had served them in good stead
When they had need of names to sign to notes
Grubbs had a son Ezekiel tall and staunch
As any rustic who wore pants in boots,
And rose at four to milk his seven kine
And seek for eggiets in the hennery.
Stubbs had no sons; a daughter only came
To bless her father's home, to shed sunlight
About its rooms and eke to do odd chores
'Twixt meal times. She was fair to look upon
As snowdrops blossoming in early spring.
Her name was Mary Ann, a gentle name,
And gently borne by her. Ezekiel saw
And loved her, whom to see and love were one.
The farms adjoined and were but kept apart
By one plain picket fence of easy compass,
Through which the faithful dog of Farmer Stubbs
Did oft meander in the eventide
To chase the dogs of worthy Farmer Grubbs.
Thus was a feud begun between the twain;
But Mary Ann and young Ezekiel too
Were not a part of the parental strife.
Equal their fathers' lots; content were they
To know that when some day the old men hopped
The golden twig, the farms should be united,
A goodly estate for a goodly pair.

But one day came a shadow o'er their paths.
A schemer from the town intruded on
The peaceful confines of the Grubbs estate,
Looked here, dug there and sniffed and snuffed about,
Saying wiseacredy, with shake of head:
"There's oil upon this land, of that I'm sure.
Oil that is pent up in a mighty store.
Dig, farmer, and I'll warrant thee thou'lt find Riches, the like which thou wotst not of."
So he departed. Then good Farmer Grubbs
Did hold his head aloft and elevate
His nose when neighbors passed, as who should say:
"I shall be rich. There's oil on this, my land,
And wealth immense shall speedily be mine."
So when Ezekiel came and softly said:
"Father, I fain would wed with Mary Ann,"
He waxed full wroth, exclaiming in his wrath:
"How now? thou who, when we have dug for oil,
Shalt be a man of riches; wilt thou wed
This beggar's brat, this pauper farmer's child?
Go to! It shall not be."

And so the son
Went sorrowingly to tell his Mary Ann
And break the match, explaining as he might
That he so rich must look above poor her.

Then there was digging on the Grubbs estate,
Digging in day-time, boring in the night
For oil, rich oil, that was to make them rich.
For days and weeks and months they dug and bored.
What came of't? Nothing, nothing, ever nothing.
Then came the city schemer, and he looked
About the place exclaiming: "Marvelous!
Behold the vein of oil that once lay here
Has vanished and has made its oily way
Beneath you fence to Farmer Stubbs' estate.
His is the oil well; yours the memory of't."
So saying he vanished, and Ezekiel wept.

That night he hied him unto Mary Ann,
And told her that his love had never ceased,
Besought her take him back and let no oil,
No sordid, oleaginous obstacle
Disturb the dream, the golden dream of love.
She said him nay and mocked him.

So he went
Kicking himself adown the dusty lane.
Then Farmer Stubbs set cheerily to work,
And in a few weeks' time struck oil right rich.
A fortune rolled in and his wealth became
So vast that all around marveled thereat.
So Stubbs waxed wealthy, and so Mary Ann,
Her father's heiress, grew accustomed to
Ezekiel's loss and married very soon
A foreign nobleman with heavy bills
Which Mary Ann's papa paid willingly.

So read and learn that we can never tell
Who that is down to-day may not be up
To-morrow, and who down that now is up.
—Harry B. Smith, in America.

AN ACCEPTABLE OFFER.

Story of an Old-Fashioned Donation Party.

"IS THIS all we've got for dinner?" said Leslie Bernard, rather dolefully.

"Isn't it enough?" retorted Clara, her sister.

The dining-room in Glenwood Parsonage was unmistakably shabby. It was bad enough when the friendly gloom of a rainy day concealed its shortcomings in some degree. But on a clear, uncompromising August noon like this, the cruel sunshine revealed each crack in the ceiling, and every worn spot in the carpet like a magnifying-glass.

And really there was some occasion for the doleful look with which Leslie regarded the table. There was the extreme shank bone of a ham boiled into rags, a few slices of cold beef, some baked potatoes, and a custard that certainly had not been rendered indigestible by too much richness of material. There were the remains of yesterday's stew, half a cold apple pie, and a plate of home-made pickles; and around this meal gathered four little Bernards, with ravenous eyes, while Harry, the eldest brother, who had been doing some amateur white-washing, was making a hasty toilet in the sink-room; and the two grown sisters superintended the banquet.

Mr. Bernard was engaged in writing his next Sunday's sermon, and his wife was at a neighbor's house, helping to nurse a cross old woman, who had worn out everybody's patience but her own.

"Enough, I suppose," said Leslie, "but not very appetizing. Now, is it?"

"Poor folks have no business to expect appetizing food," said Clara, shortly. "In fact I don't think they have any business to live at all. Davy, take your fingers out of the sugar-bowl. Ida, sit up straight."

"Why, Clara, what's the matter?" said Leslie, gently, moving the bowl of sugar out of young David's reach, and helping to perpendicularize the small Ida in her chair.

"Oh! I don't know," replied Clara; "I'm cross."

"No need to tell us that," observed Harry, seating himself. "It is one of the very few facts patent to all observers. Where is father?"

"It's that donation party," said Clara, with an impatient, backward toss of her auburn hair.

"Eh?" said Harry.

"I hate donation parties!" cried out Clara, recklessly carving the end of ham into unctuous shavings. "I think they're an insult to people. So, there!"

Harry whistled; Leslie smiled; the children all stared.

"If they want to do papa a favor," went on Clara, breathlessly, loading up the children's plates with all sorts of incongruous materials, "why don't they pay him his salary, instead of letting it run behind? Why don't they repair this dismal hole of a parsonage, and stop the church chimney from smoking, and do what they ought to do? Who wants Mrs. Hampton to bring us a chair tidy, and Squire Ramsey to sort out all his damaged beans for our benefit, and Annie Smith to work horrible pen-wipers for us? We're not objects of charity yet, are we?"

"Hush, Clara," soothed Leslie.

"It's the custom, sis," said Harry. "I can't say that I quite uphold it myself; but hush, here comes father."

Mr. Bernard was a mild old gentleman, with a bald head and spectacles, who sat down to his meal in an absent sort of way, as if his mind were somewhat in Syro-Phœnicia. The children might easily have continued their discussion and he would have been none the wiser.

Clara Bernard was twenty years old. She was not a beauty, nor was she remarkably talented; but she had a round, fresh face, with hazel eyes, and warm red-brown hair, and there was a deal of common-sense in her make-up.

Leslie was the family beauty—a pink and white Dresden china little creature—and Clara had it fully settled that Leslie was to make a brilliant match, while she, Clara, was to settle down into the monotony of old maidism. But there were some things that she would have liked different, and the coming donation party weighed very heavily upon her soul. It was supposed to be a surprise to the minister and his wife. Clara, Leslie and Harry had, however, been let into the secret as a sort of necessary preliminary.

"I wish," said Leslie thoughtfully, "that Mrs. Hays would think to give us a new sitting-room carpet. Ours is worn through to the very boards of the floor; and she has just recarpeted her own house with real Brussels."

"She will give you a bunch of paper-roses, you will see," scornfully retorted Clara.

"The Hamptons are rich," said Harry. "Little mother would appreciate a sewing-machine from Mrs. Hampton, now wouldn't she?"

Clara shrugged her shoulders.

"I can tell exactly what Mrs. Hampton means to give us," said she. "One of those book-marks that her granddaughter worked, or a splatter-worked tidy. Oh, Harry, if you only knew how I hated all this!"

Toward dusk the presents began to come in. Mrs. White sent a jug of coal-oil, Deacon Jones brought a bag of walnuts ("just as if the woods weren't full of them," said Clara, contemptuously), Minnie Brown brought a chair-tidy, Miss Kiser contributed a staring chromo, the Widow Jackson a bag of rancid hen's feathers, Charlie Young a setting of duck's eggs. It was planned to fill the back kitchen with gifts of this nature, and to display them all at once to the minister and his wife, as a "surprise."

"Sister," piped little Ida, "here's a chair from Mrs. Forrest!"

Leslie groaned.

"Its the old chair that stood all last summer on her porch," said she. "Painted over and glued up. But it won't last a month."

"Mrs. Forrest all over," said Clara. "At this rate we shall be rich."

It was nearly dark when Norman Arlington came in. Clara was emptying a paper of yeast cakes which old Mrs. Harrington had sent. Old Mrs. Harrington had been very sick that summer, and both Mr. Bernard and his wife had kept many a faithful vigil at her side. Naturally, she wished to show her appreciation of all this. Yeast cakes were a penny a piece at the village store, and she had sent half a dozen of home manufacture. Norman Arlington was a tall, straight, young man, with black eyes, and a quiet, earnest way with him. He came in with a bag over his shoulder. Clara eyed him antagonistically.

"Well," said she.

"You're going to have a donation party here to-night, they tell me?" said Norman.

"Yes sir," answered Clara.

There was a warning flash in Clara's eyes.

"I thought I would come in early—

"YOU'RE GOING TO HAVE A DONATION PARTY HERE."

before the commotion began," said he.

She laughed scornfully.

"The commotion is here now," said Clara.

"Clara!"

"Yes, Mr. Arlington."

"Would you be offended if I were to offer you—"

"Yes, I would," broke out Clara, reddening to the very roots of her hair. "I don't want it! It's an insult! Carry it back home, whatever it is, and please—please don't think that because I have the misfortune to be a minister's daughter, that—"

Norman's black eyes glittered, half with fun, half with vexation.

"Clara," said he, "you are a little vixen! Won't you hear me out?"

"Is it buckwheat flour?" said Clara, indignantly eying the bag, "or is it black-eyed beans? Because we've got a plenty of both, thank you all the same."

"The bag is not intended for you," said Norman. "It is on its way to Dr. Holmes, full of castor beans. I couldn't put my offering into a bag nor pack it in a box. It's too big."

"Nobody wants your offering," retorted Clara.

Norman put the bag on a chair and took both Clara's little hands in his.

"Are you quite sure of that?" said he. "Dear little Clara, don't look so cross at me. I came here to offer you myself, and I don't propose to go away until you have said either yes or no. I know you are cross; but I can't help risking it. Clara, I can't live any longer in suspense. I love you in spite of all the scoldings you give me, and I want to marry you. Come, Clara, is it yes or no?"

Clara blushed redder than any rose. She made an instinctive movement to slip out of the room, but Norman intercepted her and placed his back composedly against the door.

"I MUST LET HIM IN," PLEADED CLARA.

"No," said he, "there's no escape for you until I get my answer."

At that moment there came a prodigious knocking at the door.

"It's Squire Dixon," gasped Clara, "with a gallon can of kerosene oil!"

"I don't care if it is a cargo of dynamite!" said Norman. "Is it yes?"

"I must let him in!" pleaded Clara.

"Is it no?"

"And there is Dr. Gibson's gig, with a bundle of broom-corn and a basket of Hubbard squashes! Do let me go, Norman!"

"Not one step, until my fate is decided!"

Clara darted a shy glance at him from under her long lashes. Apparently she was meditating a rebellion; but a second knocking of persistent knuckles at the door decided the question.

"They will knock in the panels!" said she. "Yes, Norman—yes! Only let me open the door."

But even then Norman would not suffer her to open the door until he had taken a very deliberate and satisfactory kiss. "You are a little darling," said he. "And I knew I should conquer you in time."

The Squire and the doctor came in, but Norman had taken himself and his bag of castor beans off through the open window.

"Any thing wrong with the fastenin's o' this 'ere door?" said the Squire, gruffly.

"I—I couldn't get the barrel of apples out of the way," said Clara, coloring very red.

The donation party came triumphantly off that night. Apples and salt pork, patch-work quilts and many tidies were received. The minister made a speech of thanks. Mrs. Bernard wondered how much would be left of her best china dishes and worn carpets before the company was gone. But through it all Clara seemed to walk on rose-colored clouds. Nothing put her out. All the irritation was gone from her heart; and Leslie, watching her with a smile, said to herself: "Dear Clara, so it has come at last. The enchanted prince has ridden up to the castle gates and set her free. I am so glad!"

ESTELLA G. MORRIS.

Medicine in Vegetables.

The New York Herald says the following information may be useful to some, if not new to many: Spinach has a direct effect upon the kidneys. A common dandelion used as greens is excellent for the same trouble. Asparagus purges the blood. Celery acts admirably upon the nervous system and is a cure for rheumatism and neuralgia. Tomatoes act upon the liver. Beets and turnips are excellent appetizers. Lettuce and cucumbers are cooling in their effect upon the system. Onions, garlic, leeks, olive and shallots, all of which are similar, possess medicinal virtue of a marked character, stimulating the circulatory system, and the consequent increase in the saliva and the gastric juice promoting digestion. Red onions are an excellent diuretic, and the white ones are recommended to be eaten raw as a remedy for insomnia. A soup made from onions is regarded by the French as an excellent restorative in debility of the digestive organs.

The Number of Our Ancestors.

To one who has not thought upon the subject, it is quite inconceivable how rapidly a person's lineal ancestors multiply every generation he carries back the calculation. If one is asked how many great-great-grandfathers he had, he will, in all likelihood answer: "two," while in reality he had eight, if there have been no intermarriages of relations among his ancestors. In fact, the number of male ancestors doubles every generation. Thus, every one has had two grandfathers, four great-grandfathers, eight great-great-grandfathers, sixteen great-great-great-grandfathers; and fifteen generations back, he had no less than sixteen thousand three hundred and eighty-four lineal male ancestors.—N. Y. Ledger.

A Paying Profession.

Mr. Million—Humph! Want to marry my daughter? Newspaper reporter, I understand. I never heard of a newspaper reporter getting rich.

Mr. Quickpen—Oh! I have. I know of a dozen who have married heiresses.—N. Y. Weekly.

CALCULATED TO CHEER.

"ALL persons leaving horses in my charge will be well cared for," advertised a Chelsea livery stableman.

JONES—"I've always wondered why they call that institution the 'Chemical Bank.'" Smith—"Probably because the stock sells at drug-store prices."

"I SHOULD think photography would be awful jolly." "Well, I found that my camera took more time and money than it did pictures, so I gave it up."

"WHY do you sing so at your work?" growled the Stovepipe to the Kettle. "I never do." "Why you can't!" returned the Kettle. "You're always smoking at your work."

MR. BASHFUL—"I do so love Boston bread, you know." Miss Waiting (seizing her chance)—"Now, do you know, I am Boston bred." Tableau—Engagement; Easter wedding.

MISS JONES—"Prof. Griddle, do you dare look me in the face and then say that I originally sprang from a monkey?" Prof. Griddle (a little taken aback, but equal to the occasion)—"Well, really, it must have been a very charming monkey."

AUNT—"But Ed is poor." Terese—"True, but I love him." Aunt—"Old." Terese—"True." Aunt—"Ugly." Terese—"True." Aunt—"How is it he has fascinated you?" Terese—"He is the only man I ever met who could wag his ear and take his hat off by arching his eyebrows."

POLICE JUDGE—"It seems, Gabe, that you have been here a good many times before—in short, that you are an old timer." Uncle Gabe—"Yes, Jedge, I is. I been here befo', an' I ain't gwine ter put myself down on de lebbul wid dese mushroom niggers an' loafers dat come here fer de fust time."

HARRY (to George, who aspires to be a great author)—"I say, George, some of these writings are not so bad. I tell you what it is, old fellow, your works should be given to the world." George—"Reckon they'll have to be, if the world ever gets them. At any rate, thus far the world has shown no inclination to pay for them."

AN itinerant photographer was visited in a Pennsylvania town by an economical young man, who, after a long banter and some beating down in the price, finally sat for a picture. He was told to look at a certain nail, and, not understanding the photographer's "that will do," continued to gaze at it. The photographer let him sit the afternoon out, as no other sitters came, to his own great amusement, while tears ran copiously down our economical friend's cheeks in his efforts to keep his eyes fixed for a couple of hours on that one spot.

"NO, GEORGE," faltered the maiden, "I fear it can not be. I admire you as a gentleman, I respect you as a friend, but—" "Laura!" he exclaimed, "before you pass sentence hear me out. A recent lucky stroke in business has enabled me to buy a beautiful house in Kensington, which shall be in your name. I will insure my life for ten thousand pounds, and—" "George," calmly interposed the lovely girl, "you interrupted me. I was about to say that the sentiments of respect and esteem I feel for you, though so strong, are feeble in comparison with the deep love which—which I have long—don't George, dear." For George had interrupted her again.

AMONG THE ARISTOCRACY.

THE wedding vail of the Princess Victoria of Prussia, is being made at the lace schools of the Hirschberger Thal, in Silesia.

THE Czar of Russia, Alexander III., is the owner of 50,000,000 acres of land in Russia in his own right. This is an area equal to the whole of France.

EMPEROR WILLIAM, of Germany, has bought an estate near Metz, it is supposed for political reasons. He wished to show the citizens of the annexed provinces that he belonged to them, and to make it fashionable among old German families to own places in the district.

BISMARCK'S bedroom contains only three pieces of furniture—an enormous wash hand-stand, a small camp bedstead and a bootjack. There used to be a couple of hair-brushes. "Take them away," said the Prince a few years ago; "a towel will do to part my hair nowadays."

THE young crown Prince of Italy is a devoted lover of his beautiful and clever mother. When he is absent from her he sends two long telegrams to her each day, besides writing her a letter. Like the Queen, the Prince speaks and writes fluently French, English and German.

KING HUMBERT is about the only monarch who lives within the amount allowed him by the civil list, and occasionally even he crowds the limit. For instance, last year the royal household was allowed 15,350,000 francs, and the King spent 15,349,999 francs and 99 centimes. This left him 1¼ cents to his credit.

DURING the recent illness of Tolstoi his friends have been crowding to his house from all parts of Russia, sometimes to the number of forty a day. The Count's wife finally published in all the leading Russian dailies this note: "All those who have had the kindness during the illness of my husband to come to Jasnaja Poliana to inquire after his health will be kind enough in the future to omit such visits, since my husband is not in a condition to have strangers in his house."

THE Duchess of Leinster, who, at the late state ball at Buckingham Palace, wore diamond epaulettes, a diamond corselet, many coils of lightly mounted diamonds — like glancing serpents—among the laces of her toilette, a diamond tiara, diamond bracelets, and more diamond brooches and buckles than the dazzled beholders could count, is not a mere fine lady. At Maynooth, in Ireland, she has established an industrial school for poor women and girls, under charge of the nuns, where the pupils are taught various industries, and where the beautiful young Duchess herself both teaches in the classes and tries to improve the forlorn condition of the peasants, who adore her.

IN MILL AND FACTORY.

THE lathes for turning the gun-bores of our new and heavy ordnance will cost $125,000.

SHEET IRON is rolled so thin at the Pittsburgh iron mills that 12,000 sheets are required to make a single inch in thickness. Light shines as readily through one of these sheets as it does through ordinary tissue paper.

CARRIAGE wheels are now being made from cold rolled steel. The spokes are tubular and adjustable. The wheel is so put together that any part can be replaced without taking off the tire or felloe.

A FIRM in Dresden uses sawdust to manufacture a new building material which is called xyloitho. The sawdust is mixed with certain chemicals and subjected to enormous pressure, when it becomes of the hardness of stone and practically fire-proof, without losing the lightness and elasticity of wood.

NEAR Melbourne, Australia, is a factory that manufactures what is known as terra-cotta lumber. It is made from clay and hardwood sawdust. The sawdust is spread upon the clay and left in the pit from thirty-six to forty days to allow it to sweat. Both are then mixed thoroughly, stones being eliminated, the mass is molded to the desired shapes, steam dried and the sawdust roasted out in a kiln. The product is guaranteed to be proof against fire, heat, cold and vermin.

SOME sugar works in Havana have recently availed themselves of electrical applications in the manufacture of sugar. The juice of the cane is poured into the middle compartment of a series of troughs which are divided into three by two porous partitions. The outside compartment contains water, in which are placed blocks of carbon connected to the negative pole of the dynamo. The positive pole of the machine is connected with carbon plates in the middle compartment. The sugar juices are purified from the salts they contain, which are taken up by the water. The addition of the current assists the osmotic transfer across the porous partitions. This method effects a marvelous saving in time, and is said to produce a superior sugar.

THINGS ONE SHOULD KNOW.

THE deepest running stream that is known is the Niagara river, just under the suspension bridge, where it is seven hundred feet deep by actual measurement.

THE percentage of light lost in passing through window glass is, through clear glass, 12 per cent.; slightly ground, 24; half ground, 35; all ground, 40; opal glass, 60.

THERE are about 54,000,000 square miles of land on the globe, of which Europe has 4,000,000, America 16,000,000, Asia 19,000,000, Africa 12,000,000, and Australia and the rest 3,000,000.

THE best time to get fitted to shoes is in the latter part of the day. The feet then are at their maximum of size and sensitiveness. Activity measurably enlarges them. When the muscles are in play the flow of blood in the arteries is increased, and the joints also; consequently they are more tender.

IT may be just as well to mention that Uncle Sam's dominion extends a little more than half way around the globe. Therefore, when any of her Majesty's subjects get off that chestnut about the sun never setting on the British dominions, we can brag the same thing too. The distance from the easternmost point in Maine to the westernmost island in Behring sea is a little more than 196 degrees of longitude, so that it is full sun up in Maine before it is sundown in Behring sea.

IT is a good deal easier to spoil a knife than to sharpen it. To begin with a rough stone is used to freely. Unless a knife has a very round or ragged edge it does not want any grinding at all, and it can be brought into shape far more rapidly and surely by the aid of a whetstone and a little oil. It is no use laying the blade flat on the stone and rubbing hard; hold the back of the knife well up and sharpen the edge of the blade only. If you know to use it, the back of a knife makes an excellent steel or sharpener, but the secret is hard to acquire.

GATHERED FOR THE GARDEN.

SPRINKLE land plaster around the melon and squash vines.

THE kitchen garden should not be neglected, even if field work is pressing.

KEEP the tomato vines staked and tied up from the ground. If you have a few plants alongside of them that are not staked, watch the result and see whether it pays to stake.

THOSE who have used the spraying process on grape vines this season report that the ravages of the rot have been greatly retarded, and that if the spraying is done frequently the damage will be but slight.

WHEN one has a small plot, and prefers to grow flowers, the soap-suds will be found excellent if thrown around the shrubs and bushes, but the surface of the ground should not be allowed to bake or become hard.

IT does not pay to put the best fruit or vegetables on top and have the purchaser find something not so good when he reaches the bottom, as it makes him suspicious, the consequence being that the sale of good fruit is injured.

DON'T plant beans with the idea that they require poor soil to make a good crop. To be sure, they may produce a paying crop, where wheat or corn would not, but poor soil is not necessary to make them do well. If you want to use any manure a dressing of wood ashes will do good service.

PROF. W. W. COOKE recommends a tablespoonful of saltpeter dissolved in a pail of water as a remedy for the striped and black beetles that infest cucumber and squash vines. A pint of the solution poured around each hill is the proper prescription. Cut-worms are also said to dislike the dose, though a diet of paris green, mixed with fine wheat middlings and spread dry around the plants they are threatening is reported to be equally attractive and fatal to them.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
59 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD,]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AVENUE. YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 15-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-25-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-16-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 105. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills pay-able to me. 8-27-

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
12 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Watches, Clocks, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms, Silverware. Sole Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles. Don't forget the number. 13-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BEEBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE, STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. to meet | 8.32 A. M. train. | |
| 3d | do 9.15 | do 9.32 | do |
| 4th | do 10.00 | do 10.37 | do |
| 5th | do 11.00 | do 11.24 | do |
| 6th | do 11.45 | do 12.08 P.M. | do |
| 7th | do 1.45 P. M. | do 2.15 & 2.36 P.M. | do |
| 8th | do 3.45 | do To the Post Office. | |
| 9th | do 3.30 | do meet 3.51 P. M. train. | |
| 10th | do 5.00 | do do 5.39 | do |
| 11th | do 5.45 | do do 6.07 | do |
| 12th | do 6.45 | do do 7.02 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.39, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 5.36, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:20 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 07, 7 58, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 07, 7 58, 9 05, 9 35, 11 07 A.M.; 12 58, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 40, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days. For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 21 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 07, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 07 A. M.; 12 58, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 40, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 07 A. M., 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 40 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 8 28, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 36, 7 56, 8 18, 8 31, 9 37, 10 09, 11 30 A. M., 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 2 30, 3 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—6 01, 9 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 2 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 6 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 25, 8 40, 9 05, 9 55, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 22, 3 45, 4 34, 6 20, 6 36, 7 03, 7 13, 7 34, 8 20, 9 45, 11 13, 12 45 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 52, 7 58, 7 46, 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 25, 1 05, 2 23, 3 44 40, 5 12, 5 35, 6 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 9 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 6 20, 6 36, 9 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 25 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 22, 4 09, 5 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Manticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURCH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. [THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.]

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-8-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3.00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous" Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-2-1

Wishing your good health
Truly Yours
Carl Kaerth
Plainfield N. J.

POWDERLY'S LETTER

The Master Workman Writes to Mr. Webb.

HE INVESTIGATES THE STRIKE

He Believes That the Trouble Should be Arbitrated.

Mr. Webb Says the Men Were Not Discharged Because They Were Knights. A Complete Tie-Up from New York to Buffalo Predicted—Deputy Sheriffs Anxious to Return Home.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Vice-President Webb has made public the correspondence between Mr. Powderly and himself.

Mr. Powderly, on Saturday, wrote Mr. Webb stating that he expected by Monday to have completed his inquiry into the causes of the strike, and he would be glad if an interview could be arranged for Monday morning between 10 and 12 o'clock. He desired to discuss the question of arbitration of the differences between the company and its Knights of Labor employes who were discharged prior to August 8.

Vice-President Webb replied, agreeing to the interview, but suggesting that as the reports of interviews already had between himself and Messrs. Holland, Hayes and Donovan on the same subject had been greatly misrepresented, it would be for the interest of all concerned if the matter which Mr Powderly wished to present were put in writing.

On Sunday Mr. Powderly wrote Mr. Webb that he was called away from the city, and was therefore obliged to commit to paper what he would rather discuss personally. He was informed that old and faithful employes had been summarily dismissed because they were members of and active in the Knights of Labor; that up to the time of their discharge they were faithful employes, with good records. The frequency of the dismissals left little room for doubt in the minds of the men that they were all in danger of discharge at a moment's notice, and hence the strike. The whole question hinges upon the discharge of Knights of Labor because they are such. If it can be shown that these men were working injury to their employers, right minded men will say they are treated as they deserve. If they were discharged for cause, the company has everything to gain and nothing to lose from an investigation. If they deserved dismissal from the service, none of us will ask for their reinstatement. If, however, they were displaced because of their connection with the Knights of Labor, it should be known, for if it is to be the policy of the company that no members of the Knights of Labor are to be employed, then a statement to that effect will clear up all doubts, and there can be no future misunderstandings. There will be nothing then to arbitrate so long as you hold that opinion.

In concluding his letter Mr. Powderly says: "Whether the men struck wisely or not in this case is yet to be determined. Who is to determine? You may feel that you are right, the men may feel that they are right; both are partisans, and if an impartial verdict is reached impartial men must arrive at it by hearing both sides, and then judging. The men are willing to submit the case to such arbitrasion, and will not be unreasonable. Will you consent to do the same? If you will agree to submit this matter to arbitration we can meet to arrange the details and agree to how the parties may be selected."

The Men Dismissed for Cause.

Vice-President Webb writes the last letter of the series. He denies that the men were dismissed because they were Knights of Labor, and declines to submit to arbitration the questions raised.

A MYSTERIOUS DISPATCH.

Sent by Mr. Lee to the New England Protective Railway Union.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Mr. Lee, representing the Knights of Labor in this city, sent the following mysterious cipher dispatch to the New England Protective Railway Union at Boston to-day:

"Whatsoever, whatever or more. Be in readiness."

It is understood that this is a prelude to a general strike, and it may come at any hour.

Everything is quiet at the Central station. Passenger trains are running on schedule time, but no freight is being moved.

Small groups of the switchmen stood around in the vicinity of the Continental Hotel and discussed the situation. They are orderly and well behaved, and they let the property of the Central road severely alone.

A committee from the Switchmen's Union waited upon the sheriff and assured him that there would be no disorderly conduct on the part of the strikers and that if the sheriff considered it necessary the union would furnish as many men, up to 500, as he wanted, who would be ready to be sworn in as deputies to help maintain order. The committe said the switchmen want it understood that they do not approve of any violence or disorderly or unlawful conduct, but that there is a possibility of trouble from tramps and other vagrants, and if any such thing does occur the switchmen stand ready to help to arrest the lawbreakers.

It was not necessary for a body, as he stood in the New York Central yards, to ask of the officials how the strike progressed so far as the movement of freight was concerned. It was evident that nothing was being done. In the stock yards, where the live stock is being shipped, Mr. Hoover, the live stock agent, had three or four green hands trying to get an empty stock train in position for the chutes.

Labor Chiefs in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Grand Master Workman Powderly, accompanied by Secretary Hayes, arrived from Buffalo this morning. Messrs. Sweeney and Sargeant also arrived from Buffalo, and they will meet Mr. Powderly in conference at the St. Cloud Hotel.

PEACE AT ALBANY.

Pinkerton's Men Restrain Themselves and Trains are Not Stoned.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 19.—A sort of truce seems to have been patched up in the railroad troubles here. The near approach to bloodshed yesterday has redoubled the activity of the authorities, and the whiz of the bullets has checked the belligerent attitude of the sympathetic friends of the strikers. Mr. Pinkerton has also apparently instructed his men to be less demonstrative with their guns. At any rate there has been no firing to-day, and the fusilla le of stones has ceased.

Freight trains passing through the dangerous section are still guarded, but the Pinkertons no longer appear to be watching for a chance to shoot somebody. Nearly the whole police force of the city is patrolling the tracks and the boys are kept away from the vicinity. The city has quieted down in a measure, but there is no telling how soon another outbreak will occur.

All day long the railroad has worked vigorously at its freight blockade, and now claims to have it well in hand. The strikers keep religiously away from the company's property and show no signs of weakening. Their bulletins are even more encouraging than ever. They scoff at the company's published assurances that through freight shipments have been resumed. Every labor organization in this section has indorsed the strike and tendered the strikers support.

KNIGHTS CONFIDENT.

A Complete Tie-Up from New York to Buffalo Predicted.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Consignments of freight for New York city were accepted here during the day for the first time since the strike began. Despite the encouraging outlook for the railroad, however, the striking Knights of Labor who have been in continuous session since early morning, say that they are in receipt of favorable reports from all along the line, and that to-morrow is likely to bring with it a complete "tie-up" from Buffalo to New York.

There is trouble among the special deputy sheriffs sent from here to assist the Pinkerton men at East Syracuse, and it is said they are anxious to return to their homes. One of them drew a revolver yesterday on the captain of the squad, but the weapon was wrested from his hand. Only 25 of the Pinkerton men are left in the freight yard, the others having been sent to Albany, a few at a time. One of them had a narrow escape from drowning. He was seized with cramps while bathing in deep water, but was rescued just as he was about to sink by the officer in command, Lieutenant Powell.

It is charged that the Rev. Father Clune, of East Syracuse, who has from the start been active among the strikers at that place has, while actiug as a peacemaker, been working in the interest of the railroad company. The matter has been laid before Bishop Ludden. Father Clune's friends indignantly deny the charge. The priest seems to have been simply over-zealous in endeavors to induce the men to return to work.

Philadelphia Cigarmakers Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 19.—Three hundred cigarmakers employed by T. J. Dunn & Co.'s United States cigar manufactory on Broad street, struck work during the morning for higher wages. The strikers demand an increase of one dollar a thousand on what they call the cheaper, or imitation handwork grades of goods, for which they are now being paid $6.75 per 1,000

Killed on His Birthday.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Wm Vanderwater, a farmer, of Fishkill, while driving across the railroad which passes through his farm was struck by a train and both he and his horse were killed. It was Mr. Vanderwater's birthday and he was returning home with articles which he had purchased for a party.

Congressman Candler's Secretary.

CHATHAM, Mass., Aug. 19.—John W Candler, of Brookline, who now represents this—the ninth—district in Congress, has appointed Manton Maybrick of Needham, as his private secretary Mr. Maybrick is a young lawyer, and is at present employed as clerk of the Committee of Congress on the proposed World's Fair at Chicago in 1893.

Exciting Fire and Rescue.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 19.—The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Company's Central breaker was burned last night. Loss $100,000. About 500 men and boys are thrown out of employment. The men and mules in the mine at the time the fire began were rescued by means of the air shaft and slope.

Trading in Lima Oil.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 19.—Trading in Lima oil has been inaugurated on the different petroleum exchanges. The trading here up to noon was quite active, from 75,000 to 100,000 barrels being traded in up to that hour.

Jumped to Death.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A man, supposed to be C. Farrington, committed suicide last evening by jumping off the Washington Bridge on the upper Harlem river.

HONOR TO ERICSSON

Special Orders Issued by Command of the President.

MINUTE GUNS TO BE FIRED.

The Naval Squadron to Display the Swedish Ensign.

Senator Edmunds Offers an Amendment to the Tariff Bill—President Harrison Will Celebrate His Birthday To-Morrow—The Chalmers-Morgan Contest Decided in Favor of the Sitting Member.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—By command of the President, Acting Secretary of the Navy Soley sent the following letter to the Commandant at the New York Navy Yard:

"Upon the occasion of the embarkation of the remains of Captain Ericsson it is the desire of the President to give solemn expression to the cordial and fraternal feeling that unites us with kindred people, the parent source of a large body of our most valued citizens, of whom the late inventor, a Scandinavian by birth and an American by adoption, was the most illustrious example.

"In recognition of this feeling and of the debt we owe to Sweden for the gift of Ericsson, whose genius rendered us the highest service in a moment of grave peril and anxiety, it is directed that at this other moment, when we give back his body to his native country, the flag of Sweden shall be saluted by the squadron.

"The department therefore issues the following instructions: The colors of the squadron will be at half mast during the embarkation. Minute guns will be fired from the monitor Nantucket during the passage of the body from the shore to the Baltimore. As the Baltimore gets under way and passes the vessels of the squadron, each vessel will masthead her colors, display the Swedish ensign, and fire a national salute of 21 guns. The Baltimore will immediately proceed to sea."

THE RECIPROCITY IDEA.

Senator Edmunds Introduces an Amendment to the Sugar Schedule.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Senator Edmunds offerred the following amendment to the Tariff bill, which was referred to the Committee on Finance:

"That, whenever the President of the United States shall be satisfied that a sugar producing country, whence sugar is exported into the United States, has abolished its duties or taxes on the importation of the principal agricultural products of the United States, he may by proclamation diminish, or wholly remit, the duties imposed by law on sugar, produced in and exported directly from any such country into the United States so long as such products of the United States are admitted free of duty or tax into such country, and no longer."

Mr. Edmunds also gave notice of another amendment which he intended to propose to the Tariff bill, authorizing the President of the United States, whenever he shall be satisfied that unjust discriminations are made by or under the authority of any foreign country against the importation of any product of the United States, to make proclamation excluding products of that country from importation into the United States. He said that this amendment was identical in all respects with one of the sections of the "Meat bill" which had passed the Senate two or three times almost unanimously, but had never got any farther than the Senate.

The President's Birthday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—To-morrow President Harrison will be 57 years of age, and he intends to celebrate the event by spending a few days at Cape May Point. This will be his last trip to the seashore, and it is probable that Mrs. Harrison will spend the month of September at Cresson, Pa.

The Chalmers-Morgan Contest.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The House adopted the majority report in the Chalmers-Morgan contested election case in favor of Mr. Morgan, the sitting member.

Arrival of the Statue of Lafayette.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The statue of Lafayette, given by the French Government to the United States, which has just arrived here, will be erected in Lafayette Square, Washington, D. C. It is a beautiful work of art. Its height, with pedestal, is 50 feet, and the cost was $200,000. The pedestal bears on its four sides bronze groups emblematic of Lafayette's career in America.

Frightfully Burned by Kerosene.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 19.—Amanda Lamareaux, aged 16, was frightfully burned during the morning. She was pouring kerosene oil into a stove when the flames reached the can and caused an explosion. The girl's dress became ignited, and her mother, in an endeavor to quench the flames, had her hands and face badly injured. Amanda, it is thought, will die.

Bellamy Cannot Lecture To-Day.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Bishop Vincent says that a telegram has been received from Edward Bellamy stating that he cannot keep his engagement to lecture at Chautauqua to-day owing to the sudden and serious illness of his daughter.

Found Dead in Bed.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 19.—The man found dead in bed here Saturday was J. Louis Linn, a prominent contractor of Erie, Pa. The deceased was a half-brother of Vice-President W. A. Baldwin of the Rochester & Pittsburg railroad.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | —12 |
| New York | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 5 |

Batteries—Burkett and Clarke; Clarkson and Bennett.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 3 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | x | — 8 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | — 3 |

Batteries—Terry and Daly; Vickery and Clements.

AT CINCINNATI.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cincinnati | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 1 | 7 | 0 | x | —14 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | — 3 |

Batteries—Mullane and Harrington; Viau and Zimmer.

AT CHICAGO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 0 | 3 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | — 9 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | — 3 |

Batteries—Stein and Kittridge; Hecker and Decker.

Players' League.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 2 | 2 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 8 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 4 | x | —11 |

Batteries—Knell and Hallman; Hemming and Daly.

AT BUFFALO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Buffalo | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | — 2 |
| Chicago | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x | — 5 |

Batteries—Haddock and Mack; King and Boyle.

AT PITTSBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | — 5 |
| Cleveland | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 3 |

Batteries—Galvin and Carroll; McGill and Brennen.

POSTPONED.

At New York—The New York-Boston game was postponed until Wednesday—an open date for both clubs—on account of muddy grounds.

American Association.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 5 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 1 |

Batteries—Healy and Rogers; Murphy and Pitz.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEWARK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Newark | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 0 |
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | — 1 |

Batteries—Miller and Murphy; Baxter and Sommers.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 4 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | — 9 |
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 3 | — 7 |

Batteries—Horner and Hofford; Smith and Combs.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 1 | — | 7 | |
| Wilmington | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — | 1 | |

Batteries—O'Rourke and Townsend; Wehrle Corcoran.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 63 | 33 | .657 | Chicago | 52 | 45 | .536 |
| Boston | 62 | 36 | .633 | N. York | 42 | 55 | .433 |
| Philadel | 59 | 38 | .608 | Cleve'land | 39 | 60 | .313 |
| Cincin'ti | 59 | 37 | .615 | Pittsb'rg | 39 | 70 | .200 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 56 | 37 | .602 | Philadel | 51 | 47 | .520 |
| Chicago | 56 | 42 | .571 | Pittsb'rg | 42 | 48 | .467 |
| Brookl'n | 57 | 44 | .564 | Cleve'land | 40 | 53 | .430 |
| N. York | 52 | 43 | .547 | Buffalo | 26 | 66 | .283 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 60 | 31 | .659 | Col'mb's | 47 | 45 | .511 |
| St. Louis | 54 | 37 | .593 | Toledo | 47 | 45 | .522 |
| Athletic | 48 | 44 | .522 | Syracuse | 37 | 54 | .407 |
| Roch'st'r | 45 | 45 | .500 | Brookl'n | 27 | 66 | .290 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 71 | 23 | .755 | Wash't'n | 36 | 47 | 447 |
| N. Haven | 65 | 28 | .736 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 56 | .294 |
| Newark | 49 | 39 | .557 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 60 | .326 |
| Lebanon | 41 | 41 | .500 | Hartford | 22 | 60 | .268 |

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | ..... | 2,510 |
| Chicago | ..... | 1,501 |
| Cleveland | ..... | 1,431 |
| Pittsburg | 1,365 | ..... |
| Cincinnati | ..... | 1,431 |
| Brooklyn | ..... | 1,062 |
| Philadelphia | 2,819 | ..... |
| Buffalo | 1,113 | ..... |
| Totals | 5,257 | 6,224 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Boston, at Boston.
Philadelphia vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Chicago, at Chicago.
Cleveland vs. Cincinnati, at Cincinnati.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Boston vs. New York, at New York.
Brooklyn vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Pittsburg, at Pittsburg.
Chicago vs. Buffalo, at Buffalo.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Syracuse, at Toledo.
Columbus vs. Brooklyn, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Athletics, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Rochester, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Baltimore vs. Wilmington, at Baltimore.
New Haven vs. Lebanon, at New Haven.
Newark vs. Harrisburg, at Newark.

James T. Swift's Will.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The will of James T. Swift has been offered for probate. He gives $5,000 to the Church Home at Geneva, N. Y., as a memorial to his wife, Margaret Weston Swift. All his books concerning Napoleon are given to Hobart College at Geneva. The rest of his library goes to Albert Stickney. After other bequests to servants the rest of his estate is given in equal shares to two neices, a brother and the children of a deceased sister.

Killed by the Upsetting of a Bus.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—A bus bringing in a number of passengers from Pine Hill was upset at the Genesee street toll-gate. Joseph Lochenmeyer, eight years old, was instantly killed, and Mrs. Buckholtz and Mrs. Creger were seriously injured. They all lived in this city.

K. of L. Delegates Excluded.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 19.—The New Jersey Federation of Trades, in session here, threw out the delegates from the Knights of Labor. In the speeches made it was declared that the K. of L. was opposed to local labor organizations, and it was for that reason that the delegates were excluded.

THERE MAY BE WAR

Orders to Seize and Dismantle British Sealers.

THE CORWIN SAILS FOR ALASKA

All Sailing Vessels Found Poaching to be Vigorously Dealt With.

If the Orders are Executed the British Minister at Washington May Demand His Passports—What Assistant Secretary Nettleton Says—Alarm Felt About the Safety of the Corwin.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 19.—Dispatches from San Francisco state that some alarm is felt about the safety of the revenue cutter Corwin, which sailed from Port Townsend some time ago.

The Corwin on Saturday received orders to proceed to Behring Sea at once, and is now en route to Seattle to coal, after which she will proceed north, first going to Sitka.

Captain Hooper says he has orders to act under the first instructions received.

These instructions authorized a very vigorous policy, and were rescinded and a more conservative course authorized when the Richard Rush sailed.

The first orders directed the captains of the cutters to seize all vessels where there was any circumstantial evidence to show that they had been poaching. The prizes were to be stripped of all bunting. Their skins and papers were also to be taken and only enough provisions left on board to last the vessel and prize crew until the nearest port was reached.

The subsequent orders were that the cutters should serve all vessels found in the sea with a copy of President Harrison's proclamation, and if the vessel was seen again to capture it. The department, Captain Hooper's orders lead one to believe, has determined that the more vigorous policy should be followed and, although it is late in the season, all sealing vessels found poaching are to be summarily dealt with.

Possibility of Hostilities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Assistant Secretary Nettleton, of the Treasury Department, was shown the Tacoma dispatch. He read it over reflectively, and after some hesitation he remarked: "There is just one line of this dispatch that I will indorse. It is the statement that the Corwin has been ordered to Alaskan waters." Nothing further confirmatory or contradictory of the dispatch could be obtained.

If the Corwin's orders are those issued last May then indeed negotiations are at an end, and the statement made by Sir Julian Pauncefote may be strictly carried out. He told Mr. Blaine the first news received of interference with British vessels in Behring Sea would be notice to him that his services as Her Majesty's Minister in Washington would be of no further use to his Government.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

Her Majesty Willing to Have the Behring Sea Difficulty Arbitrated.

LONDON, Aug 19.—Parliament has been prorogued. The Queen's speech to the two houses in part was as follows:

My Lords and Gentlemen: My relations with all other powers continues pacific. Friendly attention has been called to inconvenience which might arise from a possible conflict over territorial claims in the newly occupied regions in Africa, and I have, therefore, entered into negotiations with the powers principally concerned for the purpose of defining the boundaries within which the action of the respective governments shall be confined.

An arrangement with Germany, which closes the most difficult of these questions, has been completed and laid before you, and in order to give effect to it you have sanctioned a special statute for the cession of Heligoland.

An arrangement was also entered into with France separating the territory adjacent to the southern frontier of Algeria from the territory under the influence of the Niger Company. An agreement delimiting other territories in Africa is under discussion with Portugal. I have agreed with France that the British protectorate over Zanzibar and the French protectorate over Madagascar shall be mutually recognized.

I have offered the President of the United States to submit to arbitration the difference over the Behring Sea fisheries.

The conference on the slave trade, which was assembled at my suggestion by King Leopold, has brought its deliberations to a close, and the final act has received the adhesion of all the powers represented except Holland.

I earnestly hope that the resolutions of the conference may lead to results worthy of the high and benevolent purpose that inspired them.

Controversies have arisen between my subjects in Newfoundland and the French fishermen respecting the true interpretation of the rights of France by the treaty of Utrecht and subsequent engagements. The adjustment of these is occupying the anxious attention of my Government.

A Brutal Affair.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 19.—A dog fight for $500 between Jack the Ripper, owned by Farmer Bros., and Dennis, the property of "Mickey" Free, took place early in the morning in Indiana, just across the State line. The fight lasted for two hours and thirty-six minutes, when it was given to Jack the Ripper. Dennis had his jaw broken and one leg knocked out. He was taken out and shot. The victorious dog lost one eye in the controversy. Two thousand dollars changed hands on the fight.

THE DWYERS TO PART.

The Great Horsemen to Separate at the End of the Season.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Mr. Phil Dwyer was seen and affirmed the rumored dissolution and the firm of Dwyer Brothers. He said that his brother and himself had contemplated dissolving partnership for several years, but never really saw their way clear to doing so until this season.

The desire for the dissolution was mutual, and no ill feeling existed between them during their long partnership. The old firm of the Dwyer Brothers will remain in existence the rest of this season, although the entries made since August 15 for next season's events have been made in the names of the new firms.

Mr. Dwyer said he had taken his son into partnership, and the name of his firm will be Dwyer & Son.

The Dwyers will have their usual annual sale. What horses are left will be divided between them on terms they may agree upon.

RAN OFF WITH THE BOARDER.

Police in the Various Cities on the Lookout for the Fleeing Couple.

PITTSTON, Pa., Aug. 19.—Green Ridge had something to talk about to-day when it became known that Miss Rosa Warner, the daughter of J. F. Warner, had eloped with Edgar L. Smythe, who is supposed to have been a married man, and who for the past two months has boarded with the girl's family.

Rose and Smythe left the house early in the morning, entered a carriage that was in waiting, and were driven to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot. Here all trace of them is lost, the cab driver refusing to divulge which direction the eloping couple took. It was thought at first that they went to Binghamton, but later developments go to show that they took a south bound train to New Jersey.

Chief of Police Wade telegraphed to the police in various cities to be on the lookout for the fleeing couple. As yet no trace of them has been found.

WORLD'S FAIR TROUBLES.

Great Interest Taken in the Meeting to be Held To-Night.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—The result of to-night's meeting of the World's Fair directors is looked forward to with more than ordinary interest. The meeting is expected to be the most important yet, and will probably be a stormy one.

The directory is by no means a unit on any of the questions to be decided, and some of the members go so far as to say they believe the meeting will adjourn before settling the site question. Some of the directors favor Jackson Park, others the lake front; the north and west sides have their champions, while there are a few who apparently do not know what they want.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Court opened in Bell County, Ky., in the morning with 19 murder cases on the docket.

The Jefferson Iron Works at Steubenville, O., were destroyed by fire. Loss, $100,000.

The Auburn, N. Y., Morning Dispatch, including the Sunday issue, has suspended publication.

One thousand men are now out of employment in Lynn, Mass., owing to the morocco finishers' strike.

Governor Brackett has received the resignation of Chief Justice Morton of the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

James Willis, car inspector for the Consolidated road at Belle Dock, New Haven, was run over and fatally injured.

The Newport Casino Corporation re-elected as governors for four years F. O. French, W. W. Sherman, James Gordon Bennett and Cornelius Vanderbilt.

The Republicans of the Eighth Ohio Congressional district have received a letter from ex-Gov. Foraker positively declining to be considered as the Republican candidate for Congress.

Frank A. Hosmer of Great Barrington, Mass., has been elected president of the O. A. H. U. College, the principal educational establishment of Honolulu. He is 35 years old and a graduate of Amherst.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—For New England: Fair; stationary temperature in eastern; warmer in western portion; southerly winds.

For New Jersey and Delaware: Local showers, followed by clearing weather; southeasterly winds; stationary temperature, except warmer in Northern New Jersey.

For Eastern New York: Slightly warmer; fair weather; southeasterly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Warmer; fair; southeasterly winds.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Money on call to-day, 15 per cent:

BONDS.

| | Closing Saturday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 107¾ | 107¾ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 108¼ | 108¼ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 123¾ | 123¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 123¾ | 123¾ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Saturday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 82¼ | 83¼ |
| Central Pacific | ..... | ..... |
| Chicago, Rock Island & Quincy | 103¾ | 103 |
| Delaware & Hudson | 144¾ | ..... |
| Del., Lack. & W | 146 | 144½ |
| Erie | 29¾ | 29¾ |
| Erie pref | ..... | ..... |
| Lake Shore | 103 | 102¾ |
| Louis. & Nash | 80¾ | 80¾ |
| Michigan Central | ..... | ..... |
| Missouri Pacific | 71¾ | 70¾ |
| New Jersey Central | 123¾ | 123¾ |
| Northwestern | 130¾ | 130¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | 100 | ..... |
| Pacific Mail | 44¾ | ..... |
| Reading | 44¼ | 43¾ |
| Rock Island | 89¼ | 89¾ |
| St. Paul | 72¾ | 72¾ |
| Union Pacific | 50¾ | 50¾ |
| Western Union | 83¾ | 83 |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Edward Love's painters indulged in a clam-bake the other day, at "Allen's Look-out," on the mountain.

—The Clerks' Association will meet in regular session, this evening, at eight o'clock, at 24 West Second street.

—The toughest gang of people and the poorest show that ever visited Plainfield, was that of Washburn & Arlington's yesterday. Chief of Police Grant telephoned to Amboy to the police there to watch out for them.

—Jacob Blimm, proprietor of the Farmers' Hotel, left this morning with the Veteran Firemen's Association of New York on their trip to Watertown, N. Y., where they will attend the grand parade of the Watertown Fire Department.

—Two Plainfield painters are in the habit of riding on freight trains, Saturday afternoons, as a short cut to the ball grounds. Special Officer Hope has his eagle eye on them, and says that if they persist in the practice they may find themselves, like other railroad trespassers, inmates of castle Lynch, painting the walls of a four-by-nine cell.

Good Sport for Middlesex Marksmen.

The Middlesex Gun Club will hold a one day's shoot on the grounds at Dunellen this week Friday, beginning at ten o'clock in the morning. There will be nine regular events, at live birds and inanimate targets. Three events will be at ten blue rocks each, two at seven live birds, two at four live birds, one at ten live birds, and one "miss and out". Other sweepstakes will follow the regular events. Good sport is anticipated.

No Trouble This End.

(From the New Brunswick News.)

It has been impossible today to get telephonic communication with Plainfield through long distance wires. Manager Quimby has received word that the wire in that city has been broken and is down, and he went on this afternoon to repair the damage.

There was nothing the matter with the wire in this city. The trouble was right in New Brunswick itself. Plainfield's wires are never down, but if they should be it would not take until two o'clock the next afternoon to put them up again.

A Young Woman's Presence of Mind.

While Miss Lizzie, the daughter of Edward Milligan, owner of "Maple Cottage" in Washington Valley, was on the way from her home to the railroad station in this city, last evening, to meet her brother, her wagon was run into, in the vicinity of Front street and Park avenue, by a truckman's cart, and had it not been for Miss Milligan's skillful handling of the reins she would undoubtedly have been thrown out and perhaps seriously injured.

Borough Experts to Shoot for a Purse.

An interesting shooting match for $50 a side is to be held within a week or two between George Becker and Christopher Stoeckle. The distance of the marksmen from the target will be 300 yards. Both men are considered expert shots, and Stoeckle is champion of the Shooting Section of the German Society in North Plainfield, and is the winner of many medals. Local sportsmen expect a fine exhibition of skill.

Must Not Touch the Doctor's Trees.

The linemen of the Plainfield Electric Light company went about the streets in a wagon this morning, pausing wherever trees and wires seemed to mingle together too closely, and cutting away interfering branches. They were about to sever some of the large limbs on the fine maples in front of Dr. J. B. Probasco's residence on East Front street, when Dr. Probasco appeared and ordered them to leave his trees alone. They demurred for a moment, but the doctor was firm, and they went grumbling away.

A Broadway Stumbling-Block.

A dead young tree on Broadway was broken off near the roots Saturday evening and was left lying across the roadway. After several horses had been almost thrown to the ground by the obstruction, and it had been tangled in the wheels of various carriages, it was thrown on the sidewalk and left for belated pedestrians to stumble over. A young lady who was tripped by it had her hand torn and her face cut by the fall. The tree lay in the gutter all day Sunday and Monday, but was removed last night.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

S. E. Hope is visiting in Pennsylvania.

Harry VanEmburgh has gone to Asbury Park for a week.

Miss Kate Potter has returned from a visit to Haverstraw, N. Y.

Chas. Degraw left Monday for two weeks' at Cape May and Atlantic City.

Assessor J. A. Hubbard and family, of West Fifth street, are home from Belmar.

Theodore Kurzhals, of West Second street, has gone to Asbury Park for two weeks.

Walter M. McGee and family, of Rock View avenue, have returned from Nantucket.

Mansfield G. Duckworth left town today to join a party of friends on a yachting trip.

Mrs. Alex. Mallinson and son, Lawrence, left town today for a two weeks' sojourn at Asbury Park.

Councilman Hetfield is thoroughly enjoying the excitement of blue fishing and sword fishing off Block Island.

The family of Henry E. Daboll, of East Sixth street, will spend the remainder of the Summer at Mystic River, Conn.

Mrs. T. H. Hardy of West Second street, and Miss L. A. Force, of the Borough, are enjoying farm life at Peapack, Somerset county.

Thomas Winston, of St. Joseph, Mo., and John Winston, of Boston, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winston, of West Third street.

The wedding of Miss Florence Pelletreau and Dr. Charles R. Thiers, will take place at the bride's home in Brooklyn, Monday, September 8.

The engagement of Fred. A. Burr of Kensington avenue to Miss Lillie G. Burr, daughter of T. S. Burr of LaGrande avenue, is announced.

Among the latest arrivals recorded by The Thousand Island News are Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Bocap and son, and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jackson, of Plainfield, at The Frontenac, Round Island.

Mrs. Anna Cairncross, who for many years kept an intelligence office on Park avenue between Fourth street and the railroad, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, Sunday, 10 P. M., of consumption. Dr. Endicott held an autopsy Monday.

The marriage took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of the groom on Harmony street, of Miss Lizzie Watt, of Somerville, and George Wooden Squires. The Rev. Cornelius Schenck officiated. A number of relatives and friends were present, and refreshments were served. The young couple have gone to Lake Hopatcong for a honeymoon.

Their Faith and Courage Seem Strong As Ever.

A letter received on Tuesday of last week from one of that party of foolhardy missionaries in West Africa, has this to say of the death of brave young Gates and his companions:

SIERRA LEONE, WEST AFRICA, July 15, 1890.

Two weeks ago yesterday, I wrote you something of our plans that we then thought the Lord would be pleased to have us carry out for Him. It seemed to us that ere this three of the brethren would be on their way into the interior, but He has changed it, and taken three of them home to Himself—to the interior of His loving bosom. The very next day after my letter was written—two weeks ago today—Frank (Frank M. Gates) and Warren (Warren J. Harris) were taken ill with the African fever and a week later, or Wednesday the 9th, both entered the "place" that our Lord went 1900 years ago to prepare for them. Then Rebecca (Mrs. R. Kingman) followed them only two days later. And now, I don't know how to write—but those who have gone and those who remain, were all of one accord and confident that God knew best how to divide our little band to most glorify Himself, and this has been and still is our one desire. Kingman and Trice have also been very ill with the fever but we believe are now beginning to recover. When we look back on the weary days and nights of pain for our brethren and of watching and ministering for ourselves, we know that God has taken this as the only way to train us for what lies on beyond. Oh, pray that the lesson may be allowed to do for us just what God intended, and that remembering the willingness with which these three have given their lives for the Soudan, we may with the same willingness give our bodies and our strength.

For myself I am fully persuaded that no fever will trouble me until my life work is done and I therefore go forward with confidence and joy to what lies before me.

We who remain in strength have deep cause of thankfulness, that during all the weary nights and days, we have been kept strong to minister to our brethren. Many times, only in His strength, given to us moment by moment, have we been able to do what was before us. I have written very poorly what has been on my heart—and will have this catch the first mail homeward. Soon I hope to write in detail all that has befallen us.

CHAS. L. HELMICK.

The Smith Family Reunion.

The fifteenth annual reunion of the Smith family and friends will be held in the grove on the farm of Peter Z. Smith, near Peapack, a few miles West of North Plainfield, on Wednesday of next week, commencing at ten o'clock A. M., and continuing all day. The Hon. James J. Bergen of Somerville, and D. H. Overton of the Theological Seminary of New York city, will deliver addresses, beginning at two o'clock P. M. Music will be furnished for the occasion by the Clinton Cornet Band. If stormy, reunion will be held next fair day. All are cordially invited to be present.

The officers are: Isaiah Smith, President; Abm. Smith, Vice President; Oscar Smith, Treasurer; James C. Smith, Secretary.

—Gamey Nelson's ball team of colored Stars—C. Kline and G. Nelson, battery—will play the Athletics of this city on the Crescent League's grounds, Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

MAYOR MOFFETT DEALS OUT JUSTICE.

Circus Men and Circus Lemonade Rampant on the Boulevard.

Not satisfied with the circus presented by their employers, Washburn & Arlington, Wm. Sidle, of Montreal, and James Moore, of New York, two tent-erectors and showmen's men-of-all-work, visited the boulevard saloons last evening and sought to have a rip-roaring circus of their own. In Patrick Day's liquid refectory on West Third street they attempted to take complete possession, and a vigorous fight resulted. Just as the mashing-up proceedings were at their height officers appeared and conveyed the struggling circus workmen to the police station.

Bright and early this morning Elmore D. Moffett, President of the Common Council, and in the absence of Mayor Male and Judge Codington acting Mayor and City Judge, sat in the judicial chair, heard the evidence in the case of Sidle and sentenced that worthy to ninety days' imprisonment in the county jail. This effective dose of Jersey justice staggered Moore worse than boulevard rum had staggered him the night before, and he decided to plead not guilty and to ask for a postponement, "to procure witnesses" for his defence. He will be tried to-morrow morning at ten o'clock.

Two other cases were heard by Mayor-Judge Moffett before he took his accustomed train for Elizabeth.

David Morning, looking as though he had been up all night for a week, was accused of permitting himself to become a victim of paralysis of intoxication and wanting to make the entire length and breadth of South Second street his permanent couch. He was reprimanded, and sentence was suspended,

John Scott, a colored man, had insisted last night, while under the influence of circus lemonade, on making his bed in Short Second street. Because he insisted on unceasing argument when ordered to go home he had to be locked up. He was released on his good behavior.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF ELLEN?

A Plainfield Servant Girl Mysteriously Disappears.

Search is being made in Plainfield, Newark and other cities for Ellen Donomore, a domestic who has worked, during the past few years, for many Plainfield families.

Ellen first came to Plainfield from Newark. Her employers soon found that she had a faculty of leaving their employ without a word of warning and returning to her former home. She always pleaded homesickness as the cause, adding that she felt ashamed to leave so good a place for so trivial a reason and therefore went away by stealth. Never until now, however, was she absolutely "missing." Three months ago she was "working out" in various Plainfield households, but suddenly left for Newark. She spent several weeks with a sister, and then mysteriously and effectually disappeared. She left her sister's house a month ago to board a train for Plainfield, and since then her friends have had no tidings of her whereabouts. Inquiry has been made in every quarter, and vigilant search is still in progress, but nothing has been learned tending to effect a discovery, and the woman's relatives have given her up as lost. She was sober, industrious, and apparently happy and contented, and the only theory on which her friends can agree is that she has fallen into evil hands.

Reckless Shooting on the Street.

A pistol shot on West Fourth street caused considerable excitement Saturday night, because of a resultant rumor that a young child had been killed by a man recklessly shooting at a dog. It transpired that an attempt had been made, by an incensed citizen, to put a bullet through a canine which had aroused his wrath. The aim was wild, however, and the pistol-ball whizzed through the air just above the head of a baby in a perambulator, missed by an inch or two the arm of the girl who was trundling the carriage, and sped on down the street. The man was warmly censured by a woman who had witnessed the affair.

Miss Tanner Appears Here Before Her New York Opening.

The season at Music Hall will be opened to-morrow evening by Cora Tanner in her new play, "One Error." It will be quite an event, and probably most of Plainfield's society people who are at home will attend. Forty seats, including the front rows of each side of the dress circle, have been secured by guests of The Netherwood.

It is, perhaps, superfluous to declare that Miss Tanner is most charming and attractive, and she will appear in new costumes by Felix of Paris. The lady has long been known as a graceful, handsome and accomplished actress. The character she now undertakes is probably the most difficult one that has been entrusted to her care. That Miss Tanner thoroughly and unmistakably succeeds in holding the attention and winning the approbation of her audience in every phase of this double character is an undoubted tribute to her worth, and it shows her to be a much more versatile actress than had been generally supposed. Her work should bring her the strongest kind of commendation wherever it is seen.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by purifying and enriching the blood, improves the appetite, aids the assimilative process, strengthens the nerves, and invigorates the system. It is, therefore, the best and most thoroughly reliable alterative that can be found for old and young.

Swam the English Channel.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Davis Dalton, an American, has accomplished the feat of swimming the English Channel, from Grisnez to Folkestone, on his back, in 23¼ hours. He finished strong. A boat acted as pilot to the swimmer.

Croquet Tournament.

NORWICH, Conn., Aug. 19.—The ninth annual tournament of the National Croquet Association was opened here this morning. Professional players are present from all of the New England and Middle States. Nash and Smith opened the games of the first division; Davenport and Gammon the second division, and Holly and H. F. Spaulding the third division.

Mrs. Dunbar's Body Found.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 19.—The coroner and the police found the body of Mrs. Fred L. Dunbar, who was buried by her eccentric husband without a proper permit. The corpse was exhumed and an autopsy will be made. Dunbar is still under arrest.

Things He Has Tascott.

OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 19.—Rolla Jones, of Richfield, arrived in Ephraim yesterday with a man whom he captured in Richfield, and whom he thinks is Tascott. The prisoner answers the description of Tascott, even to the scars on both elbows and the right knee. He will be taken to Chicago and Jones will demand the reward of $50,000 offered for his arrest.

The Atlantic Association to Dissolve.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 19.—The Atlantic Baseball Association League will dissolve on August 27th. Manager Barnie, of the Baltimores, has accepted a franchise in the American Association in place of the Brooklyn team, and will play the home games scheduled for that team at Baltimore, opening here with the St. Louis on August 27th.

FOR FAIR FEMININITY.

TWO QUARTS of water with two ounces of glycerine scented with rose, as a dressing in the bath, will impart freshness and delicacy to the skin.

TO WHITEN the hands melt an ounce of camphor gum, half an ounce of glycerine and one pound of mutton tallow, and apply every night.

SALT and water will prevent the hair from falling out, and will cause new hair to grow. Do not use so strong as to leave white particles on the hair.

TO RENOVATE ostrich feathers, take a smooth whalebone, and beginning at the base of the frond, draw each one lightly but firmly between the thumb and whalebone. If the fronds curl too much, hold them more loosely and further from the quill. Carefully and patiently going over a feather will quite repay the trouble.

THE odor of finely-powdered orris root is almost precisely the same as that of the double English violets, which are sold at large prices. Twenty-five cents' worth of orris—or less than that if your druggist is at all liberal—is sufficient to impart a delightful fragrance to all your possessions to which fragrance should be applied.

WHEN the face is constantly pale bathe it in cold or tepid water, rub briskly with a soft towel, and apply daily this preparation: One ounce of diluted liquid ammonia, two ounces of glycerine and four of water. Rub well into the skin for about three minutes, then carefully wipe with a soft towel. If any irritation is felt increase the glycerine.

FOR redness of the nose rub it every night with camphor and aconite. Avoid spiced foods and wines, take plenty of outdoor exercise and wear loose clothes, easy shoes, gloves and headgear. If the nose is inclined to be very oily use a face-bath of weak borax or benzoine. Eruptions or roughness of the skin can be readily overcome by frequent applications of diluted glycerine.

THE daintiest covers for the toilet-table are made of linen and hemstitched on the borders, and wrought in drawn-work and darned stitch. The finest of this work comes from the Fayal Islands, though the Italian peasant women do some very pretty needle work of this kind. They generally finish it with long netted fringes, tied in myriad fancy styles, a work in which they excel. The "spachtel" work of the Germans is simple cut-work, the patterns being cut out and buttonholed around with the needle. Very pretty if not new bureau and toilet-table covers are made of scrim, run in shaded borders with many rows of No. 1 ribbons, beginning with a very delicate shade and ending with a very dark one.

Save Your Hair

BY a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair.

"I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, no new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew

Thick and Strong.

It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. B. Williams, Floresville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—Mrs. H. J. King, Dealer in Dry Goods, &c., Bishopville, Md.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

Bovine and Canine Nuisances.

Complaint is made that Borough Marshal Rutledge confines stray cows in the rear of the Borough lock-up and that the imprisoned creatures make a nuisance of themselves by bellowing loudly at night and keeping the neighbors awake. It is further charged that Rutledge impounds and shoots dogs at the back of the lock-up, thus making another cause of complaint. Indignant residents of the Borough demand that all four-legged prisoners be kept in the pound of one of the three pound-keepers.

The Browns.

Brown has a home full of girls and boys,
Rosy and healthy and full of noise.
They are sprightly at work and bright at their books,
And are noted for smartness and wit and good looks.
Brown is healthy, his wife is fair,
And their faces are free from wrinkles of care;
They spend no money for powders and pills,
And never a dollar for doctor's bills.

The reason is that they begin in the right place. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, by keeping the springs of life pure, the blood free from impurities, wards off all those diseases which spring from bad blood. The use of the "Discovery" prevents liver and kidney troubles, dyspepsia, consumption or lung scrofula, stomach and bowel troubles, and forestalls the beginning of disease. That is why the Browns are so healthy. It is also guaranteed to cure these ailments if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be refunded.

—The New York World devotes some space this morning to an account of last Saturday's game between the Crescents and the Newark-Jersey City team.

Success is the envy of the weak brained. They seek to get there too. No wonder that they resort to counterfeiting. The reputable dealer should not encourage imitators. Be sure and ask for Hires' Root Beer Packages, and be especially sure you get them.

THE WARREN MISSION

EXCURSION

FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1890,

To Asbury Park and Ocean Grove,

Stopping at Long Branch both ways.

Leave Dunellen, 7:45; Plainfield, 8 A. M. Returning, leave Asbury Park, 6 P. M.

Adult Tickets, $1 25.

Children, 5 to 12 years, 90 cts.

All baskets and parcels, properly marked with owner's name, will be in charge of a responsible person on the train, and will be delivered both ways, free of charge, to Ross' pavilion, Ocean Grove. 8-11-w

M. M. A.

MUSIC HALL.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 20.

Engagement of the Young American Star,

CORA TANNER,

Under the management of Col. Wm. E. Sinn in a new and original play, written expressly for her by Mr. Edward E. Kidder, entitled

"ONE ERROR."

Presented by an Elegant Company, and Elegant Parisian Costumes.

PRICES—35c., 50c., 75c., and $1.

Seats on sale Monday. 8-14-td

ATTENTION, CLERKS!

The regular meeting of the Clerks' Association will be held at 24 West Second street, TO-NIGHT, at 8 o'clock.

J. A. MOORE, President.

Arrival and Departure of Mails

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 6:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 6:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

DEATHS.

CAIRNCROSS—In this city, Aug. 17, Mrs. Anna Cairncross, in the 82d year of her age. Funeral services from the residence of Mrs. George Wyckoff, 62 Park avenue, Aug. 19, at 2 o'clock P. M. Interment in the M. E. Cemetery.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

BICYCLE—I have a bran new Safety, first-class make; will exchange for high wheel machine. Address "Bicycle," PRESS office. 8 19 2

BOARD—First-class board; well furnished house; terms reasonable. 46 West 4th. 8 19 3

LOST—A large shaggy, yellow dog. Reward if returned to 68 E. 2d street.

FOR SALE—Lot 32x100, on Emily street, near Somerset, with or without barn. E. C. Mulford, Broker.

GIRL wanted for general housework and help to take care of children. Apply for one week. A. Mulford, 75 East 5th street.

GIRL wanted for general housework in a family of three. Must have reference. Apply 47 East Second street.

FOUND—On the Dug Way road, pair of eyeglasses. Owner can have them by proving property and paying for this advertisement. Apply at DAILY PRESS office.

GIRL wanted for general housework, &c. Must be able to return to her own home nights. Sherwin's, 23 W. Front street.

A GOOD SIZED Black Horse for sale; about 10 years old; can work him anywhere, single or double. Apply at PRESS office. 8 19 2

A YOUNG lady wishes writing to do in a lawyer's office. Address S. A. P., PRESS office. 8 16 2

FULL-SPRING, square-box Buggy, made by Retfield & Jackson, in good order, for sale. Also small segar case, at No. 17 Park ave. 8 16 3

TO LET—Three rooms; rent low; to small family. Apply at PRESS office. 8 18-3

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms, to respectable colored family. Apply PRESS office. 8 12-tf

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-12

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing, kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 326 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 6-11-tf

Rexwheat.

The most healthful, appetizing and palatable

SPRING AND SUMMER FOOD

For young, old, weak or strong. Marion Harland calls it: "Delicate and Delicious."

At leading grocers. Wholesale by N. W. FRENCH.

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 23c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Granulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEMAREST.

25 PARK AVENUE. 8-4-t

MOY.

8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S

EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue,

Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-5-y

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM,

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

45 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting. 3-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,

Straw and Grain

TELEPHONE CALL, 58.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-8-t

PECK'S CORNER.

WHERE IS

The Crowd Going?

TO

PECK'S!

AS USUAL.

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST.

10-25-tf

BARGAINS!

To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!

Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:

GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.

GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.

CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.

GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.

TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.

FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

SELLING OUT CHEAP!

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.

1-5-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters,
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON.

3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 2000 Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot.— (Chotola Building). —Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,

A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

SALE OF "THE CENTRAL TIMES."

Frank W. Runyon to Publish a Red-Hot Republican Paper.

Frank W. Runyon has purchased The Central New Jersey Times property, and will assume control of the newspaper as proprietor and editor early in September.

The Central New Jersey Times is in its fifty-third year of publication. It was first issued as The Plainfield Union, in 1837. The Union was published by the Cushings, the present publishers of The Churchman of New York, and the venerable Milton Cushing was its editor. In 1868 E. Dean Dow, now of Knoxville, Tenn., bought The Union and changed the title to The Times. After two or three years Mr. Dow sold the newspaper to H. L. Niles and J. Calvin Runyon. A great deal of energy was displayed by the proprietors, at this period, in the management of the concern, and The Central New Jersey Times became what its name indicated—a paper giving the news of the entire broad section of country suggested by the title. A large circulation was acquired, and The Times became one of the best known papers in New Jersey. In later years, with the advent of daily papers, the scope of The Times was gradually changed, but the journal has maintained to the present day a high reputation and standing in the field which it seeks to cover. In 1874 Wm. J. Leonard bought the share in the property owned by Mr. Niles, and about five years ago the paper passed into the hands of a stock company whose members were L. V. F. Randolph, ex-Mayor of Plainfield, W. J. Leonard and J. Calvin Runyon. For sixteen years The Times has been under the editorship of Mr. Leonard, a careful, considerate, painstaking, conservative journalist. Mr. Leonard will retire from the editorial chair with the issue of September 3, when Mr. Runyon, the new proprietor, will succeed him. Mr. Leonard will return, it is expected, to the Episcopal ministry.

Frank W. Runyon, the new editor of The Times, is too well known in Plainfield, the city of his home, to need elaborate introduction. He is a graduate of Cornell University, Class of '83, and while in college developed remarkable journalistic capabilities by his work on the then famous Cornell Era. His associate editors on The Era were A. C. Cowell, for several years managing editor of The Washington Critic, where he still remains; John D. Adams, who was the dominant genius of Time when that journal was at its zenith, and who is now the chief editorial writer of The Syracuse Journal; C.C. Chase, formerly editor-in-chief of The Syracuse Standard; A. F. Matthews, one of the most brilliant men on the staff of The Philadelphia Press; and T. S. Williams, who has been city editor of The New York Commercial Advertiser, Albany and Washington correspondent, and private secretary to Governor Hill of New York State. Every one of this Era galaxy is a genius, Mr. Runyon himself being by no means the least. Since leaving college Mr. Runyon has done remarkably excellent newspaper work for The Sun in New York and The Press in Philadelphia, besides achieving theatrical successes with the Madison Square Theatre and Major J. B. Pond. Among the lecturing tours which he has managed with flattering results were those of Henry Ward Beecher.

Mr. Runyon purposes infusing much of the spirit of modern journalism into The Times, and plans to give the public the briskest and stanchest kind of a live Republican newspaper. In time important changes may be effected, notably the substitution of a convenient eight-page form for the "blanket-sheet" style, and the issuing of two editions a week—one Wednesday and one Saturday.

The news editor of the new Times will be Robert F. R. Huntsman, a young Plainfield newspaper man who has established a high reputation in New Jersey journalistic circles.

George Thatcher's Wit Prevents a Panic.

While George Thatcher's minstrels were giving a performance in Lowell, Mass., last Friday, with the house packed to suffocation, the incandescent lights with which the pretty little Opera House in that city is supplied, suddenly became extinguished. The house in a second was in utter darkness. It happened as Dick Jose was taking his third encore, and just as he had reached the words in his song "With all her faults I love her still," when Thatcher, taking in the situation at a glance, shouted out: "I don't know where you could find a better place."

The audience, which was on the point of alarm, was instantly convulsed with laughter at George's impromptu wit, which happily averted what might have proved a serious panic. Jose continued to sing in the darkness, and finished his song before the house was relighted with gas, though his usually penetrating voice was lost in the tumultuous laughter at George's wisely timed and witty bon mot.

Building Loan Delegates.

The Directors of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association, at their regular meeting last evening, in response to a notification from the Hon. James Bishop, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor and Industries, appointed Wm. R. Codington, Nathan Harper, and B. F. Coriell, delegates to represent the Association in a Convention of New Jersey Building and Loan Associations to be held at the State House, Trenton, Sept. 2.

Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color and vitality to weak and gray hair. Through its healing and cleansing qualities, it prevents the accumulation of dandruff and cures all scalp diseases. The best hair-dressing ever made, and by far the most economical.

She Understood It All.

(Written for THE PRESS.)

He took her to the base ball game,
And the batting order read;
And she liked the play and players—
Or that is what she said.

He told her what a foul was,
And when a ball was dead,
And why the frisky catcher wore
A bustle on his head.

He told her which the Crescents were,
And which were Newark bred;
And mentioned in the festive ninth,
That we were two ahead.

And when the game was at an end;
The cheering all was done,
And he had yelled himself quite hoarse,
For the Stars had not a run;

She laid her little hand in his,
And spiked the howling gun,
And asked him in her pretty way:
"Say, Jack, which side has won?"

G. T.

HAPPENINGS AT WASHINGTONVILLE.

What is Going on Among Our Rural Residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heath of Newark, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Sunday.

Jonathan Drake of Delavan, Ill., is visiting Ephriam Acker. He reports a poor outlook for corn in Illinois, as there has been no rain sufficient to wet the ground since June. The oat crop will not be above 55 per cent. of an average crop; the grain louse having done great damage. Mr. Drake is a member of one of the old families which lived in this vicinity when the Allen, Drake and Acker families owned most of the Valley from what is now Warrenville to Feltville. Most of these families moved to Illinois many years ago, settling on a famous mound which is now built up into the town of Delavan, and grew up with the then young State, helping to make and sharing in her prosperity, like true Jerseymen loving a town wherever they go.

A horse belonging to B. Luersen got loose in the stable at about three o'clock on Saturday morning, and tried to climb over the stall to his mate. He got his hind feet caught in the manger and struggled violently to extricate himself. The noise awoke Mr. Luersen, who found it necessary to procure the assistance of neighbors and to tear down part of the stall before the horse could be released. Jim Gunn, who is the "Hostler Joe" of the villa, says everything was all right when he left his charges for the night.

John Wendell of Smalleytown, after leaving two cans of milk at Wm. Demler's milk depot, Monday morning, started to drive home in the early morning twilight, when his horse became frightened at some object in the road, and ran away. Mr. Wendell pluckily held fast to the reins and kept his seat in the wagon, and by presence of mind averted what might have been a serious accident. When he finally got the horse under control he found that a pair of broken shafts was the extent of the damage. Procuring a pair from a neighbor, he proceeded homeward.

Miss Dora Cooper of Mt. Bethel, is visiting her relatives, the Bartells.

Miss Annie Derlett of New York, is the guest of Mrs. Bloom at her handsome Summer residence, Clara Villa.

The Rev. Dr. Mohldenke is having a beautiful crypt built on his farm which he intends as a family vault, and to which he will remove the remains of his eldest son, who died recently. He was a young man of rare talent, and his bright future was just opening before him when the dead messenger summoned him after a few days' illness. He was loved and respected by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance, for his sterling worth and Christian character. The building will be of rough mountain stone laid in cement, and will hold nine bodies. Richard, the second eldest, who is a graduate of the Columbia College School of Mines, and who stood at the head of his class, is the architect and builder. He was until lately Professor of Engineering in the Michigan University.

SOL. PRINGLE.

The Feast of the Assumption.

By permission of the Pope, Catholics were allowed to eat meat last Friday because it was the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin. Because the Bishop was absent the official announcement of this permission did not reach the churches in this diocese in time to be read, so that many Catholics only knew of their unusual privilege from THE PRESS.

This probably sufficed for some, and the scrupulous, who made inquries on the subject, learned that THE PRESS, as usual, was right. Consequently there were probably few, if any, who did not avail themselves of the rare dispensation from the obligation of abstinence. Ordinarily Christmas, when it falls on Friday, is the only festival which overrides this obligation. The Feast of the Assumption being one of the first class, there were high masses in all the churches.

Mammoth Coal Bins for South Plainfield.

A coal storage plant will soon be erected by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company at South Plainfield. It will have a capacity of 310,000 tons, coal being stored by machinery in 14 conical piles. Six heaps will contain 30,000 tons each, four 20,000 tons, two 15,000 tons, and two 10,000 tons each. This will be a nucleus for a storage system having a capacity of 1,380,000 tons in sixty piles, an amount which is nearly double the amount of coal at tidewater today.

—Ten carloads of mountain stone from Col. Moore's quarries, were sent over the road to Cranford today for use on the county roads.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

ODD-FELLOWS.

The Triennial Conclave of the Patriarchs Militant at Chicago.

The first triennial canionment of the Patriarchs Militant in Chicago proved a great success. True, the numbers in attendance fell very far short of the extravagant estimate made by those who prefer poor guessing to actual counting; but the per cent. of Militants present was certainly as large as any secret society has ever turned out on any similar occasion. The first three days of the meeting were mostly devoted to the reception of cantons, lodges and visiting members of the order; the exemplification of the work by the degree staffs of the subordinate and Rebekah lodges and prize and exhibition drilling by the competing cantons. Monday evening a complimentary reception was given by the R. D. lodges of Chicago to the visiting Rebekahs and their friends at the armory of Battery D.

THOMAS WILDEY, Founder of the Order

The great hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and was completely filled with fair women and brave chevaliers, in gorgeous uniforms. The sweetest of music and the fragrance of pyramids of plants and flowers permeated the entire structure, which with the colored lights and brilliant evening costumes of the ladies, made the scene appear like a section of fairy land.

GEN. J. C. UNDERWOOD

The railroads leading to Chicago and the hotels of the city have proved far more than equal to the emergency. Every one was comfortably transported, lodged and fed at reasonable rates, and on that score there was very little room to find fault with the arrangements. The grand stand erected in Lake Front Park was the largest structure of the kind probably ever erected, and capable of seating upward of 35,000 people. Its capacity was tested to the utmost several times during the week.

The mounted troops of hussars from Boston and Columbus and the lancers from Denver attracted most attention in the great parade. They are fine bodies of men, with imposing presence and military bearing. The Illinois and Ohio brigades came in for a very liberal share of applause to which they were fairly entitled for their numbers, marching and general appearance.

GRAND SEC'RY ROSS.

The City Council of Chicago adopted a resolution declaring a half holiday on the day of the parade. This was very generally taken advantage of by storekeepers, for the streets were crowded in every direction by sight-seers and curiosity-hunters. Governor Fifer, of Illinois, and staff, and Mayor Cregier, reviewed the parade from the grand stand in the park, and the spectacle presented at that point was well worthy a great order and a great occasion.

If Father Thomas Wildey, who founded the order by organizing a lodge, with five members, at the "Seven Stars Tavern," in Baltimore in 1819, could have seen the Chicago display of 1890, he would have realized that he was instrumental in producing another interesting illustration of the parable of the grain of mustard seed. And James L. Ridgley, the Moses of the order, could he have looked with mortal eyes on the gorgeous pageant of the cantonment, would have seen the struggling band of 1829 multiplied into a great army with banners, possessing and enjoying a land flowing with many things better than milk and honey.

The organization and growth of the Patriarchs Militant is due to the efforts and ability of John C. Underwood. In 1884 he was a representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge from Kentucky, and as such was appointed a member of a committee to formulate a plan for the organization of a military branch of the order. The following year he reported the plan for the Patriarchs Militant, which was adopted and he was elected the first Lieutenant-General, a position which he has since held. The militant order has grown with wonderful rapidity during the past four years and now numbers about 22,000 men.

JAS L. RIDGLEY

The stimulus given to the order by this public demonstration will no doubt serve to increase the membership very largely during the coming year.

Theodore A. Ross, the Grand Secretary of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, is engaged in preparing the reports for the next annual session of that body, which will be held at Topeka, Kan. next September. The reports so far as compiled do not indicate a very large increase in the order during the past year. In some of the Southern States, where secret societies do not thrive, there is a positive decrease in membership. The cantonment of this year marks a new era in the annals of the order, which will be remembered by the present generation with pride and pleasure.

McDOUGALL.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

SCIENCE CLIPPINGS.

BEFORE paper came into general use, our Teutonic forefathers wrote their letters, etc., on wood. The box, or beech, being closely grained and plentiful in Northern Europe, was employed for the purpose, and hence the word book.

A SINGLE plate of perforated zinc about a foot square, suspended over a gas jet, is said to retain the noxious emanations from burning gas, which it is well-known destroys the binding of books, tarnishes the gilding and vitiates the atmosphere for breathing.

STILL another textile material bids fair to rival jute. This is the pine-apple fiber, and a Mr. Blechynden, of Calcutta, is trying to awaken interest to the economic value of this product. The principal fiber is manufactured into a cloth in the Philippines and woven into linen in China.

AN immense hotel, complete in all its parts, has lately been constructed entirely of paper, in Hamburg, Germany. It is claimed that paper, as building material, possesses great advantages over all others, as it is capable of being made fire-proof, and also impervious to the action of water.

THE construction of a new stove is mentioned which every housekeeper will be likely to want. The arrangements permit of lighting it with ease, of removing the residues of combustion, of letting it go out every night, of relighting it every morning without removing the contents, and of burning eighteen hours. We trust the patent may soon be introduced into this country.

IN an interesting letter to Science, H. A. Hazen, of Washington, gives some interesting and valuable particulars respecting the properties and nature of fog. He says it is admitted that fog is simply cloud composed of water, dust or solid minute spheres of water from 1-700 to 1-1000 of an inch in diameter. Many have supposed that a dust particle must be a nucleus for each sphere, but an examination under the microscope of evaporated fog has proved that such is not the case. Briefly stated, the cause of the fog is as follows: It is essential that there be no wind. The sky must be saturated or nearly so. The formation of fog is a purely mechanical process, accompanied by heat.

AN underground electric railroad, the only one in the world, is being constructed in London, or rather under London, England. It is to be four miles in length, and will have two tracks laid in separate iron tunnels. The line runs under the river Thames. Passengers will reach the cars by means of elevators. The company having no precedents by which it may be guided in the matter of adopting an electric locomotive, is experimenting with an engine that runs at the rate of twenty miles an hour, hauling the passenger cars. This railway is designed to accommodate residents, who are now dependent upon omnibuses. It will save three-quarters of the time now required to reach Clapham.

A NOVEL flower has been found at the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. This floral chameleon has a faculty of changing its colors during the day. In the morning it is white, when the sun is at its zenith it is red, and at night it is blue. The red, white and blue flower grows on a tree about the size of the guava tree, and only at noon does it give out any perfume. If this flower grew in the United States, says a writer, wouldn't it be just the thing for our National flower? The daisy, violet, golden rod, laurel, arbutus and other flowers would scarcely be spoken of, for all would choose this—we can't call it by name, for they don't tell us what its name is. We might call it the "flag," since it has the colors of our "stars and stripes."—Western Rural.

Beetles in Furniture.

The long imprisonment of beetles within furniture is treated of in the last report issued by the New York State Museum of Natural History. It is suggested that when such cases occur, the conditions may bring about a lethargic state in which respiration and accompanying phenomena are almost or entirely suspended through the complete exclusion of air by the rubbing, oiling, and varnishing or other polishing the furniture has undergone. This instance of the imprisonment of a beetle Science cites from The Illustrated American: "In 1786 a son of General Israel Putnam, residing at Williamstown, Mass., had a table made from one of his apple trees. Many years afterward the gnawing of an insect was heard in the leaves of this table, which noise continued for a year or two, when a large long-horned beetle made its exit therefrom. Subsequently the same noise was heard again, and a second insect, and afterward a third, all of the same kind, issued from this table leaf; the first one coming out twenty, and the last one twenty-eight years after the tree was cut down."

Paper in Japan.

In Japan, as is well known, it has long been customary to manufacture a multitude of articles, from overcoats and window panes to string and pocket handkerchiefs, out of paper, but the Japanese Government, not content with these feats of National ingenuity, is just now bestowing great attention on the paper industries, and experimenting with pith, old silk rags, and many kinds of vegetable substances, with a view to other employments of paper in the arts. Mr. Liberty, in his recent paper read before the Society of Arts, London, describes a visit that he made to the Government paper factory at Shiebu-Ogi, where he watched hundreds of intelligent little Japanese girls and women preparing the "mitsumata," or bark of the famous "paper mulberry tree," and arranging the snowy layers of pulp on the rectangular straining sieves. Toughness and a silk-like surface are the usual characteristics of Japanese paper, which, in spite of our recent progress in this department of the arts, still remains far superior to European paper.—Scientific American.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889. 6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4¼c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
29 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

TRY OUR
Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 5-31-tf

CLAIRVOYANT.
By request of her many patrons, Mrs. DR. EDWARDS, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 12, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26. Will then leave positively. 8-14-6

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 6-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 28 & 40 Liberty St. 4-5-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY.
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 397. NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-5-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.
Old work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-12-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
28 EAST FRONT ST.

DON'T FORGET!
That I give you a 5 per cent Rebate on all CASH purchases; and that I am doing business enough in the DAYTIME to be glad to CLOSE AT 7 P. M.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street.
1-18-tf

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK. 6-3-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—32 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 20 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 2-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
AND HIS
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
ALSO
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War." and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street. 6-16-10-sep1

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. so TRY THEM.

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 39 FRANK. N.B.—No Boarding 1-14-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
26 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. B. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths!
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 3 p. m. H. HORNIM, 35 W. 3d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—50 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law,
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master, etc. Corner Park avenue and second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Supreme Court Commissioner,
First National Bank Building. 12-9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STERLE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer,
COLLECTION AGENT,
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants,
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my10y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 137. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my10

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
32 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLEY
211 East 54th Street.
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-30-to6-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGES.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 30 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.

THE STARS.

What are their years? The night's unfathomed deep
Rings back no answer, gives no glimmering key;
And still unknown, and beautiful, they keep
The silent courses of Eternity.

What are their memories of Creation's days,
When startled Chaos, from its kingdom buried,
First knew its Master, and with glad amaze
They sang the birth-song of our trembling world?

What have they looked on since, with patient eyes,
While million years uncounted rolled away?
Who claims antiquity for man that dies,
Before such records of the Past as they?

Can they to man his mystery explain,
The why, the whence, of his uncertain state?
Unlock the riddle that he reads in vain,
And clear the tangled problem of his fate?

Can they a fashion to the future give,
And tell the whither for man's anxious quest?
Make life a less than weariness to live,
Or stay the hazard of his wild unrest?

Oh, Stars! what midnight message do ye bear
To minds grown weary with the years' increase?
The wistful eyes that watch you shining there
Look out of troubled hearts that know not peace.

—Louis H. Brindley, in Chambers' Journal.

AN OCEAN COURTSHIP.

All Started by Bubble's Rosy-Cheeked Apple.

The Parts in the Drama Were Played by the Captain, the Girl with the Psyche Knot and the Chap with the Sealskin Cap.

THERE was an apple at the root of this story, as there has been at the bottom of so many stories since first Satan tempted Mother Eve. A great, rosy-cheeked one it was, too, according to the New York Evening Sun. Bubble's silver-haired old grandmother had pressed it into his hand the instant before the tender had given its final whistle and steamed away down the Mersey to where the great black steamship lay that was to carry Bubble and his pretty young mother to far-off Canada.

That apple was the first thing that little Squeak's eyes rested upon when she came on board with her nurse, her father and an unlimited supply of ginger snaps done up in a brown paper bag.

First of all she looked at the apple and then she looked at Bubble. She really couldn't tell which she liked better. Perhaps, all things considered, Bubble, with his natty little sailor suit and those frowsy yellow curls, would prove a more lasting delight, but for the present that apple—

She looked at the apple longingly and Bubble looked at her. Then toddling across the deck as fast as his chubby five-year-old legs could carry him, he held the apple out to her.

"Have a bite?"

Squeak hesitated just one instant and then, nurse's back being providentially turned, she buried her little white teeth deep in the apple's side.

That's how it began. At least so says the captain, and he was an eye-witness of the whole of the proceedings. He declares that they ate it by alternate bites, even down to the very core. And then Squeak produced the brown paper bag, and, getting away to a snug little corner, while the whistles were blowing and the farewells were said on every side, and the women were weeping and the men looked glum, these two little tots held an impromptu picnic and enjoyed themselves as hugely as though the English language contained no such word as "Good-bye."

Bubble's mamma was to have had the seat of honor at the saloon table on the captain's right, and by a singular coincidence Squeak's papa had been assigned to the seat directly opposite. But both failed to put in an appearance at dinner, and in fact proved such wretched sailors that neither of them showed up until the ship was within a short distance of Quebec. On the second day, when the captain found himself with an empty chair on either side of him, he said that, confound it all, he wasn't going to lose his appetite for lack of company while two such intrepid little sailors as Master Bubble and Miss Squeak were on board. So the two little youngsters were installed in the seats of honor. It was a sight worth seeing to see that great weather-beaten old sailor assisting the children into their holland pinafores, which they wore at meal time, and then lifting them up into their high chairs. Their nurses had collapsed utterly the second day out, and goodness only knows what would have become of them if it had not been for the captain and the girl with the Psyche knot.

"HAVE A BITE?"

Between them they divided all the nursery duties—she keeping them out of harm's way while the captain was employed, and he coming to her relief as soon as possible, for the captain had once been in love himself, and consequently knew all about it. So somehow, just as the chap in the sealskin cap was beginning to fume a bit and declare that he was suffering from a superfluity of Bubble and Squeak, the captain would come waddling up to them with his queer sailor walk and would tell the two elders to off with them and he'd look after the two chicks.

You never saw such a pair of sailors in your life. Sometimes the captain would take them up on the bridge with him and let them look through the big telescope. It was at these times that Bubble reached the acme of his bliss. Squeak, although she enjoyed it very much, of course, was scarcely so enthusiastic. She had a habit of shutting both eyes tight when she looked into the telescope that must naturally have debarred her from fully appreciating the view.

During the first three days the weather was remarkably fine and the children fairly lived on deck. Then the weather grew rougher, and it was no longer safe for Bubble and Squeak to roam at large.

It was at this critical point that the chap in the sealskin cap came to the rescue. There were two rings in the floor of the quarter deck, and he procured two long, stanch leather straps from one of the sailors. The straps were placed about the children's waists and fastened securely to the rings. They were long enough to admit of their crawling about, so after the prospect of being mewed up in the saloon the youngsters viewed this chance of emancipation as a positive godsend. It was here that they held impromptu receptions and demolished the chicken wings and other delicacies which the steward brought them from time to time. It was here also that on the fifth day out Miss Squeak was seized with that alarming attack of the "egg-cups." That's what Bubble called it, at any rate, though perhaps a physician might give it a slightly different name. For a few moments everybody was suggesting some infallible remedy, but it was the captain who finally effected the cure. "Get me a glass of water, somebody," he cried in his gruff, hearty way. "Bless my heart, don't any of you good people know how to cure the hiccoughs? Take nine sips of water now, Squeak dear. Hold on now. Let me count 'em. There you are. Didn't I tell you, now?"

And the captain waddled back to his post looking as proud as Punch.

A few days later the captain's medical services were once more brought into play. This time both Bubble and Squeak were patients. Some one had made a great dish of taffy and both the youngsters had partaken of it freely. Next morning they paid the penalty, for both had a whacking toothache. As the morning passed the pain grew worse, and lunch time found them both sobbing.

The captain didn't say very much, but told them to come along with him into his cabin. He took them by the hand, one on either side, and they started off.

ON THE BRIDGE WITH THE CAPTAIN.

The passengers watched them expectantly, and as the cabin door closed behind the trio they strained their ears for what was to follow. There was a moment or two of silence, while the passengers hold their breath. Then at the very same instant two piercing shrieks were heard. The captain, not to show any partiality, had pulled both the teeth at once. They came out presently, each child parading a tooth in triumph, and they related their experiences to an admiring throng. Then Bubble took Squeak's tooth and Squeak took Bubble's, and they vowed to keep them forever as souvenirs.

As the time for parting drew nearer and nearer the captain grew more and more glum. He could not bear the thought of losing them, although he declared emphatically that his dancing at their wedding was merely a question of time. Quebec was reached late in the evening, so most of the passengers elected to spend the night on board. But Squeak's papa was in a hurry to reach terra firma again, so the young lady took her departure by torch-light. Afterward, just to keep their spirits up, Bubble and the captain took a stroll up and down the bridge. Then in the early morning it came Bubble's turn to say good-bye. His parting with that telescope was pitiful. He loved it just a little more than the captain and a little less than Squeak. The girl cried over him a little bit as she had cried over Squeak on the night before. The chap gave him a little gentle slap on his back and then exclaimed: "Good-bye, old fellow." The captain just blew his nose.

At the gangway Bubble stopped dead, and in spite of his nurse's protestations refused to budge another inch. It was a critical moment. The nurse was buxom and poor Bubble very weak. There was a sudden whisk of little legs through the air, a shriek of fury and then the child was borne triumphantly down the gangway under nurse's brawny arm.

Then the girl struck up "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and all the rest of them joined in.—N. Y. Evening Sun.

Matrimonial Item.

Colonel Yerger—I hear your son is going to get married.

Judge Peterby—Yes, he is about to become a Benedict.

"Why don't you make him wait until he is older and has got more sense?"

"Humph! If he should get a sensible spell he would not marry at all."—Texas Siftings.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

THE STAFF OF LIFE.

A Good Staff to Lean Upon in an Emergency—How to Cook for Company.

'TWAS a mild morning in April, the vision of outdoor loveliness greeted my longing eyes through every window, but I had a busy day before me and could only sigh for the pleasure denied. Baby was very fretful, the "next to the baby" sick with cold, and the next in order in an upward scale of gradation in a very selfish, domineering mood, so that with all these cares added to the housework I was trying to wade through, I felt like three rainy days, and doubt not I looked it, too. Gathering baby into my arms for his morning nap, I sat by the window as I hummed a tune; gazing through the elm tree where tender leaves begin to bear that exquisite young green, beyond into the blue sky, and nearly forgetting care in that refreshing azure depth. My attention was arrested by a sound from the street, and behold! a well-known vehicle from the country containing two—four—five people, come to stay for dinner! I tucked the baby away, and with the two others clinging to my skirts went to the door to greet my friends, and to reiterate over and over all the little white lies of welcome; for it was Monday, the cook was at the wash-tub, the house-girl doing the kitchen work, and I had not provided for any extras.

While they were doffing their wraps I was chatting merrily, at the same time questioning my inner self about dinner; and as soon as I could leave them I rushed out to the cook, and taking her into the kitchen and sending the house-girl to the children, I surveyed the situation. Cook and I both uttered many ejaculations of gratitude because there was plenty of bread in the house; good, home-made, fresh, luscious bread. I had cold dried-apple pies, highly seasoned with spices and very much liked by my own family, all ready for our dinner, but they seemed so shabby to offer company. So the cook and I assembled our forces—bread, cheese, milk, butter, eggs. I fell to and helped her prepare some of the dishes; then, leaving her to cook them, and glancing on the table (which we had set at breakfast time) long enough to add more chairs and plates, jelly and pickles, I went back to entertain my guests. They never knew for one moment that I had any trouble over them, and I hope they are thinking to-day what a nice dinner I had and at the regular hour. It was after ten when they came, and we had on the stove only asparagus and potatoes; but I rang the dinner bell at half-past twelve.

First, I made a bread pudding, while cook stirred a light custard into a boil. I sliced the bread thin, placing the slices as I buttered them into a buttered baker. I used butter on the first layer of bread, then I spread the next layer with plum jelly, and so alternated it till the baker was a little over half full. Over this we poured a light custard, made of one quart of milk, three eggs, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, and put that in the oven to bake. I then sliced more bread and browned it in the oven, though, of course, it is better toasted; but as we had to have coals to broil the steak on, could not toast the bread. After the bread was browned I went back to the company, having covered the bread with a dish cover and set the dish on the stove hearth—it softens the bread a little to shut it up in a hot dish.

At a signal from cook (she knocked a fork on a glass by my order) I went back, just at a quarter-past twelve—the steak was broiling, the potatoes were mashed and baked, and she was just dropping the eggs into hot water to poach. From my big dish of hot browned bread I first filled the asparagus dish, then laid the asparagus on top and poured over it a rich dressing of butter and cream, adding salt and pepper, and having the dressing almost boiling hot when I poured it on.

I took five tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, one-half pint of milk, a tablespoonful of butter, and melted that on the stove; then I buttered some more browned bread with the melted cheese and put that in a covered dish. I had yet another "bread dish," and laughed as I took my last toasted bread. I cut it in squares, as near the size of the poached egg as possible, buttered each piece, and laying them on a flat meat dish (heated like the bread), I covered each piece of bread with a poached egg, adding pepper and salt. I had raised some parsley in the house, which garnished the steak, and, though I would never have invited my friends to dine on steak, still it was not to be despised; it was far better to make them feel comfortable than to make excuses.

It was a well-broiled steak, juicy and tender; the coffee was excellent; a glass of young onions, together with the parsley, made the table look spring-like, while a green plate piled with wild violets was the finishing touch to the repast. The pudding we ate with whipped cream, and the little relish of curd was handed round just after it. The latter is made in this way—or I should say this is one way:

Curd Relish.—Strain clabber into a thin muslin bag and hang it to drip; in four hours pack it down in a dish or bowl and press it like cheese. Then cut it into squares, which can be molded in the fingers, wrap each square either in white tissue paper or in tin-foil. Another way is to add pepper and salt before it is pressed; and yet another is to flavor it with nutmeg and brown sugar before pressing.—Good Housekeeping.

Bowel Difficulty in Children.

The following of a few simple suggestions will avoid nearly, if not all, bowel difficulties in children, not only in summer, but at all other times of the year. First, make sure of pure water, and if you are at all doubtful about the purity of your supply, boil it well before using. Boil the milk thoroughly and have all food properly sterilized by cooking. Avoid the use of green fruit. Ripe, fresh fruit may be eaten freely at meal time, but at no other. Yet there are thousands of people who never think of eating fruit except between meals. But this imposes extra burdens upon the stomach and makes many dispeptics. The stomach gets tired out by being continually worked, and by and by declares a "strike" in the shape of a sick headache. The constant use of any muscle will induce excessive fatigue. Try moving the hand gently but constantly for twenty-four consecutive hours and you will gain a clearer meaning of what a task you impose upon your stomach by keeping it constantly at work. It is a muscular organ and should receive at least the consideration given to muscles less delicate.—J. H. Kellogg, M. D.

CRYSTALLIZED ORNAMENTS.

Ladies Can Try This and See What They Can Do.

A beautiful ornament, which is very easily made, consists of a wooden cross covered with Canton flannel, with the nap side out, and crystallized by immersion in a solution of alum. The nap retains the crystals so that they are not readily loosened or detached. The flannel should be attached to the wood by means of brass wire nails, and the cross should be suspended in the solution formed by dissolving a pound of alum in a gallon of warm water. The cross should be suspended in the solution while it is still warm and allowed to remain in until the solution cools, when it will be found covered with bright crystals.

FIG. 1.—GROTTO.

Figure 1 is a perspective view and figure 2 is a longitudinal section of a grotto formed by crystallizing alum in a box containing jagged points covered with Canton flannel or wrapped about in various directions with coarse thread or twine. The box may be of wood or metal. It should have apertures in the top, ends and sides. These apertures are stopped with corks, while the box is filled with the solution. After the crystallization the corks are removed, and the holes in the top, sides and one end are covered with colored glass, and over the front aperture is secured a convex spectacle lens, having a focus about equal to the length of the box. When the interior of the box is illuminated by a strong light passing through the colored windows, the effect is fine.

FIG. 2.—INTERIOR OF GROTTO.

The solution used in this case is the same as that given for the cross. After the crystals are formed and the liquid is poured from the box, the interior should be allowed to dry thoroughly before closing the apertures.—Scientific American.

SHOULDER BRACES.

Extract from a Lecture by J. H. Kellogg, M. D., Battle Creek Sanitarium.

Ordinarily, the use of shoulder braces is not to be advised. All they can do is to hold the shoulders back mechanically, whereas the true method of correcting a tendency to stoop shoulders is to develop the muscles which draw the shoulders back. The wearing of shoulder braces puts the muscles entirely at rest and they thus lose what vigor they possess, growing weaker and weaker. Any exercise which brings the arms into play will help to tone up and strengthen the muscles of the back and chest. Exercising with chest weights is excellent and so is the swinging of Indian clubs and the use of dumb bells.

It is astonishing how many people are stoop-shouldered and lop-sided to a greater or less degree. There are very few whose muscular development is so symmetrical but there is a slight curvature of the spine. Right-handed people, very many of them, have the left shoulder higher than the right because of the slight curvature in the spine brought on by making the muscles of the right arm so much stronger than those of the left.

On this account both hands should be cultivated alike so far as possible. Of course in very expert work it would take too much time to educate both hands equally, but for throwing, lifting, pulling, sweeping and all commoner kinds of work and exercise, people should be educated from childhood to use both hands with equal ease and grace. If as children we were given a chance to develop as symmetrically as little animals, we would grow up as symmetrical and graceful as savages, instead of being clumsy, awkward and out of shape. A healthy babe can go through prolonged exercise of muscles of the limbs and body which could hardly be matched by an athlete. Watch a child whose dress is sufficiently hygienic to give its muscles free play and see if you will not be surprised at what it can do which you can not. Why should not every human being keep himself in just the same supple, lithe condition which nature gives him at the outset? That this is not so is largely the lack of proper muscular education and the restrictions of unhygienic dress, coupled with a bad diet.

SIR WILLIAM FRASER is preparing a volume of anecdotes about Lord Beaconsfield, of which he has collected a great number.

THE ART OF VENTRILOQUISM.

With Plain, Practical Directions, by Which the Various "Voices" May Be Acquired in a Few Weeks.

At the present day, when every schoolboy is more or less a conjurer, and any one possessed of a few dollars can obtain the most elaborate "tricks" that are being continually invented by the ingenious artists and exponents of the magic art, it is rather surprising that its sister accomplishment, "Ventriloquism"—an art now, as ever, quite as mystifying and equally entertaining—is so little understood.

The prevailing idea is that the ventriloquist "throws his voice" in the direction in which he wishes it to sound. This is altogether wrong, and a little serious thought would convince any one that it is so; but it is just for the want of this serious thought that persons remain in ignorance about it. They accept the theory and trouble their heads no further on the matter.

THE VENTRILOQUIST AT WORK.

Perhaps some reader will say: "How is it that when a ventriloquist calls to some imaginary person, say under the floor, the answering voice comes from under the floor?" I say that the voice does not come from under the floor. If the ventriloquist is a good performer the voice appears to come from under the floor, I admit, but in reality it is not so. The secret of the art lies in the correct imitation of a sound, as it is heard after traveling from a distance; and the effect of the voice appearing to come from under the floor is obtained by the skill of the artist in producing a sound exactly resembling a person speaking in that direction, as it would be heard after coming through the floor.

There is another idea very general about ventriloquism. It is thought that a special gift is necessary. This, to a certain extent, is correct, as natural qualifications are necessary to become proficient in any calling. One man is naturally a mechanic, while another is more fitted for a lawyer; this man would succeed best as a farmer, while that man would get on better as a vocalist or a musician.

But it is not exactly in those qualifications that the gift necessary is supposed to exist. It is imagined that a peculiar formation of the throat and vocal mechanism is requisite. This is also wrong. The lungs and other vocal organs should be in a sound, natural, healthy state.

If this is the case, all that is required, when the following instructions are learned, is patience and perseverance, without which nothing can be accomplished.

One other remark I should like to make here, and it is necessary that the intending student should understand it before he commences practice. Avoid straining after effect. If a certain sound or voice can not be obtained at first easily—which is likely to be the case—do not strain to get it, but practice gently until it can be produced easily. This advice can not be too often repeated, as beginners are likely to forget it.

The first thing necessary in commencing the study and practice of ventriloquism is to learn to speak without moving the mouth—an accomplishment not very difficult, but which must be learned before any thing further is attempted.

It would be advisable for the student, when practicing this part of the lessons, to stand before a looking-glass; he will then be able to detect any muscular movement of the face or lips, and correct it.

When in this position, let him open his mouth slightly and hold the jaws firm, as if he was trying to prevent some one from opening them. The front teeth should be about a quarter of an inch apart, and the lips held naturally.

He should now go through the alphabet, slowly sounding every letter distinctly, and in a loud, full tone of voice.

The vowels will be easy enough, but some of the consonants will be difficult to articulate plainly without moving the lips. These must be imitated as closely as possible, and, with a little practice, this can be done well enough to be indistinguishable at a short distance.

The most difficult letters to pronounce without the action of the lips are, in their order, P, M, B, F and V.

P being the most obstinate letter to pronounce, we will tackle it first. It is utterly impossible to pronounce it correctly without moving the lips; another letter must, therefore, be substituted for it.

The student will find that K is the nearest approach; he must, therefore, when sounding the letter alone, pronounce it as kay, and in words he must substitute the K for the P whenever it occurs—as kut for put, kerhaks for perhaps, kussy for pussy, etc.

With a little practice, this substitute letter can be pronounced so much like the original that very few will distinguish the difference.—Golden Days.

Their Predicament.

Mildred—So you and Charlie are both Presbyterians. I think it's so nice for a girl and her fiance to belong to the same church.

Jane—Yes; but isn't it too bad that we have to join another church after we are married?

Mildred—You surely don't have to do that!

Jane—Yes, indeed. You see we'll be United Presbyterians, then.—Drake's Magazine.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS,
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction. TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following
Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
70 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to E. R. FAIRCHILD,]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-18-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AVE
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WHEMS, Agent.
5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1885
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER.
9-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANBUSKIRK,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 168. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me.
my10

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people.
4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of GENUINE Gold and Silver Watches, Gold Chains, Diamonds, Solid Silver and Plated Ware. Opera Glasses and Spectacles.
Don't forget the number.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to Luncheons, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE.
4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached.
4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE, STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:59 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 9.15 A. M. | to meet | 9.32 A. M. train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 do |
| 4th do | 10.60 | do | 10.37 do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.34 do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.08 P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do meet | 3.51 P. M. train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do do | 5.39 do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do do | 6.07 do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do do | 7.03 do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.32, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M., 2.06, 2.30, 3.45, 4.34, 5.30, 6.35, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18.
7-6 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

2:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily to Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:43 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 37, 7 05, 9 05 A. M., and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 37, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A.M.; 12 35, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:35 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 21 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A. M.; 12 05, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 6 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 11 37 A. M., 2 54, 6 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 52, 6 29, 6 59, 7 29, 7 50, 7 58, 8, 9 15, 9 37, 9 52, 10 05, 11 09, 11 09 a. m., 1 (3 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 20 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 09 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 20 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 09 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 45, 11 50*, a. m., 1 59*, 2 32*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 37, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 45, a. m., 3 32* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 45, 11 50*, a. m., 2 32, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 45 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Ninth and Green streets, 7 20*, 8 30*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 20, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 9 45, 12 p. m. Sundays—9 a. m., 12 30, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 10, 6 20*, 11 05, a. m. 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 9 35 a. m., 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 30, 4 00, 7*, 8*, 9*, 10 10, 11 55 a. m., 1 25, 3 10, 5 40*, 7 38, 8 45 6 50, 8 47, 10 p. m. Sundays—1 30, 4 00, 9 55 a. m. 1 25, 4, 5 55, 7, 8 47 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. H. OLDENBERG, Gen. Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass. Agent.

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. (THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.)

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3.00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St.

Wishing you good health
Truly yours
Carl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

CHIEFS IN COUNCIL

No Conclusion Reached by the Labor Leaders.

SARGEANT TALKS WITH WEBB.

The Central Official Compliments the Firemen Upon Their Fidelity.

A Denial that the Men Returned to Work at Buffalo—Mr. Webb Corrects an Interview—Lake Shore Railroad Refusing Central Freight—Men Hired in Philadelphia to Act as Brakemen.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Vice-President Webb of the Central and Chief Sargent of the Firemen's Brotherhood had an interview last evening.

Mr. Webb did most of the talking. He complimented the firemen upon their fidelity, but Mr. Sargent was noncommittal in his reply.

The conference of Knights of Labor leaders and Chief Sargent at the St. Cloud Hotel lasted until a late hour last night.

No conclusion was reached and another meeting is being held to-day. Messrs. Powderly, Hayes, Holland, Wright, Sweeney, Sargent, Howard and Wilkinson are the conferees.

Though, as stated, no definite conclusion has been reached by the conference, the remarks and demeanor of the conferees create an impression that the mooted general strike on the Vanderbilt lines is favored and is likely to be ordered.

Mr. Sargent denies that the men have returned to work at Buffalo.

Vice-President Webb and Supt. Voorhees had spent the night at the Grand Central Depot. They are also there to-day awaiting developments.

What Mr. Webb Did Say.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mr. Webb said that the reporter had misunderstood him when he wrote of the interview yesterday: "I do not care if the firemen go out." What Mr. Webb did say, he declares, was that "if they do go out, I will fight them and do the best that I can." Mr. Webb is desirous that this should be given the widest publication.

PINKERTONS WITHDRAWN.

The Central's Army at Albany Confined to the Barracks in the Cars.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Few incidents broke the ominous quiet in the Central Railroad strike. In obedience to the wishes of the people the company has wholly withdrawn the Pinkertons from its cars, and as predicted by the Chief of Police, this has apparently settled all the trouble. There seems to be every reason to believe from this that had the Pinkertons never been brought here to this peaceful city there never would have been trouble. The men are now quartered in their cars and are not seen except occasionally in the freight yards.

It is understood that for the better protection of the railroad, and as an earnest of his promise to preserve the peace and property if the Pinkertons were withdrawn, Chief Willard will secure the appointment of fifty special policemen at once to serve in addition to his regular force of patrolmen.

Central Freight Refused.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 20.—The Lake Shore Railroad here has refused all eastern freight handed them on account of the New York Central strike. The mills are also experiencing much difficulty owing to iron being delayed and tied up for an indefinite time.

Buffalo Strikers Not Taken Back.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Vice-President Webb says he has no knowledge of the reported instructions to Supt. Burrows to take back the Buffalo strikers. Mr. Webb says that the only instructions he has given Mr. Burrows are to manage the strike according to his discretion.

Hiring Men in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—About 150 men were hired here to-day by agents of the New York Central Railroad Company, and left for different points in New York State. They will act as brakemen and switchmen.

CARDINAL NEWMAN'S FUNERAL.

Members of All Denominations Present at the Services.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The funeral of Cardinal Newman, which took place in the oratory at Edgbaston, Birmingham, was the most impressive burial service that has occurred in England for many years.

An eminently distinguished congregation was present and, notwithstanding the fact that admission was obtained by ticket only, the church was filled to its utmost capacity.

The service occupied two hours, and its severe simplicity served to heighten its grandeur. A Gregorian mass was rendered by a selected choir. Included in the great number of mourners present were a body of 100 priests and 16 bishops, who occupied appropriate places at the altar. There were also present a number of clergymen of the Church of England, representatives of Oxford University and other religious and educational institutions.

The closing ceremonies at the grave were of a family character, only chosen ones being present. Immense crowds of people congregated about the church and in the vicinity of the cemetery and added greatly to the solemnity of the occasion by their respectful demeanor.

Hon. W. L. Scott Not a Candidate.

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 20.—At the Democratic convention in the Twenty-sixth District A. L. Tilden was nominated for Congress. Hon. W. L. Scott was the first choice of the convention, but declined the nomination.

POISONED BY ICE CREAM.

Seventeen Persons Taken Sick at a Narragansett Pier Hotel.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 20.—Seventeen persons who had partaken of ice cream at the 8 p. m. dinner at the Hotel Berwick were taken with vomiting, having been poisoned by the cream. Two physicians were called from outside the house, and with those quartered in the hotel opened up a lively practice.

Among the worst cases was that of one of the Sanford sisters, who was at one time in a very dangerous condition. Secretary of State E. D. Maguinness and Mrs. Charles E. Lincoln of Providence were also quite ill. The danger was all over by daylight, but several of the victims are confined to their beds to-day.

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

Two Young Girls Marched Out of Town by a Gang of Boys.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 20.—Late last night two young girls residing at Shafton, went to Manor, and while there their conduct, it seems, disgusted several of the young men of the town. The girls having disregarded a warning to stay away, the young men concluded to resort to extreme measures.

After stripping the girls the boys applied a coat of tar and feathers, and then marched them out of town. The friends of the girls are determined to punish the perpetrators.

GEN. GRANT'S BODY.

The New York Committee Will Not Discuss the Subject of Removal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Grant Monument Association Executive Committee adopted an address to the people, setting forth that they will take no part in any discussion as to a removal of Gen. Grant's body from New York. The fund amounts to $150,000.

It is proposed to build with this a structure having a finished appearance, and to add to the monument as the funds increased. No design has yet been selected, but a choice will soon be made.

Undertakers Combining.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 20.—A scheme is on foot here for a big combination of undertakers in this State to protect the trade against the National Burial Case Association, which was recently formed by the leading manufacturers of undertakers' supplies. The leading men in the movement are O. G. Staples of Washington, and John McCarthy and Robt. A. Titus of this city. The proprietors of the Canastota Casket works are also in the scheme, and the combination will be effected by distributing stock of that concern among the leading undertakers. The combination will be known as the Union Casket company.

A Young Society Woman Drowned.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Mrs. Frederick Bones of Carthage, a prominent young society woman, was found drowned in Star Lake, in the Adirondacks, yesterday morning. She was spending the summer at a cottage there, and while her husband and friends were out all night shooting the drowning occurred. It is believed that she committed suicide, as she had been quite melancholy of late. When the shooting party was returning yesterday morning the body was found.

Pennsylvania Knights of Pythias.

READING, Pa., Aug. 20. — The Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Pennsylvania are in annual session here, the meeting to continue four day. About 500 delegates are in attendance. The report of the Grand Keeper of Records and Seals shows that there are 42,713 Knights of Pythias in Pennsylvania, an increase over last year of 2,422. The 424 lodges in the State have paid out for the relief of brother Knights and for burials $218,584.

Killed on Account of a Debt.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 20.—Frederick Shroeder was killed last night in Morrisville, just across the Delaware, by James Hall, a wealthy Englishman. Schroeder and Hall are neighbors, but there was considerable feeling existing between them on account of money matters, Schroeder being in Hall's debt.

Prohibition State Convention.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 20.—The Prohibition State Convention is being held to-day and will be in session to-morrow. It is the largest gathering in the history of that party in Pennsylvania. All the counties in the State excepting two or three will be represented, a large number of the delegates being women.

Their Carriage Struck by a Train.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 20.—Mrs. Belle Bostleman was instantly killed, James Kenny fatally injured and Mrs. Earl badly bruised last night at Belleville, their carriage being struck by a train as they were crossing the track. The horse was killed and the vehicle demolished.

Two Women Badly Burned.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 20.—The wife of Dr. D. M. Barr, proprietor of the Hygienic Institute at Ocean Grove, was seriously burned last night by her dress igniting from a gas jet. A servant was also severely injured in an effort to rescue Mrs. Barr and extinguish the flames.

Found Dead in His Room.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Charles Smith of New Orleans, aged about 65 years, a guest at the United States Hotel, was found dead in his room last night. It is thought he died of heart disease.

Two Miners Burned to Death.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 20.—Benjamin Price and Benjamin Collett, miners, were burned to death in the South Wilkesbarre shaft in the morning. An explosion of gas caused the accident.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT

Seventeen Lives Lost on the Old Colony Railroad.

THIRTY PASSENGERS INJURED.

The Dead and Dying Dragged from the Wrecked Cars.

Many Scalded to Death by the Hot Steam—The Wrecked Cars on Fire. Heartrending Cries of Imprisoned Passengers—Several Doctors Sent from Boston—List of the Killed and Injured.

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—A terible accident occurred on the Old Colony Railroad, near the Quincy station, whereby several lives were lost and many persons were injured. The Woodshoil express was thundering past the station when the engine jumped the rail and three cars followed it. The engine was smashed and lay across the track, the fourth car remained on the rail and crushed into the locomotive.

Then a terrible scene was enacted. The car was tossed several feet in the air, and turning on its side fell upon the engine from which the steam was escaping in huge volumes.

Awful Suffering by Steam.

There were 75 passengers in the car, and as the windows were nearly all closed they were imprisoned like rats in a trap. The car was completely filled with steam and the agonized cries of the passengers told of the awful sufferings caused. Those in the other cars who escaped injury at once hurried to the assistance of those less fortunate.

Windows were broken and the dead and dying were dragged from within. The hot steam had done its terrible work, and from many the flesh actually hung in shreds. It was a horrible task.

Word was at once telephoned to Boston, and a special train bearing about 30 doctors was quickly sent to the scene of the disaster.

Heroic Efforts.

The Quincy fire department and all the surgeons in the city were summoned to the spot and the lawns on each side of the railroad were covered with killed and injured. Heroic efforts were made by the train hands and passengers to rescue some of the passengers, and they succeeded in removing twenty or more who were only slightly injured. There were 391 passengers in the train, 100 being from Brocton.

The Killed.

The following were dead when taken from the wreck: Mrs. Orcutt Allen, Philadelphia; Mrs. Mary E. Fennelly, aged 70, Louisville, Ky.; F. J. Johnson, Montpelier, Vt.; John Ryan, South Boston, fireman of the train, and four women, two men and two children, one a boy of 14, not identified; Mrs. A. C. Wells, Hartford, Conn., a daughter of H. L. Welch of Waterville, Conn.; Alice and Catherine, daughters of Mrs. Oscar Fennelly of Louisville, Ky.

List of the Injured.

The names of the badly injured are: Mrs. G. F. Stowe, Somerville, burned; Mrs. Andrew Tower, Somerville, badly injured internally; Mrs. A. G. Welch, Cleveland, O., badly burned; Henry A. Welch, Cleveland, burned; E. C. Bailey, Dorchester, cut and burned; C. M. Colt, Cleveland, O., whole body terribly scalded; Mrs. Oscar Fenley, Louisville, Ky., terribly scalded; Dr. F. B. Warner, Canandaigua, N. Y., hand burned; Mrs. F. W. Welch, J. C. Brown, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. J. S. Needham, R. T. Needham, Judge J. W. Edwards, Louisville, Ky.; Captain W. R. Abbott and Mrs. Abbott, Louisville, Ky.; Fireman Francis of Chelsea, Jacob Helibron of Boston.

Terrible Scenes Among the Dead.

A curious fact incidental to the accident is that of all those on the train not killed outright there is but one with broken bones. Some of the scenes after the accident were shocking. At Brown's undertaking establishment, which was forced to become a morgue, more than one awful sight met the eyes of the volunteer attendants. The corpse of a woman, terribly mangled, was brought into the room and placed upon the table. Knives in the hands of the undertaker's assistants quickly ripped her clothes apart. In the crash of the cars the neck had been severed. With groans of horror every one in the room turned from the sight. Afterwards the body of the unfortunate woman was packed piecemeal into a box, and later identified as a Miss Allen, of Philadelphia.

It has been ascertained that the accident was probably the result of carelessness on the part of the workmen who were repairing the tracks. It is understood now that a jack was left lying across the rail when the workmen stepped aside to avoid the train. The engine struck this and was immediately thrown from the track.

ANOTHER WRECK.

Eight Delaware & Hudson Cars Roll Down an Embankment.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—A Delaware & Hudson engine drawing a freight train jumped the track at a point near Port Henry, on Lake Champlain, and the engine and eight cars rolled down an embankment in a great heap, making a terrible and costly wreck.

The engineer, Frank Carrier, Fireman Parks and the head brakeman, Fred Terry, were buried in the wreck. Carrier and Terry were instantly killed and Fireman Parks was so badly hurt that his life is despaired of.

Carrier lived at Schenectady and had only recently been promoted to be an engineer. His sister and sweetheart are in Saratoga with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' excursion from Schenectady, and had expected to meet Carrier when his train came down. Brakeman Terry's home was at Whitehall and Fireman Parks is from Sandy Hill. The road is blocked.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 3 |
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 4 |

Game called on account of darkness.

Batteries—Rusie and Murphy; Nichols and Bennett.

AT CHICAGO—FIRST GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 2— 7 |
| Pittsburg | 1 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— 4 |

Batteries—Luby and Nagle; Osborne and Decker.

SECOND GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 0 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 4 | 2 | 4 | 3 | 0—18 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— 3 |

Batteries—Hutchinson and Kittridge; Phillips and Decker.

AT CINCINNATI.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 0 | — |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | — |

Batteries—Duryea and Keenan; Smith and Zimmer.

Game called on account of rain.

Players' League

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0— 2 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 7 | 1 | x—10 |

Batteries—Husted and Cross; Weyhing and Kinslow.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0— 3 |
| New York | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 4— 8 |

Batteries—Radbourn and Murphy; O'Day and Ewing.

AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo and Chicago game postponed on account of wet grounds.

AT PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg and Cleveland game postponed on account of rain.

American Association.

AT COLUMBUS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbus | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 2 | | | | — 6 |
| Brooklyn | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | | | | — 3 |

Game called. Rain.

Batteries—Chamberlain and O'Connor; Ford and Pitz.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 2 | 2 | 2 | 0— 9 |
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 8 | 1 | 3 | x—14 |

Batteries—Ramsey and Wells; Titcomb and McGuire.

POSTPONED.

The Louisville and Athletic game at Louisville on account of rain.

The Toledo and Syracuse game at Toledo on account of rain.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEW HAVEN.

Rain interfered to prevent the playing of the New Haven and Lebanon game.

AT NEWARK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Newark | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 4 |
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 2 |

Game called on account of darkness.

Batteries—Serad and Murphy; Gambel and Gibson.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 3 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | — 9 |
| Wilmington | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 0 |

Game called on account of darkness.

Batteries—Baker and Townsend; Leiper and Murray.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Boston | ..... | 2,740 |
| Chicago | ..... | 1,634 |
| New York | 1,635 | ..... |
| Philadelphia | 1,000 | ..... |
| Totals | 2,635 | 3,864 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 63 | 33 | .657 | Chicago | 54 | 45 | .545 |
| Boston | 63 | 36 | .636 | N. York | 42 | 56 | .429 |
| Philad'a | 59 | 38 | .608 | Cleve'l'd | 39 | 60 | .313 |
| Cincin'ti | 59 | 37 | .615 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 78 | .196 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 56 | 38 | .596 | Philadel | 51 | 48 | .515 |
| Chicago | 50 | 42 | .571 | Pittsb'rg | 42 | 48 | .467 |
| Brookl'n | 58 | 44 | .569 | Clev'l'd | 40 | 53 | .430 |
| N. York | 53 | 43 | .552 | Buffalo | 26 | 66 | .283 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 60 | 31 | .659 | Col'mb's | 48 | 45 | .516 |
| St. Louis | 54 | 38 | .587 | Toledo | 46 | 43 | .517 |
| Athletic | 48 | 44 | .533 | Syracuse | 37 | 50 | .308 |
| Roch'st'r | 46 | 44 | .511 | Brookl'n | 27 | 67 | .287 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'more | 71 | 23 | .755 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 64 | 24 | .727 | Harrisb'g | 36 | 57 | .387 |
| Newark | 50 | 39 | .562 | Wilm'n'g | 29 | 60 | .329 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 39 | .506 | Hartford | 22 | 61 | .265 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

No games scheduled.

Two games are to be played to-day between the Philadelphias and Brooklyns at Brooklyn.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

No games scheduled.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Syracuse, at Toledo.
Columbus vs. Brooklyn, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Athletics, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Rochester, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Baltimore vs. Newark, at Newark.
Wilmington vs. Harrisburg, at Harrisburg.
New Haven vs. Lebanon, at New Haven.

To Buy the Athletic Club.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—The Philadelphia Brotherhood Club, it is said, is about to buy out the Athletic Club of this city. No actual negotiations to this end have yet begun, but it is understood that the Athletic stockholders are willing to sell. The object of the Brotherhood in purchasing the club will be to get the use of the name and to make the baseball situation in this city less complicated. Catcher Robinson and Third Baseman Lyon will probably join the Brotherhood Club in the event of the purchase.

The Latest Baseball Rumor.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—An evening paper says that Ward of the Players' League and Byrne of the National League have made a deal by which they will join their forces, taking the best men from their respective clubs to form a strong Players' League Club to play on the present National League grounds next year. It is asserted that Ward will be captain of the new team and Byrne manager.

Shot and Killed by an Actor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Charles Crumley, an actor in the White Slave Company, whose stage name is Charles Webster, shot and killed Robert McNeil, a civil engineer, in the street in front of Crumley's apartments, 302 West 22d street. Crumley suspected McNeil of intimacy with Mrs. Crumley. The murderer gave himself up to the police.

KILLED BY A CYCLONE

Terrible Storm in the Vicinity of Wilkesbarre, Pa.

LARGE NUMBER OF LIVES LOST.

Over Two Hundred Buildings Wholly or Partially Wrecked.

The Wind Blew With Great Velocity—A Number of People Homeless—The Loss Will Reach Over a Half Million Dollars—Trains of Cars Blown Over and Wrecked.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 20.—One of the worst cyclones ever experienced in this vicinity came upon the city last evening. It came up the river, the sky was black as night and the wind blew with great velocity.

Trees were blown down, and hundreds of houses were unroofed, and many houses completely demolished.

In different parts of the city the havoc made by the cyclone is fearful, many districts being laid in ruin, and a number of people are homeless. The loss will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars. Every wire in the city, telegraph, electric light and telephone, were blown down.

Trains and locomotives which were at the depot were blown over and wrecked. The streets are blocked with fallen trees and buildings.

Several People Killed.

Four men are known to have been killed in the Hazard Wire Rope works, and the total number killed in the city so far is reported at 13.

Three miners were killed by the falling in of a house in Scott street. The miners had returned from work but a short time when the building collapsed, and buried them in the ruins. A little colored girl was killed by a falling building on South Main street. A man and two horses were killed by the falling of lumber at Kytle's Planing Mill.

Two men were killed by the fall of a portion of Stegmaier's Brewery. Another was killed in S. L. Brown's brick building on East Market street, which was demolished.

Reports thus far received indicate the death of 15 or 16 others. Fully 200 buildings are wholly or partially wrecked. One hundred tin roofers have been telegraphed for, and building mechanics of all kinds can find employment.

Fifteen Persons Killed at Sugar Notch.

Reports come from Sugar Notch, a mining town three miles from here, that the destruction to property is terrible and that 15 persons were killed.

Coal breakers in all directions have been more or less damaged at Parsons and Mill Creek, four miles from here, and 10 men are reported to have been killed.

The Murray Shaft fan house was blown and the fan stopped. There are 37 men in the mine, but it is hoped they can be got out safely.

The Death Roll.

Following is a list of the dead as far as they have been identified:

John A. Frantz, John Frits, Peter Rittenmeyer, Nettie Thompson, Harry Vandermart, Levi Martin, Mrs. James McKinley and child, John Sandapple, John Kern, and an unknown Polander.

Several more are reported dead, but it is impossible to learn their names in the confusion now reigning.

Some of the injured are: Otto Bartman, Sam McIntyre, John Long, Max Cramer, Fred Hause, Harry Long, John McDonald, Anthony Blaum, Jacob Conrad, William Jones, John Wood, Franklin Walsh, Sam Rouse.

The Militia Called Out.

Mayor Sutton issued a proclamation calling on the members of the Ninth regiment to assemble at the armory today to aid in the police supervision of the city. He also requested all idle workingmen to report to him for labor in clearing the debris, the city to pay for the same.

Some of the Losses.

The Hazard Wire works people say their loss is about $25,000; S. L. Brown loses $20,000; the St. Mary's Catholic Church, $15,000; Murray Shaft, $10,000; Whitehaven Ice company, $6,000; Hollenback Shaft, $5,000; Ahlborn's Pork Packing house, $5,000. These are only a few of the losses.

A heavy rain has prevailed since the cyclone, and adds to the general distress. The loss is estimated at $500,000 or over.

ALONG THE SUSQUEHANNA.

Grand, But Terrifying Sights Seen From a Passing Train.

READING, Pa., Aug. 20.—The cyclone passed through the little town of Summerville, near New Milford, on the Delaware, Lackawana & Western Railroad, last evening, blowing down houses and tearing up trees in its path.

William Fisher, an engineer on a passing train, said that the spectacle was grandly terrific. Great forest trees that had been torn up by the roots from the mountain side went whirling through the air. The train passed through the edge of the cyclone and narrowly escaped being overturned. Car windows were smashed and two brakemen were terribly gashed on the head by contact with the flying debris.

Wires are down at several points and it is impossible to communicate with some of the towns in this section that have been struck by the storm.

At Harveysville several lives were lost, and much property was destroyed at New Milford and other places.

Mr. Pattison Officially Notified.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—Hon. Robert E. Pattison has been officially notified of his nomination for Governor. He accepted in a short speech, and will embody his views more fully hereafter in a letter.

THE QUAY RESOLUTION.

The Discussion Over Postponing the Election Bill Commenced To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The leading topic at the Capitol is the outcome of the discussion, which commenced today in the Senate over the resolution of Senator Quay fixing an order of business which does not include consideration of the Election bill.

A large number of amendments will be offered. Mr. Hoar offered an amendment to include the Election bill in the list of measures to be considered. Mr. Blair will offer his resolution to limit debate as a substitute, and there will be a number of similar propositions advanced for discussion and decision.

As the resolution can only be considered in the morning hour, which lasts from 12 to 2 o'clock, it will be likely several days before a decision can be finally reached, and there will doubtless be a caucus to consider what compromise is suggested.

The Raum Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The difficulty that Speaker Reed has experienced in filling one of the places on the committee to investigate charges of favoritism against General Green B. Raum, the Commissioner of Pensions, has been settled by the appointment of Representative Lewis of Mississippi, a Democrat, making the committee complete. The committee will meet this afternoon.

Bills Approved by the President.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The President has approved the Fortifications bill, the act to amend the laws relative to Shipping Commissioners, the act to ratify and confirm an agreement between the States of New York and Pennsylvania in relation to the boundary between them, the bill for the establishment of a military park at the battlefield of Chickamauga, and the act to adopt regulations for preventing collisions at sea.

Captain Bassett Seriously Ill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Captain Bassett, the venerable assistant doorkeeper of the Senate, has been confined to his bed several days by an attack of malarial fever, and fears are expressed that he may not recover.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The glass factories are in full blast at Millville, N. J.

Railroad stocks are declining on account of the strikes.

The Western Baseball clubs are journeying East to-day.

The potato blight in Ireland is extending to several counties.

Tournament won the rich Omnibus stakes at Monmouth Park.

A very light snow, the first of the season, fell at Denver, Col., last night.

The New England Terra Cotta works at Revere, Mass., were destroyed by fire. Loss, $40,000.

John F. Schoner has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the 13th District of Pennsylvania.

Thirty oil cloth printers are on strike at Dunn's factory, Camden, N. J., because of a reduction in pay.

During an electrical storm last night Clelland, Simpson & Taylor's dry goods store at Allentown, Pa., was burned.

The National Electric Light Association is holding its twelfth annual convention at the Stockton Hotel, Cape May.

Secretary Windom has issued a call for 4½ per cent. bonds of the acts of July 14, 1870, and Jan. 20, 1871, to an amount not exceeding $15,000,000.

The annual camp meeting of the Methodists was commenced at Ocean Grove, N. J. Bishop Goodsell delivered the opening sermon this morning.

The admirers of the late John Boyle O'Reilly, who are preparing a public testimonial to his memory, have arranged to hold a mass meeting at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York at an early date.

Patrolman George Murphy and Joseph Stewart had a disgraceful row in the street in New Haven, Conn. The latter attacked the former with a bottle, and was about to shoot him, when other policemen interfered. The men have been enemies for some time.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—For New England: Showers; winds shifting to westerly; slightly warmer in eastern; stationary temperature in western portions.

For Eastern New York: Showers; slightly cooler in northern; stationary temperature in southern portions; winds shifting to westerly.

For New Jersey: Showers; cooler; northwesterly winds.

For Western New York: Showers; followed by clearing, slightly cooler weather, except on the lakes; stationary temperature; southwesterly winds.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Money on call to-day, 16 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Monday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg. | 102¾ | 102¾ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup. | 103¼ | 103¼ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg. | 123¾ | 123¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup. | 123¾ | 123¾ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Monday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 83¾ | 83¾ |
| Central Pacific | ..... | ..... |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 102 | 101¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | ..... | ..... |
| Del., Lack. & W. | 144¾ | 144¾ |
| Erie | 19¾ | 20 |
| Erie pref. | ..... | ..... |
| Lake Shore | 107¾ | 107 |
| Louis. & Nash. | 80¾ | 87 |
| Michigan Central | ..... | 95 |
| Missouri Pacific | 70¾ | 70¾ |
| New Jersey Central | 122¾ | 123 |
| Northwestern | 106¾ | 106¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | ..... | ..... |
| Pacific Mail | ..... | 43¾ |
| Reading | 43¾ | 43¾ |
| Rock Island | 88¾ | 87¾ |
| St. Paul | 71 | 70¾ |
| Union Pacific | 59¾ | 59¾ |
| Western Union | 83 | 83 |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Two four-in-hand stages will bring the Netherwood Hotel guests to Music Hall to-night.

—Read J. F. MacDonald's advertisement; you can save 10 per cent. on the price you are paying.

—An important meeting of the Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be held next Monday evening.

—The largest shipment of news paper ever received in this city, arrived at the freight house yesterday. It weighed almost three tons. THE PRESS will be printed on it.

—The Hotel Netherwood's young people will have a strawride to either Rahway or Bound Brook next week. They will take the orchestra with them and a big supper will be ordered in advance.

—There will be a special meeting of Gazelle Engine company, No. 1, held in their parlors to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock sharp. A full attendance of the members is requested, as business of importance is to be brought before the meeting.

—"The Camp, Battlefield and Hospital" is the title of a very interesting and truthful book of the late civil war, for which Miss Lizzie Sutphen of this city has the agency. The subscription price is $2 50. Miss Sutphen will call upon you, and do not fail to subscribe.

—The sidewalk in front of J. P. Homan's on Somerset street is being graded on a level with the sidewalk connecting on each end, and stone flagging is to be laid. It seems to be Mr. Homan's intention merely to lay a strip of flagging in the centre of the sidewalk, but the crowds who use the thoroughfare hope that he will perfect the walk by paving it from store front to curb, thus making it uniform with the handsome walk in front of Alex. Thorn's block, and gaining the commendation of the entire city and borough.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. H. Dennis, of East Third street, is spending a week in Hunterdon county.

The friends of Lillian Hope, of Madison avenue, tendered her a birthday party yesterday. The occasion was highly enjoyable.

A surprise party was tendered to Arthur Carpenter of Westervelt avenue, last evening. Thirty young people attended, meeting first at the home of Miss Emma Minich, of Manning avenue.

Jerry Moore, the right-hand-man of Demarest, the grocer, with Mrs. Moore and family has returned from a well-earned two weeks' vacation at Asbury Park.

There are spots on the sun, and even THE PRESS sometimes, like the great Homer, nods. Through misinformation it was led, yesterday, to announce the engagement of Fred. A. Burr of Kensington avenue to Miss Lily G. Burr, daughter of T. S. Burr of LaGrande avenue. The fortunate man in the case is not Fred A. Burr, but Eliot Burr.

Ivar. Swedberg, a former employee of the Pond Machine Tool Company, and a resident of this city where his father died a few months ago, writes from Billesholm, Sweden, news that will give much pleasure to his friends here. He is now the Superintending Engineer of one of the largest coal mines in the World, with 500 men under him. Young Swedberg justly deserves his good fortune, and the company he is connected with are to be congratulated upon securing him.

In Full to Date.

The following receipt speaks for itself. The Water Works Company of Plainfield now owes the city nothing; the Water Board's professed ire will be appeased, and those who may have undertaken to crowd Contractor Moore into a hole, can call off their dog:

OFFICE OF THE CITY TREASURER, Plainfield, N. J., August 20, 1890.

Received from Chas. K. Moore for Water Works Co., two checks of one thousand dollars each of monthly payments for July and August, 1890.

$2,000. A. TITSWORTH, City Treasurer.

They Will Marry in September.

(From the Asbury Park Journal.)

The engagement of Mr. W. Frank Smith, of Plainfield, N. J., to Miss Frankie Broach, of New York City, is announced. Their marriage will take place early in September.

MR. NEWHALL AND THE WATER-WORKS.

The Councilman Makes a Speech of Self-Exoneration.

Councilman Henry B. Newhall made a brief statement concerning the Plainfield Water Company, the Water Board, and himself as Chairman of the Board, at last night's meeting of the City Common Council, just before adjournment.

"I wish to contradict," said the Councilman, "the statement in a recent issue of The World intimating that the default in the payment of money by the Water Company to the city, was understood and consented to by the Chairman of the Water Board [Mr. Newhall himself]. The statement is entirely without foundation. The fact is that about July 1 I left the city for several weeks' vacation. The June check had not then been paid by the Water Company, but it was only a few days overdue, and the Board did not consider it wise to make a very strong point of the delay. The July check was not forthcoming prior to the August meeting of the Water Board, and after a conference it was agreed to call the attention of Council to the default and advise that the Corporation Counsel be consulted with in regard to taking summary proceedings concerning the double default. At the last meeting of the Council it was for some reason deemed inadvisable to give consent to this proposed method of action, but we still feel it quite important to take notice of this first default. Up to July 1 the Water Company had not rendered itself liable, but is now certainly in default, and we think that prompt and vigorous action should be taken, either against the Water Company or against its bondsmen, or both. The city has a contract carefully drawn; it is a strong contract. It is indorsed by bondsmen who guarantee the faithful fulfillment of the contract in detail—bondsmen who are abundantly able to protect the city. I, of course, am aware that as this is but an adjourned session of the meeting at which the matter first came up, the action then taken cannot be reconsidered, but I do hope that at the next meeting the Councilmen will be prepared to take summary proceedings if they consider them advisable."

[THE PRESS stated last Saturday that it had reason to believe that the first payment deferred was with Mr. Newhall's understanding and tacit consent. In spite of Mr. Newhall's speech, THE PRESS continues to hold such belief. Mr. Newhall most certainly understood that the payment would not then be made, and by silence, at least, consented. ED.]

Not Yet Used to Country Conveniences.

The family of Oscar Summers who recently moved to Plainfield from Brooklyn, were almost burned out of their apartments in the upper story of a house at the corner of Central avenue and Third street, and their little girl had a narrow escape from being scalded to death, at noon today.

An oil stove was in use in the kitchen, and it was a new experience for the city folks. They had it stuck up on a chair with a big wash boiler full of clothes on one end and a pan full of dishes on the other. Mr. Summers' little daughter, about nine years of age, lifted the pan of dishes off. Then the weight of the wash boiler upset the stove and spilled burning oil all over.

Eden Boice, who lives below, heard the noise and guessed the cause. He rushed upstairs and found the surbase of the room afire. The spreading flames of the oil could never have been extinguished with water, but Mr. Boice dumped the wet clothes in the boiler onto the fire and smothered it. Then he threw the pan of dishes into the incipient conflagration. Charles Glaentzer, of Hook & Ladder Co., No. 1, also lent his assistance. The house is owned by Mrs. Stites of Washington territory. The damage was about $25.

Instruction in German at Very Low Rates.

A school for the teaching of the German language and singing to young and old, will be opened in the Saengerbund building, Somerset street, on the first Saturday in September. The instructor will be Mr. Koerfer, a thoroughly educated man who has been a teacher in Germany for 17 years. He is also the leader of the Plainfield Gesang. There will be two classes every Saturday. The older scholars from 9 to 11 in the morning, and the younger from 2 to 4 in the afternoon. The fee will be but 50 cents a month. The room in which the classes will be held, is large and well ventilated and warmed. Other particulars may be obtained by calling on Mrs. Wm. Belter.

Your Last Chance.

Friday morning, at eight o'clock, the last excursion of the season will leave this city for Long Branch and Ocean Grove. It will be under the auspices of Warren Mission, and the Sunday schools of Grace church, Netherwood chapel and the Dunellen Presbyterians will accompany them. Tickets: Adults, $1.25; children, 90 cents. All baskets and parcels properly marked with the owner's name will be in charge of a responsible person on the train, and will be delivered and returned at Ross' pavilion, Ocean Grove, free of charge.

Petty Burglars Fail in Their Attempts.

Some person broke the lock and a piece off the door of Jacob Schlick's shoemaker shop on South Second street, last night, but failed to force an entrance. A pane of glass in the window of A. Jseger's barber shop next door, was also broken but the thief or thieves must have eventually been scared away.

BOULEVARD PHILISTINES.

They Hammer John Motley for Curtailing Hospitality.

John Motley of Elizabeth fell into the hands of the Philistines of the boulevard last evening. Being of a convivial turn of mind, he visited the drink dispensary of Patrick Day on West Third street, and was about to order a glass of liquid refreshment when he became cognizant of the fact that a crowd of thirsty-throats were assembled in the bar-room and were casting glances towards him that were equivalent to a demand to be treated. The illustrious namesake of the famous American historian paid for a round of drinks, and then paid for another. He objected, however, to squandering all his wealth on the rapidly increasing crowd, and in consequence of his refusal to treat further a fight resulted. Motley was pommeled severely, and when he presented himself before Justice Nash this morning he had bruises and cuts on his face and the back of his head. He complained against Patrick Day, John Day his son, and other persons unknown, for beating, kicking and otherwise assaulting him. Warrants for the arrest of the alleged assailants were issued. It is probable that several other charges recently made against the Days will now be prosecuted.

Grocers Must be Licensed.

Corporation Counsel Edwards of Jersey City, has decided that it is a violation of the law for bottlers or grocers to sell spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in original packages. The police will, accordingly, proceed against those who are operating in violation of the law and notices will be given that licenses must be procured by such dealers if they wish to continue the prosecution of their business. Sufficient time will be accorded to dealers in which to procure the necessary documents, after which all negligent and derelict tradesmen will be required to show cause in the court why they should not pay a penalty of $25 in addition to the $250 license fee.

Several members of the bottlers' association, as well as individual dealers, were informed that they must procure licenses without delay, or cease traffic. If all of them engaged in the business continue, and procure licenses, the city treasury will be benefited many hundred dollars. Under the decision non-resident firms may deliver liquors and beers on orders only. They cannot solicit and deliver at the same time.

The Crescents to Go to Norwich.

The Crescent League's team will go to Norwich, Conn., next week, and play that city's crack team on Wednesday. The team that Plainfield's nine will meet is the strongest in that section of the country. It has a salary list of $150 a day for five of its men picked from the Boston league reserves and other professional organizations.

The Crescent nine's managers want to see just how Plainfield's team would be classed with such players. They also want to give the boys a pleasant trip and a day or two of recreation before meeting the Cuban Giants on the next Saturday and the Alerts of Elizabeth and the Ridgewoods on the Monday following. A number of the Crescent League members will accompany their team.

The Season's Promenade Concert and Reception.

Almost $200 has already been subscribed towards a promenade concert and reception to be tendered to Wm. H. Greenop and orchestra, by the guests of Hotel Netherwood, Friday evening. The concert will commence at half-past eight o'clock, and the following programme will be rendered:

Overture—"A Day in Vienna."..... Suppe
Serenade, For Flute and Horn..... Title
Selection—"Brigands,"..... Offenbach
Spanish dances, (first series)..... Mosskowski
Gavotte—"Zaronna,"..... Greenop
Overture—"Semiramide..... Rossini
Scenes from Tannhauser..... Wagner
(a) Romanze, Evening Star.
(b) Pilgrim Chorus.
Polonaise—"Militaire,"..... Chopin

Dancing will follow at 10 o'clock.

A Harsh Designation.

A writer to Printers' Ink says: "Indiscriminate donations to charity by the purchasing of tickets to church and society events, space in programmes, etc., with an idea that the giving will provoke a profitable amount of advertising, is wrong nine times out of ten. 'Tis a tax, however, that is not only allowed, but encouraged by many business men otherwise bright. The money spent should not be charged as advertising; there is another, more appropriate and truthful title for most of it—Blackmail."

A Borough Detective Method.

A young man who had become intoxicated and was being quietly assisted homeward by two friends, was arrested Sunday night by Marshal Rutledge of the Borough, and some indignation was aroused because the inoffensive youth was taken away from his friends and made a prisoner. The young man was released, later, by the Marshal himself, who said that he had desired only to ascertain where the victim of alcohol had procured his liquor.

A Stroke of Lightning That Did Much Damage.

At six o'clock this morning lightning struck the barn on the old Stelle farm, at Willow Grove; on the road from Fanwood to Rahway. Four horses were killed, but two cows in an adjoining shed were rescued. The barn was entirely consumed. It was insured.

POINTS ABOUT PEOPLE.

MR. WILLIAM D. HOWELLS is expected to spend next winter in Boston.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S collection of diamonds is estimated to be worth at least $50,000.

MRS. GLADSTONE always attends meetings of Parliament when either her husband or her son Herbert is to speak.

MRS. LELAND STANFORD recently paid $85 for fifty menu cards for one of her swell dinners. The map of the United States was stamped in silver on the back of the cards.

THE Berlin Locksmiths' Guild, in making Prince Bismarck its honorary master, declared him to be "Germany's greatest artistic locksmith, who made the key that opened the lock of the Kyffhaeuser and handed it to the Emperor, William I."

THOMAS HART, a resident of Australia, who is eighth in descent from Shakspeare's sister Joan, is the nearest living relative of the great poet. It is a curious fact that there are no direct descendants of Napoleon, Wellington, Washington, or Sir Walter Scott.

THE Baroness Klara von der Deckler of Tiflis has issued a circular to the "beautiful women of the world," asking for their photographs in order to place them before a committee of artists which shall choose those to be placed in an album entitled: "Types of Female Beauty in the Latter Half of the Nineteenth Century."

GUSTAVE BOURCAUD, a citizen of Nantes, has a hobby for bills and posters. He made an exhibition of his collection last spring for a local charity of Nantes and was able to produce designs in this neglected but not humble line of art by a large number of artists who made some mark in their day. A catalogue was supplied by the collector.

EDISON, the inventor, who began life as a newsboy, and is now a Count and a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, lives in a sumptuous house on Orange Mountain, N. J., which the splendor of its electric lighting converts at night into a veritable Aladdin's palace. Mrs. Edison is a beautiful and accomplished young woman of twenty-four, one of whose greatest difficulties in life is making her absent-minded husband realize the necessity of eating when he is hungry and resting when he is tired.

MR. GLADSTONE'S rule against Sunday traveling, according to the Manchester Guardian, placed him in a rather inconvenient position when at one time the Queen took to inviting him to dine and sleep at Windsor on Saturday night, and did not extend her invitation over Sunday. When this occurred Mr. Gladstone used to remove himself on Sunday from the castle to the Deanery, and remain till Monday as the guest of Dean Wellesley. This came to the Queen's ears, and a more considerate arrangement was adopted.

MR. AND MRS. STANLEY have a solid silver dinner service consisting of 36 table-forks, 24 table-spoons, 24 dessert spoons, 24 dessert forks, 24 tea-spoons, 1 soup ladle, 2 gravy-spoons, 4 sauce-ladles, 18 dessert-knives, 18 dessert-forks, 18 ice spoons, 8 helping spoons, pair grape-scissors, pair sugar tongs, 4 dessert-dishes, 1 epergne, 4 entree-dishes, 2 candelabra, 2 chased beakers and 2 sauceboats. These desirable articles are presented by the Emin Pasha Relief Committee to "Henry M. Stanley on his wedding day, July 12, 1890, in commemoration of duty nobly done and a great enterprise splendidly achieved in Darkest Africa."

SUNDRY SINGULARITIES.

IT is a curious fact that among the thousands of insects killed by the electric lights every night, there are no dead mosquitoes found.

A WILD sweet orange has been discovered growing in the northern part of Florida. The fruit hangs on the tree all the year round, often for six months after it is fully ripe.

A TRAMP whose intellectual caliber was far above his profession was recently found at Bangor, Me. His only baggage was a small but choice collection of books, including "The Confessions of Jean Jacques Rousseau," the works of Balzac, Dumas, a copy of Shakespeare and the Iliad.

A PLANTER at Alpharetta, Ga., has an acre of cotton every stalk of which is of a deep red color, leaf, boll and bloom. This novel crop is the product of seed derived three years ago from two stalks of red cotton found in a cotton field. There is a fortune in this new variety if it can be perpetuated.

A TALKING canary is the pet of Miss Ida Colvin, of Phœnic, R. I. It is a Hartz mountain bird, and was brought to its present home when quite young, in company with a parrot. From the parrot it has learned to distinctly enunciate two sentences: "Oh, poor Billy!" and "Sweet little Dicky bird!"

A NOVEL race is soon to come off in West Chester. Each contestant is to wear laced shoes, and all the shoes are to be taken off and placed in a barrel. The runners then start from a mark, run twenty-five yards to the barrel, pick out their own shoes, put them on, lace them up and then run a hundred yards to a mark. The man who gets over the entire route first, with shoes properly laced, will be the winner.

AT Bristol, Eng., are two young artisans who are the prize twins of the world. They are of the same height and weight; have eyes, hair and complexion of the same color; walk, speak, laugh, sing exactly alike; follow the same occupation; have the same religious persuasion and likes and dislikes; are both married, and have the same number of children, who are of the same sexes—three boys and three girls.

HORATIO LITTLEFIELD, of West Kennebunk, Me., discovered a curious object on his farm the other day. He was chopping timber, and decided to dig one old tree, known to have been there for over a century, up by the roots. He did so, and was surprised to find an iron kettle firmly embedded in the roots. The large roots looked as though they had grasped it and year by year pressed it deeper and still deeper into the ground until it got to the depth of five feet. The question now is: who put the kettle where it was found?

Firemen in Convention at Watertown.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The Eighteenth Annual Convention of the New York State Firemen's Association was called to order in this city shortly before noon. Nearly four hundred delegates are in attendance. Mayor Wilbur F. Porter made an address of welcome and tendered the delegates the freedom of the city. George W. Irish, President of the association responded. A poem was read and vocal and instrumental music filled out the morning session.

A Cottage Struck by Lightning.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 20.—The Forman cottage, at Third and Beach streets, occupied by Mr. N. F. Clark of the Standard Oil Company, Pittsburg, was struck and damaged by lightning during a severe storm last night. The inmates were slightly shocked, but not injured. The iceman was knocked senseless by lightning but recovered a few hours later.

Reading Feels the Storm.

READING, Pa., Aug. 20.—Much damage was done in this city by a furious wind and rain storm last evening. The barn of Jefferson Snyder was blown down and all of his horses and cattle killed. Nearly all of the wires in the city were blown down.

Death of a College President.

READING, Pa., Aug. 20.—Rev. J. H. A. Bomberger, D.D., LL.D., president of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., and a profound theologian, is dead, aged 75 years.

Two Prominent Visitors.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Governor Hill will visit the camp of the 69th Regiment to-morrow. John L. Sullivan, the pugilist, will also be a visitor.

Success is the envy of the weak brained. They seek to get there too. No wonder that they resort to counterfeiting. The reputable dealer should not encourage imitators. Be sure and ask for Hires' Root Beer Packages, and be especially sure you get them.

M. H. A.

MUSIC HALL. TO-NIGHT

Engagement of the Young American Star,

CORA TANNER,

Under the management of Col. Wm. E. Sinn in a new and original play, written expressly for her by Mr. Edward E. Kidder, entitled

"ONE ERROR."

Presented by an Elegant Company, and Elegant Parisian Costumes.

PRICES—35c., 50c., 75c., and $1.

Seats on sale Monday. 8-14-td

M. H. A.

Music Hall.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26,

George Thatcher's Minstrels!

Under the management of Rich & Harris.

The Most Talented, Best Paid, Best Paying and Best Playing Band of Minstrels under the Sun.

A few of our Minstrel Celebrities:—George Thatcher, John Wild, Wood and Shepard, Thos. LeMack, Jay Quigley, R. J. Jose, Raymon Moore, Thos. Lewis, H. W. Frillman, John A. Coleman, Rodo. Leo Rapoli, and Mazus & Abacco's Quintet of Arabian Acrobats.

Street parade 12 M.

Seats on sale Saturday, August 23.

Prices—50c., 75c., and $1 00. 8 20 td

Classes in German AND SINGING.

Prof. Koerfer, Teacher,

At Saengerbund Hall, Somerset St.,

Every Saturday, Beginning Sept. 6, 1890.

Class for Adults, - 9 to 11 A. M.
" " Children, - 2 to 4 P. M.

TERMS—50 Cents a Month. 8 20 23 27

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND BASTON MAILS.

Arrive—9:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

WANTED—Office, store, or similar work, by bright girl of 16. Wages $4. Address A., PRESS office.

FOR SALE—A black cob built family horse; warranted perfectly sound. Address G., PRESS office. 8 20 6

MAN wanted to run steam drill. Address Box 13, Scotch Plains, N. J. 8 20 4

LARGE pleasant room; good table board. Jacob Tingley, 35 West Fourth street.

BICYCLE—I have a brand new Safety, first-class make; will exchange for high wheel machine. Address "Bicycle," PRESS office. 8 19 3

BOARD—First-class board; well furnished house; terms reasonable. 46 West 4th. 8 19 3

A GOOD SIZED Black Horse for sale; about 10 years old; can work him anywhere, single or double. Apply at PRESS office. 8 19 2

A YOUNG lady wishes writing to do in a lawyer's office. Address S. A. P., PRESS office. 8 19 2

FULL-SPRING, square-box Buggy, made by Retfield & Jackson, in good order, for sale. Also small segar case, at No. 17 Park ave. 8 18 3

TO LET—Three rooms; rent low; to small family. Apply at PRESS office. 8-18-3

BOARD, with or without rooms, at 21 West Second street. 8-6-13

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 304 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with Jones & Co. 6-11-tf

MOY.

8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue, Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY, 14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-5-7

J. T. VAIL, REAL ESTATE, AND INSURANCE, 40 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE AGENTS, 61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM, Real Estate and Insurance, 7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 8-13-7

HOUSE AND FRESCO PAINTING, Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE. MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished. CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-7

ARNOLD, THE GROCER! 92 Somerset St., opp. Emily, NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON, FIRE INSURANCE. OFFICE—30 DUER STREET, NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD, 45 North Avenue, Opposite Station. REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-3-y

BROWN & HILL, Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors, [FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 6 North Avenue. Special attention paid to Children's Hair Cutting. 3-25-tf

THE WARREN MISSION EXCURSION FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1890, To Asbury Park and Ocean Grove,

Stopping at Long Branch both ways.

Leave Dunellen, 7:45; Plainfield, 8 A. M. Returning, leave Asbury Park, 6 P. M.

Adult Tickets, $1 25.

Children, 5 to 12 years, 90 cts.

All baskets and parcels, properly marked with owner's name, will be in charge of a responsible person on the train, and will be delivered both ways, free of charge, to Ross' pavilion, Ocean Grove. 8-14-w

J. B. KLINE & CO., DEALERS IN Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed, Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 58.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-4-t

PEIRCE'S CORNER. WHERE IS The Crowd Going? TO PECK'S! AS USUAL.

FRUIT JARS. JELLY JARS.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

BARGAINS!

To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!

Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:

GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.

GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.

CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.

GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.

TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.

FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER, Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE. SELLING OUT CHEAP! Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture! Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large. FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-8-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD! 42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish, Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T Get OVERHEATED! DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 25 Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. — (Chotola Building). — Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN, No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J. ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc., WHOLESALE AND RETAIL. PURE WINES AND LIQUORS FOR FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE, A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER And Builders Supplies LOOMIS & RICE 49 B'DWAY

PLAINFIELD TAXES CLIMB HIGHER.

The Increase Attributed to County Road Improvements.

The local tax rate for the coming year was fixed by the Plainfield Common Council last evening at $2.24 on $100. This is an increase of 9 cents on $100 over the rate fixed last year. The cause of the rise is attributed to the county road improvements, because of which the county tax is increased 14 cents on $100. To counteract, in a measure, this somewhat heavy upward leap, the Council has made reductions, as far as possible, on the other taxes. The State school, fire and school taxes remain the same. The city tax is reduced 2 cents on $100, the school bonds and interest tax 2 cents, the poor tax one-half cent and the library tax one-half cent. Last year the tax rate was $2.15 on $100, the year before $2.18.

The total valuation, together with the percentage and the various amounts to be raised by taxation for the ensuing year, is as follows:

Total assessed valuation.....$6,118,400

| | Rate. | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| County | 66 | Raises | $ 40,381 44 |
| State school | 32 | " | 19,578 88 |
| Library | 4 | " | 2,447 36 |
| City | 44 | " | 26,920 96 |
| Poor | 8 | " | 4,894 72 |
| Fire | 18 | " | 11,013 12 |
| School | 40 | " | 24,473 60 |
| Bonds | 12 | " | 7,342 08 |
| Total | $2.24 | | $137,052 16 |

The following is a list of last year's assessment:

Total assessed valuation.....$5,712,115

| | Rate. | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| County | 52 | Raises | $29,702.99 |
| State school | 32 | " | 18,278.76 |
| Library | 4½ | " | 2,570.45 |
| City | 46 | " | 26,275.73 |
| Poor | 8½ | " | 4,855.30 |
| Fire | 18 | " | 10,281.80 |
| School | 40 | " | 22,850.46 |
| Bonds | 14 | " | 7,996.96 |
| Total | $2.15 | | $122,812.45 |

The only other business brought before the Council was the selection, under the new ballot law, of Boards of Registry and Elections for the Plainfield charter election. The same officers who had been confirmed by the County Board of Registration for the general election were chosen, as follows:

DEMOCRATS.

First ward—John J. Kenney, John McIntyre.

Second ward—Louis M. Stover, Lewis H. Brown.

Third ward—F. M. Bacon, William Wright.

Fourth ward—First district—Vincent L. Frazee, Wm. H. Warner.

Second district—Edward C. Searing, M. R. Flynn.

REPUBLICANS.

First ward—Richard E. Corriell, George W. Moore.

Second ward—John H. Doane, Wm. Messerschmidt.

Third ward—B. Frank Corriell, Randolph Dunham.

Fourth ward—First district—Jos. B. Higgins, Louis W. Titsworth.

Second district—Robert Mitchell, Jas. B. Martin.

The meeting of Council was attended by Councilmen Dunham, Jenkins, Johnson, Moffett, Newhall, Roberts, Rushmore and Spangenberg.

From South Plainfield to West Virginia.

Included in a fishing party from South Plainfield to the Fishing Banks on the 6th inst., were T. H. Brantingham and Albert R. Soper. After eating their luncheon they wrote a note and put it in an empty coffee bottle, giving their names and addresses, and requesting the one who might find it to answer. Yesterday morning Mr. Brantingham received a letter postmarked "Parkersburg, West Va." as follows:

DEAR SIR: On the 9th of August I picked up an empty beer bottle containing your note and address, on the beach off Brighton. I drop you these lines to comply with your request. My only regret is that the bottle was empty. I think much more of it when filled. Hoping you will receive this correspondence, I remain

Yours respectfully,
FRANK WATERMEN,
Parkersburg, W. Va.

Death Follows Insanity.

Theo. LaRue, whose home was formerly on West Fourth street, died this morning in the asylum at Morris Plains, to which place he was taken about two years ago. The unfortunate man's original hallucination was that he was immensely wealthy, and he made himself so obnoxious about town that his friends were compelled to have him placed in confinement. His latest freak of the imagination was that he owned many hundreds of horses, and the tremendous strain of taking care of the droves worried him to death.

More Than The Men Could Stand.

An affair that was a disgrace to Westfield occurred at its railroad station Saturday evening. Four or five of the fair colored sex and their male friends—whose names THE PRESS has in its possession—were most disorderly in behavior and vulgar in conversation. Chief of Police Marsh was absent and they took advantage of the fact. Matters grew so bad with the women that the men in the party left.

A Rain Drop Saved Her Life.

A young lady, a guest at Edgewood, was awakened last night by a warning from Heaven that probably saved her life. A drop of rain falling on her face aroused her from sleep, and she sprang from the bed just as the ceiling above it fell with a crash. A moment later she would have been buried beneath the heavy plaster.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

An Unknown Man Falls Through a Bridge—A New Station to be Built—The Organization of a Land Improvement Co.—Useless Fire Hydrants—Mrs. Littell Attacked With Lock Jaw.

(Special to THE DAILY PRESS.)

BOUND BROOK, Aug. 20:—An unknown man who was walking up the Lehigh Valley track at this place, yesterday morning, slipped between the ties of a bridge crossing and fell about 25 feet into a brook below. The water was not very deep and he was considerably bruised. He also complained of a severe pain in the back. His name was not ascertained. He was sent to Somerville.

The new railroad that is coming through this place is going to run between the Lehigh Valley Railroad and the Raritan river bridge. This morning a PRESS reporter interviewed some of the town people most interested. They said: "We are going to do all we possibly can to stop the railroad from coming through that way, as the wagons have to cross two railroads now and the danger to life is great, but if we get another one there the people will not be able to cross at all, so we are going to do all we can to stop the road from going that way."

It was rumored yesterday afternoon that the Lehigh Valley Railroad intended to erect a new depot. The rumor spread. A PRESS reporter called on Agent Moore who said the company did intend to erect a new depot, but beyond this he would give no other information.

For some time past the talk of the town has been the Bound Brook Land and Improvement Company. Monday night a meeting was called by the committee of the proposed company, requesting all the citizens to attend. About twenty-five were present. The report of the committee was read. The question was then put whether the land company should be organized. Four stockholders had already been obtained, but it was decided that a special committee be appointed to secure three more stockholders, and when these were secured the company should be organized. The company intends to be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey with a capital stock of $100,000. The price per share is $50. Should the company be organized the committee agree to take 130 shares of the stock. The object of this company will be to buy and improve land in and about the town, open new streets, etc. As soon as $25,000 worth of stock has been disposed of the company will begin operations. As all the citizens are interesting themselves in the new enterprise, the company will no doubt be organized in a few days.

Everybody is much shocked with the sad news that one of the most popular residents, Mrs. B. F. Littell, is suffering from lockjaw.

Chief Oldham of the Fire Department, says that there is no water in Middlebrook or West Bound Brook, and the fire hydrants are useless.

NEW JERSEY'S LAKE GEORGE.

Plainfielders Enjoy the Carnival at Lake Hopatcong.

The Carnival at Lake Hopatcong on last Saturday evening, was a success; it was considered by all to be the grand event of the season, and such a sight was never seen on the Lake before. Four steamers and upwards of fifty small boats assembled at "Kenmore," the cottage of J. Knox Phillips, at eight o'clock, and according to programme the start was made at 8:30 prompt. The boats were decorated with Chinese and colored lanterns, and as they made the tour of the Lake were greeted with fireworks and colored fire from the different cottages, hotels and camps, which presented the appearance of fairyland with the different illuminations. The boats were supplied with a band and drum corps, and the "Resolute" Camp of Morristown made it lively during the evening. The programme wound up with a reception and dance at the Forest Landing Club House, and with three hearty cheers for Miss Belle Phillips, who originated and managed the affair, all departed at midnight well satisfied with the evening's enjoyment.

Among those in line, with particularly fine decorations, were those from the Bryant House, Nolan's Point Villa, Camp Resolute, Moorings, and the several boats of Dr. Vail. On the shore were particularly noticeable the American House, Woodbine, Kenmore, Ripplerock, Edgemere, Iverness, the Moorings, Jolly Brothers' Club House and others. The leading boat was the Anita, from Mahlon Smith's Boat House, under the management of Mr. Will Richards, with the following persons on board: Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Miss Sallie Pilcher, Miss Jameson, Miss Bain, Miss Belle Phillips, Misses Florence and Mabel Clark, of Plainfield, and Messrs. George and John Bain, Mr. Floter, Mr. Smith, Mr. Major and William Phillips.

South Plainfield Sparkles.

Contracts have been given out for several new buildings, and business generally is picking up in this hamlet.

E. E. Teeple is still cross about his receipt of a valise full of railroad spikes, couplings, frogs and turntables. He has challenged the unknown sender to a match at live birds, for any amount, 25 yards rise, one barrel, gun below the elbow, to take place within ten days. Teeple will use for the occasion, the new Ithaca gun for which he is agent.

$500 Offered for an incurable case of catarrh by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy. 50 cents, by druggists.

IN TIME OF PEACE

THE Russian Government has just ordered four new ironclads put on the stocks.

THE regents of Servia, distrusting the regular army, are busily arming the reserves with 80,000 rifles, presented by Russia, and will not allow ex-King Milan to visit the military camps.

BY attaching an electric motor to a gatling gun, it is claimed to be possible to discharge 1,000 shots per minute, the heating of the barrels offering the only limit to the rapidity of firing.

IT has been found that in the long run no powder is satisfactory for quick-firing guns that is not absolutely safe from explosion by detonation, and that the only satisfactory and safe system of quick firing is by electricity.

IN some of the enduring tests of the Maxim gun in Germany 34,000 rounds were fired from a single barrel, 20,000 rounds of cartridges with steel-covered bullets being fired from a single barrel before the rifling was materially injured.

THE energetic manner in which Emperor Wilhelm is weeding old men out of the German army is shown by statistics: At the end of 1884 there were 3,948 officers of the Prussian contingent in retirement; to-day there are 4,672. Generals of infantry and cavalry have been remorselessly mown down.

A TRIAL has been made at Civita Vecchia of a nautical ball invented by Signor Balsamello. It is seven feet in diameter, and can hold four persons. When closed it sinks, and is steered and propelled under water by rudder and screw. It has windows and grapplers, and, besides fishing up things, it may be used for destructive purposes in time of war.

IT is proposed to use the electric motor extensively in military operations in England. One of the latest ideas in carrying on active warfare is to build a railway at the scene of hostilities for the transportation of ordnance. It is highly desirable that the trains used for this purpose which are armor-plated and armed with gatling guns, should be as rapid and inconspicuous as possible.

THE pneumatic dynamite gun, which has been making for the British Government, is finished, and was subjected to a range test. The conditions of the contract, which called for a gun that should hurl a 200-pound shell to a distance of 3,500 yards, were exceeded, since the gun propelled a 520-pound ten-inch sub-caliber projectile a distance of 4,008 yards. Many more experiments must be made before the weapon will be delivered. There can be little doubt that they will be successfully done.

A FRENCHMAN has developed a new explosive for military purposes. It is a condensed liquefied gas. Three hundred drops of this compound are contained in a small steel receptacle under the rifle barrel, and each time the trigger is pulled one drop falls into the breech behind the bullet. Contact with the air causes this drop to volatilize instantaneously with an expansive force far exceeding that of gunpowder, which expells the bullet with terrible velocity, accompanied by neither noise or smoke.

PRACTICAL SIDE OF SCIENCE.

ELECTRICALLY deposited copper is so ductile that it can be drawn down until it resembles the finest hair, and this, too, without annealing.

RECENT experiments has proved that aluminium is particularly well adapted for treatment in the drawing press, one of its chief advantages being that it can be worked with very little annealing.

A COMBINATION fuel, consisting of coal and petroleum, has been tried for firing the boilers of an Italian man-of-war, with the result that her normal speed of fifteen knots is increased to seventeen knots.

MUSTARD oil is being manufactured in Germany for lubricating purposes. It is said to be unaffected by cold above a temperature of about fifteen degrees Fahrenheit, and does not readily become rancid or form fatty acids likely to attack metal.

BY adding the special ferments obtained from certain wines, M. Jacquemin, from malt and from pure solutions, has obtained fermented liquors having the special bouquet of the wines in question. He has similarly produced cider from barley.

ONE method of producing an artificial fuel consists in grinding corn stalks and coarse prairie grass, moistening them with water, reducing them to a coarse pulp, and then subjecting the mass to heavy pressure, compressing them into blocks of convenient size; these, when thoroughly dry, are said to furnish more heat than ordinary bituminous coal.

RAILWAY collisions, from the inability to stop the locomotive, are likely to be made impossible when the electric light is substituted for the oil lamps now in use. Recent experiments prove that the electric headlight casts light from half to three-quarters of a mile ahead. A train going at the rate of sixty miles an hour can thus be stopped in time to prevent any accident.

A BOSTON paper in comparing horse-power with electric-power in the operation of street-car lines says: The added pull upon the electric motor for the starting of a street-car amounts to twenty-five or thirty horse-power on a level track, and on an up-grade to start uses up sixty or seventy horse-power. Yet the electric motors start, of course, more promptly and surely than horses. This shows that a cruel temporary overstrain of horses must be employed every time they are made to start up a car.

THAT the commercial practicability of solidifying petroleum, upon which doubt was cast some time ago, is established, is proved by the exhibition of Prof. Millefleurs, before a meeting of Parisian scientists, of several bricks of petroleum, which he has produced by an original process. The bricks were hard enough to be handled without inconvenience, yet soft enough to be cut with a stout knife. They burned slowly when touched with a lighted match. Prof. Millefleurs claims that they are non-explosive and inexpensive.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

THE BUFFALO.

A Noble American Animal That is Almost Extinct.

THE buffalo practically became extinct four or five years ago; and it is doubtful if a dozen wild ones could be found to-day, yet only a quarter of a century ago untold millions grazed in the vast West.

The buffalo, or properly the American bison—for they are no more like the true buffalo than they are like the ox—was the largest ruminating animal in America.

Forty or fifty years ago a buffalo hunt by the Indians was a much more exciting and perilous affair than any thing the present generation, with its long-range rifles, has seen. On horseback, with bow and lance, the Indian was exceedingly expert, and easily slaughtered as many of the huge beasts as he needed. Mounted on his pony—which had been through months of training—he dashed at full speed in the midst of a herd and poured in his certain arrows right and left. He generally stripped himself, abandoned his shield and quiver, grasped his bow in his left hand, and carried seven or eight arrows in his right; his horse was so trained that the reins were seldom used.

A pressure on either side by the knee, or a gentle touch on the neck was all that was required to guide the animal. When the Indian had selected the buffalo he wished to kill—generally a fat, young cow—the horse, through his training, seemed to know too, and he strained every muscle to get as close as possible, while the reins lay loose and untouched upon the neck. The Indian leaned way forward and off from the side of his pony, bow drawn and ready for the shot, which was given the instant he was opposite the buffalo's body.

Sometimes the Indians stalked the bisons under the guise of wolves. The buffaloes in a herd seemed to have no fear of those animals and would let them run around them. The Indian, taking advantage of this, would put on the skin of a wolf, crawl on his hands and knees for a mile or more until he reached the unsuspecting buffalo, select the one he wanted, and, raising himself up, shoot him down at easy range.

In winter the Dakotahs (Sioux) way up north—where the snow was often three or four feet deep, so that horses could not be used—used to run upon the surface in their show-shoes while the buffalo by their great weight sank down, and, completely helpless, could be easily slaughtered. It was a strange sight then to see the Indians throw off their blankets, and, naked to the waist, with bare hands, skin and cut up the huge beasts, the thermometer thirty or more degrees below zero—enough to kill an ordinary man!

DOOMED.

To the Indian the buffalo supplied all the necessities and luxuries of life, and none others were searched for by the various tribes depending upon the huge beasts. Every part of the animal was used; the hides supplied blankets, canoes, saddles, bridles, lariats and a hundred other useful articles. The horns were made into spoons, the brains used to tan the hides, the bones made saddle-trees, war-clubs, instruments for dressing their robes, and furnished delicious marrow also. The sinews were used as strings for bows and thread; the feet were boiled for glue to fasten arrow-heads on the shaft, the long hair from the neck and shoulders was braided into halters and lariats, and the tail properly prepared made a fly-brush.

A party of friends were out hunting in Paradise valley, north of the Saline river. A blizzard came on in all its fury; all got into camp in the timber in time to save themselves—except one, and he had to creep inside of a newly-killed buffalo to avoid freezing to death. He stayed there all night, but when he went to get out in the morning, found himself a prisoner. The ribs of the beast had closed and frozen together! He was found at noon next day by the rest of the party, who had been all the morning searching for him, and chopped out.

One of the saddest pictures met with on the plains when the buffalo roamed in vast herds, was the abandonment by his fellows of some worn-out old bull to become the prey of the wolves.

He stands alone on the limitless prairie, the herd that he has helped to protect and guard so many years low down in the horizon, while around him, dismally howling, yelping and snapping their jaws, are fifty or more white wolves, waiting for the proper moment to attack the huge animal. The doomed bull is, however, a furious beast and he determines to make a desperate resistance; he fights for his life to the very last, and often kills and maims his persisteut, remorseless enemies before he succumbs, by tossing them on his sharp horns or trampling them to pieces under his ponderous hoofs!

The wolves have frequently to remain days with him before the terrible and unequal battle is ended.—Santa Claus.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.
Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 20c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
20 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE'S
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 8 14-tf

CLAIRVOYANT.
By request of her many patrons, MRS. DR. EDWARDS, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 13, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26. Will then leave positively. 8-14-6

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 8.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 8-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
P. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-5-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-25-y

P. AGNEY.
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. BOX 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 703. Plainfield, N. J.
☞New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 6-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
22 EAST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!
22c. Pound.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 45 and 48 East Front Street.
1-18-tf

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 21 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
C. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK. 6-5-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 8-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sep1

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. ☞TRY THEM.

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Boomers 5-14-tf

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. R. KENYON, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths!
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. H. HOMMEL, 28 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Prints, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. 6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—50 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. MCILVAIN,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-26-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
☞All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.☜
ALFRED D. COOK. my16y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my16y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables.
54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 121. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 20 North ave. my16

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depot Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1 4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. G. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLEY
211 East 5th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid. MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-tu6-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGES.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.

THE WIFE'S COMMANDMENTS.

I.

As early morn thou shalt aspire
To get up first and light the fire.

II.

Not any morning shalt thou miss
Bestowing on thy wife a kiss.

III.

If in the night the baby cries,
Thou shalt the infant tranquillize.

IV.

Thou shalt take care thy wife can find
Her pocket-book with bills well lined.

V.

Thou shalt not criticise her cakes,
Her cooking, nor the bread she makes.

VI.

Thou shalt not fail at Eastertide,
To keep her with new hats supplied.

VII.

A sacred duty thou shalt deem
To treat her daily to ice-cream.

VIII

Thou shalt not speak in temper rash
If she desires some extra cash.

IX.

Thou shalt not come home "full" at night
With lame excuses for thy plight.

X.

This is the tenth—thou shalt not chide,
But shalt by all her laws abide,
If to these ten she adds ten thousand more beside.

—John S. Grey, in Munsey's Weekly.

A HUNTER'S STORY.

'Uncle Mose's" Thrilling Adventure with a Crane.

"UNCLE MOSE," as Mr. M. B. Franklin, of this place, is known all over the county, is one of the most successful and experienced hunters in the vicinity, in spite of his low stature, which is not quite five feet, and his corpulence. He was surrounded a few nights ago by an audience who listened with interest to the recital of some of his adventures as a nimrod, when the recorder put the question to him:

"What do you account the most perilous adventure of your life, Uncle Mose?"

The old hunter thought a moment before he answered:

"Well, now, I've had a good many, but I reckon about as close a shave with death as I ever had was trying to kill a crane. It was of the white species, or what is known as the whooping crane, and which is considerably larger than the other variety, the blue or sand hill crane. This one I refer to was the largest I ever saw, being nearly six feet in height and weighing over twenty-five pounds, while one of fifteen or twenty pounds is considered a good-sized bird. My adventure with it happened nearly eighteen years ago, and I, was correspondingly spryer and stronger than I am now, but that crane put me up to all I was capable of to escape with my life.

"I had been out hunting quail, and, as I had pretty well filled my bag, was going home just before sunset, when I passed Rutherford Lake, which, as some of you perhaps know, is a good-sized pond lying in the northeast corner of the county, of which it forms part of the line separating it from Grimes. It is shaped very much like a beef's tongue, running nearly four miles long, with only about three hundred feet across the widest part. Well, there I saw the crane I am telling of, standing on the bough of a tree that had been broken off and fallen in. It had lodged about the middle of the lake, and the majestic bird, now white, with only the tips of his wings a beautiful glossy black, looked as if he was an image cut in marble ornamenting an artificial sheet of water, so motionless was he, outlined against the sunset sky.

"I declare I hated to disturb him, but I had been wanting for months just such a specimen for the collection I was making of the birds of these parts, so boarding without leave the old dugout I found tied to a tree near by, I sculled as close as I dared to the crane, and, taking careful aim, fired. He dropped instantly and began fluttering feebly about, just enough to keep himself above water. I was afraid, though, that he was hurt so bad that he would die and go to the bottom where I would lose him, so I rowed as hard as I could to get to him before this could happen.

A CAREFUL AIM.

"He seemed nearly gone when I reached him and tried to catch him by one of his outstretched wings, but no sooner had I touched him when he gave such a flounce that took me so completely unawares that I made a frantic clutch at him and shot clean out of the crazy old dugout, heading straight for the bottom of the lake some twenty feet below. That did not matter so much, for I can swim like a duck, but weighted by my heavy hunting boots, which filled with water at once, I found it was all I could do on coming to the surface of the water to keep myself above it. Besides which what must the wound I carry on my arm as a memento of Shiloh do but break out just then and go to bleeding. It was my right arm, and I suppose I must have strained it somehow in making that clutch at the crane.

"Well, there I was, about as helpless a creature as you ever saw, for I could see nothing of the dug-out, which must have been capsized by my weight when I went overboard and, filling, went down, carrying my gun with it; and on laying hold of the projecting bough of the submerged tree on which the crane had been sitting, the thing turned over too, and went down under the muddied water. So, feebly paddling, I made for the shore, when the crane, which was still floundering around, beating the water with its wings, got within my reach once more, and then what I conceived to be a lucky thing came into my mind. I had heard of a sailor who, drowning, laid hold of an albatross, and thus kept himself above water till some one could come to his rescue, so I clutched the leg of the crane, and thought myself saved; for, knowing the prodigious strength of these birds, and seeing that this one was by no means so badly wounded as I had thought, I trusted it would carry me at least close enough to the shore to enable me to grasp the stout water flags that bordered it, and so scramble to land.

I CLUTCHED A LEG OF THE CRANE.

"But, as I found afterwards, I had taken hold of the leg my shot had broken, and while the tough ligaments of the member held firm, I must have caused the bird excruciating pain. At any rate my hold seemed to drive him frantic and he began to beat me with his great powerful wings until I was nearly insensible, but still afraid to let go, for when I cautiously tried to touch bottom with my feet I could find none, and, so exhausted that I could not even have paddled, I held on as the only thing I was able to do. So when the crane found I was not to be beaten off, he hit on another plan, and that was to drown me by dragging me with my head under the water.

"We had all the time been gradually approaching the shore, where the water was shallower, but, as I have said, it was not enough so for me to wade out, and, all defenseless as I was, I gave myself up for lost if we did not speedily reach a point where I could afford to let go of the crane, of whose society I had about enough. Though agreeable enough in our different ways, we were, somehow, not congenial. With the water filling my nostrils, ears and eyes, and my head still ringing and sore with the buffeting it had received, I was nearly dead, when I felt something slap me in the face and rasp me with its keen edge. But never was touch of any thing more welcome, for I knew I had run against the stalk of a water-flag, one of the drooping blades of which had given me the slap. I let go of the crane's leg and caught the stalk, and while, of course, it would have given with my weight had it had to support it, it was sufficiently strong to enable me to keep my footing on the slimy, sloping bottom that I could now just touch. So, grasping one after another, I pulled up near enough to the shore to lay hold of the strong roots of a water oak growing on the edge of the lake, by which I pulled myself on to terra firma. Once there, I sat down, too exhausted to do any thing but try to bind up with strips of my linen the wound in my arm, which was still bleeding, though but slowly.

"Presently I saw a darky named Pete Reynaud, whom I knew, driving some horses down to drink at the lake, a short distance from me, and hailing him I told him to go and get his gun, for I had made up my mind to have that crane yet, for it was still in the water flags, making futile efforts to stand on its broken leg and wade out. And when Pete brought the gun I killed it without difficulty with another single shot, and the darky wading in after it brought it to me, but I declare, when I saw the noble creature that had fought so hard for its life lying dead at my feet, it seemed to me as if I had been guilty of something very much like murder.

"The dugout I had so unceremoniously borrowed was Pete's, who got it out next day, together with my gun. But alas for that fine bag of quail! I never saw it more. It had been left on the shore of the lake when I went after the crane, and a dog or some two-footed thief had carried it off. But if you will step over to my shanty at any time, gentlemen, I will take great pleasure in introducing that crane, handsomely mounted and well preserved, to you, and if you don't admire him you are not a judge of noble birds."—Texas Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Pleasant.

Edith—I'm going to marry Tom Madison.

Ethel—Why, how nice, Edith! We shall be sisters-in-law.

Edith—What do you mean?

Ethel—I promised Tom a few days ago, that I'd be a sister to him.—Light.

It Depended on Herself.

Fair Applicant—And how long do you think, sir, it will take to prepare myself for the stage?

Manager—That depends first on your ability in securing a husband and then on your agility in getting a divorce.—Judge.

GRACE'S TRAMP.

A Trip to the Village and What Came of It.

IT'S a perfect shame, child, for you to have to trudge three miles to the village for provisions."

"Nonsense, grandmammy, I like to do it well enough; but even if I did not there would be no alternative, so it's best to look on the bright side; now, isn't it, grandmammy?"

"Well, yes, I guess so. But show me the bright side, dear?"

"With pleasure. Firstly, we have the money to get it with; secondly, we have a good market basket to get it in; thirdly, I have the health and strength to go after it; fourthly, it is an excellent day for it, and, lastly, we all want and need it. There now, are not those reasons sunny enough to drown out all your shadowy ones?"

"Yes, dear, you always look on the bright side of every thing. Those are all things we ought to be thankful for."

"Especially the market basket."

"There, there, child, be serious now. I do really hate to see you go. If only Gypsie hadn't died."

Ah! poor Gypsie! Mrs. Graham touched a tender spot in her grandchild's heart when she spoke of her. She was her special property, and many a happy hour did she spend on the back of her faithful little animal, while Bruno bounded along by their side.

"Yes, if Gypsie hadn't died, or Bruno hadn't been shot, or we had more horses, or grandpa's eyes were well, or Sam was not down with the 'rheumatiz,' or we lived in town, or had near and accommodating neighbors, or a dozen more things were or were not, I would not need to walk three miles to Nelson for something to eat. But you see, general 'if' never did come out conqueror, and I hate a defeated fellow, so I'll turn him the cold shoulder and have nothing whatever to do with him, so if you'll help me make out the list I'll start at once."

She spoke lightly of her walk, and little did Mrs. Graham know of the thoughts that were coursing through her brain as she took down the list. The truth was Grace had read an account in the county paper the day before that a terrible assault had been made by tramps on an unprotected girl on the very road she had to take. But Grace was no coward. She knew she had this walk to make, so she destroyed the paper, that her grandmother might not see it and worry herself half to death while she was gone. Grace was a very happy, light-hearted child. I call her a child, for in appearance she was but a child, while in reality she was nearly nineteen. Her grandmother often said that she was such a brilliant sunbeam that no shadow could exist in her presence.

She rivaled the birds in her merry songs as she tripped along the path. She told herself she had ample time, so she often stopped on her way to watch the white swans glide majestically away on her approach to the edge of the lake, or the tortoises' clumsy walking until they would reach the brink and then plunge to the bottom, where their bright backs would look as though they were finely varnished. She laughed at her own happy reflection in the clear water, and told herself that she had really spoken the truth when she assured her grandmother of the pleasant prospect before her.

HER SONG RIVALED THE BIRDS.

"Upon my soul if that isn't too provoking! What could have possessed me to forget that chocolate?"

The sun was just about an hour high, and Grace, having made her purchases, was about half a mile on her homeward journey, when, as we saw, she had forgotten the chocolate. It must be had, so our heroine retraces her footsteps, makes her purchase, and was about a mile from the village, when she is startled by horse's hoofs on the road. She turned, and saw a horse coming at a lively rate, followed by an empty buggy. She took in the situation at once. The hitching strap was dangling along, and evidently he had, upon finding himself loose, started for home without waiting for his master. By a strange coincidence the pony was the same shade of her own and about the same size of poor Gypsie. The girl's only thought was to stop the horse. The road was just about fifty feet from the railroad, and without hesitating she set down her basket, sprang across a small rivulet and just reached the road in time to grasp the dangling reins of the independent animal. She soon succeeded in soothing her with gentle words and kind pats, and stood meditating. What should she do with her? The sun was already near the horizon, she was beginning to think of the tramps, and what could she do? She would not have time to take her back to town; should she tie her to a tree and fasten a note to the reins? No, indeed, that would never do, for a tramp would come along and steal the horse and buggy. However, something must be done, for it was getting late—it would soon be dark—then what would she do?

"What shall I do? Oh, you impudent rascal for placing me in such a predicament!" she said, throwing one arm across the pretty animal's neck and leaning her face against it, while with the other hand she held the reins, looking the very picture of despair.

While thus standing she was startled by a hand being laid upon her arm. Had her fears been realized? Was it the tramp who was going to kill her and then run away with the buggy? She dare not raise her head.

"Excuse me," he began.

Surely this didn't sound like a tramp's voice, and she raised her miserable little face, expecting to see a ragged, mud-besmeared object before her. She had quite an air of martyrdom depicted on her face, which, however, changed instantly as she saw a fine-looking, well-dressed specimen of humanity before her. She could not conceal her astonishment, so he at once introduced himself as Dr. Green, adding:

YOU HAVE STOPPED MY HORSE.

"You have stopped my horse, and thereby done me a great favor, as I should have had to walk six miles to reach home. Is there any thing I can do for you in return? I should be only too glad to serve you."

She told him there was nothing, but her face belied her words. He saw that she was too proud to place herself under obligations to any one, so he said:

"I think I heard you speak of my pony having placed you in a predicament. Can not I make up for it and help you out of it? Are you alone?"

"Yes, I'm alone, and, what's more, am two miles from home."

"Poor child! Get right in and I'll take you home, if you'll show me the way."

She hesitated; would it be prudent? He read her thoughts and said:

"Or, if you prefer, you may get in and drive and I'll walk."

"All right, Dr. Green; you hold the horse while I run over to the railroad after my basket, then basket and I will get in and run away with your buggy and horse. That would be capital; I'm so glad you mentioned it."

Then it was arranged, but all three—Grace, Dr. Green, and the basket—were occupants of the buggy. Grace found her companion a splendid conversationalist, and was surprised at herself when she found how short had been their acquaintance before she told him her whole history; how they (her grandparents and herself) had come south for the benefit of her grandmother's health; how her grandfather had, a year after their arrival, taken such a bad cold, which settled in his eyes and caused him such pain that he had to sit in a darkened room all the time, and had not seen daylight for six months; how Gypsie and Bruno died, and their only help was laid up with rheumatism, and so she was compelled to go to the village for their provisions, etc., on foot.

Dr. Green felt the deepest sympathy for the girl by his side with honest, brown eyes and such a wealth of brown hair, so becomingly coiled on the back of her shapely head. Her face was a study; for every new subject on which they spoke it would have a different expression, every change seeming more beautiful to the now thoroughly bewitched Green. They were deep in the discussion of their favorite authors, etc., when Grace exclaimed:

"Why, stop, Dr. Green; you almost drove past the house."

He looked around regretfully, when, to his utter amazement, he saw a perfect Eden of flowers, in the midst of which stood a neat little cottage, almost entirely concealed by the dense vines of madeiras and westerias, which were now in full bloom, and a sweeter-scented place he had never before beheld.

Upon his exclamation of admiration, Grace explained that they were her grandmother's pets. Every thing looked so bright and fresh and so homelike that he felt that he must see the interior of the cottage that had for months, and almost years, sheltered the fairest blossom he had ever yet seen—Grace herself.

A happy thought entered his head. He asked Grace if she would like him to make an examination of her grandfather's eyes, as he had made eyes his special study. She told him she must see her grandfather first, as they were not very rich. He soon assured her that the expenses would not be great, and left an appointment for the next day.

What more need be told? Of course there is but one sequel to this. He called next day, won the hearts of both grandparents, and in six months had Mr. Graham's eyes permanently restored, in payment for which he asked for the hand of their beloved granddaughter, whose heart he had already won in the cosy little parlor and on the piazza behind the vines, where upon his frequent visits to the grandparent he had always managed in some way or other to spend an hour or two with the object of his choice.

In —— street is a stately little mansion, the characteristic of which is its bordering of beautiful vines. "It always reminds me, dearest, of the many happy hours spent behind the madeiras and westerias."—Faustina L'Estrange, in Old Homestead.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

SCIENCE CLIPPINGS.

THE greatest achievement yet made in heliographing was accomplished during practice in the Department of Arizona by Lieutenant Wittenmyer, who succeeded in signaling a message by a single flash one hundred and twenty-five miles from Mount Reno, near Fort McDowell, to Mount Graham, near Fort Grant, where it was received by Captain Murray. The latter, by turning his instrument, flashed the message to Fort Huachuaca, a distance of ninety miles, making the entire distance of two hundred and fifteen miles with a single intervening station. The longest distance heretofore made with a single flash is said to be about seventy miles.

MR. F. LUGRIN, of Geneva, has discovered a method of feeding young fish of the trout and salmonoid varieties. Great difficulty has hitherto been experienced in carrying the young fish through the first year of their existence, the artificial food not being sufficiently nutritious, often costly and involving constant care and attention. Mr. Lugrin's invention consists in a material which, when spread on the bottom of a tank, spontaneously produces myriads of minute organisms (daphnia, cyclops, limnæ, etc.) When one tank is depleted the fish are driven off to another pasture similarly prepared. The first tank, at the end of a few weeks, is again swarming with organic life.

AN ingenious contrivance for obtaining a light without matches, is in use by the watchmen of Paris, in all magazines where explosive or inflammable materials are stored. They put a piece of phosphorus the size of a pea, into an oblong vial of clear glass, and pour some pure olive-oil, heated to the boiling point, upon it, leaving the bottle about one-third full; it is then corked tightly. To obtain the light, they remove the cork, let the air enter and then recork. The entire empty space in the bottle then becomes luminous, giving a strong, clear light. To increase the light, if it grows dim, one has but to uncork the bottle for a moment and admit a fresh supply of air.

New Route Across the Atlantic.

An Ottawa, Can., dispatch states that a company of Boston, Mass., capitalists has been quietly developing the foundations of a seaport at the east end of the Straits of Canso, N. S., and if expectations are realized it will have an important bearing upon future communication between Europe and America. The place, which is to be called Terminal City, is five miles east of Port Mulgrave, on the Intercolonial railway, and the Government has consented to an extension of the railway to the place, and agreed to operate the extension as part of the Intercolonial system. Terminal City is situated on one of the finest harbors on the Atlantic coast, having sufficient depth of water for the largest vessel afloat, being completely land-locked, absolutely free from ice, comparatively free from fog, and open to navigation at all times. A straight line on the map of the world from Chicago to Liverpool passes through this point, and the distance between them is 400 miles shorter than by Portland, Boston or New York. It will take four days from Terminal City to Liverpool by the new steamers proposed to be put on the route. When the railroad is completed and wharves are built, all passengers and mails from Europe will be delivered in New York or Montreal one day sooner than by any other route. It is the most easterly port, open all the year round, and appears to be a natural shipping port for the products of the Dominion to Europe.

The Kidney Bacilli.

There is a disease in Japan known as kakke, a disorder of the kidneys communicated by bacilli, and closely related to the more virulent beri-beri. From the distribution of kakke, M. Gueit, says Nature, has recently drawn conclusions as to the ethnic composition of the present population of Japan. The fact that Chinese always escape the disease, even in localities where it is very prevalent, indicates (in his opinion) that the Chinese or Mongolian element is not the dominant one. He finds three constitutents in the population: (1) descendants of Ainos; (2) of Negritos; and (3) a Malayan element, which is the most prominent. Wherever the Malayan goes, he brings with him the beri-beri order of disease; his liability to this being probably due to the Hindoo blood in him. From India we find beri-beri spread, like the Malays, to Madagascar on the one side and to Japan on the other; we meet with it also in Java, Sumatra, etc. According to the proportion of Malay blood in the natives of Japan is the frequency of the malady, which occurs in various forms and under different names. As to the Negrito element in Japan, M. Gueit found an interesting proof of it in the island of Sikok, in the form of a small statuette of Buddha having the characteristic nose and hair of the Negritos.

To Rectify Turpentine.

As it is difficult to obtain nice, clear turpentine for microscopical purposes, I want to give other workers the benefit of my experience in rectifying the ordinary fluid. I proceed as follows:

Take one pint of the common turpentine and mix in a quart bottle with four fluid ounces of ninety-eight per cent. alcohol. Agitate well, and let stand until the two fluids separate. Decant the turpentine (which will form the lower layer) from the alcohol, and mix it with one pint of clear water. Agitate thoroughly, and let stand until these two fluids separate, then from the water decant the turpentine (which this time will form the upper layer), and, finally, mix with the turpentine about one ounce of powdered starch, and filter through paper.

By pursuing the foregoing plan any one may secure a pure, limpid and brilliant turpentine. The alcohol used in rectifying it need not be wasted, as it will do to burn, to clean slides, or for other purposes. I usually make a large quantity and recover the alcohol by distillation.—The Microscope.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all lovers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following
Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD.]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE.
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-25-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1889.
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 6-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc., Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 126. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 12-7-10

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
-23

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people.
4-4-7

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
12 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Fancy Silverware, Clocks, Spectacles and Eyeglasses. Agent for Dr. Kinsley's Spectacle Adjuster. Don't forget the number.
12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 | A. M. | to meet | 8.32 | A. M. train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | | do | 10.17 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | | do | 11.32 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | | do | 12.02 | P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 | P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 | P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | do meet 3 51 | P. M. train. | |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.39 | do; | |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do | |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.09 | do | |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.32, 9.37, 10.10, 11.50 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 5.42 4.34, 6.30, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

H. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

7:05 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily to Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 30 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 30 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05, 9 55, 11 57 A. M.; 12 05, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 07, 7 49, 9 30 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 55, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 30 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:30 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 25 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 50, 9 05, 9 55, 11 57 A. M.; 12 05, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 07, 7 49, 9 30 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 55, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 30 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 50 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 50 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 50, 9 55, 11 57 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 19 P. M.

A full line of tickets always on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 20, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 57, 9 22, 10 06, 11 09, 11 39 A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 09, 6 21, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 30, 10 15, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 33, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 25, 10, 10 51, 11 09, 11 39 A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 15, 5 05, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 40, 8 55, 10 16, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 20, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 22, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 6 34, 6 20, 6 58, 7 03, 7 13, 7 34, 8 20, 9 45, 11 15, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 16 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 32, 1 15, 1 43, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 13, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 8 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 A. M. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 2 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 03 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 1 59*, 2 32*, 4 05, 5 24*, 6 29*, 8 20* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 30* 4 05, 5 14*, 6 05 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 2 45, 4 05, 5 24* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 05, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA,

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 20*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 9 45, 12 p. m Sundays—9 a. m., 12 50, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—2 10, 3 20*, 11 05, a. m. 12 22, 2 20, 6 18, 9 05; p. m. Sundays—3 20, 9 55 a. m., 12 02, 2 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 30, 4 00, 7*, 8*, 9*, 10 10, 11 55 a.m. 1 26, 2 10, 2 40*,

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 21, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good health
Truly Yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-3-1

A GENERAL CALL OUT

All Railroad Knights Ordered to Strike.

A FIGHT TO THE BITTER END.

Preparing for the Battle With the Vanderbilt Lines.

Sargent Calls a Meeting of the Supreme Council of the Federation of Railway Employes—Mr. Webb Tells About the Powderly Interview—The Central Refuses Arbitration or Investigation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—General Master Workman T. V. Powderly has issued an appeal to all the Knights of Labor in the employ of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad and upon the Vanderbilt connecting lines.

In the document he states the causes for the strike and the efforts made to obtain a peaceable settlement of the difficulties, and notifies each and every member of the intention of the Executive Board of the Knights of Labor to prosecute the fight against the Central Railroad Company to the bitter end.

At the same time it is made known that Grand Master Sargent has called a meeting of the Supreme Council of the Federation of Railway employes for Saturday Aug. 23 at 9 a. m., in the city of Terre Haut e, Ind.

Mr. Powderly said to a reporter that his appeal to all the employes of the New York Central and connecting lines will call upon them to stop work at once.

Messrs. Sargent, Sweeny, Wilkeson and Howard left early this morning for Terre Haute.

THE KNIGHTS' POSITION.

The General Executive Board Issue a Statement to the Public.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Executive Board of the Knights of Labor issued the following statement:

"Messrs. Powderly and Devlin waited upon General Manager Toucey for the purpose of endeavoring to settle this dispute. He absolutely refused to entertain any proposition looking toward arbitration or investigation into the case of their recent employes.

"The same gentlemen waited upon Mr. Webb, in order to give the company every opportunity to bring the strike to an end.

"In the interview they had with the Third Vice-President they repeated the offer which the Knights had made from the beginning that they would declare the strike off if the company would agree to submit the cases of the discharged men to the investigation of disinterested outside parties, on the understanding that if it should be shown that there was no cause for the discharge of the men other than their connection with the Knights of Labor such men should be reinstated in their positions. The representatives of the Knights agreed to bind themselves to abide by the decision or finding of the investigators.

"Mr. Webb refused to agree to this, and in the interest of peace Mr. Powderly went so far as to ask Mr. Webb, in view of the conflicting statements of the men and the company's officials, if he would consent to meet the discharged men and allow him (Mr. Powderly) to question them in Mr. Webb's presence upon the charges of the company against them. Mr. Webb even refused to entertain that proposition.

"Mr. Webb and Toucey, who came into the room during the interview, reiterated their statement that they would insist upon their right to discharge any of their employes without assigning a reason for doing so, and they would not admit the right of any labor organization or committees of such organization to interfere in the matter. Being asked if they took the position that the railroad was the private property of the company, nor that neither the employes of the company and the public had any right to question the action of the management, they hesitated, and at last took refuge in a silence which the representatives of the Knights tried in vain to break.

The latter said that if it was the policy of the company to maintain that they would not admit that either the public or the employes of the road had any rights in the premises, it was useless to waste further time or words on the matter, and shortly afterwards withdrew.

Upon the return of Messrs. Powderly and Devlin, the Executive Board of the Knights of Labor and the representatives of the Grand Council of the Federation of Railroad Employes held a long conference, in which the positions of all the bodies were freely stated. The result of the conference was that the representatives of the Federation agreed to call a meeting of the Grand Council.

The Executive Board say that the position finally assumed by the company makes it necessary for them to vindicate the right of labor to organize by prosecuting the strike to the bitter end. The quarrels is no longer that of D. A. 246, but of the whole order, and it will now be carried on with vigor and determination.

The Board secured affidavits of all the men discharged. A number of them swore that they were given their alternative of leaving the Knights of Labor or their situations.

WHAT MR. WEBB SAYS.

Powderly Asked to Give the Discharged Men a Hearing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Vice-President Webb says that in the interview with Mr. Powderly he first requested arbitration, which was refused on the same grounds as former similar suggestions. He then proposed a hearing in Mr. Webb's office, at which the discharged men should be present. This was rejected as ridiculous.

In the course of the interview, Mr. Webb told Mr. Powderly that if the road should yield to the demands of the strikers he would rather be at the head of the Knights of Labor than president of the road, for he could then manage the road much better than in his present position. The interview was an amicable one and terminated pleasantly.

CHIEF SARGENT SPEAKS.

He Thinks Powderly Has Acted in a Very Honorable Manner.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Grand Chief Sargent, in company with Messrs. Howard, Sweeney and Wilkinson left this morning for Terre Haute, Ind., and all went sworn to advocate the biggest kind of a tie-up. There seems to be no reason to apprehend that they will change their minds on the way. Before leaving Chief Sargent made the following statement:

"Mr. Powderly has been to see Mr. Toucey, general manager of the New York Central, and Mr. Webb, the vice-president, and has been desirous of settling this controversy. But they have shown no disposition to treat with him or to permit the facts to be presented so that the case may be judged upon its merits. For this reason we have determined formally to lay the entire matter before the Supreme Council of our Federation.

"Mr. Powderly has acted in a very honorable manner; has gone just as far in his position as he can. The company has refused to consider the discharge of these men, and has not treated Mr. Powderly as the executive of a great labor organization ought to be treated. I had hoped that when Messrs. Webb and Powderly came together a conclusion would be reached which would settle the controversy. I was very desirous that such a settlement would be brought about, as I realized the significance of a spread of the strike. But it is evident from the attitude of the company that they have no desire to settle the controversy, neither will they submit to arbitration."

MR. WEBB CONTRADICTED.

Knights of Labor Strikers Claim They Were Told to Leave the Order.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Information obtained here is in contradiction to the assertion by Mr. Webb that he has not discharged any men because they were Knights of Labor, and that no assault is being made upon the Knights.

Fully 50 of the men who are on strike here testify that for the past month Station Agent Stephens of the Grand Central depot, New York city, has been informing them that they had better sever their connection with the order, and that very quickly, as the road intended to get rid of those who belonged to the order.

This order was also disseminated among the men by Mr. Huestis, the private secretary of Mr. Voorhees. He sent for head baggagemen and brakemen, and informed them less than a week before the strike that it was the intention of the road to break up the order, and that they had better leave it at once and advise others to do the same if they desired to retain their positions. The message was given to at least 50 men.

BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.

A Report that the K. of L. Leaders May be Indicted.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Grand Jury summoned both District Attorney Fellows and Recorder Smyth in consultation. The nature of the business before them could not be positively learned, because both refused to talk after they came out of the jury room. District Attorney Fellows said that he could say nothing until the grand jury had taken some action in the question under consideration, which might not be for some days.

It was generally understood, however, that the whole question of the strike had been presented to the grand jury, and it was in its consideration of that that the Recorder and District Attorney had been called into consultation. It is rumored that the position of the leaders of the strike was being discussed in connection with provisions of the law defining the punishing of conspiracy. Report also said that the matter had been brought before the grand jury by the Vanderbilt interests.

Vice-President Webb was asked if the strike was being discussed by the grand jury, and if the Central road was instrumental in bringing up the question. All he said was:

"Whatever happens in the grand jury room is, of course, secret. I have nothing whatever to say about the matter. I could say nothing if I would."

WEBB WILL FIGHT.

The Central Vice-President Says He is Ready for War.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—When asked about a general tie-up, Vice-President Webb said:

"If I understand it right, the entire crowd of Knights of Labor will go out to-day. Well, let them go. If they can stand it, we can. We will, no doubt, be able to fight as long as they do, and maybe a little longer.

"As I said before, this company is ready to spend millions to win this difference, and I now say we'll shut up shop sooner than be dictated to by our switchmen."

GOV. HILL SILENT.

He Feels That He Occupies a Very Delicate Position.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 21.—"In the present critical state of affairs I prefer to say nothing in regard to any phase of the strike," Gov. Hill said this morning.

People who are close to the Governor say he does not approve of the importation of foreign guards into the city; that he feels confident of the ability of the local authorities to protect the property of the railroad and even should more serious trouble ensue, that the State militia can be handled so as to prevent disaster. The Governor, however, feels that he occupies a delicate position and may be called upon for official action, and therefore will not talk upon the subject for publication.

Police Protection.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Acting Superintendent Byrnes has so arranged the men under him that the New York Central Railroad will be afforded ample protection. The police at the different points in this city where trouble is liable to occur have been strengthened, and arrangements have been made by the inspector to mass the reserves on short notice.

A Big Western Strike Probable.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Committees representing the trainmen of the entire Illinois Central system presented petitions for an advance in wages, and declared that they would strike if the advance were refused.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —5 |
| New York | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0—6 |

Batteries—Clarkson and Ganzel; Welch and Buckley.

AT BROOKLYN—FIRST GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 1 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | x—13 |
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0— 2 |

Batteries—Terry and Daly; Gleason and Clements.

SECOND GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 2 | 0 | 5 | 1 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | x—12 |
| Philadelphia | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— 7 |

Batteries—Terry and Clark; Smith and Schriver.

Players' League.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0—4 |
| Brooklyn | 2 | 2 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0— 7 |

Batteries—Husted and Hallman; Sowders and Daily.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1—9 |
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— 5 |

Batteries—Ewing and Ewing; Gumbert and Kelly.

AT PITTSBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburg | 3 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0—8 |
| Cleveland | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 3 | 0 | 2 | x—12 |

Batteries—Maul and Carroll; Gruber and Sutcliffe.

AT BUFFALO—FIRST GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Buffalo | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2— 6 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0— 2 |

Batteries—Cunningham and Mack; Baldwin and Boyle.

SECOND GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Buffalo | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0— 7 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— 0 |

Batteries—Cunningham and Mack; Barston and Farrell.

American Association.

AT COLUMBUS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbus | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2— 9 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1— 2 |

Batteries—Knauss and Doyle; Murphy and Bowers

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0— 5 |
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3— 5 |

Batteries—Hart and Munyan; Barr and McGuire.

Game called at the end of the tenth inning on account of darkness.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0— 7 | |
| Syracuse | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— 0 | |

Batteries—Smith and Sage; Keefe, Casey and Briggs and Burke.

POSTPONED.

At Louisville—The Louisville-Athletic game was postponed on account of rain.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1— 2 | |
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0— 0 | |

Batteries—Gilliland and Hofford; Cox and Bommers.

AT NEWARK.

Newark refusing to go to bat in the eleventh inning, and the umpire declining to call the game, the game was forfeited to Baltimore by the score of 9 to 0.

POSTPONED.

At Wilmington—The Wilmington-Lebanon game was postponed on account of rain.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 65 | 33 | .663 | Chicago | 54 | 45 | .545 |
| Boston | 63 | 37 | .630 | N. York | 43 | 56 | .434 |
| Philadel | 54 | 40 | .557 | Clevl'nd | 30 | 66 | .313 |
| Cincin'ti | 39 | 37 | .515 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 78 | .196 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 59 | 39 | .590 | Philadel | 51 | 49 | .510 |
| Chicago | 56 | 44 | .560 | Pittsb'rg | 42 | 49 | .462 |
| Brookl'n | 59 | 44 | .573 | Clev'l'nd | 41 | 53 | .436 |
| N. York | 54 | 43 | .557 | Buffalo | 28 | 66 | .298 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 60 | 31 | .659 | Col'mb's | 49 | 45 | .521 |
| St. Louis | 54 | 38 | .587 | Toledo | 47 | 44 | .516 |
| Athletic | 49 | 43 | .533 | Syracuse | 37 | 55 | .402 |
| Roch'st'r | 46 | 45 | .505 | Brookl'n | 27 | 66 | .294 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 73 | 23 | .760 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 66 | 24 | .733 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 58 | .376 |
| Newark | 50 | 40 | .556 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 61 | .322 |
| Lebanon | 41 | 41 | .500 | Hartford | 23 | 60 | .306 |

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 2,134 | ..... |
| New York | 2,444 | ..... |
| Buffalo | 2,167 | ..... |
| Pittsburg | 1,500 | ..... |
| Boston | ..... | 3,385 |
| Boston | ..... | 1,450 |
| Totals | 8,245 | 4,835 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Cincinnati vs. New York, at New York.
Pittsburg vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Chicago vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Cleveland vs. Boston, at Boston.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Cleveland vs. New York, at New York.
Pittsburg vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Chicago vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Buffalo vs. Boston, at Boston.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Toledo vs. Syracuse, at Toledo.
Columbus vs. Brooklyn, at Columbus.
Louisville vs. Athletics, at Louisville.
St. Louis vs. Rochester, at St. Louis.

LOSS OVER A MILLION

Terrible Work of the Cyclone at Wilkesbarre.

WORKMEN BUSY IN THE CITY.

The Stricken District Still Presents a Deplorable Appearance.

Two More Deaths Recorded—The Injured Men at the Hazard Works Expected to Recover—More Fatalities Reported from Near-by Towns—The Men in the Coal Mine Escaped.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 21.—The loss by the cyclone is placed at over a million dollars.

This sorely stricken city has gathered together its dead and wounded and counted them. As nearly as can be ascertained, the dead number twenty, and the seriously wounded thirty, ten of whom are expected to die. The cellars saved the people, for there thousands found safety from falling walls.

A sudden death is no strange apparition in this black diamond city of the Wyoming, with its record of mine horrors, but the destruction of property is great, and therefore the town is amazed and stares dumfounded. The people throng the sunlit but muddy streets, and court the dwellings, shops and factories which have been unroofed and dozens of which have been wrecked.

The work of repairing damages to wires, roads and buildings is progressing rapidly, but the stricken district still presents a deplorable appearance.

B. E. Vandermark, one of those injured by the cyclone, died last evening. He leaves a widow and two children. The 13 men injured at the Hazard works are all doing well, and all are expected to recover.

John Siebel, who was injured at Stegmier's brewery during the storm, died last night.

Edward Buell, aged 13, was killed by lightning at Luzerneborough during the storm. A son of Undertaker B. W. Brickell, of Dallas, was struck and killed at Harveyville by a barn which was blown down.

Isaiah Newsbigel, a prominent builder here, who was injured by flying timbers, is dead.

Up to this morning no other deaths had been reported.

Narrow Escape for Miners.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 21.—In the Hillman vein when the cyclone struck there, twenty-seven men were at work and the fans were stopped, but luckily they were able to start them again, and although the hoisting apparatus was damaged, the men were brought to the top in safety. They, however, had a very narrow escape, it occupying several hours in hoisting them from the Hillman to the Baltimore vein. The drill works of Bloss & White and the house adjoining on Scott street are destroyed.

Storm Damage in Berks County.

READING, Pa., Aug. 21.—In Berks County the storm inflicted damage to the amount of $20,000. In Spring Township the body of a farmer named William A. Steinert was found buried in the debris of his wrecked barn.

THE QUINCY DISASTER.

Nurses Sent for to Take Care of the Injured.

QUINCY, Mass., Aug. 21.—Dr. Galvin, surgeon of the Old Colony Railroad, has telegraphed to Boston for trained nurses, the nurses at the Quincy hospital having been on duty since the accident are tired out.

There are 74 packages and valises which are unclaimed in charge of Matron Thayer at the Quincy hospital.

At the commodious residence of Mrs. Cushing Lane, near the scene of the accident, are the following persons: Rev. and Mrs. F. M. Dimick, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Haile, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Miss Ruth Blackburne, Lowell, Mass., and Miss Jessie McAllister, Fort Wayne. They are all seriously injured and Mrs. Haile, who is an elderly lady and grandmother to the two young ladies, is in a critical condition.

By order of General Manager Kendrick, the "track jack," which is believed to have caused the accident, will be sent to the office of the Railroad Commissioner.

There are 13 injured at the Quincy hospital instead of 10 as reported. They are W. R. Abbott, Louisville; Mrs. Andrew Tower, Charlestown; Mrs. George M. Snow, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs R. C. Bailey, Roxbury; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Needham, Lawrence; Judge R. W. Edwards, Louisville; Mr. J. C. Brown, Lawrence; Mrs. T. A. Addison, Chelsea; Mrs. M. Welch and son James, Cleveland. These are all seriously injured, most of them being scalded by the escaping steam, and several are in a precarious condition.

Price of Prescription Bottles Advanced.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—At a meeting of the prescription bottle manufacturers in this city, they advanced the price list at a rate of from five to eight per cent. on account of the advance in the wages of their employes.

The Grant Monument Association.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Grant Monument Association passed a resolution protesting against the proposed action of Congress looking to the removal of General Grant's remains to Washington.

A Pennsylvania Murderer Respited.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—The Governor has respited William H. Smith, the Allegheny County murderer, until Nov. 26. Smith has been adjudged insane by a court.

TAPPED THE WIRES.

An Attempt to Rob the Bookmakers at Saratoga Frustrated.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 21.—An attempt to tap the wires to the race track and rob the bookmakers was frustrated by the vigilance of Western Union Lineman Bruse. Just before betting on the Brighton Beach races a "cross" was felt for a moment between two of the wires and upon testing it was located between the main office here and the race track.

The lineman followed the wires and soon found that the trouble was caused by a connection having been made from the hayloft of a barn in the rear of George street. He summoned an officer and the two men entered the barn but not in time to catch the tapsters, who saw them coming and made their escape.

Four sets of telegraph instruments and 30 cells of battery were found in the loft, and everything was in readiness to manipulate the returns from Guttenburg and Brighton Beach. It is thought the men had confederates on that track who were to heavily back the horses that they would falsely report as winners.

But for the bungling job of making the wrong connections the scheme would doubtless have been successful.

IMPALED A NEGRO.

A Dangerous Crook Instantly Killed by a Farm Hand.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—A special from Akron, O., says: In Talmage Township, six miles from this place, a farmer's children playing in the barn observed a pile of hay moving. They called a farm hand to kill a supposed skunk under the hay. The hired man thrust a pitchfork into the hay and impaled a negro. One of the tines entered the negro's eye and reached his brain with fatal effect.

The negro was identified as John Williams, well known to the police of all large cities as one of the most dangerous crooks in the country. Williams had killed two men and had served three terms in the Ohio penitentiary, from which he recently escaped after serving over 15 years. Upon him was found a loaded revolver, burglar tools and valuables recently stolen from residences in the neighborhood.

Cardinal Manning's Address.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Cardinal Manning, in his address in Brompton oratory, on the occasion of the requiem mass for Cardinal Newman, said that though it was too soon to measure fully the work of Cardinal Newman, it was certain that no living man had so changed religious thought in England. It was the inspiring genius of the tractarian movement that had been shaping the church of England into its present life. But for him rationalism would now reign supreme as the national religion.

Junior Order American Mechanics.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 21.—Delegates representing 18 councils of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics met in convention here. There was a big parade and a reception at Educational Hall. The delegates are being entertained by the local Assembly.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Republicans of Wisconsin renominated Governor Hoard by acclamation.

The American Bar Association is holding its thirteenth annual session at Saratoga.

The Society of American Florists, in session at Boston, voted to hold the next meeting in Toronto.

Mrs. Grace Ward, aged 81 years, of Norwich, Conn., was struck by a train and instantly killed.

The Passenger Agents' Association, in session at Buffalo, N. Y., elected W. R. Jones, of St. Louis, president. The next annual meeting will be held at Chattanooga.

Two female county convicts were burned to death in a house on the farm of H. J. Hill, near Washington, Ga., who has a lease of all convicts in this judicial circuit.

Jacob F. Ulrich, the bigamist of Newark, N. J., having agreed to support both of his wives and their families, but to live only with wife No. 1, has been released on bail, the complaint having been withdrawn.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—For New England: Fair; slight changes in temperature; southerly winds.

For Eastern New York: Fair; stationary temperature; southerly winds.

For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware: Local showers; southerly winds; slight changes in temperature, except warmer in the interior of Pennsylvania.

For Western New York: Warmer; fair, followed by showers to-morrow night; southerly winds.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Money on call to-day, 20 per cent:

BONDS.

| | Closing yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 102¾ | 102¾ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 103¾ | 103¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 123¾ | 123¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 125¼ | 125¼ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing Monday. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 83¾ | 84 |
| Central Pacific | — | — |
| Chicago Bur. & Quincy | 101¾ | 102¼ |
| Delaware & Hudson | — | — |
| Del., Lack. & W | 144¼ | 143¼ |
| Erie | 26 | 26 |
| Erie pref | — | 85 |
| Lake Shore | 107 | 106¾ |
| Louis. & Nash | 87 | 87¾ |
| Michigan Central | 93 | — |
| Missouri Pacific | 70¾ | 70¾ |
| New Jersey Central | 122 | — |
| Northwestern | 106¼ | — |
| Oregon Navigation | — | — |
| Pacific Mail | 43¾ | — |
| Reading | 42¾ | 42¾ |
| Rock Island | 87¾ | 87¾ |
| St. Paul | 70¾ | 70¾ |
| Union Pacific | 39¾ | 39¾ |
| Western Union | 83 | 83¾ |

WASHINGTON TOPICS

Senators Speculating on the Quay Resolution.

NO DECISION EXPECTED TO-DAY.

A Belief That the Matter Will be Disposed of This Week.

Guatemala and Salvador Accepts the Proffered Mediations of the United States—Commissioner Lyman Denounced by the Ladies Progressive Association—His Removal Demanded.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The chances are that the fate of the Quay resolution will not be determined to-day. Mr. Evarts remarked on the floor of the Senate that there was a good deal to be said before the matter came to a vote.

Several of the leaders of the Republican side of the Senate said that they believed that the matter would be disposed of before the end of the week, but not to-day.

Mr. Spooner has no idea that his motion to refer the resolution will be agreed to.

He made that motion so as to get a vote on some proposition at the earliest possible moment. He says that the Quay resolution must come before the Senate on its merits. It seems unlikely now that a caucus will be called.

Secretary Blaine's Offer Accepted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Secretary Blaine's efforts to stop further bloodshed in the Guatemala-Salvador imbroglio is meeting with flattering success. A cablegram was received at the State department from Minister Mizner stating that both Guatemala and Salvador had accepted the proffered mediation of the United States, and that a basis of peace would undoubtedly soon be agreed upon.

After Commissioner Lyman.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—At a meeting of the Ladies' Progressive Assembly No. 3,991, Knights of Labor, Civil Service Commissioner Lyman was denounced for his attack upon the character of the female employes in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. In the name of the respectable, toiling thousands of women in this country they demand his removal from office.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.

He Visits the Philadelphia Mint on His Way to Cape May.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—President Harrison, while on his way through this city en route for Cape May, visited the mint. Among the interesting things on exhibition in the building is the medal struck off in commemoration of President William Henry Harrison. This was shown the President, who saw it for the first time.

While on his tour of the building the President was recognized by the employes, who gave him several hearty cheers. On leaving, he expressed to Chief Coiner Steel and Chief Clerk Cobb, who had escorted him through the various departments, his pleasure at his reception and what he had seen.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 21.—President Harrison arrived last evening. Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee, with the baby, met him, and he was at once escorted to the cottage at the Point, where a quiet family celebration of the President's 57th birthday was held.

UNEASY PENNSYLVANIA MEN.

A Movement on Foot to Secure an Increase of Wages.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—The Pennsylvania Railroad men are moving for a raise of ten per cent. on their present salaries. The men do not consider the raise they ask as an increase in salary, but a return to their old wages.

In 1877 the salaries of the employes of the passenger department of the New York Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad were decreased ten per cent. on President Scott's plea that the financial condition of the railroad demanded it.

The employes on the New York branch say that the ten per cent. has been returned to the men in the other divisions, but not to them.

The company thinks it rather significant that the men should make their claim at this time, during the trouble on the New York Central, and the men may get a cool reception from the managers if they push their demands.

Asbury Park's Disorderly Houses.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 21.—A raid was made here which possesses more than ordinary significance from the fact that this is believed to be the prohibition town of America. The managers of the Neptune Club were arrested. They were: C. W. Harris, owner of the Bijou Cafe; Frank Prescott, of Asbury Park, and Ed. P. Saylor, of Reading, Pa. They are charged with allowing gambling and keeping a disorderly house. The prisoners were placed under bonds for a hearing.

A Well Known Theatre Owner Dead.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 21.—Patrick Harris, the well known theatre owner and proprietor, died in the morning at Bay Shore, L. I., where he went Sunday last on his arrival from Europe. He had been to Carlsbad for his health and had returned, as was believed, much improved. Mr. Harris owned and controlled theatres in Pittsburg, Washington, Louisville, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Baltimore.

A Mother's Double Crime.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Elizabeth Jones, colored, 35 years old, of 413 North Sixty-third street, drowned her 8-months-old child in a tub of water at their house, and then committed suicide by hanging herself from the rafters.

THE DAILY PRESS

IS AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—The regular meeting of the Reform Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. All will be welcome.

—The World's champions of 1884 and 1885, the celebrated Metropolitans of New York, will play the Crescent League's team in this city, Saturday afternoon.

—Jacob Burnham was found by the police last night gazing pensively, in a state of great intoxication, at the front doors of Reform Hall. This morning he was fined two dollars.

—Several members of Franklin Council, 41, of this city, were present at the reunion of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics of this State, held at Asbury Park, yesterday.

—A firemen's parade this Fall would not cost any one person much, if each of all who can appreciate their obligation to the firemen, would give a little towards festivities which would do so much to encourage the organization.

—Jacob A. Clark and Alfred J. Upton, who accuse each other of assault, are to have a hearing before Justice Nash Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Clark and Upton fought over a game of cards in Bock's saloon and had each other arrested.

—Some folks think it impossible that the Crescents should escape defeat on Saturday, but permit THE PRESS to remark that such a game as the Plainfield team put up last Saturday can't be beat by any club outside of the professional league.

—The Royal Craftsman is the name of a most meritorious monthly edited by the Hon. John Ulrich, of Plainfield. It is devoted exclusively to the interests of the Masonic institution, and as such it fulfills its mission admirably.—New Brunswick Home News.

—The Chathams defeated the Young Arlingtons at base-ball today by the score of 22 to 12, and knocked Mattis, Carver and Firstbrook out of the box. The battery for the Chathams were C. Colthar and H. Woolston.

—James Moore, one of the circus men arrested Monday for fighting in the boulevard, was released this morning on payment of a fine of $2. It transpired that he had been sober and had not participated in the fight, but had been merely a looker-on.

—Simple and interesting reading with the children, on American and English history, physiology, zoology and botany, and calisthenics daily, are features of Miss Fawcett's kindergarten that especially commend it to parents. The school, as well as the kindergarten, reopens at 48 Craig place, Wednesday, September 17.

—A mass meeting of the local Union of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Plainfield, Dunellen and New Market churches will be held Thursday, September 18. The music for the occasion will be under the direction of M. Marvin Dunham, whose special choir will have their first rehearsal in Y. M. C. A. hall this evening at eight o'clock.

—J. W. VanSickle, proprietor of the Eureka Market on North avenue, and one of the city's most prosperous merchants, moved today with his family into the new home he has just erected for himself on East Third street. It is fitted with all modern conveniences, and the cost complete was a little over $5,000. It is tastefully painted by Marsh & Ayers. Pearson & Gayle did the carpenter work, and Tobin & Enander the plumbing.

The Enemy In Our Midst.

(From the Elizabeth Journal.)

The Plainfield city council met last night and fixed the appropriations for the fiscal year. The tax rate will be 2.24 instead of 2.15 as last year. This is an increase of .09 per cent. tax rate, notwithstanding the large increase in valuations, and shows a considerable increase in current expenditures.

The above is copied from the Plainfield news and gladly published in Elizabeth because it is to the discredit of a rival city. Some such evidence is given every day of the truth of Mayor Male's remark that "the news has done more to the damage of Plainfield than twenty floods."

The tax rate for current expenditures in this city is even lower than last year. This is shown by the fact that although the County rate is increased .14 per cent., the total rate is increased only .09 per cent.

Success is the envy of the weak brained. They seek to get there too. No wonder that they resort to counterfeiting. The reputable dealer should not encourage imitators. Be sure and ask for Hires' Root Beer Packages, and be especially sure you get them.

JEWS AND CHRISTIANS AT ODDS.

A Row in the Borough Over the Sale of Sacred Meat.

An odd controversy involving religious and civil rights is in progress in North Plainfield. It arose over the fact that the Hebrew population eat no meat except that killed and sold to them by their rabbi. The Jewish pastor patronizes the slaughter-house of Nicholas Gisser at Netherwood, and accompanies Mr. Gisser about town, dealing out daily meat to the Hebrew patrons. A short time ago Marshal Thomas Rutledge of North Plainfield came across Gisser's wagon while it was on its rounds of distribution. The rabbi was for a moment absent, but Gisser was there, and after Rutledge had expressed admiration of the meat he asked Gisser to sell him some. This Gisser refused to do, on the ground that the meat had been killed by the rabbi for his flock, and was sacred, and the rabbi would not permit Christians to have it. Rutledge insisted and took a piece of meat. Gisser protested but nevertheless pocketed a dollar bill in exchange for the merchandise. Rutledge then arrested Gisser on the charge of peddling without a license. Gisser offered to take Rutledge in the wagon to the Borough Clerk to pay the license fee, and stated that he was too weak from asthmatic trouble to walk. Rutledge refused to ride, and forced Gisser along the street to the Clerk's office. Clerk Brokaw was absent, so Rutledge started with Gisser towards the lock-up. Subsequently the affair was smoothed over, but the rabbi demanded that Rutledge surrender the piece of sacred meat his Christian hands had profaned. Gisser has made a complaint against Rutledge, and demands his arrest. A hearing in the case may be reached today. The Jews will rally around Gisser.

FIRE IN THE BOROUGH.

E. J. Waring's Barn and Stables Burned at Midnight.

Another fire attributed to incendiaries occurred in the Borough last night, when the barn and stables of Edward J. Waring of Myrtle avenue were burned to the ground.

Flames were discovered issuing from the building at midnight. Nelson Batz, Mr. Waring's coachman, was asleep in the servant's quarters, and was awakened by the shouts of neighbors. The barn was situated back from the house, near the junction of Willow and Giraud avenues, and was hidden by the dense foliage of shade trees. By the time Batz reached the place the stables were ablaze, but he managed in the teeth of the fire, to save the cattle from destruction. Everything else was consumed, including sleighs, harnesses and fittings, hay and grain.

The Borough fire alarm was sounded, and as soon as horses could be procured the engine was conveyed to the scene of the fire, but the hose carriage was delayed for lack of men to haul it, and was then taken some distance out of the way. When all was in readiness water was pumped from Green brook at Giraud avenue. By this time, however, the barn, stables and contents were a mass of flames.

The loss over the insurance is estimated at about $500. The total loss is probably $4,000.

There had been no fire, lanterns or lights of any description about the burned building, and the consequent belief is that the place was set afire.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Alice Holmes has left the seashore for Mt. Pocono.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dayton, of East Sixth street, have gone to Lake Hopatcong.

Miss Beanie Blimm of Somerset street, has gone to the Catskills for a few weeks' pleasure.

Miss Ida Musgrave, of Mercer avenue, has gone to Saratoga to join her brother and sister.

John W. Murray, Jr., and family, of West Fourth street, are home from East Boston, Mass.

Messrs Charles Stephens and John V. Beekman of this city are registered at Asbury Park.

S. C. Peck, Jr., of West Front street, has gone to Milford, Conn., to visit his father for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baynon of LaGrande avenue, are home again from their trip to the coast of Maine.

Miss Helter Clowes, of Hempstead, L. I., is visiting her cousin, Miss Evalene B. Searing, of Elm place.

Cards are out for the wedding of Fannie E. Titus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Vanorden, to Alfred J. Winans, at Springdale, among the hills back of North Plainfield, Monday afternoon, September 1.

Mrs. H. VanDuser of Wilkesbarre, Pa., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Geo. L. Van Emburgh of East Second street. Mrs. VanDuser's house was totally wrecked by Tuesday's cyclone, and because of the loss of her home she seeks Plainfield as a city of refuge.

The Days to be Tried Next Week.

Patrick Day and John Day, who are accused by John Motley, of Elizabeth, with participating in the fight in the Day saloon, Tuesday night, when Motley was initiated, with blows and kicks, into the wild ways of the boulevard denizens, appeared before Justice Nash yesterday and had their trial set for Monday afternoon at two o'clock.

PLAINFIELD INDIANS IN THE RAIN.

A Storm Cheats Them Out of Reception and Supper.

A large delegation of the Plainfield tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men had a long drive through the fierce storm Tuesday night to New Brunswick for nothing. The Plainfield tribe was only recently started, and it includes some of the expellent young men in the place. They made arrangements to visit Ahwaga Tribe of New Brunswick, Tuesday night, as that body was to confer degrees on two candidates, and the Plainfield men wished to see the work. They announced that they would reach New Brunswick about nine o'clock, and Ahwaga Tribe made every arrangement to receive them and entertain them at the lodge rooms after the work was completed, giving them songs, recitations, and other pleasant things, and then to give a supper at a popular caterer's.

At 9 o'clock the Plainfield men had not put in an appearance. Isaac Halstead, one of the members of the Ahwaga Tribe, had received word that they would surely arrive, and it was decided to postpone the confering of degrees. The Ahwaga men waited for nearly an hour, but at 10 o'clock no visitors had appeared, and it was thought that the rain was too much for them, and that they had postponed the visit.

The Red Men went on with their work, hurrying through the ceremony and adjourning at 10:20. In a few minutes the men had left for their homes, and hardly had they done so when the Plainfield men, who had been delayed by the storm and a pair of slow horses, drove up. There were about thirty of them, and they had come in stages. Only two New Brunswick men were present. The lodge room was locked, and the restaurants were closed, and after driving about town the Plainfield men started home again.

Ahwaga Tribe hopes to have the pleasure of giving them a reception that will compensate for the night's mishaps.

Plainfield Displays Unusual Favor Towards a Star.

A Summer house overflowing with a cordiality that extended even to the orchestra, greeted Cora Tanner in "One Error," last evening; and although most of what she said was unheard because of the Music Hall's still wretched acoustics, she was called before the curtain at the close of each act, and after the last was accorded a polite little cheer from the standing audience.

A gay party of gay guests from Hotel Netherwood was the leaven that infused gaiety into the audience as a whole and softened its vexation over the absence of programmes to tell who was who, and the impossibility of hearing what the "One Error" was all about. Those present had made up their minds to enjoy everything, and even encored Prof. Guttman's orchestra till it repeated the "Darkies' Dream."

Miss Tanner, who has unfortunately added some weight to her stature, has room in her new piece for a display of the extent of her acknowledged register of talent. Passion, pathos, maternal affection, outraged womanhood and love's consummation, is a scale that most actresses would shun the running of in one evening, but Miss Tanner is equally at home in the display of all sentiments and characters. Her costumes are particularly elegant in material and novel in design and combination.

The cast can hardly be improved, except that Penstone might be less of a fever patient in his attempt to portray a gentlemen "under the influence." Ada Dwyer as Coraline deserves much praise; as does also Minnie Dupree as Laura, who recalls recollections of the charming ingenue in "The Senator." George R. Edeson as Packer, Owen Westford as Kreutzer, Myron Calice as Graeme and Harold Russell as Courtney, should receive favorable mention in the order named.

Fought With Her Claws for Recognition.

Mrs. Jerry Compton of Plainfield has been arrested and will soon be tried before Justice Nash on the charge of assaulting Margaret Craig, a young married woman occupying rooms in the same house. It appears that Mrs. Craig, who is a very quiet, inoffensive woman, didn't care to associate with Mrs. Compton, and when Mrs. Compton persisted in forcing an acquaintance Mrs. Craig flatly told her that she wanted nothing to do with her. This incensed Mrs. Compton, who promptly pulled Mrs. Craig's hair and scratched her face, and otherwise displayed feline, feminine, belligerent tactics. Mrs. Craig made no effort to inflict physical punishment for the onslaught, but got away as soon as she could and swore out a warrant.

Mrs. Compton's landlord, who endeavored later to act as arbitrator, was chased from the house by the irate woman with a rocking-chair as a weapon. The landlord declares his intention of ousting Mrs. Compton as a tenant.

He Cometh in November.

A letter from the Rev. B. Fay Mills, the evangelist, gives the glad tidings that he hopes to begin the work of the Lord in Plainfield on Monday, November 3. May his labors be abundantly blessed, should be the daily prayer of every Christian, and the blessing will surely follow.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by purifying and enriching the blood, improves the appetite, aids the assimilative process, strengthens the nerves, and invigorates the system. It is, therefore, the best and most thoroughly reliable alterative that can be found for old and young.

PICKED UP HERE AND THERE.

In Bradford County, Florida, is a hollow stump from which comes a noise similar to that of a boiling kettle.

In Cowlitz County, Washington, which has been settled for forty years and has 7,000 inhabitants, is a section covering several townships that has never been trodden by the foot of a white man. It is a dense, unpenetrated wilderness.

A LADY of Bremen, Me., has a parrot and also a cat named Shag. She has taught the parrot to spell c-a-t, cat, d-o-g, dog, and a few such words, and the other day Polly electrified the household by spelling very loudly and plainly "c-a-t" and then pronouncing it "Shag." Perhaps Polly can't think.

THE tower of the Philadelphia city hall is now 335 feet high, yet on the top of that 8,000 tons of iron and bronze are to be placed. There is to be a clock tower, the dials of which are to be twenty-seven feet in diameter, surmounted by a statue of William Penn thirty-seven feet high, and there will be numerous statues.

THE little English sparrows have learned a new dodge since electric lights replaced gas in the New York city parks. When the current is turned off at dawn the bottoms of the globes are filled with hundreds of insects which have been attracted by the light and killed. The sparrows come around after the globe has cooled off, slide down the carbons and devour the insects.

A LITTLE two-year-old girl of Brooklyn, while playing on the second floor, managed in some way to fall out of the window, and would no doubt have been severely injured but for the fact that she pulled two pillows with her that were on the sill. She turned over in the fall and struck with both pillows underneath her. After a short cry she got up and resumed her game, this time, however, in the street.

IT may be news to some men who smoke perfectos and Manuel Garcias at 20 cents apiece to learn that the list price of the better brands of Cuban stock runs up to $800 1,000. This means that they are 80 cents apiece at wholesale. Now, with the duties paid and the profits expected on an article of this kind, they could not be sold for $2 straight, or about $2,000 a box. These cigars are bought by the royal families of Europe. There's not much market in America for cigars costing $2 each.

THE most remarkable hotel in the world is in California, on the road between Santa Cruz and San Jose. It is a well-known fact that California possesses the largest trees in the world; and a shrewd Yankee hotel-keeper has conceived the idea of using a group of these mammoths, thus saving himself the cost of building or rent. The hollow trunk of one tree, whose circumference is about twenty-two yards, is arranged as a reception-room, and the surrounding garden, sheltered by a thick roof of spreading branches, serves as dining-room and smoking-room. A number of other smaller hollow trunks make comfortable bedrooms, furnished in the most approved style; and some trees at a little distance are occupied by the hotel staff.

TOLD OF FAMOUS GREAT MEN.

THE King of Sweden is reported recently to have remarked: "I am truly sorry not to be able to spend a half day incognito with Prince Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe. Persons whom I esteem and honor so highly as I do Prince Bismarck become doubly dear to my heart when they step aside from the greater part of mankind."

PRINCE BISMARCK'S father was not overjoyed, apparently, when the future Chancellor was born. This is the grim announcement he made of the event: "I have the honor to announce to my friends that yesterday my wife was delivered of a son, and I excuse them from offering congratulations. Ferdinand von Bismarck."

COUNT NICHOLAS PEJACSEVITCH, by whose sudden death Austria has been deprived of her most brilliant cavalry commander, was, in spite of the loss of his arm at Sadowa, an astonishingly fine horseman. "During the course of military maneuvers," writes a correspondent, "he has been seen, while riding at a hand-gallop, to hitch his reins over the pommel of his saddle, get out his tobacco pouch, roll a cigarette with his one hand, and light it."

ON the evening of the first day's battle of Shiloh, which had been a defeat, the quartermaster came to General Grant and told him that if he was again defeated on the next day he could not transport the troops (about sixty-five thousand in number), if it was necessary to cross the river. Grant asked him: "How many can you handle?" "Ten thousand," replied the quartermaster. "Well," said Grant, quietly, "if we are defeated, you will be able to carry all that are left."

A YOUNG lady one day requested Moltke and Bismarck to write a few lines in her album. The marshal took up his pen first and wrote: "Falsehood passes away, truth remains.—Von Moltke, field marshal." After reading what Moltke had to say, Bismarck took the pen and added the following; "I know very well that truth will prevail in the next world, but in the meantime a field marshal himself would be powerless against falsehood in this world.—Von Bismarck, Chancellor of the Empire."

REV. MR. WAKEFIELD, a professor in the college at Hiram, O., has secured the home formerly occupied by the Garfields as a residence. Among the memorable things therein is a bullet-hole in the wainscot in the library. The story thereof is that, home on a furlough, Garfield was writing late at night, when he went to his wife's bed and asked: "Crete, are you awake?" She said she was—a little, and he told her not to be frightened when she heard the report of a pistol, for he was going to fire at a confounded rat that was worrying him by gnawing away at the wood-work at his feet. He got the rat located by the sound, fired through the board, and killed it.

Baltimore in the American Association.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 21.—At a meeting at the Burnett House between W. H. Waltz and Billy Barnie, representing the Baltimore Baseball Club, late of the Atlantic Association, and Zack Phelps and W. H. Whittaker, representing the American Association, a formal contract was drawn up and signed admitting the Baltimore Baseball Club to full membership in the American Association.

Another Site for the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—It is reported that the World's Fair will be located on a tract of land east of Roger's Park on the lake shore and just inside the city limits. The tract spoken of is a tract 620 acres, with a mile and a half frontage on the lake. It is 25 feet high and dry above water. The owners have offered it free of all charges.

Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color and vitality to weak and gray hair. Through its healing and cleansing qualities, it prevents the accumulation of dandruff and cures all scalp diseases. The best hair-dressing ever made, and by far the most economical.

Save Your Hair

BY a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair.

"I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, no new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew

Thick and Strong.

It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. B. Williams, Floresville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—Mrs. H. J. King, Dealer in Dry Goods, &c., Bishopville, Md.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

M. H. A.

Music Hall.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26.

George Thatcher's Minstrels!

Under the management of Rich & Harris.

The Most Talented, Best Paid, Best Playing and Best Playing Band of Minstrels under the Sun.

Few of our Minstrel Celebrities:—George Thatcher, John Wild, Wood and Shepard, Thos. LeMack, Jay Quigley, R. J. Jose, Raymon Moore, Thos. Lewis, H. W. Frillman, John A. Coleman, Rodo. Leo Rapoli, and Masuz & Abacco's Quintet of Arabian Acrobats.

Street parade 12 M.

Seats on sale Saturday, August 23.

Prices—50c., 75c., and $1 00.

S 20 1d

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at

Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.

He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 20, 1890.

| | |
|---|---|
| Angle, D A | Moore, Mrs |
| Ayres, Miss Louisa | Murray, Miss Delia A |
| Clancy, J | Maloney, Daniel |
| Christe, Fred | Morris, Miss C E |
| Carpenter, Chas | O'Brien, Miss Agnes |
| Comyn, Miss | Powers, Nellie |
| Copp, Miss Abbie | Pulliam, Chas |
| Drake, Miss Mary | Quick, J Y |
| Gillespie, Miss Mary | Rogers, Mrs John |
| Ganday, Catherine | Ryan, Miss Johana |
| Gage, Mrs Delia | Rankin, G W |
| Hunting, Master Lu | Robertson, John |
| Haberbin, Miss Maggie | Taylor, Mrs M J |
| Jacobs, L M | Taylor, Mrs J S |
| Killilia, Miss M | Wheeler, Mrs |

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

FOR SALE—Lot 32x100, on Emily street, near Somerset, with or without barn. E. C. Mulford, Broker.

WANTED, on first mortgage, 1,500 dollars, 6 per cent interest. E. C. Mulford, Broker.

WANTED—A girl to do general housework in a small family. Call at 9 First place.

WANTED—A capable chambermaid and waitress; references required. Apply Washington avenue, near Prospect place.

WANTED—Capable laundress in private family, assist with sweeping; reference required. Apply Washington avenue, near Prospect place.

FOR SALE—A black cob built family horse; warranted perfectly sound. Address G., PRESS office. S 20 d

MAN wanted to run steam drill. Address Box 13, Scotch Plains, N. J. S 20 4

BOARD—First-class board; well furnished house; terms reasonable, 46 West 4th. S 19 3

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 6-11-tf

REXWHEAT

Largest package, greatest usefulness of any cereal.
Equally delicious and wholesome in porridge and mush (hot, cold or fried), Gems, Griddle Cakes, etc.
Better than drugs as a hot weather tonic and regulator.
For young or old.
At leading grocers.
Wholesale by H. W. FRENCH. 5-24-6m-t,tas

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 22c pound.
Havermeyer & Elder's standard Graulated Sugar.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEMAREST, 25 PARK AVENUE. 5-6-t

MOY.

8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue, Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 5-8-y

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM.

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 5-25-y

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

45 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting. 2-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed, Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 58.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-8-t

PECK'S CORNER.

WHERE IS

The Crowd Going?

TO

PECK'S!

AS USUAL.

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

BARGAINS!

To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!

Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:

GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.

GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.

CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.

GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.

TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.

FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

SELLING OUT CHEAP!

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-8-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish, Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON.

3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building). Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE, A SPECIALTY.

4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

A BROTHER'S BRUTALITY.

A Sister Abused and Cast Adrift—The Grand Jury Should Hear the Charges.

Henrietta Goetze, the invalid sister of Otto Hartman, of North Plainfield, told so undeviating a story of her brother's maltreatment of her, before Justice Hardy yesterday, that the Justice should decide to hold Hartman under bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Mrs. Goetze says that Otto owed her considerable money, and because he made no payments, though he knew she was in want, she went to his house from Boston and sought to collect the debt. Instead of treating her kindly, and giving her assistance, she alleges, he locked her up in a room and beat her cruelly.

For two hours she was kept on the witness-stand, yesterday afternoon, telling her story, and so admirably did she conduct herself, and so frank and convincing were her statements, that Justice Hardy was forced to say in comment that he believed her implicitly.

After one beating, Mrs. Goetze said, she was so weak and exhausted from her brother's brutality that she could scarcely crawl to her couch, and lay as one dead for two days. Among the instances of cruelty she cited was his throwing her to the floor when she sought to flee from his presence and crushing her prostrate body by jouncing up and down on his knees. Even the brother's own story was considered favorable to the woman's case, and the testimony of Dr. Carman and Dr. Mattison clinched the nails driven by the prosecution. The physicians had examined Mrs. Goetze, after a severe beating, and had found her in a deplorable physical condition. Through Marshal Becker Hartman had asked them to decide whether she ought not to be removed to an insane asylum, and they had pronounced her perfectly sane.

The hearing in the case occupied six hours. When it was ended Hartman announced that Henrietta need not expect further shelter in his house, and, though she was penniless, he turned her out for the night. Her counsel, Wm. A. Coddington, who had taken her case out of charity because he believed her to be a wronged woman, furnished her with funds to pay for lodging at a hotel.

They'll be Here Next Tuesday Evening.

The Holyoke News of Friday last said: "George Thatcher proved his claim to the title of the "Autocrat of Negro Minstrelsy" at the opera house last night. He was the George of old, backed by a company of artists without a peer in the profession. The first part brought out some fine solos and the organ harmonized with the voices in good form. John A. Coleman, John Wild, Thomas LeMack and Samuel Johnson held up their respective ends with news jokes and witticisms, and Ed. Marble, who was disguised as James G. Blaine in one of the boxes caught the audience when he interrupted the performance by characterizing some of the jokes, all "old warriors," that his grandfather used to spiel to the children. The slack wire work of Frank LaMondue was good and the work of Rodo Leo Rapoli, the equilibrist, on the ladder which he scaled and played a cornet on the top rung, was something entirely new and original and showed the wonderful nerve of this unique artist.

"Thatcher and his tale of woe, in which his mother-in-law and a Western famine figured prominently, was given as he alone can give it, and convulsed the audience. He also rendered a parody or two on popular songs of the day, which were well received. "The Fete of the Gondoliers," by six of the dancers, was also well received. It is a melody, arranged as a schottische, and the figures presented were pretty.

"Wood and Shepard, the musical artists, who are favorites the World over, have several new features in their act, all of which are taking. Wood is a team in himself, and the cornet solos of Shepard come as near rivaling Jules Levy as can be found outside of the original article. The choruses were all fine, and the company, as far as possible, is without a flaw."

Westfield's Ball Team.

The Plainfield baseball fiends and cranks who went to Westfield, yesterday afternoon, came home convinced of one thing, and that was—when the Crescents play against Westfield the latter will hire a team from somewhere else. The Westfield team that played yesterday made but three errors, and defeated their opponents, to be sure, but it must be remembered that the latter—the Dauntless of East New York—could not hit a flock of barns, and let both the Westfield runs in on a single wild throw. The score by innings was:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Westfield | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —2 |
| Dauntless | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —0 |

The Westfield's pitcher, O'Niell, has some speed but absolutely no control of the ball. He struck out 13 of the Dauntless, but 10 of these should have been given their bases on balls. It is safe to say that from O'Niell down, the Westfield team that meets the Crescents will be of another breed.

The Press.

A country editor in New York tunes his lyre and bursts forth into song with the following result: "Oh! the clothes press is a swell affair for garments nice and neat; the hay press is a grand machine and does its work complete; the cider press is lovely with its juices red and sweet; but the printing press controls the World and gets there with both feet!"

—A list of recent transfers of real estate in this vicinity is crowded out, with other local matter, from today's issue, but will appear to-morrow.

CHAUTAUQUA CRITICISM.

A Stir Over Bishop Vincent's Absence—Plainfielders and Recognition Day—Dr. Hurlbut a Shining Light.

A great stir has been caused at Chautauqua by the publication in The Assembly Herald of an editorial criticising severely the action of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church in sending Bishop Vincent away from Chautauqua. The ninth recognition service of the Reading Circle was observed yesterday, and it was the first from which the Bishop has been absent. Says the editorial:

"Much complaint over the Bishop's absence is heard. 'Why,' ask the disappointed, 'did the Bishops arrange their plan of work so as to compel him to be away from Chautauqua at this time? Are they not in sympathy with the movement? Do they not believe in the education of the people?' These are bold questions, it is true; nevertheless they are frequent ones. Many hundreds of people, many of them loyal Methodists, are raising them. We believe that a majority of the Bishops of the Methodist Church are in sympathy with the Chautauqua plan of popular education; but to send Bishop Vincent to the Pacific Coast for the month of August seems a peculiar way in which to express this sympathy. The work there could have been done as well by some other Bishop not now holding conferences, and Bishop Vincent might have attended to his episcopal duties just as effectively in the Fall and with as great loyalty to his Church. Such an arrangement would have allowed him to be at his post here this month, when he would have reached 10,000 people for every 100 he will touch in his visit to the West. There ought not to be a shadow of reason for such criticism as these questions imply on the administration of a great Christian Church, especially in its relations to a movement which is so thoroughly in harmony with the Bible and all Christian effort as is Chautauqua. Think of the Romish Church, the Protestant Episcopal, the Baptist or any other great ecclesiastical organization, treating a popular movement for the public good after this fashion. The action of the Bishops is thought to be the more significant since Dr. T. L. Flood, the editor of The Chautauquan, recently withdrew from the Erie Conference to carry on his work, the Bishops having refused to appoint him to the editorship."

Recognition Day was celebrated with chimes, processions, decorations, singing and speechmaking. About 450 graduate readers of the C. L. S. C., class of 1890, received certificates. After the pageant of the morning everybody trooped over to the Amphitheatre, where the Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut of Plainfield, presided over the public recognition. There were on the platform Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, Mrs. John H. Vincent and others from Plainfield. Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer, ex-President of Wellesley College, who delivered the address, was greeted with the waving of handkerchiefs, Dr. Hurlbut's Chautauqua salute, by an audience of 6,000 people.

In the afternoon Dr. Hurlbut made a speech of salutation to the new class and presented the diplomas. At night there was a C. L. S. C., and platform meeting in the Amphitheatre, at which another address was delivered by Dr. Hurlbut. Ernest Knauft of Plainfield was elected a Trustee of the Protestant Episcopal church of Chautauqua.

IS ALL THIS MONEY WASTED?

Ugly Rumors Afloat Which Plainfield Contributors Deny.

Pundita Ramabai, who came to this country from India a year or two ago, enlisted great interest and secured abundant financial aid through her earnest and affecting lectures in Plainfield and other cities, concerning her scheme for helping the child-widows of her native land, does not seem to have been very successful in carrying her plans into effect, if one may credit the Sacramento Record-Union. The gentle Pundita collected no less than $50,000 in California alone, it is alleged, and was joined there by Sarah D. Hamlin, who has aided in securing contributions.

"Since her sojourn in India," the Record-Union says, "Miss Hamlin has written some very interesting letters to a San Francisco daily, in which there has been an inauspicious lack of reference to the great reform to be instituted by the Pundita. Now comes the intelligence that the Pundita Ramabai is residing near Bombay, having a house a little out of the city, and having caged, corralled or captured for the purpose of her experiment one child-widow. Just exactly what manipulation this single occupant of the great reformatory is to undergo to reform her from the original depravity of being a child-widow we are not informed."

Members of the Ramabai Circle of Plainfield, however, claim that the Pundita is really doing a great work among her benighted fellow-countrywomen, and they will write to Ramabai for full information in refutation of the statements of the Record-Union.

Still in the Trustees' Hands.

The Plainfield Crescent League members are yet leading the lives of tramps, abroad in the wide, wide World with no nearer home in prospect than they had the day after the fire. At last evening's meeting, when "something" was hoped for from the Board of Trustees, but one or two of the latter were present and they had nothing definite to offer.

$500 Offered for an incurable case of catarrh by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy. 50 cents, by druggists.

FOOLISH BUT FASHIONABLE.

WATERMELON for breakfast is quoted as the new gastronomic fad.

IT is a fashionable affectation to put a pinch of salt into the breakfast cup of coffee.

NOBODY who pretends to be fashionable in these days will venture to eat berries in public with any thing but a fork.

MANY New York people who have a taste for ice cream are trying the fad of eating Boston brown bread with their cream.

SARDINE sandwiches are served at the five o'clock teas at Newport, and we read that the proper way to eat them is with a fork.

THE "individual castor" is a product of the present season. It is to be placed before each guest at public dinners, and it is rapidly acquiring popularity.

AT a recent swell entertainment the rooms were cooled by crystal pyramids of ice, the frozen, fluted columns buried deep down in beds of moss and wreathed with ivy.

FASHIONABLE entertainments have been enormously extravagant in London this season. Several have cost between $30,000 and $40,000. The flowers for a bachelor party cost $5,000.

FROG legs are best stewed in cream and not fried, according to one of the cooks of a celebrated Baltimore club, where they know all that is worth knowing about cuisine and gastronomy.

MRS. LABOUCHERE, wife of the famous journalist, has invented a new social entertainment called: "A morning garden party." At each of these fetes a fairy play is performed by a troupe of children.

VEGETABLE or fruit sandwiches are recommended as new delicacies for picnics. The newest dainty sandwich is made of nasturtium leaf, sprinkled with a little salt, and set between two round slices of biscuit and butter.

AT a breakfast given by Ward McAllister to Newport fashionables, the scene being a platform in a shady grove, the table presented a pleasing appearance. Most noticeable were six sheaves of Scotch wheat standing about four feet high, tied with sashes of scarlet ribbon. In the tops of these nestled scarlet dahlias.

MIDST FLOWERS AND FOLIAGE.

IVY-LEAVED geraniums are ideal plants for the well-kept hanging basket.

FLOWER beds are to please the eye; but they will fail in this so long as weeds show in them.

CAN not you see the insect that does the mischief? It may be a night feeder; watch for it by candle light.

IF allowed to form in heavy masses nasturtiums lose the most artistic and pleasing effects; thin them out.

UMBRELLA wires make capital supports for weak plants and have this advantage over the usual wooden stake in that they are practically invisible.

YOU may not know it, but the common hop makes a most desirable ornamental climber. Its growth is rapid and the dark green foliage strikingly handsome.

BLOOD manure is excellent for pot plants that are strong growers and grass feeders as chrysanthemums, geraniums, fuchsias and roses, and is best applied when the plants have thoroughly appropriated the soil in the pots and need some stimulant. Be careful not to wash the fertilizer out of the pots when watering.

IS YOUR otherwise pretty lawn disfigured by any aged specimen of trees, fast-decaying and becoming unsightly? Then, let me suggest a remedy: Plant some vines or rose bushes around its base and train them over it. You will be well repaid for your trouble and glad that you did not have it cut down and removed as you had intended.

WHEN you say a flower bed or plan of a flower garden or lawn is beautiful, think twice about it. Is it beautiful? If so you can say why. If you decide at last that you are mistaken, that it is only a monstrosity or vagary, then you will have learned something. Much of the fancy garden work is unnatural and corrupting to good taste. As a rule you will find that a real lover of nature has no pattern bed on his lawns, and no sheared evergreens.

WONDERS IN WHITE.

A PAIR of white robins with pink eyes have been captured at West Goshen, Pa.

A QUEER white and red robin astonishes the fishermen of Quonochoutaug, R. I. It has built its nest in a shaggy reach of pasture near the thundering ocean breakwater. The bird's body is of a snowy white, even to the tip of its tail, except its breast, which is of a rosy red.

AN Allegheny County boy recently captured a white flying squirrel. He saw the squirrel running up a tree, climbed after it, pounded on the tree near its hole and caught it in his hands when it jumped out. An albino in the squirrel family is not often seen, but this is a perfect specimen, milk white and with pink eyes.

J. PRICE, of Savannah, has a curiosity in the shape of a young mocking-bird entirely white. Price purchased the bird from a negro trapper on the Waters Road, who brought it into town Tuesday. From the appearance of the bird's bill it can not be over six weeks old. There is no doubt of the bird being a mocking bird, as it has all the marks of the species except the color, and has the peculiar chirp of the young mocking bird. A white mocking bird is a great rarity.

WHILE Sims Powell was sitting in his library at his house at Prospect Hill, Parkersburg, one evening recently, he heard a noise as of the rattle of wings against a window. On laying down his paper and looking up, much to his astonishment, he saw a beautiful snow-white owl perched upon the back of a chair and blinking at the light. Mr. Powell captured the bird and will keep it as a curiosity. It is snow white and is a beautiful specimen of the strix nivia, and is the only specimen of the kind ever seen in this section of the country. It is believed by some to be a member of a species found in the extreme north, or Arctic circle.

JEST IN FUN.

IN an Intelligence Office—Agent (to female applicant)—"Are you married or single?" Applicant (blushing)—"Naythur, mum; O'im engaged."

HUSBAND—"Thank Heaven! our cook will soon be bald." Wife—"? ? ?" Husband—"She can not lavish her hair in the soup in this way long, you know."

VISITOR—"What are you painting?" Artist (sarcastically)—"Can't you see?" Visitor (sweetly)—"Yes, I see it is a flower. Have you decided what to call it yet?"

SERVANT—"Yis, sorr, Mrs. Jones is in. What's yer name, sorr?" Visitor—"Prof. Vandenspinkenheimer." Servant—"Och! Sure, ye'd better go right in and take it wid ye."

SUSPICIONS verified—Augustus—"But, Clara, ice-cream at one dollar a plate is pretty expensive." Clara (haughtily)—"That is enough, sir. I do not believe you are a plumber at all."

DRUG CLERK—"This hair-dressing is made of pure bear grease." Brown—"How can it be pure when it is scented?" Drug Clerk—"It is—er—made from the cinnamon bear."

"RETURN my best thanks to your master, John, and tell him I am much flattered by his kind present of the game." "Yessir—an' supposin' master asks what you guv me for myself—what'll I tell him, sir?"

"THERE," said Mrs. Knobs, as her daughter ceased from torturing one of the high-numbered "ops." of Beethoven, "that's what I call a finished performance, Mr. Jones." And Mr. Jones nodded, and said: "Thank Heaven!"

FLOSSY—"I don't care, I think Jack Townsley is real mean!" Annette—"Why, Flossy?" Flossy—"He wrote to me from Florida saying he had shot an alligator seven feet long, and said when he shot another he would have a pair of slippers made for me."

THEY Were Enemies—Gus De Whimper—"That's a good joke. I don't know when I have laughed so much over any thing. Where did you get it?" De Simper—"It's one of Thompson's jokes." De Whimper—"Is that one of that fraud's jokes? Well, if I had known that I wouldn't have laughed."

A GENTLEMAN having engaged a bricklayer to make some repairs in his cellar ordered the ale to be removed before the bricklayer commenced his work. "Oh, I'm not afraid of a barrel of ale, sir," said the man. "I presume not," said the gentleman, "but I think a barrel of ale would run at your approach."

SLANGY Mistress—"You needn't bring all that water down again, Mary. When you've scrubbed the bedroom floors, just throw it out of the window, but look out where it goes." Later on. "Well, Mary, did you look out where you threw that water?" "Yes, mum, I looked out directly. I soused it all over Rev. Dr. Mild."

A GENTLEMAN'S Diary to his Wife's Temper—Monday—A thick fog, no seeing through it. Tuesday—Gloomy, and very chilly, unreasonable weather. Wednesday—Frosty, at times sharp. Thursday—Bitter cold in the morning, red sunset, with flying colors, portending hard weather. Friday—Storm in the morning, with peals of thunder, air clear afterwards. Saturday—Gleams of sunshine, with partial thaw, frost again at night. Sunday—A light southwester in the morning, calm and pleasant at dinner time, hurricane and earthquake at night.

LITERARY SMALL TALK.

A MOVEMENT has been started to erect a monument to James Fenimore Cooper, the novelist, at Cooperstown, where he lived from 1814 to the day of his death in 1851.

MR. W. CLARK RUSSELL writes his fascinating sea stories in the old house at Bath in which, when Bath was the abode of fashion, Lord Chesterfield wrote his famous letters to his son.

IN the People's Palace of London the class of reading is improving, and great demand is made for technical and scientific works by the borrowers, who are the working classes of the city.

THE poet Browning had a marvelous memory. He could always tell the exact place of any quotation or fragment of quotation referred to him, and was greatly vexed whenever he heard his own lines misquoted.

THE literary production of Mexico is quite wonderful. One of her latest biographical lists mentions no less than 12,000 volumes by 3,000 native Mexican authors. The first book printed on this continent was published in Mexico.

SEVEN thousand persons have been employed in getting out Mr. Stanley's new book and more than six hundred tons of paper have already been used in England. The English edition alone required two hundred and forty tons of paper.

A NATIVE Indian novelist is the latest reported product of this era of culture. His name is Peak of Thunder, he lives in the Indian Territory, and his book is said to be a very well-written romance of life and love in his own country. He is now looking for a publisher to put it out.

RUDYARD KIPLING, whose stories have been much read and much discussed of late, is a young Indian civilian about twenty-five years of age. He was educated in England, returned to India and has lived in the hills. He has been a newspaper man, and about two years ago published "Strange Stories of the Hills."

WHICH class of population is the most addicted to reading? asks the Pall Mall Budget. Some interesting light is thrown on this question by the latest report of the Birmingham free libraries committee. Among other tables therein given is one showing the occupations of borrowers admitted during 1889. Here are some of the figures: Scholars and students, 1,392; clerks and bookkeepers, 1,138; errand and office boys, 301; teachers, 293; shop assistants, 290; jewelers, 216; compositors and printers, 192; milliners and dressmakers, 109. Almost at the bottom come journalists, 6; news agents, 2, and reporters, 2. Is this because they have libraries of their own, or because the people who write in newspapers lose the taste for reading books?

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses.
8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.
Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET.
7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE.
5-26-w

TRY OUR
Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET.
8-21-tf

CLAIRVOYANT.
By request of her many patrons, MRS. DR. EDWARDS, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 12, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26. Will then leave positively.
8-14-6

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.
6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS.
1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.
6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.
2-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.
4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 307. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 8-8-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 703, Plainfield, N. J.
New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing.
6-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year!
23 EAST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!
- 22c. Pound.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street.
1-18-tf

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK.
6-3-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE.
8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-16-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit.
8-17tf

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phatons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
22 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home.
6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sep1

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal.
7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL.
8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten and School.
48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),
REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.
In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application. 8 21 2m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths!
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. R. HOSMER, 28 W. 3d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Prime, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong.
8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—60 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M.
8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law,
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master, etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building.
my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-29-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. O. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
No. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my10y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 137. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave.
my29

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Botching
1-14-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 25½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLEY
211 East 54th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-30-tod-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
6-6-6m

A METRICAL MEDLEY.

Morning in Our Flat.

The dumb-waiter comes whizzing high
Yells at the speaking-tube,
The milkman with his scant supply,
The ice man with his cube
Intangible. There likewise speaks
A voice which tells us that
The janitor our ashes seeks—
Its morning in our flat.

The Nulyweds (so thin the floor)
Are parting for the day
That Tucker baby—what a roar,
Though it's three flights away!
The man across the three-foot hall
Is hunting for his hat
With language strange and biblical—
'Tis morning in our flat.

The scents of many breakfasts do
Blithesomely circulate;
We turn the folding-bed back to
Its square-piano state
And on the sofa-bureau sit.
The janitress says: "Scat!"
Unto the matin peddler. It
Is morning in our flat.

—Emma A. Opper, in Judge.

Two Pictures.

A home in Merry England,
With roses at the door,
With the waving corn around it
And the heather-lands before.
There dart the busy swallows,
And the lark upsprings at morn,
And far across the peaceful fields
Is the evening worship borne.

And still the brown-haired children
Are, kneeling, taught to pray
For the brave, true-hearted brother
Whom duty called away.
"He is just as near Our Father"
The baby whispers, wise
With the wisdom of her seven years,
"As 'neath our own dear skies."

A jungle dense and tangled,
And the tiger's padding tread;
The sinuous glide of the serpent,
And the vulture overhead.
The matted grasses trampled
By the feet of men at bay,
The ring of English rifles,
In savage hands to-day.

And prone beside the river
Where the sluggish waters creep,
A white-faced stranger lying
In the hush of the long last sleep.
Was he "just as near Our Father?"
Aye, nearer than they knew,
As there in the sullen thicket
His dying breath he drew.

In the little English household,
Great mourning there will be,
Mother and sweetheart weeping
For the dead beyond the sea.
But why should grief be regnant,
What matters place or road,
If straight by the way He biddeth
The freed soul climb to God!

—Margaret E. Sangster, in Youth's Companion

The Blushing Habit.

Why should the maid endowed with grace,
In youthful beauty's pride,
Whene'er a blush comes to her face
Feel strangely mortified?
What's fairer than a maiden's blush,
Of innocence the boon,
As radiant as the rosy flush
Upon the face of June?
Sweet maid, be not ashamed to blush;
'Twill all too soon be gone;
Some future day you'll use a brush
And pink to put it on.

—N. Y. Press.

Baby.

One little head of yellow hair,
Two little cheeks so round and fair,
Two little lips with fragrant sighs,
One little nose, and two blue eyes,
Two little hands as soft as a peach,
Two little feet with five toes each,
Two little smiles and two little tears,
Two little legs and two little ears,
Two little elbows and two little knees,
One little grunt and one little sneeze,
One little heart, but no little sins,
Plenty of skirts and lots of pins,
One little cloak and plenty of frocks,
One little hood, and two little socks,
A big disposition to haul and to pull,
One little stomach that's never full,
One little mouth of the rose's tint,
One little bottle of peppermint,
Plenty to eat and lots to wear—
And yet this baby is cross as a bear.

—Stanley Huntley, in Saturday Evening Herald.

Before Death Comes.

Oh, if you'd speak a kindly word,
Do not too long delay it,
But let it by our ears be heard—
We fain would hear you say it.
Of friendly cheer our hearts have need
Along life's pathway dreary;
Remember we shall never read
Our own obituary.

If there's a deed which you can do
To ease our yoke of sorrow,
Oh, do it with a purpose true!
Nor wait for the to-morrow.
Make all our hearts with joy to laugh;
While we are with you love us,
We'll ne'er peruse the epitaph
You'll kindly write above us.

If you have loving gifts to make,
Do not too long withhold them;
But give them now that we may take
And in our hearts enfold them.
Oh, crown us with a wreath to-day!
Our hungered spirits ask it.
We'll never see the rich bouquet
You place upon our casket.

—Chicago Post.

A Song of Summer.

The summer-time has come at last,
When all the earth is fair,
And bees and wasps and pinching-bugs
Are flying through the air.

I lie beneath the great green trees,
And raise my hand to check
The caterpillar, soft and sweet,
That's crawling down my neck.

At eve, when on the steps I sit
And think I'm safe from harm,
A centipede with velvet steps
Comes creeping up my arm.

I pluck some roses for my hair,
From out the garden-bed,
And ants, by millions, soon I feel
Are walking o'er my head.

Oh, summer-time's the time for me,
Of all the happy year,
When little bugs come off the trees
To ramble in my ear.

And when the day is boiling hot,
Quite ninety in the shade,
Oh, then I can enjoy myself
Without the slightest aid.

I sit and fan and fan and fan
And pant and roll my eyes,
And say in silver accents sweet
And low: "Oh, hang these flies!"

Mosquitos, with their sharpened bills,
Come buzzing 'round my head;
And this I sigh till summer's gone:
"I would that I were dead."

—Helen Bates, in Puck.

Straight Steering.

She wasn't the prettiest girl of the lot,
Nor had she of riches a measure,
Yet to row with me daily that girl I besought,
And knew I had captured a treasure,
For while other chaps pulled, for all they were worth,
And the sun beamed a perfect old glitter,
I gained on them steady, so quick and so ready,
Was the little brown hand on the tiller!

And pulling to-day on a different stream,
I tell you, my boy, it is cheering,
To know while I'm tugging away at the oars,
My wife will look out for the steering.
She guides by the light of the planet of love;
No storms or disasters can chill her,
And when we make fast in the harbor at last,
I'll thank the dear hand on the tiller.

—Mary Grant Major, in Detroit Free Press.

POETRY AND PROSE.

Mr. Rhymer Tries to Read a Poem to His Wife.

Mrs. Rhymer stolidly knitting. To her tumultuously enters Melibœus Rhymer, enthusiasm in his eye, excitement in his manner and a sheet of note-paper in his hand.

Rhymer—Martha, I've just finished the best poem I've ever done—it's a magnificent piece of work, if I do say so. Conceived idea instantaneously—seemed to form itself outside of my volition—I dashed it off like a flash—and here it is. Listen!

Mrs. Rhymer (counting stitches)—"teen, fifteen, sixteen—purl, knit one—

Rhymer (dampened)—Martha!

Mrs. Rhymer (still counting)—Two, three, four, purl—do keep quiet, you'll put me out—knit one, two, three—that's it. 'Boeus, I shall want two more skeins of this to finish—red, remember; and you'd better get it at Galloon's, third counter on the right; and be sure not to buy it of the girl with a mole on her nose—she's partly color-blind.

Rhymer (shrugging shoulders)—Ugh!

Mrs. Rhymer (looking up for first time)—So you're through? Did you think to cork the ink-bottle?

Rhymer (obstinately)—I've got a poem here—a poem, poem, poem!

Mrs. Rhymer—Oh! How long is it?

Rhymer (sullenly)—Long?

Mrs. Rhymer (thoughtfully)—Yes. The last one was a little too short, you know. If there'd been one stanza and a half more it'd have exactly paid for baby's cough medicine. You ought always to write them of five-dollar length, whether or no. That's why I have liked your sonnets—it takes three and a quarter of them to make five dollars, including stamps.

Rhymer (fiercely)—Martha, do you want to hear this poem?

Mrs. Rhymer—Why, of course. I'm all ready—twenty-four, twenty-five, narrow, twenty-six, 'ty-seven, purl—and I wish you 'd— 'ty-eight, thread over one, purl—do three more this week, so that if you can't get anybody to buy this one, you won't—knit one, two, three—lose your time.

Rhymer (oblivious and regaining ardor, reads):

"Oh, loneliest thou—"

Mrs. Rhymer (starting) — There, I knew I'd forgotten something important! We've not more than coffee enough for breakfast, and you must order four pounds Rio and Java mixed. You might make a memorandum on the margin of the poem.

"AND HERE IT IS. LISTEN."

Rhymer (tragically)— Memorandum! Coffee! Margin of the poem!

Mrs. Rhymer (innocently)—Yes. Rio and Java mixed, four pounds.

Rhymer (choking) — Heavens and earth! (Reads):

"Oh, loneliest thou—"

Mrs. Rhymer—Wait a moment, 'Boeus —eight, nine, ten, eleven. Go on, now —only don't shout and disturb little 'Boezy, as you did when you made me get up at two o'clock in the morning to hear "Leonidas to the Lacedæmonians" —purl, sixteen, seventeen—which you didn't sell, after all, you know—nineteen, twenty, narrow.

Rhymer (repressing his feelings, reads):

"Oh! loneliest thou of lonely things, my heart—"

Mrs. Rhymer (critically)—Seems to me I've heard that somewhere before.

Rhymer (wild at once)—Heard it before? Impossible!

Mrs. Rhymer (indifferently)—Well, never mind—I dare say the magazine people won't notice it.

Rhymer (groaning)—Yah! (Continuing):

"Oh! loneliest thou, of lonely things, my heart,
'Twixt present griefs anear and past joys far
Yawns a great gulf—"

Mrs. Rhymer (interrupting)—That last's in the Bible—the minister read it two Sundays ago.

Rhymer (irritated)—Martha Rhymer, you're enough to drive a man howling crazy!

Mrs. Rhymer (serenely) — But it is in the Bible, you know, 'Boeus.

Rhymer (plunging ahead):

"—gulf of woe that sets apart
The times that are not from the times that are,
And makes the plied-up years a —"

Mrs. Rhymer (abruptly) — Give me that jacket the first thing to-morrow morning, mind. There's a rip under the arm that's letting all the wadding out.

Rhymer (maddened)—I swear I won't read another word!

Mrs. Rhymer (easily)—Oh, yes, do. I don't mind listening a bit.

Rhymer (attempting sarcasm)—Ah! Don't mind listening! Indeed!

Mrs. Rhymer (impervious)—No; truly I don't. Read as much as you like—it don't bother me very much—thirty-seven, thirty-eight, narrow, knit one—if you only won't roar when you get to the strong passages.

Rhymer (sneering)—Perhaps there won't be any strong passages.

Mrs. Rhymer—Very likely. You know that's what the Aeon said when it sent back "The Murder of the Marigolds."

Rhymer (desperately resuming):

"—plied-up years a prison bar,
Bespiked with sharp remorses. Yes; thou art
A—"

Mrs. Rhymer—You ought to have that front tooth seen to, 'Boeus. When you twist your mouth about so in reading it looks to me as if it was loose. To-morrow you must—

Rhymer (persisting):

"A weary wanderer—"

Mrs. Rhymer (with animation)—Wanderer! Oh, that reminds me! A man came here this afternoon who said he represented the Home for Wanderers and he said he wanted a subscription, and I said I'd consult you, and he said—

Rhymer (despairing)—Great Scott!

Mrs. Rhymer—No; that wasn't it at all. He said he'd—

Rhymer (dashing down manuscript)—Oh, this is simply unendurable!

Mrs. Rhymer—Why, no, 'Boeus; I shouldn't call it that—I've endured it well enough, but it seems dreadfully short—not even sonnet length—and I don't believe they'll pay you more than fifty ce—

Rhymer (in a distracted state)—Oh, why did I ever write? Oh, why did I ever marry? Oh, why was I ever born? Oh! Oh! Oh!

Mrs. Rhymer (counting)—Twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, purl, knit one, cast off!—Manley H. Pike, in Puck.

O, Woman, Lovely Woman!

"There are some queer couples in the world," remarked a real estate agent. "The other day a man and a woman called to see me about renting a flat. The woman did all the talking, and turned to the man for confirmation or corroboration. He always agreed with her, and did it very meekly.

"Well," said the woman, "I'll give you $25 for this flat; won't we, John?"

"Yes'm."

"And I'll pay my rent promptly, too; won't we, John?"

"Yes'm."

"And take good care of the house won't I, John?"

"Yes'm."

"But," I inquired, as is usual in such cases, "are you man and wife?"

"Man and wife!" exclaimed the woman, sharply; "indeed, we are not are we, John?"

"No'm."

"What!" says I, "not man and wife?"

"Not much! I'd have you know that in this family we are wife and man; ain't we, John?"

"Yes'm."—Texas Siftings.

His Eyes Were Opened.

"Why," exclaimed a man who had not seen a ballet for a long time to another who took him to the show, "there are four or five men in the front row who are not bald-headed."

"O, yes," replied the latter, in a surprised sort of way.

"I had an idea the front seats were reserved for men with no hair."

"Did you? What a queer idea."

"Yes; I did. And actually, there's a woman with a small hat on, right in front of me, and she doesn't hide as much of the stage as that big man two seats ahead."

"That's so. Did you think that the law forbade women to wear any thing on their heads less than three feet in diameter when they went to the theater?"

"Well, I had something like it in my head," replied the occasional visitor. "I expect it comes from believing every thing I see in the funny papers. After this I wouldn't be at all surprised to find a Chicago girl with a foot no larger than mine."—The Jury.

Tit for Tat.

Mrs. Magnus Scott (prepared to go out)—Does this gold necklace match the white lace of my dress?

Mr. Magnus Scott—It does.

Mrs. M. S.—Would silver look better and cooler?

Mr. M. S.—It would not.

Mrs. M. S.—How does my hair look?

Mr. M. S.—Comme il faut.

Mrs. M. S.—Is my bonnet on straight?

Mr. M. S.—Very. Can you see the holes in my socks?—Jewelers' Circular

NEBRASKA HOSPITALITY.

Proprietor—See that sign?

Sogged William—Yes. S'pose I'm blind?

Proprietor—Ain't you goin' t' stop eatin'?

Sogged William—No. I'm hungry.

The Proprietor—That makes the fourth to-day.—Judge.

Economy Is Wealth.

Poet—You declined my poem "A Hoboken Idyl" awhile ago.

Editor—Yes?

Poet—And then I sent it to the Weekly Huckleberry, and they paid for it and published it.

Editor—Yes?

Poet—And then you copied it into your paper without giving any credit for it.

Editor—Yes?

Poet—Well, I suppose you think you were smart?

Editor—Yes.—Munsey's Weekly.

His Application.

Tommy—I don't wanter chop that wood to-day, ma.

Mrs. Geehaw—You must, Tommy. Remember: "Never put off till to-morrow what can be done to-day."

Tommy—Then, ma, what's the matter with letting me finish that pie you was goin' to save till to-morrow?—Light.

CUPID'S CHARMS.

How Courtship Is Carried On in Holland.

[Translated from the German for this paper by Alex. E. Sweet.]

AN proposes, but frequently he requires a great deal of encouragement to persuade him to do so. This is particularly the case in Holland. As soon as the young Dutchman attains his age, and even sooner, his fond mother begins to look around for a suitable daughter-in-law, in which meretricious purpose she usually receives considerable encouragement from the young man himself. He is, however, expected by the parents of the prospective bride to come to the point without unnecessary delay. Let us suppose that a young man has been visiting a family where there was a marriageable daughter, and after several weeks has neglected to declare his intentions, the head of the family takes him aside and says: "My dear young friend, this is all very well; but what do you mean, any how?"

If the young man does not take this hint nobody comes to the door the next time he pulls the bell. However, as a general thing there is no occasion for any reminder. The young people become engaged, after which they go to balls and parties, or to picnics together, pretty much the same as they do in this country. There is some remarkable downward tendency of lampwicks Saturday nights, etc.

Occasionally, engagements are broken off. After a couple have been engaged perhaps for years, either party may come right out and say: "I think we are not fitted for each other, and perhaps it would be better if we part right now." The other party has no alternative but to acquiesce, and thanks to the phlegmatic nature of the race, there are no scenes, no duels, or any thing of the kind. The young lady abstains from balls or parties, she does not attend any places of public amusement for six weeks, at the expiration of which self-imposed penance she resumes her former relations to society. Nobody finds any thing remarkable in the severance of the engagement, and the young men who formerly admired the young lady do not keep aloof from paying her their addresses.

In some parts of Holland there exists a very pretty custom in regard to making proposal of marriage that might be advantageously adopted in other countries. If a young man is in love, but is too modest to declare his love, he does not permit such concealment "like a worm to feed upon his damask cheek," but he buys a cake, and, after carefully wrapping it up in a piece of tissue paper, he repairs to the house of the object of his affections. Finding all the family present, he places the cake on the table in front of the young lady. Although she has been expecting this very event, she, nevertheless, betrays considerable surprise. Her mother apparently takes no notice of what is going on, while the father takes the young man to the window and converses with him about the weather, etc. This is done in order to give the young lady a chance to make up her mind. The young man looks around over his shoulder, suffering much mental anguish, and trying to find out what the fair one is going to do with that cake.

If she loves him, but likes to tease him, as is generally the case, she makes out as if she was undecided. She examines the cake carefully. It smells of spices, and the young fellow, although a little awkward, is not such a bad looking fellow after all.

Shall she take him, or not? She hesitates an instant, and then raising the cake to her mouth buries her pearly teeth in it. This signifies that she has accepted him as her future husband. The poor devil in the corner heaves a sigh of relief. The mother of the young lady drops her knitting and gazes with mixed emotions at her daughter devouring the cake. The prospective husband spreads out his arms as if for an embrace, but, remembering that it is unbecoming in a true Dutchman to betray excessive emotions, allows them to drop to his sides. Then he modestly approaches his Dulcines, and gently taking the hand that has toyed so long with the cake, he imprints a kiss—the first one—on it.

When, however, the suitor is not the right one, no matter how much he may clear his throat, and tell how prosperous his business is, and how he proposes to take a trip up the Rhine pretty soon—a trip up the Rhine being the Dutch equivalent to a bridal tour to Niagara Falls—the girl remains immovable. She keeps on sewing, looking neither to the right nor to the left. Finally the young man sees which way the cat is going to jump. He gets up and slowly approaches the table. It is plain to see that the girl is trying to suppress her excitement. Perhaps another has already claimed her heart, or, possibly, she may have a prejudice against her suitor. Nothing in the world could induce her to look up from her work. He reaches out his hand, picks up the cake, and while the girl's mother murmurs: "Poor fellow," he makes his exit, saying: "Vaarvoel byzamen!" or "farewell everybody!"

No mention is ever made of the affair. The public knows nothing about it, and not even the most intimate friends of the young lady ever hear of it. The wind is thus "tempered to the shorn lamb."

ALEX E. SWEET.

A Cool Reception.

"Mr Charles, papa isn't going to come and see you till it snows, 'cause he said it would be a 'cold day' when he came to your house again," said the innocent little girl.—West Shore.

THE WRONG CUSTOMER.

His Card Told Why He Had No Use for a Smoke Consumer.

"Are you the proprietor?" inquired the caller, politely.

"Yes, sir. What can I do for you?"

"If you have a moment to spare," said the stranger, opening his valise, "I would like to show you something I am introducing for the first time in this city. In common with every other business man, I presume, you are a sufferer from the smoke nuisance. By the use of a simple little device of my own invention, as you see in this model, we are able to make any stove, furnace or engine consume its own smoke and—"

"But I—"

"And though it seems too simple a thing to work successfully, I assure you it does the work completely. I can give you testimonials from more than fifty individuals and firms that have been using it for the last two months. They all pronounce it the best thing they have ever—"

"But I have no—"

"Just a moment, please, I can understand readily enough that you have seen and doubtless tried yourself many of these so-called smoke-annihilators and found them to be miserable failures. You have been waiting, of course, for something that would do what it claims —something that would rid the people of this smoke curse, and—"

"I haven't been waiting for any thing of the kind!" exclaimed the proprietor of the establishment, rising up excitedly.

"You haven't?"

"No, sir! You have made a mistake, sir. You have tackled the wrong customer. Can you read?"

He laid his business card on the table in front of him. The caller took a look at it, put his model back in his valise, shut the latter with a snap, and went away without a word. The card was inscribed:

I. STARCHWELL,
LAUNDRYMAN.
COLLARS AND CUFFS A SPECIALTY.

—Chicago Tribune.

PLAIN ENGLISH.

Countryman—What do you sell them gold rings for?

Clerk—Those rings retail at ten dollars, sir.

Countryman—I don't care what they retail at. I asked you what you sold 'em for.—Light.

HONESTY IN THE DARK.

How Confidence Was Established Between Two Strangers.

A Detroiter who was down in Kentucky on business a few days ago put up at a hotel which was very much crowded, and found himself obliged to occupy a room with a stranger, who claimed to be from Wisconsin. The pair sat and conversed for awhile to size each other up, and then each retired to his own bed. They might have left their money and watches with the landlord, but each seemed to feel that the valuables would be no safer down-stairs than up. After the light was turned out proper disposition was made of personal property, and no doubt each man lay awake for an hour or two to watch the other. Both awoke about the same time in the morning, and as they got up the Wisconsin man observed:

"Isn't that your wallet there by the wash-stand?"

"Good lands! but it is! It must have worked out from under the mattress' What's that under the foot of your bed?"

"Bless me, but it's my $400 watch. I must have kicked around a good deal. What's that under the head of your bed?"

"Hang me if it isn't my watch! It must have worked loose and dropped through. Is that any thing belonging to you there on the floor?"

"I should remark! That's my wallet!"

Thus, despite all the precautions taken, the property of each had been exposed to the taking, and next night, when they tumbled into bed, every thing was left to hand with their clothing.—Detroit Free Press.

Change of Landscape.

Eastern Boy (en route to San Francisco)—Are we out of Chicago yet?

Conductor (glancing out of the window)—No; there's a hunter off there shooting prairie chickens. We are still in Chicago.

Eastern Boy—When will we get outside of that city?

Conductor—It won't be long now. You'll know it by the grizzly bears.—Life.

The Civil War.

Mrs. Naggers—I declare I hate you, Henry! I hope you'll have bad luck all your life.

Mr. Naggers (calmly)—Indeed!

Mrs. Naggers—Yes, and I won't live with you! I'm going home to mother first thing in the morning!

Mr. Naggers—Why, there's the best kind of luck for me right away!—Munsey's Weekly.

From the German.

Visitor (to mine host)—You seem to have the blues.

Host—Yes, and Ive got good reason for it. You know the old ruin on the hill back of the hotel is haunted and lots of tourists put up here at this hotel just to see the ghost. Now, what does the blankety blank specter do but strike me for an increase of wages—the low-lived whelp—and I'm already giving more than he could earn anywhere else.—Texas Siftings.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 120.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-26-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD.]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
15-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WHEMS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 6-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLEN,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 29 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 128. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. my10

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
4-23

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. EVERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5-

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. to meet | 8.33 A. M. train. |
| 3rd | do 9.15 | do 9.32 | do |
| 4th | do 10.60 | do 10.57 | do |
| 5th | do 11.00 | do 11.24 | do |
| 6th | do 11.45 | do 12.06 P.M. | do |
| 7th | do 1.45 P. M. | do 2.15 & 2.36 P.M. | do |
| 8th | do 2.45 | do To the Post Office. | |
| 9th | do 3.30 | do meet 3.51 P. M. train. | |
| 10th | do 5.00 | do do 5.39 | do |
| 11th | do 5.45 | do do 6.07 | do |
| 12th | do 6.45 | do do 7.02 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.39, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M., 2.04, 2.30, 3.45, 4.34, 5.30, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

2:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 05, 6 59, 9 05 A. M. and 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:35 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days. For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 23 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 57 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket offices at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 6 39, 6 29, 6 59, 7 25, 7 30, 7 56, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7-60, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 36, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 30, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 30, 9 40, 9 05, 9 55, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 22, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 09, 7 12, 7 34 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 16, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 02, 7 25, 7 35, 7 46 9 05, 9 47, 11 15, A. M., 12 35, 1 45, 3 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 9 30 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 7 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 43 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading,

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Closing Out Sale!

At V. and W.

Our entire stock of Summer Goods of all kinds, MUST BE SOLD; and to sell them we have cut prices WAY BELOW COST!

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, 18 W. FRONT ST.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. [THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.]

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Lucky Jones

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 8-4-tf

A LULL IN THE FIGHT

The Strike Leaders to Meet at Albany on Monday.

POWDERLY ISSUES AN APPEAL.

He Asks All Workingmen and the Public for Assistance.

The Central's Freight Trains Moving at Albany and Other Points—Fifty Non-Union Switchmen Quit Work at Buffalo—Strikers Waiting for To-Morrow's Developments—Powderly Writes to Arthur

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Mr. Powderly has issued his appeal, to which reference was made yesterday, and which is addressed "To the People."

He repeats the charge against the company of discharging employes because they have been leading members of the Knights of Labor, and gives a resume of his story of his interviews with Mr. Toucey and Mr. Webb, the causes leading to the strike, and the repeated efforts made by him and others to settle the matter by arbitration.

The appeal then goes on to say:

"The public may have formed erroneous impressions of the position of the Knights in the controversy. We do not pretend to dictate to the company that it shall not discharge its employes, but in all fairness the discharged man should be told why he is dismissed."

The statement goes on with a strong appeal to organized labor and the public to aid in the struggle, and attacks the company as a monopolistic institution. "Whether we win or lose in the present contest," it says, "the battle will go on until that power is weakened forever or the public is 'damned.'"

After giving out his appeal to the public, Mr. Powderly said:

"I never ordered a strike in my life. In this case we have simply come to the aid of the men who are out. Unless we say 'The strike is off,' there is nothing else for us to do. We have offered to arbitrate, to investigate, and to question the men and thus secure evidence, but the company will accept nothing. What can we do except fight? My whole career has been in opposition to strikes. I have no objection to a fair criticism, no matter how much it is against my views.

Only the Vanderbilt Lines.

Mr. Wright, a member of the K. of L. General Executive Board, said: "We shall probably take no action until the Supreme Council has declared its decision to-morrow. In the meantime, we are going to do everything we can to strengthen our position. Our headquarters will probably be in New York, although we shall be moving along the line all the while. I have read in some of the papers that we are going to call out the men on every railroad in the country, as well as the surface roads in this city. This is utterly absurd, and we haven't even entertained an idea of doing so. We are going to confine ourselves for the present to the Vanderbilt system. I am going to get a chart of all the railroads in the country in which the Vanderbilts have a big interest, and I believe it will include a few which will surprise some people."

The Company Will Not Retreat.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—When Vice-President Webb heard about the preparations the Knights and the Brotherhood men were making, he said: "It makes no difference what they do; the company will not retreat from its present position.

Powderly's Letter to Chief Arthur.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—An open letter from Mr. Powderly to P. S. Arthur, Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was made public today. The chief points are as follows:

P. M. Arthur, Grand Chief Engineer, B. L. E.

DEAR SIR: There is at present a strike in progress on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. In this strike is involved a principle which you cannot afford to ignore and the principle is that of fair pay. Many of the men on strike are firemen and belong not only to the Knights of Labor but to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. They are manfully contending for the right to maintain their organization, they are now at a standstill, and in some instances their places are being filled by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who have slipped down from the footboard to pick up the shovels which were dropped by the firemen.

Are you willing that this should continue? Are we to understand that this action is to receive the sanction of the organization you represent? The Knights of Labor desire to know where you stand on this question, for you are authorized to voice the sentiments of your order.

If your members continue to do the work of firemen we shall know that it is with your consent and the future will be plain before us. We do not ask for your official sanction of the strike, we only ask for fair treatment at your hands, and that we have a right to expect. The man who takes the place of another in this contest is untrue to the cause of organized labor.

I remain very respectfully yours,

T. V. POWDERLY,
Grand Master Workman Knights of Labor.

The Leaders to Meet on Monday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Secretary Hayes, of the Knights of Labor, announced that representatives of District Assembly No. 246 will meet the Executive Board in Albany on Monday morning next, for the purpose of conferring on the general situation. At this conference representatives from all points between New York and Buffalo will be present.

Trains Moving on Time.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Aug. 22.—There are no evidences whatever along the Mohawk division of the strike on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. Great long trains of freight passed east and west while every local and express train was running nearly on schedule time. At all the freight depots freight was received and shipped and all the movements of the men and trains were in harmony.

Non-Union Switchmen Quit Work.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Fifty non-union switchmen brought here by the New York Central to take strikers places have quit work. They claim they were brought on misrepresentations. This leaves the Central road here in as bad condition as at any time during the trouble.

The Strike Causes an Oil Famine.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 22.—There has been no freight received here from west of Syracuse for a fortnight, and there is beginning to be a famine in both kerosene and machinery oils in consequence.

ACTIVITY AT ALBANY.

The Central Freight Trains Moving and the Strikers Quiet.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The New York Central Railroad for the first time ran the work train to West Albany, taking up about 50 men. The train usually carries 600 men. The road has succeeded in clearing up five of the West Albany freight tracks and sent three long trains of general freight and oil to New York and four west.

Green switchmen at the bridge approaches have narrowly escaped causing serious injury and bad collisions. The trains run very slow on the grades near these switches.

All the passenger trains were from an hour to an hour and a half late, and no reasons could be ascertained except that the engineers were afraid to run fast because of green switchmen.

District Master Workman Lee and Edward Portley, secretary, have arrived from New York. Mr. Lee said: "There is nothing to say. The interviews published with Messrs. Powderly and Lee explain the situation. It will be after to-morrow before any great move is made."

AFFAIRS AT WILKESBARRE.

Food and Money Needed by the Victims of the Cyclone.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 22.—In all parts of the city carpenters and bricklayers are engaged in repairing the damage done by the cyclone, and hundreds more could be employed. Food and money are sorely needed, though most of the sufferers are being relieved by the poor authorities and the charitably disposed.

Work will be suspended for the next 60 days at the Hillman mine. The head house of the breaker was completely blown away and part of the machinery damaged. Forty-nine the hundred men who were employed in the mine when the storm came were in a precarious condition, as the fan had stopped, but they made for the shaft and got safely out. A naked lamp ignited the gas that quickly accumulated and this, too, threatened serious consequences, but a shift of six men fought the flames and finally put them out.

The Delaware & Hudson Canal Company, whose loss is $18,000, has began the reconstruction of their demolished buildings.

The injured are all doing well, and as far as known no additional deaths have occurred.

GOLD IN CONNECTICUT.

A Flurry of Excitement Exists Over the Rich Find.

ANSONIA, Conn., Aug. 22.—Gold has been discovered on a farm owned by S. H. Platt, on the hill in West Ansonia, and a flurry of excitement exists in business circles.

Newman Platt, a young man with a penchant for gathering specimens of rocks, was out in one of the fields on the Platt farm and ran across a ledge of rock of interesting formation. Young Platt began clipping pieces off. He noticed that something in a piece of the stone glittered, and examining closer saw flakes of gold all through it.

He carried the specimens to various jewellers, and they made tests and pronounced the metal gold. They claim that it is a rich find for this section of the country.

The owner of the farm will have experts examine the rock, and if they report evidence of any q uantity of gold will work the ledge.

All Anxious to See Sullivan.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 22.—John L. Sullivan arrived here at 10:40 a. m. to visit the State camp. On the announcement of his arrival, foundrymen left their work, hackmen tied up their teams, and women and children flocked to the depot to get a glimpse of the champion. Sullivan umpired a game of baseball at Iona Island, and afterward left for New York. He was accompanied by Duncan B. Harrison, the actor, Jack Barnett and others.

A Volapuk Convention.

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—The North American Association, for the propagation of Volapuk, has opened a three days convention here. Twenty-three States are represented and delegates are present from New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Missouri, and other States.

A Pension Claim Agent Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—Urich E. Bair, a pension claim agent of this city, was arrested on a charge of demanding and receiving more than his legal compensation. He was held in $1,500 bail to answer.

An Old Colony Victim Identified.

QUINCY, Mass., Aug. 22.—Superintendent Ware of the Compton Loom Works has fully identified the unrecognized victim of the Old Colony disaster as Estella Barry, who was employed in his office as a typewriter.

Ex-Senator Christiancy Dying.

LANSING, Mich., Aug 22.—Hon. Isaac P. Christiancy, ex-Supreme Court Justice of Michigan, ex-Senator and Minister to Peru under President Hayes, is dying at his home here. He is 76 years old.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

Severe Wind and Rain Storm in Philadelphia.

A STABLE WALL BLOWN DOWN.

Four Persons Killed Instantly and Several Seriously Injured.

A Car Driver and His Wife Meet Death While Eating Supper—Cars Smashed and Horses Killed—A Stableman Supposed to be Buried in the Ruins—Four Houses Unroofed.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—Four persons were killed, three probably fatally injured and three others seriously hurt by the falling of a wall of the stables of the 12th and 16th Street Car Company at 12th street and Susquehanna avenue last night during the prevalence of a severe wind and rain storm.

The killed are: August Paul, a car driver, and his wife; Charles Severn, a conductor; Charles Fisher, a driver.

Henry Jacoby, conductor, James J. Martin, driver, and Charles Brown, a passenger, were so badly injured that they will probably die. Henry Trodwetter, a stableman, a son of August Paul and an unknown boy are very severely hurt and their recovery is doubtful.

John Christy, a horse changer, has been missing since the wall fell, and it is believed that he was buried in the ruins.

Driver Paul was an old employe of the road. His wife, accompanied by their only son, had brought his supper to him, and the three were sitting in the car together, while Paul ate his meal. In this car was also conductor Severn and Charles Brown. When the wall fell in this car was completely crushed, and the horses killed. Paul and his wife were instantly killed.

Severn expired in a few minutes after being taken from the wreck. Brown had both arms and both legs broken. Paul's son had one arm broken and is otherwise seriously hurt.

Another car standing in front of Paul's was crushed in and Driver Jacoby was instantly killed, and Conductor Jacoby so severely injured that his death is momentarily expected.

Another car, of which James J. Martin was the driver was smashed, and Martin is so severely injured about the back and internally that his life is despaired of.

The wind which caused this damage unroofed four houses on Eleventh street above York, about three blocks from the depot. Other damage by wind and rain is reported from different parts of the city.

FIRE AND PANIC.

The Thousand Island Park Hotel Burned Early in the Morning.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The big summer hotel at Thousand Island Park, St. Lawrence river, was burned at 2 a. m. together with the adjoining cottages and the large store owned by the Park Association.

All the people in the hotel escaped, though many of them lost all of their clothing and personal effects.

The guests found shelter in the other cottages in the Park.

The loss is about $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

There were many narrow escapes, but only one life was lost, the remains of Julia Morrow were accidently found in the ruins. Her skull is missing and as yet has not been found.

Five or six persons were slightly burned. Miss Laura Mitchell, of Clayton, who was also employed in the laundry department, was badly burned. When she awoke her room was filled with flames and smoke. She ran through the flames and her hair caught afire, burning the left side of her face. She was brought here and the attending doctors pronounced her case a serious one.

Five persons were seen to jump from the veranda on the second floor of the hotel, but as the jump is a short one nothing more than one sprained ankle is the result.

One lady was so confused that she forgot her babe and got down to the park from her room on the third floor before she thought of her child. She immediately ran back to the hotel and amid the smoke and flames she bravely found her way to herroom and rescued her babe.

Ireland May See Another Famine.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Reports received from twenty-five agricultural centers of Donegal County, Ireland, indicate the gravest outlook for the inhabitants during the coming winter owing to the potato blight, which will almost certainly cause a famine. Local charities are preparing to do all in their power to avert the threatened destitution, but outside aid will doubtless be required in addition.

A Big Swimming Undertaking.

LONDON, Aug. 2 .—Davis Dalton, the American swimmer, who claims to have swam across the English Channel on his back, is much incensed at the letter of "Three Oxonians" in the "Times," asserting that he did not accomplish that feat. He declares that he did swim the whole distance, and, to sustain his reputation, will swim half way across the Channel to-morrow in the presence of the representatives of the press.

Five Persons Drowned.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—At Whitestone, L. I., three young men and three girls belonging to an excursion party from New York started out into the bay in a rowboat. Through the mismanagement of the men the boat was upset and five of the party were drowned in sight of their fellow excursionists on shore. The rescued one, a woman, was saved with difficulty.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 |
| Cincinnati | 2 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x | 5 |

Batteries—Rusie and Buckley; Rhines and Harrington.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x | 4 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Lovett and Daly; Hutchinson and Kittridge.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 8 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Nichols and Bennett; Beatin and Zimmer.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 4 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | x | | 7 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | | 4 |

Batteries—Vickery and Schriver; Heard and Decker.

Players' League.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 8 |
| Chicago | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 7 |

Batteries—Sanders and Milligan; King and Farrell.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 4 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 13 |
| Cleveland | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |

Batteries—Crane and Ewing; Bakely and Sutcliffe.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 4 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |

Batteries—Hemming and Cook; Staley and Quinn.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 4 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 10 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 |

Batteries—Daley and Murphy; Twitchell and Mack.

American Association.

AT COLUMBUS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbus | 2 | 6 | 2 | 1 | 1 | 0 | | | | 12 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | | | | 4 |

Batteries—Gastright and O'Connor; Ford and Bowers.

Game called at the end of the sixth inning on account of rain.

AT LOUISVILLE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louisville | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Athletic | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 |

Batteries—McMahon and Baldwin; Stratton and Bligh.

AT ST. LOUIS—FIRST GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 4 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 7 |
| Rochester | 4 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 4 | 1 | x | 13 |

Batteries—Stivetts and Frost; Titcomb and McKeough.

SECOND GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 3 | | |
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 7 | 1 | 0 | 8 | | |

Batteries—Neal and Frost; Barr and McGuire.

Game called at the end of the fifth inning to allow visitors to catch a train.

POSTPONED.

At Toledo—The Toledo-Syracuse game was postponed on account of rain.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 10 |
| Harrisburg | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 |

Batteries—Gilliland and Hofford; Baxter and Gibson.

AT WILMINGTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wilmington | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 |

Batteries—Wehrle and Williams; Swift and McCaffrey.

AT NEWARK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Newark | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Baltimore | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | x | 2 |

Batteries—Miller and Murphy; O'Rourke and Townsend.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 66 | 33 | .667 | Chicago | 53 | 46 | .532 |
| Boston | 64 | 37 | .634 | N. York | 43 | 57 | .430 |
| Philadel | 60 | 39 | .606 | Clev'l'nd | 39 | 67 | .309 |
| Cincin'ti | 60 | 37 | .618 | Pittsb'r | 19 | 79 | .194 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 57 | 39 | .593 | Philadel | 52 | 49 | .515 |
| Chicago | 56 | 45 | .554 | Pittsb'rg | 42 | 59 | .457 |
| Brookl'n | 50 | 44 | .577 | Clev'l'nd | 41 | 54 | .432 |
| N. York | 55 | 43 | .561 | Buffalo | 28 | 67 | .295 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lou'v'le | 61 | 31 | .663 | Col'mb's | 50 | 45 | .526 |
| St. Louis | 54 | 40 | .574 | Toledo | 47 | 44 | .516 |
| Athletic | 49 | 44 | .527 | Syracuse | 37 | 55 | .402 |
| Roch'st'r | 48 | 45 | .516 | Brookl'n | 27 | 69 | .281 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 74 | 23 | .763 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | 447 |
| N. Hav'n | 67 | 24 | .736 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 59 | .372 |
| Newark | 60 | 41 | .549 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 69 | .319 |
| Lebanon | 42 | 41 | .506 | Hartford | 22 | 60 | .268 |

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 2,518 | 776 |
| New York | 946 | 287 |
| Boston | 1,411 | 1,075 |
| Brooklyn | 1,000 | 1,993 |
| Totals | 5,875 | 4,231 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Cincinnati vs. New York, at New York.
Pittsburg vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Chicago vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Cleveland vs. Boston, at Boston.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Cleveland vs. New York, at New York.
Pittsburg vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Chicago vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Buffalo vs. Boston, at Boston.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Harrisburg vs. New Haven, at New Haven.
Baltimore vs. Newark, at Newark.
Lebanon vs. Wilmington, at Wilmington.

The Comte de Paris May Come.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Much pressure is being brought to bear upon the Comte de Paris and Due d'Orleans to prevent their visit to America, on account of the McKinley bill. The Comte has, however, received hundreds of letters from American friends and admirers, especially old army men, who are anxious to give him a grand reception. His immediate entourage believe the journey is not yet quite abandoned.

Buffalo Bill's Setback in Berlin.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Wild West Show, which was exhibiting in Berlin, met with very little success, and has departed before completing the time which it intended to occupy. The members express great disgust at their failure to rouse the Berlinois to an appreciation of the entertainment.

NEW CALL FOR BONDS

Secretary Windom Rescinds Tuesday's Circular.

$20,000,000 WILL BE RECEIVED.

A Slight Delay in Making the Prepayment of Interest.

Senators Discuss the Sale of Intoxicating Liquors—No Conclusion Reached in Regard to the Election Bill—The Quay Resolution Not to Come Up in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The following circular was issued from the Treasury Department at a late hour last night:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21, 1890.

In pursuance of the authority contained in Sections 3,694 and 3,699 of the Revised Statues of the United States, public notice is hereby given that at any time before September 1, 1890, the Secretary of the Treasury will receive at the Treasury Department in the city of Washington, or at the office of any Assistant Treasurer of the United States, and will redeem at par 4½ per cent. bonds of the Acts of July 14, 1870, and January 20, 1871, to an amount not exceeding twenty millions of dollars; and on or immediately after September 1, 1890, will prepay to the owners of the bonds so received all the interest on said bonds to and including August 31, 1891, without rebate of interest.

The circular of August 19, 1890, is hereby rescinded.

WILLIAM WINDOM, Secretary.

It is explained at the Treasury Department that the slight delay in making the prepayment of interest on the twenty millions of bonds is made necessary by the fact that the law does not permit the anticipation of more than one year's interest.

DEBATE ON LIQUOR.

The Sale of Intoxicants in the Senate Restaurant Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—In the Senate Mr. Plumb's resolution to prevent the sale of spirituous, vinous and malt liquors in the Senate wing of the Capitol was taken up, the pending question being on Mr. Butler's amendment directing a daily search for liquors in committee rooms.

Mr. Plumb objected to the amendment as calculated to belittle the resolution which he had offered seriously and in deference to public sentiment.

Mr. Aldrich referred to the existing rule on the subject, and to the fact that it only forbade the sale of intoxicating liquors, leaving the assumption to be that wine and beer might be sold by the caterer.

Mr. Butler condemned the spasmodic outbreaks of virtuous indignation in the Senate chamber. The existing rules were sufficient to guard against the alleged improprieties in the restaurant.

Mr. Blair agreed with Mr. Butler, and said that he had never intermeddled with men's personal habits; what he warred against was intoxication in the mass. He had not noticed any thing out of the way in the restaurant, but he thought that if there was to be reform in the Senate wing of the Capitol, that reform should be extended to Senators and committee rooms. Such an extension of the reform, he intimated, would have the effect of preventing Senators becoming so befuddled as to interfere with the consideration of the Election bill. [Laughter.]

The matter went over for the present.

No Conclusion on the Election Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The conference of Republican Senators last night came to no conclusion in regard to the Election bill. Another conference will be held. Meantime the Quay resolution will not come up in the Senate.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Three Laborers Killed and Thirteen Others Seriously Wounded.

BLUE ISLAND, Ill., Aug. 22.—There was a terrific explosion in the Standard Cartridge factory here, in which three laborers were killed and thirteen others seriously wounded, three of whom will die.

The explosion occurred in the packing room, but what caused it no one seems to know. No one was about the packing room at the time of the accident, and those who were injured were working in the engineers' department. All the machinery in the factory was destroyed, and the windows of the houses for blocks around the building were broken.

The fatally injured were sent to Chicago on a Rock Island train, to be conveyed to the County Hospital. One of the injured died on the way to the hospital.

Prohibition Nominations.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 22.—The Prohibition State Convention made the following nominations: For Governor, Charles W. Miller, of Venango County; Lieutenant-Governar, Charles E. Hyatt, of Chester; Secretary of Internal Affairs, William T. Dunn, of Allegheny County.

Severe Storm in Ohio.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 22.—A special from Fostoria, O., says a severe storm unroofed the buildings at the fair grounds east of that city. No lives were lost. Slight damage was done to trees, chimneys, etc., elsewhere in the vicinity.

A Tornado in Southern New York.

ITHACA N. Y., Aug. 22.—A tornado swept the surrounding country last evening. Several houses and barns were demolished. Three horses were killed. A heavy rain accompanied the storm.

THE BRICK TIE-UP.

The Bitter Struggle Between the Manufacturers and Unions Commenced.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The preliminary skirmishing in the battle of the bricks is over, and to-day begins in dead earnest the bitter struggle between the Brick Manufacturers' Association and the Board of Walking Delegates.

Promptly at midnight to-night the manufacturers will stop all shipments of their product to this market and continue the tie-up, so they say, until the Board of Walking Delegates lift the boycott upon the Verplanck Point firms of O'Brien & Vaughey, Cyrus Travers, King & Lynch and Avery & Makey.

The delegates are just as determined that they will not lift the boycott, and they are evidently meeting with good success in preventing the prohibited product from coming into the New York market.

All wharves are closely watched and all barges keenly inspected, and as yet none of the boycotted firms' bricks have been discovered.

Meanwhile the disastrous effects of the impending "tie-up" are becoming more and more visible. No new contracts are being made at the Building Materials Exchange, and buyers and sellers have also brought their operations to a standstill.

The general paralysis of building that is sure to follow the manufacturers' tie-up to-day will on Monday also witness the lockout of 100,000 employes of the various building trades in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City.

A BIG STEAMER STRANDED.

All the Passengers Taken Off Without Accident.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The steamship Dania, of the Hamburg-American line, with 356 emigrants on board and a valuable miscellaneous cargo, ran head on to a sand bar outside of Short Beach, on the Long Island coast, four miles east of Point Lookout, about 11 o'clock Wednesday night. It was a clear night, with only a few clouds scudding about, and a light sea was running at the time. Capt. Schultze, of the Danis, was out of his course at least five miles. Passengers on the steamer were brought safely to this city last night by the Augusta Victoria of the same line, which left port in the forenoon on her outward voyage.

One of the agents of the Merritt Wrecking Company was at the Hoboken dock when the passengers landed. He remained there until long after the Victoria had steamed out into the middle of the Hudson, starting again on her outward voyage.

"It will be impossible to tell when we will be able to get the Dania off," he said. "There is comparatively little loss yet."

The Dania's cargo is valued at $500,000. The steamship cost $250,000.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Several buildings were demolished by a cyclone at Beaver Creek, Md.

The Hill farm mine at Dunbar, Pa., has been opened. The heat is still intense.

The Democrats of California nominated E. B. Pond of San Francisco for Governor.

Mr. White, the Secretary of the American Legation at London, has been granted a vacation and has started with his family for the United States.

W. A. Armstrong, editor of the Husbandman, and Grand Master of the New York State Grange, died at his home, near Elmira, yesterday evening.

White Caps are threatening the "stay-out-lates" at Arlington, N. J., with punishment. Some have already been pelted with rocks while returning home late.

President Ezeta, of Salvador, it is said, will decline the proposed terms of the treaty of peace with Guatemala and hostilities between these countries may be renewed.

Clauses in the Meat Inspection bill which has just passed Congress gives the President full power to prohibit all imports from any country discriminating against American pork.

The will of John Boyle O'Reilly, executed in 1876, gives all his property, real and personal, to his wife, Mary A. S. O'Reilly, and her heirs, and appoints her executrix of the will, with full power and without bonds or sureties.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—For New England: Rain, followed by clearing weather; southerly winds, shifting to westerly; warmer in eastern, stationary temperature in western portion.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Showers followed by clearing weather; westerly winds; stationary temperature.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Showers, followed by clearing weather; cooler; northwesterly winds.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Money on call to-day, 2 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 102¾ | 102¾ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 103¾ | 103¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 123¾ | 123¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 123¾ | 123¾ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 84 | 8 ½ |
| Central Pacific | — | — |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 103¾ | 103¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | — | 134 |
| Del. Lack. & Western | 143¾ | 143¾ |
| Erie | 24 | 25¾ |
| Erie pref | 65 | 64¾ |
| Lake Shore | 106¾ | 105¾ |
| Louis. & Nash | 87¾ | 87 |
| Michigan Central | — | — |
| Missouri Pacific | 70¾ | 70 |
| New Jersey Central | — | 121 |
| Northwestern | — | 109 |
| Oregon Navigation | — | 80¾ |
| Pacific Mail | — | 43¾ |
| Reading | 42¾ | 42¾ |
| Rock Island | 97¾ | 97¾ |
| St. Paul | 70¾ | 70¾ |
| Union Pacific | 59¾ | 59¾ |
| Western Union | 83¾ | 83¾ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Will the Crescents win to-morrow, seems to be the sole matter of interest and subject of consideration all over Plainfield this morning.

—Don't be too sure that the "Mets" will win on Saturday. They are a big team of experienced ball players, but the Crescents will make them hustle, at least.

—The annual outing of Y. M. C. A. workers at Boynton Beach will take place next Thursday. All interested are requested to apply at the Association rooms as soon as possible.

—Comrades of Major Anderson Post, G. A. R., are requested to meet at 81 West Fourth street, at 3:30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, for the purpose of attending the funeral of Theo. La Rue.

—Seventeen passenger coaches left Plainfield for Asbury Park this morning, filled with excursionists who were brimming over with merriment at the prospects of a delightful day. Four Sunday schools combined forces in the affair—Warren Mission, Dunellen Presbyterian, Grace Episcopal, and Church of Our Saviour.

—A great holiday excursion is being planned by the Grocers' Protective Association for Sept. 1, Labor Day. The objective poin will be Boynton Beach, and the grocers promise the participants such a merry time as the Beach never before afforded. The train will leave Plainfield at eight o'clock in the morning, and returning will leave Boynton Beach at seven in the evening. The railroad fare will be only half a dollar for adults, and forty cents for children.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morse, of Franklin place, are home from Oriskany Falls, N. Y.

Miss Lizzie Hill of Chicago, is the guest of her friend, Mrs. Smith of West Fourth street.

Rachel F. Folsom, of Westfield, has passed the normal class examination at Chautauqua.

S. C. Conklin, of West Front street, is enjoying the mountain breezes and the extensive view of Pocano.

Mrs. David Kelso, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Jas. Philpott, of 34 West Second street.

Bertram Tallamy of West Sixth street has returned home after a month's stay at Cumberland Hills, R. I. He is very much improved in health.

Miss Hattie Scott and Arthur Barrett, of Brooklyn, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kaerth of West Second street. Mr. Barrett is a brother of Mrs. Kaerth.

Charles E. Miner, of St. Louis, Traveling Passenger Agent of the Mexican Central Railroad, with Mrs. Miner is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morse of Franklin place. Mrs. Morse is a sister of Mr. Miner.

Louisa Jauncey, widow of Benjamin Tuzo, died at her home in Scotch Plains, "Applethorpe," Wednesday, in the ninty-fourth year of her age. The funeral was held from All Saint's church this morning. Mrs. Tuzo was formerly a resident of Bermuda.

Benjamin G. Megie died at his home on East Front street yesterday, in the 77th year of his age. He had been a sufferer from paralysis many years, but when in his prime was one of Plainfield's most active citizens. He was a jeweler, and after engaging in business in New York removed to Plainfield and established himself on North avenue. His affliction rendered him powerless to move or to speak, though he was able to recognize his friends, and death seemed a happy release.

Do White Folks Beat.

The ball game yesterday between the Athletics and the colored Stars of this city, ended according to the score given below. The colored boys showed the need of practice, and want to play again to prove it. The whites have not yet consented to try another match. It was the best ten cent show of the season.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Athletics | 2 | 5 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —10 |
| Stars | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 5 | — 6 |

Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color and vitality to weak and gray hair. Through its healing and cleansing qualities, it prevents the accumulation of dandruff and cures all scalp diseases. The best hair-dressing ever made, and by far the most economical.

SNAKES IN PLAINFIELD'S GRASS.

JUSTICE BEASLEY ISSUES A WRIT CITING THE CITY TO SHOW THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF ITS ACTION.

If the Granting of a Franchise to the Water Works Company of Plainfield, by the Council of 1889 Under the Leadership of Mr. Newhall and the Advice of Corporation Counsel Marsh, is Declared Illegal, the City Will Lose Thousands of Dollars, and for a year or More May be Postponed the Building of the Works so Much Needed as a Convenience and an Attraction.

In Elizabeth yesterday, Justice Beasley heard the complaint of one Israel Lewis questioning the legality of the franchise granted and contract entered into, by the Common Council of this city with the Water Works company of Plainfield. This is the first step along the line of those who are determined to kill the present possibilities of water in this city, no matter at what cost to the city or damage to its continued prosperity.

For some days these incendiaries through their mouth-piece the news, have claimed that the law under which the franchise was granted the Water Works Company of Plainfield, was unconstitutional and the contract entered into was unlawful and void. A stool pigeon seems to have been found in Israel Lewis, and the "trouble" has begun. If the news succeeds, the city will lose thousands of dollars; and by the still further postponement of the completion of water works, Plainfield's growth will be arrested and its prosperity receive a rebuff from which it may never recover.

Look at this picture of the City's position if the Court allows its enemies' claim that the franchise and contract are illegal. First, bear in mind, work will probably stop today and nothing more will be done by Contractor Moore until the City proves to the satisfaction of the Court, that they have given him a lawful contract. It may take months to reach a decision in the Supreme Court, and meanwhile, as the first result of the news' and its coterie's action, the time of the completion of Plainfield's water works is extended into 1891 or 1892.

Secondly, should the claim of the city's enemies be allowed by the Court, and the ruling handed down that the action of Mr. Newhall, Corporation Counsel Marsh, Mayor Male and the Republican Council of 1889, was illegal—then what? The City must pay out of its treasury, back to Chas. K. Moore the $6,000 he has paid it upon demand of an unlawful contract! The city must continue to pay out of its treasury to Rudolph Hering the $5,500 salary voted him in spite of the protest of Councilmen Moffett, Hetfield, Spangenberg, Gallup and Smith, of the Big, Big, 6! and the city will be liable to pay by bonding the people, to the Water Works Company of Plainfield, and to pay to Contractor Moore fifty thousand, or a hundred thousand, or as many thousand dollars as the courts will allow as damages caused by their accepting from the city in good faith an illegal contract by which they were misled into pending $25,000 in preliminary and rudimentary work. Added to this amount will be as many thousand dollars as the court will allow as supplementary damages.

The writ issued yesterday by Judge Beasley, is as follows: It was served on Acting-Mayor Moffett, and City Clerk Coward, this morning.

NEW JERSEY ss:—The State of New Jersey to J. Herbert Johnston, William Foster, Jr., Cornelius N. Hoagland, James Moore, Samuel Knox, John R. Moore and George, Kyte, calling themselves "The Water Works Company of Plainfield," and "The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield." (L. S.)

Greeting: We being willing for certain reasons to be certified of a certain proceeding or resolution of the Common Council of "The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield" had or passed at a meeting of said Common Council held on the twenty-seventh day of December last, purporting to give the consent of "The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield" or of the corporate authorities thereof to the formation, or organization by the said J. Herbert Johnston, William Foster, Jr., Cornelius N. Hoagland, Jas. Moore, Samuel Knox, John R. Moore and George Kyte of an alleged corporation styled "The Water Works Company of Plainfield," or of the proposed action of the said alleged corporation; and of a certain resolution passed by the said Common Council at the said meeting, purporting to accept an offer and contract of J. Herbert Johnston and others, and authorizing and instructing the Mayor and City Clerk of the said "The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield" to execute a contract with the said alleged corporation styled "The Water Works Company of Plainfield"; and of the said contract purporting to have been executed in pursuance of the said resolution; together with all matters and proceedings of the said Common Council touching and concerning the said resolutions, offer and contract as fully as they remain before the said Common Council or the said "The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield," or in the custody of any official of the said city, by whatever name the said resolutions, offer and contract may be called therein; we command you that the said resolutions, offer and contract, together with all other matters and proceedings of the said Common Council and of the said "The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield" touching and concerning the same, you certify and send, together with this writ, to our Supreme Court at Trenton on the first Tuesday in November next, that therein may be done what of right and according to the laws and constitution of this State ought to be done.

Witness Mercer Beasley, Esq., Chief Justice of our said Supreme Court at Trenton this twenty-first day of August, A. D., eighteen hundred and ninety.

BENJ. F. LEE, Clerk.

Collins & Corbin, Attorneys.

The action of the Council last year in the matter, was as follows: Meetings were being held during every week in December by the Republican Council in order to shove the franchise through before the Council of 1890 came into existence. This effort was successful, and as THE PRESS has said before, all the credit and glory of the Water Works deal belongs to the Republican Council of 1889, and the Republican Water Board of 1890. At a meeting held on the evening of December 27, 1889, Mr. Newhall offered the following resolution, which was adopted by the votes of Councilmen Dumont, Dunham, Erickson, Gallup, Jenkins, Marsh, Myers, Newhall and Squires.

Resolved, That the consent in writing of the corporate authorites of the city of Plainfield be and the same is hereby given to J. Herbert Johnston, Cornelius N. Hoagland, William Foster, Jr., James Moore, Samuel Knox, John R. Moore and George Kyte, to associate themselves as a body politic and corporate under the name of "The Water Works Company of Plainfield," for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating water works for the purpose of supplying the City of Plainfield and its inhabitants with water, in pursuance of the provisions of an act entitled "An act for the construction, maintenance and operation of water works for the purpose of supplying cities, towns and villages of this State with water;" approved April 21, 1876, and the acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Resolved, That the Mayor and City Clerk be authorized and instructed to sign the assent of the corporate authorities of the city to the certificate of incorporation of said company.

At a meeting of the same Council, held on the evening of January 3, 1890, Mr. Erickson presented the Bond of the Water Works Company of Plainfield; the Contract duly executed; and a certified copy of the Certificate of Incorporation. The Bond was for $50,000, and signed by James Moore, Chief Engineer of the Central Railroad Company: Charles K. Moore, his son, one of the contractors to whom the water works franchise has been given; and ex-Congressman John Kean, Jr.

This Bond after examination by every member of the Council present; and endorsed as correct in form by Corporation Counsel Marsh; was referred back to the Council and approved by a unanimous vote. Those present being Councilmen Dumont, Dunham, Erickson, Jenkins, Myers and Squires.

The contract was then signed by Mayor Male on the part of the city, and attested by City Clerk Leonard.

A copy of the complaint of Israel Lewis not being obtainable, the particular point made that was sound enough to impel Mercer Beasley, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, to issue the writ, is not known. Israel Lewis is a resident of another county and votes there. He lives in Jersey City. Just why he should complain because Plainfield wants water works, and why he should take steps to stop the building of them and to cancel the contract, is not apparent unless he is being used as a tool by enemies of the city. It will all come out some day, and the real principals in the affair will be known. The lawyers in the case, Collins & Corbin, are known throughout the State as unequalled in their knowledge of corporate law. They make a specialty of such cases.

As acting-Corporation Counsel John H. Jackson told a PRESS reporter this morning, when a list is made of those who are back of this, the people will be much surprised to find it contains the names of many men of former high standing in the city. He said further that as Corporation Counsel Marsh would be back within two weeks, and the writ was not returnable until November, the matter was not one that called for any action or attention on his part.

Contractor Moore was not at his Plainfield office today, but was seen by a PRESS reporter in New York. When told of Justice Beasley's writ, he replied that he had accepted the contract in good faith from the city. If it was illegal, that was of course a matter that concerned the city. The only way in which he was at present personally concerned, he said, was because of the delay in the work that would occur. "It will give me an extension of time, but I don't want that," he continued empatically. "I wanted to keep my faith with the people, and deliver water to them in their houses within a few months."

Acting-Mayor Moffett was also found by a PRESS reporter, in a state of entire unconcern. He said: "The Council of 1889, of which I was compelled to be but a silent member because of its overpowering Republican majority, are responsible alone for the contract with the Water Works Company of Plainfield. I was not even present when the franchise was granted. The matter is now in the hands of a Republican Water Board consisting of Messrs Newhall, Rushmore and Dunham, who have taken it entirely out of the jurisdiction of the present Council. The combine, as they call us, are not interested or concerned in the affair at all, except that we have insisted upon the monthly payment of $1,000 by the Contractor which helps the City pay Engineer Hering the extravagant salary the combine fought so hard against."

The New York Tribune of today has the following more or less inaccurate reference to the case:

Application is to be made to the Supreme Court to test the legal standing of the Plainfield Waterworks Company. A writ of certiorari has been asked for by Israel Lewis, a taxpayer of Plainfield, and it is reported that the Supreme Court Judge, William J. Magie, has certified the writ to the Supreme Court clerk at Trenton, Benjamin A. Lee. The reasons set forth in the document are that the charter under which the company was organized is null and void, because the law under which it was granted is unconstitutional. The question will be argued at the November term of the Supreme Court. Ex-Congressman Kean, who is one of the bondsmen for the water company, said yesterday that he had grave doubts as to the legality of the law under which the company was formed and he would like to see the issue tested. He had heard that an application for a certiorari was to be made, but was not aware that the writ had been granted.

This article should not close without the presentation of one little circumstance that has a certain bearing on the case. It seems as if a non-resident was not chosen to make the complaint, until after effort was made to find a citizen for the purpose. One gentleman of this city was offered $50 some days ago, to make the complaint. He refused. THE PRESS hopes to be given permission some day to publish his name, that the whole people may praise him. Lewis, the complainant, is said to be a Jersey City lawyer who owns some of the property formerly belonging to Evan Jones. Israel Lewis of North Plainfield, says he is not the man.

THE HEBREWS VERY ANGRY.

But the Profanation of Their Sacred Meat Is Unavenged.

The controversy over the sale of sacred meat to Hebrews in the Borough was ventilated before Justice Hardy last evening, and as the charge of assault and battery preferred by Nicholas Gisser, butcher, against Thomas Rutledge, Borough Marshal, was not substantiated, the Court discharged the complaint. Gisser's own witnesses acknowledged that Gisser had refused to accompany the Marshal and that Rutledge had used no unnecessary violence. Gisser's claim that he was weak from illness and unable to go to the Borough Clerk's except in a wagon was met by Rutledge's statement that the distance of the proposed walk was only a block and that he feared Gisser's wanting to ride was a tricky attempt to whip up his horse and drive into Plainfield, outside of Rutledge's jurisdiction. Gisser threatens to have Rutledge re-arrested, this time for false imprisonment. The case still affords mild excitement to Borough residents. The Jews are very angry.

Diseases of Spinach.

The New Jersey Agricultural College Experiment Station, bulletin 70, treats of some fungous diseases of the spinach by Byron D. Halstead, Botanist and Horticulturist. He says: "Spinach is extensively grown in many parts of New Jersey for the New York and Philadelphia markets, to say nothing of those of the large cities within her own borders, like Plainfield, Camden, Trenton, Paterson, Jersey City and Newark. During the past Winter there have been loud complaints of a partial or almost complete failure of the crop, and while the conditions, namely, extreme warmth and moisture of the season, have been against the successful culture of spinach, there are other reasons for the trouble that it is the purpose of this bulletin to briefly set forth.

"The forced spinach interests people more particularly in the present consideration of the fungous diseases of the crop. The outdoor spinach at the time of writing, has the appearance of health. That under glass sickened and died and in many cases before it was half large enough for market. One large grower, for example, informs me that counting only his labor, he will not realize more than fifty per cent. of what it cost him. Besides this, there is the loss which is entailed upon coming years from placing a poor quality of product upon a market that is already a critical one because of the sharp competition of spinach grown out of doors and shipped from the Southern States. This failure has been attended by one or more forms of fungi."

Why Should the Captain Wear a Brass Coat and Blue Buttons?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I claim that it would be decidedly advantageous to city as well as exceedingly proper that the Captain of Police should be uniformed with proper clothing suitable for the position he holds.

A subscriber to your paper known as "The Only Newspaper."

The Ball Nine's Trip to Connecticut.

Those who intend going to Norwich with the Crescent League's team, next Wednesday, must give their names to the managers on the ball grounds Saturday or leave them in THE PRESS office before Monday. It is necessary to have the complete list that accommodations for the party may be secured on the boat and at the hotel.

Interests in Plainfield Preferred.

R. W. Rice, the North Plainfield grocer, has gone to Wilkesbarre, Pa., to dispose of some handsome property he owns at that place. He wishes to invest the capital in Plainfield instead. Since leaving Wilkesbarre he has been transferring his interests from that city to Plainfield as rapidly as possible.

Preaching for the Seventh Day Baptists To-morrow.

The Rev. C. M. Rupe, of Ohio, will occupy the pulpit of the Seventh Day Baptist church at half-past ten o'clock tomorrow morning. The Rev. Dr. Lewis is at Salem, West Virginia, attending the Seventh Day Baptist General Conference.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by purifying and enriching the blood, improves the appetite, aids the assimilative process, strengthens the nerves, and invigorates the system. It is, therefore, the best and most thoroughly reliable alterative that can be found for old and young.

Found the Smelling Bottle.

NEW LONDON, Aug. 22.—After wandering about on the dark bottom of New London harbor for three days, Captain Scott, the great diver, finally found Mrs. W. A. Slater's $500 gold smelling bottle, which she dropped overboard while on a yachting trip a week or so ago. The diver presented the vinaigrette to the Norwich lady, pocketed a heavy fee, and now everybody is happy again.

New York to Chicago on a Bicycle.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—Edwin Cheekly, known as the "Little Giant," arrived here yesterday on his way from New York to Chicago on a safety bicycle soon after proceeding on his journey. He left Brooklyn one week ago last Saturday morning, and has now traveled 700 miles. He is still fresh and expects to reach Chicago next Saturday.

Mrs. Howell Made the Address.

BROOKINGS, S. D., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Mary G. Howell, of Albany, N. Y., made the annual address before the graduating class of South Dakota College here last night. This is the first time a lady has ever done this duty anywhere. Her subject was: "The true sons and daughters of our Republic."

Carpenters Crushed to Death.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 22.—By the collapse of the walls of the new St. Stanislaus Polish church, in process of erection, John Bauer and Andrew Harter, carpenters, were crushed to death.

M.H.A.

Music Hall.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26.

George Thatcher's Minstrels!

Under the management of Rich & Harris.

The Most Talented, Best Paid, Best Paying and Best Playing Band of Minstrels under the Sun.

A few of our Minstrel Celebrities:—George Thatcher, John Wild, Wood and Shepard, Thos. LeMack, Jay Quigley, R. J. Jose, Raymon Moore, Thos. Lewis, H. W. Frillman, John A. Coleman, Rodio, Rapoli, and Mazus & Abacco's Quintet of Arabian Acrobats.

Street parade 12 M.

Seats on sale Saturday, August 23.

Prices—50c., 75c., and $1 00. 8 20 td

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.

He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

SECOND ANNUAL

EXCURSION

OF THE

Grocers' Protective Association,

Of Plainfield, N. J., to

BOYNTON BEACH,

On LABOR DAY,

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.

Train leaves Plainfield 8 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.

Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. 8 22 8

SPECIAL ORDER.

Major Anderson Post 109, Department of New Jersey:—Comrades are requested to meet at No. 81 West 4th street, at 3:30 P. M., on Saturday, Aug. 23, for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late comrade, Theo. La Rue.

A. S. TITSWORTH, Com'r.

DEATHS.

MEGIE—At rest, Aug. 21, 1890, Benj. G. Megie, in his 77th year.
Notice of funeral hereafter.

LA RUE—Tuesday, Aug. 19, 1890, Theodore J. La Rue, in his 46th year.
Funeral services from his late residence, 81 West Fourth street, Saturday, Aug. 23, at 3:30 P. M.

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 20, 1890.

| | |
|---|---|
| Angle, D A | Moore, Mrs |
| Ayres, Miss Louisa | Murray, Miss Delia A |
| Clancy, J | Maloney, Daniel |
| Christe, Fred | Morris, Miss C E |
| Carpenter, Chas | O'Brien, Miss Agnes |
| Compyn, Miss | Powers, Nellie |
| Copp, Miss Abbie | Pulliam, Chas |
| Drake, Miss Mary | Quick, J V |
| Gillespie, Miss Mary | Rogers, Mrs John |
| Ganday, Catherine | Ryan, Miss Johana |
| Gage, Mrs Delia | Rankin, G W |
| Hunting, Master Lu | Robertson, John |
| Haherbin, Miss Maggie | Taylor, Mrs M J |
| Jacobs, L M | Taylor, Mrs J S |
| Killilia, Miss M | Wheeler, Mrs |

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

WANTED—A first-class heavy silver-plated single harness, with collar and hames; must be a bargain. Address B., PRESS office.

COACHMAN—Young Englishman wishes situation as coachman; had 7 years experience in private family; strictly sober. Address J. Rowlands, 2 Bay street, Plainfield, N. J.

LOST—Lady's black silk Umbrella, in case; silver handle. Dropped from carriage in Plainfield or over Netherwood down macadamized road. Reward will be paid at 165 East Front street. 8 22 3

FOR SALE—A black cob built family horse; warranted perfectly sound. Address G., PRESS office. 8 20 6

MAN wanted to run steam drill. Address Box 13, Scotch Plains, N. J. 8 20 4

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Renovating Works, 208 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 6-11-tf

Save Your Hair

BY a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair.

"I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, no new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew

Thick and Strong.

It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. B. Williams, Floresville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—Mrs. H. J. King, Dealer in Dry Goods, &c., Bishopville, Md.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 23c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Graulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEMAREST. 25 PARK AVENUE. 8-6-t

MOY.

8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S

EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue,

Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

16 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-y

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY.

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS.

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 8 25-y

M. M. DUNHAM,

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEET. 8-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 8-25-y

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD. 6-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

48 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-9-y

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[PUNCH'S HOTEL.] No. 6 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting. 3-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,

Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 56.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.

Choice Can't Go Wrong!

WHERE ALL IS OF

THE CHOICEST!

COME TO

PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS,

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10 25-tf

BARGAINS!

To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!

Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:

GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.

GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.

CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.

GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.

TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.

FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

SELLING OUT CHEAP!

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-8-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Blue Fish, | | Halibut, | |
| Mackeral, | | Cod, | |
| Porgies, | | Salmon, | |
| Weak Fish, | | Lobsters. | |
| Sea Bass, | | Soft Crabs, | |
| Butter Fish, | | Little Neck Clams, | |

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot.— (Chotola Building). —Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,

A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

A TYRANT IN FREEDOM'S LAND.

A Despotic Master Beats, Imprisons and Robs an Honest Workman.

Deeds of oppression by a French tyrant in free America are reported from the neighboring village of Mt. Bethel, where the despot holds sway, by a victim of the arbitrary sovereign. The name of the monarch is Adolphe Renoux, a French renegade banished from Gallic shores, and the man rebelling against his violent methods is Yust Gauthier, a fellow-countryman. Gauthier is a carpenter, an honest, straightforward, peaceful man, and for several days has been working for Renoux, whose service he found so obnoxious that he decided to leave. Renoux had given Gauthier money for necessary expenses, but had not paid his wages, and when Gauthier demanded what was due Renoux replied that Gauthier was the debtor instead. Because Gauthier would not return the money paid to him for expenses Renoux refused to pay the wages, and at Gauthier's protest Renoux knocked him down, it is alleged by Yust, cruelly shackled his wrists and tied him fast to a heavy work-bench. Gauthier was kept a prisoner in a position of torture several hours, and was refused his freedom until he signed a paper giving all his carpentry tools to Renoux. When released, yesterday Gauthier, bruised and weak from his master's brutal treatment, dragged himself painfully along the road to North Plainfield and told his story to Justice Hardy, who issued a warrant for the arrest of Renoux on various serious charges.

Gauthier had several places of employment waiting him in Plainfield and Dunellen, but through the loss of his tools and the injuries to his body is at present unable to do any work.

Oh, What a Record!

Below is the result of games won and lost by the Crescent League's team this season. Out of 21 games played the home team lost but 4, of which 2 were in April before the present nine was organized. Since then the Crescents have defeated the same teams with ease:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| April 12 | Star Athletics, of Newark | 3—4 |
| " 19 | Acmes, of New York | 2—7 |
| " 30 | Columbia College, of New York | 13—1 |
| May 3 | Silentias, of New York | 18—0 |
| " 10 | Rutgers College, of New Bru'w'k | 7—3 |
| " 17 | Lees, of Brooklyn | 12—2 |
| " 24 | Vernons, " | 10—1 |
| " 30 | Flushings, of Long Island | 4—2 |
| " 30 | Monroes, of New York | 14—3 |
| "—31 | Unions, of New Brunswick | 9—0 |
| June 7 | Acmes, of New York | 3—0 |
| " 14 | Hackett-Carharts of New York | 2—1 |
| " 28 | Trentons, of Trenton | 6—7 |
| July 4 | Flushings, of Long Island | 10—2 |
| " 4 | Greenpoints, " " | 4—3 |
| " 5 | Hackett-Carharts, of New York | 9—0 |
| " 12 | Acmes, of New York | 10—9 |
| " 19 | Allertons, of New York | 13—3 |
| Aug. 2 | Ridgewoods, of Brooklyn | 3—8 |
| " 9 | Gorhams, of New York | 8—3 |
| " 16 | Star Athletics, of Newark | 2—0 |
| Total runs | | 162—60 |

A Plainfielder Plans a Newspaper Palace.

The new $1,000,000 home of The Brooklyn Eagle, now in process of erection, was designed by and is being built under the direction of an architect whose former home was Plainfield. It is to be one of the most superb buildings in Brooklyn, and one of the finest newspaper palaces in the country. The man who is being praised by press and people for its architectural beauty, its convenience, completeness and elegance, is George L. Morse, a son of the oldest Freemason in New Jersey, Timothy Morse, of East Fifth street. Mr. Morse has planned many of the most notable edifices in New York, Brooklyn and other places. The publishers of The Eagle are greatly pleased with Mr. Morse's plans, and say of the architect that he "ranks high among the most capable members of his craft, and for thirty-one years has left on the architecture of Brooklyn the impress of his genius."

Hartman Held on His Sister's Charge.

Otto Hartman of North Plainfield, who is accused by his sister, Henrietta Goetze, was held last night by Justice Hardy to await the action of the Grand Jury, as THE PRESS yesterday predicted. Friends of Hartman still insist that Henrietta is demented, and that her claims of debt against her brother are false, in spite of the assertion of two examining physicians that she is perfectly sane. Notwithstanding the announcement of Otto that he would give Henrietta no further shelter, Henrietta insists on taking out in board Otto's alleged debt, and has returned to his table for food. Otto is said to protest but submit.

Real Estate Changes in City and Borough.

Among the recent transfers of real estate in this vicinity are recorded the following:

Central Land Improvement Company to Alexander Thorn, of Plainfield, land near the corner of Cottage place and Washington street, $125.

Alfred I. Smalley and others to George Conover, North Plainfield property, $500.

Margaret E. McLaughlin to Peter Brunn, lot in North Plainfield, $400.

George Conover and wife to Aaron D. Thompson, lot in North Plainfield, $400.

Angelina D. and Hiram B. Woodland to John F. Wilson, North Plainfield property, $2,000.

—Plainfield's folks are coming home.

Success is the envy of the weak brained. They seek to get there too. No wonder that they resort to counterfeiting. The reputable dealer should not encourage imitators. Be sure and ask for Hires' Root Beer Packages, and be especially sure you get them.

AFTER THE BARBER'S SCALP.

A Colored Woman on the Warpath in the Borough.

One of Plainfield's colored belles visited "the colored barber shop" in North Plainfield yesterday afternoon and loudly and vehemently proclaimed that if the proprietor didn't marry her immediately she would instantly take his life. This she swore by sun, moon, stars and prophets, and to indorse her announcement she produced from her bosom a razor. The sight of the keen steel blade so frightened the young man that he paled and promised the girl to do whatever she desired if she would only keep quiet till evening. The damsel left and went to the home of one of the barber's "ladifrends," whom she abused so disgracefully that the insulted one threatened her visitor with arrest if she did not leave the house. The dusky Amazon then walked up and down the street, using language so unusual from a woman's lips, and causing such a scene, that her sanity was questioned. Finally she vaulshed, and hasn't since appeared in public.

Washingtonville Warblings.

John Mayher, who was seriously injured by a collision of wagons on Somerset street, several days ago, is improving slowly under the skillful treatment of Dr. Jones of Basking Ridge. His wounds were so severe that at one time grave apprehensions were entertained least they should prove fatal. He is now able to sit up and move about the house, but does not venture out as yet. He is grateful to the friends who did so much for his comfort and showed him such kind attention at the time of the accident, but feels pained at the report that he was taken to the borough lock-up, least his friends should think he was intoxicated and a prisoner. He states that he was perfectly sober, and but for his colt shying would not have had the mishap.

Many of the farmers in this vicinity state that their potato crop will be almost totally a failure from the rot, which has attacked tubers. In some instances the crop will hardly pay for digging. This will be a severe loss, as many acres were planted for potatoes last Spring.

The recent rain was a grand thing for the growing crops of corn, turnips and grass, which had begun to assume a withered appearance.

Mrs. Joseph Zeller and family have returned from Philadelphia to this place, convinced that for health our pure mountain air is far supperior to that of any city. Mr. Zeller will return to the Plainfield machine shops in a few weeks, when his engagement in his present position expires. Miss Mary Wright of Northeast, Pa., accompanies Mrs. Zeller on a visit.

Miss Mollie Hartman, of Lewiston, Cal., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John B. Zeller, for a few weeks.

Miss Belle Spencer left Wednesday afternoon with her cousin, Miss Fannie Spencer, of North Plainfield, for a two weeks' visit to relatives at Glenside Park.

Frank Tompkins and bride of Brooklyn, are visiting at the home of S. H. Beeching.

JEDEDIAH BUNG.

A State League of Building Loan Associations.

James Bishop, Chief of the State Labor Bureau, has issued a call for a convention of representatives of all the building and loan associations in the State. The meeting is to be held in Trenton on Tuesday, September 2. The last Legislature passed a law requiring each building and loan association to furnish, through its secretary or other appropriate agent, to the Chief of the Labor Bureau, an annual statement of its business and condition. On any failure to make any such statement the chief of the bureau, or his authorized agent, with the approval of the Governor, may make an investigation of the books, securities and accounts of any such delinquent association.

Chief Bishop says that the main idea of the convention is to bring about some uniformity of system among the associations, and it is possible that a State league may be formed. This, of couuse, will depend on the associations themselves. One of the features in which greater uniformity is desired is that respecting the filing of the annual report required by the new law. Heretofore there has been no statute requiring the filing of such statements, and the Labor Bureau had to be satisfied to accept them whenever they came. The reports were made at varying dates of the year, and it was impossible in consequence to provide in the bureau's annual report as interesting and valuable data as was desired.

Most of This Complaint is Uncalled For.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Would it not be well for the Common Council, instead of putting the whole responsibility upon the county for the increased rate of taxation in Plainfield—the highest ever known—to consider as one cause of the heavy burden placed upon the taxpayers, their own extravagance? There is not a salaried official serving the city, but whose place could be filled by competent men, at about one half the compensation now paid our public servants. There are also other ways to save the people's money, that suggest themselves to every careful observer of public events.

ESPRIT FORT.

For "liver complaint," or biliousness, sick headache, and all diseases arising from a disordered condition of the liver and stomach, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets—a gentle laxative or active cathartic, according to size of dose.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

Dr. T. D. Crothers on Alcoholic Heredity in Diseases of Children.

A. B. came under my care for home treatment for periodic inebriety. He has used wine on the table at meals for twenty years; for ten years past he had drank in paroxysms. His wife used wine on the table also, and during lactation had used both beer and wine freely. He had two children, one a girl of eight years, the other a boy five years old, both invalids, and had been under constant medical care from infancy, the general diagnosis being scrofula and general anæmia; and both were of pale and delicate appearance, extremely excitable and nervous.

They had continuous irritation of the stomach, from an unrestricted diet of all kinds of foods and drinks, except wine and beer; were very passionate at the slightest opposition to their wishes and after a period of rage would be greatly exhausted and have a distinct fever for a day or more. The girl had attacks of emotional religiosity, in which she manifested great sorrow and melancholy at her sins, and asked the prayers of all persons she came in contact with; at other times she was precociously bright, and irritable at any opposition to her wishes.

The family physician had no faith in heredity, and treated these various conditions as so many symptoms of threatened organic disorders which his skill and remedies prevented from gaining farther. Both had suffered from rubeola and scarlatina, and were supposed to have never fully recovered. Bronchitis, enteritis, gastritis, neuritis and various heart diseases were constantly threatening, and as constantly averted. Finally, death of the physician brought a new man who recognized the alcoholic heredity of these cases and ordered them to the country where the diet was restricted, and enforced exercise out-doors, and frequent bathing when it could be carried out.

These children had marked nerve and brain instability, with low vitality, and were neurotics, which would of necessity develop insanity, inebriety or any other form of nerve and brain degeneration; and the rational treatment should have recognized this condition, and given special attention to the diet and surroundings, and the avoidance of all existing causes that would stimulate the brain and nervous system.

A physician wrote me that he had given tincture cinchona to a neurotic child of one year of age, for slight fever which resembled malaria. In a short time the child would cry for the medicine, and only would be satisfied for a little time after it was given; on one occasion it took at once a two-ounce mixture of this drug. He changed to other tonics, but found that nothing would satisfy the child but tinctures. The child was found to have an alcoholic mother, who died soon after its birth, and the alcohol in the tinctures aroused an organic memory which had been inherited.

In private practice, some years ago, I treated a little boy for over five years for the most confusing and varied disorders and diseases that it was possible to have; he recovered from one disorder only to be prostrated with another. None of them were well defined or clear, and much difference of opinion prevailed among the numerous medical men who were called in consultation. At puberty this boy became a pronounced dipsomaniac, suddenly, and without any special temptation. Years after he came under my care, and was a chronic case. From a study of his history it was ascertained that his father was an inebriate, and died before he was born. Here was an alcoholic heredity, which had escaped notice, and where the alcoholic neurotic symptoms were not understood.

I think we may confidently expect of the practice of medicine that in the near future such cases will be treated so successfully that the alcoholic or insane predisposition will be warded off. I have heard of numerous instances of children from infancy upward to puberty, upon which alcohol in any form and in small quantities acted as a hypnotic; in in some cases no other medicine could be tolerated, and in some alcoholic heredity was present, in others it was not clear.

In the study of the early history of inebriates, a great variety of diseases common to childbood appear, and seem to have been more intense than in other children. Such cases seem to have suffered more severely than others from nutrient disorders, shocks and traumatism; they are freighted with some heredity or predisposition to particular forms of degeneration; the organism has received a certain bias, from which it can not escape. Alcohol, of all other drugs, seems most potent to impress cell growth and function.

No fact is more firmly established than that alcoholic ancestors will transmit to their children a defective brain and nerve power. The form and shape of this defect and its manifestations will vary widely.

In many cases it may not be prominent until after the higher peripheral brain has reached a certain development, especially in the growth of the emotional and inhibitory centers. In others this defect is seen in infancy, in an abnormal hyperæsthesia of the senses, and nutrient disturbances. Some children manifest irritation at all sounds, and all changes of light and surroundings, by continuous crying; the skin or alimentary canal is also very sensitive, and various skin disorders and nutrient troubles follow. Low powers of vitality and slow, irregular growth are common. This condition may continue for years, then gradually disappear, and only reappear at puberty, or later in some distinct form of degeneration. Sometimes a marked neurasthenia and anæmia appear in early life and continue up to puberty, then break out into some disease, or develop some hereditary malady.

Another class of children are noted, who come from alcoholic ancestors, by their precocious development of brain and nerve force. They exhibit powers of brain receptivity and instaoility that is called genius, which give way early to some disease or form of nerve degeneration from various causes. Inebriety, insanity, or both, are very common sequels. Alcohol or opium in any form is almost always a grateful remedy, and is demanded in many instances by the patient. The use of bitters that contain large quantities of spirits is also very popular, and an unconscious organic memory is awakened that rarely dies out.

In some children this craving for spirits is manifest very early. A case of this kind was brought to my notice by Dr. Smith of New York, where an infant of two months old could only be quieted by a few drops of spirits. Its taste was so pronounced that it would stop nursing at the sight of the person who gave the spirits and cry until it was gratified. Fortunately, such instances are not common; but the abnormal tastes of children, and their extreme sensitiveness or obtuseness to sensory impressions, and low powers of vitality and recuperation, are often clear symptoms of an alcoholic impression from ancestors.

This alcoholic heredity will be seen in children that manifest extremes of activity, particularly where there is a tendency to the sudden liberation of nerve energies, as in violent passion (grief or joy) or work, play or study, which is followed by extreme prostration. The child is said to be sullen, morose, or melancholy, then suddenly manifest the other extremes, indicating a great instability of brain cells and functional control. Its life seems to be threatened with fevers, prostrations, and inanitions, accompanied with mental irritations and wandering neuralgias that tax severely the skill of the physician. These conditions may follow other heredities, but they always point to a degree of nerve and brain degeneration or retarded development, and defective co-ordination, that must be recognized in the treatment.

In all cases where alcoholic ancestors, even back to the second generation, can be traced, there are certain predispositions which must be considered in the treatment.

First. A tendency to exhaustion from feeble vitality, and low power of restoration. Tonics and nutriments that have a direct stimulant action on the brain should not be used, such as alcohol and opium, and meat broths. These remedies have a tendency to still further exhaust the vital forces, paralyzing the nerve centers and increasing the carbonaceous matters of the system.

Second. An instability of cell and nerve function, and strong predisposition to develop into some particular form of degeneration, which is practically an exhaustion of the higher brain centers with craving for relief. All stimulants and remedies which act on the brain centers increase the existing degeneration.

Third. There is a special affinity for all nerve stimulants by those higher brain centers. Their use constantly interferes with the natural development of brain energy from food. Thus alcohol, tea, coffee and other substances have a peculiar delusive effect.

From these facts it will be obvious that the diseases of children of alcoholic parentage are far more complex, and require greater care. In addition to whatever disease they suffer from, there is always neurasthenia and defective control of the brain centers, which may come into prominence at any moment, from causes both known and unknown. This hereditary bias and neurotic instability enters into all cases.

The general principles which should govern in the treatment may be grouped as follows: 1. No form of alcohols are safe, and narcotics of all kinds should be used with great care. 2. The diet should not include meats of any kind, because of their stimulating character; while meats contain much food force, they act as stimulants to a brain already over-stimulated and exhausted, and increase the peril of nervous disease. The pathological tendency of all these cases is to become alcohol-takers and meat-eaters, hence the diet should always be non-stimulating and farinaceous, and should be carried out with military regularity. 3. The hygienic treatment is also of the greatest importance; every means and measure which can build up a system, and avoid brain and nerve stimulation, is required. 4. Cases of this character should be guarded against every possible extreme, both in the surroundings and physical conditions that are under the control of the physician. The tendency of all energy and nerve force is to pass off in explosions, which should be counteracted; the diseases they suffer from show this tendency to concentrate and become intensified in certain directions, also to manifest distinct exacerbations. Finally, the fact of an alcoholic heredity in disease of children that we are called upon to treat, gives a wider therapeutical range of possibilities, both in direct and preventive medicine.

Recent studies of alcohol cases show that over seventy per cent. are directly inherited. If this is confirmed by later studies, the treatment of inebriety will in the future begin in infancy, and the higher science and art of medicine will win its greatest triumphs along the line of prevention. —American Lancet.

THE Boston Transcript publishes replies from several of the most eminent physicians to this question: "Which of the alcoholic liquors is, in your opinion, the least injurious as a beverage for a man who must drink, or who thinks he must?" The replies at least agree in intimating that any man who thinks he must drink is in peril of becoming a drunkard. The majority of them consider any habitual use of alcoholic liquors as injurious. The consensus of their advice to healthy people is to let alcoholic liquors alone.

ONE of the best moves the devil can make is to persuade a big-headed man to trust in his own strength. There isn't a drunkard on earth to-day who didn't formerly believe he could drink or let it alone.—Ram's Horn.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses.
8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
20 WEST FRONT STREET.
7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
29 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge.
11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St.
-tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE.
8-26-w

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET.
8 16-tf

CLAIRVOYANT.
By request of her many patrons, MRS. DR. EDWARDS, Clairvoyant, will remain in Somerville, N. J., at the County Hotel, Room 13, for two weeks longer, until Tuesday, August 26. Will then leave positively.
8-14-6

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place.
8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.
8-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes.
7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS.
1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.
6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.
9-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.
4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO.
11-26-y

P. AGNEY.
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 807. NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough.
3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 708, Plainfield, N. J.
Ex-New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing.
4-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
28 EAST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!
22c. Pound.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Strret.
1-18-tf

Carpenters and Builders.
PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK.
6-3-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE.
8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.
9-13-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit.
3-17tf

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1 4-tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 12,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home.
6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sep1

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.
PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal.
7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL.
8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten and School,
48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),
REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.
In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application.
8 21 2m

Professional Cards.
MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths!
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 3 p. m. H. HOSMER, 26 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Townsend, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong.
8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M.
9-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law,
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. E. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Supreme Court Commissioner,
First National Bank Building.
my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-22-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer,
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.
A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants,
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. O. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
62 E. FRONT STREET. my10y

Miscellaneous.
RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 131. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave.
my10

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Boycotting
7-14-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING G. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery, Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 25½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLEY
211 East 54th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY.
6-20-105-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840,
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED,
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
4-4-6m

ON GRASSY LAWNS.

Experts at Tennis, Which Is First Favorite Among Them.

New York the Center of a Game Which Has a National Association and Members All Over the Country—Other Popular Sports.

[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]
[Special Correspondence.]

HERE can be no doubt that the love of out-door games is one of the strong characteristics of Americans. Any game combining skill, amusement and exercise is eagerly seized upon, and neither the extreme heat nor the disagreeable humidity of midsummer dampens the ardor of its devotees. Of the many open air games none has become so widely popular as lawn tennis. Everywhere in the city where a level plot of ground of suitable size can be found some one marks out a tennis court. Tennis rackets are carried by excursionists, and the light, cool tennis suit has made its way even to the down-town streets of the city. Perhaps one of its claims to popularity lies in the fact that lawn tennis can be played by both sexes and by all ages. Ladies have won the title of champion, and have shown as much skill in handling the racket and as much science in play as any male holder of the title.

Tennis, although played by a few, did not attract popular attention until 1870. Before that year it was played in Boston, where Dr. James Dwight, who has since become known over this country and in Europe, and F. B. Sears, Jr., brother of R. D. Sears, who has held the championship of the United States for seven years, were looked upon as the pioneers of the game. In 1875 the Staten Island Tennis and Base-Ball Club laid out courts on its ground for public playing. In 1876 the first authentic tournament was played at Nahant, and the occasion was made a notable one in the summer home of Boston's wealth. Dr. Dwight won the championship, but the tournament, like several others that followed it, was rather local in character. The Staten Island Tennis and Base-Ball Club, in 1880, threw open its gates for an open tournament for the whole United States. This was in reality the first public championship tournament in this country. Other tournaments followed, from which it soon became manifest that a National body was necessary which would establish uniform rules for playing. The representatives of thirty clubs met in this city in 1881 and formed the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, which makes the rules and settles all disputes concerning the championship games. The present officers of the association are: President, Joseph S. Clark, Young American Cricket Club, Philadelphia, Pa.; Vice-President, H. W. Slocum, Jr., St. George's Cricket Club, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Secretary, Valentine G. Hall, Edgewood Lawn Tennis Club; Treasurer, Howard A. Taylor, Country Club of Westchester County; Executive Committee, R. D. Sears, James Dwight, Joseph Whitlesey, E. H. Outerbridge, C. E. Stickney.

TENNIS.

The clubs which are members of the association are distributed as follows; New York City, 20; Philadelphia, 7; Chicago, 3; Brooklyn, 2; Boston, 2; New Haven 2, and one each in Bridgeport, Conn.; Buffalo, San Francisco, Cheyenne, W. T.; Colorado Springs, Washington, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Danbury, Conn.; Dayton, O.; Morristown, N. J.; New Hamburg, N. Y.; Orange, N. J.; East Orange, N. J.; Cold Springs on the Hudson, N. Y.; Pittsburgh, Portland, Albany, Rochester, Springfield, Mass.; St. Augustine, Fla.; Summit, N. J.; Taunton, Mass.; Hartford, Conn.; Waterbury, Conn.; St. Paul, Wilmington, Del.; Providence, R. I.; Flushing, L. I.; Cambridge, Mass.; Ridgewood, N. J.; Lenox, Mass.; Troy, N. Y.; South Hampton, N. Y.; Newport, R. I.; Passaic, N. J.; Winchester, Mass.

The favorite public tennis ground for New Yorkers is the North Meadow in Central Park. Here daily gather crowds of players, each armed with a racket and a permit from the superintendent of public parks. This season 1,404 permits have been issued. The "upper grounds" as it is called, has ninety-seven double courts and seven single courts. The "lower grounds" has twenty-seven double and five single courts. The upper grounds is the favorite place for tournaments, and is visited by such clubs as the Pastimes, Arlingtons, R. B. R.'s, Galaxy, Alpha, Beta Delta, Columbus, Bohemia, Delta, Upsilon, Arguila, Lenox Hill, Rutherford, Liberty, A. A. S. S. and Zebrowski.

Saturday afternoons the lawn is studded with courts, and match games between the crack players are always on hand. Among the lady players Miss Muriel Robinson is leader. Miss Robinson is a constant player, and has become such a favorite with every one that she is permitted to keep her ground and locker from season to season.

Among the other lady players who are never allowed to sit idle waiting for a game are: Misses Adele M. Arnold, E. Whiting, Lillian V. Leach, H. Stock, Grace M. Pond, Helen Wessels, Bird Leavy, Clara Livingston, Alice Weil, Minnie Weil, Grace Weiner, H. Goodman, Kate Manson and E. M. Henry.

The gentlemen players who are said to wield the bat with special dexterity are: Messrs. C. Livingston, Theodore Jacobi, H. Houser, Charles Triser, Charles Kemp, C. Leary, Henry Chaurant, George Moran, W. Harvey, Albert Hatch, C. L. Harvey, Squire, Sullivan, Hayden, Banks, Stackhouse, Allen, Swasery and Robert. None of these has perhaps a National fame, but they are all well known at the North Meadow courts and belong to the various clubs that make their headquarters there.

Saturdays when the weather is fine enough to permit playing the players watch to see when the red flag is lowered and the American flag raised, the signal that the grounds are open. Fif teen hundred players use the tennis courts on Saturday and the sight of the field of deep green peopled with the crowd of players whose varicolored costumes and caps give a constantly changing life to the scene, is well worth the trouble of going to the grounds.

CROQUET "POSEURS."

It would not do to speak of tennis players without mentioning the names of Messrs. Henry W. Slocum, who holds the amateur championship of America, R. P. Huntington, W. P. Knapp, R. D. Sears, Howard A. Taylor, Quincy A. Shaw, Ollie Campbell, Vallie G. Hall and Misses Adeline K. Robison, Alice Austin, Miss Ward and the two Misses Janssen, whose names are famous in tennis circles.

After tennis croquet holds the popular taste for out-door lawn games. The public park authorities have laid out grounds for croquet players at the old ball grounds in Central Park, at Mount Morris and East River parks. One thousand one hundred and twenty-two permits have been granted applicants for permission to play croquet on these public grounds. Croquet does not require the skill or quickness of eye and judgment necessary for the first-class tennis player, nor does it give the same amount of physical exercise.

Effort has been made to introduce the Scotch game of golf as a lawn game, but without success, and the same fate met an attempt to introduce a game called Badminton. A new game called by its projectors boccio has just been introduced to the public, and its inventors predict for it a sweeping popularity. The game is played on a lawn with wooden balls. Whether it will strike the public fancy as did croquet and tennis remains to be seen.

Another new game that will meet public favor is "Lawn Pockets." The game is played with rackets, each side having one strong racket and a sort of paddle shaped like a tennis racket. A net is set up in the court as in tennis, and pockets are arranged on either side. The game may be won by the player putting the largest number of balls in the pocket or vice versa, as the players may decide before the game. This game may be played on a lawn too small for tennis or in a parlor.

AN ENGLISH "LAWN BOWLS" PLAYER.

Lawn bowls is an English game that is being introduced here. It is played with ten or twelve large balls and three small ones. The game is quite popular in England, but it is not well known here.

A Popular Ex-Senator.

One of the ex-Senators who come to Washington is Mr. VanWyck, of Nebraska. Only a few years ago he was celebrated throughout the country as an anti-monopolist in the Senate, who was doing yeoman service in favor of the laboring men. He is a good shrewd business man, possesses an inexhaustible fund of good humor, and always was very popular with the newspaper correspondents in Washington. He comes to the National Capitol quite often and makes it his first business to call on Newspaper Row to renew his friendships and acquaintances. He is a good story teller, too, and that is the kind of a statesman the boys like to have come in upon them in the evenings, to enliven them after their hard day's work.

It Was Verbal.

Lawyer—Have you got a verbal contract with him?

Pat—Indade I have, but I didn't bring it wid me, for the razon that I don't believe it's worth the paper it's written on.

CHAMP HEATON.

The Story of His Western Trip in Search of Wealth.

CHAMP HEATON, large of build, pompous in bearing, loud in voice and self-assertive in manner, dressed in a hickory shirt, the sleeves of which were rolled up above his elbows, brown overalls, no shoes on his feet and a battered old straw hat on his head, sat on a nail keg on the back porch of Pap Raper's store at Middleton's Station. It was the afternoon of a hot July day, and as the back porch of the store was used as a landing platform for passengers and freight by the railroad company, and as it was also located at the north end of the store, it was a favorite resort for the country-side loafers, who, when they could get a half a day off from their farm work during the "crapping season," delighted to congregate there to whittle, to chat over neighborhood affairs and to watch for the passenger train from the east, which came in at six o'clock. But on this particular occasion Champ was alone; for a wonder, there were no other idlers about. Pap Raper himself was inside the store exchanging dry-goods and groceries for a lot of butter and eggs, which a small boy and girl had brought in from a neighboring farm.

Champ sat on the nail keg and whittled industriously. While doing this he was also meditating, and that very deeply. Occasionally he would pause in his employment and would gaze intently up the track, whose rails glistened in the bright sunlight and above which the rays of heat shimmered and danced in a manner that was both dazzling and painful to the eyes.

On the other side of the track, and opposite to the store, stood the blacksmith's shop; through the open door of this and from where he sat, Champ could see the blazing fire on the blacksmith's forge—could see the shower of sparks as they flew like stars from his hammer and the iron he was welding, and although he did not realize it, perhaps, could hear the musical clatter of a mowing machine that was running in a meadow not a dozen rods from the store. A quail flew up on the fence down the track and began to whistle for its mate; a robin sat singing in a big elm near by, and a crow went screaming and cawing towards the woods, which were only a short distance away; but still Champ sat and whistled and thought. He was oblivious to the sights and sounds by which he was surrounded. Neither the beauty of the landscape, the song of the birds, nor the musical tink, tink of the blacksmith's hammer had any particular charms for him just then. At this time old Pap Raper, having gotten through with the juvenile customers already mentioned, came out of the store with a sprinkling can and began to dampen the porch in order, as he said, "to cool things off a leetle mite." With a lavish hand he played the can, and in so doing gave Champ's bare feet and legs a liberal drenching with the ice-cold water which he had just pumped from the well.

COOLING THINGS OFF A LEETLE MITE.

"Much obliged," said Champ, as he rather hastily arose to his feet, "much obliged, Pap, but you needn't to have put yourself to so much trouble."

"Oh, no trouble er tall, Champ," replied the old fellow; "yer looked sorter hot an' worried 'bout suthin' an' I jess thought a leetle o' this nice, cool woorter would liven you up a bit."

"Well, I do need stirrin' up a bit," he answered, "an' that's jess what I've been a-thinkin' about for some time. Pap," he continued, "I'm goin' to git out o' here."

"What!" the old man gasped, "yer hain't goin' ter leave us, are you, Champ?"

"That's what: I'm goin' to start fer the Black Hills ter-morrer mornin'!"

"The Black Hills! Why, boy, there's Injuns out there, an' plenty on 'em, too."

"I know it; but there's gold, too."

"Champ, take my advist an' stay here in ole Ingeanny. It's a mighty sight better place than the Black Hills. 'Sides, what'll your pap and mother say, Champ?"

"Yes, Ingeanny is a purty good place for some folks, an' I'd like to stay here; but I've made up my mind to go to the Black Hills an' I'm ergoin'. I kain't come back enny poorer than I am now an' I may come back richer an' I may never come back at all; but all the same I'm a-goin'."

The old store-keeper made no reply for a moment, but stood looking up the track in the direction from which the evening passenger train would soon be due.

Then he turned to go back into the store, and as he did so he said: "Champ, I hope you'll have good luck; but let me tell you, you'll find some purty sharp fellers while you're knockin' eround out there an' if you don't keep your eyes skinned you'll get taken in right smart."

"I reckon I kin hold my own with 'em, pap; I've never traveled much, that's er fact, but I've allus read the papers, an' while they're gittin' a whole meal I'll manage to git enough to keep me from starvin'."

Here a customer called to the old man from the front of the store and he hurried in in answer to the summons.

Champ shut up his jackknife, put it into his pocket, and started off at a brisk walk for his home, which, as his course lay across the fields, was only about a half a mile distant.

* * * * * * *

Five years later, almost to a day, as old Pap Raper himself declared, and about the same time in the day, he and some of the neighborhood boys were sitting on the back porch, talking and waiting for the train. Finally it came thundering in, stopped at the station for an instant and was off again almost before the little knot of loungers on the platform had had time to see whether anybody had got off or not. A large and dignified looking gentleman, well dressed and carrying a valise, came towards them. "Is this Middleton's?" he asked.

"THERE'S SEVERAL OF 'EM 'BOUT HERE."

He was told that it was.

"Can any of you direct me to the Heaton farm?"

"Wall," said Pap Raper, "which Heaton farm do you mean? there's several of 'em 'bout here."

"I think," said the stranger, "that the man I want to see is known as Uncle Billy Heaton."

"Wall," volunteered the old store-keeper, "he lives only 'bout half er mile from here if you go 'crost the fields; if you go round the road it's a little more'n a mile, I guess."

"I think I can find the way," said the stranger, and he at once started off in the direction which had been pointed out to him.

In a day or two it was the all-absorbing topic of the conversation of the neighborhood that Champ Heaton had come back and that he had brought with him "dead loads" of money.

* * * * * * *

That fall, however, found Champ "plowin' for wheat" as usual on his father's farm. He had stayed long enough in the Black Hills to "make a stake," that is, enough to buy a new suit of clothes and a first-class passage home.

To-day, if you were to drop off at Middleton's, you more than likely would find him sitting on a nail keg on the little platform at the back of old Pap Raper's store.—Ed. R. Pritchard, in Arkansaw Traveler.

Raving Crazy.

Witness—An' then, Mr. Sims, thar, 'lowed he was a rooster, an' strapped on a tin bill, an' went to picking corn with the chickens.

Probate Judge—Probably the extreme heat made him a little flighty. He'll come out of it all right, I reckon.

Witness—Next day he wandered out on the street, an' told every new-comer he met that this town wa'n't boomin', an'—

Spectators (in one voice)—Ravin' crazy!—Puck.

AT THE THOUSAND ISLANDS.

Mr. Walton—I've just landed this muscalonge, and I want my picture taken with it to send round to my friends.

Prof. Heipau—All right, sir. Put that minnow in your pocket, and take your pick of my justly celebrated papier mache piscine prodigies. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.—Puck.

An Obscure Compliment.

Gwendolin—I have often wondered, Mr. Fassett, what your age may be.

Fassett—Well, Miss Gwendolin, thirty-seven years have come and gone since I first saw the light.

Gwendolin (snickeringly)—And do you know how old I am?

Fassett—I do not know how old you are, but you don't look it.—Jewelers' Circular.

He Didn't Avoid It.

Smith (observing a crowd around an ambulance across Broadway)—Been an accident over there?

Brown—Yes; man hurt very badly. Run over, or something.

"Anybody know who the man is?"

"Oh, yes. He's Dr. Smarty, author of the book, "How to Avoid Street Accidents."—Texas Siftings.

GOOD LISTENERS.

Men in the House Who Will Listen to Others' Speeches as Well as Their Own—Swinburne's Infirmity.

The men in the House of Representatives who like to listen to others making speeches are few and far between. The late Representative Kelley, of Pennsylvania, was a very good listener for many years, and so was William Walter Phelps, of New Jersey. General Weaver, of Iowa, and General Tom Browne, of Indiana, were noted as good listeners also. In the present House of Representatives Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Mr. Allen, of Mississippi, are distinguished as listeners. When any important matter is under consideration these gentlemen usually take a seat near the speaker, no matter whether he is a Republican or a Democrat, and with upturned faces they listen to every word as though it was the greatest pleasure in the world to hearken unto such eloquence. These gentlemen have also the pleasant faculty of congratulating speech-makers, and thus making themselves popular with the entire House because all the other members like to hear themselves talk, but do not like to listen to others. The result is that whenever one of these good listeners announces that he intends to make a speech upon any subject he usually has a full house, because the other members feel that it is their duty to return the compliment of these listeners. Reciprocity is a very good, successful playing-card in the House of Representatives.

In the Forty-eighth Congress Mr. Swinburne, of Albany, was celebrated for his infirmity. He had an affection of the throat which would be worth a fortune to any barber, because he could not speak loud enough to be heard a yard away. He did not take part in many of the debates, but occasionally something came up which affected his constituents and he then made arrangements with the Speaker to be recognized for a short speech; and, upon receiving recognition, he would very gravely rise and read in a whisper the remarks which he had in manuscript before him. Of course the official stenographers would all drop their pens and gaze aghast at the orator whom they could see but could not hear. Swinburne was never interrupted in his speeches because nobody could hear him to controvert what he might be saying. At the conclusion of his speech, the cold-blooded fellow members around him would give way to tremendous bursts of applause, thus making a hilarious joke of the man's infirmity. Despite his inability to speak, Mr. Swinburne was one of the best workers in committee in the New York delegation, and accomplished a great deal for the good of his district.

HIS FIRST THOUGHT.

Senator Pettigrew Tells a Pretty Good Story on Himself.

"After working as any ambitious man will work to attain a prize, when I reached the goal my first triumphant thought was one of the most ludicious ever entertained by me on any occasion."

The speaker was Hon. R. F. Pettigrew, U. S. Senator from South Dakota. We had been conversing concerning the first Statehood campaign, and I asked him how he felt when elected to the Senate by the Legislature of the new State. He continued, saying:

"You know all the preceding winter I had been here in Washington with Judge Moody, working for the passage of the bill giving us Statehood. Day after day I had come to the reception room of this Senate chamber, sent in my card and been obliged to wait the convenience of the Senators for whom I called. It constantly made me tired. Well, when the Legislature of my State elected me to this body, instead of feeling proud, and allowing my bosom to swell with triumph and my head to swell with a sense of my own importance, I smiled to myself and inwardly said: 'Now, I can get into that confounded Senate chamber without sending in my card.' I laughed at the absurdity and intense earnestness of my own thought, and the friends about me, I presume, believed that I was grinning on account of my election, as I ought to have been."

Next to Senator Ingalls, Senator Pettigrew is the best friend of the newspaper men in the Senate. He always talks frankly and freely with the gentlemen representing metropolitan dailies, and says, concerning his experience: "During my term in Congress as delegate from the Territory of Dakota and during my brief term here in the Senate only one man ever betrayed my confidence, and the error was the fault of his Creator rather than his own. I went upon the assumption that the poor fellow had brains, but he hadn't. I never blamed him for misquoting and misrepresenting me, for he absolutely was harmless, so far as his intentions went." S.

The Treatment She Required.

Jack—You're looking blue, Harry. What's the matter?

Harry—The old story, my boy; my fair one frowns upon me—treats me with coldness.

Jack—Perhaps you don't treat her with sufficient coldness—in the shape of ice cream.—Light.

A Slight Misunderstanding.

McGookin—Ye know me brother Moike?

O'Ragan—Oi do.

McGookin—He's gone to de State Legislature.

O'Ragan—Poor divil! How long was he sint up for?—Munsey's Weekly.

In the Surf.

Mr. Boldboy (smiling killingly)—The waves are using you rudely. Will you permit me to assist you to the shore?

Miss Waterly—Never mind, thank you. The waves may be rude, but they are not fresh.—Life.

Perversion.

Job Lott—If you can't live on your salary, why don't you go into something else?

Shippen Clarke—I have, sir: into my savings!—Puck.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it as the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following
Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
75 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-26-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD,]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At G. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AVENUE.
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET,
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-22-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1889
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 102. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. May16

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR

Gasolene Stoves,

ALL SIZES.

Refrigerators & Freezers,

Horse Sheets and Nets.

$90.00 for $65.00.

THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.

The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
5-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician, 13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of GENUINE Clocks, Diamond Rings, Gold Pins, Chains and Silverware. Sole Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles. Don't forget the number.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BETTERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE—STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:55 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 | A. M. | to meet | 8.32 | A. M. train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | | do | 10.17 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | | do | 12.02 | P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 | P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.30 | P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 | P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.20 | do | |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do | |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.08 | do | |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.32, 9.37, 10.70, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 5.30, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05 A. M., and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 50, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 50, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 50 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 50 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 50, 9 35, 11 37 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 37 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 9 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 6 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 9 33, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 37, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 2 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 6, 6 45, 6, 7 15, 8 00, 9 30, 11 45 P. M. Sunday—7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 07, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 34, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 06, A. M., 2 03, 3 05, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 33, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 32, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 27, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 21, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 2 20 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 2 20 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 21 7 03 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 1 59*, 2 32*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 20*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 20* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 35 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58*, a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Ninth and Green streets, 7 20*, 8 30*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 5 15, 6 02, 8 45, 12 p. m. Sundays—9 a. m., 12 00, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—8 10, 8 20*, 11 08, a. m. 12 02, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 5 55 a. m., 12 02, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 20, 4 00, 7*, 8*, 9*, 10 10, 11 55 a. m. 1 20, 2 10, 3 40*, 5 10, 5 55 6 30, 8 47, 10 p. m. Sundays—1 20, 4 00, 9 05 a. m. 1 25, 4, 5 55, 7, 8 47 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Round Brook.

J. H. OLMSTEAD, Gen. Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass Agent.

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, 1890 PRICE TWO CENTS.

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, SAY

Dark Outing Flannels will be very popular this Fall for Children's School Dresses. We are displaying a nice assortment of them. Price 12c.

* * * * *

Gentlemen, we will sell 50 dozen Unlaundried Shirts, 50c quality, for 39c each.

* * * * *

We put on sale, and 'tis the last of those remnants of Fine Outing Flannels; our price 10c.

* * * * *

We are offering some extra good values in Table Linen, Towels and Napkins.

* * * * *

Our Writing Paper deserves special mention; one at 10c a box, and one at 14c, which is as good as you generally pay 25c for.

* * * * *

There are 100 sample Corsets, sizes 25 to 30, Corsets that sold for $1 and $1 25. We close the entire lot for 60c pair.

* * * * *

Housekeepers will find many good things in our Furnishing Department. We keep a fine line of Crockery, Glass and Tinware, and sell them at popular prices.

* * * * *

We deliver goods everywhere, free of charge.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. (THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.)

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Wishing You Good Health Truly Yours Carl Kaerth Plainfield N J

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 18 E. 2d St. 4-24

WILL FIGHT IT OUT

Vice-President Webb Refuses to Arbitrat.

THE STATE'S OFFER REJECTED.

The Central Will Have Nothing to Do With Discharged Employe.

Powderly Says He is Still Willing to Settle the Difficulty by Arbitration. Holland and Toucey at Buffalo—Chief Arthur Will Not Reply to Powderly's Published Letter.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—It looks now as though a new turn would be given to the New York Central affairs soon, and that President Depew will shortly take charge.

It was given out at the Grand Central Depot last night that he had left Homburg for home and would catch the North German Lloyd steamer Elder at Southampton to-morrow.

All eyes are turned now upon the big meeting of delegates from the thirty-nine local assemblies belonging to District Assembly No. 246, which will be held in Albany on Monday morning.

By that time the Knights will know whether they must fight alone or with allies, and on the results of the action taken there will depend the future course of the strike. The present policy of the Knights is to attack the freight business of the road, giving the passenger business a chance to live, unless it be necessary to block that too, but not weakening their cause in any event by attacking the United States mails.

The leaders all declare that they do not and will not countenance violence or injury to the property of the company, and say that they deplore anything of that nature which has taken place as much as any one can possibly do so.

EFFORTS TO ARBITRATE.

State Commissioner Donovan Receives Letters from Powderly and Webb.

New York, Aug. 23.—State Commissioner Donovan wrote to Messrs. Webb and Powderly again requesting that they agree to arbitration to settle the strike. The following are the replies:

NEW YORK, Aug. 23, 1890.

F. F. DONOVAN, Esq., Board of Mediation and Arbitration.

DEAR SIR:—I take pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of your letter in which the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor are invited to a joint conference with the officials of the New York Central Railroad. Our Board are willing to comply with your request, and hold themselves in readiness to re pond at a moment's notice.

We hold ourselves in readiness to do any honorable thing to terminate the strike or avert another one, and sincerely hope that either arbitration or such other methods may be agreed upon as will have the desired effect.

Recognizing in you an officer of the State and assuring you that we have from the beginning been willing and anxious to submit the matter to your Board for adjustment, I am very truly yours,

T. V. POWDERLY, G. M. W. K. of L.

Mr. Webb's Reply.

Hon. F. F. DONOVAN, Member of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration.

DEAR SIR: I have received your letter of this date. As is well known to you and to the public, a large number of persons recently and suddenly quit the service of this company, and, with but few exceptions, have not applied for re-employment, but are engaged in holding meetings, conferring with officials of the order known as the Knights of Labor, and other labor organizations, and seeking to prevent by persuasion, threats, intimidation and in other ways the continuance in lawful employment of the persons who did not leave the company's service, and others who have been employed in the place of those who did.

This constitutes the existing "strike," and the further strike referred to by you, will or will not take place as the efforts of the persons who have left our service may or may not meet with success. I believe that such efforts will fail.

I am not aware of any difference or grievance existing between the company and its employes; and I must assume that the conference suggested by you as between the officers of the company and the representatives of our employes, is a conference suggested between the officers of the company and the officials of the Knights of Labor. These officials represent not our employes, but persons who have left our service and have not asked to be re-employed; but who, through these same officials of the Knights of Labor, have asked the discharge by the company of certain persons prior to the 8th of August be submitted to their investigation, and to arbitration by some tribunal to be selected in some way; a request which I have felt it to be my duty to decline.

For the above reason it seems to me inappropriate and unnecessary to have the conference suggested by you. Yours respectfully,

H. WALTER WEBB,
Third Vice-President.

ARTHUR IGNORES IT.

He Will Not Recognize Powderly's Letter to the Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23.—"I do not recognize General Master Workman Powderly's newspaper letter to me," said Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"Let him send a private communication through the mails asking me to define my position and that of the order regarding the Central strike and he will receive a prompt reply."

"What would that reply be?"

"Now you are asking me a question ahead of time, and one that I would not like to answer before it is propounded by Powderly; but you may state, and I know no way of putting it stronger," added Arthur, decisively, "that we are minding our own business and will continue to do so.

"I notice that Powderly complains that engineers are acting as firemen to take the place of strikers and help out. No word or notice of this has been received by me. In fact, our position in the whole trouble is thoroughly independent.

"I know nothing more of the strike than what has been published in the papers.

"I was not consulted or advised on the affair in the beginning, and therefore have no interest in it only so far as I am in sympathy with all classes who are striving to better their condition."

"Will the engineers strike?"

"They strike only on their own account. The order will take no official cognizance of the Central trouble unless complaints come from our members."

The Central's Big Force.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Mr. Webb says that the New York Central has now 5,000 men under pay and ready to take the strikers places, and that he has the names of as many more whom he can call on if wanted.

HOLLAND AND TOUCEY.

The Two Opposing Generals Take Charge of Their Interests at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The two opposing generals in the railroad war arrived in the city during the morning in the persons of J. J. Holland, of the Executive Board of the Knights of Labor, and J. M. Toucey, general manager of the New York Central Railroad.

Mr. Toucey went out to East Buffalo with a carload of about 40 non-union men with Superintendent Burrows. Mr. Holland registered at the Arlington Hotel, and after dinner repaired to the locomotive firemen's hall where the Switchmen's Union held a meeting.

To a reporter Mr. Holland said: "I am here in the interest of the Knights of Labor, and shall remain until the strike is opened. We tried every fair means possible with Mr. Webb to have the matter settled in an amicable way, and he declined to entertain any of the propositions made to him."

Mr. Holland further said he was in communication with the Locomotive Brotherhood Chief, P. M. Arthur, and he did not doubt he would approve the movement, and might be induced to join it. "The length of the strike is uncertain," said Mr. Holland in conclusion, "but we are in it to stay. We did not want to strike, but it has been forced upon us. The railroad would not take a step in the direction of arbitration."

WATCHING TERRE HAUTE.

Sargent Says that He Will Endorse Everything that Powderly Has Done.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 23.—It will not be the fault of Frank P. Sargent, or due to any deficiency in his powers of persuasion if every employe of the New York Central railroad, who is a member of the various orders identified with the Federation of Railroad Employes, does not find himself enrolled under the banner of the strikers by sundown to day.

Before the Council went into session Mr. Sargent said he would heartily endorse everything Mr. Powderly has done when the question came up as to what action would be taken regarding the request of Powderly for assistance, for that is the form in which the matter will resolve itself. "It is not now," said Mr. Sargent, "a question as to how much beef is buried on the New York Central, but whether organized labor shall be crushed, and buried, to boot."

Sargent, when asked the question, point blank, as to whether in the event of a strike being ordered it would be confined to those portions of the New York Central now affected, or extended to the connections west of Buffalo and the Vanderbilt lines in general, said that this would be one of the specific questions for the Supreme Council to decide. If they decided to call out the men, they would also designate the lines upon which the order should go into effect.

A MASS MEETING.

New Yorkers to Protest Against Pinkerton's Men Next Tuesday Night.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The latest development of the New York Central strike is a mass meeting to express the sentiment of the people of New York against the existence of "Pinkerton's private army," and in behalf of the rights of citizens to organize.

A meeting was held last night at which arrangements were made for the demonstration to take place next Tuesday evening. The meeting was instigated by the Radical Club. Among the speakers invited are T. V. Powderly, Samuel Gompers, Robert G. Ingersoll, J. J. Holland and Roger A. Pryor.

A personal canvass of every labor organization in the city was arranged for to insure the success of the demonstration.

Railroad Men Organizing.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 23.—The railroad men of Vermont are rapidly affiliating with the Steam Railroad Men's Protective Union. Grand Organizer Burns of Boston organized a union with 65 charter members at White River Junction and a union at St. Johnsbury with 75 charter members. He states that the discharge of members of the Knights of Labor on the New York Central road has thoroughly aroused the railroad employes on the Grand Trunk and other roads, and that the men are flocking into their various organizations in large numbers.

Won't Work for Non-Union Men.

BUFFALO, Aug. 23.—Secretary Edwin Kettle and all the nurses and waiters at the railroad branch of the Y. M. C. A. quit last night. The branch consists of a dining room, reading room and hospital. The reason given for quitting was that Superintendent Chamberlain, of the Central car shops, insisted on fitting up the branch as a lodging-house for the men taking the place of strikers. The employes claimed they were not hired to run a lodging-house. To-day a few colored people are doing the work. The patients in the hospital department were removed to the general hospital.

Cholera Near Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—Several cases of cholera according to the diagnosis of the attending physicians, have appeared in the vicinity of this city.

ERICSSON HONORED

The Remains of the Inventor Departs for Sweden.

6,000 MEN IN PROCESSION.

The Secretary of the Navy Escorts the Body to the Baltimore.

Grand Naval Demonstration—United States Warships in Line—Each Vessel Fired Twenty-One Guns as a Parting Salute to the Inventor of the Monitor. Crowds at the Piers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—America to-day returned to Sweden all that remains of the great John Ericsson, whose services to the Republic at the outbreak of the civil war have won him imperishable renown.

The United States army and navy, the State and municipal authorities, as well as numerous societies and organizations, turned out and paid the last tribute to the memory of the inventor of the Monitor.

More than 6,000 men, among them some of the best known in this country, turned out to-day and followed the hearse containing the coffin of the illustrious designer, engineer, shipbuilder and inventor from the little cemetery on Second street to the Battery.

The order of the procession in column was as follows:

Platoon of police.
Grand marshal and aids.
Navy Yard Band.
Thirteenth New York Regiment drum and bugle corps.
Battalion of United States marines.
Hearse, accompanied by Monitor seamen.
Body bearers.
Invited guests in carriages.
Amaranthus and Manhem lodges of Odd Fellows.
American Society of Swedish Engineers.
American Society of Civil Engineers.
American Society of Mechanical Engineers.
Marine Society of the city of New York.
Swedish division.
Norwegian American Seamen's Association.
National Association of Naval Veterans.
Farragut Naval Veteran Association, G. A. R.
Naval Post No. 516, G. A. R.
Stevens' Naval Post of Hoboken, G. A. R.
Rankin Post No. 10, G. A. R.
William Lloyd Garrison Post No. 207, G. A. R.
Representation from Delamater iron works.
Osbon cadets.
Lodges of Odd Fellows.

Secretary Tracy, on board the United States tug Nina, accompanied the remains to the Baltimore.

Eleven war ships of this country were in the harbor when the casket, wrapped in the flag which waved in the breezes from the Monitor when she fought the Merrimac in Hampton Roads, was transferred from the shore to the funeral ship Baltimore. When the casket was at last placed on board of the big cruiser and the vessel started across the Atlantic salutes were fired from every war ship in port, and the roar of cannon announced to the world the departure for his native land.

SHOT HIS DAUGHTER.

The Father a Frenzied With Grief Over the Tragedy.

HAZARDVILLE, Pa., Aug. 23.—Mamie Hagan, aged 20, is dying at her home here from a pistol shot wound at the hands of her father.

The young lady had clandestinely left her bedroom after her parents had retired for the night and gone to a ball with a young man with whom she had been forbidden to keep company.

She returned home after 2 o'clock and attempted to enter the house without being heard. Her father awoke, however, and mistaking her for a burglar fired on her with fatal result.

The father is frenzied with grief over the tragedy.

Quincy Sufferers Improving.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—The reports from the Quincy hospital are more favorable than at any time since the accident. Little Elizabeth Fennelly is able to take a little nourishment, and that was considered a most favorable sign. Capt. Abbott has improved a little, and Lucy Johnson, the Fennellys colored nurse, has been promised that she can sit up in a few days. Rev. F. M. Dimmick and his wife of Los Angeles, Cal., are very low, but there are some chances of their recovery. Mrs. Henry Welch and Mrs. George M. Snow are as well as can be expected, but both are in a poor state. The others are getting along well.

Had a Hand in Many Robberies.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 23.—Daniel Patton of Jefferson street was arrested by the police last night on suspicion of having robbed a man named Daniel Broughton of Boston on August 14. When brought before the desk Patton confessed the robbery, and also admitted that he, with the other seven members of the "Waverly gang," of which he is the leader, was responsible for the innumerable robberies that have puzzled the police of the First and Third Precincts within the past year.

Starving in Colorado.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 23.—The 500 or 800 people who live in Eastern Arapahoe county, Col., near the Kansas line, are in a state bordering on starvation. A committee representing the settlers was in Denver yesterday seeking aid of the county commissioners. Crops are an absolute failure this year, and as the country is now, the first settlement having been made only three years ago, the people have no resources and they find winter approaching without any prospect of pulling through it alive without assistance.

Secretary Proctor Fired the Gun.

BRADFORD, Vt., Aug. 23.—Secretary Proctor attended the camp of the Vermont National Guard yesterday and was received with due honors. The Secretary took an active interest in the battery practice and personally aimed one of the guns.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 |
| Cincinnati | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 |

Batteries—Daily and Buckley; Mullane and Harrington.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |

Batteries—Terry and Daly; Stein and Kittridge.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 |
| Cleveland | 3 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x | 8 |

Batteries—Getzein and Bennett; Young and Zimmer.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 6 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 3 | x | 12 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Gleason and Schriver; Osborne and Decker.

Players' League.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 1 | 2 | 1 | 6 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 10 |
| Buffalo | 1 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 |

Batteries—Madden and Murphy; Cunningham and Mack.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 3 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 7 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

Batteries—Knell and Cross; Baldwin and Boyle.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 1 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 11 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 5 |

Batteries—O'Day and Ewing; McGill and Brennan.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 7 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 5 |

Batteries—Weyhing and Ehaslow; Galvin and Carroll.

American Association.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 0 | 0 | 3 | 6 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 11 |
| Syracuse | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 |

Batteries—Sprague and Sage; McCullough and Briggs.

Atlantic Association.

AT NEW HAVEN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Haven | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 5 |
| Baltimore | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | x | 2 |

Batteries—Doran and Cahill; Baker and and Townsend.

AT WILMINGTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wilmington | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 |
| Harrisburg | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 3 | 10 |

Batteries—Anderson and Murray; Gamble and Sommers.

AT NEWARK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Newark | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 14 |
| Lebanon | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 |

Batteries—Serad and Murphy; Price and Coons.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 2,581 | 689 |
| New York | 1,541 | 472 |
| Boston | 1,563 | 1,514 |
| Brooklyn | 800 | 1,647 |
| Totals | 6,085 | 4,324 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 66 | 34 | .660 | Chicago | 55 | 46 | .545 |
| Boston | 64 | 37 | .627 | N. York | 44 | 57 | .436 |
| Philadel | 51 | 40 | .504 | Clev'l'nd | 31 | 67 | .316 |
| Cincin'ti | 50 | 38 | .512 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 80 | .192 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 58 | 39 | .598 | Philadel | 54 | 49 | .520 |
| Chicago | 56 | 46 | .549 | Pittsb'rg | 42 | 51 | .452 |
| Brookl'n | 51 | 44 | .581 | Clev'l'nd | 41 | 55 | .427 |
| N. York | 56 | 43 | .566 | Buffalo | 28 | 67 | .295 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'v'le | 61 | 31 | .663 | Col'mb's | 50 | 45 | .526 |
| Cincin'ti | 54 | 40 | .574 | Toledo | 46 | 48 | .547 |
| Athletic | 49 | 44 | .527 | Syracuse | 37 | 56 | .398 |
| Roch'st'r | 48 | 45 | .516 | Brookl'n | 27 | 69 | .281 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 73 | 24 | .753 | Wash't'n | 38 | 67 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 67 | 34 | .736 | Harrisb'g | 37 | 59 | .385 |
| Newark | 51 | 41 | .554 | Wilm't'n | 29 | 62 | .319 |
| Lebanon | 41 | 40 | .506 | Hartford | 22 | 62 | .262 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Cincinnati vs. New York, at New York.
Pittsburg vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Chicago vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Cleveland vs. Boston, at Boston.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Cleveland vs. New York, at New York.
Pittsburg vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Chicago vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Buffalo vs. Boston, at Boston.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Brooklyn vs. Syracuse, at Syracuse.
Toledo vs. Columbus, at Toledo.
Rochester vs. Athletics, at Rochester.
Louisville vs. St. Louis, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Baltimore vs. New Haven, at New Haven.
Lebanon vs. Newark, at Newark.
Harrisburg vs. Wilmington, at Wilmington.

Cutting Wages at Fall River.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 23.—Although the mills have only been running four days and several are now shut down, it is agreed that the sixty hours curtailment has only been an aggravation to the market and that print cloth manufacturing cannot long be controlled under existing circumstances. Some of the mill men argue that the help should now share in the hard times, and a cut down of wages is talked of. The Progressive Weavers Association last night endorsed the efforts of the manufacturers to curtail production and suggested another week's stoppage.

More Arrests at Asbury Park.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 23.—Five more arrests were made for selling liquor. On complaint of Mayor Beegle David R. Reid, George E. Williams and Lobert Cusack, a drugggist near the beach, and J. K. Parker of the West End Hotel were arrested on this charge. They were arrigned before Justice Wyckoff and placed under $250 bonds each to appear before the October Grand Jury. Much dissatisfaction is expressed at the action of the mayor.

Collician Released from Bail.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 23.—In the Municipal Court J. S. Collican waived examination on a charge of adultery and was held in $600 bail. He furnished sureties. The court declined jurisdiction in the case of Mattie Stevens and that went to the grand jury.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

Senators Arranging a New Order of Business.

CLOSING THE TARIFF DEBATE.

The Final Vote to be Taken on the Bill September 5.

The Election Bill to be Made a Special Order for the First Monday in December—The Programme to be Submitted to the Senate—Adjournment Not Possible Until October.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The Conference Committee appointed at the meeting of Republican Senators (Messrs. Hoar, Allison, Evarts, Springer, Plumb, Hale and Allen) met last night in the room of the Committee on the Judiciary and put into form the resolution establishing an order of business which it is proposed to adopt.

The resolution provides for closing debate on the Tariff bill August 30, the understanding being that a final vote will be had by September 5. The measures mentioned in the Quay resolution, including the Pure Food and Lottery bills, and to be disposed of before adjournment. The Election bill is to be made a special order for the first Monday in December, the day when Congress reconvenes, with the understanding that a vote on it is to be ordered not later than December 20.

This resolution is to be circulated among the Republican Senators, and when a majority of the Senate from the Republican side have signed it it is to be laid before the Senate formally for action. There is little doubt that the requisite signatures will be had.

A number of important matters remain to be acted on by the senate, and it is the general impression that the session will not end until nearly the 1st of October.

THE PRESIDENT'S SWIM.

He Takes a Plunge in the Surf at Cape May.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 23.—The President passed the day in little strolls along the strand with his grandson, who kept him busy skimming stones over the tops of the waves as they rolled in from the sea.

At midday he went into the surf and stayed an hour, with the breakers falling down upon his head, surrounded by all of his family except Mrs. Harrison, who looked on from the little Cape May Point pier.

The Philadelphia Accident.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—The number of killed by the falling of the car sheds of the Citizens' Passenger Railway Company, at Twelfth street and Susquehanna avenue, was increased to five by the finding in the debris of the body of John McChristy, aged 16 years, son of stable boss Hiram McChristy. In consequence of the rumors current that the weak condition of the walls of the depot are as much responsible for the accident as the cyclonic wind burst, a most rigid investigation is being made by the Coroner to discover, if possible, the exact cause of the catastrophe.

Drowned While Bathing.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 23.—Walter Howe, a prominent New York resident, was drowned at Bateman's beach at the south end of the island. He was in bathing with a number of cottagers who reside in that vicinity and suddenly he was missed. The body was recovered an hour afterwards. He was a good swimmer and was probably seized with cramps. Mr. Howe is well known in New York, having been appointed Acqueduct Commissioner by ex-Mayor Hewitt and being a prominent civil service reformer. He was 45 years old and leaves a family.

Miss Tracy Gets $100,000.

BUFFALO, Aug. 23.—A decision in the Tracy will case has been handed down by Judge Daniels. The court holds that Harriet F. Tracy, not having contested her father's will, is entitled to the $100,000 bequeathed to her. There was a clause in the will that the bequest of any contesting legatee should be void. The will was contested in Miss Tracy's behalf by her guardian, but the court holds that she was a minor at the time and did not personally contest the will.

The Tight Money Market.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—Concerning the stringency in the money market and the effect of his order for the redemption of 4½ per cent. bonds, Secretary Windom, who is here, said: "I have been in consultation with a number of gentlemen since my arrival in regard to the effect of the measure, and the reports were favorable. The bonds seem to be coming in freely and I believe that this action will afford sufficient relief."

Reducing Transportation Rates.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Aug. 23.—At a meeting of the Reading, Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central Railroads freight agents held here, it was agreed to reduce the transportation rates on coal and pig iron to tide-water points, and also on ores from tide-water to certain points in New Jersey. The reduction goes into effect August 27.

Fu lliat Daly's Challenge.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 23.—Charley Daly, middleweight pugilist of this city announces that he will fight any man in the world, bar nobody, at 145 pounds, give or take two pounds, the battle to take place within six weeks before any responsible club for a purse to be offered by the club.

AWFUL RIDE TO DEATH.

A Gravity Car Runs Away and Several Persons Are Killed.

READING, Pa., Aug. 23.—Shortly before noon a terrible accident occurred on the Mount Penn Gravity railroad, a mountain route encircling Mount Penn 800 feet above the city of Reading.

The road was opened five months ago and has been doing a good business ever since.

The cars were taken from a point on the outskirts of the city to the top of the mountain, a distance of five miles. On returning the cars were allowed to go down the mountain by gravity by way of another route to the point of starting.

Shortly before noon a car containing about eighteen passengers was taken from the station to the top of the mountain. This consumed about thirty minutes. On the top of the mountain there is a high stone tower where the passengers were allowed to alight and enjoy the scenery.

There are different stories as to the cause of the accident, but it appears that when the tower was reached the point where the gravity portion of the road commences the engine was detached, when the car ran away, while the passengers were still on board.

The distance to the point of starting is five miles, and it is said that this was covered by the runaway car in three minutes, the car attaining an estimated speed of eighty miles an hour.

It remained on the track to the foot of the plane, going around all the curves, while the passengers shrieked in their fright and several jumped off.

At the foot of the plane it jumped the track and landed upside-down at the bottom of a fifty-foot embankment, with the passengers imprisoned within the car.

Doctors and ambulances were hurriedly sent for.

Four persons were taken out dead and a number injured.

Among the killed were: CHARLES REITZEW, aged 55, conductor of the runaway car.

EDGAR M. LEVIN, an attorney of this city, aged 40.

MISS ROSA PFEIFFER, a young lady of this city.

MISS HARRIET HINKLER, of Philadelphia.

Miss H. Schittler and Mrs. W. A. H. Schmel are fatally injured.

Among the others injured are Sallie Bye and Mary Guthrie, of Wilmington, both badly injured, and Willie Schmel, of this city, both legs broken.

It is miraculous that a single passenger escaped, as the car was smashed to pieces. A thorough investigation will be commenced to-morrow by the Coroner.

Killed in a Sham Battle.

ATHENS, Pa., Aug. 23.—During a sham battle at the military encampment here a cannon was prematurely discharged, killing Will Blossom, aged 20 years, fatally injuring James M. Castamore, aged 20, and tearing off the thumb of Gabriel L. Millock. All reside in Waverly, N. Y.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

It is announced that Prince Bismarck will not visit England.

Severe frost is reported in portions of Minnesota, North Dakota and Manitoba.

Business in Melbourne, Australia, is prostrated on account of labor strikes.

The report that Emperor William intends visiting Vienna in September is denied by the "North German Gazette."

Four persons, all from New York, were seriously injured by the upsetting of a tally-ho coach at Kattskill Bay, Lake George.

The Board of Trade of Wilkesbarre, Pa., will meet early next week to raise funds for those whom the cyclone has left in need of financial aid.

Robert E. Wood, a highly respected and prominent business man of Ansonia, Conn., died at his home there last evening. He had been ill only a few days. His age was 75 years.

Col. Halbert S. Greenleaf, of Rochester, N. Y., announces that he will accept the Democratic nomination for Congress. John Van Voorhis is the Republican nominee.

Rowland Parry, one of the founders of the Pennsylvanian, a daily newspaper which for years exerted a great influence in Philadelphia, died at his residence in Philadelphia, aged 85 years.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—For New England: Light rain, followed by clearing, cooler weather; winds shifting to northwesterly.

For Eastern New York and New Jersey: Local rains, followed by generally fair weather; cooler; northwesterly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Fair, preceded by light local showers on the lakes; northerly winds; slightly cooler.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Money on call to-day, 40 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 103¼ | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 104¼ | 105 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 124 | 124½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 124 | 124½ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 83¾ | 83 |
| Central Pacific | | |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 101¼ | 102 |
| Delaware & Hudson | 141 | 140 |
| Del. Lack. & Western | 144¾ | 143¾ |
| Erie | 25¾ | 25½ |
| Erie pref. | 84¾ | |
| Lake Shore | 105¾ | 105 |
| Louis. & Nash | 67 | 67¾ |
| Michigan Central | | 93¾ |
| Missouri Pacific | 70 | 70¾ |
| New Jersey Central | 121 | 121 |
| Northwestern | 109 | 108¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | 85¾ | |
| Pacific Mail | 43¾ | 43¾ |
| Reading | 43¾ | 43¾ |
| Rock Island | 80¾ | 80¾ |
| St. Paul | 77¾ | 77¾ |
| Union Pacific | 50¾ | 50¾ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—An epidemic of house fleas seems to have reached Plainfield. Have you noticed it?

—The Olympia bowling alleys on Sycamore street, will be opened for the season next Monday.

—A handsome home is offered for sale in another column. It cost $35,000, but would be sold for half that price.

—A composite curbing is being constructed about the library property at the corner of Park avenue and Eighth street.

—Talmage's new work, "From Manger to Throne" is now ready for subscription, Popular Mr. Wachenhusen, of Home-oil fame, is the canvasser.

—The Finance Committee of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association have under consideration the advisability of issuing a third series of shares.

—As Miss Tillie Tingley was riding by on her bicycle, this morning, an impertinent dog sprang out into the street and seizing her dress in his teeth tore it into ribbons.

—F. R. Stevens of this city has just consummated the sale of a bill of lumber amounting to $25,000. It is to be used in the completion of the new hotel at Lakewood.

—It would deplete the City Treasury considerably if it were compelled to pay a fine of twenty-five cents for every root of wild carrot now growing in the City Park.

—Shareholders of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will meet in Cutter's Hall next Monday evening at eight o'clock, for payment of monthly dues and other business.

—VanEmburgh & White are offering extra good values throughout their entire store. There are many goods that have to be sold to make room for Fall stock, and to sell they have cut prices regardless of cost or value.

—Edward Stelle Randolph, a Plainfield wheelman, came to grief on the Front street road near Evona this morning, by running his bicycle into a ditch filled with muddy water. Besides receiving a thorough drenching, he damaged his wheel.

—There will be a special meeting of Gazelle Engine company, No. 1, held in their parlors Monday evening next at 8 o'clock sharp. A full attendance of the members is requested, as business of importance is to be brought before the meeting.

—What resembled a tornado passed over the Southwestern portion of this city during the severe storm last evening. Trees were uprooted and twisted off, and fields of standing corn leveled to the ground. The blow lasted about three minutes.

—A drenching downpour of rain, accompanied by fierce electric displays, visited this section last night. The streets were for some minutes deluged, and those having to pass under the railroad bridges had to wade through a considerable depth of water.

—Yust Gauthier, the carpenter who accused Adolphe Renoux, of Mt. Bethel, of beating, imprisoning and robbing him, had no witnesses to substantiate his charges, and Justice Hardy this morning released Renoux on his paying the costs of the suit and restoring to Gauthier his carpentry tools.

—The seventeen carloads of excursionists who went from Plainfield to Asbury Park, yesterday, had a good time at the shore. The outgoing trip was made in good time, but the train was considerably delayed in returning, and the excursionists reached home in time to find the town deluged with rain.

The Testimonial Concert and Dance at The Netherwood.

The unparalled severity of last night's storm, precluded the presence at Hotel Netherwood of any of the cottagers or other invited guests upon the occasion of the testimonial benefit tendered Prof. Greenop and his orchestra. The Hotel's inmates, however, were able to enjoy the choice programme of instrumental selections so finely rendered, and the order of dance that followed. THE PRESS has had occasion already to commend the instrumental music of this season at Netherwood. There has been nothing of its kind in former years so good, and the guests have thoroughly appreciated it. No effort was necessary to make last night's testimonial a financial success. A subscription list was hung in the office and voluntary contributions on it soon footed $200.

THE NEW CAR COMPLETED.

It Will Make Its Inaugural Trip With President Howard and the Club, Next Monday.

The new car that has been so much talked of and long expected, in which the members of the Howard Club will hereafter travel back and forth between Plainfield and New York, was turned out as complete from the shops in Wilmington, yesterday, and passed through this city to the Communipaw yard where it will be inspected and approved by the Superintendent before being placed upon the road.

Monday evening the car will make its first trip. President Howard and his luxurious party will leave New York at 5:30. Some of the lady members of their families will accompany the car on its inaugural trip. There has been so much of fancy and so little of fact written about this palatial club-room on wheels, that the people at large really know little about it. Here is the first complete and true description ever published:

The car was built by the Harlan & Hollingsworth company, builders and fitters of some of the finest yachts in the country. It is the largest car in this section of the World, and weighs about eighty thousand pounds. The length is 72 feet, width 9½ feet, and diameter of the wheels—of which there are twelve—3 feet. The windows set close together with mirrors between, are each a sheet of plate glass 2x3 feet and run up so that the bottom of the sash is way above the line of vision.

Inside is everything that can be desired, from plush covered sofas to polished metal umbrella stands. The interior is divided through the centre so that in one end the smokers may enjoy themselves without discourtesy to lady guests. The partition, however, is of glass so that the entire car is visible inside from end to end. The woodwork of the interior is mahogany, with a ceiling of oak paneling. The only decoration is a light tracery of colorless Autumn leaves on the ceiling. The seats are movable and the most comfortable that can be imagined. They are what are called "Bank of England chairs," of mahogany and pressed leather fitted to the sitter's back. In the centre of the car and at each side of the door leading to the platform of the smoking end, are soft sofas. Seats are provided for at least seventy occupants. The floor is covered with expensive carpets.

About the card tables are such fixtures as may be of convenience in the way of ash cups, match safes, card lockers, etc. An extensive lavatory and saloon is provided, as well as a roomy coat closet. Every modern improvement for thoroughly lighting, heating and ventilating the car has been put in with the same thoughtlessness of expense that is evidenced everywhere. The exterior of the car is of two shades of olive green, relieved by a light pencilling of gold. The hand rails are of coppered-brass. The cost of the car was between $15,000 and $18,000.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Francis E. Marsh is at The Dunning, Bath Beach, L. I.

Miss Mollie Hartman, of Deadwood, Cal., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. George Butscher.

Ex-Councilman R. M. Stover leaves today for Richfield, N. Y., where he will seek renewed health.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Lyon, Jr., and family of College place, are stopping for three weeks at Kensico, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wood of Springfield, Ill., are visiting Mrs. Wood's sister, Miss A. Thompson, of 13 Peace street.

The Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, sailed from Europe Thursday for home.

Louis Newman, son of H. Otis Newman of West Fifth street, will be the organist at Crescent Avenue church, to-morrow.

Charles Stace, formerly of this city, but now of New York, is visiting his parents on West Third street, for a few weeks.

W. H. Brower started today for his club quarters in Canada, where he will enjoy two weeks of hunting and fishing.

The Misses Josie Scheffler and Kittie Young of New York, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. George Butscher, of West Fourth street, and also their niece and nephew, Miss Madeline and Master Joseph Carroll.

The Rev. L. C. Rogers, Professor of History at Alfred University, Alfred Centre, N. Y., and father of Chas. Potter Rogers of Plainfield, is visiting at the home of Chas. Potter, Jr., on West Seventh street.

A party of fifteen Plainfielders united with friends from New York, Bound Brook and other places, in a merry dance on the broad floors of the barn at Mr. Trust's country seat at Green Brook. The frolic was continued all last night.

Miss Julia E. Bulkley, Principal of the Plainfield Public Schools, who for more than a year has been touring in the Old World, arrived home yesterday on the steamship Normannia, from Hamburg. The vessel reached the Bar at 2:55 A. M.

The Rev. Isaac P. Brokaw, one of Freehold's ablest ministers, who is to preach in the Trinity Reformed church to-morrow morning and evening, will be the guest during his stay in Plainfield of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street.

—If he who said, "there's nothing new Beneath the sun," had fed
His visuals on Collier's stock,
He'd gone and soaked his head.

TEMPTED BEYOND RESISTANCE.

How a Trusted and Respected Clerk Came to Commit His First Crime, and Where it All Has Ended.

The many friends of George W. Curtis, in this city where he lived so long and was so universally popular in society, will be grieved to learn of his fall from the heights of honor where he had always stood so sturdily. It is but another tale of temptation beyond resistance, yet there are certain circumstances surrounding this young man's crime that should temper all condemnation of him.

Curtis had been for years a clerk in the establishment of his step-brother, John F. Plummer who claims to have been robbed and ruined by W. S. Darling. It was under Darling that Curtis received his business education, and the subsequent ease with which Darling could help himself to many thousands of dollars and be permitted to enjoy it to this day unmolested, must have had a disastrous effect on the young man's moral senses.

When Mr. Plummer went out of business and was succeeded by Jas. Murphy, the assignee, Curtis still kept his place and also was retained by the New England Company, into whose hands the business passed from the assignee. Curtis's duty was to send purchased goods to different firms in the city for their approval. If the goods were up to the sample they were kept and entered by Curtis as sold. If not satisfactory they were returned to the New England Company. One day a truckman returning with a load of unsatisfactory goods to Broadway and Leonard street, disappeared with his load and Curtis had to make the loss good. In order to get the money, it is alleged, he began to steal.

After that he would send goods below sample to different firms and when they were refused he would sell them to an East side auction house of shady repute and pocket the money. Then he would enter the goods on his books as sold at thirty, sixty and ninety days' credit. The first half-dozen of these bills he made good but fearing ultimate detection he decided to sell as much as possible of the company's goods at once and leave the city. This he did, getting about $6,000 at one haul.

The matter was placed in the hands of Inspector Byrnes and Detective Sergeants McNaught and Crowley succeeded in finding Curtis at Solsville, Madison county, New York. Yesterday they brought him back to New York city.

When arraigned before Justice Patterson at the Tombs Court in the afternoon Curtis unbosomed himself and gave the name of the person to whom he had sold the goods. The Judge at once issued a warrant for the arrest of Adolph Kronold, of the firm of Kronold & Co., No. 6 Walker street. He was found at his place of business. The office-boy, Abraham Meyer, who got Kronold's checks cashed at the People's Bank and paid the money over to Curtis, was brought along by Detective McNaught as a material witness. Curtis had been accustomed to send the boy around to his employer's store and with the money pay off one or two of the long-standing bills at each transaction with Kronold, who, he alleges, was in league with him. Curtis was held for examination on September 1. Kronold's hearing was set down for Monday afternoon. Bail was fixed in both cases at $5,000.

At Netherwood!

The following effusion is contributed to THE PRESS by its author, a well-known New York lawyer who Summers at the beautiful suburb he so beautifully describes:

In Summer's infant days—'twas early June—
When first I stood
Upon the station of an afternoon
At Netherwood.
I gazed enchanted by its beauties rare.
I wish I could
Describe in fitting words a place as fair
As Netherwood.

When the Creator made this wondrous World
And called it good,
A sparkling gem was out of chaos hurled;
'Twas Netherwood!
A charming spot to rest from care and labor,
Is Netherwood;
And then I have a very pleasant neighbor
And neighborhood.

Now sweetly sounds the cricket's vesper hymn,
Fair sisterhood!
When lingering twilight shrouds the mountains dim
At Netherwood.
As days pass by, my love is growing stronger
For Netherwood.
I'd stay forever if I stayed much longer.
I know I should.
When Autumn skies are getting gray and sober
At Netherwood,
And falling leaves betray the sad October,
I'll leave for good.

A. R. DYETT.

One Who Wants More Like the Big 6.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The muddle into which the coterie of Republican "Publicans" of 1889 have involved our good city with their Water Works contract, should show the intelligent voter how unfit men—who have personal hobbies, and would like to catechise every man as to his religious belief, and his views on temperance—are to represent a growing city, and one with such a fair future as Plainfield. Let us all work hard and honestly to place men in charge of our city's interest made of the same stuff as the sturdy Big 6, who serve "no hobbies," who represent "no circle," but serve and represent Plainfield first, last and all the time. If this is done it is safe to say such contracts are not likely to be made, as brains always out weigh $ in the long run.

CRITIC.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

A Young and Low Priced Horse Thief—Nipping a Duel, in the Bud—Mrs. Littell's Dangerous Condition—The Raritan Rises—Happy Papa Cullen.

(Special to THE DAILY PRESS.)

BOUND BROOK, Aug. 22:—Yesterday afternoon a boy stole a horse belonging to Mr. Lattourette. He drove the horse to New Brunswick and offered it to some storekeeper for $10, who refused to buy. Later Mr. Lattourette came to New Brunswick and recovered his horse. The boy's name is withheld on account of his family. It is rumored, however, that a warrant is out for his arrest.

Yesterday afternoon two young men who are soon to appear in drama, were practicing a duel with knives. The noise and the way they slashed at one another, soon drew a number of boys to the spot where the duel was taking place. Some of these spectators got scared and ran about town telling people that two men were killing one another. A large crowd gathered, stopped the duel, and were going to have the duellists arrested. But after the people found out it was only a sham, there was some disappointment.

Latest reports about Mrs. B. F. Littell, who is suffering from lockjaw, imply that her condition has turned for the worse. A day ago she was not expected to live. She is 65 years of age.

Last night's rain raised the Raritan river several feet and the water is still rising.

Thos. I. Cullen, the good natured night baggagemaster, is now the happy papa of a baby girl.

Hartmann not Convicted, Only "Held."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In your issue of Wednesday you say "that the Justice should decide to hold Hartmann under bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury." Is it not a rule in the whole civilized world that no defendant is guilty till he is convicted? and even so that "till conviction is established the Judge shall be found on the side of the defendant?"

Mr. H. is by no means convicted, and therefore I guess no attempt should be made to influence the decision of the Justice, otherwise than by a legal proceeding. Besides it should not be forgotten that Mr. Hartmann for two years and four months has lived among us in a respectable position and way, without any blame previous to the complaint of his sister. I have no doubt you will acknowledge these remarks, and remain

F. KOECHLI.

[Neither THE PRESS nor Justice Hardy deems Hartmann guilty. But Mrs. Goetze's story was such that it was the Justice's duty to hold Hartmann, as THE PRESS said. The Justice did so, although that is no evidence that he did not believe that Hartmann may eventually prove his innocence. As far as THE PRESS is concerned, it does not believe all that Mrs. Goetze says.—ED.]

Trainmen Feel of the Lightning's Pulse.

A strange effect in electricity was noticed in the neighborhood of Fanwood during last night's heavy thunderstorm. A freight train was running along at good speed when the engineer and fireman heard above the roar of the storm and the rumbling of the train a strange incessant crackling sound. Looking out of the cab windows, the two men were astonished to see vivid electric discharges flash from the telegraph wires on one side of the track, through the locomotive, to the wires on the opposite side. The display back and forth continued some time, and was repeated at intervals along the road to Westfield. Neither the engineer nor the fireman experienced any physical sensation because of the electric discharges, but they were considerably awed at a sight which seemed so wierd and supernatural.

Fine Shooting at the Gun Club Grounds.

There was a good attendance of shooters and spectators on the grounds of the Middlesex Gun Club, at Dunelle yesterday, and some close and exciting shooting at live birds. Among the noted crack shots present was Frank Kleinz, Robert Irwin, Robert Welch, from Philadelphia, John Lawrence, of Rahway, Van Riper, of New York, Post, of New Jersey, and Charles Smith, Dan Terry, Dr. Zeigler, Dug. Darby, of Plainfield.

Sixteen contestants faced the traps and the "outsiders" had but few shots at stray birds. The last event was a miss-and-out between Kleinz, Irwin, Van Riper and Chas. Smith. Van Riper went out on his third bird, Irwin on his fifth, and Smith on his eighteenth, giving the victory to Kleinz.

Congratulations for Webb.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Aug. 23.—A large number of manufacturers of this city have signed a letter, which has been sent to the acting president of the Central Railroad, in which he is congratulated for "the manly stand he has taken against the strikers." The manufacturers say they hope and trust that he will not recede from his position and they predict that he will come off victorious if he remains firm.

Two More Deaths in Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 23.—Jacob Bergold and Frank Olean, who were injured in the recent cyclone, died last night. This makes twelve deaths so far. James Long and Mrs. Barrett are in a critical condition.

Death of Prof. Hedge.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Professor Frederick Henry Hedge, D. D. and L. L. D., whose name for a number of years has headed the list of officers of Harvard University, died yesterday, aged 85.

For "liver complaint," or biliousness, sick headache, and all diseases arising from a disordered condition of the liver and stomach, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets—a gentle laxative or active cathartic, according to size of dose.

Rexwheat.

The most healthful, appetizing and palatable

SPRING AND SUMMER FOOD

For young, old, weak or strong. Marion Harland calls it: "Delicate and Delicious."

At leading grocers. Wholesale by N. W. FRENCH.

Classes in German AND SINGING.

Prof. Koerfer, Teacher,

At Saengerbund Hall, Somerset St.,

Every Saturday, Beginning Sept. 6, 1890.

Class for Adults, - 9 to 11 A. M.
" " Children, - 2 to 4 P. M.

TERMS—50 Cents a Month.

8 20 28 27

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.

He manufactures them and knows what the contain. ☞TRY THEM.

Handsome House for Sale.

An elegant mansion and 27 acres land at New Market, N. J. Cost over $35,000; will sell for about half. Offers wanted. Elegantly situated; on high ground, overlooking Plainfield. Barn, Carriage House, all in fine order. Inquire, W. S. STEVENS, Dunellen, N. J.

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 30, 1890.

Angle, D A
Agnew, Miss Louisa
Clancy, J
Christe, Fred
Carpenter, Chas
Conyn, Miss
Copp, Miss Abbie
Drake, Miss Mary
Gillespie, Miss Mary
Gan3ay, Catherine
Gage, Mrs Delia
Hunting, Master Lu
Haherbin, Miss Maggie
Jacobs, L M
Killilia, Miss M
Moore, Mrs
Murray, Miss Delia A
Maloney, Daniel
Morris, Miss C E
O'Brien, Miss Agnes Powers, Nellie
Pulliam, Chas
Quick, J V
Rogers, Mrs John
Ryan, Miss Johana
Rankin, G W
Robertson, John
Taylor, Mrs M J
Taylor, Mrs J S
Wheeler, Mrs

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7: 30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2: 30, 5: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 and 9:30 A. M., 1: 45, 5: 30 and 8 P. M.
SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2: 40, 6: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 A. M., 4: 30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 6: 30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9: 30 to 10: 30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6: 30 P. M.

E. R. POPE, P. M.

DEATHS.

MEGIE—At rest, Aug. 21, 1890, Benj. G. Megie, in his 77th year.
Funeral from 188 East Front street, Sunday, Aug. 24, at 5 P. M. Interment in Marble Cemetery, New York, Monday.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

FOR SALE—Fresh Cow. Apply at 81 West 5th street.

BARN to let corner Church and 2d streets. Harry Campbell.

FOR SALE—Three horses, 1 Summer phaeton, 1 pony phaeton, 1 Saxon top phaeton, carry 4, 50 dollars; 2 top buggies, 2 setsofsingle and double harness, farm wagon, plough, lawn mower, garden engine, &c. Enquire J. R. Parsons, New Market.

FOR SALE—Lot 32x100, on Emily street, near Somerset, with or without barn. E. C. Mulford, Broker.

GIRL wanted for general housework. Apply at 14 Craig place.

WANTED—Girl to do general housework in small private family. Call or address Mrs. Cocks, corner Woodland and South avenues, Netherwood, near station. 8 23 2

STRAYED AWAY—A lemon and white setter bitch dog. Reward from owner. Inquire at PRESS office.

LARGE pleasant room; good table board. Jacob Tingley, 36 West Fourth street.

WANTED—House to take care of for this Winter by young respectable couple. Have references. Address G. L., PRESS office. 8 25 2

LOST—On Wednesday, a gold lace pin, (6)y and curl in the centre). Finder rewarded by calling at 19 Grove street.

FIFTY Acres Good Pasture, with running streams, for horses and cattle. Apply Ellis Campbell. 8-14-os-tf

LOST—Lady's black silk Umbrella, in case; silver handle. Dropped from carriage in Plainfield or over Netherwood down macadamized road. Reward will be paid at 146 East Front street. 8 22 3

FOR SALE—A black cob built family horse; warranted perfectly sound. Address G., PRESS office. 8 20 6

MAN wanted to run stone drill. Address Box M 13, Scotch Plains, N. J. 8 20 6

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing, calsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Zenet, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & Co. 6-11-tf

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 22c pound.
Havermeyer & Elder's standard Granulated Sugar.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods P. M. DENARENT, 25 PARK AVENUE. 8 23

M. M. A.

Music Hall.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26,

George Thatcher's Minstrels!

Under the management of Rich & Harris.

The Most Talented, Best Paid, Best Paying and Best Playing Band of Minstrels under the Sun.

A few of our Minstrel Celebrities:—George Thatcher, John Wild, Wood and Shepard, Thos. LeMack, Jay Quigley, R. J. Jose, Raymon Moore, Thos. Lewis, H. W. Frillman, John A. Coleman, Rodo, Leo Rapoli, and Mazuz & Abacco's Quintet of Arabian Acrobats.

Street parade 12 M.

Seats on sale Saturday, August 23.

Prices—50c., 75c., and $1 00. 8 20 td

SECOND ANNUAL

EXCURSION

OF THE

Grocers' Protective Association,

Of Plainfield, N. J., to

BOYNTON BEACH,

On LABOR DAY,

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.

Train leaves Plainfield 8 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.

Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. 8 22 8

MOY.

8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue,

Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-y

J. T. VAIL, REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3 25-y

M. M. DUNHAM.

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD, THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

45 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting.

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed, Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 58.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.

Choice Can't Go Wrong!

WHERE ALL IS OF

THE CHOICEST!

COME TO

PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST.

10-25-tf

BARGAINS!

To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!

Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:

GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.

GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.

CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.

GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.

TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.

FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

—SELLING OUT CHEAP!—

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.

1-3-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish, Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON.

3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 20 Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. — (Chotola Building), — Plainfield, N. J.

☞N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE, A SPECIALTY.

4-11-y

COAL LUMBER And Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

AN ORGAN AT LAST.

The Republicans of Plainfield Will Speak Through the "Times" Hereafter.

This seems to be an era of change in newspaper matters. But a few days ago it was noticed that Senator Carpenter had bought the New Brunswick Times, and now it is reported that Mr. Frank W. Runyon has bought the Central New Jersey Times, of Plainfield, and will issue it as a semi-weekly. The report goes on to say that the new editor "will convert it into a live Republican paper." The Times has always been Republican, and it has, moreover, been one of the cleanest and purest papers in the state and one whose moral tone has been far above the average. If there have been points upon which it differed from other Republican papers in the state, it must be admitted that Editor Leonard took his position always upon what he believed to be the moral principle involved. He never opposed Republican principles as he understood them, but only such policy as he believed to be inconsistent with those principles. In his retirement from active journalism the state will lose one of its most conscientious editors. It is, however, sincerely hoped that the change will not only preserve the high tone of the Times but be entirely beneficial to the Republican party in Plainfield. The Republicans are in great majority there, and they can well sustain a couple of first class Republican newspapers.—Elizabeth Journal.

It is strange that so sometimes farsighted a paper as our Elizabeth contemporary, should be so blind upon an occasion like this. The Republicans, who are a great majority here, do not want a "couple" of first-class papers but say they will be satisfied with just one that is respected, to voice their sentiments and their party's principles. As said above, the Times has on "points" differed from other Republican papers in the State—notably "differed" in refusing to wear a Sewell collar—and in consequence, a large clique of Republicans in this city had withdrawn their support, and the powers that be had taken away from the Times the publication of the laws and blocked other like sources of income.

Since then the party has had no "organ," although when it first started, the readiness of the news to call every Democrat a drunkard and a horse thief, commended it to some Republicans. It was not long, however, before the party themselves realized that a paper of its character would not be permitted entrance to decent people's houses, and even if uttering the party's sentiments would have no weight, consideration nor respect. Then an effort, that has just been successful, was made to gain control of the Times and make it the mouthpiece of the Republicans of Plainfield.

"A Successful Tour and Popular Favor Assured."

The programmes of Thatcher's Minstrels, which are being distributed through the city, are printed by mistake, "We are coming Friday, August 26." The truth is George and his company will be here next Tuesday evening. The Springfield Republican says of the entertainment:

The performance given by George Thatcher's Minstrels at the Opera House last evening had many excellences and but few defects, judged even by the high standard which has been set in the organization of the troupe and the arrangement of their entertainment. The very large midsummer audience expected much from a company for which Mr. Thatcher stood sponsor, and therefore to say that a minstrel audience in this city has seldom been more thoroughly entertained is a deal of praise. A successful tour and much popular favor seems assured the organization on its first season's tour.

The programme is arranged with the customary half-circle for the first part, with part two devoted to a series of specialties. While the arrangement and character of this programme is not new, its detail is often original and novel. The soloists of the first part form an almost unexcelled combination. Messrs Moore, Frillman and Jose appeared to especial advantage, Mr. Moore's new ballad, "God Bless Our Home," making a distinct impression, while Mr. Jose's rendering of "The Lone Grave" is likely to prove one of the most popular features of this part of the performance.

Of George Thatcher it is needless to say more than that he is the same inimitable Thatcher, thoroughly himself. Frank LaMondue's wire act is to be commended for its combination of humor with a novel feat of rare skill, which cannot be said of Mr. Ropoli's equilibrist performance, which was wonderful and thrilling without being entertaining. Wood and Shepard, everyone was pleased to note, were out with an act that not only differed from that of last year in detail, but equals it apparently in mirth-provoking quality.

Took His Bath on Park Avenue.

The policemen on duty during last night's drenching storm noticed a dark object floating down the flooded gutters of Park avenue. At first they thought it a discarded umbrella, but presently legs and arms were seen to flounder and thrash about, and by hauling the bundle from its soaking deluge, just as it was being forced into the sewer-basin, they found it to be a man, who sputtered forth that it was a shame to rob a man of his bath. The fellow was intoxicated, otherwise he would have been drowned. His name was given as Sinas Coon, and today Mayor Moffett fined him two dollars, all the money he had.

Beaneaters in the Soup.

The Unknowns defeated the Young Beaneaters in a game of base ball on the West Fourth street grounds yesterday by a score of 21 to 20. A. Muir and George Firstbrook constituted the battery for the Unknowns, and H. Brown, C. Meyer, W. Scott and W. Stewart for the Young Beaneaters. The umpire was F. Shattle; the scorer, D. Kilbride.

Fell From The Stable Roof.

John Flynn of Scotch Plains, was working on the roof of Richard Day's stable on West Fourth street, yesterday, when he slipped and fell to the ground, fifteen feet below. He was greatly bruised by the fall, and was render nearly senseless, but no bones were broken. He is still under a physician's care.

Success is the envy of the weak brained. They seek to get there too. No wonder that they resort to counterfeiting. The reputable dealer should not encourage imitators. Be sure and ask for Hires' Root Beer Packages, and he especially sure you get them.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Brief notices will be inserted under this head free of expense, but must be delivered at this office not later than eleven o'clock on Saturday morning to insure publication.

First Unitarian Society, Second place. The Rev. Hobart Clark, pastor. Services to-morrow at 10:30 A. M.

The service at the Memorial chapel at Washingtonville to-morrow evening, will be conducted by Capt. Geo. D. Morrison.

The masses in St. Mary's church to-morrow will be at 8:30, 9:45 and 10:45 A. M. Vespers will be held at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Services will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 10:30 A. M. and 7:45 P. M., with preaching by the Rev. W. C. Stinson of Dunellen.

A lecture for young Christians introductory to the study of the book of Revelations, commencing at 8 P. M. promptly, will be held to-morrow at 6 East Front street.

To-morrow one service will be held in the German Reformed church on Craig place, North Plainfield, at 10:30 A. M. None in the evening. Sunday school at 2:30 P. M.

Warren Mission Sunday school to-morrow at 2:30 P. M. No evening service during August. Young People's meeting Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. All are invited.

Services to-morrow in the Trinity, Reformed church at 10:30 and 7:45. The Rev. Isaac P. Brokaw of Freehold, N. J., will preach both morning and evening. A cordial welcome to all.

Mr. R. E. Pease will conduct the Young Men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Sunday at 4:15 P. M. Some of the Boy Choir will aid in the singing. All men are invited to be present at this forty-five minute service.

Gospel Temperance Meetings at the W. C. T. U. rooms, 73 West Front street, Sunday at 9:15 A. M. and 4 P. M. Saturday at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday at 4 P. M., to which all are welcome. The Sunday afternoon meeting will be led by Capt. George D. Morrison.

Meetings in Reform Hall to-morrow at the usual hours of 9:15 A. M., in the basement parlor, and at 4 and 7:45 P. M., in the main auditorium, to which a cordial invitation is extended to everybody. In the the evening there will be platform addresses and choice music will be given.

Much Trouble Over a Small Building.

A building on wheels being hauled slowly along the streets of Plainfield has aroused considerable interest among curious people the past few days. The building stood on North avenue and was used as a butcher shop. It was to be removed but a short distance, to West Fourth street, near the gas works. As it was too large to pass under any of the local railroad bridges it was found necessary to transport it to Fanwood and convey it across one of the overhead bridges at the Fanwood cut and round about to its destination. After being removed from its foundation the building was raised on heavy timbers whose ends were fastened to double-wheeled axles. By yesterday noon the queer rolling-stock had reached East Front street, just above Peace. Suddenly one of the wheels collapsed, and caused nearly a wreck. Later in the day a new wheel was substituted for the broken one, and the work of locomotion was renewed. By night the objective point had almost been reached, when a heavy shower began, and the workmen had to scurry home on horseback.

Rescued From Storm to be Killed By Enemies.

A nest containing several late-season fledgelings was loosened from a tree-branch on East Fifth street by last night's storm and was blown to the ground. The young birds weren't thrown out of the nest till it reached the ground, and it acted as a cushion to break their fall. The mother bird replaced them in their ruined home and shielded them with outstretched wings from the rain during the remainder of the night. This morning while she was gone to seek for food a cat carried away all the young birds and fed them to her half-grown kittens. The mother bird fluttered about the empty nest all the morning, constantly uttering plaintive cries of grief.

His Brother's Death No Warning.

Louis Burgeois, whose brother was killed by the cars, some time ago, through his own heedlessness in stealing rides, was arrested by Special Officer Stephen R. Hope yesterday for trespassing on moving freight trains. This morning young Bourgeois was sentenced by Justice Nash to thirty days' imprisonment in the county jail.

Fractured An Arm and Broke Her Nose.

Mrs. Mary Vermeule, of 51 West Second street, fell down stairs at four o'clock this morning, fractured an arm, and broke her nose, besides receiving other injuries that may prove serious. She is still prostrated, and physicians are in attendance.

Ran From the Rain and Sprained His Ankle.

Will F. Arnold, of College place, sprained his ankle severely last evening, while hurrying home from the City National Bank to avoid a shower. He will be confined to the house for several days.

A New Lease of Life.

The aged and weak have declared after using Speer's Port Grape Wines that they felt as though they had a new lease of life by having their systems renovated by this pure strengthening wine made by Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J. The iron in the soil in which the vine grows gives the blood-making qualities to the wine. For sale by druggists.

FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

WHAT I LEARNED.

I told a secret! It wasn't much
For a little girl to tell;
And I only told it, soft and low,
To my intimate school-mate, Bella.

But the silly secret grew and grew;
And all around it spread,
Until at last it was hard to find
The thing I had really said.

And when I sat in mamma's lap
With all my troubles told,
She said 'twas the "matter great" that grew
From the "little fire" of old.

So I learned a lesson well that night
Before I went to bed;
And mamma gave me a rule to keep;
And this is what she said:

"The only way is never to say
A word that can offend;
Not even close to the listening ear
Of the dearest intimate friend!"

—Youth's Companion.

"ONLY SKIN DEEP."

A Little Valuable Information Relative to the Natural Covering of Our Bodies.

Bessie's friend, Alice Anderson, was a beauty. Bessie loved to touch the pink cheek, smooth the soft, brown, waving hair, but most of all, admired the clear blue eye which looked as if it meant every word Alice said, and trusted every word of Bessie's. And so, when a classmate said sneeringly. "Yes, I know Alice Anderson is a beauty, but she won't be pretty long; beauty is only skin deep," Bessie hurried home to ask her encyclopedia how deep skin was.

It is a splendid thing to have an encyclopedia in the house, especially one of the walking, talking kind, that will tell you all you want to know without your reading column after column of things you do not want to know. Aunt Mary was Bessie's encyclopedia. One with a smiling appendix so encouraging to little seekers after knowledge.

When the little girl came home with her question, Aunt Mary's first answer was a smile; then she said: "Well, Bessie, that is only a common way of saying that beauty fades; that it lies only on the surface, and is not worth much. But it is not a true saying, Bessie, for it gives a false impression of beauty and of skin—both very valuable possessions."

"But skin is very thin, I know, Aunt Mary, because when I burned my hand, it blistered, and rose up like a piece of tissue paper."

"That was only a part of your skin, not the true skin at all, but a kind of scarf covering it, and therefore called cuticle, which means scarf-skin. Underneath is the true skin, or cutis vera. The scarf-skin is constantly thrown off, and as constantly renewed, but the true skin, like true beauty, is not merely a surface coating, but something more valuable and more lasting."

"We don't shed our skins like snakes, do we?".

"Not exactly, for snakes shed the entire skin at once, and not often. We throw off little particles a few at a time, and all the time are being made over new."

"Well, I'd like to creep out of mine and get a blonde one like Alice's."

"You could not change even if it came off whole. Snakes do not, and your cat is always the same gray cat, although she has often shed her hair."

"They do not have skins like ours."

"Yes, only coarser, and with longer and thicker hair all over them. Skins are very useful things in this world. There are your shoes, sachel, chair, lounge, cloak, muff, the binding of your books—all made of skin. All animals, and all vegetables are covered with it. Vegetables breathe through theirs, and animals do to some extent."

"I do not see any holes for the air to get in."

"Get a microscope, and you may see thousands, but they do something more than take in air—something very important."

"What is that?"

"They are drains to carry off the impurities of the body."

"I thought drains were pipes for carrying off dirty water."

"Yes; and that is just what your body has—the best system of sewerage in the world, all going on without any trouble to the owner, unless that owner fills up the pipes so they can not empty the burden of their impurities."

"Where do the impurities come from?"

"From the entire body they are brought to the cutis, where the network of pipes are ready to carry them off. The cutis is not more than one-fifteenth of an inch deep, yet its fibers are woven and interwoven until they form a strong, flexible web, much like felt cloth. Over that is an uneven layer of small, pointed things, called papillæ. With a microscope you could see in each papilla a nerve, a vein, and an artery."

"Has the scarf-skin—the cuticle I mean—any nerves or blood vessels ?"

"No."

"Then why does it hurt when I stick a pin in it, and why does the blood run ?"

"It does not, unless your pin goes through into the cutis, where the nerves and blood vessels cover the surface, and the slightest cut will sever an artery or vein; even a needle point brings the blood and hurts a nerve. But there are other things in the cutis—oil-glands, lymphatics and perspiratory glands, all at work busy as bees."

"What can they do ?"

"Each oil-gland is a tiny bag with a tube running up to the surface of nearly all parts of your body. A row of them are ranged along your eye-lids keeping them smooth and soft, and holding back the briny tears which fill a little basin near by. Water and oil won't mix, you know, so the tears keep their places until trouble increases their quantity, so that they overflow their basin, and run out in spite of the oil. In the ear these oil-glands pour out a little at a time, a bitter, yellow oil—wax we call it—which keeps the inner ear from becoming dry. At the root of each hair on your head a pair of oil-glands pour out the best pomade the hair could have. Hold up your hand to the light, see the fine hairs all over the back, and remember there is an oil-gland at the root of each hair."

"But my hand does not feel oily."

"No; there is not enough for that; just enough to keep the skin soft. Worn-out particles of the body come through the various tubes to the surface in the form of little scales. If the scales are allowed to remain, they close the tubes, and you become unhealthy, perhaps have fever. You should bathe often, and so keep open your drain-pipes. Use soap, for it takes an alkali to dissolve the albumen of the scales."

"Are the perspiratory tubes like the others?"

"They are more curious; coiled up in a ball at the bottom of the cutis, they wind in spiral course up to the surface of the cuticle. Although not more than one-eighth of an inch long when straightened out, yet if placed end to end, the number on a grown man would measure several miles."

"Well, I think they are very unpleasant things to have on a hot day."

"That is the time you most need them; they lower your temperature,"

"Not much, Aunt Mary."

"More than you think. You have not tried living without them. They throw of some heat all the time. When a fever patient begins to perspire his fever lessens. In health an invisible vapor constantly escapes from these tubes. Hold your hand near a cold glass; the vapor will be condensed in slight moisture on the glass. When exercise throws it off rapidly you see it and call it perspiration. A laboring man may throw off two pounds in twenty-four hours. A physician once desired to know how much he perspired, and daily for thirty years weighed himself, his food, etc., and finally estimated that five out of eight pounds of his food and drink passed off through his skin. You have read of the child who was girdled all over to represent Cupid in a procession, and who died in a few hours; what caused its death?"

"The tubes were filled, I suppose, so they could not act. Aunt Mary, what makes the difference in the color of skin?"

"The coloring is found in cells of the lower side of the cuticle; black in the negro, white in the Caucasian. Albinos have no coloring matter in the cells."

"Can't we find any medicine or food to change the color? I'd take any thing to have a complexion like Alice."

"We know of nothing to change the color. But keep all those tubes open so that the drainage is in good order; take long breaths of pure air to enlarge your lungs enough to keep your blood pure, and you are sure of a healthy complexion, which is better than a fair one. This skin of yours is more important than you think, since it covers not only the outside, but lines the inside of your body, where it is called mucous membrane, and does its part in absorbing, as well as throwing out secretions to aid digestion.

"Remember one thing. Exercise opens these tubes so that the perspiration and other secretions begin to flow out abundantly. Now, if you cool off suddenly, the tubes contract, throwing back all the secretions they had brought to the surface, and making you ache all over; your throat is sore; your nose, bronchial tubes and lungs all filled up—you say you have a fearful cold. All the trouble came because your drains were closed. Skin is not deep, but if you want health and happiness, take good care of it. And your friend Alice may remember that things, not very deep, may have much good in them if rightly used."—Watchman.

Wonderful Discovery.

One of the most wonderful discoveries in science that has been made within the last year or two is the fact that a beam of light produces sound. A beam of sunlight is thrown through a lens on a glass vessel that contains lampblack, colored silk or worsted, or other substances. A disk having slits or openings cut in it is made to revolve swiftly in this beam of light so as to cut it up, thus making alternate flashes of light and shadow. On putting the ear to the glass vessel strange sounds are heard so long as the flashing beam is falling on the vessel.

Recently a more wonderful discovery has been made. A beam of sunlight is made to pass through a prism, so as to produce what is called the solar spectrum or rainbow. The disk is turned, and the colored light of the rainbow is made to break through it. Now place the ear to the vessel containing the silk, wool or other material. As the colored lights of the spectrum fall upon it, sounds will be given by different parts of the spectrum, and there will be silence in other parts.

For instance, if the vessel contains red worsted, and the green light flashes upon it, loud sounds will be given. Only feeble sounds will be heard when the red and blue parts of the rainbow fall upon the vessel, and other colors make no found at all. Green silk gives sound best in red light. Every kind of material gives more or less sound in different colors, and utters no sound in others.

The discovery is a strange one, and it is thought more wonderful things will come from it.—Golden Days.

What Dolls Should Do.

A wooden-headed doll should be careful not to hit her head against her mamma's, lest she should hurt her.

A doll should keep away from the rocking-chairs, as the rockers may go over her and crush her.

A wax doll should avoid the fire, if she wishes to preserve a good complexion.

Often an old doll with a cracked head and a sweet smile is more beloved than a new doll with a sour face.

It is a bad plan for dolls to be stretched out on the floor too often, as people are apt to tread on them; and a doll that is trodden on is sure to go into a decline.

Marjory was reading these rules to her dolly with a very sober face. Then she laughed.

"Dolly," said she, "it's funny, but I really believe these rules are more for me than they are for you."—Morning Light.

—"Your husband seems very fond of angling." "He is." "Does he bring home all the fish he catches?" "Yes and more too."—Washington Post.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889. 6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,

Proprietors of the

New Club Stables,

WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.

Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.

Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!

Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of

"Stanley in Africa."

(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)

This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.

The Wonderful Discoveries!

Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.

Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.

United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.

Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,

29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of

SODA WATER

AT MILLER'S PHARMACY,

No. 10 East Front Street,

Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.

Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST

Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!

Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.

39 SOMERSET STREET.

Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.

We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange

8 PARK AVENUE.

Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.

Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

TRY OUR

QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.

HENRY LIEFKE,

NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 3-1-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,

On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,

7 West Front Street,

Popular Dry Goods House.

Special Bargains This Week

200 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.

50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.

Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 8c per yard.

Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.

Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.

I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-26-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.

Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.

Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.

All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.

We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.

Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.

Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL

TO THE

BEST TRADE

IN

PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!

If You Want Selected Goods,

TELEPHONE TO

R. W. RICE & CO.,

Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in

Ladies Oxford Ties

AND

Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,

Everybody goes to

KENNY'S,

At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS

Gasolene Stoves,

Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,

Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.

A. M. GRIFFEN

13 East Front Street.

TELEPHONE CALL 8.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Base Ball

AND

Lawn Tennis Goods,

Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.

Joseph M. Harper,

No. 75 PARK AVENUE,

3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 5-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.

The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.

F. WESTPHAL & SON,

Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-5-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,

23 North Avenue,

A full line of

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-25-y

P. AGNEY,

KINDLING WOOD.

Yard—Mountain Avenue.

P. O. Box 207. North Plainfield.

Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-8-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,

Plain and Ornamental

SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.

Residence, corner Fourth and Spruance Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.

New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 6-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,

Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year

22 EAST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!

22c. Pound.

J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,

Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street 1-18-tf

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.

H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.

ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,

CARPENTERS,

And General Jobbers.

SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK 6-3-tf

C. R. MUSCRAVE,

Carpenter and Builder,

66 W. FRONT STREET.

The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.

RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter and Builder.

RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET

Screens Fitted to Your Windows

For 15 cents per square foot,

At No. 30 Somerset Street.

Also JOBBING of all kinds.

HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

JAMES MEANS' $3 SHOE UNEXCELLED IN STYLE UNEQUALLED IN DURABILITY AND PERFECTION OF FIT.

JAMES MEANS' SEAMLESS $3 SHOE

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 8-17tf

CARRIAGES

Of every description in stock or built to order.

Coupes, Cabriolets,

Surries, Depo Wagons,

Buggies, Road Wagons,

Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,

AT

RYERSON'S

Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods

EMPORIUM,

33 Somerset Street.

Open until 8 P. M. 1-4-tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

AMPHITHEATRE.

The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.

SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.

Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.

SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.

EVERY NIGHT AT 8.

Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.

STRAUSS,

—AND HIS—

Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.

—ALSO—

TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."

250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.

Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.

The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S

ICED CREAM!

In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.

8 Bank Place—East Front Street.

6-16-to-sep1

--No. 8--

PARK AVENUE,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

STAMPING!

PROMPTLY EXECUTED.

FANCY GOODS,

NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY

Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.

For particulars, address

Miss E. E. KENTON, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,

25 East Fifth Street,

For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.

FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-16 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S

Kindergarten and School,

48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),

REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.

In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on Application. 8 21 2m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths!

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. H. HOEHM, 26 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 5-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.

OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 9-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,

Counselors-at-Law,

Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc., Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Supreme Court Commissioner.

First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,

Counselors at Law,

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.

COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. BUNYON,

Typewriter and Stenographer,

COLLECTION AGENT,

With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,

Lumber and Coal Merchants.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,

PLAINFIELD.

All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.

ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT R. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO

INSURANCE AGENTS

6 E. FRONT STREET. my10y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,

Livery Stables,

84 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 137. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my9y

House Numbers

At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.

Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No Botching 1-14-tf

NEW LIVERY!

IRVING C. STELLE,

(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery Boarding and Exchange Stable at

No. 26½ West Front Street,

In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.

First-Class Horses and Carriages

Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.

A share of public patronage is solicited.

Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

J. B. STICKLEY

E. 23d East 5th Street

Special attention to all

AWNING WORK

Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.

MATTING.

Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-1y8-1

FISCHER

ESTABLISHED 1840.

PIANOS

RENOWNED FOR TONE & DURABILITY MODERATE PRICES

EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.

DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY

Catalogue Mailed on Application.

110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street, NEW YORK CITY. 6-4-6m

FOR SUNDAY READING.

ITS MEANING.

"I love to steal awhile away"—
So sang amid her care
A gentle saint, whose quavering tones
"In humble, grateful prayer."
Come echoing back across the years
Full freighted with life's cares and fears.

I wondered why she sang so soft
Those plaintive notes and sad,
That sometimes chilled, like shadows thrown
Athwart my pathway glad;
And yet I often paused at play
To hear "the hours of setting day."

I felt the holy calm and sought
My child-ish heart to trace
The unseen hand that gently smoothed
The lines from that dear face.
The peaceful look in those sweet eyes
Seemed like a gleam from Paradise.

Ah! little knew I then the joy
Of "humble grateful prayer"—
And less of burdens that should come
To fill with "cumb'ring care;"
The robins sang—the world was gay—
My heart sang, too, the live-long day!

But now the years have come and gone,
And June with mocking bloom
Has oft a garland wove and laid
Upon the sacred tomb;
In fragrant air I seem to her
The words, "when none but God is near."

I've something learned—though oft my heart
Must con the lesson o'er,
My "cares and sorrows all to cast
On Him whom I adore;"
As through that dear old hymn I raise
In quiet hour my prayer and praise.

Not vainly sing we holy songs
To children at our knee,
In mem'ry's store they long shall live
Barred in by melody,
From happy, careless heart concealed
The meaning by the years revealed.
—Josephine C. Goodale, in Christian at Work.

THE SURE PATH.

Fashion Your Life as Daniel Did Upon a Principle Both Sure and Steadfast.

Let the life of Daniel be an illustration of the sure life. The path he trod was the sure path. Though it dipped among the ravening lions, this life could not be disastrously interrupted. The guardian angel over such a life need not fly away and give it up for lost.

But let us analyze the method of such a life a little. The sure life is a life founded upon a clear and settled principle. No man can build a sure life at hap-hazard; no man can stumble into such a life. Such a life must be founded upon a principle intelligently conceived, deliberately resolved upon, persistently clung to. I have met an incident concerning the Cologne cathedral. Centuries ago the plan for it was drawn by one of those Middle Age poet-architects. The stones were quickly laid, and the majestic structure began to rise. They built the nave; they built the choir; they built the altar; and then, because of war, and the various disturbing influences of the time, the building ceased to grow, and the structure looked forth unfinished to the sky. Centuries carried on their slow march, and still the temple stood unfinished. It was turned into a market place; a street was run through it; all the rush and strife of the city turned itself through the sacred place. Then, at last, it was determined to complete the structure. They searched for the plan, but it could not be found; and there was no man great enough or daring enough to attempt to complete the cathedral unless he could build upon the ancient plan. It was impossible to finish the structure unless one could get at the mighty thought behind it. The record of that thought was lost. Then, strangely enough, it was found torn apart, one portion of it in Paris, another portion in another city. The parts were brought together; they fitted each to each exactly; the plan stood evident; the principle of the building was revealed, and now the mighty pile has risen to completion. Men can do nothing worthily without a plan, a principle, a clear and distinct thought behind that which they attempt. Nor can men build a sure life in any other way than as their action springs out of principles strong, well settled. The chief reason why men lead the poor, mean lives they do, deformed like cripples, dilapidated like a ruin, uncertain, worthless as quick sand to stand upon, is because beneath them and behind them they have formed no strong and unrelaxing principle, to which the life must steadily confirm.

In this sure life of Daniel we must at once discern the presence of such a principle. There was one thing on which Daniel was determined to the exclusion of every other—he would serve God, whatever might betide. If he could be Prime Minister and serve Him, well, he would be Prime Minister. If he must be flung into the lion's den, he would be flung into the lin's den; but he would serve God. In a word, he would not violate the principle of his life. Although the earthly King commanded otherwise, he would still obey the higher King. The windows of his chamber were thrown open toward Jerusalem, not ostentatiously, but bravely, quietly, as aforetime; and he knelt down three times a day and prayed and gave thanks to God.

This is the prime essential to a sure, strong, unswerving life—a principle, a principle intelligently conceived, deliberately chosen, persistently clung to. Organize your life upon such a principle, and it must be sure; it can be depended upon, it can be trusted.—Wayland Hoyt, in Golden Rule.

THE ATHEISM OF TO-DAY.

Men Who Believe There is a God, and Yet Who Live as if There Were no God.

Scientific atheism is dead; practical atheism is alive. Scientific atheism was bad; practical atheism is worse. Bad it is for man to reject the indisputable evidence of the being and personality of a God. Bad it is for man to find in the hand that rules the seasons and the heavens no guiding hand for him. But worse it is for man to believe there is a God, and live as if there were no God. The man who lives as if God were not, when he believes there is a God, is surely a less worthy type of a man, than he who, failing to believe, lives in accordance with the moral verities.

Many men and women of this age are atheists without knowing it. They live as if there were no God. Many of the influences of the time promote practical atheism. The absorptions of the time tend to effect this lamentable result. Merchants are absorbed in their business. Women are absorbed in their homes. Men work as if this life were all. Women live and struggle as if a few years measured all existence. Some scholars labor as if there would be no opportunity in any other world of the omniscient God, outside of this world, for the study of divine plans. Many of the American people are in as much danger of being practical atheists, as the French people of a hundred years ago were in danger of being theoretical atheists.

The methods for the removal of practical atheism are not recondite; they are evident. The first means is the recognition of the intellectual evidences of the being of a God and of His superintending care. This evidence abounds. Modern investigations have not disproved Paley's positions. Men naturally believe in the existence of God. It is much harder not to believe than to believe. To these evidences, so abundant, men should direct their attention. If men would but think they could not be atheists.

Men should not be so absorbed by their work that they have no time to think. Some men break the fourth commandment every day in the week. They labor so hard throughout the six days that they are too tired to worship on Sunday. Such overwork they should stop. They know they should put an end to it. They are selling their bodies for this life, and their souls for all life. The removal of the strain of intense application would tend to remove practical atheism. If merchants were less commercial they would be more spiritual.

Practical atheism, moreover, would die in a generation, by the formation of right spiritual habits in youth. The law of habit has application to spiritual growth. The law holds true in the duty of daily devotion, as in the duty of mercantile service. Such habits begun in the first years, and growing with the growth, would anchor the soul to a firm and reverent faith.

Practical atheism would cease, further, by fixing minds and hearts of men more securely on the life of Christ. Christ was the Son of God and also the son of man. True Son of God, He shows us the glory of the Father full of grace and truth. True son of man, He gives us the power to become sons of God. He is the answer to intellectual skepticism; the inspiration in moral indifference; the ideal of all achievement; the motive power in all service. He is the Way, the Truth and the Life of man unto God.

Not a very few may read these paragraphs who would shudder at being called atheists. They would affirm their belief in a personal God. But possibly they will, through reflection, discover that they are living as atheists; they are living as if this present life were all of life, and as if there were no personal power beyond the present sphere of existence. Such must confess that the name of atheist is as well-fitted as it is a sad epithet for their state. But such a state of life may be changed, and one may enter into truthful obedience and live to a loving God.—Chicago Advance.

What Religion is Good For.

Through the mistake of its friends religion has been chiefly associated with sick-beds and grave-yards. This whole subject to many people is odorous with chlorine and carbolic acid. There are people who can not pronounce the word "religion" without hearing it in the clipping chisel of the tombstone-cutter. It is high time that this thing were changed, and that religion, instead of being represented as a hearse to carry out the dead, should be represented as chariot in which the living are to triumph. Religion, so far from substracting from one's vitality, is a glorious addition. It is sanative, curative, hygienic. It is good for the eyes, good for the ears, good for the spleen, good for the digestion, good for the nerves, good for the muscles, and other things being equal—I say other things being equal—a man will lift more pounds, walk more miles and live more years with religion than without it.—Talmage, in N. Y. Observer.

CHOICE SELECTIONS.

—The Christian who never smiles has a good deal to answer for.—Ram's Horn.

—Men are born with two eyes, but with one tongue, in order that they should see twice as much as they say.—Colton.

—The healthiest Christian, the one who is best fitted for godly living and godly labor, is he who feeds most on Christ. Here lies the benefit of Bible reading, and of secret prayer.—Theodore Cuyler.

—Adam Clarke, in alluding to the different effects of Christian truth on different minds, says: "The same sun that hardens the clay softens the wax." The truth itself is always the same; yet while one mind is softened and benefited by it, another is hardened and made still more obdurate and persistent in the way of evil.—N. Y. Independent.

—Life is short, we have no time to waste on trifles, however innocent they may be. Times come to earnest workers when body and mind must rest, lest they wear out permaturely. But the heart should never rest. Weary brain and tired limbs must rest, but the heart beats on steadily, and its stoppage means death. So our minds and our bodies may be weary, but our hearts, i. e., our affections and our wills, should never rest; and when we can do nothing else, we can play and praise and love.—T. T. Eaton.

—Talking to one's self may be a profitable exercise. Sometimes from our self-knowledge we may say to ourselves truer things, and more useful, than others could speak to us. David seems to have had this habit. Thus you hear him say: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul, and why art thou disquieted within me?" His inquiries led him to thought, and, out of this, faith gathered new strength, so that he exclaims: "Hope in God; for I shall yet praise Him, who is the health of my countenance and my God."—Christian Inquirer.

SLAYERS OF THE SEAL.

How the Blaine Bombshell Is Regarded in Alaska.

Fighting for Fur in the Great Behring Sea—Fishermen Who Have to Vindicate Their Own Rights—Some Interesting Information.

[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]
[Special Correspondence.]

The thunder from the State Department at Washington falls with a peculiar charm upon Sitkan ears. It comes just at the right time to allay a little special inflammation. Long ago Alaskans learned to look upon the foreign office correspondence as a mere polite interchange of diplomatic civilities. That the transmission of an official letter from one capital to the other really meant any thing no one here believed. For a score of years it has been taken for granted in Alaska that while marauders might violate every fishery law upon the United States statute book, no State Department officer would dream of insisting upon any thing, or of saying a word calculated to offend refined English ears. As always happens in such cases, our fishermen have had to defend their own rights. It must be confessed that Blaine's sturdy utterances have taken us agreeably by surprise. We had long since ceased to expect any thing but the most harmless and courteous official commonplaces. These utterances happen to be most opportune. Alaska fishermen are in an especially ugly frame of mind just now, not because they find their field invaded, for they are accustomed to that, but because of a passage at arms which caused much indignation here, and a few meager details of which have just leaked out. The story had, perhaps, better be told in the language of the man to whom I am indebted for my information.

AN ALASKAN WOMAN.

"Well, all there was about it was that they had three more men than we had, and we naturally got the worst of it. When did it happen? Oh, not very long ago. You see, it was this way: They weren't within fifty miles of where they ought to be, and our Cap'n told 'em so. The Kanuck skipper had lots o' heart, I must say, but he got a good lickin' for it. He challenged our Cap. to a fair stand-up fight, and they went at it. You see, our Cap'n ain't no slouch with his fists, and it was as pretty a set-to as you ever saw. When they saw their man getting used up they went at us. It didn't last very long. They was too strong for us, and they drove us off, but it lasted long enough for two of our hands and for a couple of theirs, I can tell you."

This rather simple statement of what happened does not apparently describe an affair sufficiently serious to justify any great amount of Sitkan inflammation, but as a matter of fact it was an encounter worthy of portrayal in strong colors. Two of the Alaskans looked as if a butcher had been operating upon them. They survive only because they clung to life with extraordinary tenacity. The chances are that the Canadian has one or two empty berths at his disposal. This is only one variety of what is continually happening. Nothing but really threatening friction between the two governments directly concerned in the controversy will ring down the curtain on the everlasting wrangle.

To a degree which can scarcely be comprehended east of California we are stirred up by the possibilities of the situation. For many years before the famous ukase of Alexander of Russia was issued the Behring sea bugbear stalked through the corridors of Washington and stirred up British bile. Up to this time the people of the United States have had the vaguest idea of it. They have, in a sort of a general way, understood it to be a matter over which the British lion roared occasionally, while the Russian bear growled sulkily and the American eagle screamed with its customary harshness. With the details involved they have a superficial acquaintance. The popular conclusion was that the whole affair would ultimately drop into an amicable settlement, and that, in the meantime, it was scarcely worthy of close scrutiny by any one not connected with the State departments of the nations engaged in the discussion. Blaine's determined stand and the English Premier's shadowy claims have changed all this. Now that a faint possibility of war looms up, it will bring with it a thorough understanding of the issues at stake. It is hardly necessary to say that the publication of the correspondence created a profound sensation here. We are not worked up to such a fever heat that we believe there is danger of serious complications, but we do appreciate the fact that the beginning of the end has come, and that the musty ghost of the Behring sea contention is to be laid at rest at last. Those who think, however, that the English lion will submissively wag his tail and subside, take a somewhat optimistic view of the case.

UNALASKA.

There is plenty of material for a lively row. All Sitka is rejoicing at the dexterity and nerve with which our side of the affair has been handled. Whatever be the outcome, there is no doubt that in the near future our fisheries will be safe from the intruders who have threatened the extermination of the seal. This devoutly to-be-wished consummation will be brought about without bombardment. When Russia and England came to blows in the Crimea we escaped shot and shell by a sort of tacit agreement between the two nations, and the conviction is general here that, however much bluster may precede the final settlement, it will, when it comes, be amicable, permanent and conclusive. Since the Behring sea disputes began to worry foreign secretaries on both sides of the Atlantic hundreds of other international problems have had their birth and burial. It really began to look as though this one would be a sort of diplomatic Wandering Jew, always searching for a grave, and yet always turning up with undiminished vitality, and now at last Alaska congratulates itself that these fruitful sources of bitterness and irritation are to be interred, quietly it is hoped, but in any event, interred.

KILLING THE FUR SEALS.

A change began to come over the spirit of Sitka's dreams the moment the American flag began to float over it. Secretary Seward bought Alaska in 1867 and from that time the record has been one of push, energy, activity and achievement. The stimulus of the transfer was felt immediately. Increased values were perceptible everywhere. I need say nothing about the rank Alaska has since taken as a commercial factor.

Now that the eyes of the people of the United States are turned in a northerly direction with the idea of discovering what sort of a place may possibly embroil them with the British, it is safe to say they will know a good deal about Alaska before the diplomatic atmosphere is eventually cleared up. They will find much to interest them beside the material resources of Secretary Seward's purchase. The races which are indigenous to the soil are by no means prepossessing. They share most of the true Indian characteristics. Cleanliness is an obsolete word with them, if it ever had any existence in their vernacular, and a blanket suffices for their summer wardrobes. They blacken their faces, with the beautiful conception that this enhances their personal attractions, and then, lest this cheerful tout ensemble should not be considered complete, they daub themselves with red and blue stripes and patches. An Alaska Indian on full dress parade is therefore an edifying spectacle. He is in his judgment most artistic when he has succeeded in making himself most grotesque and ferocious in appearance, the main point evidently being to entirely obscure what little physical charms nature has been good enough to endow him with. Perhaps in a higher degree than any other noble red man he possesses the universal prejudice against any thing like industry. His soul, in other words, is above work.

SEALS ON ST. PAUL'S ISLAND.

This is perhaps due to the fact that when he was lord of all he surveyed he earned a living quite easily. Of deer and bear meat he could secure any quantity, and the fact that fishing was good was proved by salmon exports, which the Russian-American company soon ran up to colossal figures, not less than 150,000 salmon being sent to the Sandwich Islands annually. They were in advance of the American day and generation to the extent that they cremated their dead, their tombs containing only the ashes of their dear departed. The tomb was a box on which savage and grotesque-looking faces were daubed with the idea, it would seem, of perpetuating the ugliness of the deceased. If the gentleman who had been unfortunately or otherwise transferred to the happy hunting grounds happened to be a warrior of achievement, then the faces of his victims were portrayed on the box, which was also adorned with long tresses of the human hair which he had tenderly torn from the scalps of his conquered foes. When an Alaska Indian asks you for "Petnachit Copla," which, literally interpreted, means "fifteen drops," you may know that he is begging, not for fifteen drops, but for half a tumblerful of chain lightning. Less than half a tumblerful would not reach the dignity of a "nip."

Times have changed here since what are now alluded to as the good old Russian days, when they had only one hundred and eighty church holidays out of every three hundred and sixty-five days. We have finally simmered down to the regulation Fourth of July and Washington's Birthday festivities, with Christmas and New Year's thrown in as consolation for the departed ecclesiastical revelries. The remnant of the orthodox Greek church still remaining here cherish a tradition to the effect that when the stars and stripes were ready for their first hoisting in Alaska the Russian flag displayed great reluctance to come down and clung tenaciously and patriotically to the staff. An irreverent and unconverted American climbed up and persuaded it to descend. Something has been said about the native artistic tendency as displayed in a black background and red and blue stripes and patches. It is but fair to add that their efforts do not represent the limit of development. For instance, this is copied from an Indian stone carving.

I hope to have the privilege a little later on of keeping you informed of the events now actually transpiring here and of giving you clear ideas of the movements among the violators and enforcers of United States laws which provoke the agitation. For the benefit of those to whom this is virtually an unknown land, it may not be out of place to say that the sea which figures in the pending diplomatic disturbances is named after Vitus Behring. He was a Dane, who entered the service of Russia because he ardently admired Peter the Great.

Peter was organizing an expedition to Kamtscatka when death vacated the throne, but the Empress Catherine took up the enterprise, and Behring started from St. Petersburg in 1725. It was years later, however, when he undertook his most adventurous and momentous trip. He discovered many of the islands near the American coast, and died of scurvy, living just long enough to be taken ashore in a handbarrow. Muller gives this account of his demise:

"He may have been said to have been half buried alive, for the sand rolling continually down from the side of the ditch where he lay, he at last would not suffer it to be removed, so that, after his decease, they were obliged to scrape him out of the ground in order to inter him in a proper manner."

SCENE ON ICELAND GROUND.

Those who survived underwent many hardships. Their vessel was lost, and they subsisted on whales that in the storm had been driven ashore. Few of them lived to see Russia again.

SITKAN.

Knows How to Say Thank You.

Senator Ingalls is a very polite gentleman and very appreciative of his friends. An article containing complimentary allusions to himself was recently published by a well-known correspondent, and upon seeing it Senator Ingalls sat down and wrote an autograph letter of acknowledgement, of which the following is a copy: "I am not insensible to the honor you have done me by your classification among the great Senators from a great State. Senators, like other men, are great or small, prominent or obscure, very much as the press makes them. Accept my sincere thanks for your kindness."

A Good Job, but No Vacancy.

The easiest situation to be had under the National Government, although not the best-paying, is the position of policeman at the Capitol building. Those who are appointed to these positions must wear handsome blue uniforms with brass buttons, keep their boots blacked, and their faces clean, carry walking sticks and draw their salaries regularly. They get eighty dollars a month. Unfortunately all the places are filled and there are about a thousand applications on file now for appointment. Hence the reader has no show.

Another Branch of the Profession.

Stranger—Ah! If I mistake not, this is Mr. Thinkard, the editorial writer of the Morning Moulder.

Mr. Thinkard—Yes, that is my name.

Stranger—Well, I'm glad to meet a fellow journalist.

Mr. Thinkard—I fail to recognize you, sir.

Stranger—Indeed! Why, I'm the fellow that writes patent medicine testimonials for the Great Western Medical Company.—Light.

Couldn't Be Overlooked.

John—Patience has ceased to be a virtue with me now; I refer to my neighbor Crusty's conduct.

Jack—He isn't a very neighborly sort of person, is he?

John—His conduct has become intolerable. He built a ten-foot fence between his house and mine. I was willing to overlook that; but now he has increased the height of the fence to fifteen feet, and that I can't overlook.—Harper's Bazar.

At Dead Horse Creek.

Missionary (producing some papers)—My young friend, I am a missionary, and I would like to give you these tracts.

Cowboy—Say, mister, did yer make them 'ere tracks?

Missionary—No, young friend, but I distribute them.

Cowboy (producing revolver)—Well, if yer didn't make them 'ere, yer'd better make tracks now.—West Shore.

Solicitous.

Mother—Where have you been, Johnny?

Johnny—Down by th' ole mill watchin' a man paint a picture.

Mother—Didn't you bother him?

Johnny—Naw! He seemed to be real interested in me.

Mother—What did he say?

Johnny—He asked me if I didn't think 't was most dinner time, and you'd miss me.—The Jury.

Would Suffer by It.

"Yes, it would ruin me, financially, if the whisky business should be wiped out."

"Are you engaged in the business, sir?"

"No, no. I'm a temperance orator."—The Jury.

A New Enterprise.

Hayseed—Got any bird seed?

Merchant—Yes, sir. How much?

Hayseed—Oh, I reckon er dozen'll be enuff. The ole 'oman tuck er fool notion to raise er few birds, an' I thought I'd git a settin' fer 'er, so's to keep peace in the fam'ly.—West Shore.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,

12 West Second Street,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,

Invites especial attention to his stock of

Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.

In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under

WATERPROOF SHEDS.

Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction. TELEPHONE 126.

Lumber constantly on hand.

Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.

4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in

Pianos & Organs.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.

3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,

70 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.

7-26-

Geo. H. Fairchild,

[Successor to E. E. FAIRCHILD,]

Furniture & Bedding,

21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.

Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom

FURNITURE.

Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.

8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At G. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY

B. T. Barnes'

Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.

Simon Pure—No Adulteration.

12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL.

OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AVENUE.
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-

Willcox & Gibbs S. M. CO.

Orders left at

95 E. FRONT STREET

Will be promptly attended to.

NEEDLES, OIL, &c.

F. A. WHEELS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.

1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888

No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.

—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—

Exclusively for

—Ladies and Children.—

N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 5-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield. N. J. Telephone No. 108. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 12-7-tf

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR

Gasolene Stoves,

ALL SIZES.

Refrigerators & Freezers,

Horse Sheets and Nets.

$90.00 for $65.00.

THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.

The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle, Ball Coods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,

33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.

4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!

SODA WATER

AT

RANDOLPH'S

This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.

Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.

L. W. RANDOLPH,

21 W. FRONT STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,

HATTER,

12 PARK AVENUE,

Has fine lot

Spring and Summer Hats,

At prices that suit the people. 4-4-7

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,

13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Rich Diamonds, Gold Spectacles and Silverware. Don't forget the number. 12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD

Situated on

NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.

A Convenient and Elegant Resort.

Special attention given to

Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.

FRANK E. MILLER.

5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.

FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.

WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor

UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. E. BUSSERWER, Proprietor.

With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.

J. E. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.

All Modern Comforts and Conveniences. 4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.

Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.

St. Louis and Imported Beer.

A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day. 4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE, STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:55 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. to meet | 8.33 A. M. train. | |
| 3rd do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.17 do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.24 do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.06 P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.36 P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do meet 3.51 P. M. train. | |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do do 5.32 do; | |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do do 6.07 do | |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do do 7.05 do | |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 9.32, 9.57, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 3.20, 5.45 4.34, 6.20, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call. 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:36 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 00, 9 05 A. M., and 9 20 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 20 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 00, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A.M.; 12 55, 1 20, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 20 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 20 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:20 P. M., week-days. For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 20 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 20, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A. M.; 12 55, 1 20, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 20 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 20 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 20 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only 1 20 P.M.

For Flemington—7 20 A. M. 1 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 20, 9 35, 11 37 A. M. 1 20, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 10 P. M.

A full line of sleeping cars on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York, foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 26, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 56, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 02, 10 08, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 26, 10 15, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 7 24, 9 01, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 35, 1 33, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 45, 4 30, 5, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 05, 7 45, 8 30, 9 45, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 26, 10 15, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 50, 2 40, 4 02, 4 57, 5 05, 6 50, 5 55, 6 38, 7 15, 7 25, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 09, 7 12, 7 34 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—3 48, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 3 20, 5 14, 6 35, 10 14, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 50 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 38 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton, 8; 15 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 05 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Perkville, 6 38 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 27, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (3 07, through coach,) 5 51, 8 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 8 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 26, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 07, 5 51, 8 31, 7 05 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 8 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 5 51, 8 31 7 05 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 2 16*, 3 29*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 28*, 8 29*, 9 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 20* 4 08, 5 14*, 6

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

Madame E. GETTI, of Paris.

Dresses Ready-Made and to Order.

IMPORTED DRESS GOODS AND GLOVES.

Park Avenue and Fourth Street, (Miller Building.)

8 25 3w

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, SAY

Dark Outing Flannels will be very popular this Fall for Children's School Dresses. We are displaying a nice assortment of them. Price 12c.

* * * * *

Gentlemen, we will sell 50 dozen Unlaundried Shirts, 50c quality, for 39c each.

* * * * *

We put on sale, and 'tis the last of those remnants of Fine Outing Flannels; our price 10c.

* * * * *

We are offering some extra good values in Table Linen, Towels and Napkins.

* * * * *

Our Writing Paper deserves special mention; one at 10c a box, and one at 14c, which is as good as you generally pay 25c for.

* * * * *

There are 100 sample Corsets, sizes 25 to 30, Corsets that sold for $1 and $1.25. We close the entire lot for 60c pair.

* * * * *

Housekeepers will find many good things in our Furnishing Department. We keep a fine line of Crockery, Glass and Tinware, and sell them at popular prices.

* * * * *

We deliver goods everywhere, free of charge.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-6-y

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good health Truly Yours

Plainfield N J

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KARRTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-3-1

THE GREAT STRIKE

To-day's Action Anxiously Awaited.

BOTH SIDES STILL UNYIELDING.

A Critical Condition of Affairs at Albany —The D. & H. Strike.

The Decision at Terre Haute Expected To-day—Interest Now Centers on the Meeting of District Assembly 246 at Albany—Mass Meeti gs at New York and Albany.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 25.—There is every reason for believing that before sundown to-day Mr. Powderly will have received the decision of the Federation of Railway Employes upon his request for reinforcements to aid him in the battle of the Knights of Labor with the New York Central road.

There are three courses open to the Federation: It can call out its members, and thereby increase the numerical proportion of the attacking army; it can present a bill of grievances of its own to Vice-President Webb and his associates, and thus harass the enemy on its flank, or it can make the cause of the Knights its own by affording them material assistance and sustenance as long as the struggle continues.

The action so far taken by the Supreme Council might be interpreted as meaning that any one of the three methods will be adopted, while a guess as to the particular one would be hazardous and misleading. Certain it is, at least, that the Federation does not propose to turn a deaf ear to the appeal of its brother organization. That is clearly indicated by the tone of Sargent's dispatch to Powderly.

If the Council finds that, as indicated in previous dispatches, it cannot order out its men without overriding the constitution, it will without question come to the relief of the Knights in some other way that has yet to be determined.

Secretary Debs, armed with a big batch of reports and other documents, has been inaccessible to everybody for fully eight hours. The fact that word went out last night that the members of the Supreme Council will be expected to be in their places at 8:30 sharp this morning, indicated that the report was ready by that time, and this is borne out by the suggestion that the telegraph operators would have plenty to do to-day.

In a lengthy interview Chief Sargent endorsed the position taken in the letter addressed by Powderly to Mr. Webb, but made no further statement bearing upon the probable outcome of the present meeting.

POWDERLY GOES TO ALBANY

To Be Present at the Meeting of District Assembly 246.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—General Master Workman Powderly, Secretary Hayes and John Devlin of the Executive Board of the Knights of Labor left for Albany last night, where Mr. Powderly will address a mass meeting to-night. The Board will be joined at Albany by J. J. Holland and the future movements of the Board will be determined. It has been decided, however, to establish headquarters here to conduct the operations of the strike.

Messrs. Devlin and Hayes said this morning that nothing definite had been heard from Terre Haute. Interest now centres in the meeting of District Assembly 246 to be held at Albany to-day.

It is the general impression that the Supreme Council will issue a declaration endorsing the strike of the Central employes, but it is not expected that a general tie-up will result.

All is quiet at the Grand Central depot; there are few indications that there is a strike on the New York Central. Supt. Voorhees was at his office. He had heard nothing new from Terre Haute and did not expect to. Two men were arrested and held in $400 bail for throwing stones at the men on freight trains in 11th avenue.

THE STOCK YARD'S STRIKE.

Serious Disturbances and Many Thousands Out of Work.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Between 7,000 and 8,000 men were temporarily thrown out of employment in the stock yards on account of the strike of the engineers and firemen of the Switching Association.

If the strike continues to-day at least 15,000 men will be in idleness. Aside from the stock trains that were backed into the yards from the various railroad lines, not a wheel was turned in packing town.

Unable to get cars to ship their beef, the packers after they had used up their storage capacity were forced to lay off nearly half of their men, and there was scarcely enough to keep the remainder busy.

One firm tried to move refrigerator cars by hand so as to enable them to get out a consignment of beef, but the instant their men touched the cars they were set upon by a gang of switchmen, who drove them into the packing house before a fusilade of coupling pins and stones.

Another firm is short of coal, and unless the blockade is moved will have to suspend entirely. Hundreds of cars of beef are on the side tracks and unless moved soon will spoil.

The stock yards butcherers and laborers who were thrown out of employment by the strike accept the situation complacently.

The railway superintendents after a conference decided not to accede to the demands of the engineers but were willing to give the firemen slight advance. They say if the strike is not settled to-day they will put an end to the Railway Switching Association and return to the old system of switching with engines and crews that are directly responsible to the railway's to which they belong. Late last night it was reported that the strikers have practically agreed upon a compromise proposition, and if their terms are accepted they will go to work immediately. They are willing to take 20 cents an hour for engineers, an advance of one cent, and 18 cents an hour for firemen, an advance of 1½ cents.

THE SITUATION AT ALBANY

Said to be More Critical Than At Any Other Time.

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—The situation here is more critical than at any stage since the strike began. Despite the fact that no action has yet been taken at Terre Haute, it is altogether probable that by to-day noon every railroad running into this city will be tied up. These roads are the New York Central, West Shore, Delaware & Hudson, Boston & Albany and Fitchburg road. The Central and Delaware & Hudson are now partially crippled.

One of the prominent men of D. A. 246 said: "The Fitchburg and Boston & Albany continue to roll Central freight and we shall shut them down. Fitchburg and Boston will be the central places.

A United Press reporter learned that Pinkerton had dispatched 50 of his men to Rotterdam Junction, where the West Shore and Fitchburg roads connect. It is thought there will be trouble at that point.

Mr. Hammond, superintendent of the Delaware & Hudson, was asked if it was true that men were brought from Canada to take the strikers' places. He said the story was false in every particular, but in the light of future developments his answer looked queer.

At 8 o'clock last night he telephoned to Chief of Police Willard asking for police protection this morning, as he expected to move freight trains with new men. The strikers say that if the attempt is made with scabs the whole road will be tied up. They say that the Central has promised to supply men if the Delaware & Hudson is tied up, but this is looked upon as a good joke, as the Central has not got men enough to run their own road. The only freight moved to-day by the Delaware & Hudson has been a couple of through trains and some empties. The road is a direct connection for the Central, the West Shore and Pennsylvania Railroads. The strike, if general, will cut off the supplies of such summer resorts as Saratoga, Luzerne, Lake George and others, all of which depend on the large cities for them. There has been pasted in all of the freight stations a notice as follows: "To employes who are not working: All men must return to work. Those who do not will consider themselves discharged and will receive no further consideration by this company."

Delaware & Hudson Supt. Hammond, when again seen, said: "We have moved no freight of any account, but our passenger service is uninterrupted. We are going to hold our own in this matter and I shall begin to fill the places." Genl. Freight agent Faslin, said: "I have always sympathized with labor in their struggles, but I cannot think that the men are doing right in interfering with us in this matter. We are badly crippled in this our Albany department, but our through freight is running all right. We shall have the strikers places filled unless they return to work."

At Karners trains of general merchandise are still stalled; one of these was moved out to-day. At West Albany the blockade has certainly been broken. The first week of the strike there was not a clear track except the passenger track. To-day it was found that there was as many as eight side tracks completely cleared, while the two freight tracks used for through freight are both in use.

The only accident occurring to-day was a smash-up of freight cars at West Albany. It was shortly before noon, and a train of empties were being backed down on a side track. The new switchman turned his switch the wrong way and five cars were thereby turned into the ditch. Two yard engines were set at work and it took them all day to clear up the debris.

At Schenectady by great effort the double freight track has been cleared and the side tracks are pretty well cleaned out.

The tracks running into the Edison Company's Works are now ready for traffic. The side tracks are yet full at Karners, but the majority of the cars are empties. Between Karners and West Albany a stranger would think that there is a bad blockade, but the fact is that is small compared with what it was the first week of the strike. Just above West Albany are about 300 cars laden with freight which as yet have not been moved.

It is decided that if the Delaware & Hudson, Fitchburg and Boston & Albany roads continued to handle Central freight, they would be tied up immediately. Trouble, therefore, may be expected.

Funeral of Walter Howe.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—The funeral of Walter Howe, the New York cottager who was drowned on Thursday, took place yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a large number of cottagers and many friends who came on from New York. The services were conducted by the Rev. George W. Douglass, of Washington, and the body was interred in the Island Cemetery.

New York to Chicago on a Bicycle.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Edward Checkley of Brooklyn has reached Chicago on a "safety wheel," having broken the bicycle record from New York to this city by 16 hours. The previous record for the distance, which was established some years ago by Neilson, was 14 days 23 hours and 30 minutes. Mr. Checkley rolled his machine over the road in 14 days 6 hours and 25 minutes.

THE SAWTELLE CASE

Was the Murder in Maine or New Hampshire?

CHOLERA CARE EXAGERATED.

The Reported Resignation of Minister Robert T. Lincoln.

Know in Pennsylvania—The Bicycle Long Distance Record Broken—This Week's Congressional Programme—The Great Gathering at the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting—Every State Represented.

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 25.—On Wednesday, September 3, the famous Sawtelle case will come up again, when the grand jury of Strafford County will be asked to find an indictment against Isaac B. Sawtelle for the murder of his brother Hiram.

It is said that a mass of strong evidence has been secured to prove that the crime was committed in New Hampshire and not in Maine. This question of jurisdiction is conceded to be the most important to be considered by the grand jury and its decision will be of vital importance to Sawtelle, since conviction in New Hampshire means death, while in Maine the extreme punishment for murder is life imprisonment.

A new link in the chain of evidence, which indicates beyond a doubt that the crime was committed in New Hampshire, was recently discovered. It establishes the fact that the fatal shots were fired in a yard on the road from Rochester to East Rochester, not on the road as was generally supposed. It is said that the shots were fired not over 200 feet from the highway, in the area where a barn and adjoining carriage sheds form an angle. When the carriage was driven into this yard it was more or less secluded from passers-by in the road, but not entirely hidden, the back being visible from the street. Here is what the prosecution will allege:

I. B. Sawtelle had noticed the stable while on his journeys to Lebanon, Me., from Rochester, N. H., and return on the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday previous to Hiram's arrival. Isaac observed that there was not a house within three-sixteenths of a mile of the stable, and that the road was not much traversed.

It is further said that the State has evidence to show that Isaac was seen with a man answering the description of his brother in a buggy going toward the place. A man has been found who saw the carriage just outside the stable yard, going toward East Rochester.

Then there are about six witnesses who heard shots fired that Wednesday afternoon in February when Hiram Sawtelle met his death. The witnesses locate the point from which the sounds came at almost this very spot. The prosecution will produce a person to corroborate the testimony of the man who saw Isaac meet his brother Hiram at the depot, and also one who saw the brothers get into a carriage together and drive away.

WILL LINCOLN RESIGN?

His Law Partner Declines to Deny the Report and it is Believed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Edward S. Isham, one of Robert T. Lincoln's law partners, was seen to-day in reference to the report that upon Secretary of Legation White's return to England six or eight weeks hence, Robert T. Lincoln, United States Minister to the Court of St. James, would resign his position. Mr. Isham declined to either confirm or deny the report.

It is the general opinion of a number of Mr. Lincoln's friends, however, that he will resign his position before the new year and return to the practice of his profession in Chicago. This is strengthened by the report that when Mrs. Lincoln and her two daughters return from Iowa they will take up their residence in their home on the Lake Shore drive.

AN IMMENSE ASSEMBLAGE.

Over 50,000 People Gather at the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 25.—Fully 50,000 people assembled at the various meetings of the annual camp meeting at Ocean Grove yesterday, the largest gathering in its history.

Among the prominent clergymen officiating were: Revs. S. M. Vernon, of Lancaster, Pa.; T. L. Paulson, of Brooklyn; H. N. Lawrence, of New York.; D. S. Updegraff, Mount Pleasant, O.; W. L. S. Murray, Wilmington, Del., and G. W. Miller, of Kansas City. The clergy present represented every State of the Union.

London's Cholera Scare.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—It is now believed that a great deal too much has been made of the case of cholera which has put the whole city into a terrible scare.

The doctors of the Poplar Hospital think that the case is one of English cholera, and the statement that the nurse at that institution has died from Asiatic cholera is unfounded. Her case was a well defined case of English cholera.

Workingmen and Legislation.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Executive Board of the State Workingmen's Assembly and the Legislative committee of the same met to prepare their annual record of the attitude of the members of the Assembly of the last session in regard to the various bills whose passage was favored by working people. The bills included Weekly Payment, Female Inspectors, and Hat Making in Prisons, Establishing State Printing Office, Ballot Reform and General Registration. All of the bills became laws except the printing bureau bill. Sixty members voted for seven or more bills, and forty-seven for five. Fifteen members are blacklisted.

BASEBALL GAMES.

American Association.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0— | 7 |
| Columbus | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0— | 3 |

Batteries—Cushman and Sage; Chamberlain and O'Connor.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 1 | 1 | 2— | 10 |
| Louisville | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0— | 4 |

Batteries—Hart and Munyan; Khret, Ryan and Bligh.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 67 | 34 | .663 | Chicago | 54 | 47 | .535 |
| Boston | 64 | 38 | .627 | N. York | 45 | 57 | .441 |
| Philadel | 62 | 40 | .614 | Cleve'nd | 41 | 57 | .418 |
| Cincin'ti | 60 | 39 | .606 | Pitts'h'g | 19 | 81 | .190 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 59 | 39 | .602 | Philadel | 44 | 49 | .334 |
| Brookl'n | 62 | 44 | .585 | Pittsburg | 43 | 52 | .447 |
| N. York | 57 | 43 | .570 | Cleve'land | 41 | 56 | .423 |
| Chicago | 56 | 47 | .549 | Buffalo | 28 | 69 | .289 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'v'le | 62 | 32 | .659 | Col'mb's | 51 | 46 | .526 |
| St. Louis | 55 | 41 | .573 | Toledo | 49 | 45 | .521 |
| Athletic | 49 | 45 | .521 | Syracuse | 39 | 56 | .411 |
| Rochest'r | 49 | 45 | .521 | Brookl'n | 37 | 71 | .378 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 75 | 24 | .758 | Wash'ton | 38 | 47 | .447 |
| R. Isl'n. | 68 | 25 | .731 | Harrisb'g | 35 | 57 | .380 |
| Newark | 51 | 41 | .554 | Wilm'ton | 32 | 62 | .311 |
| Lebanon | 40 | 42 | .488 | Hartford | 32 | 62 | .309 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Chicago vs. New York, at New York.
Cincinnati vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Boston, at Boston.
Cleveland vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Pittsburg vs. New York, at New York.
Cleveland vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Buffalo vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Chicago vs. Boston, at Boston.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Brooklyn vs. Syracuse, at Syracuse.
Toledo vs. Columbus, at Toledo.
Rochester vs. Athletics, at Rochester.
Louisville vs. St. Louis, at St. Louis.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Lebanon vs. Newark, at Newark.
Harrisburg vs. New Haven, at New Haven.
Wilmington vs. Baltimore, at Baltimore.

Response to Powderly's Appeal.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25.—Over 100 delegates from the 44 assemblies of District 49, Knights of Labor, met here to arrange for cooperation with the New York Central strikers. These delegates represent an active membership of 6,000 Knights. By a unanimous vote the following telegram was sent forward last night.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25.

To T. V. Powderly, St. Cloud Hotel, New York.

District Assembly 49 in session assembled, unanimously resolved to stand by you in the position you have taken, knowing that the cause of labor is safe in your hands. Financial aid will be forthcoming. You can depend upon us to do our duty. W. J. STEVENSON.

The delegates perfected arrangements for seven meetings to be held in different parts of the district during the coming week.

Possible Engineer Strike in Texas.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 25.—There is every reason to believe that a strike will be inaugurated on the Southern Pacific by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Four engineers were recently discharged for what the company considered good cause and some of them were reinstated. The engineers then demanded pay for the time they were laid off, which was refused. After full discussion of the matter between General Manager Kruttschmitt and the Grievance Committee the company offered to arbitrate the question, but the engineers would not agree to this, and the affair looks squally. The whole matter has been referred to President Huntington for his decision. Should he sustain the position of the General Manager the men will go out.

Minnie Bell's London Debut.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Miss Minnie Bell, who is stated to be the co-respondent in a suit for divorce which Mrs. Dixey is said to be bringing against her husband, has arrived here, and has already been engaged to play a part in the forthcoming burlesque at the Gaiety Theatre, which will occupy the boards during the winter, when the idols of that house, Nellie Farren and Fred Leslie, are delighting American audiences.

A Massachusetts Man's Disappearance.

MARLBORO, Mass., Aug. 25.—Lyman B. Morse, aged 21, a native of this town, son of Jedediah Morse, left St. Louis about June 5, without money and has not been heard from since. Money sent to him by mail to St. Louis was not called for and has been returned. He was in poor health and spirits at the time and his sudden disappearance is a cause of great anxiety to his relatives. He was about five feet ten inches high, weighed 130 or 140 pounds, and carried an ordinary canvas valise.

Killed on the Central's Track.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 25.—John Lake and James Dorsey, well known residents of this city, were struck by a New York Central train while walking over a trestle just above the depot and thrown a distance of 30 feet. Lake was killed, but Dorsey escaped with slight injury.

Boston Workingmen Discuss the Strikes.

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—The Steam Railroad Men's Protective Union No. 4 met in Cambridge and discussed the strike on the New York Central. The meeting denounced the author of a report that men from the Boston unions were replacing the Central strikers.

Kelliher Will Fight the "Black Pearl."

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Denny Kelliher, the Boston middleweight fighter, has accepted the offer of the Twin City club of Minneapolis of a $1,000 purse for a fight between Kelliher and the "Black Pearl" early in October.

OVATION TO DILLON

Over Thirty Thousand People in Line.

THE EMPEROR AND THE CZAR.

They Bid Each Other A Cordial Farewell.

The Canadian Parliament to be Dissolved by Sir John McDonald—Mrs. Langtry's Theatrical Plans—London Workingmen Pass Resolutions of Sympathy for the American Knights.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The demonstration at Limerick in honor of John Dillon and Wm. O'Brien was a great one in point both of numbers and enthusiasm. There were 30,000 men in the procession, with bands and banners innumerable.

The meeting was intended as a testimonial of sympathy for Mr. Dillon in his controversy with Bishop O'Dwyer over the Persico mission, as well as a sort of farewell to Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien before their departure for America.

The speeches were of a character to encourage the Irish people in their resent political course. Mr. Dillon indulged in some bitter denunciation of Bishop O'Dwyer.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S ADIEU.

The Czar Gives a Farewell Banquet to His Imperial Guest.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 25.—A farewell banquet was given last evening at the Peterhof palace. The Czar, Emperor William, Chancellor von Caprivi, M. de Giers, and a number of leading officials were present. After the banquet the Czar and the Emperor went out upon a balcony which overlooks the gardens of the palace. These were brilliantly illuminated, the fountains, cascades, and grottoes being lighted up with colored fires, and presenting a dazzling spectacle.

Conspicuous among the devices was a huge shield, on which were displayed the German Emperor's initials in letters of fire and the coast-of-arms of Russia.

At 10 o'clock the Emperor departed. He was accompanied to the quay by the Czar. The officers of the Vibora regiment, of which the Emperor is honorary colonel, forming a guard of honor. Upon arriving at the landing stage the Emperor shook hands with each of the officers and bade the Czar a cordial farewell. As the steamer left the quay the Czar called:

"Bon voyage. Au revoir."

The emperor boarded the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, which put to sea at dawn, escorted by the German ironclad Irene.

The Grashdanin says that while the Czar and Emperor William desire peace in order to be able to occupy themselves with internal affairs, there is no problem, either actual or prospective, that can serve them as a motive for common action. The interview, therefore, could admit of no object beyond that of strengthening the present peace by affording ocular testimony as to the amicable relations existing between Russia and Germany.

Will Dissolve Parliament.

OTTAWA, Can., Aug. 25.—Sir John McDonald has decided to dissolve Parliament within a short time and appeal to the country for re-election before Christmas. The natural term of the present Parliament does not expire until 1892. A prominent official who is in the confidence of the government, in referring to the coming election, said that the government's position would not be improved by dissolution.

British Sympathy for the Strikers.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A meeting of 5,000 dock laborers, held to-day, Mr. Burns, the labor agitator, presiding, passed resolutions of sympathy with the American Knights of Labor in their strike on the New York Central Railroad. The resolutions also expressed hope for the success of the Knights.

Mrs. Langtry's Plans.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Mrs. Langtry's plans for the season are even now very doubtful, for it is just announced that she will not take the Princess's Theatre, where it was said she was to revive "Antony and Cleopatra." Her unfortunate experiment at the St. James's Theatre seems to have discouraged her.

A Church Consecrated.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 25.—The Church of the Redeemer at Sorrento, the gift of Mrs. W. F. Cochrane of New York, was consecrated yesterday by Bishop Neely. The large congregation in attendance included Generals Greely and Benet of Washington.

The Proposed Union Square Meeting.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The committee in charge of the mass meeting to be held in Union Square Tuesday evening, in sympathy with the New York Central strikers, met last night to hear reports. The committee from the Central Labor Union endorsed the call. It was announced that Mr. Powderly had promised to address the meeting. District Assembly 49 met to-day and issued a call to all of the local bodies to be present.

The Feeling at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The local strike situation has developed into a waiting game, and the strikers as well as the working railroad men followed the example of the public and watched and waited for news from the Supreme Council of the Federation of Railway Employes at Terre Haute. There was but little doing in the yards.

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

Senators Will Talk Tariff—The House to Vote on the Butterworth Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Tariff discussion to the exclusion of almost everything else, will predominate in the Senate this week.

In conformity with the mutual agreement of the Republican and Democratic leaders in the Senate, Mr. Aldrich, it is expected, will some day during the week, ask that a day be fixed for a final vote on the bill. The discussion may be interrupted by the conference report on the Sundry Civil bill, should an agreement be reached this week on the Irrigation reservoir item.

To-day in the House was given to the Committee on the District of Columbia; to-morrow and Wednesday have already been set apart for the consideration of the Butterworth bill to prohibit dealings in futures, etc., on which a vote will be taken on Wednesday. The Committee on Rules will bring in an order setting apart Thursday and Saturday for business brought up by the Committee on Labor, and this order will probably be agreed to. Friday will be private bill day.

THE GRANGERS' EXHIBITION.

They Will Hear Both Sides of Politics at their Annual Show.

CARLISLE, Pa., Aug. 25.—Everything is ready for the opening of the Grangers' National Exhibition to-day at Williams' Grove. During the past few days people from all parts of the country have arrived. The campaign in this State will be opened by the Democrats on Wednesday, when ex-Governor Pattison, ex-Lieut.-Governor Black and W. H. Barclay, candidates on the ticket, will be present and address thousands of farmers and manufacturers. On Thursday the Republican State candidates, Delamater, Walters and Stewart, will be there along with Governor Beaver and discuss Republican views.

In addition to the several hundred car loads of machinery that have already arrived there will be a large live stock exhibition and a binder twine factory and silk loom in full operation, and daily shooting exhibitions by the West End Gun Club of Harrisburg, besides other features amusing and profitable. Should the weather prove favorable there will be over 200,000 farmers and manufacturers on the grounds.

The Pope on Cardinal Newman.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Pope has written to Cardinal Manning, expressing sympathy over the loss of Cardinal Newman. In his letter the Pope says: "I am deeply grieved at the departure of a man who, by his learning, his writings, and his singular piety, gave great splendor to the Sacred College. I do not doubt that he has already received the reward of his virtues. Nevertheless, I will continue to pray for his blessed soul."

A Murder Confessed at Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE, Aug. 25.—The early part of the week a man giving the name of Jacob Stumpf called upon Marshal Young of this city and confessed that on January 4, 1890, he had murdered and robbed a man of $20 in Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Young communicated with the Nashville authorities and an officer is on his way here to investigate. Yesterday Stumpf withdrew his confession and said he only made it to obtain food. He is still held, however.

An Aeronaut's Terrible Fall.

WEST LEBANON, Ind., Aug. 25.—Wm. F. Dennis of Terre Haute, one of the most celebrated aeronauts in the country, met a horrible death Friday. When 800 feet from the ground he attempted to descend with a parachute, but the ropes became tangled and he dropped over 700 feet. The parachute opened about a hundred feet from the ground, but Dennis had such momentum that it availed nothing. His body was horribly mangled.

Snow in Pennsylvania.

MILTON, Pa., Aug. 25.—The temperature that was up in the eighties yesterday afternoon, with occasional flashes of lightning, changed shortly after midnight, and by 8 o'clock in the morning there was a quarter of an inch of snow on the awnings of the stores in the business part of the town. The early freight trains on both the Philadelphia & Erie and the Philadelphia & Reading roads were covered with about a half inch of the white article.

Son of ex-Speaker Littlejohn Killed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Persons in whom Captain French, of the East New York police station, has entire confidence, reported to him at the station early this morning that Hugh Littlejohn, a son of ex-Speaker Littlejohn of the Assembly, had fallen from the balcony of the Bay View House at Canarsie, and had been killed instantly, his neck having been broken.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

An incendiary fire yesterday destroyed the Ness City (Kan.) sugar mill. Loss $150,000.

Russia has presented a vessel of 1,200 tons to Montenegro.

The Rev. B. F. Rawlins, D. D., of Mt. Vernon, Ind., has been appointed to and has accepted the assistant editorship of the Western Christian Advocate, Cincinnati.

Secretary Tracy was the guest of Thomas C. Platt at the Oriental Hotel on Coney Island on Saturday night. He went away yesterday morning, stopping on his way to Brooklyn at the Brighton Beach Hotel.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—For New England: Fair weather; southwesterly winds; slightly warmer.

For Eastern New York and New Jersey: Slightly warmer; fair weather; southerly

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Patrick Trainor pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication this morning and was fined five dollars.

—A parlor meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. D. Poole, 22 West Third street, this evening at 7:45. All are invited.

—Plainfield commuters consider the dearth of peaches in New York city in great part made up by the luscious plums that load the venders' carts.

—The New York Tribune yesterday said that the Metropolitans objected to many of the umpire's decisions in Saturday's game against the Crescents, but added that the game was lost through poor batting.

—The New York papers yesterday state that an effort is being made to induce the Norwich ball team to join the Atlantic Association League. This is the club the Crescents will meet Wednesday afternoon at Norwich, Conn.

—George Butche, for a long time driver for Engine Company No. 2, and later for F. B. Randolph, has been given a lucrative position by J. T. Odam, a promotion which his worth as a careful, efficient workman well merited.

—Those who have planned to go to Norwich this week to see the Crescents compete with the crack Connecticut team, will leave Plainfield by the 3:12 train to-morrow afternoon, to take the five o'clock boat up the sound.

—The building on wheels which has attracted so much attention on the streets, the past few days, during its journey from North avenue to East Fourth street by way of Fanwood, has reached its destination and is being restored to firm foundation.

—John Motley of Elizabeth, who accused Patrick Day and others of assaulting him in Day's saloon because he wouldn't treat the crowd but twice, didn't appear in court to press the case today, and the hearing was adjourned for one week.

—An informal conference of Christian young men will be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening at eight o'clock. An excellent opportunity is afforded in these meetings for asking and answering questions relative to Christian living and practical work.

—A large line of imported gloves and dress goods, is shown at the dressmaking establishment of Mme. E. Getti, of Paris, on Park avenue near Fourth street. The dress patterns are imported direct, and nothing like them will be found in even the largest New York emporiums. Mme. Getti has in hand already orders for Fall and Winter costumes for many of Plainfield's wealthiest ladies.

—At six o'clock yesterday morning the coldest hour of Summer was registered. The thermometer at that time had worked down to 52 degrees. It was the turning-point in the cool wave. Warmer weather came today. The mercury began tumbling Saturday, when top coats were in demand, and when a stiff cool breeze from the Northwest gave a forcible premonition of Autumn.

Coming From Europe to Speak to the Club.

The regular Sunday meeting of the Reform Club was held in Reform Hall last evening, with President Harper in the chair. A. Vanderbeek led the choir, with George E. Rogers as accompanist. The devotional services were conducted by F. Nels, who afterwards delivered a very practical address along the line of gospel temperance. He was followed by George M. Angleman, who briefly but effectively portrayed the evils wrought by legalized liquor-selling in Plainfield. The remarks of both were well received.

The President announced that Samuel A. Haines of Netherwood, now homeward bound from Europe, would be an early speaker in Reform Hall. He also gave notice of the Reform Club's excursion to Mauch Chunk and the Switchback, September 10.

Had His Nose Smashed and Was Put Out.

A young man who was somewhat intoxicated, was struck in the face, without provocation, by some gentle humorist on the Crescent League base ball grounds, Saturday, with such force that his nose bled. The injured party set up such an indignant protest, and uttered such wholesale belligerent threats, that Special Officer Hope, who is determined to keep order on the grounds, felt called on to eject him. The identity of the funny man who struck the blow was not revealed.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Chas. W. McCutchen has returned from Kittery Point, Maine.

Miss Angie Feytel has returned from an outing in Connecticut.

City Judge W. R. Codington has returned from a week's outing.

Miss Julia Bulkley spent yesterday with her brother at Danbury, Conn.

Dr. T. S. Davis and family sailed from Europe for home, on Saturday last.

Mrs. F. J. Horr, of Bay street, is registered at the Ashland, Asbury Park.

W. A. Coddington will leave town Wednesday for the wilds of Pennsylvania.

The Rev. T. Logan Murphy and family from returned from Hotel Columbia, Belmar.

Mrs. R. MacDonald is among the recent arrivals at Hotel Westminster, Alexandria Bay.

Lewis DeCamp, of Plainfield avenue, is spending a few days with the Rev. E. H. Stewart of Portland, Pa.

Sophia, wife of Lewis A. Rheaume, died this morning at the home of Isaac T. Moore, in Warren Township.

Miss Mamie Ryerson, of Somerset street, is home again, brown as a berry, the result of a month at Squan, N. J.

Prof. John Ward Stimson, of the Seminary, lectured before a large gathering of artists at Avon-by-the-Sea, Saturday.

G. W. Smith, one of Plainfield's young people, has received a handsome souvenir from the New York World for success in puzzle-solving.

Minstrel George Thatcher visited his Plainfield home yesterday and today. He was gratified to find nearly every seat engaged for Tuesday night's performance.

Miss Lizzie Sanders, accompanied by her mother, is enjoying a well deserved vacation with friends near Bound Brook. From thence they will go to Matteawan, New York.

The Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor is at Weantinaug Inn, New Milford, Conn., whose patrons gave two highly successful performances of "The Chimes of Normandy" Friday evening and Saturday.

Edward Marble, of Thatcher's Minstrel company, will be presented to-morrow evening with a handsome testimonial by some of his friends among the members of the Plainfield Crescent League.

The Rev. P. E. Smythe, who has been traveling in Europe during the Summer, returned home by the Steamship Umbria, from Liverpool and Queenstown, Saturday. The vessel arrived at the Bar at 12:14 P. M.

The Rev. W. C. Stinson of Dunellen, who preached at the First Presbyterian church yesterday, was given the closest attention by large congregations, both morning and evening. His sermons were very interesting and practical.

Ex-Judge Ulrich is located by the New York Times at Spring Lake, where he "will remain until about the 1st of October. Mr. Ulrich said yesterday"—the correspondent adds—"that he would not be in the contest for the Republican Senatorial nomination from Union county."

The Rev. I. P. Brokaw, pastor of the Reformed church at Freehold, N. J., exchanged pulpits yesterday with the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, this city. He delivered a well-written message from God's holy word, to a large congregation, at both the morning and evening services.

Among the names of the new arrivals from Plainfield, at "The Brunswick," Mt. Pocono, Penn., appear Miss J. Atkins, Mrs. J. Jackson and daughter, Addie, the Misses Virginia and Emma Fish, Mrs. Andrew McKinney, Miss McKinney and Robert McKinney, Miss Madge L. Suthphen, Alfred E. Holmes, and Miss Alice Holmes.

Sure of Her Next Month's Tenancy.

Henry Thomas, colored, doesn't like the way Mrs. Jacob Hoppel, white, has been behaving in his house on Manning avenue, so he made complaint against her as an unruly, disorderly tenant, last week, and secured a writ for her ejectment Saturday. He gave her until today to move out, but Saturday afternoon she celebrated her defeat by becoming thoroughly intoxicated. She whooped things up in such a noisy and objectionable way that her arrest became a matter of public necessity, and after a severe tussle Borough Marshal Rutledge succeeded in locking her up. She kept up a terrific howling all Saturday night, and annoyed the neighbors a block around. Sunday she quieted down and begged and promised all sorts of things to be released. Justice Hardy sent her to Somerville for thirty days.

Fire on West Fifth Street.

The entire city fire department was called out shortly after four o'clock this afternoon, by a fire on West Fifth street, near Liberty. The fire originated in the barn of John Darling, and quickly burned to the ground a group of barns, sheds and outhouses. A number of dwelling houses clustered about the place, and several of them caught fire from sparks. The firemen had their hands full to save the houses. A house occupied by a colored family named Johnson was considerably damaged.

The only guaranteed cure for all blood taints and humors, eruptions, pimples, blotches, scalp diseases and scrofulous sores and swellings, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. You get a cure or money paid for it promptly returned.

TURN ON THE LIGHT!

Contractor Moore Still Risking His Money on a Contract That the "news" Says is a Fraud.

The one matter of interest to the people of Plainfield just now, is the exposure in THE PRESS of the effort of the city's enemies to stop the building of water works in Plainfield, and to compel the payment of thousands of dollars of damages to the contractor, by securing a ruling in the Supreme Court to the effect that the City has issued an illegal contract that the Water Works company has accepted in good faith.

Who are back of it all?

Let the light be turned on!

A correspondent writes: "The people are with THE PRESS forever, now! Your exposure of the danger that threatens us, may help to avert the disaster, with your continued assistance. May THE PRESS live forever! The news says the Republican Council of 1889 and Corporation Counsel Marsh issued a fraudulent contract. But who are behind the news in this damnable attack upon the City's present well-being and future prosperity?"

The above is published with a blush of modesty, although the communication also contains even stronger words of praise for THE PRESS. We have only done our duty.

An answer to the last question quoted above, is awaited by the whole community, as is also the return of Corporation Counsel Marsh.

Meanwhile Contractor Moore says he will keep his faith with the city, at all risks. Though the news insists and the Court may rule that the Corporation Counsel and the Republican Council of 1889 issued to him a fraudulent contract, he won't stop the building of the works until it is so decided. That's the kind of a man he is.

The Injury of All is the Concern of One Who Speaks His Mind.

The following letter—a copy of one mailed to President Maxwell Saturday—speaks for itself and speaks for the people. It is a little severe from the view THE PRESS takes, which is that Superintendent Olhausen is sometime going to do something towards removing the nuisance spoken of. In fact he wrote to THE PRESS to that effect, although it must be confessed that it was many months ago:

August 23, 1890.

Mr. J. R. Maxwell, President C. R. R. of N. J., 119 Liberty street, New York:—DEAR SIR:—In a perfectly friendly spirit, I desire to express with earnestness the conviction that it is not to the interest of the C. R. R. of N. J., to maintain a nuisance any longer in the city of Plainfield. As a property-holder there, I voice the practically unanimous sentiment of residents of our city South of the railroad, in saying to you plainly that we look upon your freight sheds in their present location as nothing less than a nuisance, exceedingly injurious to our interests as property-holders in obstructing developments, and causing a daily waste of time in coming to and going from the station to our homes.

The tendency is to cause an uncomfortable and dangerous overcrowding night and morning on North avenue and on Park avenue, by forcing us to go around under the railroad. We can see perfectly well that there are better locations for your freight depot on property owned by your company, and discover no reason why you shall not comply with the practically unanimous desire of our people by removing those old sheds and providing us with a neat passenger station or open pavilion at East, on the South side of the track, at the same time converting the space between it and Fourth street into a handsome park with a broad, neat driveway. The very large number of commuters and others who hold trip tickets, who live on the South side of your tracks, could then go directly to and from the cars without waste of time, daily annoyance, or danger.

It is believed that this change by your company would quickly result in very handsome developments between your road and Seventh street, which section is now out of the way and dilapidated in condition as a result of your freight depot obstructions.

I would remind you that the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. are not far away, and that your slowness in making this long desired change is alienating from you the good will which it is worth while for you to have, looking ahead.

If any of your employes at Plainfield have been deceiving you in this matter, for personal reasons, the sooner you discard their advice the better. The tendency of your present arrangements is and has been to develop North Plainfield at our expense.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and "delays are dangerous" very often.

Most respectfully,

E. P. WILLIAMS.

P. S. I am not pecuniarily interested in the vicinity of your depot, and am simply one of the hundreds disgusted by your freight obstructions on the South side—sheds, standing freight trains, etc., etc.

A Sunstroke Fatal After Years of Interval.

A little over two years ago Theo. J. Larew, a hard-working, industrious mechanic, and for many years a resident of this city, showed indications of brain trouble, the result of a sunstroke received while in the army, which made his removal to the Morris Plains Asylum necessary. He died at that institution last Tuesday night, and on Saturday afternoon was buried in Hillside Cemetery. The funeral ceremonies were under the auspices of Major Robert Anderson Post, G. A. R., Abel S. Titsworth, Commander, and the sermon was preached by its Adjutant, the Rev. L. E. Livermore of New Market. The deceased leaves a large and interesting family residing on West Fourth street.

William Miller "From Plainfield" Stabbed.

William Miller, a young man giving Plainfield as his home, was stabbed twice in the side at three o'clock Saturday morning in an all-night rum shop, No. 282 Market street, Newark, by Nathan Mandelbaum, who lives at No. 130 Lawrence street. The two men had engaged in a fight, and Mandelbaum was worsted, when he drew a pocket knife and lunged twice at his antagonist. Mandelbaum was committed to jail without bail. Miller was taken to the hospital, and it is thought he will recover.

POINTERS FOR LADIES.

Hints and Suggestions on Matters of Dress and Domestic Economy.

Figured gowns of silk, poplin, alpaca and cashmere for evening wear are very pretty made with a perfectly plain skirt and a draped short basque. With some soft, plain silk of constrasting tint that make a shell ruching and finish the hem, cuffs and shoulders.

An effort will be made to introduce colors in the saddle at the summer resorts. There is talk of white, gray, old rose and almond-brown habits with jockey caps to match, but the dark blue, invisible green and dead black are being made to order in the ladies' tailor-shops.

Lace is gradually creeping into favor again, and the new black piece goods show large patterns that are raised by an outline of cord, ribbon, or kismet. This cloudy stuff is in demand for collars, jackets and shoulder pieces, girdles, hem facings, and the whole list of mantles generally known as sling shoulders.

By all odds the sweetest thing in millinery is a fancy Milan braid, trimmed with gold ribbon bows and clusters of real ripe cherries. At the races, where the amenities are not always rigidly enforced, it is not unusual for the cavalier attendants to gobble up the tempting ox hearts.

Reason has some sway over fashion, for it is the best form to wear loose gloves and long shoes. Tight sleeves have had their day, the grthered bodice makes respiration an easy matter, and the corset-laces were loosened long ago. Even hats have been lightened, and the butterflies are able to try to think.

Make an apple, gooseberry or rhubarb sauce flavored with cinnamon, nutmeg, orangepeel and while hot drop into the dish as many old tea biscuits as there are guests. Cover the dish and allow the bread to swell and soak. In serving dust each portion with powdered sugar. Whipped cream sprinkled with candied cherries is another nice way to dress this biscuit pudding. This is a desert very easily prepared and most agreeable to the taste.

Moth spots are indicative of lax habits of life. Physicians claim that they can be eradicated by correction. Nursing women, and those who pass much of their time in poorly-ventilated homes, are predisposed to these blemishes of the face and neck. Coarse food, such as green pork, corned beef, tripe, cabbage and carrots, excessive use of pepper, sauces, vinegar and pickles, and irregularities in diet are supposed to contribute to the development of moth spots. There is nothing in this world so remediable for all sorts of disorders and imperfections as fresh air, out-door life, temperance, simplicity of food and abundant sleep.

The cane craze has its counterpart in the whim for odd parasol handles. The sun-shade may last a season, provided the owner has a change of handles. Ever since the La Tosca sticks were introduced parasol handles have been jointed to admit them to the trunk. In screwing and unscrewing the parts originated the whim for odd handles, and to-day all manner of jewels and buckles are being worked over and attached to new handles. The lizard, snake and dragon are favorite designs, crescents come next, and after them carved figures. Now and then fobs are recognized; cluster rings are used to gem an oblong or sphere and brooches, linked bracelets, locket-covers and miniatures are mounted without destroying their future usefulness.—Chicago News.

BEHIND THE TIMES.

The Tallow Candle Still Reigns Supreme in Old England.

The English are slow to adopt new ideas. Strange as it may seem, the people are still using tallow candles all over the country. They didn't know what kerosene was in Warwick and Bakewell. They had never used it. At the Warwick Arms and Charing Cross hotels in London we had to go to our rooms with one tallow candle, and sit with it, too, or pay sixpence for an extra one. After writing by our splendid kerosene lamps in America this trying to write by the light of tallow candles is something dreadful. It is going back to barbarism.

At Oxford I got fairly exasperated, and calling the porter I asked him if he couldn't go out and buy me a kerosene lamp.

"What be that there?" he asked in amusement.

"Why, something to burn—to give a good light," I said.

"Lor', yeas. I do know whar to find that their," and off he started. But what do you think the fool brought me? Why, six tallow candles! Light them! Why of course I did, and if you'd seen me trying to write with eight tallow candles in a row you would have taken my table for a Catholic altar and the writer for a bald-headed monk.

In London they are just beginning to use kerosence a little. They call it paraffine, but it has the same old Oil City smell. One snuff convinced me that I had struck oil. The smell was pleasanter to me than the perfume of flowers. It was a real good old home smell. It was the first time that I ever thoroughly enjoyed the smell of coal oil. The dealer told me that he sold it at sixteen to twenty-four cents per gallon. They have no splendid lamps to burn it in yet, but they will come in time. They are now burning it in small lamps without chimneys in many instances. There is a field for some enterprising American to come over here and introduce some good lamps. Candles are sold here at eight to ten cents per pound; very cheap, indeed, if you want a flame without light, but dear enough if you have to stand eight in a row to write a letter by. They tell me the French are burning our kerosene very generally and that they have very beautiful lamps.—London Letter.

—The dolphin is said to be the fastest swimmer in the seas. It has been observed to dart through the waters at a rate greater than twenty miles an hour, and it is often seen swimming round and round a vessel that is sailing at its highest speed.

Yellow Fever Ship at Halifax.

HALIFAX, Aug. 25.—The British war ship Buzzard arrived here to-day from Jamaica with yellow fever on board, having been ordered here when the fever appeared among her crew. At one time there were nineteen cases on board, and one of the victims died at Port Royal. All the others have recovered except five, and these cases are not very serious.

Furs at the Seaside.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 25.—The thermometer Saturday night registered 50 degrees. A cool land breeze prevailed all day, driving most of the people from the beach. The ladies went to the balls wrapped in furs, their escorts wearing heavy overcoats.

United States Officer Stabbed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 25.—In a barroom fight in this city Captain R. S. Burnett, United States engineer in charge of the Kentucky River improvement, was stabbed in the forehead and in the back. Four arrests have been made.

Cyclists En Route to Niagara.

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—Seventy American bicyclists, including three women, arrived here this afternoon. They leave in the morning for the meet of the League of American Wheelmen at Niagara Falls.

The President at Cape May.

CAPE MAY, Aug. 25.—President Harrison will probably leave on Tuesday for Washington, and the family will leave a day or two later for Cresson, where they will remain through September.

Rapid Horse Finish at Hartford.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 25.—At Charter Oak Park Saunders drove the black gelding Guy a mile in 2:13½; last half in 1:05; last quarter in 31 seconds. The weather was chilly and there was a strong head wind on the back stretch.

Prince George Makes Merry.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 25.—Society in Halifax is having a constant round of festivities, in which Prince George, General Sir John Ross and Admiral Watson take a conspicuous part.

Is it not to some extent your own fault that your children seek recreation outside of the family circle? Why not furnish them amusement at home? Why not treat them at home to a safe, delightful and wholesome beverage, such as you can easily have made from Hires' Root Beer Packages?

CARRIAGES

Of every description in stock or built to order.

Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,

AT

RYERSON'S

Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods

EMPORIUM,

33 Somerset Street.

Open until 8 P. M. 1 4-tf

NEW LIVERY!

IRVING C. STELLE,

(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery Boarding and Exchange Stable at

No. 26½ West Front Street,

In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.

First-Class Horses and Carriages

Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.

A share of public patronage is solicited.

Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at

Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue, Opposite R. R. Station.

He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 6:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.

E. P. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

STOUT boy wanted to make himself generally useful. Must be able to assist in milking. Apply at PRESS office. 8 25 tf

COACHMAN—Young Englishman wishes situation as coachman; had 7 years' experience in private family; good references. J. Bowlands, 2 Bay street. 8 25 2

WANTED—A competent chambermaid and waitress. Apply 35 Rockview avenue.

WANTED—A competent girl for general housework. 19 Grove street. 8 25 2

TO LET—Part of a house. Inquire at 59 Madison avenue. 8 25 tf

TO LET—Store building, 12x26, corner 4th and Washington. E. C. Mulford, Broker.

NICELY furnished rooms, with board, at 29 West Front street. 8 25 4

WANTED—Girl to do general housework in small private family. Call or address Mrs. Cocks, corner Woodland and South avenues, Netherwood, near station. 8 23 2

WANTED—House to take care of for the Winter by young respectable couple. Have references. Address G. L., PRESS office. 8 23 2

LOST—Lady's black silk Umbrella, in case; silver handle. Dropped from carriage in Plainfield or over Netherwood down macadamized road. Reward will be paid at 146 East Front street. 8 22 3

FOR SALE—A black cob built family horse; warranted perfectly sound. Address G., PRESS office. 8 20 6

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & Co. 8-11-tf

OUR MOTTO:—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 28c pound.

Havermeyer & Elder's standard Granulated Sugar.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—13c.

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEMAREST.

25 PARK AVENUE. 8-6 t

M. H. A.

Music Hall.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26,

George Thatcher's Minstrels!

Under the management of Rich & Harris.

The Most Talented, Best Paid, Best Playing and Best Playing Band of Minstrels under the Sun.

A few of our Minstrel Celebrities:—George Thatcher, John Wild, Wood and Shejjard, Thos. LeMack, Jay Quigley, R. J. Jose, Raymon Moore, Thos. Lewis, H. W. Frillman, John A. Coleman, Rodo. Leo Bapoli, and Mazux & Abacco's Quintet of Arabian Acrobats.

Street parade 12 M.

Seats on sale Saturday, August 23.

Prices—50c., 75c., and $1 00. 8 20 td

SECOND ANNUAL

EXCURSION

OF THE

Grocers' Protective Association,

Of Plainfield, N. J., to

BOYNTON BEACH,

On LABOR DAY,

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.

Train leaves Plainfield 8 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.

Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. 8 22 5

MOY.

HOAGLAND'S

EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue,

Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-y

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3 6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY.

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3 25-7

M. M. DUNHAM.

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STREET. 3-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 8-26-y

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

45 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting.

2-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,

Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 38.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.

Choice Can't Go Wrong!

WHERE ALL IS OF

THE CHOICEST!

COME TO

PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS,

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE,

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

BARGAINS!

To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!

Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:

GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.

GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.

CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.

GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.

TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.

FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

SELLING OUT CHEAP!

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-3-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters,
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. — (Chotola Building), —Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,

A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

CRESCENTS VS. METROPOLITANS.

With All Our Faults We Beat Them Still—Plainfield's Team Make Many Errors, But Gregg Saves Them From Defeat.

When the Metropolitans of New York won the World's championship in a deciding game against the Chicagos, Lynch pitched for the Mets and won by a score of 2 to 0. When the Crescent League team went to the bat in Saturday's game, that same old Lynch faced them; and he was supported by such men as catcher Collins, late of the Philadelphias, Shorty Howe of the New Yorks on third, Lever, who is a candidate for the League, and other good ones as the score below shows.

The game opened most inauspiciously for Plainfield. Howe, the first to the bat, reached first on a fumble of Lee's, and Lever followed with a lucky lift over the right field fence that brought in both runners. Beadle then reached first on an error of Martin's, and the 600 shivering people present, looked at one another in dismay. It was a cold day that seemed to be growing colder for the Crescents every minute. Neither Lee nor Martin could threw across the diamond against a slanting wind, and Wiegand could not get a ball unless it was thrown right into his chest. The Plainfield people therefore in the very beginning, felt as blue over the prospects as they looked blue over the weather. Two runs already for the visitors in the opening inning, with Beadle on first and no one out. Lynch then came to the bat and Gregg struck him out as a starter, but meanwhile Beadle stole second. Then Collins hit to Martin, who played the ball so quick to Wiegand and he across the diamond to Lee, that Collins and Beadle were both out, and the inning closed.

Then the Crescents took their first turn at the bat, and also scored two runs off of Martin's and Wiegand's safe hits and Lufbery's base on an error of Howe's. After their lucky opening the Mets would not have scored a run but for a bunch of errors by Jones, Martin, Lufbery and Lee in the seventh. Gregg held the visitors down to four scattered hits—one each in the first, third, fourth and seventh innings. Two of these four hits were made by Lever, who, when the Acmes defeated the Crescents in April, played on the visiting team and made three runs, two hits, and stole three bases.

In the fourth inning the Crescents scored two more runs on hits by Martin and Lufbery; and in the seventh three runs on a hit by McIndoe and errors of Howe and Beadle. The feature of this inning was Wiegand's steal home. He was between third and the plate when Lee struck out. Collins threw the ball so unexpectedly to Howe that Wiegand could not get back and started for home. Howe dropped the ball in his hurry and Wiegand made a desperate slide. His plate caught and he turned a complete somersault, landing on his head on the home plate. The applause was tremendous.

In the Crescents' last inning McIndoe showed what he could do by a drive to right field on which he reached third on a beautiful slide. It was a close decision, but umpire Berriman rightly deemed it safe. Plainfield never had so satisfactory an umpire. Lynch took the opportunity after Saturday's game to commend him, and every visiting team since he was engaged, have expressed themselves entirely satisfied. The score:

CRESCENT LEAGUE.

| | AB | R | BH | SB | SO | LB | PO | A | E |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hatfield, rf | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Martin, ss | 4 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 2 | 3 | |
| Lufbery, 2b | 4 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 2 |
| Wiegand, lf | 4 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 10 | 1 | 1 |
| McIndoe, 1f | 4 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 |
| Gregg, p | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 |
| Lee, 3b | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 4 | 3 |
| Jones, c | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 8 | 2 | 1 |
| Gillis, cf | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| | 6 | 6 | 5 | 2 | 4 | 27 | 13 | 10 | |

METROPOLITANS.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Howe, 3b | 5 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 4 | 3 |
| Lever, cf | 4 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Beadle, 1b | 4 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 12 | 0 | 1 |
| Lynch, p | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 1 |
| Collins, c | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 |
| Gateley, ss | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 |
| Wade, 2b | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 3 | 1 | 0 |
| Hoey, lf | 4 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 |
| Magill, rf | 4 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| | 4 | 4 | 2 | 1 | 7 | 7 | 24 | 9 | 4 |

SCORE BY INNINGS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Crescent League | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | * | —6 |
| Metropolitans | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | —4 |

Earned runs—Crescents, 2. Mets, 1. First base on errors—Crescents, 4; Mets, 7. First base on balls—Mets, 2. Hit by ball—Gateley. Three base hit—McIndoe. Home run—Lever. Double play—Lufbery to Wiegand. Flies caught—By Crescents, 5; by Mets, 10. Time of game—1:35. Umpire—Mr. Berriman.

A Word With Rahway and Somerville.

The Crescents have defeated the Acmes twice this season—once by a score of 3 to 0—yet the Acmes defeated the Rahways 8 to 3. The Crescents defeated the Mets, Saturday, 6 to 4; but the Rahways lost to the Mets, 4 to 7.

The Ridgewoods, it is true, defeated the Crescents 8 to 3 (but it will be different next Monday) and the Rahways, with one of their players as umpire, defeated the Ridgewoods 4 to 3. But everybody says that Rahway stole the game. Livingston of the Ridgewoods refused to pitch, and it is currently reported that all his strikes were called balls, and all the Rahway pitcher's balls were called strikes.

As to Somerville, their team was defeated on Saturday on their own grounds by the Unions of New Brunswick, whom the Crescents defeated by a score of 9 to 0. In view of all this, THE PRESS is justified in remarking that so far as playing ball is concerned, neither Rahway nor Somerville is in it with Plainfield. The last team far out classes them both.

A Cemetery Without a Grave.

The funeral of the late Benjamin G. Megie, of East Front street, which occurred yesterday afternoon, was attended by a large number of the friends and relatives of the deceased. Interment was made today in Marble Cemetery, New York, where the body of John Ericsson was held previous to its departure for the great inventor's native land.

The Marble Cemetery is one of the most interesting places of burial in the metropolis. It is a quiet and restful spot in the middle of one of the noisiest and most crowded sections of the city. It was the successor of the cemetery attached to the First Presbyterian church when the church stood in Wall street, near New. When the church removed to its present site in 1837 the Marble Cemetery was incorporated by the church people and others, and the present grounds were bought, on Second street, between First and Second avenues. The cemetery does not contain a grave. The ground was filled up in the beginning by underground stone vaults. Long walks traverse it from East to West, and the intervening grassy plots are covered with trees and flowering bushes. There are a few monuments marking the sites of vaults, but the only other stones are the flat marble slabs in the grass.

Many old New Yorkers are buried in the Marble Cemetery, and one of the vaults for many years held the body of President Monroe. Among the rich and honored by whose side John Ericsson lay for more than a year, and with whom the late Benjamin Megie is now at rest, are Robert Fulton, Henry Rankin, John W. Sterling, Marshall O. Roberts, Moses Taylor, Robert Hyslop, Thomas Fraser, Wm. B. Whiting, Andrew S. Norwood, Oronicus Chesebrough, James Kelso, Jno. R. Skiddy, Robert Bogardus, Frederick S. Winston, John Oothout, Hendrick Boorsem, Nathaniel L. Griswold, Isaac Varian, Samuel Kip, Marinus Willett, Wm. H. Hoople, John Bloodgood, Robert and Jas. Lenox, John A. Griswold, Preserved Fish, Jacob Hays, and members of the Ogden, the Quackenbush, and many other old New York Knickerbocker families.

A Plainfield Boy's Success.

A portrait of George E. Vincent, son of Plainfield's Bishop, and present acting Chancellor of Chautauqua University, is given in today's Tribune, with the following pleasant comment:

Mr. Vincent prepares the comprehensive programme for the season's entertainments, attends to all the press work of the C. L. S. C., presides on the platform in his father's absence, is a partner with Dr. L. T. Flood in The New Chautauqua Century Press publishing firm, and discharges numerous other functions with signal ability. He is tall and strongly built, has a bright eye and genial manner, makes a witty speech, is fertile in schemes for entertaining the assembled visitors, and is at home before an audience of 6,000 people.

Like all the high officials of Chautauqua, he seems to have discovered the secret of exhaustless vigor. People regard him as an itinerant encyclopedia, and he adjusts all difficulties with a tact and good-nature that account for his universal popularity. A break in the programme never disconcerts him. At a tableaux exhibition last week a temporary proscenium and "boxed" scenery cut off the view from the side seats in the Amphitheatre. The difficulty was overcome by bringing the audience to the centre seats in relays and having some of the scenes re-enacted. Mr. Vincent is a Yale graduate and attracts many Yale men to the Assembly. He has traveled from Alaska to Jerusalem and has a wide acquaintance among people of distinction here and abroad. He was married this year to Miss Louise Palmer, a daughter of the ex-Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, at Wilkesbarre. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent live at Buffalo.

George Thatcher Presented With a Floral Minstrel.

(From Saturday's Boston Globe.)

Immediately after George Thatcher had convulsed the audience at the Boston Theatre last evening with his original satirical song, "If you can stand that, you can stand anything," a magnificent floral tribute from his Boston friends, in the shape of a well-poised life-size representation of a colored minstrel, in a sitting posture, holding a banjo, was borne down the centre aisle on the shoulders of two ushers and handed over the footlights to the popular minstrel.

The head was of morning brides, in striking contrast with the eyebrows and hair of gray Florida moss; the lips and teeth being of immortelles of the proper color. White asters made up the shirt front, collar and sleeves, while the vest was a brilliant red of the same flowers. Red and white asters were used in the representation of trousers of striped material, one leg of which was faithfully represented to have been caught up in the crossing of the limb, exposing to view the ebony colored morning brides.

The banjo was faithfully represented, the whole making an elaborate display and altogether worthy of Florists J. Newman & Sons.

Mr. Thatcher accepted the tribute in a neat little speech, characterizing the offering as the most magnificent specimen of the florists' art he had ever seen.

Worth's Museum and Family Theatre.

Conspicuous among the numerous new places of entertainment which will be opened to the New York amusement-seeking public next Monday, will be Prof. E. M. Worth's New Family Theatre and Museum, corner of 30th street and 6th avenue, New York city. This will be the most perfect, convenient, beautiful and costly structure of its kind in America. It will contain a museum replete with the wonders of the world. A theatre, magnificent in decoration, with stage and scenery unexcelled. An immense lecture hall, a picture of elegance. Every afternoon and evening three entertainments are given, clean, pure, interesting and amusing, by the best of artists, and yet the general price of admission will be but ten cents, with a slight extra charge for reserved seats in the auditorium.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—French school boys wear uniforms, and every institution of learning has its distinctive dress.

—Female barbars are numerous in Sweden, and many of them own the shops in which they display their skill as tonsorial artists.

—It is stated that there are 40,321 physicians in the empire of Japan. The population of the country is put down at about 40,000,000.

—In Buenos Ayres an opera box for sixty nights cost $7,000. Coal for range or fire-place is from $38 to $40 per ton. You may go to the circus for $5.50. Shoes are worth from $10 to $12.

—Portugal has a female bull-fighter. Her name is Clotilde Mejstrik. She has practiced her bull-fighting only since last April, yet is wonderfully expert in the arena. At her debut in Oporto she killed two bulls, and a week later in Lisbon she killed two more.

—Berlin has established perambulating post-offices, which are a great success. The mail carts drive in eleven different directions, deliver local letters and sort letters collected while they are being taken to the general post-office.

—There are 536 authorized guides in the Alps. One hundred and ninety-four of them have taken a regular course of instruction in their profession and have received diplomas. Thirty-five of them are between sixty and seventy years of age, and six are over seventy.

—Edmund Yates writes that 303 elks were shot during last year in the forests of Norway, the majority of them being taken in the district of Namdals, where the forests are let to English tenants. The annual rental returned to the Government from these forests is equal to $300,000.

—A new electrical steering apparatus has been successfully tested by the German Government on the iron-clad Konig Wilhelm. The claim of the inventor that by this apparatus the captain can control the rudder from the bridge or from any point on deck is said to have been thoroughly established.

—A state grant of 8,000,000 marks has just been made for the extension of the telegraph and telephone lines in the German Empire. Of this 3,099,550 marks are to be devoted to the town telephones already existing, 606,000 marks to the erection of new ones, 1,925,000 marks to new telegraph lines, principally in the country, 761,900 marks for improvements in and 87,500 for extensions of the pneumatic postal services in Berlin and Hamburg.

—The French Society for the Help of the Wounded held its general meeting on June 13, under the presidency of Marshal McMahon. Since the war of 1870 the society has distributed £128,000 among soldiers and sailors wounded in war. It has increased its ambulance material to the value of $4,000, and has organized temporary hospitals, railway station hospitals, and ambulance services on a footing for war. It has trained numbers of lady nurses, bearers, etc. The society has now 42,000 members, and the yearly subscriptions amount to £4,000.

LIFE IN HELIGOLAND.

Queer Customs Observed in the Island from Time Immemorial.

It must be noticed, however, that their Sabbath begins at six p. m. on Saturday, when the church-bell is tolled, and ends on Sunday at the same hour. Formerly no vessel could leave port between these hours. Marriage cancels every other engagement, so that there can be no breach of promise brought against a man when once he is married.

The inhabitants have a strange custom on New Year's Eve. They then perambulate the streets with broken pots and pans, which they place before their friends' doors, and the man who has the largest heap before his cottage is considered the most popular.

The people rarely lock their doors, but when they do they leave the key where it can be reached by any one seeking admission.

The fisher-girls bait the hooks and carry them in a large wooden basket filled with sand to the fishermen on the beach. This is by no means a light burden; yet they may be seen cheerfully chatting with their companions as they march onward with woolen shawls over their heads. The streets bear English names, as Leopold, Berlin, Church, Augusta, Thames, Short, O'Brien, Prince of Wales, Princess street, etc. but the natives have their own names for them.

Heligoland has a small prison or lock-up, but they rarely lock any one up, as they do not care to board the prisoner. There is also a small cottage hospital ready for use if necessary, but patients are few and far between. There is also a poor-house. Here poor people live rent-free. The plan adopted is for parents and children to go before the magistrate, when the former resign any little property they may possess to their children, who in their turn promise to find them in food. When the husband dies the wife takes his property, and at her decease it is equally divided between the children.

There are no horses or donkeys on Heligoland, for they would be useless there; but there are eight cows and about thirty sheep tethered and milked, the milk being considered superior to that of cows. There are three policemen, the junior being known by the extra amount of gold lace worn by him. The coast-guard consists of five Englishmen, who are not permitted to act as constables. There are also sixteen active native coastguards, and sixteen in the reserve. When there is a wreck the whole island claims the salvage. Most of the inhabitants are behind with their rates, but they are never prosecuted, for when a settling takes place after the season is over what remains is left in hopes of being recovered next year. The doctors are engaged to work on wrecks, and then old scores are wiped off and the balance handed over to them. The natives only are permitted to rent small potato patches, which are much valued, but the government reserve most of the land for their own purposes.—London Times.

THE WAITER GIRL.

A Romance from Real Life Vouched For by a Reputable Magazine.

She was a pretty little girl, and was at one of the metropolitan stations. Enter to her, as they say in the play books, a middle-aged gentlemen, very hot, and in a very great hurry, takes a tumbler of claret and lemonade as befitting the summer season, and precipitately disappears on hearing the ringing of a bell, which proclaimed that his train is due. He disappeared, but in his hurry he left behind him a pocket-book which he had taken out in order to discharge his reckoning. Now that pocket-book was a very important one. It contained some sovereigns and a roll of bank notes, and also some business papers even more important than the bank notes. The merchant retraced his steps and went to every place he had visited in the course of the day, and he had been to a great many; but his memory was an utter blank in regard to the refreshment room. He put an advertisement in the papers; but waitresses do not read advertisements unless they are looking for a situation for self or friends. But one day this gentlemen managed to find himself in this station, which, by the way, was not in his normal line; one which he visited very rarely, and, as it were, only by accident. Directly he entered the room the pretty girl at the counter recognized him, and came up to the little table where he was sitting—it now being late in the autumn—drinking a cup of tea.

"I think, sir," she said, "that you left a pocket-book here some months ago."

"Indeed I did; and I shall be particularly glad to hear of it again."

The girl had her wits about her. It would not do to give the pocket-book to the first stranger that claimed it after she had mentioned her find. At the same time she had a recollection of the person to whom she spoke, which had caused her to address him.

"What sort of a pocket-book was it?" she asked. "And what did it contain?"

"It had three sovereigns in it and five five-pound notes and some business papers, bills of exchange."

"It is all right. I have got your pocket-book," she said: and she went to a little desk and produced it.

It was all right to the minutest detail. There were the gold and notes, and the other precious papers, a little silver besides, and half a dozen postage stamps.

"Young lady," he said. "I am very much obliged. Do you know that I have offered a reward in the newspapers for the discovery of this pocket-book?"

"I did not know it. I am very glad that I kept it for you. I do not want a reward."

She said this; but, being only a human waitress, I dare say the vision of a bonnet, or a dress flashed on her imagination.

"Now, will you write down your name and where your mother lives in this pocket-book of mine?"

"I have no mother; but I have an aunt and a lot of little cousins."

And she gave an address in Walbrook.

Some time after this gentleman called upon the aunt and said that he would be very pleased to send the girl to school for a few years, defray all possible expenses, and make himself responsible for securing her a livelihood afterward.

The girl herself was not so pleased. She thought that school was only meant for little girls, and being a mature young woman of seventeen, she thought that she was much too old for it. But being assured that there were girls even older than that at the good and small finishing school where he proposed to send her, she was wise enough to accept the offer, and cleverly availed herself of all the advantages which were set before her.

The merchant provided for her future by persuading her to marry him. She made him a good wife, and they "live happy forever afterward," as if they belonged to a story book.—All the Year Round.

IT WAS TOO MUCH.

A Detroit Ice-Man Killed by a Truly Remarkable Shock.

"Do many people kick about shortage of ice?" was asked of an ice-dealer the other day.

"Heaps of 'em," was the reply.

"And do they have a valid excuse?"

"Not one in twenty. They feel it obligatory to drop in and claim light weight, but not one in a hundred ever weighs a lump to be sure about it. And then nearly every lump is allowed to lay at the gate from fifteen to sixty minutes, and the sun melts off five pounds in a very little time."

"I suppose you can tell a kicker as soon as he enters."

"I can. Hush! One has just struck the foot of the stairs. Wait and see the circus."

The steps came nearer and nearer, and presently a red-faced man opened the door, glared around, and asked:

"Is this the ice office?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I came to see about my ice."

"Yes," was the non-committal reply as the ice-man winked at the reporter.

"The lumps look very small to me."

"Yes."

"I guessed their weight to be about seventeen pounds."

"Yes."

"Where I ought to have twenty-five.'

"Exactly."

"And so I got a pair of scales and weighed them for a week."

"I see. How much was the shortage?"

"Shortage! Why, man, every lump weighed twenty-seven pounds, and some of them thirty, and we come in to pay you for nineteen extra pounds for' last week. How much is it?"

The ice man turned red—then white—began to tremble, and finally pitched off his stool to the floor. When the reporter raised him up he was as dead as a mackeral. The sudden shock had killed him.—Detroit Free Press.

—First Passenger—"Are ye sick, Thomas?" Second Passenger (faintly)—"D'ye think I'm doing this for fun?"

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-7

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 25c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
AT MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 9 1 -tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 9-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
80 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 9-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
P. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-5-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 307. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.
☞New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year
22 EAST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!
22c. Pound.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street
1-18-tf

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,
That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.
Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.
Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.
ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK 6-3-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 8-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sep1

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal. 7-19-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten and School,
48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),
REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.
In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History. Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application. 8 21 2m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths!
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. E. HOSMER, 35 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Frisse, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—50 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. myo

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
☞All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.☜
ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
. 6 E. FRONT STREET, my10y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
24 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 121. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 28 North ave. nov21

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—NO BOTHERING 1-14-tf

J. B. STICKLEY
21 East 54th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-to6-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840,
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED,
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 20 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
4-4-6m

DER OAK UND DER VINE.

I don'd vas preaching vomun's rights
Or any ding like dot,
Und I like to see all beoples
Shust gondendad mit dheir lot;
Budt I vants to gondradict dot shap
Dot made dis leedle shoke:
"A voman vas der glinging vine,
Und man the shturdy oak."

Berhaps, sometimes dot may pe drue;
Budt, den dimes oudt off nine,
I find me oudt dot man himself
Vas been der glinging vine,
Und vee hees frendts dhey all vas gone,
Und he vas shust "tead proke,"
Dot's vhen der voman shteps right in,
Und peen der shturdy oak.

Shust go oudt to der pase-pall groundts
Und see dhose "shturdy oaks"
All planted roundt ubon der seats—
Shust hear dheir laughs and shokes!
Dhen see dhose vomens at der tubs,
Mit glothes oudt on der lines;
Vich vas der shturdy oaks, mine frendts,
Und vhich der glinging vines?

Vhen sickness in der housholdt come
Und veeks and veeks he stays,
Who vas id fighdts him midoudt resht
Dhoes weary nighdts und days?
Who peace und gomfort always prings,
Und cools dot fefered prow?
More like id vas der tender vine
Dot oak he glings to, now.

Man vants budt leedle here pelow,"
Der boet you time said;
Dhere's leedle dot man he don'd vant,
I dink id means, inshtead;
Und vhen der years geep rolling on,
Dher cares und droubles pringing,
He vants to pe der shturdy oak
Und also do der glinging.

May pe, vhen oakn dhey ging some more,
Und don'd so shurdy peem,
Der glinging vines dhey haf some shance
To help run life's masheen;
In helt und sickness, shoy und pain,
In calm or shtormy veddher,
'Tvas better dot dose oaks und vines
Should always ging togedder.
—Charles Follen Adams, in Boston Globe.

MARY RAVENEL.

An Heiress Finds a Lover in the Hop Fields.

"Hop-picking?" said young Durell, as he took a rosy August apple from his pocket and fed it leisurely to the beautiful white horse against which he leaned. "Why, yes, it is rather a romantic business, if you look upon it from a romantic point of view. You're an artist, eh? Come to sketch our little bits of rustic scenery? But there's nothing particularly picturesque about our hop fields. Just sunshine and the gold-green of the clusters, and the curling tendrils reaching out for something to grasp it, and the air so blue and clear that one can almost see the straight lines of the sunshine. Of course, it looks pretty to me, for I was born and brought up in it—but—excuse me—I can't see what there is specially worthy of an artist's pencil?"

Mr. Raymond smiled.

"Do you see those long perspectives of green alleys?" said he, "with the figures all running in and out? And the old woman sitting among the fragrant heaps, with the scarlet cloak and the two little toddlers at her feet? And yonder feeble, bent old man, with water cans on his shoulders? Why, there are a hundred bits of genre here, to say nothing of the background."

And Raymond took out his mill-boards and color boxes, set up an impromptu easel and began diligently to paint.

Squire Durell's son looked on with an amused smile. To him the machinery of the great hop farm was the real business of life. Artists and such like were merely pleasure-seekers who disported themselves airly along the outskirts of creation.

"You will find some very pretty faces here," said Durell, "if you care for sketching that sort of thing. People come here from all parts of the country in hop-picking time. Gypsies, tramps, respectable poor workers who don't object to turning an honest penny, young people who come here for the frolic of the thing, and poor old wretches who think every season will be their last. It's healthy, the doctors say. At all events it's profitable. In hop season there isn't a cottage, a farm-house garret, nor even a barn untenanted. There are tents, a white sprinkle of them, down in the meadow by the vines, where people sleep at nights. You can see them from here. You are staying in this part of the neighborhood? No? My father will be very glad to see you up at the house, if you will honor us by becoming our guest to-night."

And raising his light straw hat, Daniel Durell went his way, the beautiful, satin-skinned white horse following, like a docile kitten, at his heels.

"Hugh," he said to a servant who had just come down with a hamper from the house, "take a cup of hot coffee and two or three of these white rolls, with my compliments, to that gentleman in the linen coat who is sketching under the tree. And Hugh!"

"Sir?"

"Did you carry the sardine-sandwiches and the basket of apricots and the fresh milk to the young girl in black?"

The man nodded.

"She didn't want to take 'em, Mr. Daniel," said he. "She was all for calling me back. But I minded your order, sir, and made off as fast as I could, pretending not to hear."

Durell smiled. "That's right," said he. "And don't forget the cold meat and slices of new bread for old Dunstable. He grows feebler and feebler every day, and there was nothing but the heel of a loaf and a black cheese-rind in his dinner-basket, for I saw it myself."

"It's all right, sir," said Hugh.

And then Durell, going up to the Great House, shrewdly noting all the hop-pickers as they sat and lay around, under the shadow of the vines, in the dolce far niente of the noon intermission, finally came into the great, cool room, where the scent of cheese-making filled the air, and the muslin curtains fluttered to and fro in the breeze.

The squire himself sat there, gouty, but content. Iced claret and cold chicken were on the table; forced hot-house peaches scented the atmosphere; a plate of deviled tongue, with curry sauce, supplied the fiery element, and delicate cutlets, breaded and fried in egg, were brought in, hot and hot. The old gentleman's face brightened at the sight of his son.

"It has seemed a long day without you, my boy," said he. "Sit down; sit down. Do you know, Daniel, I've been thinking all the morning that I wish you'd bring a wife home to the old place? She could be company for me when you are gone. Why don't you think of it, my lad?"

"I have been thinking of it, father," said the squire's son. "But what would you say, sir, if I were to marry a poor girl?"

The squire set down his glass of iced-claret. Evidently this was a new view of matters.

"A poor girl, Daniel!"

"But a good girl, father, and as sweet and lovely as yonder half-opened rose-bud. You will, perhaps, laugh at me," he added, "but I believe I have lost my heart to one of our hop-pickers."

"Daniel!"

"Her name is Mary Ravenel, sir; I never saw her before this season. She is picking hops with her aunt or some elderly relative—a pale and fragile-looking girl, but as beautiful as a dream. And—I love her."

The old squire nodded his head.

"I can trust you, my son," said he, "and whoever you choose to bring here will be as welcome as flowers in May."

While all this time the artist, strolling idly along to observe the various groups, came upon a pale-faced girl in black—a girl with large, melting wine-brown eyes, straight, pure features and tender, dark hair overhanging her forehead like a mist of jet.

"Miss Ravenel!" he cried, in amazement.

"Yes, 'Miss Ravenel,'" she smiled back. "You are astonished to see me here. But the doctor declared that hop-picking would be the very thing for me. So Aunt Verna brought me, and here we are. And I am really accomplishing wonders in the hop-picking line! Sit down here and eat some of these delicious hot-house grapes. They are sent to us daily by an unknown benefactor. That is," as Aunt Verna smiled meaningly, "not exactly unknown. It is Squire Durell's son. He will persist in sending all these delightful things, although I tell him, over and over, that I have no need of them. I believe he thinks I am a starving dress-maker, or something of the kind," with a blush and a smile. "But, oh, he is so good! And I like him so much! Now show us, please, what you have been sketching."

Mr. Durell came down, in the warm, red glow of the summer sunset, to the willow-shaded curve of the river where Miss Ravenel liked to sit when her day's work was done.

"I have brought you some of the rare orchids from the conservatory," said he. "You told me, the other day, that you liked flowers."

"I am so much obliged to you," said she, gratefully. "But, Mr. Durell, I have something to tell you."

"Stop a minute," he said. "I have something to tell you—that I love you—that I want to make you my wife. Dear Miss Ravenel, are you surprised at this? Have you not seen it growing out of my heart by degrees? My father is old and infirm, but he is ready to welcome you with all paternal love, and—"

"You really love me?" she cried, with wide-open eyes. "Me, a poor, pale little hop-picker?"

"You, my queen and my ideal!"

"Then," she said, all smiles and bushes, "I think I ought to repay you by loving you a little. And I think I do, nay, I am quite certain of it."

"My darling! Oh, my darling!" he murmured.

"But wait; you have not heard what I am," she urged.

"You are Miss Ravenel from Philadelphia."

"I am General Ravenel's daughter. I am here by the doctor's orders, not because I need the daily wages of a hop-picker. But you won't like me any the less, will you, for that?"

Mr. Durell stood amazed. Miss Ravenel, the Philadelphia beauty, the great heiress!

"We are stopping at the Clancliff Hotel," said she. "I have my phaeton and ponies there. I will drive up to the house to see your father, since he can not come to me."

"But I thought you were a poor girl, hiring one of these tents at so much a night," said Daniel, in perplexity.

"That's where you were mistaken," said Miss Ravenel, smiling. "But the hop-picking has done me a good deal of good. Aunt Verna says my cheeks are redder than they used to be; and I must be better, because—"

"Well?"

"Because I feel so happy," said Mary Ravenel, coloring like a rose.

And so Daniel Durell found his life's treasure out among the garlanded hop-poles.—N. Y. Ledger.

COURAGE OF FISH.

They Exhibit Considerable of the Quality in the Spawning Season.

One day while wading and casting for bass in Lone Stone Lake, Wisconsin, I inadvertently stepped on the spawning bed of a rock bass, or "goggle-eye," as they are sometimes called in the West, writes a correspondent of Forest and Stream. The fish ran out and a moment later came back at me and struck quite a severe blow on my leg as I stood in the water. I stood quiet, and the little creature—it was only about a half or three-quarters of a pound in weight—ran at my leg again and again, bunting quite forcibly with its head.

The whole demeanor of the fish was one of great anger. As the water cleared I could see it very plainly, and it could see me as well, but it showed no signs of moving off, and evidently meant fight. I stepped away from the nest I had unfortunately trodden upon, and its possessor then abandoned the fight. This was June 15, I believe. We could see a good many black bass nests shining on the bottom of the lake near the shore. The men of that country said they often caught bass by leaving the bait lying on the bed or "nest." On finding it there upon their return one or the other of the bass would seize it and carry it off from the bed, and the fish could then be hooked. I caught only one bass here, a big mouth.

GETTING INTO SASSIETY.

Difficulties Encountered by Young Men at Narragansett Pier.

Alone Among Thousands by the Sad Sea Waves—The Behavior of the Fair Bathers—Society's Attitude Toward "Queer Women."

[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]

AFTER all, if you are not in the swim, staying in New York and working the growler is just about as much fun as Newport," remarked Ribbins, as he rose to open the door in response to the maid who had obligingly consented to "chase the duck" for our joint benefit. "I tell you, old man," he continued, as he set the pitcher on the table and told Bridget that she might keep the change. "I tell you, this summer resorting isn't what it is cracked up to be, and as for the yarns you read about the young clerk catching on to the summer girl, it's all tommy rot," and Ribbins wiped the froth from his pink mustache with a gesture of disgust.

"You see, I've been spending my vacations for the last five years, with a lot of fellows from our store, down on Long Island. It was a plain old place, nine dollars a week, no society, no dress, but lots of fun. I made up my mind last summer that this year I'd just go to some swell place and mingle in society. I wanted to throw myself into the giddy whirl. I'm not a fortune hunter, but I thought it would be a jolly lark to spend a couple of weeks flirting with society belles and doing the elegant generally. I had read all about it in the society papers and I thought I knew how the thing was worked. I economized all winter so as to fetch it, and this spring I had enough hard earned—no, not hard earned; hard saved. Earning isn't a circumstance to saving—dollars to carry me through a couple of weeks at the pace of a prince. I thought the matter over, and decided upon Narragansett Pier as being better than Long Branch or Cape May and yet not so exclusive as Newport.

FAIR BATHERS OF TO-DAY.

"I wrote up, engaged rooms in the best hotel, made arrangements with a liveryman in town here to send up a horse and dog cart. It cost more to do it that way than to hire on the spot, but then there was no danger of having the swells know that I was driving a hired rig. I found out afterwards that I might have driven a goat team for all the attention they paid to me, one way or the other. I got white flannel suits, blazers, tennis suits and all that sort of thing. Now, I don't pretend to be a beauty, but I don't think I look like a 'cad,'" and Ribbins looked at me appealingly. He certainly does not look like a cad, being a well-mannered, presentable young fellow enough, rather better looking than the average, in fact.

"Well, I went there and prepared to begin my fun, but it didn't begin. I went out driving and walking and down on the beach and in swimming, and so far as any sociability was concerned I might as well have been Robinson Crusoe. I had no one to introduce me and I found no way to introduce myself. I managed to scrape a chatting acquaintance with some of the men, but they soon discovered that I did not know anybody that they knew and so they dropped me. When I come to think it over I couldn't really blame them; they had no means of knowing that I was not a confidence operator.

YOU'D SEE HER ON HORSEBACK.

"I used to go out driving, and I saw the stunningest sort of girls on horseback. They'd glance at me curiously, see that I did not belong to their 'set,' and after that I did not exist, so far as they were concerned. It used to gall me like the mischief, for while I don't think I'm conceited, I knew that I was better looking, better bred and better dressed than one-half of the young fellows they chatted with. I would go down to the beach and sit and watch the crowd in bathing. They all knew each other, or at least everybody knew somebody, except me. Talk about being lonesome! Why, I felt like a spectre, a ghost. I knew I was there, but nobody else did. It was frightful, to be in the crowd but not of it," and Ribbins paused long enough to take another pull at the "growler."

"You newspaper men can't understand it," he went on. "You always know somebody and you come into contact, sooner or later, with all sets. You don't realize that there are in New York City dozens of distinct circles of society which never touch each other. It would have been easy enough for a newspaper man in my position, living well and with money to spend, to have got into the swim. You meet Jimmy Smith over a game of billiards, and in a few minutes you find that you both know Tommy Jones. That is a sufficient introduction for a man, and once started your acquaintance extends. After that it depends upon yourself; if you are a gentleman you are pretty sure to get on. That is the reason that newspaper men write such absurd yarns about fellows without introductions of any kind worming themselves into society. I can see that it is not so difficult after one gets the start; the trouble is to make the start. I got morbid over it; I was having a horrid time, but I determined to stick it out. I imagined all sorts of romantic accidents. I watched for a chance to rescue one of the girls from drowning, but they swam like mermaids.

THE FAIRY WHO LAY IN A HAMMOCK ALL DAY.

"There was one girl who used to jump off of a spring-board every morning, swim about a hundred yards under water and then spend about two hours diving around like a dolphin. In the afternoon you'd see her on horseback. I made up my mind that she was the girl I was looking for. I was dead certain that a society girl who took that sort of exercise was certain to come to grief sooner or later. I haunted that girl, expecting to be able to either pull her out of the surf or gallantly stop her runaway steed. But that is another exploded notion."

"But after all I don't think my time and money was wasted. I had a chance to stand on the outside and watch society people pretty closely and they—the women especially—have a good deal more sense than you newspaper writers make out, and I've learned to take your yarns about the frauds who get into society without any introduction with a very big discount. A man has got to have a start," and Ribbins having unburdened his mind settled back into moody and retrospective silence.

There is a good deal in Ribbins' conclusions. It takes time and patience to get into society even when the conditions are somewhat relaxed, as at a summer resort. Given a young man with tact, good manners, good address and money, and he will probably, before the season is over, be able to put himself on some sort of a footing.

SHE JUMPED OFF A SPRING BOARD.

A well known social authority has asserted that a single man with plenty of money and good manners can get into the best of society if he makes the effort, but if he is married the task is infinitely harder. A new man is taken largely for what he appears to be, a woman is microscopically investigated.

I know of one instance, pretty familiar to New York society, of a man who has been straining every nerve for the past five or six years to obtain social recognition. He is cultivated, fine-looking and enormously rich. His power in financial circles is stupendous, for he not only has his millions, but he has the brains to use them.

But—

His first wife died and he married his ward. The second wife seems to be well enough in her way. No definite scandal has ever leaked out concerning this second marriage. The knowing ones whisper, wink and nod their heads. He stands at the gateway of society and knocks, but he isn't let in. He owns a box at the opera; he drives magnificent horses; he goes to the most fashionable hotels; he has his city house and his country seat. Outsiders fancy that he is in; he knows that he is out. Without the wife he would be received with open arms; with the wife he is compelled, like Ribbins, to stand on the outside and look on. Yet, as I say, there has never been any thing definitely and openly said against her or his marriage to her. "Queer" is the harshest term used when the subject is discussed.

All this is, I am aware, contrary to the generally-accepted and printed notions concerning American society. But it is true, and that is something.

ALLAN FORMAN.

GLOVE CASE.

A Neat and Handy Device for Keeping Gloves in Good Order.

Make two sides for the case of stiff cardboard; let each side measure twelve inches in length and five inches in breadth. Cover one side of each piece with dainty flowered silk, and on the other side of each piece spread a thin layer of cotton sprinkled with sachet powder; over the cotton place silk of some solid color corresponding in shade with the predominant hue of the flowered silk; turn in the edges, and overhand the inside solid colored silk to the outside flowered silk, remembering to leave little openings at the proper places along the edges in which to insert the narrow ribbon used for fastening the two sides of the glove-case together. Fig. 1 shows the manner of attaching the ribbons on the sides.

FIG. 1.

At each of the points A and B sew in a ribbon, after cutting off the ends diagonally in order to make them fit and lie even; then across the cover on the opposite edge, at the points C and D sew in short lengths of ribbon, cut square off at the ends; next bring the ribbon at B up and across to the second cover of the case, to the point E; then in like manner connect the ribbon at A to the point F on the second cover; now fasten the end of the ribbon C in place on the edge just as it lies across the second cover, likewise sew the ribbon D in place. Fig. 2 gives a correct example of the two sides of the case properly fastened together. Do not forget that each piece of ribbon must have one end attached to the first cover and the other end to the second cover. Finish off the edges of the case with a slender silken cord.

FIG. 2.

The case is closed by shutting the two sides together (Fig. 3), and it can be opened from either of the long sides. In opening the case alternately at either side, the crossed ribbons will be found to change from side to side, thus holding or releasing the gloves at your pleasure.

FIG. 3.

Slip the gloves in under the two short lengths of ribbon, where they will be kept pressed out smooth and straight.

—Youth's Companion.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

COLD water and soap usually remove machine grease from washable fabrics.

TO REMOVE spots from white ivory knife handles, rub well with very fine emery.

SALT curdles milk, hence in gravies or foods where milk is used, add the salt just before serving or after cooking.

A TEASPOONFUL of powdered borax in the last rinsing water helps whiten clothes and prevents their becoming yellow.

A LITTLE borax put in the water before washing red-bordered napkins and table-cloths will help prevent their fading.

TO REMOVE white spots from varnished furniture, dip a soft flannel in spirits and rub it well. This rarely fails to restore the color.

FOR washing flannel skirts, shirts and all nice flannels, use a tablespoonful of borax to a panful of water. Do not wash them on a board, but press through the hands gently.

AN excellent way to clean the scalp of dandruff is to dissolve a teaspoonful of borax in a quart of water and wash it thoroughly, being careful to afterwards rinse well in clear water.

TO REMOVE tea and coffee stains from table cloths, lay the stained part over a deep plate or bowl and pour boiling water through it. This will prevent its spreading and generally removes the stains.

Birch-Bark Broom-Holder.

Wake Robin writes O. J. Farmer: Cut a nice smooth piece of white birch-bark, like diagram. Line this with a piece of bright worsted, and bind with ribbon of a contrasting shade. Fold at dotted lines and fasten together at the back with three short pieces of elastic-ribbon. Fasten two pieces of ribbon, one at the top and one at the bottom, as shown. Paint a spray of bright autumn leaves on the front, or if you prefer it, a pretty little landscape. When the brush is wanted for use, it is pulled through, the elastic fastenings in the back making this an easy matter. If bark is very dry, dip in water before bending or it will split.

BIRCH-BARK BROOM-HOLDER.

He Railroads Them to Matrimony.

First Clergyman—It seems to me I never have any marriage ceremonies to perform except in the fall.

Second Clergyman—Then you are a sort of autumn-atic coupler.—Judge.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction. TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD.]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1890
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-16-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 102. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 12-1-1y

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
423

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-14-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
18 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Fancy Clocks, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms and Silverware.
Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles. Don't forget the number.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Mill of Fare Served Every Day.
6-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE—STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:55 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 | A. M. | to meet | 8.33 | A. M. train. |
| 3rd do | 9.15 | | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | | do | 10.17 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | | do | 12.08 | P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 | P.M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 | P.M. do |
| 8th do | 3.45 | do | To the Post Office. | | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 | P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do | 5.39 | do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do | 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do | 7.08 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.55, 9.57, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 5.35, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-1 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

8:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 07 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 40, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days. For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2:25 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 07 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 40, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M., 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 07 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 40 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M. A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 33, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 57, 3 30, 3 51, 5 01, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 27, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9 30 A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 39, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 42, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 16, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 54, 6 20, 6 38, 7 00, 7 13, 7 36, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 16 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 00, 9 47, 11 15 A. M. 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 2 3 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 6 05, 6 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 5 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Manch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

9 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 27 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 27, 8 52, a. m., 3 20 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 27, 5 28, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 09 p. m. Sunday—3 27, 8 52 a. m., 3 20 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 27, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 09 p. m.

ROUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 46, 11 50* a. m., 1 59*, 2 22*, 4 08, 5 34*, 5 50*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 46, a. m., 2 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 55 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 46, 11 50* a. m., 2 45, 5 05, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 46 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 30*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15,

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT:

Madame E. GETTI, of Paris.

Dresses Ready-Made and to Order.

IMPORTED DRESS GOODS AND GLOVES.

Park Avenue and Fourth Street, (Miller Building.)

8 25 3w

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, SAY

Dark Outing Flannels will be very popular this Fall for Children's School Dresses. We are displaying a nice assortment of them. Price 12c.

* * * * *

Gentlemen, we will sell 50 dozen Unlaundried Shirts, 50c quality, for 39c each.

* * * * *

We put on sale, and 'tis the last of those remnants of Fine Outing Flannels; our price 10c.

* * * * *

We are offering some extra good values in Table Linen, Towels and Napkins.

* * * * *

Our Writing Paper deserves special mention; one at 10c a box, and one at 14c, which is as good as you generally pay 25c for.

* * * * *

There are 100 sample Corsets, sizes 25 to 30, Corsets that sold for $1 and $1 25. We close the entire lot for 60c pair.

* * * * *

Housekeepers will find many good things in our Furnishing Department. We keep a fine line of Crockery, Glass and Tinware, and sell them at popular prices.

* * * * *

We deliver goods everywhere, free of charge.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-6-y

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good health
Lucky Jones
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N J

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-3-1

THEY DO NOT STRIKE

The Federation Tenders Its Moral Support.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE KNIGHTS.

Arraignment of the Central Management for Refusal to Arbitrate.

Mass Meeting at Albany—Mr. Webb's Views of the Federation's Action. Investigating the Charges of Drunkenness Against the Men They Are Pronounced False.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 26.—The Federation men will not be called out. The strike motion was defeated last night.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 26.—The Council adjourned sine die at 5:15, after deciding that the official statement of the conference should not be given to the press until 9 p. m.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 26.—The following dispatch has just been sent to T. V. Powderly at Stanwix Hall, Albany:

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 25.
T. V. Powderly, Grand Master Workman Knights of Labor, Albany, N. Y.

The Supreme Council adjourned this afternoon after carefully considering the strike in all its details. You will notice the result of our deliberations in to-night's dispatches, which it is hoped will meet with your approval. The Committee was unanimous in endorsing your proposition and the proposition of the Grand Executive Board, and most earnestly hope that the right of which you are the champion in the great conflict on the New York Central may finally and powerfully prevail.

F. P. SARGENT, President.
W. A. SHEHAN, Secretary.

THE FEDERATION'S MANIFESTO.

Bitter Denunciation of the Central and Endorsement of the Knights of Labor.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 25.—Following is the manifesto of the Federation:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE SUPREME COUNCIL OF THE UNITED ORDER OF RAILWAY EMPLOYES.
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 26, 1890.

To all labor organizations.

MEN AND BROTHERS: On the night of August 8, a strike began on the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. involving about 8,000 men in the employ of the said road who were members of a great labor organization known as the Knights of Labor. The reason set forth by Mr. T. V. Powderly, chief executive of the Order, may be summarized as follows:

The peremptory discharge of between 50 and 60 men, employes of the road and members of the Knights of Labor because they were Knights of Labor without giving them any reason whatever for the discharge.

Prior to the strike the men involved sought, through the representatives of the Order, to have their grievances adjusted, but their appeal being disregarded a strike was inaugurated. At this juncture T. V. Powdely, General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, entered upon the task of adjusting the differences and of making such arrangements as would result in an honorable peace between the employes and the officials of the road, but his efforts were unavailing. Mr. Powderly comprehending the purpose of Walter Webb, third vice-president of the company, to make war upon the Knights of Labor and ultimately upon all labor organizations represented on his road, sought a conference with the Supreme Council of the United Order of Railway Employes.

The request of Mr. Powderly was granted to the extent that four members of the Council and the Chief Executive of the Federation met him in the city of Buffalo, viz.: F. P. Sargent, Grand Master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and president of the Supreme Council; George W. Howard, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and vice-president of the Supreme Council; S. E. Wilkenson, Grand Master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Frank Sweeney, Grand Master of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association. At the conference with Mr. Powderly at Buffalo the members of the Supreme Council became satisfied that the officials of the road by every consideration of fair and honorable treatment of labor organizations, should meet Mr. Powderly and adopt some just plan for the adjustment of the grievance of the striking employes. This conclusion having been reached, the members of the Supreme Council in response to the request of Mr. Powderly extended their journey to the city of New York to afford such aid as was in their power to bring about a settlement between Walter Webb, third vice-president of the company, that official having full authority in all matters pertaining to the strike, and T. V. Powderly, General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, having the authority to negotiate such arrangements as might end the dispute. An interview having been secured, Mr. Powderly sought to have the discharged men heard in their own defense in the presence of Mr. Webb and himself.

This fair and honorable proposition was refused. Mr. Powderly proposed arbitration which was also refused. There were other propositions made by Mr. Powderly having for their object the settlement of the trouble, all of which were refused on the part of Mr. Webb.

The members of the Supreme Council while in Buffalo and the city of New York had ample opportunities to thoroughly inform themselves upon all matters concerning the strike. They saw and heard both sides. They appreciated the gravity of the situation and comprehending impending consequences to the labor organizations deemed it advisable to convene the Supreme Council for deliberation and conclusion as facts would warrant. In response to the [illegible] of F. P. Sargent, president of the Supreme Council, that body was convened in the city of Terre Haute, Ind., on Saturday, the 23d day of August, and remained in session until Monday, the 25th.

In making their report to the Council, the members who went to New York with Mr. Powderly found all the statements made by him corroborated by facts. In an interview with Mr. Webb he refused to entertain any proposition looking for a settlement of the difficulty. He would not arbitrate any question nor make any explanation or concession with regard to the discharged employes. He claimed the right to discharge employes at will without seeking explanation or giving to the victims of his power any reasons for his despotic action. He would manage his road to suit himself without reference to any rights claimed by its employes or any rights claimed by labor organizations to interfere in the matter, to protect their members. The Council having heard the statements of its member who had visited New York for the purpose of ascertaining the true condition of affairs, exhaustively discussed every important proposition and arrived at conclusion as follows:

First, that the position of the Knights of Labor as set forth by T. V. Powderly and the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor meets with our unqualified approval.

Second, that the course pursued by H. Walter Webb toward Mr. Powderly and the Knights of Labor, notwithstanding his declarations to the contrary, evinces a purpose to disrupt and destroy labor organizations on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad, as was done by Austin Corbin on the Philadelphia & Reading.

Third, that the policy of H. Walter Webb is despotic to an extent that outrages every principle of American citizenship, and if generally adopted would, if successful, reduce American workingmen to the degraded condition of serfs.

Fourth, that H. Walter Webb, by the employment of Pinkerton thieves, thugs and murderers, vile wretches from the slums and brothels of New York and other cities, to kill workingmen because they dared to protest against his rule and strike for their rights, is guilty of a crime of such enormity as will associate to the name of H. Walter Webb forever with those who, dressed in a little brief authority, have used their money to secure power to degrade their fellow men.

Fifth, that the efforts now being put forth by H. Walter Webb to destroy the Knights of Labor, would, were circumstances changed, in like manner be made to destroy the organizations of engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen, and if successful, it is only a question of time when a similar effort will be made to seal the fate of other labor organizations.

Sixth, that H. Walter Webb by the course he has pursued towards the Knights of Labor and the representatives of labor organizations has shown a total disregard of those principles of citizen sovereignty dear to all, every American worthy of the name, and considering only his money power and the corporate power of the company he represents, his acts, which speak louder than words, say, in the language of W. H. Vanderbilt, once the autocrat of the New York Central, "The public be damned."

Seventh, H. Walter Webb seems to support his arrogant attitude towards workingmen and labor organizations by assuming that the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad is private property and that his acts in the treatment of his employes is in no sense a matter of public concern; that he can with impunity discharge men and remand them to idleness and poverty and render them homeless wanderers without giving any reason or explanation whatever for his conduct, disregarding the fact that the corporation for which he plays autocrat is a thing created by laws, in the making of which the men he seeks to degrade have a voice which, once unified, will bring his corporation to the bar of justice where his millions and the other millions he represents will cease to be potential in directing questions of right.

In view of the foregoing facts, the Supreme Council puts upon its record its unanimous and unqualified approval of the strike on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad for the cause set forth by T. V. Powderly, General Master Workman, as also the efforts made by Mr. Powderly to bring the strike to an honorable termination. In this general expression of approval of the action of the Knights of Labor the course of Vice-President Webb is as unequivocally condemned.

The power of the Supreme Council in the matter of the strike has been exerted to aid the Knights of Labor, through their representatives, to secure the recognition of their order by the officials of a rich and powerful corporation, to secure for workingmen, the victims of autocratic power, a hearing, and to perform such other kindly offices as were proper under the circumstances, demonstrating sympathy and good will, thereby enabling the Knights of Labor to bring the strike to a close upon principles of right and justice. In this the Council met with failure, owing to the autocratic attitude of H. Walter Webb. It now becomes necessary for the Supreme Council to say that owing to the fact that the order of the Knights of Labor is not a member of the Federation of Railway Employes, the laws of the Supreme Council do not permit its doing more than it has done to aid the Knights of Labor, and its inability to participate otherwise in the strike is now known and appreciated by Mr. Powderly.

POWDERLY INTERVIEWED.

He is Cheerful He Refuses to Say Anything for Publication.

ALBANY, Aug. 26.—A United Press representative showed Grand Master Workman Powderly the dispatch from Terre Haute saying the strike would not be ordered by the Federation. Mr. Powderly said it was the first intimation he had received of such action but declined to talk, saying that it would not be polite for him to make any comments upon it until officially notified.

He did not seem to be very much surprised or downfallen at the result, but went to his supper in good spirits. Local labor leaders, however, looked very glum and were evidently very much displeased at the action of the Council. Secretary Hayes said:

"If the dispatch is true, it means a single-handed fight with the Knights doing the fighting and the other organizations aiding financially."

Webb on the Federation's Action.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Third Vice-President Webb, in reply to the question, "What do you think of the action of the Supreme Council of the United Order of Railway Employes at Terre Haute?" said "that it was the only wise course to take. There was no principle involved in which they could be interested. The entire trouble was local in character and had nothing whatever to do with organized labor. Whether the Knights of Labor will take further steps will make but little difference. There are only a few Knights in the employ of the New York Central."

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | —5 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | x | —6 |

Batteries—Rusie and Buckley; Luby and Nagle.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 2 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 2 | 5 | 1 | 1 | —15 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | —2 |

Batteries—Clarkson and Ganzel; Phillips and Wilson.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | x | —5 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | —2 |

Batteries—Gleason and Schriver; Vian and Zimmer.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —1 |
| Cincinnati | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —4 |

Batteries—Terry and Daly; Duryea and Keenan.

Players' League.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | —5 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —1 |

Batteries—Gumbert and Murphy; Baldwin and Boyle.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | —6 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —2 |

Batteries—Buffinton and Cross; Bakely and Brennan.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —3 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 6 | 0 | 1 | 0 | x | —9 |

Batteries—Crane and Ewing; Staley and Quinn.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | —5 |
| Buffalo | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —5 |

Called on account of darkness.

Batteries—Sowders and Cook; Cunningham and Mack.

American Association.

AT SYRACUSE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Syracuse | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —5 |
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | —4 |

Batteries—McCullough and Burke; Murphy and Fox.

AT ROCHESTER.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Rochester | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —4 |
| Athletic | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | —5 |

Batteries—Smith and Sage; Easton and O'Connor.

AT TOLEDO.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 0 | 1 | 1 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | —8 |
| Columbus | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —0 |

Batteries—Smith and Sage; Easton and O'Connor.

AT ST. LOUIS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 7 | 1 | 2 | 0 | | —13 |
| Louisville | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | | —2 |

Called to allow Louisville to catch a train.

Batteries—Ramsey and Munyan; Goodall and Bligh.

Atlantic Association.

AT HARRISBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —8 |
| Wilmington | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —5 |

Batteries—Baxter and Sommers; Webster and Williams.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —6 |
| Newark | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —1 |

Batteries—Baker and Townsend; Miller and Childs.

AT LEBANON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | —4 |
| New Haven | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | —7 |

Batteries—Swift and McCaffry; Gilliland and Hofford.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 2,321 | 1,719 |
| New York | 2,137 | 1,418 |
| Boston | 2,554 | 632 |
| Brooklyn | 783 | 2,305 |
| Totals | 7,795 | 6,074 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 67 | 35 | .657 | Chicago | 55 | 47 | .539 |
| Boston | 65 | 38 | .631 | N. York | 45 | 58 | .438 |
| Philadel. | 63 | 39 | .618 | Clev'l'nd | 31 | 68 | .313 |
| Cincin'ti | 61 | 39 | .610 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 82 | .186 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 60 | 30 | .606 | Philadel. | 45 | 49 | .529 |
| Brookl'n | 62 | 44 | .585 | Pittsb'rg | 43 | 52 | .453 |
| N. York | 57 | 44 | .564 | Cler'l'nd | 41 | 57 | .418 |
| Chicago | 56 | 48 | .536 | Buffalo | 28 | 69 | .289 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'v'le | 62 | 33 | .653 | Col'mb'a | 51 | 47 | .520 |
| St. Louis | 56 | 41 | .577 | Toledo | 50 | 45 | .526 |
| Athletic | 53 | 45 | .541 | Syracuse | 40 | 56 | .417 |
| Roch'st'r | 49 | 46 | .516 | Brookl'n | 27 | 72 | .273 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'more | 70 | 24 | .745 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 58 | 25 | .731 | Harrisb'g | 38 | 50 | .302 |
| Newark | 51 | 42 | .548 | Wilm't'n | 32 | 62 | .262 |
| Lebanon | 42 | 42 | .500 | Hartford | 33 | 62 | .303 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Chicago vs. New York, at New York.
Cincinnati vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Boston, at Boston.
Cleveland vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Pittsburg vs. New York, at New York.
Cleveland vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Buffalo vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Chicago vs. Boston, at Boston.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Newark vs. Baltimore, at Baltimore.
Harrisburg vs. Wilmington at Harrisburg.
New Haven vs. Lebanon, at Lebanon.

A REIGN OF TERROR

A Pennsylvania Community Greatly Excited.

SOUTHERN TRADE CONVENTION.

Governor Gordon Calls Representatives of the Cotton States Together.

A Number of Dead Bodies Recovered from the Waters—Opening a New Railroad—The Delaware & Hudson Tie-Up—A Freight Blockade Around Albany—No Freights Moving.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 26.—A wild animal, supposed to be a panther escaped from a menagerie, has thrown the country around Dauphin into the greatest state of excitement. Its first appearance was about two weeks ago on the farm of Reily Bogner, on the slope of Peter's mountain. Towards midnight Bogner was aroused by a furious stampede of his cattle from the field in which he had put them to pasture. Next day his hired man stumbled upon "an animal tawny in color, about seven feet long and higher than a good-sized shepherd dog." The animal appeared to have dined, for he merely snarled and fled. Within the next few days it was seen by several other people and a regular reign of terror set in. No one ventures out after dark. During the day search parties armed with rifles and shotguns hunt for it in the places where its terrific screamings were heard the preceding night, but thus far no trace of the brute can be found.

THE D. & H. STRIKE.

The Road Seems to be Shut Up Tight at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 26.—A tour through the Delaware & Hudson freight yards and houses shows that Superintendent Hammond's and Mr. Farlin's statement that the road is in regular operation are somewhat colored. All of the trains that lay on the track near the freight house on Saturday are still there.

No freights of any description have gone out of the Green Island yards towards this city, and none has been moved from this north. In the freight houses a few men are busy, but no freight is being received from Albany merchants. The only trains being moved in the vicinity were a few New York Central cars, and Central engines were drawing them out.

One of the train despatchers said this afternoon: "We have not moved any more to-day than we did yesterday."

No new men were to be found, said Mr. Hammond, and the old hands who remained at work stated positively that they had seen no new men at work.

COTTON STATES CONVENTION.

An Important Meeting Called at the Instance of the Farmers' Alliance.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 26.—Governor Gordon has called a convention of the Governors of all the cotton States, to meet here Sept. 10. The convention was asked for by the Georgia State Alliance in session here last week. Each Governor is to appoint six delegates, giving each cotton State seven representatives. The convention will consider the matter of direct trade with Liverpool and questions relating to weights, measures, freights and the handling of cotton.

Gives Up His Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The bodies of Marie Hulse, Moritz Stadler, Bertha Schulz, John Logal and Peter Haerke, who were drowned by the capsizing of a rowboat, off Whitestone, L. I., last Thursday, were found floating in the sound off Fort Schuyler, and fully identified.

TWO TOWNS JOIN IN A SEARCH

They Are Looking for Three Women Who Are Lost in the Woods.

MEDFORD, Wis., Aug. 26.—Mrs. Barney Molitor of the town of Molitor, this county, her sister and her daughter, 15 years old, went into the woods berrying on Saturday and got lost. They have not yet been found, although the whole town has been hunting for them.

This morning at 4 o'clock the fire bells were rung, and the men of the city were called together, and another large party started to Molitor, fifteen miles distant, to hunt for the lost ones. The grist mill and also the saw mills have shut down, the employes joining in the search. There is intense excitement here, and news of the missing women is most anxiously awaited.

To Invoke the National Conspiracy Law

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—It is asserted that the next move of the Knights will probably be to boycott the New York Central road, in which case the Interstate Commerce Commission will undoubtedly be requested to investigate the matter and proceed against Mr. Powderly, the General Executive Board and the Master Workmen of the district and local assemblies of the Knights of Labor under the National Conspiracy law, which makes it a misdemeanor for any organization or body of men to interfere with the course of traffic of a corporation.

Dined with the President.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 26.—Congressman and Mrs. Reyburn and Colonel B. K. Jamesson dined at the Presidential cottage last evening. The family leave for Cresson Thursday or Friday night. The President goes to Washington either Wednesday or Thursday.

THE D. A. 246 MEETING.

Investigating Webb's Charges of Drunkenness and of Alien Interference.

ALBANY, Aug. 26.—At the meeting of the leaders and the Knights of D. A. 246, the twenty men examined were those who were discharged. All of them said they were threatened with discharge if they did not leave the Knights of Labor. Supt. Bissell had told one man that he was discharged for working against the interests of the road; afterwards saying that they meant being a Knight.

Mr. Powderly said that the charge had been made that the Knights had been started in this strike by a foreign element. He said those born in America to stand up and 65 men rose. Then he asked those who were born in foreign countries and 10 stood up. The men were then asked to say what kind of men were in their places and various bad characters were given many of them being discharged help of other roads.

Mr. Powderly and Mr. Devlin each gave an explanation of the position of the Order by saying that the rank and file must aid in supplying money to conduct the strike. A resolution was then adopted calling upon the State Board of Arbitration to arbitrate, as they were paid to do in such cases, and the men were ready for such a course. The men were encouraged to stand firm.

MAY AFFECT 100,000 MEN.

The Brick Boycott Promises to Become Serious in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The brick boycott promises to become a very serious matter if something is not done speedily.

President Rogers, of the Board of Walking Delegates, said that it would be impossible to say what would be done until it was learned what steps the manufacturers intend to take. "If they decide to boycott this city," he said, "more than 100,000 men will be thrown out of employment."

It was said that the price now paid to brickhandlers is 40 cents per 1,000. The average wages amount to $4 a day of ten hours' work.

The Hudson County Central Labor Union decided yesterday to continue the boycott against the manufacturers' combine. This decision was referred to the Bricklayers' Union of Jersey City, Hoboken and Union Hill for indorsement.

Outside manufacturers, it is said, intend to run their yards night and day. It was also said that members of the combine have increased their working force in order to reduce the labor supply.

It was said that a number of other manufacturers have concluded not to ship brick until after the Verplanck boycott shall have been discontinued, but will continue to manufacture brick in larger quantities than usual until October. In this event, the combined manufacturers will, it is said, have 150,000,000 brick on hand by the end of September, while the outsiders will have sold 50,000 at advanced prices.

Not a brick has come down from the large yards on the Hudson River to this city, Brooklyn, or New Jersey since last Friday.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

During four hours yesterday morning there were four murders in Cincinnati.

The New Hampshire Prohibition State Convention has been called to meet at Concord on September 9.

The first frost of the season, a light one, is reported as having occurred in portions of Worcester county, Mass., last night.

Emma Juch's gross receipts at Denver last week are said to have amounted to nearly $30,000. This exceeds the receipts of the Patti company in the same city.

The London Referee in its Saturday edition offers to give Dalton, the American swimmer, $500 if he can swim from Cape Grisnez to Dover, the feat Capt. Webb was first to perform.

Congressman L. F. Watson of the 27th Congressional district of Pennsylvania fell dead in the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, shortly after 11 o'clock Monday morning.

John Parkington, who is accused of murdering Andrew Belton, a sailor on the United States cruiser Boston, was arraigned before Justice Walsh in Brooklyn and remanded for trial Sept. 10.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—For New England: Fair weather except showers in extreme western portions; southerly winds; slight change in temperature.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Local showers; southerly winds; stationary temperature.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Light local showers; southerly winds; stationary temperature, except in northwest portion, slightly warmer.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Money on call to-day, 60 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Saturday. | Closing, To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 103¼ | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 104¼ | 105 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 124 | 124½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 124 | 124½ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Saturday. | Closing, To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 83 | 82 |
| Central Pacific | | |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 102 | 103 |
| Delaware & Hudson | 140 | |
| Del. Lack. & Western | 143¾ | |
| Erie | 23¾ | 23½ |
| Erie prof. | | |
| Lake Shore | 105 | 105¾ |
| Louis. & Nashv. | 87¼ | 87¾ |
| Michigan Central | 93 | |
| Missouri Pacific | 70¼ | 70¼ |
| New Jersey Central | 121 | |
| Northwestern | 108¼ | 108¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | | |
| Pacific Mail | 43¾ | |
| Reading | 42¾ | 43⅛ |
| Rock Island | 85¾ | 84⅝ |
| St. Paul | 71¼ | 70½ |
| Union Pacific | 56¾ | 56⅞ |

FROM OVER THE SEA

Cow Boys and Indians Reported Fighting.

VON MOLTKE'S NINETY YEARS.

His Birthday to be Generally Celebrated Throughout Germany.

Mrs. Potter Will Star in India—A Purse Made Up for Dempsey in London—Stanley in Ill Health—Minister Lincoln Will Not Resign—The Sultan Not Sincere in Sentencing Moussa Bey.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Meagre details have just been received here of a fight between the cowboy and Indian companies of Buffalo Bill and Dr. Carver in the streets of Hamburg.

It is understood that a fierce conflict took place, and that but for the interference of the police in force life would have been taken. Nothing else is talked of.

Dr. Carver's company is but lately away from Russia, where in Moscow it had great trouble with the police, when blood was shed.

For a long time there has been great rivalry between Dr. Carver and Buffalo Bill. The latter opened his show in Hamburg yesterday.

TO HONOR COUNT VON MOLTKE.

Arrangements for the Celebration of His Ninetieth Birthday.

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Count Von Moltke will complete his ninetieth year on October 26, and the occasion will be celebrated throughout Germany by a series of popular fetes.

The Kaiser intends to confer on the distinguished soldier an especial mark of the Imperial favor.

Moussa Bey's Sentence a Sham.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—It is believed that the sentence of exile pronounced upon Moussa Bey by the Porte is a sham, intended to quiet the indignation of the Armenians without inflicting any punishment upon the Kurdish chief whose atrocious persecution of the Christians excited the horror of the civilized world. Moussa will doubtless go to Mecca, as ordered, but his pilgrimage is not likely to result in his permanent banishment, for he has done too congenial a service to the Sultan to permit of his complete retirement.

Robbed On His Way to America.

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—Sir George Beaumont, who reached here yesterday by the mail steamer from England, en route to Queenstown, where he proposed to embark for America, has reported to the police that while in a first-class carriage on the train between Kingstown and Dublin he was robbed of a valuable dressing case containing several diamond rings, £15 in notes, silver and gold, a pair of opera glasses and other articles. As yet there is no clue to the thieves.

Mrs. Potter Starring in India.

CALCUTTA, Aug. 26.—Mrs. James Brown Potter and Mr. Kyrle Bellew have terminated their engagement in Victoria and will play a starring tour through India, commencing here, where specially attractive terms have been offered to them.

Mr. Stanley Going to Geneva.

GENEVA, Aug. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stanley are expected to arrive here on Sept. 10. A special reception will be tendered the great explorer by the English colony, and also by the Geographical Society of Geneva. Mr. Stanley is far from well.

Minister Lincoln Will Not Resign.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Mr. Robert T. Lincoln, the American Minister, emphatically denies the rumor that he is about to resign. Mr. Lincoln says there is not the slightest foundation for the report.

A Purse for Dempsey and Burke.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Ormonde Club has offered a purse of £500 for a boxing match between Dempsey and Burke.

Arrested for Fraudulent Use of the Mail.

CALAIS, Me., Aug. 26.—A. L. Knowles of Calais is under arrest in Alexander, this State, on a charge of fraudulent use of the mail. For a number of years, it is alleged, Knowles, under the firm name of A. L. Knowles & Co., has ordered goods of all descriptions from all parts of the country, and in quantities amounting to from $50 to $500 per month. He has allowed his notes to go to protest, paying no attention to the demands of his creditors. His letters were so worded as to give one the impression that Knowles & Co. are manufacturing chemists.

Monster Mass Meeting at Albany.

ALBANY, Aug. 26.—A monster mass meeting of striking employes was held at the Academy of Music last night, Edward J. Ford presiding. On the stage were all the members of the grand body, including Mr. Powderly. Mr. James Devlin was named as chairman. Mr. Wright then was introduced as first speaker. Mr. Wright said the Vanderbilt old saying was the "public be damned," but before we get through it will be said by the public, the corporation be damned. Mr. Powderly addressed the meeting at length and was tumultuously cheered.

Seal Poachers Released.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Odnaleske despatches received here state that Capt. Healy, of the revenue cutter Bear, had ordered the release of the officers of the sealing schooner Mattie Dyer, and sent the vessel to Sitka, where the case will be tried.

THE DAILY PRESS

IS AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $3.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—A loto party will be given at Hotel Netherwood Thursday evening.

—Plainfield cyclers are planning to participate in the lantern parade of the Elizabeth Wheelmen in October.

—The guests of Hotel Netherwood were greatly pleased by a phonographic exhibition in the parlors last evening.

—Mrs. Dr. Edwards, the clairvoyant, has returned to Plainfield again at the request of many of her former patrons here. She will remain only two weeks, however. Her advertisement elsewhere gives further particulars.

—Under the heading, "Better Give It Up, Young Man," the Westfield Standard says that Lindsley Woolley, the young man who had a fit in a Somerset street printing office recently, has been made subject to fits by habitual cigarette smoking.

—Mrs. Maggie Cash appeared in court before Justice Nodyne this morning to testify that Mrs. Catherine Day owed her $55 and interest for three years. Mrs. Day said she had refused to pay the claim because Mrs. Cash owed her for a great deal of dressmaking. Interesting contradictions of testimony were made, and the court reserved its decision.

—When the Clerks' Early Closing Association published a list of the local merchants who joined with them in the early closing movement, the committee by an inadvertent oversight omitted the name of J. O. Campbell. As Mr. Campbell is a strong sympathizer of the clerks, and was one of the first to adopt early closing, they desire to acknowledge publicly their omission.

—The best map of Plainfield and North Plainfield ever published, is that just issued by H. H. Baker of 30 East Fifth street. It not only gives the correct locations of all streets, but at the corners are the numbers of the buildings. Circles show each quarter-mile distance from the station. These maps are sold, folded for the pocket, with a durable cover, for 50 cents, or framed at $1.10.

—The Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has authorized its counsel, W. A. Coddington, to appeal to a higher court the case against Walter Smalley, who is accused of overdriving, overworking, and cruelly beating Andrew Hoff's horse. Smalley was tried twice. The first jury disagreed, standing eleven to one for conviction. The second seemed to consider him to blame, but rendered a verdict of not guilty, because, it was said, he had been prosecuted enough.

—The season at Chautauqua, the most successful in the history of that remarkably successful institution, came to an end yesterday. But the wonderful work which has been going on there this Summer does not cease with the formal closing of the season. That work is so well organized, so carefully developed by those who have in charge the varied interests of Chautauqua's welfare, that it knows no season and no cessation of activity. The Summer school at Chautauqua becomes a Winter school, each working in its time and turn towards the one praiseworthy object of making learning and culture popular and within easy reach of all.

Harkins Couldn't Get Away.

Second baseman Lufbery of the Crescent League team cannot go to Norwich with the boys to-night, and John Harkins, Somerville's pitcher, was invited to join in the trip. He had a game on to-morrow, however, and expressed himself as very sorry not to be able to get away. Lever—who has played twice in Plainfield and made 4 runs, 4 hits, and stole 3 bases—will go in Lufbery's place. Harkins does not ♋e the spiteful feeling of some others of Somerville's team. He says that any time he is not engaged he would like to pitch for the Crescents, and show what kind of a game he could put up with such a support.

"Going Slow" With Mr. Waring.

The Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals still has under consideration the case of O. T. Waring, whom the Society think is guilty of cruelty in checking his horses too high. At a discussion last night it was the sense of the Society that Mr. Waring was violating the laws, but it was thought best to "go slow" in proceedings against him, and no definite plan of action was chosen, though the members seemed to have a vague idea that in time they would take the case into the Courts.

BIG BLAZE FROM A PARLOR MATCH.

Exploding Gasoline Kills a Horse and Almost Burns a Boy to Death.

The rolling of a barrel of gasoline over a parlor match lying on the barn floor, was the cause of the fire on West Fifth street yesterday afternoon. The barn, which was owned by John Darling, as announced in the accurate and exclusive report of the outbreak of the fire published in THE PRESS of last evening, was situated at the rear of the house occupied by Paul F. Wachenhusen. Mr. Wachenhusen recently sold out his Home Oil route to Wm. H. B. Drake, harness maker, of Orchard place, and Mr. Drake kept his oil stored in the Darling barn. Yesterday afternoon two boys stopped at the Wachenhusen house and asked Mrs. Wachenhusen for some matches. Thinking that they intended to make a bonfire of a heap of old rubbish near the house, she gave them what they wished. Ten minutes afterwards a son of Mr. Drake started to roll a barrel of gasoline into the Darling barn. He saw a match on the floor, but paid no attention to it. The barrel rolled forward and struck the match. There was an instant explosion. The tiny flame of the match communicated with the film of oil surrounding the saturated barrel-staves, and a brilliant flash of light, accompanied by a sullen roar, was manifested. The barrel burst, and blazing oil was hurled in every direction. Young Drake rushed screaming from the barn, himself enwrapped in flames. His clothing was scorched, and his arms and face were seriously blistered; his escape from a horrible death is considered miraculous. The flames from the burning oil in a twinkling reached every nook and corner of the barn and adjoining outhouses, and the firemen, called out by the shrieks of Spicer & Hubbard's whistle and the clanging of the alarm bell, found a hot blaze awaiting them. Nothing but a wagon was saved from the burned buildings. A horse was burned to death in sight of the firemen, who were helpless to rescue it, as the barn was a mass of flames before they had reached the ground. Attention was turned towards saving the neighboring dwelling houses, five of which had been set afire by sparks. Four roofs were charred, and the house occupied by Peter Wyckoff, colored, was considerably damaged. The outbreak of the fire was witnessed by a neighbor named Hibbitts and ex-foreman Halstead of the New Brunswick fire department. Mr. Halstead said that he had never seen a fire spread so rapidly, and he was astonished that the injuries of young Drake, who had rushed from the heart of the fire, were so slight. The loss by the fire was about $2,000, partly insured.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

John H. VanWinkle and son are home from a two weeks' visit to Asbury Park.

G. Harry Squires of Broadway, is registered at the Pocono Mountain House, Mt. Pocono.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. B. Huntsman will return home to-morrow from their wedding trip.

The Rev. W. E. Honeyman and Mrs. Honeyman will return Thursday from Pine Hill, N. Y.

Bret Harte, the novelist, formerly of Plainfield, celebrates his fifty-first birthday anniversary today.

L. E. Howard, Miss Howard, B. A. Hegeman, Jr., and Mrs. Hegeman, are recent visitors at Mt Pocono.

Supervising Engineer Hering is in the city today, and has made an inspection of the progress of the water works.

The name of Mrs. H. N. Doane of Plainfield appears on the list of recent arrivals at the Glenwood House, Asbury Park.

Asa Randolph and Clarence Titsworth have gone to Alfred Centre, N. Y., to resume their studies at Alfred University.

Mrs. Alfred W. Day and daughter of Madison avenue, returned Sunday from a six weeks' visit among relatives in New England.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, of Sycamore avenue, Washington Park, are home again, after two weeks of mountain life at Mt. Pocono, Penn.

Mr. and Mrs. Dollner of Madison avenue, returned yesterday afternoon from a two weeks' recreation at the Breslin Hotel, Lake Hopatcong.

D. C. Skaden, of East Sixth street, has returned from a two weeks' visit to Stockbridge, Madison county, N. Y. Mrs. Skaden and child will remain a month longer.

Among the Plainfielders recently registered at Asbury Park are Mary H. Miller and Raymond V. V. Miller at the Irving, D. M. Runyon at the Leadley, and Chas. W. King at the Brunswick.

A large theatre party will leave Hotel Netherwood this evening to attend the Thatcher Minstrel production. Messrs Benary, Thorn and Bridgman were the leading spirits in arranging the affair.

Letter carrier E. T. Dunn, and Mrs. Dunn have returned from a week's sojourn among former neighbors and relatives in Hunterdon county. They made fourteen visits, and had a first-rate time.

—The public schools will re-open September 8.

Is it not to some extent your own fault that your children seek recreation outside of the family circle? Why not furnish them amusement at home? Why not treat them at home to a safe, delightful and wholesome beverage, such as you can easily have made from Hires' Root Beer Packages?

STANDING ROOM ONLY, TO-NIGHT.

Thatcher Has Secured Cinquivalli to Appear this Evening as a Special Favor to Plainfield.

George Thatcher is ever on the alert for novelties for his Minstrel organization, and though the entire entertainment is perfect and complete—if one may judge from the glowing accounts and fulsome praise extended to "Our George" in Boston last week, where a brilliant engagement was closed on Saturday evening to a farewell house counting up $2,347.50—yet the genial comedian seems to be trying to outdo himself, as the following brief correspondence with his partners, Rich & Harris—which Manager Sayers has permitted THE PRESS to publish—will show.

BOSTON THEATRE, Aug. 18.

Messrs Rich & Harris:—While I am very well satisfied that we have the strongest minstrel performance in every department today before the public, and as I am ably backed in my opinion by the press of Boston, yet I want to see if we can't do even a little more next week, as you are aware we are to fill in that time in the State of my adoption, and we are to play in the little city in which I have made my home, and hope to make it so during the remainder of my life. To this end have you any novelty among your many European attractions that you can let me have for this special Jersey week? Though the increase of expenses may be great, yet I will endeavor to curtail in some minor matters, and not unnecessarily prolong the performance, but I want this to be the banner week of my career, as a caterer to the taste of our people.

Yours,
GEORGE THATCHER.

Dear Thatcher:—Cinquivalli has just arrived on the 'Eutruria," under a limited engagement to us, to be the feature of our big Vaudeville Company, but his salary is entirely too large to admit of his engagement, where you have so many other big attractions.

RICH & HARRIS.

Messrs Rich & Harris:—No salary too large. No artist too great. Even Cinquivalli, whom all acknowledge is without a superior. Though had you searched the Earth you could not have selected one to suit me better. Send him along at any figure.

GEORGE THATCHER.

The consequence is, that, while deviating slightly from the original programme, Plainfield is to have to-night, in addition to the other luxuries, a treat entirely unexpected in the appearance of Cinquivalli, the man who has astounded all Europe with his seeming impossibilities, the man without whom a London season was incomplete—and at whose art, Paris went into ecstacies! Thank you, George. New Jersey will stand by you this week, as she has always done before.

The Sneak News Thief Again.

| (From Saturday's Press.) | (From Monday's "news.") |
|---|---|
| It is the largest car in this section of the world, and weighs about eighty thousand pounds. The length is 72 feet, width 9 1-2 feet, and diameter of the wheels 3 feet. The windows set close together with mirrors between, are each a sheet of plate glass 2x3 feet and run up so that the bottom of the sash is way above the line of vision. | The car is probably the largest passenger car in the world. Its weight is about eighty thousand pounds. The length is 72 feet, width 9 1-2 feet, and the diameter of the wheels, of which there are 12, 3 feet. The windows are close together, with mirrors set between, and are each a sheet of plate glass 2 by 3 feet and run up so that the bottom of the sash goes out of sight. |
| The interior is divided through the centre so that in one end the smokers may enjoy themselves without discourtesy to lady guests. The partition, however, is of glass so that the entire car is visible inside from end to end. The woodwork of the interior is mahogany, with a ceiling of oak panelling. The only decoration is a light tracery of colorless Autumn leaves on the ceiling. The seats are movable and the most comfortable that can be imagined. They are what are called "Bank of England chairs," back. The floor is carpeted of mahogany and pressed leather fitted to the sitter's back. In the centre of the car and at each side of the door leading to the platform of the smoking end, are soft sofas. Seats are provided for at least seventy occupants. The floor is covered with expensive carpets. | The interior of the car is divided by a partition of glass into compartments for smokers and non-smokers. The woodwork of the interior is of mahogany, with a ceiling of oak panelling. The only brush decoration is a light tracery of Autumn leaves on the ceiling. The seats are movable and the most comfortable that could be procured. They are what are called Bank of England chairs, and are made of mahogany and pressed leather, fitted to the sitter's back. The floor is carpeted, and elegant sofas are provided. The seats will accommodate at least seventy people. |
| About the card tables are such fixtures as may be of convenience in the way of ash cups, match safes, card lockers, etc. An extensive lavatory and saloon is provided, as well as a roomy coat closet. Every modern improvement for thoroughly lighting heating and ventilating the car has been put in with the same thoughtlessness of expense that is evidenced everywhere. The exterior of the car is of two shades of olive green, relieved by a light penciling of gold. The hand rails are of coppered brass. The cost of the car was between $15,000 and $18,000. | Ash cups, match safes, card lockers and other conveniences accompany the card tables. An extensive lavatory and saloon is provided, as well as a roomy coat closet. Every modern improvement for thorough lighting, heating and ventilating is furnished. The exterior of the car is of two shades of olive green, relieved by a light penciling of gold. The hand rails are of coppered brass. The car cost $18,000. |

Young People Give a Circus for Charity's Sweet Sake.

Ferdie Lissignolo, Nelson Warren, Bert Rockwell, Bert Runyon, and Cal Runyon, gave a circus in the Lissignolo barn, yesterday, for the benefit of the Plainfield Children's Home. The young people entertained a generous audience with acrobatic exhibitions, clown jokes and performances, and Wild West tableaux. The contortionist of the troupe gave a thrilling performance in midair, on the trapeze at the top of the hay-mow. The sum of eight dollars was realized, and youthful hearts were made supremely happy.

Few children can be induced to take physic without a struggle, and no wonder—most drugs are extremely nauseating. Ayer's Pills, on the contrary, being sugar-coated, are eagerly swallowed by the little ones, and are, therefore, the favorite family medicine.

Activity in Westfield Real Estate.

A large tract of land embracing one hundred acres or more in Westfield, has recently been bargained for by a syndicate for the purpose of arranging a series of villa plots to be improved at once. Another similar enterprise has been started in another part of the town. E. D. Chamberlain sold his farm last week for $10,000. Chauncey B. Ripley has sold twelve lots at an average of more than $800 each—mostly on Summit avenue and Boulevard—since he began to offer that property for sale.

The buildings now being erected are of a much better class than heretofore. The new public school building on Academy place will be, when completed, the most costly and imposing structure in the town. There are other important real estate operations in process of negotiation in Westfield, THE PRESS is credibly informed, that are not for the public to know, yet.

Greenport's Experience of Contractor Moore.

The following is a clipping from the Republican Watchman of June 1, 1889, published at Greenport, L. I. The endorsement is over a year old, but it goes yet:

At a meeting of village trustees on Friday evening, 24th, with Contractor Moore and Trustee Lovell of the Greenport Water Works, an amicable arrangement was entered into whereby, in consideration of a certain sum to be paid by the contractor, the trustees agreed to assume the job of removing and grading off the mounds of earth left on the line of trenches in which pipes had been laid. Mr. Moore, in this, as in all other matters of business affecting the village of Greenport, has acted the part of a gentleman and has shown himself not merely ready and willing but anxious to do all that could properly be required of him.

Runs of the P. R. C.

There will be a moonlight club run on Thursday, starting from the club house at 7:30 o'clock P. M. The route will be through Dog Tavern and Rahway to Elizabeth, returning by train, the distance will be 14 miles and the roads are fair to excellent.

Monday, Sept. 1 being a holiday another chance to visit Red Bank, this season, presents itself, leaving on steamer Albertina, Pier 24 Franklin street, at 2 P. M. on Saturday, August 30, and returning Monday evening. From Red Bank runs will be taken to Middletown, Long Branch and other places.

No Question About All This.

A correspondent writes and asks: "Is not the purchase of The Times an evidence of the repudiation of the news by the Republican party? And hasn't a paper fallen very low when its own party casts it off?"

A MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

The Finding of Otto Dead Man Accounts for Another's Death.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 26.—The body of William Callahan of Branford was found in Mill River to-day near where Hopkins' body was found Sunday.

This find explains away the mystery of Hopkins' death. Hopkins and Callahan were together Friday night in a saloon near the railroad track, and it is supposed that they walked of the bank while intoxicated and were drowned.

F.E.C. KIDNEY BLOOD & LIVER REMEDY
$1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5. TRY IT TO-DAY

DELICATE women need not be told how much they would give to get and stay well. If their blood is free from the poisonous ferments of the Kidneys and Liver, they will never know what "weakness" is. The blood is the source and sustainer of health; it cannot be kept pure except the Kidneys and Liver do their work naturally, and to aid them nothing equals the herbal, guaranteed

F.E.C. KIDNEY BLOOD & LIVER REMEDY
$1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5 TRY IT TO-DAY
For sale by R. J. SHAW, Druggist, Sole Agent. 8 26 eod

M.H.A.

Music Hall.
TO-NIGHT
George Thatcher's Minstrels!
Under the management of Rich & Harris.
The Most Talented, Best Paid, Best Paying and Best Playing Band of Minstrels under the Sun.
A few of our Minstrel Celebrities:—George Thatcher, John Wild, Wood and Shepard, Thos. LeMack, Jay Quigley, R. J. Jose, Raymon Moore, Thos. Lewis, H. W. Frillman, John A. Coleman, Rodo. Leo Rapoli, and Mazus & Abacco's Quintet of Arabian Acrobats.
Street parade 12 M.
Seats on sale Saturday, August 23.
Prices—50c., 75c., and $1 00. 8 20 td

SECOND ANNUAL EXCURSION
OF THE
Grocers' Protective Association,
Of Plainfield, N. J., to
BOYNTON BEACH,
On LABOR DAY,
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.
Train leaves Plainfield 6 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.
Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. 8 22 s

Brought Home in Irons.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The brig Hattie M. Bain, of Portland, Me., which arrived here on Sunday, reports that the steward, Charles Williams, was brought home in irons by order of the American Consul at Turks Island, and was given into custody here. It is alleged that he threatened the lives of Captain Stowers and Mate Langdon with a knife while the vessel was lying in port at Turks Island.

A perfect complexion, free from pimple or blemish, is very rarely seen, because few people have perfectly pure blood. And yet, all disfiguring eruptions are easily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Try it, and surprise your friends with the result.

CONSUMPTION,
IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

CLAIRVOYANT.
Mrs. Dr. Edwards, by request of her many former patrons, has returned again to Plainfield; can only remain a few weeks, from Aug. 26, to Sept 10. Call at once, as this is positively your last chance.
Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Ladies 50c to $1. Gentlemen, $1.
Can be consulted at the City Hotel, Room 4, (one flight up) Plainfield, N. J. 8 26 tf

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1 4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7: 20, 8 40, A. M., 12: 15, 2: 30, 5: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 and 9: 30 A. M., 1: 45, 5: 30 and 8 P. M.
SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8: 40 A. M., 2: 40, 6: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 A. M., 4: 30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4: 30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9: 30 to 10: 30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6: 30 P. M.
E. B. POPE, P. M.

DEATHS.

RHEAUME—In Warren township, Somerset county, Aug. 25, Sophia, wife of Louis A. Rheaume, aged 65 years.
Funeral services from the residence of Paul J. Loizeaux, No. 101 Chatham, opposite Elm place, North Plainfield, to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Friends respectfully invited without further notice. Interment in Hillside.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

GIRL wanted to do general housework. Apply 33 Willow avenue. 8 26 2

$5 REWARD—Lost, last Friday, 50 trip ticket, (one ride punched), made to Mrs. A. E. Babet. Return to 38 Rockview avenue.

STOUT boy wanted to make himself generally useful. Must be able to assist in milking. Apply at PRESS office. 8 25 tf

COACHMAN—Young Englishman wishes situation as coachman; had 7 years' experience in private family; good references. J. Rowlands, 2 Bay street. 8 25 2

WANTED—A competent girl for general housework. 19 Grove street. 8 25 2

TO LET—Part of a house. Inquire at 59 Madison avenue. 8 25 tf

NICELY furnished rooms, with board, at 20 West Front street. 8 25 4

FOR SALE—A black cob built family horse; warranted perfectly sound. Address G., PRESS office. 8 20 6

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 6-11-tf

REXWHEAT
Largest package, greatest usefulness of any cereal.
Equally delicious and wholesome in porridge and mush (hot, cold or fried), Gems, Griddle Cakes, etc.
Better than drugs as a hot weather tonic and regulator.
For young or old.
At leading grocers.
Wholesale by N. W. FRENCH. 5-24-6m-1,18s

OUR MOTTO:—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.
The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced, 23c pound.
Havermeyer & Elder's standard Granulated Sugar.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEMAREST, 26 PARK AVENUE. 5-6-t

MOY.
8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S
EXPRESS.
OFFICE—39 North Avenue,
Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.
Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 5-5-y

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING,
Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,
NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE.
OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
45 North Avenue,
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-3-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting. 3-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 58.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.
Choice Can't Go Wrong!
WHERE ALL IS OF
THE CHOICEST!
COME TO PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS.
CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

BARGAINS!
To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!
Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:
GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.
GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.
CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.
GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.
TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.
FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.
SELLING OUT CHEAP!
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.
1-3-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish, Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON.
8-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 20 Points worth considering:—
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot. — (Chotola Building), —Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,
A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And
Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

LET US HAVE THE TRUTH.

One of Many Demands This Morning's Mail Brings.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—It should be the chief end of the local newspaper not only to print the local news, but to watch the interests of its community, to warn against dangers, to advocate whatever is beneficial. THE PRESS, therefore, acts in its line of duty in printing all that rightly concerns the people of Plainfield in reference to an enterprise of such vital importance as the Water Works

The City Council of 1889—in good part made up of able business men having considerable interests at stake in our city—concluded a contract with responsible men for the construction of a water works on terms approved by the city's attorney, by the Mayer, and, in a general way, by the people. It has never been charged that any city official had any improper interest in the promotion of the enterprise. The construction of the works is now going on subject to the approval of the city's engineer; no complaint has been published in regard to the character of the work; and the people of Plainfield, with more or less impatience, are awaiting the abundant supply of pure water which they have a right to expect within a year. There is no doubt that such a supply will add to the comfort and safety of our people, and will add to the attractiveness of our city as a residence, in many ways.

At this stage of the work a voice is raised against its progress, an obstacle—in the shape of a threatened law suit—thrown in its path. Is it a citizen of, or even a dweller in Plainfield who thus protests? Oh, no! the complaint of Israel cometh from an alien, a man of Jersey City. Neither Israel nor his attornies are known here, and few of our people know aught of the old charter which is to be dragged out of the past as an obstacle.

What, then, means this attack? Who are its projectors? What are their motives? These are questions which the taxpayers and citizens of Plainfield will ask, and it is the office and duty of THE PRESS to investigate the source and object of the attack, and truthfully to publish every detail relating thereto. Your efforts in this line will gratify the people, will enhance the value of your paper and so yield a sufficient reward.

Let us have the truth.

H. P. REYNOLDS.

ONE STABBED, ANOTHER MISSING.

William Miller's Fiction, and Louis Miller's Mystery.

The "William Miller" who was stabbed in a bar-room brawl in Newark, Saturday morning, and who told his nurse at St. Barnabas Hospital that he was from Plainfield, has probably given an entirely fictitious address. A part of it, "138 Passaic street," is certainly an invention, so far as Plainfield is concerned. "Miller" says he is a single man, and that his age is 27 years. He is of light complexion, has sandy hair, and was cleanly-shaven.

It was feared yesterday that the injured man was Louis Miller, a German-American, who lives on the Rahway road. Louis started for Chicago several days ago, with considerable money in his pockets, and was to write home immediately on his arrival in the great Western city. No word from him has been received and his wife and family are greatly worried. Louis is twenty-four years of age, has his initials "L. M." tattooed in his arm, and has a prominent scar on his forehead.

A circumstance that strengthened the belief that Louis was the Miller who was stabbed was the fact that George Conk, who was concerned in the row, was formerly a bar-tender in Plainfield and was an old acquaintance of Louis. It was feared that Conk had induced Miller to abandon his Western trip and spend his money with him.

A Big Time for New Jersey Democrats.

The members of the State Executive Democratic Committee of New Jersey are arranging to hold a big demonstration at Asbury Park next week Friday. There will be mass meetings, a carnival, receptions, a banquet, and a display of fireworks. The headquarters of the committee will be at Ralph's Coleman House. Ex-Judge Brown of Long Branch, Assemblyman Ivins of Red Bank, and Judge J. J. Conover of Freehold, will have charge of the local arrangements, assisted by a committee of ten citizens. Every Democratic club in the State will send its members on special trains, and large delegations are expected from the leading Democratic clubs of New York and Pennsylvania.

It is expected that addresses will be delivered by Governor Hill of New York, Governor Abbett of New Jersey, Governor Biggs of Delaware, ex-Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania, United States Senators Blodgett and McPherson, Congressmen Mills, McAdoo, Breckenridge, Vest, Wilson, Geissenheimer, Governor Campbell of Ohio, and other well-known leaders of the party. The officers of the State Committee are now completing arrangements for the running of the special trains.

A Distinction With a Difference.

The Rev. B. Fay Mills, the evangelist, begins his labors in Plainfield November 3. Let us hope that one result of his work will be the cessation of the quarrels between the newspaper men of that city.—New Brunswick Home News.

Plainfield's newspaper men do not quarrel. The spiteful mutterings of one discontented, jealous blackguard must not be mistaken for an exchange of hostilities.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

A Clerk and a Bicyclist Come to Grief—Freeing a Church from Debt—Death to Cats and Dogs—Odious School Days—"Swords at Fifty Paces"—Costly Stump-shots—A Canine Soloist — Workingmen Made Happy—Gambling Dens in Blast, with a "Pull" with the Police.

(Special to THE DAILY PRESS.)

BOUND BROOK, Aug. 26:—Frank Bonney, a clerk in A. S. Coriell's, was putting away some boxes in the loft of the store, Saturday night, when he fell through an open trap-door. The distance was nearly fifteen feet, and the fall was made worse by the young man landing on a pile of barrels and boxes. He was severely bruised and cut, and his left ear was nearly severed from his head. He was weak, nervous and sore, all day Sunday, from his injuries and the shock, but is now able to return to the store.

A bicycle rider from New Brunswick, while entertaining a group of amused spectators on Main street, Saturday night, with his fancy curves of the wheel, was thrown from his bicycle to the pavement and received serious, if not fatal, injuries. He was taken into a drug store and administered to by a physician. Later he was sent to the city of his home. He refused to give his name.

The Street Commissioners have constructed, through their "alterations for improvement," a very excellent mud-puddle at the corner of John and Franklin streets, much to the disgust of everybody.

The collection taken up in the St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church Sunday, amounted to $115, an evidence that the people are determined to keep their new church from debt if possible.

The Chronicle has a printer's devil who in his own estimation is smarter than any other boy in town. A short time ago he made war on cats, and any cat that came within his sight was sent to the glad hereafter on the double-quick. Afterwards he started to kill dogs. Everybody in town gives him credit for killing the host of missing curs, and he glories in the title of "The Cat and Dog Killer of Bound Brook." He is now said to be composing a story entitled, "All About Dogs and Cats, and How to Kill Them with Neatness, Dispatch and While You Wait."

Vacation days are nearly over, and the boys of the neighborhood are wearing long faces. When asked what is the matter they say, "School will begin the 1st of September."

A few days ago two local butchers got into a quarrel over the possession of a customer. When face to face they were not very violent, but when a block or two apart they threatened to do all sorts of bad things to one another. One went so far as to flourish menacingly a tremendous keen-edged knife.

Like some other towns, Bound Brook is cursed with a gang of young hoodlums who make themselves too free with slung-shots. A short time ago a women received a dose of shot in the eye. This morning two of the slung-shooters broke several panes of glass, which are likely to cost about $10. If the money is not paid by to-night two youngsters will sleep in a cell.

The Empire Gas Fixture Works resumed operations Monday morning, after an idle period of about one month. The employes who were laid off are overjoyed at again having a chance to go to work. The present prospects are that the Works will continue to be in operation all Winter.

Gambling dens are in full blast here again, and it is high time some steps were taken to close them up. The police department is accused of being in league with the proprietors of the places.

The condition of Mrs. B. F. Littell has not improved at all. Her family still have hopes for the best; the physicians say that a change for either the worst or the best may occur at any moment.

A party on Church street has a dog which keeps up a continued howling day and night, in defiance of the whole town. "The Cat and Dog Killer" is on the look-out.

UBIQUITOUS BILL.

Georgie Wants to Know.

Little Georgie Evans, of Washington Park, had been closely observing the old setting hen. He went to the nest each day, counting the time and looking forward to the end of the three weeks when mamma said the little chickens would appear. When they came he stood rapturously gazing upon them, and then said:

"Mamma, who made the little chickens?"

"God made them, Georgie."

"The same God that made the world?"

"Yes."

"Well, my Sunday school teacher told me that God made the world in one week. I don't see why it should take Him three weeks to make a chicken!"

"Well, Georgie, you see—you see—He was in a hurry to get things started when He made the world, but now, I suppose, He takes His time about it."

The Opinion of a Great Paper.

The New York World says that in Plainfield "There are two daily and two weekly papers. Of these the most influential is the Plainfield Daily Press, which is owned by W. L. and A. L. Force, and is edited by J. A. Demarest."

The only guaranteed cure for all blood taints and humors, eruptions, pimples, blotches, scalp diseases and scrofulous sores and swellings, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. You get a cure or money paid for it promptly returned.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

Masonic.

The twenty-seventh grand conclave of the Grand Commandery of Iowa will be held at Cedar Rapids next week. The programme for business and entertainment includes a dress parade of Templars, the exemplification of the Red Cross ritual by a ritual committee and also the order of the Temple. Prize drills and a reception at the Hotel Orleans will conclude the public events of the conclave. It seems more than probable that this will be the largest and most important gathering of Templars ever held in the State.

In Illinois the Masons are very busy with schemes of pleasure and charity. The encampments of Knights Templar that have been provided for are being well patronized and are proving very successful social events.

The picnics and entertainments about to be given for the benefit of the Masonic Orphans' Home are receiving very generous support from all the lodges and Masonic bodies of the State.

Mystic Shrine.

The past week among the Shrines on the Pacific coast has been an eventful one. The visit at Mecca Temple of New York has been the occasion of a round of pleasurable excitement and hospitality very creditable to the liberality and pride of the nobles of Islam Temple. The festivities comprise receptions, concerts, theatrical entertainments, excursions and banquets innumerable. The Eastern Nobles will not soon forget the visit to Islam.

Knights of Pythias.

The twentieth annual session of the Grand Lodge of Iowa has just been closed. The session was held at Des Moines and was not only well attended by representatives, but the uniform rank of the order had a public dress parade in which there were nearly 1,000 men in line. The secret work was amply exemplified at the Castle hall during the session in a manner that received hearty commendation from the members of the Grand Lodge. There were several prize drills on the programme that evoked much admiration and reflected great honor on all the contending divisions. The meeting was brought to a close by a grand ball given under the auspices of the Iowa brigade. The arrangements for the meeting were all under the direction of Brigadier-General J. C. Loper, W. A. Park, Past Grand Chancellor, and H. D. Cope, District Deputy Grand Chancellor.

The amendments to the constitution, which were adopted at the late session of the Supreme Lodge at Milwaukee, have just been promulgated. Many of them are of interest to the subordinate bodies through the country and should be carefully read and studied.

All lodges have been directed to adopt such measures as will carry into effect the beneficial character of the order, by providing for the payment of weekly benefits in case of disability and funeral expenses in case of death.

It is declared to be illegal to wear the jewel of the order except on funeral and public Pythian occasions. The Supreme Lodge refused to recognize either of the organizations now existing under the name of the Pythian "Sisterhood."

A Sir Knight or officer suspended from his lodge has no right to attend the meetings of his division after such suspension; he is no longer a member of the division.

A member of the uniform rank can not receive the countersign from any one else than the Sir Knight Captain of his division, or the presiding officer at the time being, or upon his showing official order from his Sir Knight Captain to the Captain of any other division.

No officer on the retired list is authorized to take upon himself the duties incumbent upon the officer in commission, and the commission can only cover the period for which an officer is elected.

The Supreme Lodge representatives from Illinois seem to have lost their heads or their memories or both, for the important question touching the seniority of the Illinois Brigade was not "called up" for action at all, and there was no more important question before the session. McDOUGALL.

A Remedy for Burns.

The celebrated German remedy for burns consists of fifteen ounces of the best white glue broken into small pieces into two pints of water and allowed to become soft; then dissolve it by means of a water bath and add two ounces of glycerine and six drachms of carbolic acid; continue to heat until thoroughly dissolved. On cooling this hardens to an elastic mass, covered with a shining, parchment-like skin, and may be kept for any length of time. When required for use it is placed for a few minutes in a water bath until sufficiently liquid and applied by means of a broad brush. It forms in about two minutes a shining, smooth, flexible and nearly transparent skin.—Detroit Free Press.

Johnny Gets It.

"Johnny may tell me why Lot's wife did not continue the journey with her husband."

"Please, mum," responded Johnny, "she was arrested for assault."—Harper's Bazar.

Wouldn't Be on the Market.

Bertha—Have you told your mamma of your engagement with Frank?

May—No, indeed. If she knew it there wouldn't be any seaside for me this summer.—Light.

BOLD PETE M'CARTNEY.

One of the Most Successful Crooks in the History of Crime.

"The cleverest thief that ever I had any thing to do with while connected with the Secret-Service Department of the United States Treasury Department," said Major Thomas E. Lonergan, "was Pete McCartney. He was born and raised in Southern Illinois, and could not boast any education. Yet he was in every sense a picturesque figure in criminal annals. He was the only man I ever met who educated himself so as to be able to do any thing connected with counterfeiting. He could engrave a plate, make his own inks and paper and print the complete note. McCartney had been arrested many times prior to my arrest of him, and had always managed to escape. I captured him on Venice, Ill., on Bloody Island, the famous old dueling ground of that section of the country, which was a little north of East St. Louis. This was in the fall of 1871. I took McCartney to Springfield and turned him over to United States Marshal Routt, who was afterward Governor of Colorado. McCartney was charged with counterfeiting United States money, and committed to jail in default of $50,000 bail. Negotiations were entered into by the Treasury Department that McCartney should turn up certain plates for counterfeiting notes, and that in return his bail should be reduced to $25,000. The agreement was carried out on both sides. McCartney gave up the plates and $80,000 in counterfeit money. He had to go to Decatur, Ill., where he had buried it, to dig it up.

"During the time that this notorious counterfeiter was out on bail he was arrested in St. Louis and was seriously shot in the fracas that followed the attempt to arrest him. While in jail on crutches he broke out and left, taking with him four other counterfeiters who were confined at the same time. A few weeks subsequently he was again arrested in Texas. A big reward had been offered for his capture. The sheriff who secured him telegraphed for the United States officials to come and take possession of him. To make his escape impossible this sheriff and his posse camped out all night with McCartney, but he got away before morning. He was again arrested shortly after this by another Texas sheriff. To secure him effectually this time this official manacled McCartney's arms and legs and started for Austin. When the train reached Austin McCartney had made his escape. During the war he was arrested on some charge in Indiana and taken to Washington heavily ironed, hand and foot. He escaped from custody by throwing himself out of the car window as the Pennsylvania train was passing Horseshoe Bend. This is the most dangerous point on the whole road. He dislocated his shoulder, but suffered no other injury. Finally he was captured in Indiana, convicted and sent to the penitentiary at Michigan City. He is an old man now, but in his best days was one of the most slippery fellows that I ever heard of.—Chicago Evening Post.

MEERSCHAUM IN CHUNKS.

It Comes from Turkey and Is Principally Used for Pipes.

The meerschaum comes from Turkey in boxes. A box holds about fifty pounds, and is worth from $20 to $300, according to the size and quality of the pieces. It looks like plaster of paris smoothed off and rounded. The amber looks like beeswax or large pieces of rosin. It comes in pieces, and is worth from $2 to $50 a pound. Meerschaum to make a $5 pipe costs about $2.50. The amber tips, raw, cost about one-quarter or one-half as much.

When an order comes for a pipe the proprietor goes through the stock of meerschaum to get a piece out of which the pipe can be cut with as little loss as possible. Four-fifths of the meerschaum is wasted, though the chips are often saved and made into imitation meerschaum pipes.

The meerschaum is first cut on a circular saw into a piece a little larger than the pipe. If the cutting shows holes or cracks the piece is cast aside. Then it is soaked in water for fifteen minutes and cut the rough shape with a knife. Then a hole is drilled through it and it is turned with a half-motion. After the turning the stem is inserted. It is smoothed off when dry, boiled in wax and polished; then it is ready to be sold.

The amber is worked with a chisel and turning wheel. The chisel is sharp and razor-like. A clumsy operator would cut his fingers off with it. An old operator takes the piece of amber in his hand and rounds it with the chisel, the forefinger of the left hand serving as a guide for the chisel to play. When it is rounded it is held against the face of a roughened wheel until it is turned to approximately the required size. Then it is put in the same turning wheel and a hole is bored through it.

This is for the more common and cheaper amber stems, the kind that are put in brierwood pipes, which sell for 50 and 75 cents. It does not take more than a quarter or half hour to finish one of these stems. A stem for a more costly pipe will take a day. The shortest time in which a good meerschaum pipe can be made is three days. That is for a plain pipe. If the pipe is to be carved that time has to be added. Workmen have spent months on carving one pipe.

The dust and chips from the amber and meerschaum are saved. The amber dust is melted and made into amberine. The meerschaum dust is chopped up and worked into a paste, from which imitation meerschaum pipes are made. It is a common idea that real meerschaum can be told from imitation meerschaum by the fact that real meerschaum floats on water, but imitation meerschaum floats also. Imitation meerschaum can be made which will color better than real meerschaum does, though it does not last so long and the color is likely to come in streaks. It is hard for a man who is not in the business to tell a real from an imitation meerschaum. The best quality of meerschaum frequently has air-holes and cracks in it.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 26c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 8-26-w

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 8-26-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 8-14-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 110 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-17-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-13-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 8-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
P. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 6-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 307. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709, Plainfield, N. J.
Old work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 6-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year.
22 EAST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!
22c. Pound.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street. 1-18-tf

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,
That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3.00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.
Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.
Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.
ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-21-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK. 6-3-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. BOX, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 8-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 8-7tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street. 6-16-to-sept

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENYON, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten and School,
48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),
REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.
In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application. 8 21 2m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths!
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 3 p. m. H. HOSKINS, 35 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fristo, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—50 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. MCCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. m19

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-22-3m

HARRY C. BUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
6 E. FRONT STREET. my10y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables.
54 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 151. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my99

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—NO BOTCHING 1-14-tf

J. B. STICKLEY
21 East 5th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALITY. 6-30-1m5-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 20 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY. 4-4-6m

SPORT IN STIRRUPS.

The Course of Instruction at the Riding Academies.

Delicate Ladies Generally Begin on Pacers, but a Level Trot Is Found to Be Most Invigorating—Cross-Saddle Riding.

[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]

IT IS doubtless agreeable to own a steam yacht, or a private car, or to drive Swivelier, Maud S. or Axtell. But in each of these there are unpleasant elements of responsibility and of helplessness which are not found in that happy concourse of circumstances which brings together the horse and his rider.

In town riding is a luxury, but it is a luxury that each day is more widely shared. Riding schools increase in number, and the system of teaching is now carried to high perfection. No one would contend that people can not learn to ride without being taught—the West and South answer that. At the same time riding becomes a simpler, easier accomplishment when begun aright instead of waiting for time and experience to overcome faults, for there are inevitably wrong and right ways of riding. To this end it may be well to explain something of the system of teaching followed at the riding academies.

PREPARING FOR THE RIDE.

The first thing a novice is taught is to mount, which we will dismiss in a few words, as the process must be familiar to most readers. She stands on the ground, or on a stage; with her right hand she clasps the pommel; her left foot she places in the left hand of her escort or teacher, whose right arm is placed about her waist, or under her left arm. She rests on her right foot. At one, two, she rises on the ball of her foot, at three gives a spring which, if it is successful, lands her in the saddle.

In the saddle the reins are put into both of her hands, and her horse, which has only a snaffle, is led with a leading strap around the ring until the rider acquires her seat. She must sit lightly and erect, shoulders square, and leaning neither too far front or back. The reasons are obvious. If she rides too far forward, an unlucky stumble would send her on her head; if she leans too far back, she loses something in control of her horse. Both elegance and perfect balance demand an upright seat.

Her right leg is thrown around the upright pommel, and by lightly pressing the horse beneath the pommel assists her seat. The left leg falls at an angle, the knee projecting, and the ball of the left foot presses the stirrups. The length of the stirrup depends on her length of leg, and is adjusted as seems easiest, which is, of course, best for the rider. The length of the bridle rein, which should be neither too long nor too short, is regulated also by the length of arm.

THE FIRST LESSON.

Having gained her seat, she is now given a full bridle, that is to say, a curb is added to the snaffle, and she holds the reins in one hand. The other is occupied by her whip—usually a cross in which there is no actual service beyond that of giving of her hand something to do. She is now taught to guide. Horses in riding schools are trained to guide by the neck, but as they are used by so many different riders they are, in fact, more difficult to guide than the horse of which the rider is the fortunate possessor. To the horse well trained the slightest pressure on the reins is sufficient, and he is spared that torture of the mouth which careless riders are apt to inflict, keeping their horses thereby restive and irritated.

To ride a trotting horse satisfactorily to one's self training is necessary. As in swimming, there is a knack which, once caught, makes easy an otherwise uncomfortable performance. This knack is embodied in keeping the rise in the saddle in perfect unison with the horse's forward movement. And it is done by pressing the ball of the foot against the stirrups, which gives the required rise, and at the same time lightly pressing the pommel leg against the horse to keep the body straight. The amount of rise is adjusted by the curved pommel which restrains by its curve the stirrup leg beyond a certain distance.

The conventional habit is derived from the English. It is made of firm, stout cloth, with a short, pointed body, terminating in the back in two narrow tails. The skirt from the left side in front around to the right side in the back just clears the ground when the rider is standing erect. The rest of the distance, which includes the part over the pommel knee, the skirt is longer. The guide to the length is the rider seated, when the skirt should make a straight line across the horse's body. In the old-fashioned skirt this line is diagonal. When walking this surplus length is looped up. The skirt has no gathers. It is fitted across the back just as are a man's trousers.

A PAUSE.

There is great rivalry among the fashionable tailors in riding skirts. Each has his own design, and this is usually legally protected. One of these is now patenting a new skirt in Washington, of which nothing more can be now said than that it is the same length all the way round, and is designed to prevent the habit catching on the pommel in case a rider is thrown, which it is alleged is the difficulty with the English skirt.

Underneath the habit are worn trousers, strapped down over the neat boot. These garments, however, are yielding before knickerbockers and riding boots, and one of the riding teachers is authority for the statement that tights worn with riding boots are far preferable to trousers. The season has introduced novelties in riding bodies. The latest are jacket-shaped, and are cut away to disclose waistcoats that are made exactly as those of men. Women who can afford the luxury have different waistcoats for the same habit. The summer allows wider latitude in habits, which are made of lighter cloth. Norfolk jackets are thoroughly en regle for country wear. Corduroy skirts with Norfolk jackets defy mud and weather. Straw hats, black and white, with a gold band around them, replace the conventional silk hat and the popular derby.

Let no one be at all exercised about changing their habits in order to ride cross saddle. There is not the slightest danger that the necessity will arise. About a dozen years ago the same agitation was agitated and with the usual result. Nature is pretty apt to look after her own, and the fact that women in civilized life ride as they do and persist in it in the teeth of all the dreadful consequences predicted by the reformers, is pretty sure proof that it is not done without a reason. That women in South America and Japan ride cross saddle is of but little consequence, they do so unconsciously; the girl in the park is self-conscious and that makes all the difference in the world.

AT FULL SPEED.

As to the physical consequences one may be pardoned for drawing somewhat on personal experiences. At eight years old I was taught to ride as ducks are taught to swim, by being placed on a Canadian pony. From that time until sixteen I rode usually twice a day, and there were few methods of riding, except standing on bare back, of which I have not had some experience. As a child I frequently rode twenty miles a day, and there are those who will remember, without any loss of activity afterward, and without ever having suffered from any of the ills threatened those who ride as women do.

Here it is not uncommon for parties to ride to the athletic grounds at Travis Island, eighteen miles distant, lunch and return within four hours without fatigue. The experienced rider knows how, by change of gait, to give rest to both herself and horse. After a long level trot the break into a canter is as resting as would be absolute repose. Moreover, the æsthetic sense of American women is sufficiently alert to keep them from riding cross-saddle. The English costume designed for these daring equestriennes consists in trousers and a species of newmarket. When mounted the coat divides and covers each leg. To keep in place are straps around the leg. On dismounting the coat is buttoned down the front, and a flap conceals the division in the back. The effect is not attractive. The accordion divided skirt is too frivolous and no more tempting to the eye. The only really pretty sort of cross-saddle costume is one designed for hunting, with boots, tights and a jaunty coat, a costume which looks as it if might have been borrowed from the Grand Duchess at the Casino.

MARY GAY HUMPHREYS.

THE ENGLISH NOVEL.

The Sources from Whence It Has Been Derived.

Its Character in the Time of Shakespeare—Sir Philip Sidney—The "Picaresque" Romance—Nash, Dekker and Other Elizabethan Worthies.

[COPYRIGHT, 1890.]

Of the numerous pages in the literary history of the world, whose print the lapse of time has left only half legible, those which have engaged perhaps the largest share of the attention of students are the ones upon which the works of the Elizabethans are inscribed. Scholars have persisted patiently in the study of those fascinating leaves, delving to their hearts' content these three hundred years, yet so rich are they that they never fail of freshness nor of wonderful literary "finds." To most of us, while "golden-tongued Romance, with serene lute," seems to preside over all that spacious time, the romance specifically, the novel, does not appear, from the almost utter absence of examples of it in libraries now, to have existed at all. But some years ago this obscure field of Elizabethan achievement caught the eye of a painstaking and enthusiastic critic, a Frenchman, M. Jusserand. He studied it exhaustively, walking not only through the broad swath cut by the chief authors of the time, but through the fragrant byways formed by the lesser writers.

The result was "The English Novel in the Time of Shakespeare," a book which immediately became popular in France, which soon earned an honorable position in the country of whose literary ancestry it treated, and which was before very long put into English. Recently a second English edition, revised and enlarged by the author, has been published in luxurious form (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York), and it affords a very reasonable excuse for a glance at the genesis of those books which give us so much pleasure now, "Vanity Fair," for example, or the incomparable "Pickwick."

AN ELIZABETHAN SHEPHERDESS.

"O ruff-embastioned vast Elizabeth."

sang Rossetti. Vast, indeed, was the virgin Queen, a most imposing personage, in fact, as we see her in Roger's old engraving, habited in "a gown of cylindric shape, expanded by means of a farthingale and covered with knobs, knots, pearls, ribbons, fringes and ornaments of all sorts." Vast she was too in her relation to the country; a woman predestined to leave her mark upon the world despite any foolish devotion to the trivial matters of dress or deportment.

For a long time the rise of the English novel has been supposed to date from Defoe. Nothing could be more erroneous. Long before Defoe was born, as far back as the twelfth century, there were story writers in England. The familiar story of Troilus and Cressida was written for Queen Eleanor by Benoit de Sainte More in that distant time. Chaucer himself, in the fourteenth century, is one of the most inimitable raconteurs who ever lived, and Malory's "Morte D'Arthur," a production of the fifteenth century, is still a marvel of romantic composition. Yet even if we prefer not to account the mediæval works, and especially the epics, the legitimate precursors of the English novel, we have still a mass of novelistic literature antedating Defoe, and though not thoroughly English in creation at least become so vital a part of the English literature of that time as to deserve every consideration in a discussion of this question of beginnings. This is the great number of translations which were made, thus early in the Nation's march towards cultivation, from foreign writers. When the middle ages made their final bow upon the stage of Europe and the Renaissance entered in all its stirring panoply of life, variety and color, England began to be inquisitive of the world's literature.

A HIPPOPOTAMUS TAKING ITS FOOD.
[From a bestiary of the Elizabethan time.]

Above all she was interested by the fabulous, the bizarre, the intensely imaginative. Here she and her subjects were one, and here was where the foreign literature came in to satisfy the common longing. The authors and playwrights fell upon the new books with avidity. Paynter's "Palace of Pleasure," published in 1566, and containing stories by Boccaccio, Bandello, Fiorentino, Straparole, Guevara, the Queen of Navarre, "and other Italian and French authours," was a perfect wellspring of suggestion. From it Shakespeare drew the plots of "Romeo and Juliet," "All's Well That Ends Well," "Timon of Athens," and, in part, "Measure for Measure." Many other damatists, including Massinger, Beaumont and Fletcher, Shirley, Webster, Peele and Marston, are known to have profited by the same collection. The first literary event brought about by the Italian, Spanish and French vaccination, so to speak, the first work of an English writer inspired directly by the foreign impulse and provocative of wide-spread enthusiasm in England, was the "Euphues" of John Lyly. The essence of this book has long since ceased to possess any but a musty flavor, but when it was presented to the author's contemporaries it went straight to their hearts. The title of the book is as follows:

"'Euphues,' the anatomy of wyt . . . wherein are contained the delights that wyt followeth in his youth by the pleasauntnesse of love, and the happynesse he reapeth in age by the perfectness of wisedome," London, 1579. This title smacks of didacticism, and

THE SWAN THEATER, 1596.
(From a drawing by John De Witt, discovered in the Utrecht library.)

didactic the book certainly is. In Mr. Jusserand's words, Euphues is a young Athenian, a contemporary not of Pericles, but of Lyly, who goes to Naples, thence to England, to study men and governments.

Human nature, as Shakespeare knew so well, was the same in the sixteenth century as it has been, and will be, in any other. Other writers no sooner became aware of Lyly's success than they proceeded to follow in his footsteps, and soon we have a whole family of Euphuistic novels, their progenitors being Robert Greene and Thomas Lodge; the innumerable other imitators need not be specified. Greene wrote "Pandosto," or, as it was known when first published, "Dorastus and Fawnia." This has the special interest of having furnished Shakespeare with much of the plot for "A Winter's Tale." In itself it is a remarkable work—remarkable for the ludicrous geographical knowledge displayed in it, for the mighty number of adventures through which hero and heroine are made to pass and for the completeness of the Euphuistic apparel with which it is decked out. It even surpasses Lyly's masterpiece at times, out-Heroding Herod in the multitude of similes used. Thomas Lodge, in turn, fixed his own reputation and laid the omnivorous Shakespeare under another debt by publishing his "Rosalynde," a tale whose ancestry, indeed, may be traced back to the middle ages, but which Lodge practically gave to the world. In giving it he gave us a series of love adventures too impossible to affect the sensibilities of nineteenth-century readers, but amusing, perhaps, by their very impossibility.

KNIGHTLY PASTIMES—HAWKING, 1575.
(From Lodge's "Rosalynde.")

There remains yet one more form of Elizabethan literature in which we must recognize the seeds of our modern productions, the picaresque or realistic novel. The term picaresque was invented to discribe those novels which celebrated the ups and downs of the professional adventurer; it signified a book whose pages reeked with the odors of the camp, the inn and the highway. It originated in Spain where the novels "Lazirillo de Tormes" and "Guzman de Alfaracho" represented a certain decidedly realistic phase of literature which had to be classified. In England the earliest writer to work this vein of essentially popular romance was Thomas Nash, a contemporary of Sidney. Nash has ever been reckoned among the Elizabethan poets, but the work which especially entitles him to notice in this place is far from poetical, a novel called "The Unfortunate Traveller; or the Life of Jack Wilton."

Better than any thing, Nash was a famous wit. After his death it was said of him in a comedy written by some friendly admirer:

Let all his faultes sleepe with his mournfull chest,
And there forever with his ashes rest.
His style was wittie, though it had some gall,
Some things he might have mended, so may all;
Yet this I say, that for a mother witt
Few men have ever seen the like of it.

Closely connected with Nash in the history of this time is Thomas Dekker, a prolific writer of plays and pamphlets. Dekker wielded a brilliant pen and was superbly realistic. He and Nash stood together as the ancestors of Defoe. The "Wonderfull Yeare, 1603" of Dekker was really drawn upon later by Defoe. When Nash and Dekker are reached there remains little of interest before Defoe appears in the early part of the eighteenth century. The seventeenth century produced no novels superior in quality to the sentimental hybrid romances formed of a hodge podge of ancient and modern motives, which were modeled after the "Clelie" of Madeleine de Scudery, and similar affectations. And Defoe once arrived at, across that barren gap of a hundred years, the half dozen bright names which England boasts in her list of novelists, Richardson, Fielding, Thackeray, George Eliot and Dickens, are connected by an entirely obvious thread.

ROYAL CORTISSOZ.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

PHYSICAL TRANSGRESSIONS.

Extract from a Lecture by J. H. Kellogg, M. D., Battle Creek Sanitarium—Reported by Helen L. Manning.

What long strides in physical progress would be made if one was reared with reference to giving his body the best care possible! As it is, many a man spends more vital force in digesting his six o'clock dinner than he does in attention to his business, and many a woman spends more nerve, vigor and strength in contending against the bad conditions imposed by unhygienic fashions than she spends in any useful walk in life. If she would only contend against them with reference to freeing herself from their bondage, it would be to some purpose.

Nature is inexorable and any violation of her laws, whether done in willfulness or ignorance, will surely meet with punishment. The laws which govern digestion are just as stern as those of gravitation. If a person does not suffer immediately from abusing his stomach, there will be a cutting off of the digestive facilities later in life. The stomach, liver, heart, lungs and kidneys are the organs most likely to give out, for they are the ones most subject to abuse, particularly the first two. How many people are there who are perfectly well, who do not have headache nor stomach-ache and are perfectly free from all manner of pain, who get up every morning brimful of energy and elasticity? If we would take our constitutions as nature gives them to us, and, instead of tearing them down by dissipations and neglect, would make it a part of our daily lives to cultivate vigor and vitality, increase our strength and husband our physical resources, we might go on improving until we were fifty years old, for a well-cared-for brain grows until that time and why not the bodily vigor as well? Instead, we begin very early to draw upon our reserve force and are sometimes bankrupt at twenty-five or thirty.

Nature gives us at the outset a large reserve of strength and vigor. The lungs are capable of taking in and exhaling sixteen times as much air as is done in ordinary, quiet breathing. The heart, stomach, liver, skin and every other organ of the body has corresponding reserve vigor. This surplus is designed to tide us over emergencies, and not for every-day use. So the man who goes on creating emergencies for his stomach, liver, or other organ, will find by and by that this extra vigor is nearly exhausted. The next thing in most cases is to call on the doctor for a tonic, which merely enables him to dip a little deeper into what capacity an over-worked organ may still have left. Suppose we represent our store of vigor by a tank, the inflow for which comes from our food, and the natural outflow for expenditure is near the top. A stimulant has the effect of thrusting the outflow pipe a little lower down, and thus reducing the stock of reserve which nature had designed to hold for real need. Our tank once emptied of vital force, can never be refilled. There may be left simply a little stream of energy flowing through, sufficing for moderate, every-day needs, with nothing whatever to fall back on for emergencies.

In such a state of affairs as this, the most that can be done is to put on a stop-cock which will cut off all waste of vitality. Let the stomach and liver have as easy a time as possible; stop business and all worriment and retrench expenditures in every way possible. Do exactly what a bankrupt man would do who had been living too rapidly and who wished to reform and retrieve his fortune so far as possible. By improved nutrition the size of the daily supply stream can be somewhat increased, but remember that we can never get the tank full again.

We may obtain a few practical hints as to how we can give the digestive organs an easy time by glancing at a table of relative food values and the time required for their digestion. Rice digests in an hour and is very nutritious. A sweet mellow apple digests in an hour and a half; milk in two hours. All the grains and fruits are easy of digestion and these, together with milk, make a perfect diet for man. Lean beefsteak takes four hours to digest; oysters, three and a half hours when stewed and a half hour less when eaten raw. Roast mutton needs four and a quarter hours and roast pork an hour longer than that. What people call a light diet is really the best for every body. It will always be necessary to walk in the straight and narrow road of physical well doing. You will never get so well that you can go back to your sins without the penalties exacted will be more severe than ever. In all your plans, consider health first; consider what is best for your body as well as what is best for your business and social conditions. Since almost every thing which concerns us depends upon the well being of the body, why should we not give it first attention from our youth up?

SCIENCE CLIPPINGS.

ONE of the largest forests in the world stands on ice. It is situated between the Ural and Okhotsk sea. A well was recently dug in this region, when it was found that at a depth of 116 meters the ground was still frozen.

THE deepest well in the world is soon to be dug in the environs of London. It will be nearly 1,300 feet deep, and will be furnished with stairs and be illuminated. The object of the well is to enable the students to observe the various geological strata.

THE coral of commerce is the product of a specie of coral insect. When first taken from the sea it is itself covered with a polyp crust, though entirely calcareous in substance. This coral is found in large quantities in the Mediterranean, where it flourishes, not far below the surface of the water. Both red and rose-colored coral are found, and in some years the yield of the whole of this sea has amounted in value to half a million of dollars.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates), will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner as short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following
Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
70 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD,]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At G. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-29-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANBUSKIRK,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 169. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. my10

J. P. LAIRE & CO
LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.
M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
12 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms and Silverware. Sole Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles.
Don't forget the number. 12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway, 7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st., to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 | A. M. | to meet | 8.33 | A. M. train. |
| 3rd do | 9.15 | | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | | do | 10.37 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | | do | 11.34 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | | do | 12.02 | P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 | P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 | P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3.51 | P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do | 5.20 | do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do | 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do | 7.02 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.30, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M., 2.04, 2.50, 3.45, 4.34, 5.20, 6.20, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:06 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 4 07, 7 59, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 20 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 4 05, 9 05 A. M., and 9 20 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 4 07, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 20 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 4 05, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 20 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 25 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 4 07, 7 15, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 20 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 4 05, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 20 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9 35, 11 37 A. M., 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 49 P. M.

A full line of tickets and coupons on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York: foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 21, 6 07, 6 44, 7 05, 7 30, 9 26, 10 15, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 20, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 20, 10 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10 11, A. M., 1, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 21, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 21, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 20, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 56, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 36, 5 55, 6 35, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 00, 7 12, 7 34 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 3 09, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 38, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—9 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 02, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

9 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37, a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 21, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 21, 7 03 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 21 7 03 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 1 59*, 2 32*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 26*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 3 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 56 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA,

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 30*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 8 45, 12 p. m Sundays—9 a. m., 12 50, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 10, 8 20*, 11 08, a. m. 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 8 35 a. m., 12 52, 3 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 30, 4 00,* 8*, 9*, 10 10, 11 55 a.m. 1 28, 2 10, 2 40*, 3 55, 5 55 6 50, 8 47, 10 p. m. Sundays—1 30, 4 00, 9 55 a.m. 1 28, 4, 5 58, 7, 8 47 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

J. M. OLHAUSEN, Gen. Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass Agent.

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1890 PRICE TWO CENTS.

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

Madame E. GETTI, of Paris.

Dresses Ready-Made and to Order.

IMPORTED DRESS GOODS AND GLOVES.

Park Avenue and Fourth Street, (Miller Building.)

8 25 3w

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, SAY

Dark Outing Flannels will be very popular this Fall for Children's School Dresses. We are displaying a nice assortment of them. Price 12c.

* * * * *

Gentlemen, we will sell 50 dozen Unlaundried Shirts, 50c quality, for 39c each.

* * * * *

We put on sale, and 'tis the last of those remnants of Fine Outing Flannels; our price 10c.

* * * * *

We are offering some extra good values in Table Linen, Towels and Napkins.

* * * * *

Our Writing Paper deserves special mention; one at 10c a box, and one at 14c, which is as good as you generally pay 25c for.

* * * * *

There are 100 sample Corsets, sizes 25 to 30, Corsets that sold for $1 and $1.25. We close the entire lot for 60c pair.

* * * * *

Housekeepers will find many good things in our Furnishing Department. We keep a fine line of Crockery, Glass and Tinware, and sell them at popular prices.

* * * * *

We deliver goods everywhere, free of charge.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.)

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-6-y

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Truly Yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N J

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-24

A GENERAL CALL

All the Vanderbilt Road Knights to Go Out.

THE WESTERN SITUATION.

Critical Condition of Affairs at Chicago Among the Railways.

The Pay Car at Albany—Not One of 1,200 Knights Go Back—The Mass Meeting at New York—Hartford Meeting Tenders Aid and Sympathy—The Stockyard Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—It is generally reported that D. A. 246 has called out every Knight of Labor on the Vanderbilt connecting lines, but the report cannot be confirmed.

Mr. Powderly says he was not aware of any such action, though it might have been taken. If so it had occurred after his departure from Albany.

He had seen but two freight trains on his way nown from Albany, each composed of about 30 cars, but 10 of which were loaded. "This is an example of the 'regular business' which Mr. Webb claims the company is doing."

He was told in Albany that 450 carloads of beef had been buried there, having become spoiled by delay.

MASS MEETING IN NEW YORK.

A Large Assembly Addressed by Powderly and Other Labor Leaders.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—About 2,000 persons assembled in Union Square last night in response to the call for a meeting of sympathy with the New York Central strikers.

Speeches protesting against the action of the Pinkerton men at Albany and elsewhere, the action of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and of the officers of the New York Central in particular were made by Mr. T. V. Powderly, Robert Blissert, Mrs. Margaret Moore and others, and resolutions of like purport were adopted.

Mr. Blissert and Mrs. Moore recited the wrongs inflicted upon the workers by capitalists, and urged workingmen not to vote for the party that supported capitalists. It was Chauncey M. Depew's highest ambition, Mr. Blissert said, to be at table with the Prince of Wales at the head. The country did not want that sort of man for President.

Mr. Powderly said it was announced from Terre Haute last night that the Supreme Council of the Federation of Railroad Employes had endorsed the action of the Knights in the present strike. There were men in other organizations who were waiting for a popular movement. He did not care; he would go on and fight until the capitalists of the country were overthrown. Though the Central claimed they were moving freight, they were not. If that monopoly cannot move freight, the State must be called upon to compel it to surrender its charter to those who will move freight, or to the State.

Yesterday he had met twenty men who had been discharged. Of that number only one had been charged with any offence, and that was insubordination in refusing to work overtime. Not one was charged with incompetency.

There is, he said, an organization of labor with its headquarters at Cleveland. Its chief is P. M. Arthur (hisses). It contains men who will stoop to take the place of a brother man. This is what the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have done with the consent of Arthur. The Brotherhood is good, but it has a bad chief. It was all arranged for Arthur to be hidden in Cleveland while Depew was in Europe. No one can get at them. The people of the land do not want a coward for President, a man who runs away when there is a fight ahead. The battle is a strike of the people and must be fought at the polls.

The State Board of Arbitration are fishing in the Adirondacks instead of attending to their business and they must be made to do their duty.

We have an army of hired assassins. They should be put down. He was always opposed to strikes, he said, but they would not give in until they had gained a victory in this case.

Appropriate resolutions were adopted. A letter from Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, indorsing the strike was read.

THE SITUATION AT ALBANY.

Confident Statements Made that the Federation Would Also Soon Strike.

ALBANY, N. Y. Aug. 27.—The confidence of the strikers in the result being in their favor was increased last night, the reason being that of an assertion made by Mr. Lee that he has almost positive information that the Federation that met in Terre Haute will yet order a strike. When confronted last night with the statement, Mr. Lee said that he had reason to believe that Mr. Powderly had been privately advised that the order would strike for grievances of their own. When asked how such a strike would be brought about, he said the scheme prepared was for firemen and brakemen to refuse to work on trains with scabs, or made up by scabs.

Mr. Lee makes still another statement. It is that when he ordered out the Knights on the Central road he only did so in certain cases. He claims that there are still 1,000 Knights at work on the Central. When the general call is issued these men will come out, thus crippling the road.

He refused to answer a question as to when the general call will be issued by the General Executive Board.

The pay car at West Albany paid off 1,200 men, strikers who formerly worked in the shops. The question was "Here is your pay. Do you want to return?" If no answer was given in the affirmative the man was discharged. Not one of 1,200 accepted the offer to be taken back.

A Springfield Report Denied.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 27.—Inquiry at police hea quarters and among railroad officials fails to show anything in the rumor that a Pinkerton agent was in the city securing men to act as special policemen at the New York Central freight yards at Albany. The railroad officials say there is no necessity for Pinkerton agents to come to this city for men, as all that are needed can be had at Boston or New York.

THE RAILROADS COMBINE.

Western Managers Threaten to Stop Every Wheel.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—"Every Chicago railroad and all their connections and every railroad in the United States will be tied up unless there is a withdrawal of the demands of the striking switchmen of the Stock Yards Switching Association."

These were the words of General Manager Chappell, of the Alton road, to-day in speaking of the strike at the stock yards. "The railroads will not grant the demands of the switchmen and will not yield to their threats," continued Mr. Chappell.

"No amount of injury to property or months of idleness, and not even the loss of every cent of revenue by every Chicago road will swerve the railways from this course.

"This matter was discussed at a meeting of the general managers last night; after word had been received that the stockyards' switchmen had struck. The general managers of nearly all the roads were present, and they were fortified by the presence of many presidents and vice-presidents. All were authorized at a previous consultation to enter into an agreement to fight to the end, no matter what the results may be, and every man spoke and entered into such an agreement, which is that all Chicago railways will stand together as one individual to oppose the unjust demands made upon the Stock Yards Switching Association or upon any of the interested railways.

"It is the first time that the railways ever united. They will stand firm as a rock, however, if it ties up every road in the country indefinitely and bankrupts all of those waging the war. I expect every Chicago road will be tied up. How much further the war will extend no one can foretell.

"The railroads have dissolved the Switching Association and each road will do its own switching. The strikers have been discharged. Considerable freight was moved to-day under police protection, the railway officials handling the switches themselves and in some instances handling the engines. The strike to this time has caused a loss to all concerned of $500,000.

"The great problem is, Will the employes of the various roads consent to do this work, formerly done by the strikers, or will they declare they are taking the place of the strikers in doing this switching and refuse to enter the yards? If the latter position be assumed by the employes of the various lines, every road entering Chicago may be tied up before forty-eight hours, as there is no doubt to-day will see every road attempting to do its own work."

ENDORSING THE KNIGHTS.

Labor Organizations Getting Together and Tendering Aid to the Strikers.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 27.—About 30 members of different labor organizations met here last night to endorse the action of the New York Central road strikers. Powderly was upheld, Vice President Webb denounced and financial aid voted.

A committee was appointed to raise funds for the strikers. The resolution of the Central Labor Union of New York was read and although the chairman moved their adoption they were not passed. One of the speakers denounced the "subsidized press." About $10 was raised for the strikers.

THE CHICAGO SWITCHMEN.

Outbreak on Several Roads, Principally Among the Switchmen.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—It was hard work to-day keeping track of the strikers. The Alton, Wabash and Illinois Central all had outbreaks, any of which may end in a tie-up.

The Alton strike is perhaps the most serious, involving the switchmen in the Chicago yards, and completely blocking the movement of freight, although passenger trains will run on time as usual.

Another Chapter in an Old Story.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—Emil V. Koester was arrested here charged with embezzling $7,000 from a number of societies in Minneapolis, Minn., of which he was treasurer. He acknowledge being an embezzler, but said he had taken only $2,000, which he had used in his business with the hope of repaying it. Finding himself unable to pay he ran away, went to Europe and returned two weeks ago to live in Philadelp ia. The Minneapolis authorities were advised of Koester's arrest, and he was held to await a requisition.

A Big Democratic Meeting Postponed.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 27.—The big Democratic meeting which was to have been held here on September 5 has been postponed until October 6. Senator McPherson states that the argument on the Tariff bill will detain the Senators and others who were to take part in the meeting until Sept. 10, hence the postponement.

Hiring Men in Massachusetts.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 27.—Several agents are engaging men at $3.50 per day each in Western Massachusetts to go to Albany, Buffalo and other Central railroad points, to act as special policemen during the present labor troubles.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE

Is It Still Another Rahway Murder.

A WOMAN FOUND BUTCHERED.

A Horrible Spectacle Meets the Gaze of James Greene.

A Shocking Find at Newark—The Headless Form of a Woman in a Barrel—Dynamite Experiments—The Brick Boycott—The Chatauquan Annual Assembly.

RAHWAY, N. J., Aug. 27.—A mysterious case which may prove a murder was brought to the attention of the police at noon yesterday. James Green, who resides on Lewis street, reported that when he returned home from his work for dinner he was startled to find traces of blood in the kitchen and parlor and on the stairs leading to the cellar. He followed the trail of blood into the cellar, when a horrible spectacle met his gaze.

The dead body of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kate Riley, lay on the ground covered with blood. Her throat was cut from ear to ear and she had a table knife clasped in her right hand.

A hasty examinatson of the house revealed the fact that kerosene had been poured on the carpets in the parlor and kitchen and on some old clothes in a closet. The clothes had been set on fire, but the fire was smothered somewhat by the door of the closet being tightly closed.

It did not seem reasonable to the police that the woman could have made such preparations to burn the house, then cut her throat from ear to ear in the kitchen and make her way to the cellar, where the body was found. Chief of Police Tooker made an examination of the cellar and gave it as his opinion that the woman's body had been carried into the cellar and the table knife placed in her hand to give color to the theory of suicide.

The announcement that a terrible murder had been committed caused much excitement in the town and a crowd soon gathered about the house in Lewis street, the scene of the tragedy. There had not been so much excitement over the commission of a crime since the mysterious murder of the young woman several years ago.

Mrs. Riley, who was 50 years of age, was housekeeper for Mr. Greene, her brother-in-law. The latter told the police that when he left home in the morning Mrs. Riley seemed to be in her usual health and spirits. He did not know of her having any cause to commit suicide. Nor did he know of any motive for murdering her except for robbery. As far as known nothing is missing from the house, which adds to the mystery.

A NEWARK HORROR.

The Mutilated Body of a Woman Found in a Garden.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 27.—While a son of ex-Alderman Sandford, treasurer of the United States Express Company in New York, was walking in the garden which surrounds his house on Mount Prospect avenue, he found a barrel which emitted a fearful stench.

The barrel was found to contain the body of a female adult. The head was missing. It is believed that the body was placed in the barrel by medical students, as a portion of the bowels are missing.

The authorities are investigating the matter.

THE CHAUTAUQUANS.

The Seventeenth Annual Assembly a Greater Success Than Any Other.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The 17th Annual Assembly at Chautauqua is over. The last lecture has been delivered and the last meeting adjourned.

Financially and numerically Chautauqua has been a greater success than ever before. The number of visitors who have passed through the gates exceeded by far the attendance of any previous year, and the revenues from other sources also shows an increase.

Dr. Justin Bursts Another Gun.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—There was another trial of Dr. Justin's dynamite cartridge at Perryville. The first shot was successful, but the second blew the cannon into a thousand pieces, one big fragment being carried over the village a mile away. Although he has lost $20,000 by having two of his big guns blown into atoms, he still thinks his invention will make him rich. He claims this accident was due to a flaw in the steel. No one was injured.

Phillipsen Not the Murderer.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 27.—A report has reached here that Alexander Phillipsen of this city, who was a passenger on the steamer Normannia, had been detained at New York under the belief that he is Adolph Phillipsen, the murderer of Meyer, the man who was killed in Copenhagen some time ago, and whose body was shipped to New York in a cask by the murderer. The authorities here state that Adolph Phillipsen, the real murderer, is still in custody in this city.

The Rev. Mr. Ball Pays the Cost.

BUFFALO, Aug. 27.—The Rev. Dr. Ball, plaintiff in the celebrated libel suit against the New York "Evening Post," growing out of the Cleveland campaign of 1884, to-day called on the sheriff and paid the costs, amounting to $261.98. It will be remembered that on the trial the jury returned a verdict of no cause of action.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | x—4 |

Batteries—Welch and Murphy; Stein and Kittridge.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 1 | 3 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0—10 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—3 |

Batteries—Nichols and Ganzel; Heard and Wilson.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 3 | 0 | 0 | x—9 |
| Cleveland | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0—5 |

Batteries—Beatin and Zimmer; Vickery and Schriver.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 1 | 0 | x—3 |
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—0 |

Batteries—Daly and Lovett; Harrington and Rhines.

Players' League.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3—4 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—1 |

Batteries—Radbourne and Murphy; King and Farrell.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 2 | 1 | 4 | 1 | 0 | 7 | 0 | 2 | 0—17 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—3 |

Batteries—Weyhing, Murphy and Kinslow and Daily; Twitchell and Mack.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 4 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 5 | —12 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —1 |

Batteries—O'Day and Ewing; Maul and Quinn.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 5 | 0 | 2—15 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0—1 |

Batteries—Husted and Halloran; McGill and Brennan.

American Association.

AT ROCHESTER.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 7—11 |
| Athletic | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 1—8 |

Batteries—Barr and McGuire; Hughes and Baldwin.

Atlantic Association.

AT HARRISBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Harrisburg | 1 | 5 | 2 | 1 | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2—16 |
| Wilmington | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1—2 |

Batteries—Gamble and Gibson; Leper and Williams.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |
| Newark | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—O'Rourke and Townsend; Fitzgerald and Childs.

AT LEBANON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—4 |
| New Haven | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Smith and McCaffry; Horner and and Cahill.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1,692 | 1,700 |
| New York | 2,601 | 2,608 |
| Boston | 3,398 | 626 |
| Brooklyn | 642 | 1,936 |
| Totals | 8,331 | 6,870 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 68 | 35 | .660 | Chicago | 57 | 47 | .548 |
| Boston | 66 | 38 | .635 | N. York | 45 | 59 | .433 |
| Philadel. | 64 | 40 | .615 | Clevl'nd | 31 | 69 | .310 |
| Cincin'ti | 61 | 40 | .604 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 83 | .186 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 61 | 39 | .610 | Philadel. | 56 | 49 | .533 |
| Brookl'n | 63 | 44 | .589 | Pittsb'rg | 43 | 53 | .448 |
| N. York | 58 | 44 | .569 | Clev'l'nd | 41 | 58 | .414 |
| Chicago | 56 | 49 | .533 | Buffalo | 28 | 70 | .286 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loui'v'le | 62 | 33 | .653 | Col'mb's | 51 | 47 | .520 |
| St. Louis | 56 | 41 | .577 | Toledo | 50 | 44 | .532 |
| Athletic | 49 | 47 | .510 | Syracuse | 49 | 50 | .417 |
| Roch'st'r | 50 | 45 | .526 | Brookl'n | 37 | 72 | .273 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'more | 76 | 24 | .760 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | .447 |
| N. Hav'n | 63 | 25 | .728 | Harrisb'g | 38 | 50 | .302 |
| Newark | 51 | 43 | .543 | Wilm't'n | 33 | 62 | .262 |
| Lebanon | 41 | 41 | .500 | Hartford | 22 | 60 | .268 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Chicago vs. New York, at New York.
Cincinnati vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Boston, at Boston.
Cleveland vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Pittsburg vs. New York, at New York.
Cleveland vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Buffalo vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Chicago vs. Boston, at Boston.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

St. Louis vs. Baltimore, at Baltimore.
Toledo vs. Rochester, at Rochester.
Columbus vs. Athletics, at Philadelphia.
Louisville vs. Syracuse, at Syracuse.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled.

Good Templars in Session.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The New York State Grand Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, went in convention during the morning at Empire Hall. Just thirty years ago this order, which has since spread to all parts of the world, was first established in this city and in the very hall where the present session is being held. From a dozen Syracusans charted in Excelsior Lodge No. 5 the order has increased to more than 500,000.

To Close the Tariff Debate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. — The Senate unanimously agreed to the proposition submitted by Mr. Aldrich, limiting and fixing the time for consideration of the Tariff bill and voting on it. Under the terms of this proposition, general debate is to close September 3 and voting on the bill is to begin on September 9.

Texas Fever Coming East.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—A special from St. Louis says that five cattle afflicted with Texas fever were discovered among a train load which arrived from the West consigned to Boston. Under the law the inspectors are not able to condemn them, and the cattle will probably be sent forward to the East.

Commander Tobin Won the Prize.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 27.—The voting in the contest for the $1,000 sword offered by the Boston "Globe" to the most popular grand army man ended in a victory for Fire Commissioner and Past Commander Richard F. Tobin of this city, who received 1,493,286 votes in the total of 4,846,498 cast.

IRELAND'S SORROWS

Famine and Starvation Threatening the People.

GERMANY AND THE SOCIALISTS.

The Police Conditions Under Which Herr Bebel Addressed Berlin Workingmen.

An American Railway Started—To Steal Trick the Matterhorn—The Recent English Naval Manœuvres—Admiral Seymour's Eccentric Movements—Dockers' Demands Refused.

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—Speaking at a League meeting last night Mr. Timothy Healy, referring to the potato blight in Ireland, said that nothing stood between the people and starvation during the coming winter. The sufferers might not legally withhold rents, but the man who paid rent and left his family to starve was little better than an assassin. If it was found necessary to appeal to the Irish in America and Australia, the assitance thus obtained ought not to be shared by any man who had paid rent during the preceding twelve months.

HUMBUGGING THE SOCIALISTS.

The Tactics of Emperor William Towards German Socialists.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The fact that 7,000 Socialists were allowed to meet openly in Berlin, and that Herr Bebel was allowed to address them for two hours, is an indication of the relaxtion which, under the young Emperor William and since Prince Bismarck's fall, has been made in the administration of the anti-Socialist laws. The conclusion must not be arrived at too hastily, however, that an era of perfectly free speech has dawned upon Germany.

The fact is that a complete understanding existed in advance between Herr Bebel and the police as to what the substance of his address was to be; otherwise it was improbable that the meeting would have been allowed to take place at all.

The speech, accordingly, was a very moderate one, and it is being referred to with great complaisance by the government organs as proving the wisdom and farseeing statesmanship of the Emperor, who by a policy of leniency toward the Socialists and of solicitude for the welfare of the working classes has inspired even the arch Socialist Bebel to place confidence in the government's good intentions.

This is a trifle exaggerated, but it is near enough to the truth to pass well with the admirers of the Emperor. The meeting, after listening to Herr Bebel's address, resolved unanimously to defer all further meetings and all newspaper polemics until after the International Socialistic Congress, which meets at Halle in October.

THE NAVAL MANŒUVRES.

Admiral Seymour Still at Large—The Change in Naval Tactics.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, Admiral, having apparently demonstrated to his own satisfaction in the naval manœuvres just closed that he could, with his portion of the fleet, break the lines of the defending squadrons under Admiral Sir George Tryon, he put to sea, for the purpose it is believed of determining how long it would take his supposed foreign fleet to overhaul and disable the principal English merchant liners while the home fleet were recovering from the effects of their engagement with the enemy.

These manœuvres differed slightly from preceding events of the kind, in that they were largely devoted to ascertaining how far away from a coast the leviathans of modern naval construction can prudently conduct hostilities, in reasonable security from the torpedo boats with which nearly all the continental maritime powers are efficiently supplied.

In other words, England would prefer to draw her enemy out as far as possible to the open sea, having confidence to win a victory apart from the lurking dangers on an enemy's coast—danger to which the slow moving, coal consuming monsters of the fleet are especially liable.

These manœuvres are considered much more practical and sensible than the sham attacks on coast towns in Great Britain and Ireland which, while theatrically attractive, were but slight instruction to the sailors and were attended by a series of blunders.

Tourists Resent Proposed Comforts.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—The railway company which is making desperate efforts to secure from the Swiss government a right of way up the famous Matterhorn, is meeting with an equally earnest opposition from people who regard the proposal as one of desecration. Though the excuse for the railway is that it would accommodate tourists, the chief opposition to the scheme comes from that very class, who argue that the picturesqueness and healthfulness of Swiss travel would largely disappear with the advent of railways.

World Crop Estimates.

VIENNA, Aug. 27.—Yesterday the Corn Fair was opened with a good attendance. In the crop estimates for the world America is credited with 414,000,000 bushels of wheat and 1,600,000,000 bushels of maize, against 491,000,000 bushels of wheat and 2,113,000,000 bushels of maize in 1889. England is credited with an average yield.

New Governor Josiah Bellows Will Preside.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 27.—At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee Hon. Josiah Bellows was selected to preside at the coming State Convention.

THE BRICK BOYCOTT.

Hudson River Manufacturers Will Fill Existing Contracts in New York City.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Rumor was rife that a serious break had occurred in the brick manufacturers' "combine" and that a heated discussion had taken place between two of the leading Hudson River manufacturers—Mr. J. C. Rose, a member of the Rose Brick Co., and Mr. Whitbeck of New Windsor. The latter, it is alleged, accused the former of bad faith in signing the manufacturers' "combine" contract not to ship brick to New York during the attempt of the manufacturers to break the labor unions' control of the building industry of that city. A United Press reporter called on Mr. H. C. Rose, president of the Rose Brick Co. of Roxton, last evening, and the following statement was made by that gentleman: "The Rose Brick Co. signed the manufacturers' agreement to withhold brick made by that company from New York in order to help the manufacturers to break the walking delegation combination.

"Our company have contracts with Peck, Martin & Co., of New York, which we are bound to fill, notwithstanding the fact that we have signed the manufacturer's combine.

"We have shipped brick to New York since last Friday, the day set for the tie-up. We have a load on the river and will continue to ship as long as our contract with Peck, Martin & Co. exist. Our yearly output is about 40,000,000.

"In my opinion there are upwards of 100,000,000 bricks contracted for by New York firms which, I think, are to be shipped regardless of the combine contract.

"If Peck, Martin & Co. would release us from our contracts with them, and all other firms would do likewise with other manufacturers, we would be perfectly willing to shut up our yards in the interest of the boycott.

"I do not think other contractors of brick in New York will make this concession. I believe that several other manufacturers are shipping brick on their old contracts."

Mr. Rose wishes it distinctly understood, however, that his firm has not acted in bad faith with the combine, and claims that the agreement was signed by his father, with a proviso that all existing contracts were to be filled by his firm. Mr. Rose said further that he understood several manufacturers were holding their shipments back for a few days to help the New York market.

New Hampshire State Politics.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—A Concord, N. H., special to the Herald says: The subcommittee of the executive committee of the Republican State Committee held meetings here last night and this forenoon. Senator Chandler was present. It was announced by the secretary that the only business transacted was the selection of a chairman to preside at the State convention, and who, it was stated, would be Judge Josiah G. Bellows of Walpole. The meeting this morning was a continuation of that held under secret and mysterious conditions in Boston last week, and the fact that all details are withheld, and that so much time was required to arrive at a conclusion, indicate that the proceedings would be of interest if they were made public.

Cloakmakers' Strike Settled.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—The cloakmakers' strike, which has been in progress eighteen weeks, was declared off last night and the strikers resumed work to-day. The settlement was reached through the mediation of Rev. S. Morais, a Jewish Rabbi, and George Randosf, agent for the Baron Hirsch fund, and the association of Jewish immigrants. Less than 100 of the 400 original strikers are now here, the others having gone to Chicago and New York.

Must Tell Where He Bought Liquor.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 27. — In the application for a discharge of John M. Clayton from jail on the ground that the law is unconstitutional which punishes those who refuse to disclose where they purchase liquor, Judge Prentice decided against the petition. Counsel for Clayton appealed and the case goes to the Supreme Court to be heard in October.

Murder Trial Adjourned.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The trial of Colonel Wood for the murder of Leander Pasco was adjourned to September 2d.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.— For New England: Threatening weather and rain; slightly cooler; variable winds.

For Eastern New York and Eastern Pennsylvania: Rain; cooler, northerly winds becoming variable.

For New Jersey: Rain; cooler in northern, stationary temperature in southern portion; southerly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Threatening weather and rain; cooler; winds shifting to westerly.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 —Money on call to-day, 5 and 6 per cent:

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 107¾ | 107¾ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 108¼ | 108¼ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 124 | 125¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 124 | 125¾ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 82 | 82¾ |
| Central Pacific | | 60 |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 102 | 102¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | | 131¼ |
| Del. Lack. & Western | 143¼ | 144 |
| Erie | 29¼ | 30¼ |
| Erie pref | | |
| Lake Shore | 105¾ | 107¼ |
| Louis. & Nash | 87¼ | 88¼ |
| Michigan Central | | 96 |
| Missouri Pacific & Quincy | 70¾ | 71¾ |
| New Jersey Central | | |
| Northwestern | 108¾ | 109¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | | 80 |
| Pacific Mail | | 49½ |
| Reading | 41¼ | 42¾ |
| Rock Island | 94¾ | 96 |
| St. Paul | 70¾ | 71¼ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh, move the freight house!

—"Bob White" calls from nearly every field, making glad the heart of every sportsman with the prospect of full game bags in the frosty November days.

—The Saratoga News is of the opinion that "besides ozone, all other desirable things for health and comfort are to be found at Hotel Netherwood, not forgetting the best of good comradeship."

—The Elizabeth Journal in speaking of the ball game between the Alerts of that city and the Westfield team, praises particularly the playing of McLaughlin of the latter, who is an ex-member of the Crescents.

—George F. White, insurance broker, has handed to E. J. Waring, of Myrtle avenue, a check for $436, the full amount of insurance claimed by Mr. Waring on the loss of his barn by fire last week Thursday.

—The New Brunswick Home News says that the Unions are sure now that they can beat the Crescents, because they have gained a victory over the West Ends. But the West Ends haven't defeated the Crescents, and won't, this season.

—Farmers who have suffered at the hands of poultry thieves are taking advantage of the new law making it a penal offense to steal fowls, and are having the offenders arrested. The penalty is $100 fine, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years.

—Apollinaris water and Belfast ginger ale are specialties at Demarest, the grocer's. So also are specialties, the choicest creamery butter, sugar cured hams, all the delicacies known in the way of imported canned goods and a full stock always of vegetables and fruits in season.

—Chief Doane and his two assistants were on duty at Music Hall, last evening, from the time the first of the unusual crowd arrived until the last left. He refused to permit a camp stool to be used in any part of the house, although all sorts of prices for the privilege were offered by the unfortunate ones who could buy standing room only.

B. B. Newton Disappears Again.

Benjamin B. Newton, who was formerly the Superintendent of Transportation of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, with his home in Plainfield, and who of late has been confined in the Retreat for the Insane at Merchantville, escaped Sunday from the house of Theodore Evans, 748 North Twentieth street, Phila., and has since failed to return.

He had been brought from the asylum by an attendant to visit a friend who was stopping with the Evanses. While the attendant was absent he walked out of the house.

No fear is entertained by his friends of his failing to return. They say that he has gone away before, but, after looking around, always returned. The story that he intended committing suicide they stigmatized as absolutely false, as he has no such mania.

An Abused Wife Seeks Redress.

Mary O'Donnell, of West Front street, Evona, appeared before City Judge Codington this morning, to testify concerning the misconduct of her husband, Patrick, and a boarder, John Hewson. The two men had been drinking, she said, and when she reprimanded them had used bad language to her. They gave her such violent verbal abuse that she had them arrested. Hewson pleaded guilty and was fined $5. O'Donnell was still impertinent towards his better half, and impolitely intimated that her story was false. He was adjudged guilty, nevertheless, and was fined $10. The two prisoners were so independent about paying the fines that they were promptly sent to jail.

New York Talking About Them.

(From the New York Evening Post.)

The base ball team of the Plainfield Crescent League will go to Norwich, Ct., to compete with the crack nine of that city, Wednesday. The Crescents have lost but two out of nineteen games this season, and have defeated the Star Athletics of Newark, the Acmes of New York, the Columbia College team, the Rutgers College team, the Lees and Vernons of Brooklyn, the Flushings of Long Island, the Monroes of New York, the Unions of New Brunswick, the Hackett-Carharts of New York, the Greenpoints of Long Island, the Allertons of New York, the Gorhams of New York, and the Metropolitans.

THREATENED BY "WHITE CAPS, NO. 9."

A Member of the First Church of Christ, Who Has Been a Citizen Here for Seventeen Years, Accused of a Scandalous Charge.

Edward Wilson, who has been a resident of this city since 1873, and now lives with his wife and children in Hetfield row, Arlington avenue, received in yesterday afternoon's mail a letter signed "White Caps No. 9, First warning." The letter accused him of a scandalous neglect of his wife and threatened him with bodily injury. The letter also said: "You are playing ball in two yards."

Mr. Wilson was seen by a PRESS reporter, and said he was ready any moment to meet the charges brought against him and to vindicate himself and all concerned. He was also ready to meet the "White Caps." The scandal, he said, was started by a lot of gossips and enemies. It coupled his name and affections with a married woman who is an intimate friend of his wife's. When the talk first spread, he demanded an investigation by a committee of his fellow members in the First Church of Christ of which the Rev. Mr. Cleaver is pastor.

He, and his wife, and the "other lady" testified before the committee, and an entire vindication, he says, resulted. Wilson says the "other lady's" husband told him he was convinced of his wife's innocence or Wilson would have heard from him. It was supposed that the vindication of the church committee had smothered the scandal, and Wilson is at a loss to know why it is started again. He says that while a collector for a weekly payment insurance company, he has called regularly at the "other lady's" house when her husband has been away. But such call was strictly on business to collect the insurance assessments.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. W. R. Moore, of New street, is home from Boston.

Alex. Muir, of West Fourth street, is visiting at Jersey City Heights.

Wm. T. Newman of West Second street, is spending a few days in Brooklyn and Newburg.

Edward VanWinkle and wife of Elm place, and Miss Susie VanWinkle of Park avenue, have gone for a two weeks' trip to the Catskills.

Mrs. J. G. Foster and Mrs. F. H. Andrews, of Plainfield, are recorded among the new arrivals at Hotel Earlington, Richfield Springs.

W. A. Coddington left town today for a two weeks' visit to Clearfield, Pa., to settle up the Irvin estate, of which O. G. Irvin, of Plainfield, is the sole surviving heir.

J. W. VanHorn, of Duer street, has been enjoying outdoor life at White House. He went on several fishing trips, and his patience and perseverance were rewarded with excellent catches.

Gershom Frazee's many friends of both parties, who can't help admiring him for his earnest devotion to the Republicans through thick and thin, without reward, for years, will be glad to learn that at last his faithfulness has received recognition in the shape of an appointment in the New York custom house. His hours are from 9 to 4, and he never has to take his coat off. A PRESS reporter asked him what he was doing, and he replied, "obeying orders." He was asked what he got, and he said, "ain't got nothing yet!"

Three Great Games.

The Alerts of Elizabeth who play the Crescent League team here next Monday morning, defeated the Westfield team last Saturday; and the Westfield's think they can beat the Crescents.

The batting order of the Ridgewoods who will play the Crescent League team again on Monday afternoon next, is the same as it was the day the Ridgewoods defeated the Crescents, August 2.

As the Crescent League team defeated the colored Gorhams who are the only rivals of the colored Cuban Giants,, the latter will send its strongest team here Saturday to win. The batting order of the visitors will be: Boyd, center field; Bell, second base; Woods, third base; B. Jackson, catcher; Garrison, short stop, W. Jackson, first base; Cath, right field; Nelson, left field; Douglass, pitcher; Jupiter, extra man and pitcher.

The Freight House Nuisance Even Talked of in Newark.

(From the Newark Advertiser.)

Plainfield residents complain of the Central Railroad freight yards, which shut off all approach from one side of the track, and compel the greater part of the Plainfield traveling public to make a circuit under the Park avenue and Broadway bridges, which, to early morning commuters especially, means a considerable loss of time. The tendency is, the citizens claim, to develop North Plainfield, which is on the passenger station side of the track, and to obstruct development in Plainfield.

His Leg Crushed by Heavy Timber.

Joseph Hoarhound, a North avenue carpenter, was at work on W. P. Smith's new house at Netherwood, yesterday, passing lumber up to the floor above, when a heavy timber fell and struck him on the leg. Despite the pain caused by the injury, he continued to work until noon, when he began to suffer so intensely that his fellow-workman had to take him home. His leg from the knee down is swollen, black and blue, and it is feared that his ankle is sprained.

SUPT. OLHAUSEN'S PROMISE.

The Movement of THE PRESS and the People for the Movement of the Freight House.

(From the DAILY PRESS of Nov. 21, 1889.)

The following correspondence explains itself, and will be welcome news, so far as it goes, to the people:

Mr. J. H. Olhausen, Gen'l Supt., Central Railroad of New Jersey:

DEAR SIR:—The people of Plainfield are all very earnest about having the unsightly freight house with its inconvenient yard, moved from the centre of the city. It is now an eyesore and a nuisance.

Residents South of the station are compelled to travel far out of the way in order to get around it; the drilling cars are a menace to life; the noise of the live stock and whistling of the shifting engines, make night hideous; and the odors of large consignments of fertilizers, gasolene and other aromatic necessities, spread themselves for blocks to the windward.

Now that you have taken the outside tracks for the running of freight and coal trains, they must be kept clear, and, in consequence, there is but one track left from which to unload the fifty odd cars a day billed to Plainfield.

Come up and see just how inconvenient to your freight receivers, and objectionable to your resident passengers, is the old house and its old yard.

Very truly yours,
THE DAILY PRESS.

C. R. R. CO. OF N. J.,
OFFICE OF GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT.
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 19, 1889.

Mr. J. A. Demarest, Plainfield, N. J.:

DEAR SIR:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of Oct. 28, and desire to say that the matter will receive attention at my hands. It is a question, however, where a more central location with less interference to our patrons who desire to receive and deliver freight, could be secured.

Yours truly,
J. H. OLHAUSEN,
Gen'l Supt.

[The present situation of the freight house is no more convenient to all, and not so convenient to most others, as many more available places out of sight, smell and hearing. There is no necessity for a "central location" for the delivery of freight. It is all carted to and from the yard. So because a few trucks may have to drive a block or two further than now, is no reason that the people South of the tracks should be compelled to tramp all around town to get to the station or home again.—ED.]

Twelve Hundred People Enjoy Thatcher's Minstrels.

The largest audience Music Hall ever held was present last evening and made the chandelier and windows rattle with the welcome they gave Thatcher and Marble, and the appreciation they bestowed upon the whole show. Thatcher's minstrel company is the best in all its parts upon the road today.

The opening included the usual vocal and conversational parts, with the addition of a very pleasing number not down on the programme. Edward Marble was presented by his friends in the Crescent League with a handsome, gold-mounted, alligator-skin traveling and toilet bag. It contained every requisite from razor to whisk broom, and all its bottles and boxes were of the finest cut glass and gold. Remembering the old superstition that a rabbit's foot brings good luck to the possessor, Marble's friends put a whole rabbit in their gift to him. John M. Crane made the presentation, which the recipient accepted in as happy a speech as his surprise would permit. Thatcher received a basket of roses almost as high as himself.

Of the solos in the opening, Jose's was the best and he was accorded a double encore. The other singing people equal any in the business today. The accompaniments were well worked up, and the organ part is a great addition. The act and eccentric dancing that John Coleman gave as an encore, is one of the freshest and best in its line that has been done in years.

Thatcher himself was well received by his fellow citizens down stairs, but he has never pleased the gallery since he used to play the school boy and get right down and make a fool of himself. He is too cultured for the masses now—at least in one-night towns. He is better appreciated in big cities. Cinquivalli is great. You have seen lots of jugglers but there is only one Cinquivalli. His act was by far the best in the olio.

Sending Two Thousand Miles For Plainfield Candy.

The following letter from five Plainfield young men to Barnes the confectioner, shows how they starve for good things away from home:

BELKNAP, YOUNG CO., TEXAS, Aug. 20, 1890.

DEAR MR. BARNES:—Please find enclosed a check, which we fellows who make up the Plainfield contingent here, would like you to invest in candy for us, reserving enough to pay the postage on the same to us. We all agree that we haven't had a decent bit of candy since we left Plainfield and after living on bacon and biscuits ever since we have been here, we think we can appreciate a good article of candy.

Trusting that we may have a reply from you soon, we remain your sincere friends

WM. D. CRAIG,
A. ORITZ,
D. H. FRENCH,
G. W. STEINER,
G. H. CRAIG.

Plainfield Knights to Participate.

Thursday, September 4, will be a gala day at Asbury Park, on the occasion of Templar Field Day, when the Grand and subordinate Commanderies o he Knights Templar of the State will join in a general parade, inspection and review. A number of the Sir Knights of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., of this city, will join with St. John's Commandery, No. 9, of Elizabeth, and participate in the exercises. A special train will leave Elizabeth on the Pennsylvania Railroad at 9 A. M., accompanied by Drake's Band. Tickets will be one dollar; children, half price.

A "New Street" in Plainfield.

Transfers of real estate in this city were recorded yesterday as follows:

Mary R. Loomis and husband, of North Plainfield, to Clarence J. Rice and Robert W. Rice, of North Plainfield, lot near Elm place, Plainfield, 40x99 feet, $40.

Clarence J. Rice, Robert W. Rice and Ruth H. Rice, his wife, all of Plainfield, to John H. Kitchen, of New Market, land on a new street in Plainfield, 125 feet Northeast from Elm place, 45x175 feet, $2,250.

The Democratic Meeting Postponed.

The big Democratic meeting which was to have been held at Asbury Park, Sept. 5, has been postponed until Oct. 6.

United States Senator McPherson has written to W. S. McKean, Secretary of the New Jersey State Democratic Association, that the debate on the Tariff bill will last until September 10, and that the Senators and Representatives who are expected to speak at the Park will not leave Washington until that question is settled.

Beware of This Insurance Collector.

The manager of the Metropolitan Insurance company writes to John R. Naylor, Assistant Superintendent here, as follows: A sharper has been around Elizabeth and New Brunswick representing himself as from home office, and collecting premiums. Be on lookout for him. He is about 5 ft. 8 in.; stout, good appearing man; heavy sandy moustache, gray clothes, white straw hat, with black band. Might better get a reporter to put an item in papers warning people from paying strangers.

New Market's Registry Board.

The appointment of a Board of Registry for Polling District No. 1, Piscataway, has been made and comprises, John Nelson and Berthune Dunham, Democrats; and John M. Dayton and Josiah Maitland, Republicans.

Is it not to some extent your own fault that your children seek recreation outside of the family circle? Why not furnish them amusement at home? Why not treat them at home to a safe, delightful and wholesome beverage, such as you can easily have made from Hires' Root Beer Packages?

Raiding Jersey "Drug Stores."

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug., 27.—The authorities made another raid, arresting E. R. Burdick, proprietor of a pharmacy, and W. R. Dill, owner of the St. James Cottage, charged with illegal liquor selling. Burdick was held in $250 and Dill in $500 to await the action of the grand jury. This is Dill's second offense. In all ten persons have been arrested within a fortnight.

REMARKABLE TO RELATE.

The number of blind people in the world is set down at 1,000,000.

THERE are about half a million bicycles and tricycles turning in Great Britain.

FEW ladies consider that they carry some forty or fifty miles of hair on their head; the fair-haired may even have to dress seventy miles of threads of gold every morning.

MR. RILA KITTRIDGE, said to be the champion microscopic postal-card writer in the world, has succeeded in writing the President's last message, consisting of 10,000 words, on a postal card.

A METHOD of transmitting sketches by telegraph has been devised. The fugitive from justice will now find his path strewn with obstacles, for his portrait can be sent to any number of points along his line of travel.

A MASS of pure, compact rock salt, said to contain 90,000,000 tons of the mineral, is located on an island 185 feet high which rises from a sea marsh on the route from Brashear to New Iberia, up the river Teche, in Louisiana.

MRS. AMBROSE CROUCH, of South Jackson, Mich., has been keeping tab on her family, and finds that during the past year she has baked for them 2,368 cookies, 1,988 doughnuts, 217 cakes, 267 pies, 81 puddings, and 793 loaves of bread. Her family is not large, either, except as to appetite.

IT may be a surprise to many to learn that statistics prove the sea to be safer to live on than land. The death rate of sailors in the British merchant marine is under twelve per thousand; the loss of life by shipwreck is about a quarter of this; in fact, there are more lives lost among miners from accident than among sailors, and many more among railway employes.

AN old farmer and hunter on Robinson fork, of Buffalo river, Nicholas County, W. Va., with his nephew, while hunting in the mountain forests a few days ago, came on the trail of a pack of wolves. The men traced the animals to a den in the rocks. They followed the brutes into the cave and captured seven young wolves. The men realized one hundred and forty dollars for their capture.

AT Athens, Ga., a man on his way home saw a dog running toward him through the darkness at full speed. Surmising that the dog was mad, the man climbed up a tree and remained there the rest of the night, with the dog standing guard below. When daylight came the man discovered that the dog was his own. Slowly and softly he began to descend, and the truth was rapidly dawning in his mind.

GROWING near the baths of Allias, in the canton of Vaud, Switzerland, 4,500 feet above the level of the sea, stands the most remarkable tree in the world. The trunk of the tree is a little over thirty feet at the base. At about two yards above the ground it puts out on the south side seven offshoots. Bent and gnarled at the bottom, these side trunks soon straighten themselves up and rise perpendicular and parallel to the main stem. Another most curious fact is that the two largest of the side trunks are connected with the principal stem by sub-quadrangular braces resembling girders. The places where the side girders enter the main trunk of the tree are so smoothly barked over as to make it impossible to ascertain the manner in which nature formed the remarkable union.

Recaptured By Boys.

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 27.—William MacDonald, a convicted horse thief, escaped from custody yesterday morning while awaiting removal hence to State prison. He was pursued by deputy sheriffs and officers, but could not be found. Later in the day Earnest Burkson, the page at the Court House, and other boys saw him and chased him into a deserted house, where one of the boys fired several blank cartridges at him from a toy pistol, whereupon the fellow gave himself up. A carriage was obtained and MacDonald was returned to jail by the triumphant youngsters.

A Business-like Offer.

For many years the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have offered, in good faith, $500 reward for a case of Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists at only 50 cents. This wonderful remedy has fairly attained a world-wide reputation. If you have dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; if the eyes are weak, watery and inflamed; if there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice being changed and has a nasal twang; the breath offensive; smell and taste impaired; sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility, you are suffering from nasal catarrh. The more complicated your disease, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive or dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians.

CLAIRVOYANT

Mrs. DR. EDWARDS,

By request of her many former patrons, has returned again to Plainfield; can only remain a few weeks, from

August 26 to September 10.

Call at once, as this is positively your last chance.

Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Ladies 50c to $1. Gentlemen, $1.

Can be consulted at the City Hotel, Room 4, (one flight up) Plainfield, N. J. 8 27 tf

SECOND ANNUAL EXCURSION
OF THE
Grocers' Protective Association,
Of Plainfield, N. J., to
BOYNTON BEACH,
On LABOR DAY,
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.
Train leaves Plainfield 8 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.
Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. 8 22 5

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1 4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 25½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.
E. R. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

HELP wanted: Protestant girl for general housework, two in family. Call at 7 First place to-morrow afternoon.

LOST—Bicycle tools and bag. Suitable reward, 35 West Fourth street.

LARGE pleasant rooms; good table board. Jacob Tingley, 35 West Fourth street.

TO LET—House 7 rooms, on Pearl street; pump in kitchen. Apply to J. Leonard, 11 West 6th street. 8 27 4

GIRL wanted to do general housework. Apply 33 Willow avenue. 8 26 3

STOUT boy wanted to make himself generally useful. Must be able to assist in milking. Apply at PRESS office. 8 25 tf

TO LET—Part of a house. Inquire at 33 Madison avenue. 8 25 tf

NICELY furnished rooms, with board, at 29 West Front street. 8 25 4

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with Jones & Co. 6-11-tf

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced.
Apollinaris Water: pints, $1.50, quarts, $2 dozen; Belfast Ginger Ale, $1.40 dozen.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. F. M. DEMAREST,
25 PARK AVENUE. 2-4-t

MOY.
8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S
EXPRESS.
OFFICE—39 North Avenue,
Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.
Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 5-6-y

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 2-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY.
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 5-25-y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING,
Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,
NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE.
OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
45 North Avenue,
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting. 2-25-tf

Ass'gnee's Notice to Creditors.

Notice is hereby given to the creditors of Andrew L. Carney and John H. Carney, partners as Carney Bros., plumbers and tinners, at No. 9 Somerset street, in the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, that all claims against the estate of said firm must be exhibited to the subscriber, their assignee, at his office No. 34 West Front street in said city of Plainfield, under oath or affirmation, on or before the second day of September next, being three months from the date of the assignment, or be forever barred from coming in for a dividend of the estate; and the said creditors are further notified that a list of the claims against the said Andrew L. Carney and John Carney, partners as Carney Bros., will be filed with the Clerk of Common Pleas of Union county, at the expiration of said three months, when exceptions thereto may be filed by any person interested.
Dated July 18, 1890.
WM. M STILLMAN,
Assignee.
7-23 30-5-6 13 20 27

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 58.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave.
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-8-t

PECK'S CORNER.
Choice Can't Go Wrong!
WHERE ALL IS OF
THE CHOICEST!
COME TO PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS.
CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST.
10-25-tf

BARGAINS!
To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!
Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:
GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.
GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.
CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.
GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.
TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.
FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.
—SELLING OUT CHEAP!—
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.
1-9-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters.
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. Points worth considering:
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,
A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And
Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

SOME DEAD LETTERS.

A Few of the Funny Freaks With Which the People Puzzle the Postmen.

From time to time there turns up in the Plainfield postoffice, and is advertised in THE PRESS, a letter which perplexes even our astute officials and the address of which it is altogether impossible for them to decipher. These curiosities are displayed for a time in the case by the door and then, if still unclaimed, are sent to the Dead Letter Office at Washington where the government experts have a try at the address and if they also fail to make it out, the envelope is opened and the missive returned to the sender. Some of the addresses they run against there in the Dead Letter Office are very funny in their way and are certainly worth reproduction. A Washington Parker during a recent visit to Washington, selected a few as follows:

One little envelope bears the following inscription in a scrawling, childish hand:

To Dear Santa Claus.

Another which may or may not have been intended as a joke aimed at "little Benjamin our ruler" calls for

The Emperor of the United States and Canada.

Then there is a funny one which was delivered to a little Indian girl away out West. It is addressed to Miss LookAfterWhiteCow, Pine Ridge Agency, Dakota.

Another which easily takes first place for being explicit and definite was posted to August Selberg, Europe.

And the funniest part of this is that August Selberg was finally found in Weehawken, N. J., and got his letter after all. An intelligent man has addressed an envelope to

The oldest son of the biggest proprietor of the largest store in Crescent Mills, Plumas Co., Cal.

One still more unique is inscribed:

Postmaster:—please to inquire of a colored gentleman the name of Mack Henry Hilliard, New York.

Another, presumably for a pretty Philadelphia girl, is looking for Miss Kate:—a girl about 16 years of age, some gold in 1 of her front upper teeth, who suddenly left her boarding house on Cherry st. Philadelphia, about Sept 1, 1885.

There is also to be seen a postal card whose owner has never been found and which discloses a family history worth repeating. It is unsigned and written in big upper case letters as if the work of some small boy who is evidently an undiscovered humorist of no mean ability. Here it is:

Dear Percy:

Mary and the Cow Russell and the Pups Lizzie and the Cats are all well. Eddie has gone West and his Girl will have a rest. Willie is fat and hungry. Henry is still crying. Catherine is very busy with her squirmy children. Tell Mama to buy you some caps for your pistol.

A Plainfield Horse in the Race.

There will be great sport at Waverley on Labor Day, Monday, September 1. The fun will be fast and furious. Rob Roy, bay pacing stallion, owned in Elizabeth, and the gray pacing mare, Nancy, owned in the same city, have been matched. The match is for $250 a side. The old rivals, David L. and Billy Button, will have another set-to for an amount of money which will remunerate the winner, who will pocket it all. The programme in full is as follows:

PACERS $250 A SIDE.

P. Sheridan, Elizabeth, N. J., b. s. Rob Roy.

T. Drum, Elizabeth, N. J., gr. m. Nancy.

2:40 CLASS, PURSE $200.

J. H. Fisher, Plainfield, N. J., b. c. Frank F.

E. M. Lockwood, Freehold, N. J., b. m. Uvilla.

Dr. Dolphin, Harrison, N. J., br. m. Scotland Maid.

John Creighton, Harrison, N. J., b. m. May H.

C. Bassini, Irvington, N. J., ch. m. Addie May.

Harry Eck, Flemington, N. J., ch. m. Indianola.

I. H. Robbins, Newark, N. J., b. g. Fred Sigfried.

B. Gurannetti, Newark, N. J., b. g. Karny Boy.

T. Bailey, Newark, N. J., br. g. Michael O'Hara.

SPECIAL 2:18 CLASS, $250.

John O. Stearns, Elizabeth, N. J., ch. g. Billy Button.

J. C. Shaw, Finderne, N. J., blk. g. David L.

Claim Borough Justice is Unjust.

Jacob Hoppel, of North Plainfield, whose wife was sentenced by Justice Hardy Sunday to thirty days' imprisonment in the county jail for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, claims that Mrs. Hoppel has been most unjustly treated, and has secured a Somerville lawyer to institute proceeding for redress. He says that Mrs. Hoppel was grossly abused by Henry Thomas, the landlord, and that it was only when incensed by repeated attacks that she began to talk in an objectionable way. Marshal Rutledge, he adds, was unnecessarily rough in handling Mrs. Hoppel when she was a prisoner, and a sprained ankle and a severely bruised knee, which Dr. A. L. Stillwell of Somerville, is treating, he attributes to the Marshal's abusive treatment. Mrs. Hoppel says that the reason she yelled so Saturday night was because she was wild with thirst owing to the Marshal's refusing to give her a glass of water. The cell in which she was confined, she adds, was unnecessarily unclean. But what the Hoppels most protest against is their treatment at Justice Hardy's hands. They say that he refused to give Mrs. Hoppel a fair trial, with opportunity to procure witnesses. All of these things the Borough authorities deny.

THE OYSTER SEASON IN PLAINFIELD.

Pleasant News for Local Epicures—The Bivalve of Excellent Quality, and a Good Supply Promised.

About September 1, the oyster will emerge from its Summer seclusion, and while this may not be a very pleasant bit of news for the oyster, it will be for a large proportion of the people of Plainfield. The outlook for the oyster trade during the coming season is excellent, according to the opinion of the dealers. While there is a slight difference of opinion in regard to the quantity, there is none as to the quality of the oysters that will be brought to market. One old oyster dealer, who had been over the beds, says that the prospects had not been so good for five years. All are agreed that the better kinds of oysters will be fairly plentiful and of excellent quality. Blue Points, Rockaway, and Sound oysters, will be more plentiful than last Winter, but the prices will be no lower, on account of the superior quality of the bivalves.

At present and until about the middle of October the principal kinds of oysters served to Plainfielders will be those obtained from Keyport and places off Staten Island, though all the other kinds will begin to come to market in a few days The Keyport oysters have been brought from Virginia waters and transplanted. They are said to be of a good quality, especially those that have been moved from mud to sand beds.

The favorite oyster for the Winter trade is perhaps the Blue Point. One dealer, who brings many of these oysters to market during the Fall and Winter season, says that the prospects for a good season are excellent. The Blue Points, which are obtained in Great South Bay and off Oakdale, are plentiful and of very good quality. The East River oysters, it is said, have not spawned during the last three years; but, while the dealers predict high prices for seed oysters, and a scarcity in East River oysters another year, they say that there will be a fair supply this Fall and Winter.

The Rockaways that come from Jamaica Bay, while not so plentiful as some other kinds, are of good quality. Comparatively few of the large Shrewsbury oysters obtained from the New Jersey rivers are brought to this city, but those that are brought are of fine flavor.

The sea cabbage that has destroyed so many of the Long Island Sound oysters, has done little or no damage in waters farther South.

Politics Begin to Brew.

(From today's New York World.)

In the Second Assembly District of New Jersey the Democrats are rather at sea as to whom to select on account of Assemblyman Marsh, the present representative, being in the field for the Senatorial nomination. Should Mr. Marsh by any means fail to be nominated, a contingency not likely to happen, he would undoubtedly be the choice of his party for another term in the Legislature. As Mr. Marsh seems slated to go up higher, his constituents will have to turn their thoughts to somebody else to fill his place.

Freeholder George W. Doty, of Union, who is mentioned in connection with the Shrievalty, might, in the event of that office going to Plainfield, be induced to accept the Assembly nomination in the Second District. Freeholder Doty is well liked and would make a strong and acceptable candidate. His name at present is the only one that is hinted at, although ex-Freeholder Oliver, if he could be persuaded to become an aspirant, would, if nominated, sweep the district like a cyclone. The Second ordinarily is good for 450 Democratic majority if the right man is selected, but it is the belief that the Democrats will make a blunder and choose a weak man to succeed Marsh that encourages the Republicans to think that a strong nominee on their side, supplied with an abundance of the needful, will have more than a fighting chance to carry the district. The Third District is hopelessly Republican, and ex-Assemblyman William Chamberlain, of Rahway, would likely be the party nominee, unless Judge Ulrich, of Plainfield, should want a fourth term, in which event, as the Judge is strong with the railroad interests, the Rahwayian in all probability would have to take a back seat. The indications, however, are that Judge Ulrich will not be a candidate.

Silver In Plainfield's "Western and Unsettled Part."

The following has been clipped by the Jersey City Sunday Morning News, from an unidentified exchange; and published under the heading of State notes:

About three months ago it became known that a party of men had conceived the idea that silver could be found in the extreme Western and unsettled part of Plainfield. They commenced to dig for that metal, but met with poor success. A few days ago, however, they reached a depth of over forty feet, and they claim to have struck the richest veins ever discovered in New Jersey. Friday afternoon two wealthy-looking gentlemen were around town asking all sorts of curious questions regarding the silver find. Real estate men are led to believe that they are representatives of an English syndicate who wish to buy up these unsettled lands and bore for the alleged silver.

Sir Knights Attention.

Eminent Sir, William H. Meeker, Past Commander of St. Johns' Commandery, K. T., of Elizabeth, will drill the members of that Commandery and Trinity Commandery, of Plainfield, at Elizabeth, tomorrow evening, preparatory to their grand excursion to Asbury Park on the following Thursday, at which time 5,000 Sir Knights are expected to be in line.

THEY LEARN SWIFTLY

In America It Takes But One Generation to Make a Lady.

A Circumstance That Astonishes Foreigners from All Countries—The West Is the Best Field for Marvelous Evolutions of a Social Nature.

Foreigners are never tired of commenting on the extraordinary adaptability of the American female, says the New York Tribune. This was one of the most remarkable of the many remarkable things noted by the loquacious Mrs. Kendal on her recent tour here. It was to her a source of perpetual surprise. Ladies were introduced to her of the most exquisite refinement and polish, well mannered, well dressed, up in the latest literary and artistic fads, capable of entertaining in the most attractive and elaborate fashion, of whom it was said that their mother was a laundress and that they themselves with those same lily hands which could so cleverly manipulate the guitar strings, were wont to carry around the clean linen.

This to Mrs. Kendal and all other English people is incomprehensible. Over there the saying goes that it takes three generations to make a lady or gentleman. The son of the successful brewer or soap-maker, given the best education money can get, shows the trail of the serpent up to his death. But his son, mixing from his youth in good society, marrying a lady of culture always, and generally of title, surrounded from his babyhood with the luxuries and refinements of wealth, becomes the first gentleman in the family and founds a race that improves with every generation.

Such changes are always accomplished here with lightning speed. And though a good many successful ones are made in the East, the marvelous, astounding, miraculous evolutions of this sort take place in the West. The way the Western ugly ducklings turn into swans is enough to astound their own parents. Every new term Washington sees an influx of Western Senators, with large-waisted wives and long-legged, gawky daughters, still in the hobbledehoy stage of pigtails and back combs. In two years' time those ducklings will have become the most lovely swans, with shining plumage and movements full of graceful ease, who glide along the waters of society to the admiration of all impecunious male Europe.

The further West you go the more pronounced does this facility for unlimited self-improvement grow. California is its home. Meet a Californian and he will immediately begin to tell you with pardonable pride of the lowly beginnings of women as queenly and self-possessed as the daughters of a hundred Earls. This one was born in a windowless cabin at Marysville; that one ran barefoot through the streets of Virginia till she was ten years old. A girl looking like a young Duchess and dressed by Felix used to take her father his lunch every day in a tin dinner pail. Marie Burroughs, the actress, they will tell you, was born in a one-room log house situated somewhere near the main shaft of the Con. Virginia.

The Californian, while expatiating on these advantages of his native State, took as an example a girl who he said lived on a ranch somewhere in the Santa Clara valley.

"It was an immense place," he said, "hundreds of acres, and in the morning when you look out of the window you seem to be looking at a sea of yellow grain, sprinkled with the dark, round live oaks, and at interminable miles of fruit trees. The house was nothing but a barn. The father and mother were two Irish people, such as you can see any day at Castle Garden, the man in a flat derby hat, carrying a green bundle on the end of a stick, the woman with a handkerchief knotted round her head and a big, red baby tucked under her arm. There were eight or nine children, who ran about barefoot and half clad, and were simply little savages. The eldest, a girl of eleven, was as wild as an Indian. They had dinner in the middle of the day, twelve sitting around a big table, no cloth, no glass, no silver, no servant. On the middle of the table was one huge steak, and off this chunks were cut and handed round to the children on plates an inch thick, with a potato and a wedge of bread.

"In the course of the next six years the land increased enormously in value. The father found himself a millionaire, and began to educate the children. He moved into town and built a house. Last year I was down there and saw the eldest daughter. She was driving around in a sort of phaeton—a fine turnout, beautiful horse, beautiful carriage, and, above all, beautiful girl. She was perfectly dressed and perfectly handsome, and every one who knew her said she was as clever as she was pretty. She played on half a dozen musical instruments, and had three or four foreign Princes at her feet. This was the girl that eight years before I had seen running round barefoot on a ranch, eating chunks of raw beefsteak and performing the Indian juggler feat with that ease which bespeaks long practice."

Something More Than Wealth.

Wealth and all that it implies can not be an efficient substitute for those higher tendencies which expand the mind while subduing the passions, which teach the inferiority of pursuits and desires bounded by the narrow space of physical existence, which lend to the doctrine of human brotherhood a meaning and a force it can not derive from mere philosophy, and which afford a compensation for the trials of circumstance and condition, in giving to those who follow them a contentment independent of fortune and a hope beyond the reach of human vicissitude.

How It's Done in Paris.

In Paris a young poet approached the table of a very much occupied editor and said: "I beg your pardon, Monsieur, but here are few verses which I —" "Very good; please to place them in the waste paper basket yourself, I am so busy!" replied the editor without casting a glance at the poet.

'TWAS JUST LOVELY.

A Lady's Narrative Turns Several Hardened Men Into Stone.

"Did you ever notice how 99 per cent. of our women use the words 'lovely,' and 'just lovely,' and 'just too lovely for any thing?'" remarked an observing lady to a Detroit Free Press man.

"As a woman what do you suggest as an improvement?"

"Oh, dear; I do not pose as a reformer! I presume our sex will keep on using any expression it chooses, regardless of criticism, for that's a little trait of ours, you know. But I do really think, now honestly, that this word 'lovely' should be superseded. To the average woman a landscape is 'just lovely;' a cow in the meadow, as a picturesque sight, is 'just lovely;' a dress is 'just too lovely for any thing;' a new hat, of course, is 'really lovely:' a social gathering is 'just lovely;' the cool breeze is 'just lovely;' the sunlight is 'just lovely;' the moonlight is 'just lovely;' the baby's new tooth is 'just too lovely for any thing;' the new set of false teeth is 'just lovely;' the music is 'just lovely;' silence is 'just lovely;' walking is 'just lovely;' riding is 'just lovely;' the new biscuit cutter is 'just lovely;' the steam threshing machine 'just lovely'—do you want any more? If you do I will tell you this: The other day I overheard a young woman telling about the funeral of a dear friend. She said: "Oh, Julia, Miss McTodd was laid out in a coffin that was just too lovely for any thing, with lovely silver-plated handles and lovely satin lining. On the lid of the coffin was a lovely wreath of roses, and the words 'Miss Mary Ann McToddy, R. I. P.' worked in purple immortelles, just too sweet and lovely for any thing. Deceased wore a lovely white dress and had her hair combed over her forehead in a lovely bang. Her complexion was lovely and white, and a lovely smile hovered lightly on her cheeks. It all seemed so real to me that I could not believe Mary Ann was dead. Then the lovely young minister came in and recited a lovely sermon, telling all about what a lovely life she had led. The hearse was large and lovely; and fourteen lovely hacks and ten carriages followed Mary Ann to the tomb. Oh! dear! it was such a lovely funeral; really, now, it was just too lovely for any thing. and I believe I could die happily if I knew I would have such a lovely turnout, for it was just too lovely for any thing!"

When the narrator had finished her story not a sound was to be heard in the room. The gentlemen present had turned to stone.

A DOUBLE-TAILED DOG.

Barnum's First Venture in the Show Business Not a Success.

P. T. Barnum had an itching for the show business at an early age. Of his first experience he writes:

The first inkling that I ever had of the coming show-man was when I was about fourteen years of age and clerk in a country store at Bethel. One of our neighbors, John Quigley, had made a journey up into Litchfield County, about thirty or forty miles, to visit his relatives. This was considered a long distance to travel in those days, especially in winter. On his return I asked him a variety of questions, desiring to know whether he had seen any thing new and interesting in that distant part of the State. He replied: "Yes, I saw something which struck me as very curious: I saw a dog of ordinary size, which had two natural tails, one about three feet long."

"By George," I replied; "that is a curiosity!" and the idea struck me at once that if I had such a dog I could exhibit him to profitable advantage. "Do you suppose I could buy him?"

"Why, yes," replied Quigley. "I have no doubt that $5 or $10 would buy him."

I became quite excited, and said that I would start for Litchfield the next morning. Quigley asked me to see him before I started, because he might think of something that would be advantageous for me to know. At 7:30 the next morning I mounted my horse, bound for Litchfield. It was very cold. I wore a warm woolen knit cap, a muffler round my neck and overcoat and thick boots. I rode up to Quigley's boarding-house and called him out.

"Well," said I, "John, I am off for Litchfield. I am determined to get that double-tailed dog. Have you any suggestion to make?"

"Yes," said Quigley, drawling his words as was natural to him, "I forgot to mention that the dog with two tails was just coming out of a tanyard, and one of the tails was a cow's tail, which he carried in his mouth."

My aspirations as a showman were, for the time being, utterly extinguished.

WELCOME THIEVES.

Why Merchants Do Not Object to Wealthy Kleptomaniacs.

"What do you do with kleptomaniacs?" a reporter of the Lewiston (Me.) Journal asked of a merchant.

"We send them bills for what they take when we know them. If they are strangers we act according to circumstances. A few days ago a lady was in the store with her daughter—a beautiful little girl of twelve years. The girl was seen slipping a roll of costly ribbon into her sachel. We spoke to the mother, who became indignant. She opened the sachel to convince us that we were mistaken, when it was found to contain three lace handkerchiefs, two pairs of gloves and the ribbon. All these articles had been appropriated."

"That was a plain case of stealing. What did you do?"

"Well, we took the things back and said nothing. We can't afford to arrest wealthy people and injure our trade by making enemies among our rich customers."

"You were speaking of sending out bills for stolen goods; are they ever paid?"

"Always, where the person is a kleptomaniac. We never have any trouble in that way. I have known of stores which kept a regular list of kleptomaniacs. Whenever they lost any thing they sent bills to all of them. As they all settled for the stolen goods, you can imagine that the business was quite a profitable one, can't you?"

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,

Proprietors of the

New Club Stables,

WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.

Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.

Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!

Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of

"Stanley in Africa."

(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)

This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.

The Wonderful Discoveries!

Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.

Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 28c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 80c Bag.

United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n,

Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,

29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of

SODA WATER

AT MILLER'S PHARMACY,

No. 210 East Front Street,

Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.

Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST

Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!

Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.

39 SOMERSET STREET.

Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.

We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.

A. W. RAND,

24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange

8 PARK AVENUE.

Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.

Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-tf

TRY OUR

Q'UEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.

HENRY LIEFKE

NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 5-24-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,

On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 5-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,

7 West Front Street,

Popular Dry Goods House.

Special Bargains This Week

300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.

30 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.

Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.

Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.

Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.

I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-28-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.

Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.

Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.

All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.

We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.

Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.

Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL

TO THE

BEST TRADE

IN

PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!

If You Want Selected Goods,

TELEPHONE TO

R. W. RICE & CO.,

Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in

Ladies Oxford Ties

AND

Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,

Everybody goes to

KENNY'S,

At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS

Gasolene Stoves,

Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,

Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.

A. M. GRIFFEN

13 East Front Street.

TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Base Ball

AND

Lawn Tennis Goods,

Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.

Joseph M. Harper,

No. 75 PARK AVENUE,

3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 8-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.

The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.

F. WESTPHAL & SON,

Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-5-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,

23 North Avenue,

A full line of

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY,

KINDLING WOOD.

Yard—Mountain Avenue.

P. O. Box 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-5-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,

Plain and Ornamental

SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.

Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 708, Plainfield, N. J.

New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,

Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year.

22 EAST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!

22c. Pound.

J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,

Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street. 1-18-tf

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,

That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3.00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.

Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.

Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.

ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.

H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.

ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,

CARPENTERS,

And General Jobbers.

SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.

Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK 6-3-tf

C. R. MUSCRAVE,

Carpenter and Builder,

66 W. FRONT STREET.

The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.

RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,

Carpenter and Builder.

RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,208. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET

Screens Fitted to Your Windows

For 15 cents per square foot.

At No. 30 Somerset Street.

Also JOBBING of all kinds.

HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. F. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 5-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

AMPHITHEATRE.

The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.

SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.

Madison Ave., 24th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.

SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.

EVERY NIGHT AT 8.

Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.

STRAUSS,

—AND HIS—

Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.

—ALSO—

TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."

250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.

Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.

The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for Home. 5-14

TIER'S

ICED CREAM!

In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.

8 Bank Place—East Front Street.

5-16-10-sept

--NO. 8--

PARK AVENUE,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

STAMPING!

PROMPTLY EXECUTED.

FANCY GOODS,

NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY

Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.

For particulars, address

Miss E. E. KENION, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,

25 East Fifth Street,

For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.

FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGES, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S

Kindergarten and School,

48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),

REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.

In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application. 8 21 3m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths!

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m., 1 to 9 p. m. E. HORNIKE, 25 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8-23-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—50 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.

OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 8-26-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,

Counselors-at-Law

Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Supreme Court Commissioner.

First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,

Counselors at Law,

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,

Counselor-at-Law.

Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.

COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-29-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,

Typewriter and Stenographer.

COLLECTION AGENT.

With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,

Lumber and Coal Merchants.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,

PLAINFIELD.

All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.

ALFRED D. COOK. my10y1 ROBERT H. COOK

J. G. POPE & CO

INSURANCE AGENTS

6 E. FRONT STREET. my10y

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,

Livery Stables.

56 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 137. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my10y

House Numbers

At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.

Established, 20 YEARS, N.B.—NO BOTCHING 1-14-tf

J. B. STICKLEY

21 East 5th Street

Special attention to all

AWNING WORK

Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.

MATTING.

Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-10S-1

FISCHER

ESTABLISHED 1840,

PIANOS

RENOWNED FOR TONE & DURABILITY

MODERATE PRICES

EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.

DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY

Catalogue Mailed on Application.

110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,

NEW YORK CITY.

6-4-6m

THE ROW OF LITTLE CHAIRS.

They stood in a row,
Twenty long years ago,
Six bright-painted, low rocking-chairs,
They were ranged 'long the wall,
And were cozy and small,
And their owners had no earthly cares.

Three girls and three boys,
With their manifold joys,
Sat rocking each morning and night;
They were Dollie and Ben,
May, Harvey and Len,
And Baby Rose, dimpled and white.

Sweet Dollie was nine,
The first of the line,
And Harvey, dear laddie, came next,
Just eight to a day,
And six was fair May,
Who never, they say, could get vexed.

Then Bennie was four,
And Len two or more,
And Rose, darling, just sat alone.
That sweet time, alack!
Was just twenty years back;
One by one the wee birdlings have flown.

They stand in a row
In the garret, I know,
Six sad, battered, low, broken chairs;
They are ranged 'long the wall,
And dust covers them all,
Each the mark of ill-usage now bears.

Their owners, ah, me!
Are now scattered, you see;
They grew up and left the old home.
Three boys and three girls,
With their bright eyes and curls,
North, east, south and west they now roam.

For Dollie she wed,
When the roses were red,
An artist, who took her to Spain;
And Ben went to sea
In the staunch Anna Lee,
Both health and wealth jointly to gain.

Then Harvey for years
Has been off in Algiers,
And May teaches school in the West;
While Lennie, brave lad,
Went to far Trinidad,
And Rose was the last in the nest.

But she married, too,
As all maidens do,
Deserted the six little chairs.
They stand in a row,
As they did years ago,
Neglected, up two flights of stairs.
—Mrs. Finley Braden, in Philadelphia Saturday Night.

STATE OF FRANKLIN.

An Incident of Early History in Tennessee.

The First Secession—Its Similarity to the One of '61—Origin of the Uprising and Its Inglorious End—The Fate of Its Leader.

There are very few general readers of newspapers who have ever heard of the "State of Franklin," or "Frankland," as sometimes called. Yet it is well-known to students of American history that such a State once existed in this country—it existed as much so as did the Southern Confederacy. It did not attract so much attention, nor did it require so many great sacrifices every way as did the late Confederacy. Nevertheless, "The State of Franklin" existed, and existed in the South.

Like the Confederacy, the State of Franklin was born of secession, writes M. V. Moore, in the Atlanta Constitution. It lived exactly the same length of time that the Confederacy lived—just four years, and like the Confederacy it collapsed in blood and failure. And furthermore, its chief of government—like the chief of the Southern Confederacy—was arrested on a charge of treason, placed in irons, and also released without a final trial. A most curious parallel exists in the history of Jefferson Davis, the chief of the Confederate Government, and the history of Colonel John Sevier, the Governor of the State of Franklin.

But the parallel between the two men ends with the release from confinement of the respective characters. While ex-President Davis was forever relegated to a private life after his release, Governor Sevier after his restoration to liberty rose to highest distinction in honors in his State. He was one of the patriots of the revolution, having distinguished himself at the battle of Kings Mountain, in South Carolina. When Tennessee was afterwards admitted into the Union Colonel Sevier was the first constitutional Governor. He died afterwards, in 1818, in the service of the United States, while engaged in negotiating a treaty with the Indians in Alabama. His remains were buried in Alabama, where they reposed until in 1889, when, in accordance with the long-expressed wishes of the people of Tennessee, they were disinterred, removed and committed to a final resting place near Knoxville, in the latter State.

The State of Franklin was, as previously noted, the outgrowth of the first secession in the history of our country. That secession occurred immediately after the close of the revolution, and under the following circumstances:

After the immediate close of the war many of the old soldiers from Virginia and the Carolinas emigrated to the beautiful and fertile valleys of what is now East Tennessee. It was an inviting land—no fairer or more delightful spot of earth known then for the backwoods home.

The Territory then belonged to the State of North Carolina, that State then reaching from the Atlantic Ocean on the east to the Mississippi river on the west; the northern boundary 36 degrees and 30 minutes north latitude. The part of the Territory lying west of the Alleghanies was too remote from the seat of the State government of North Carolina, then at Fayetteville, for the western pioneers to derive or receive such protection and authority as they expected or desired. The authorities of the State recognized this fact, and made a tender to the general Government of the United States of all that part of North Carolina territory west of the Alleghany mountains, to be placed under Territorial government, to be ruled by the Federal authorities, the seat of the general Government then at Philadelphia.

The colonists occupying the country lying along the waters of the Holston river—this stream then known to the Indians by the name Hogoheegee—these "Holston colonists," as they were called, protested against this Territorial proposition, and, refusing to submit to the action of the State authorities, they declared a secession from the parent State. Delegations from all parts of the Holston country assembled, and set up a separate government of their own. This Government called itself "the State of Franklin," and for four years all the functions of a regular State government existed. It had a Legislature which enacted laws and even made treaties with neighboring powers. It also sent a delegate to the Congress of the United States, yet that body refused to recognize him.

Matters grew to such proportions, and in such defiance of the regular North Carolina authorities, who insisted upon the collection of taxes and the exercise of other powers over the colonists, that the Governor of North Carolina felt called upon to suppress the "Holston rebellion." He did it with one Colonel Tipton and a small body of State militia, which met the forces of the secession at a point ten miles east of Jonesboro, in Washington County, Tenn., then the oldest town in the State. A few lives were lost in the short battle which ensued. The "leader of the rebellion," as he was called, Colonel Sevier, was captured or surrendered. He was taken, in irons, for trial in the State courts at Morganton in North Carolina. A few dauntless followers from the colonists on the Holston, with others, followed and rescued Sevier from the officers of the law, and he escaped into the country west of the Blue Ridge, where he afterwards evaded and defied capture. His rescuers afterwards became among the most famous people in North Carolina, the McDowells being in the number. Colonel Sevier and Colonel McDowell, the founder of the North Carolina family, had been previously associates in the attack upon the British at Kings Mountain.

Sevier's family have, likewise, become eminent in the history of Tennessee. Colonel A. S. Colyar, the noted Nashville editor, politician and financier, is a lineal descendant of Governor Sevier.

The Legislature of North Carolina, at its first session after Colonel Sevier's escape from the State authorities, passed an act pardoning Sevier.

One of the State laws of Franklin has been often quoted and made the subject of wit and laughter. The lawful currency of the State, the "circulating medium of the realm," as the historian puts it, was: "Flax cloth, three shillings and six pence per yard; coon-skins, a shilling and three pence apiece; and whisky, two shillings and six pence per gallon." But even this primitive currency was sometimes "counterfeited," as we are told, and by the sewing of coon tails to 'possum hides. In this way one long tailed coon and one 'possum hide could be converted into what passed for two coon skins.

The great Daniel Webster on one occasion in the United States Senate attempted to "poke fun" at one of his colleagues from the South, in allusion to his "coon skin currency." The colleague became indignant, but the affair ended more pleasantly than have some of the remarks of modern statesmen of in that august body.

Governor Sevier was a great and impressive man who figured extensively in the history of the country in four States. Yet the student may search in vain for any reference to him or to "the State of Franklin"—of which he was the head, center and ruling spirit—in many of the most pretentious volumes of American literature dealing with history or biography. As secession has cost the Nation so much in blood and treasure and estrangement, it is a little curious that more has not been said about this first secession in the history of the Nation.

Among the Northern friends of Colonel Sevier who sympathized and corresponded with him in regard to the new State was old Dr. Ben Franklin. But it is due to his memory to state that all his relations to the new movement were not inconsistent with those of the true patriot. In all his correspondence with Colonel Sevier there is nothing revealed showing that at any time was he a sympathizer with real secession. From the great Pennsylvanian the State received its name. It would appear that Dr. Franklin had been solicited to become a sort of godfather to the new sovereignty. Some of the old pioneers insisted on calling the new State "Frankland," in token of the frank and dauntless people who composed its population. Official documents of the government were quite as frequently signed "Frankland" as "Franklin."

MARVELOUS COOLNESS.

A Man Who Preserved His Equanimity Under Trying Circumstances.

A customer was in a shoe shop the other day to get a small job of repairing done, says the Detroit Free Press, and pretty soon the building was jarred by a fall in the room above. The man started up, but the shoemaker explained:

"Doan' be afraid. Dot vhas only der baby falling off der bedt. My wife looks oudt for him."

Ten minutes later there was an awful racket on the back stairs, and the man jumped again.

"Oh, you needn't be scared," said the shoemaker. "Dot vhas only my son Shon falling down der back shtairs into der yard. My wife vhill look oudt for him."

The job had just been finished, and the customer was putting on his shoe, when there was a jar which started the plaster, and he was forced to exclaim:

"Great Scots! but what is it this time?"

"Oh, dot vhas only my wife falling down in a fit. You needn't run avhay. Some of der neighbors vhill come in und make her all right!"

A Smart Boston Poetess.

A Boston girl, whose verses were always "declined with thanks," hit upon a unique scheme for having them published. She would send a line or a verse from one of her own poems to the query column of some paper and ask from what poem such a line came, the name of the poem, and that of the author. A friend, also a rhymster, would send the querist's own poem to the paper, with the desired information, and, of course, it would appear in print. The querist would do the same for her "friend," and so on, until between them they had most of their effusions printed.

CABLE CARS.

Mr. Hoofnakle's Experience with Them in St. Louis.

[Written for This Paper.]

LAST traveling in New York is entirely out of the question, unless the passenger takes the elevated cars. Cable cars have not come into general use in New York as yet, there being but one short line; but it is proposed to have them at an early day on Third avenue, which, including the Bowery, extends almost from City Hall to Harlem river, a distance of about eight miles. It is also proposed to introduce this system of mitigated rapid transit on other thoroughfares. That cable cars have their drawbacks, as they are managed in St. Louis, is very evident from the following letter of Jackson P. Hoofnakle, in the St. Louis (German) Saterne, which is herewith translated. After explaining that the chances of a pedestrian for being run over are much improved by cable cars, and that a dislocated neck awaits the careless passenger who attempts to get off in a hurry, Mr. Hoofnakle complains that getting on the car is not as easy as one might suppose. He goes on to explain as follows what he suffered in attempting to board one:

If I had only had a revolver in my pocket yesterday morning, and had not been feeling a little shaky, the chances are that I would now have my headquarters in murderer's row at the Four Courts. Yes, if I had only had a pistol I would have shot large apertures in a grip-man, or at least plugged some of the passengers.

I hailed a car that was a block and a half off, for the car usually runs that distance before the grip-man can stop it. The car was coming to me, but, somehow or other, it was a short-stop car. The grip-man must have been struck by the same idea that I was, viz.: "You confounded fool, if you don't come to me I'll come to you;" so we both started at the same moment toward each other. I, of course, could stop at once, but the grip-man, for some reason or other, did not, and kept right on past me as if I was lamp-post.

I RAN AS I NEVER RAN BEFORE.

I tell you, I was mad—it was very warm, and what I said out loud would not do to publish in a family paper. I said to myself: "You can go to Halifax with your old car," but just then the car stopped. It was a block and a half off, but I thought to myself: "I guess I'll have to be a little lenient; I expect the grip-man is a green hand, so I had better take the car after all."

I had almost got to the car, when the scoundrelly conductor, who was watching me, pulled the strap, and, Bem! Bem! off goes the car, while all the passengers laughed at seeing me standing there like a fool.

I tell you what, Mr. Editor, if only half the evil I wished him then and there had happened to that conductor, he would be an unidentified remains at the morgue. I hope the passengers, or at least the lady passengers, did not hear the benedictions and invitations I extended to that receding conductor. While I was shaking my fist at him, the car stopped again.

I thought he stopped for me, and as I was a little late for lunch, anyhow, I said to myself: "Well, Jackson, old boy, don't get excited—better keep your shirt on. If the car company wants to carry you don't make a kick about it. Those poor conductors have their troubles just like the rest of us."

Then I ran to get on the car. I tell you, Mr. Editor, I ran as I never ran before. My legs looked like the spokes of a buggy wheel in rapid motion. I got to the cars blowing like a porpoise, with my coat-tails standing straight out. I was swinging my left leg in the air, and was reaching out to grab the railing, to get on board, when Bem! Bem! off started the car again. Then I saw that the conductor hadn't stopped the car for me at all, but for a lady who had climbed in on the opposite side. How those passengers shouted when they saw me standing there with my mouth open and my eyes hanging out like door knobs! How that conductor grinned!

Before I knew what I was doing, like the free-born American citizen I reached instinctively for my hip pocket, where I usually keep my pepper-box, but luckily it was not there, otherwise I would have emptied its contents into the car. I had forgotten that a heartless bar keeper was taking care of it for me until I could settle a little bill he had against me. However, I grabbed up a couple of rocks when the car stopped again. I howled at him as loud as I could to "go to Halifax! Do you take me for a three-story fool" when Bem! Bem! off went the car again.

I walked a couple of blocks, and then stepped into a horse-car like a gentleman.

Mr. Hoofnakle adds that his lunch was cold, in consequence of which he did not not feel right all day long, and he does not know any thing more about cable cars. ALEX. E. SWEET.

The Lovely Pests.

Angry Farmer—See here! don't you know I can't afford to have my grass trampled down for the sake of a few berries? You'll have to move out of here.

Lady from the City—We are not picking berries: we are gathering a handful of those lovely, charming, golden-hearted, snow-tipped, ox-eye daisies.

Farmer—Oh, I beg pardon. Go right ahead, and come again to-morrow and bring your relatives.—Judge.

Very Good Reasons.

"No, Mr. Waverly; I respect and esteem you above all men. In time I am confident I might learn to love you, but I can never, never be your wife."

"Maudie—Miss Artclub—what are your reasons? Is it on personal grounds, or—"

"No, Mr. Waverly. You wear corkscrew pattern pan—er—trousers, and you know I am a member of the W. C. T. U."—The Jury.

Innocence Abroad.

Ned Bunco (accosting Timothy Clover on street)—How-dy, sir; you seem to be quite familiar with the city. Will you be good enough to inform me where I can find the McGinty statue? I am a stranger here.

Timothy Clover—Kain't allus go by th' looks, friend. I be a stranger in town myself!

Ned Bunco—You don't say so.

Timothy Clover—Yep. For a fac'.—Life.

It Would.

Mrs. Honeyman (off for the summer and persistent in keeping her serving maid)—Now, John, if Mary becomes dissatisfied, try to pacify her. Treat her nicely and make her some little present.

Mr. Honeyman—All right, my dear, I'll do my best. If I kiss her every morning and give her some diamonds, that will be sufficient, don't you think?—The Continent.

Very Moderate.

Aunt Dinah (to caller)—Yo' don' tell me dat Brer Holdy done tuk down wid de measles at dis late day? Why, he war s'posed to have 'em more'n two weeks ago!

Caller—Well, yo' know, Dinah, Brer Holdy am dat slow, I 'spect it gwine take him a munf to cotch de measles after he git sight of 'em!—Harper's Bazar.

The Same Chap.

Mr. Fangle—How late did Mr. Corset stay last night, Lizzie?

Lizzie—There was no one here but Charles, pa.

Mr. Fangle—Charles is the chap I mean.

Lizzie—His name isn't Corset, pa.

Mr. Fangle—It ought to be; he has excellent staying powers.—The Jury.

Barbarous.

Boss of the Shop (to applicant for a job)—Yes, I want another barber. Have you had much experience?

Applicant—I've shaved and cut hair in every city between here and Australia.

"Where are you from?"

"Eastern Africa. I'm a Zanzibarber."—Chicago Tribune.

Two Evils.

"Well, young man," said the irate parent, "if you persist in your present course you will sup sorrow with a spoon."

"I don't know whether that can be worse than eating ice-cream with a fork," returned the profligate; "and I've tried that."—Judge.

A Little Linguist.

Aunty—Wouldn't you like to study languages, Bobby?

Bobby—I can talk two languages now, aunty.

"You can? What are they?"

"English an' base-ball."—N. Y. Weekly.

A Proverb Reproved.

Uncle Peter—It's time you settled down at something, my lad. "A rolling stone gathers no moss."

Nephew Wildrake—Well, uncle, I don't want to gather moss. I'd sooner be prematurely bald than moss-backed.—Light.

TANGIBLE PROSPERITY.

Eastern Capitalist (as the cyclone gets by)—W-W-What was it th-th-that struck me?

Kansas Man—Why, friend, don't you know? That was our real estate boom!—Puck.

"It's an Ill Wind," Etc.

"Those pesky flies!" was the silent ejaculation of the bald-headed members of the congregation.

"Bless those flies," said the minister to himself. "There will be no one asleep during the sermon."—Boston Herald.

The Difference.

Mr. Lively—What makes you such a sleepy-head?

Mr. Drowsy—Oh, I lived a year in St. Louis. By the way, may I ask why you move so rapidly?

Mr. Lively—Certainly. I'm a boodle alderman from Chicago.—Arcola Record.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

CABINET INDEX-RERUM.

Here Is a Device That Is Much Superior to the Scrap-Book.

Scrap-books are useful, but only in a limited way; if one has many clippings to preserve, he soon finds them objectionable. An article may be partly on one side of the clipping and partly on the other. Then, if the clippings are numerous, the work of pasting them takes altogether too many books and too much time, and, when all this is done, they are not in the most convenient form for ready reference. A much better way is to have a cabinet for this purpose, with a drawer for clippings to be placed, miscellaneously, whenever they are cut out. When quite a number have accumulated proceed to classify them.

FIG. 1. CLASSIFICATION.

Get a quantity of plain envelopes and

FIG. 2. EXTERIOR OF CABINET.

seal them, and then cut open one end. Let all clippings on the same general subject be placed in one envelope, and this envelope put into the compartment of the cabinet whose letter is the same as that of the chief word in the subject. Mark this letter on the left-hand corner of the envelope, so that it may always be returned to the right compartment. The subject of which the clipping treats should be written lengthwise across the top of the envelope. If, for instance, the article treats upon "Raising Fancy Pigeons," this title will be written across the top of the envelope; also the letter P in the left-hand corner, and the envelope placed in compartment P of the cabinet, as shown in Fig. 1. If there are more cuttings upon any subject than one envelope will handily hold, use two or more as needed. When more than one envelope is used, let the initial letter in the left-hand corner be followed by a numeral 1 for the first envelope filled, 2 for the second and so on. Thus, if one were interested in pigeons, and had collected a good many cuttings relating to them, the first envelope would have in the left-hand corner P—1, the second P—2, and so on. This would show at a glance, if one were looking for an article on this subject, that there were other envelopes also in which to prosecute his search.

The cabinet which is to hold the envelopes may be made in any form the fancy of the maker may suggest. Besides the drawer in which to place scraps as they are cut from the papers, it should also have drawers divided into compartments for each letter of the alphabet, some of which should be wider than others, since more subjects would fall under the head of S, for instance, than of Z. It will be well to have the partitions between the compartments inserted in such a way that they can be moved if necessary. Each drawer should be of sufficient depth to allow the envelopes to stand upright on their sides.

A very satisfactory cabinet may be made as shown in Fig. 2. It will be seen that there are three drawers for cuttings, the lower one shown at the back of Fig. 3 being wider than the other two, one of which is seen in front. The extra space thus afforded is to be used for packages of envelopes yet unused, scissors, mucilage and other conveniences. The two small doors at the top open into small closets, one or both of which can be used for storing clippings until they are classified. The cabinet may be of any size desired, but a size that will permit it to be placed upon a table or stand will be found most convenient. The following dimensions are given as a suggestion merely: Width of base, fourteen inches; width at position of upper drawer, ten inches; height of cabinet, twenty inches: length, twenty-four inches. A brass rail about the top makes an attractive finish.—American Agriculturist.

FIG. 3.—COMPARTMENTS OF DRAWERS.

Quantities in Weights and Measures.

Sixty drops of liquid make one teaspoonful.

Two teaspoonfuls of liquid make one dessertspoonful.

Two dessertspoonfuls of liquid or four teaspoonfuls make one tablespoonful.

Four tablespoonfuls of liquid make one wineglassful, or two ounces.

Sixteen tablespoonfuls of liquid make one-half pint.

Eight tablespoonfuls of liquid make one gill.

Two wineglassfuls of liquid make one gill, or one teacupful.

One coffeecupful makes one-half pint.

A heaping quart, or four coffeecupfuls of flour make one pound.

A full tablespoonful of flour makes one-half ounce.

Ten eggs make one pound.

One pint or two coffeecupfuls of granulated sugar make one pound.

Two and one-half cupfuls of pulverized sugar make one pound.

One pint of broken loaf sugar is one pound.

One tablespoonful of butter is one ounce.

One pint of soft butter makes one pound.

One cupful of butter makes one-half pound.—Good Housekeeping.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
1-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD.]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-12-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 35 NORTH AV.
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-16-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 102. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 8yr5

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR
Gasolene Stoves,
ALL SIZES.
Refrigerators & Freezers,
Horse Sheets and Nets.

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Goods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
13 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people. 4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Fancy Clocks, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms and Silverware.
Sole Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles.
Don't forget the number.
12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUERBOWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. E. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway, 7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st., to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. to meet | 8.33 A. M. train. |
| 3rd do | 9.15 | do | 9.33 do |
| 4th do | 10.02 | do | 10.27 do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.24 do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.06 P.M. do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.30 P.M. do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 5.01 P. M. train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.39 do. |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.05 do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.39, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 5.32, 6.20, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Plainfield as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:06 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:43 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 4 07, 7 50, 9 05 A. M. and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 4 07, 9 05 A. M. and 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 4 07, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 47 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 4 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 11 39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 25 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 4 07, 5 10, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 47 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 4 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 39 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 39 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 39, 11 47 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 8 37, 9 32, 10 08, 11 09, 11 39 A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 28, 10 15, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 33, 3 20, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15 night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 32, 10 08, 11 09, A. M., 1, 2 07, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 33, 3 20, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 56, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 53, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 34, 5 20, 5 34, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 34 8 20, 9 43, 11 15, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—7 45, 8 15, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 8 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 2 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 2 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 12 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 12 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 20 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8, 15 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 37, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 51, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 09 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 09 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 29, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 1 59*, 2 32*, 4 06, 6 36*, 8 39*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 30* 4 06, 6 14*, 8 39 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 58* a. m., 2 45, 4 06

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

Madame E. GETTI, of Paris.

Dresses Ready-Made and to Order.

IMPORTED DRESS GOODS. Sole Agent of the celebrated Perrin Freres & Co. Imported KID GLOVES.

Park Avenue and Fourth Street, (Miller Building.)

8 25 3w

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, SAY

Dark Outing Flannels will be very popular this Fall for Children's School Dresses. We are displaying a nice assortment of them. Price 12c.

* * * * * *

Gentlemen, we will sell 50 dozen Unlaundried Shirts, 50c quality, for 39c each.

* * * * * *

We put on sale, and 'tis the last of those remnants of Fine Outing Flannels; our price 10c.

* * * * * *

We are offering some extra good values in Table Linen, Towels and Napkins.

* * * * * *

Our Writing Paper deserves special mention; one at 10c a box, and one at 14c, which is as good as you generally pay 25c for.

* * * * * *

There are 100 sample Corsets, sizes 25 to 30, Corsets that sold for $1 and $1.25. We close the entire lot for 60c pair.

* * * * * *

Housekeepers will find many good things in our Furnishing Department. We keep a fine line of Crockery, Glass and Tinware, and sell them at popular prices.

* * * * * *

We deliver goods everywhere, free of charge.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

12-6-y

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good health
Truly Yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-2-1

NO END IN SIGHT

Mr. Powderly Makes a Further Public Statement.

WILL PUT DEPEW ON RECORD.

Determination of the Knights to Secure Government Control of Railways.

Mr. Webb Says that the Strike on the New York Central is Practically Over—Meeting of Strikers—Aid Promised to All of Them—Advice to Remain Away from Saloons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mr. Powderly has issued an another letter to the public. After enumerating the valuable franchises held by the New York Central, together with the company's control of the Wagner palace car concern, the Blue Line of freight cars, the Albany bridge, etc., which pay dividends separate from those earned by the railroad, he says:

"Great public concerns should transact their business beneath the public eye. Railways are no more the property of private individuals than are the National Banks, and yet the latter are under the scrutiny of Government officers, while the former are not.

"Not many months ago the Sixth National Bank was seized by a company of men through dishonest manipulation. Fortunately for the country the bank was not a railroad dealing with poor workmen, but an institution working under governmental supervision, and the strong hand of the law rescued it.

"We want governmental control of railways, and it is because our efforts have produced a telling effect that the counter influence is being directed against us."

Concerning the allegations of Thomas Barry, Mr. Powderly says:

"We got through with Mr. Barry long ago and anything so irresponsible a man may have to say will have no influence on the minds of thinking people. If he was wise he never would assert that any man was foolish enough to offer him $100,000 for something he did not possess, and when history has recorded that it was the Curtin Congressional Investigating Committee, acting in conjunction with the members of the General Executive Board, that ordered that strike off, it seems to me that I need not attempt to deny any of the assertions of a man who has been resurrected at this time to air his old time grievances.

The secret circular which some recreant has given to the public was intended for members of D. A. 246 only and was not sent throughout the order. I have nothing to say in relation to it. I know that every effort will be made to urge our members to do some illegal act, and unworthy persons will seek admission to these assemblies for the purpose of inflammatory speeches and motions. It was to head off such fellows that I issued that circular more than for any other reason.

"Mr. Webb reports that everything is working elegantly, and that all the freight that comes in is being sent over the road. It is quite an easy matter to do but little when there is little to do. Yesterday only two freight trains went west on the Central. Mr. Webb cannot be deceived himself, but he is certainly deceiving the public. You may rest assured that the Central is tied up so effectually that it can do no business for many weeks to come with the men they are employing.

"We are not in the least discouraged, and will keep up the fight until Chauncep Depew comes home to go on record alongside of Mr. Webb, or in opposition to him. Our position is the same it was the first day. We are anxious for investigation, and it will be made whether the Central likes it or not, for the testimony of every man discharged will be published."

Webb Says the Strike Is Over.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Third Vice-President Webb, of the New York Central Company, says that the road was in good shape and everything worked elegantly. "The strike is over," he said, "and as to further tie-ups we do not fear any, though there are a few Knights on the road." Meetings of the strikers were held at various places throughout the city, in which it was declared that the freight blockade still continued. At Semm's Hall, Twenty-sixth street and Eighth avenue, a secret circular from Mr. Powderly was read giving the men encouragement, promising them aid and warning them to keep away from the rum shops.

Marking the Lines at Gettysburg.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The House Committee on Military Affairs ordered a favorable report on the bill introduced in the House by Mr. Bingham of Pennsylvania, for marking the lines of battle and dispositions of the army of northern Virginia at Gettysburg, Pa. The bill is reported with an amendment reducing the appropriation from $310,000 to $125,000. In a report recommending the passage of the bill the committee say that they have the assurance that such an act would not be distasteful but rather gratifying to the remnant of the army of northern Virginia, and what grander evidence of magnanimity and strength could the nation give than thus to preserve the historical data of the great turning battle of the war. In conclusion the report says: "Your committee is impressed that this is a work that ought to be done and not delayed."

Adolph Philipsen Held.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Adolph Philipsen, who was detained at the Barge Office on suspicion of being the murderer of W. Meyer at Copenhagen last April, has been released, the Danish authorities having sent word that the murderer of Meyer was safe in a lunatic asylum in Denmark.

THE STOCK YARD STRIKE.

The Serious Block de of Freight Still Continues.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The Alton switchmen are still out, and freight is fast accumulating in their yards. At Brighton there are 500 loaded cars bound for the city. There is no sign of any concession on the part of the railroad company. At a joint meeting of Alton switchmen, engineers and firemen this afternoon, the action of the switchmen in striking was condemned.

Every employe of the Railway Switching Association at the Stock Yards is to be discharged to-morrow. The general managers held two long conferences to-day. It was decided that each road should do its own switching at the Stock Yards, and the action of the superintendents on Aug. 25, in deciding to dissolve the Switching Association was confirmed.

The Lake Shore and the Michigan Central sent engines and crews into the yards to-day, and considerable work was done to relieve the packing houses of the blockade. The Baltimore & Ohio, Illinois Central and several other engineers flatly refused to do any work in the yard.

A mass meeting of all the switchmen in the city has been called for to-night. Non-union men as well as union men are requested to attend. Vice Grand Master John Downey, of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association, said to-day of the proposed meeting: "We intend to get the boys together to find out if they cannot be induced to stop their foolishness."

Many of the strikers are of the belief that the meeting has been called to notify them that their hasty action is in conflict with the rules of the Switchmen's Association, and that being so they cannot expect support from the switchmen on the different roads leading into Chicago.

It is now understood that the switchmen will return to work at the old wages provided they are invited to.

SWINDLED BY A "BARON."

Several Pittsburg Banks Struck for Small Amounts by the Nobility.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 28.—The announcement in this city that Baron Lagerfeldt, of Pittsburg, had issued and sold fraudulent certificates of stock in the Jefferson Iron Works Company to the amount of $20,000, or more, creates great excitement. The Baron was vice-president of the works. The bogus stock was sold in Pittsburg. Swedish Baron Lagerfeldt is the Vice Consul in Pittsburg. He is now in Europe.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—The Allegheny National Bank were purchasers of the bogus stock certificates to the extent of $10,000 and have entered suit against the Baron on the charge of forgery. It is said that Mellon Bros., private bankers, and the Keystone Bank are also holders of the bogus certificates in small amounts.

New York State Good Temp'ars.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Only routine business was done by the State Grand Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, who are in annual convention here. The strife for the place of holding the next Grand Lodge session lies between Thousand Island Park and Saratoga.

The following officers were elected: Grand Chief Templar, D. H. Mann, Brooklyn; Grand Vice Templar, Mrs. Emma G. Dietrick, Lockport; Grand Secretary, D. W. Hooker, Syracuse; Grand Treasurer, B.C. Miller, Brooklyn; Grand Councillor, J. W. Kimball, Amsterdam; Grand Superintendent Juvenile Templars, Mrs. George A. Hewitt, Gaines; Board of Managers, Jesse Merritt, Newburgh; W. T. Logan, Rochester, and H. C. Delong, Richford Flats. The next session will be held at Thousand Island Park on the fourth Tuesday in August.

Lawn Tennis at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.—In the National Lawn Tennis tournament the first set opened for Huntington with two games. Campbell followed with three. The sixth went to Huntington and was his last. Campbell won the set 6—3. In the second set Campbell allowed Huntington to run the score up more evenly, always keeping one set ahead and thus holding the set in his hands. This play tired his opponent while he himself played easily. He took the set 6—4. Campbell continued his easy play through the third set, working his opponent hard and winning 6—3.

Democratic Day With National Grangers.

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa., Aug. 28.—Yesterday was Democratic Day at the Grangers' National Exhibition, and twenty thousand farmers were in attendance. Ex-Governor Pattison, Democratic candidate for Governor, telegraphed that it would be impossible for him to attend. Addresses were made by Hon. Chauncey F. Black, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor; Hon. S. M. Wherry, of Southampton; United States Senator C. J. Faulkner, of West Virginia; Hon. F. E. Beltzhoover, of Carlisle, and Hon. Mortimer Whitehead, of New Jersey.

Racing at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 28.—At the meeting of the Central New York Horse Breeders' Association to-day, Tony Klock won the Mafron Stake race for thrr year olds, with Huchinson second and Belfast and Nellie Wilkes distanced Best time, 2:51¼. In the pacing class for five year olds, Sunset Patchen won in three straight heats, Marvin being the only other starter. Best time, 2:51¾.

Fruit Pests Here and There.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Adolph Philipsen, who was detained at the Barge Office on suspicion of being the murderer of W. Meyer at Copenhagen last April, has been released, the Danish authorities having sent word that the murderer of Meyer was safe in a lunatic asylum in Denmark.

A Foundry Burned.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Aug. 28.—The Peter Deal Foundry, in Gloversville, was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss $12,000.

ARTHUR'S POSITION

The Locomotive Engineer Chief Writes a Letter.

HE PLAYS A LONE HAND.

And Advises the Members of His Order to Stick to Work.

Chief Arthur Answers Powderly's Strictures and Denounces Some of His Statements as Falsehoods—The Situation at Chicago Very Quiet but at Present Extremely Uncertain.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—P. M. Arthur, chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has written the following letter to an engineer on the Third Avenue Elevated Railroad in response to a letter on the subject of the New York Central strike. This is the first written utterance of Mr. Arthur which fully defines his position toward the Central strikers and the Knights of Labor:

R. H. HOLMAN—Dear sir and brother: Your letter of the 23d inst., with Mr. Powderly's letter and other clippings from the New York papers enclosed, is received, and contents carefully perused.

In reply, will say that I have not received any letter from Mr. Powderly. He claims to have written me a private letter on the trouble and wants me to define my position.

If he considers his letter that appeared in the newspapers a private one, I don't—nor will I answer letters that reach me in that way.

It is unnecessary for Mr. Powderly or anyone else to ask me to define the position of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in the present trouble on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. The policy of the Brotherhood is well known to him and the public, as it has been repeatedly explained from the public platform and published in the newspapers. He says that "some time ago I telegraphed him (meaning me) that I would meet him in Cleveland, and when I arrived there I could not find him high or low. I learned that the telegram had been received by him but my efforts to locate him were fruitless."

Now the facts in the case, as near as I can remember, are these: Some four years ago I received a telegram from Powderly requesting me to meet him at the Union Depot in Cleveland on the arrival of a certain train on the Lake Shore road. Owing to my absence from the office I did not receive the message until after the departure of the train, and so informed him by letter, addressing it to him at Scranton.

I do not believe he stopped over and looked for me. If he had he would have had no difficulty in finding me at my office or at my house, as I am always at the one or the other when in Cleveland. He tells a willful falsehood when he says other leaders have been unable to find me when they tried to do so. Any man who tries to find me when I am in Cleveland can do so with very little effort, and no man whether a leader or a private in the ranks of labor ever came to my office that he was not treated courteously.

While I differ with men as to the best methods to be employed to secure certain ends, I have always been liberal enough to concede to every man the same rights and privileges I ask for myself. When the present trouble on the New York Central first occurred I advised the engineers to abstain from all participation in it and to attend strictly to their own business. I gave the same advice when the strike occurred on the Gould system a few years ago. My advice to the Brotherhood of Engineers when men employed in other branches of railroad service have been on a strike was to mind their own business and not do anything that did not properly belong to them as engineers.

Can Mr. Powderly say the same?

I think not. Whenever the engineers have been on a strike we never asked any other labor organization to assist us.

It is true some members of the order during the C. B. & Q. strike importuned the switchmen to quit, but they did it on their own responsibility and not by the authority of the organization. Consequently I hold that we are perfectly justified in maintaining strictly a neutral position when others are engaged in a conflict with their employers.

Mr. Powderly accuses members of the B. L. E. of taking the places of striking firemen. If that is true the division of which they are members will deal with them. It is not within the province of my authority to deal with individual members.

I wonder if Mr. Powderly had the Knights expelled who took the places of our men on the C. B. & Q.?

Yours fraternally,
P. M. ARTHUR, G. C. E.

Colored Methodists Meet.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 28.—The New Jersey Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church is in session at Educational Hall. Prominent ministers and teachers in charge of the training institute, which is conducted on the same principle as the Chatauqua, are in attendance. Rev. A. H. Newber, of New Brunswick, presided. Among the instructors are Rev. J. C. Ayler, presiding elder of the Trenton district; Rev. Dr. Sampson, of Asbury Park; Mrs. Lulu K. Newton, of Arkansas, and Mrs. Do Sampson. The institute continues in session throughout the week.

Big Pulp Mill Fire.

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 28.—A disastrous fire occurred at the extensive new plant of the Eastern Manufacturing Company, South Brewer, which will greatly retard operations at the pulp mill. The mill was insured for $50,000. The loss is between $25,000 and $30,000.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—1 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | x—5 |

Batteries—Ruse and Buckly; Hutchinson and Kittridge.

AT BOSTON—FIRST GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 2 | 7 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 3 | 2 | —16 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —7 |

Batteries—Clarkson and Ganzel; O'Brien and Wilson.

SECOND GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 6 | —11 |
| Brooklyn | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x | —3 |

Batteries—Gulsain and Ganzel; Phillips and Wilson.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | x—4 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |

Batteries—Young and Zimmer; Smith and Schriver.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—1 |
| Cincinnati | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 2—8 |

Batteries—Terry and Daly; Mullane and Harrington.

Players' League.

AT BOSTON—FIRST GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 4 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3—8 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—7 |

Batteries—Gumbert and Murphy; Baldwin and Boyle.

SECOND GAME.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—2 |
| Chicago | 1 | 3 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—8 |

Batteries—Daley and Murphy; Barston and Farrell.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 6 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—9 |
| Buffalo | 3 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 | x—10 |

Batteries—Sowders and Cook; Stafford and Mack.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 2 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 4 | 0—10 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2—5 |

Batteries—O'Day and Brown; Tener and Quinn.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0—5 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2—6 |

Batteries—Sanders and Cross; Gruber and Brennan.

American Association.

AT ROCHESTER.

The Rochester and Toledo game was postponed on account of rain.

AT SYRACUSE.

The Syracuse and Louisville game was postponed on account of rain.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 2—10 | |
| St. Louis | 0 | 6 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2—11 | |

Batteries—German and Townsend; Stivetts and Munyan.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Athletic | 2 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0—6 |
| Columbus | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0—3 |

Batteries—McMahon and Robinson; Knauss and Doyle.

Atlantic Association.

AT HARRISBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—0 |
| New Haven | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | x—1 |

Batteries—Cox and Sommers; Doran and Hofford.

AT LEBANON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | x—6 |
| Newark | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 5—10 |

Batteries—Serad and Murphy; Swift and Koons.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelpia | 1,261 | 1,317 |
| New York | 573 | 555 |
| Boston | 3,904 | 834 |
| Brooklyn | 500 | 1,704 |
| Totals | 6,238 | 4,140 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 68 | 36 | .654 | Chicago | 59 | 47 | .552 |
| Boston | 68 | 38 | .642 | N. York | 45 | 60 | .429 |
| Philadel | 65 | 40 | .619 | Clevi'nd | 31 | 70 | .307 |
| Cincin'ti | 62 | 46 | .999 | Pitts'rg | 19 | 85 | .184 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 62 | 40 | .606 | Philadel | 56 | 50 | .528 |
| Brookl'n | 63 | 45 | .583 | Pittsb'rg | 43 | 54 | .443 |
| N. York | 59 | 44 | .573 | Clev'l'nd | 42 | 58 | .420 |
| Chicago | 57 | 50 | .533 | Buffalo | 39 | 70 | .393 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'v'le | 62 | 33 | .653 | Col'mb's | 51 | 48 | .515 |
| St. Louis | 57 | 41 | .582 | Toledo | 50 | 44 | .532 |
| Athletic | 49 | 48 | .515 | Syracuse | 40 | 56 | .417 |
| Roch'st'r | 50 | 45 | .526 | Brookl'n | 37 | 72 | .270 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Balt'ore | 76 | 24 | .760 | Wash't'n | 38 | 47 | 447 |
| N. Hav'n | 69 | 25 | .731 | Harrisb'g | 38 | 60 | .400 |
| Newark | 52 | 43 | .547 | Wilm't'n | 32 | 63 | .309 |
| Lebanon | 41 | 42 | .494 | Hartford | 27 | 60 | .269 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburg vs. New York, at New York.
Cincinnati vs. Boston, at Boston.
Chicago vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Chicago vs. New York, at New York.
Cleveland vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Boston, at Boston.
Buffalo vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

St. Louis vs. Baltimore, at Baltimore.
Toledo vs. Rochester, at Rochester.
Columbus vs. Athletics, at Philadelphia.
Louisville vs. Syracuse, at Syracuse.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled.

A MINERS' STRIKE PROBABLE.

The Joint Conference Adjourns Without Action on the Scale.

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—The Joint Conference of the Mine Workers' Association of America, representing 12,000 miners in Blair, Clearfield, Center, Huntington, Jefferson and Carbon Counties, and the operators of the mines in these districts, was held here.

No result was reached on the scale presented by the miners, the operators claiming they could not accept it without loss. The conference adjourned until September 12, when another effort to secure an agreement will be made. The miners, however, are firm in their demands, and a general strike may be the final result.

The Twenty-Seventh New York District.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Sereno E. Payne was unanimously renominated for Congress by the Republicans of the twenty-seventh district.

FIGHT IN THE HOUSE

The Lower House of Congress in an Uproar.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF LARD.

Mr. Wilson from Washington Slugs Mr. Beckwith of New Jersey.

White-Winged Peace at Last Calms the Ruffled Statesmen and Cotton Oil is Poured on the Troubled Waters of Congressional Debate—Sweet Harmony Again Prevails.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Bad blood, engendered by the House filibustering over the Compound Lard bill, to-day produced not only the stormiest session of the year, but precipitated a slugging match upon the floor between Messrs. Beckwith, of New Jersey, and Wilson, of Washington. These gentlemen, excited by the disorderly scenes which have disgraced the House during the past three days, became involved in a hot argument, and before onlookers could interpose, had exchanged blows.

The story of the fracas began with a very savage criticism made by Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, upon Mr. Cannon's resolution of yesterday blacklisting certain members of the House who had bolted the chamber in order to break a quorum.

The Illinoisan retorted with words that wouldn't look well in print, and Mr. Enloe of Tennessee demanded that they be taken down. The Speaker declined to entertain the proposition on the ground that the motion had come too late. Mr. Enloe appealed, and while the motion was being taken members jumped out of their seats and into the wall gesticulating wildly and yelling like Apaches for and against Mr. Cannon. Messrs. Beckwith and Wilson were among them, but soon returned to seats on either side of Mr. Lehlbach of New Jersey. Mr. Beckwith, as he sat down, criticised a remark made in an undertone by Mr. Mason of Illinois to Mr. Cannon, which the latter had resented. Wilson leaned over and suggested very vigorously that Mr. Cannon was right.

"What have you got to do with it?" demanded Beckwith angrily.

"I say Mr. Cannon made a great mistake in putting my name in the list of yesterday's absentees, and as a member of this House I have a right to protest," added the Jerseyite.

"You are rarely here," yelled Wilson.

"You are a liar!" shrieked Beckwith. "And you are a ——————!" shouted Wilson, at the same time reaching over Lehlbach's shoulder and aiming a sledge-hammer blow at Beckwith's head.

Beckwith caught it on the cheek, but countered with his right and let out at Wilson's nose, and cries of "A fight," "A fight," and a rush of members from all quarters of the house.

Just here Mr. Lehlbach grabbed Wilson, while the aged Mr. Williams, of Ohio, waddled down the aisle and caught Beckwith by the collar. The latter turned about, and thinking perhaps that he was being attacked in the rear, squared off and struck at the Buckeye member. The good Mr. Williams dodged, however, with as much agility as could the "Spider."

At the first whiff of the battle that little war horse General Wheeler, of Alabama, skated along a tier of desks and brought up in the arms of Judge Gear. Others tumbled headlong to the scene of the battle and struggled to get a good sight of the show. Finally at least a dozen members had pounced upon the principals in the affray and hauled them apart.

The Sergeant-at-Arms ordered out the mace, and big Tom Cavanagh marched down and poked it in the face of Mr. Williams. That gentleman was horrified. A blush of shame mounted his cheeks, and as he put his hands to his face, he murmured pathetically, "I wasn't in it, I wasn't in it." Cavanagh all but collapsed as he held the mace before Beckwith. The latter chuckled and asked, good naturedly: "What is it Tom? I don't want that bird on a stick."

After Cavanagh had admonished the Jerseyman to behave himself he hunted for Mr. Wilson. That gentleman had escaped, however, and could not be found inside the chamber.

Both the offenders regret the incident bitterly. They are hot-tempered but two of the best men of the House, and they, as well as their friends, are much grieved at the exhibition they made of themselves.

Found the Coffin Empty.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 28.—The body of Nellie Liberty, of Colchester Point, who died suddenly on Aug. 18, was stolen from St. Joseph's Catholic Cemetery, this city, some time during this week by body snatchers. The grave was opened by her parents last evening and the coffin was found to be empty. The police have a clue to the robbers.

Important Boston Failure Reported Failed

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Rumors were current on Wall street that checks of of the firm of Potter, Lowell & Co., of Boston and New York, had been thrown out of the banks, and that the firm was financially embarrassed. Boston houses think that the firm will be able to pull through without making a formal assignment.

Nantasket Beach in a Gale.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—A severe southwesterly gale, accompanied by heavy rain, visited the south shore and caused considerable damage along Nantasket Beach, blowing down awnings and demolishing hotel piazzas. The beach on the inside of Point Allerton and Stony Beach is strewn with stranded boats and small yachts.

A SINGULAR SUICIDE.

An Old Man Throws Himself from a Train—His Child Follows.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Among the passengers on an early express train from this city for New York yesterday morning was a well dressed old gentleman accompanied by a little girl. On nearing Holmesburg Junction, about ten miles from this city, and while the train was running at a high rate of speed, the old gentleman made his way to the front platform of the car and deliberately jumped off. The little girl, who had been watching him saw him jump and before the passengers realized what she intended to do she had run to the front of the car and sprang after him. The train was stopped and backed to the spot where the two jumped off. The old man was found dead and the little girl stretched insensible a short distance from his body. The body of the man and the girl were placed on a train and brought to this city where they were taken to a hospital where the child's injuries were found to be serious. When the child regained consciousness she said the old gentleman was her father and that his name was Stephen Beck, and that her name was Lilian Beck, and that they lived in St. Clair County, Illinois, and were bound for Hamburg, Germany.

On the body of Mr. Beck were found two checks on a St. Louis bank for 12,000 marks and $95 in money.

The injuries of the little girl, are not so serious as was at first reported, and it is now stated that she will recover.

MORE ENGLISH MONEY.

The Projected Sale of the Providence Worsted Mills of Chas. Fletcher.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—The American Reporter has a letter from Bradford, England, announcing the recapitalization in Bradford of the worsted mills of Charles Fletcher of Providence, R. I., anticipatory of the passage of the McKinley bill.

The stock is being offered to the English public upon a capitalization of £350,000 and the profits of the mills during the past three years are vouched for by public accountants as being $334,249 in 1887, $422,903 in 1888, and $471,908 in 1889.

This proposed purchase of a great American woolen manufacturing establishment by English capitalists will attract much attention and has been kept very quiet on this side of the water.

A Prominent Pennsylvanian Dead.

TOWANDA, Pa., Aug. 28.—Col. Victor E. Piolett died at his home in Wysox, Bradford County, aged 78 years. He was superintendent of the North Branch Canal and superintendent of construction of the Philadelphia and New York Railroad from 1867 to 1872. He had served in the Legislature and had been a candidate on the Democratic ticket for State Treasurer and for Congress.

The Hartford Races Postponed.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 28.—The Charter Oak Park track was rendered unfit for racing to-day by the heavy rains of last night and to-day's programme, including the $10,000 race, goes over to Thursday and the regular list for each of the remaining days of the meeting is advanced one day.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The second Leary raft arrived at Portland, Me., having six of its eight sections intact.

Ex-Gov. Milledge L. Bonham of South Carolina was found dead in bed at Waynesville, N. C.

The Jamesburg Sunday School Convention was held yesterday at New Brunswick, N. J. Five thousand people were present.

Thomas Connolly, a ship carpenter, employed at Gill's shipyard at Port Richmond, S. I., fell from the side of a vessel and broke his neck.

Horace C. Wilcox of Meriden, Conn., founder and president of the Meriden Britannia Works and of the Wilcox & White Organ Company, is dead, aged 56 years.

Elisha J. Potter, a well known farmer living near Medina, N. Y., shot himself and is in a critical condition. He was despondent because of the failure of his fruit crop.

Two unknown men asked Lozrenzo Welles of Paterson, N. J., to drink with them in the latter's saloon drugged his beer and then robbed his place and took $150 from his pocket. They escaped.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—For New England: Fair; slight changes in temperature; westerly winds.

For Eastern New York and New Jersey: Fair; stationary temperature; westerly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Light local showers, followed by fair weather to-morrow; rain Friday; northwesterly winds; slight changes in temperature.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Money on call to-day, 5 and 6 per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 104½ | 104½ |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 104½ | 105½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 125 | 125½ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 125 | 125½ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | 83¾ | — |
| Central Pacific | — | — |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 102¾ | 103 |
| Delaware & Hudson | 134¾ | 134½ |
| Del., Lack. & Western | 144 | 143¾ |
| Erie | 20¾ | 20¾ |
| Erie pref | — | — |
| Lake Shore | 107¼ | 107 |
| Louis. & Nash | 80¾ | 80 |
| Michigan Central | 93 | 70½ |
| Missouri Pacific | 71¾ | — |
| New Jersey Central | — | — |
| New York Central | 106¾ | 107½ |
| Northwestern | 98½ | — |
| Oregon Navigation | 88¾ | — |
| Pacific Mail | 39¾ | 40 |
| Reading | 42¾ | 42¾ |
| Rock Island | 85¾ | 85¾ |
| St. Paul | 71¾ | 71¾ |
| Western Pacific | 60¾ | 60¾ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT NO. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

BY THE WAY.

—The recent cold snap sent Indian corn ahead towards the mature stage at a lively rate.

—The Warren Union Mission choir will go on their annual picnic to Boynton Beach to-morrow.

—The colored population left town to-day to join in the festivities of Salt Water Day at Florida Grove.

—Plainfield Engine Company, No. 2, promise a first rate time at their picnic in Amphion Hall Monday evening.

—The regular mid-week meeting of the Reform Club will be held this evening at eight o'clock. A welcome is extended to all.

—The club cry of the newly-organized Union County Roadsters is: "Rah, Rah, Rah! Bah, Bah! We are the roadsters, U. C. R.!"

—Capt. Hand will convey a stage load of the senior members of the Young Men's Christian Association to Boynton Beach to-morrow morning.

—The petit jurors drawn from North Plainfield for the September term of court, are George Polhemus, Gideon Barnes, Henry Brokaw, C. Frank French, Augustus Combes.

—Under the new election law all the townships, as well as the cities, must have the lists of voters printed and posted in hand-bill form within twenty-four hours after they are made.

—Robert McNabb has purchased, through the Real Estate Trust, a twelve-acre tract of land at Netherwood Heights. The new owner will begin immediate improvements and will construct a handsome residence.

—The union choir of the local union of the Christian Endeavor Societies of Plainfield, Dunellen and New Market, will meet for their first rehearsal at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms to-night at 7:30 o'clock. A general invitation is extended to all those who can sing.

—The T. A. B. and E. B. A.'s had a fine time on their excursion to Grand View Park, on Long Island Sound, yesterday. No mishaps of any kind occurred, and the excursionists returned home in the evening delighted.

—Harned Academy will be re-opened as a boarding and day school September 15. The Academy is conducted under excellent management, and affords superior educational advantages. The Principal, Edward N. Harned, will furnish circulars and other information to all applicants.

Some of Them Are Plainfielders.

The following item is taken from the Fairhaven Herald of Washington (the new State). Among the families mentioned are Mr. and Mrs. Fred. S. Dunn and J. Randolph Dunn of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Dunn, and sons Willie and Lewie, and A. Dunn, represent Elizabeth. From recent letters received, all speak in the highest praise of their new home in the far distance:

"Among the recent arrivals in the city was a party of twelve persons, all from Elizabeth, N. J. The parties consisted of the families of J. K. Roll, W. F. Mohr and Mr. Dunn. They came through from Chicago via the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific. When the party left Chicago the thermometer was up among the hundreds and they suffered terribly from the heat. The transformation to the cool, bracing, balmy air of Bellingham Bay delighted them to the extent of making them declare that Fairhaven is the only place in which to reside and be comfortable."

A Thousand-Dollar Check for the Bride.

A fashionable wedding occurred in the Westfield Methodist Episcopal church last evening, when the Rev. Frank Bush Ham was married to Miss Margaret Aletha Mapes, daughter of Mrs. Stephen L. Mapes of Westfield. The groom is a son of Benjamin F. Ham of Cranford, who presented the bride with a certified check for $1,000. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. The bride and groom left on a late train for their future home in Nebraska, where the popular young preacher has a pastorate.

Is it not to some extent your own fault that your children seek recreation outside of the family circle? Why not furnish them amusement at home? Why not treat them at home to a safe, delightful and wholesome beverage, such as you can easily have made from Hires' Root Beer Packages?

A YOUNG BOY MAIMED FOR LIFE.

Another Victim of the Folly of Catching on Railroad Trains.

Harry Richardson, son of Charles Richardson of Scotch Plains, was maimed for life by a railroad accident at Fanwood, yesterday afternoon. The lad was playing about the Central tracks, jumping on and off the cars of a moving coal train, when he slipped and fell to the ground, with one of his legs lying directly across the rail. A single horrid crunch of the heavy iron wheels against the flesh and bone, and a scream of agony from the boy, and the foot was severed at the ankle and lay, forever useless, beside the track. Engineer Moynahan, of drill engine No. 30, happened to be near the scene of the accident, with his crew, and the men carried the injured boy to his home. Dr. Westcott, of Scotch Plains, and Dr. Probasco, of Plainfield, were summoned, and the crushed leg was amputated below the knee.

Frank Allen and Wilbur Miller, two boys, picked up the severed foot and carried it to Richardson's home.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fish and family, of Franklin place, have returned from Asbury Park.

The Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor arrived home today from Weantinaug Inn, New Milford, Conn.

E. L. Bonny and family, of Grove street, are spending his vacation among the hills of Pennsylvania.

Councilman and Mrs. H. E. Needham and family, of Jackson avenue, have gone to Pine Hill, N. Y.

Geo. P. Dupee and family, of Rockview avenue, are home from Cascadeville, Essex county, N. Y.

Mrs. Peter Sutphen, of North Branch, returned home today after a short visit with relatives in the Borough.

Mrs. T. H. Hardy and Miss L. A. Force are home again, improved in health, after a week's rambles among the mountains of Somerset county.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward VanWinkle, of Elm place, and Miss Susie VanWinkle, of Park avenue, have gone for a two weeks' trip to the Catskills.

Wm. L. Smalley, of 23 Craig place, is the first to take down his front fence in that section of the Borough. Now let others in the vicinity do likewise.

Mrs. J. E. Danielson, wife of Dr. Danielson of Brooklyn, with her daughter, Lillian, is visiting Mrs. Danielson's aunt, Mrs. A. L. Force, of the Borough.

Among the guests at the Smith picnic at Peapack, yesterday, were the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. T. H. Hardy, Miss Lillian A. Force, John C. VanDyke and Joseph Allen, of Plainfield.

H. A. Lee, a New York manufacturer, who came with his family to this city for the Summer, was so charmed with Plainfield that he has leased a home on First place, and will become a permanent resident here.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Squier have returned from their ten days' outing at Lake Hopatcong and Chester, Morris county, having had an enjoyable time and gained health. They report that Lake Hopatcong is the place to go for pleasure and recuperation.

Plainfield loses an interesting couple in Mr. and Mrs. Julius M. Williams of West Front street, who have removed to 414 East Eighty-eighth street, New York. Mr. Williams having connected himself with G. Armery, a large manufacturer of diamond jewelry at 75 and 77 Nassau street.

The Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham is home from Europe. He arrived at the Bar on the steamship Majestic yesterday morning at 7:25, and reached Plainfield today. The Majestic sailed in excellent time, beat her own record, and would have beaten all records but for three hours' delay in a fog.

The Rev. W. E. Honeyman and Mrs. Honeyman, of Somerset street, stopped at Jersey City, on their way home from Pine Hill, N. Y., yesterday, to call on Mrs. Fernold, wife of Dr. Fernold and sister of Mrs. Honeyman. They found Mrs. Fernold very ill, and Mrs. Honeyman remains by her side to nurse her back to health.

Reception to Father Smythe.

The Rev. P. E. Smythe, pastor of St. Mary's church, whose return from Europe was announced exclusively in THE PRESS last Monday, was given a reception at St. Mary's parochial school building this afternoon. The pupils of the school sang songs of greeting, recited appropriate selections, and gave an excellent exhibition of the beautiful Spanish dance. The exercises throughout were very graceful and pretty, and the affair was a most pleasant one in every particular. Amid the exchange of compliments the pastor's friends showered him with floral treasures, and various tokens of esteem were presented to the traveler home again.

A Shower-Bath of Soda Water.

A soda water fountain in J. G. Miller's pharmacy burst this afternoon, lamed Mr. Miller, wrecked several bottles and jars in the rear of the store, and drenched Peter Hodge, Wm. Egbert, A. C. Horton and I. D. TenEyck to the skin.

Few children can be induced to take physic without a struggle, and no wonder—most drugs are extremely nauseating. Ayer's Pills, on the contrary, being sugar-coated, are eagerly swallowed by the little ones, and are, therefore, the favorite family medicine.

NORWICH TO PLAY HERE.

An Off Day for Ball Teams of This Vicinity, But Great Return Games Coming.

The ball nines of this city, Somerville and Westfield, all lost yesterday. Plainfield's and Westfield's teams were shut out, and the players of Somerville were disastrously defeated by the tail-enders of the "league" whose pennant the West Ends are flying.

From the news at hand of the causes and circumstances of the defeat of the Crescent League's team at Norwich, it appears that the Plainfielders were broken up by their long trip, without sleep, the night before. Besides that, they are entirely outclassed by such teams as that of which Norwich is so proud. When the Crescents reached Norwich the drenching rain which had begun to fall during Tuesday night was still pouring down, and up to noon there were no prospects of a game. The team therefore abandoned thoughts of playing and indulged in a great deal of innocent skylarking, and when, at one o'clock, it cleared off and the game was declared "on" they were decidedly not in best base ball form. The Norwich field was a pond, and despite the efforts of the management to cover it with sawdust it was little better than a swamp strewn with sticky clay. The grounds were uneven, also, and from catcher's position the legs of the fielders could not be seen. The Norwich pitcher was "Cyclone Ryan," of the Boston Leaguers, and another of the six Boston Leaguers on the team was Hackett the catcher. Quinn, on first, was a new man from Buffalo, and O'Connell, on third, was from the Hartford League nine. Ryan was batted quite freely, despite his Sullivanistic force and tricky curves, but the Crescents couldn't hit safely to save their lives. Nearly every ball they knocked went directly into some one's hands. Ryan pitched only three men out, while Gregg struck out six. The Crescents made six hits that could not be caught and that on live grounds—where the ball had a chance to roll, instead of sticking in the mud, handy for a fielder, where it struck—would have gone on out of reach and been safe. The Crescents were twice left on third. They made eight errors, every one of them costly, and every one due to the fact that they are used to playing on perfect grounds, and unused to games in mud. Billy Lee was spiked to the bone by the Norwich pitcher; Lever had his arm nearly fractured by a pitched ball, and with Lee had to have a physician; Gillis also was hurt. Hatfield worked hard on second base, and his base running, as far as he could go, was up to his standard; but the regular second baseman, Lufbery, was greatly missed. Hatfield is in his element in the field, but out of position on bases. The umpire, a Norwich man, was not especially favorable to the Crescents, and fault was found with several of his decisions. It is said that two of the Norwich runs were made on a palpable foul. But if the umpire was biased, and the grounds in miserable shape, all discomfiture was counterbalanced by the magnificent hospitality of the Norwich people. The Plainfielders were delighted with their treatment, and their hearts were made happy by the genuine compliments paid. Hackett, the Norwich catcher, one of the most genial and gentlemanly fellows on the diamond, said that the Crescents found the ball more times than any other team that had ever visited the grounds; and others added that the Crescents were the best team, outside of the Leaguers, they had ever played against. And every word was in earnest.

The Norwich team are great ball players. Most of their men are famous in the world of sports. They have a tremendous salaried list. But they are so quick to recognize the ability of the Crescent League players and so sure that under different circumstances a close game would result, that they have agreed willingly to a return game. They will receive the same gaarantee they gave the Crescents, and will play at Plainfield, on the Crescent League grounds, at an early date. It will be a great game, whoever wins.

When the Norwich people come to Plainfield they will be accorded the same royal treatment they gave their visitors from the "Crescent City." They will see a beautiful city, will receive its most cordial hospitality, and their nine will play on one of the handsomest ball grounds in the country—in itself a treat. The Crescents will put up great ball, and the Norwich people know it, and will be loaded just as they were yesterday.

The batting order yesterday was as follows:

Norwich—O'Connell, third base; Quinn, first base; Ryan, pitcher; Gardner, second base; Hackett, catcher; Snow, short stop; W. Murphy, left field; Shea, right field; Moore, centre field.

Crescent League—Hatfield, second base; Martin, short stop; Lever, right field; Wiegand, first base; McIndoe, left field; Jones, catcher; Gregg, pitcher; Lee, third base; Gillis, centre field.

The score:

| | R. | BH. | E |
|---|---|---|---|
| Norwich.....2 1 2 1 0 1 0 0 0—7 | 7 | 1 | |
| Crescents.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 | 0 | 5 | |

Batteries—Ryan and Hackett; Gregg and Jones. Umpire—Mr. North. Attendance—1,500.

The West Ends at Bayonne lost because Bergen could not stop Harkins, and because he was otherwise poorly supported. At the end of the fourth inning the score stood 11 to 3 for the Bayonnes, and Harkins left the box disgusted. The score was:

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Bayonne | 2 | 0 | 3 | 6 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —12 |
| West Ends | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | — 5 |

The Westfields lost by hard luck. They put up a fine game against the Star Athletics of Newark, whom the Crescents only defeated by a score of 2 to 0. The Newark team was exactly the same as played here, with the exception that yesterday's third baseman was from the Iroquois. They could not hit O'Neill, the Westfield's pitcher, with any assurance. McLaughlin played a fine game in the field. The score was:

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Stars | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | —2 |
| Westfield | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —0 |

Open to Plainfield's Players.

The Westfield Athletic Club, of which Henry M. Jackson is President and Geo. Peck Secretary, will inaugurate its first tennis tournament on the club grounds at Westfield, on the dates of October 2, 3 and 4, 1890.

There will be handsome silver cups offered for first and second prizes in singles and doubles, besides special prizes. The tournament will be open to the players of any Union county, New Jersey, club.

In connection with this tournament there will be an open match for singles between several of the world's crack players. Entries of contestants for the different prizes will be received by Frank T. Lent at Westfield, Mr. Lent having charge of the arrangements. The entrance fee for each event will be $2 and must accompany each entry. The entries must be received by the management not later than September 25.

A perfect complexion, free from pimple or blemish, is very rarely seen, because few people have perfectly pure blood. And yet, all disfiguring eruptions are easily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Try it, and surprise your friends with the result.

But if Plainfield's Water Company is Illegal, so is Somerville's.

(From the Somerville Messenger.)

Chief Justice Beasley has granted a writ citing the city of Plainfield to show the constitutionality of its action in the granting of a franchise to the Water Works Co. of Plainfield by the Republican Council in 1889. If it is declared to have been illegal, the city will lose thousands of dollars.

A Business-like Offer.

For many years the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have offered, in good faith, $500 reward for a case of Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists at only 50 cents. This wonderful remedy has fairly attained a world-wide reputation. If you have dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; if the eyes are weak, watery and inflamed; if there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice being changed and has a nasal twang; the breath offensive; smell and taste impaired; sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility, you are suffering from nasal catarrh. The more complicated your disease, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive or dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians.

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—NO BOTCHING 1-14-tf

SECOND ANNUAL
EXCURSION
AND CLAM BAKE,
OF THE
Grocers' Protective Association,
Of Plainfield, N. J., to
BOYNTON BEACH,
On LABOR DAY,
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.
Train leaves Plainfield 8 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.
Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. Tickets for the Bake, 50 cents. 8 22 8

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
33 Somerset Street.
Open until 6 P. M. 1 4-tf

F.E.C. KIDNEY BLOOD & LIVER REMEDY
$1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5. TRY IT TO-DAY

DELICATE women need not be told how much they would give to get and stay well. If their blood is free from the poisonous ferments of the Kidneys and Liver, they will never know what "weakness" is. The blood is the source and sustainer of health; it cannot be kept pure except the Kidneys and Liver do their work naturally, and to aid them nothing equals the herbal, guaranteed

F.E.C. KIDNEY BLOOD & LIVER REMEDY
$1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5 TRY IT TO-DAY
For sale by R. J. SHAW, Druggist, Sole Agent. 8 26 eod

Investigating the Quincy Disaster.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—Engineer Babcock, of the ill-fated Vineyard Express, has so far recovered that he will give his testimony regarding the Quincy accident to the Railroad Commissioners today. The rear brakeman will also testify, completing the list of witnesses. The Commissioners' decision will probably be given to the public the last of this or the first of next week.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

CLAIRVOYANT
Mrs. DR. EDWARDS,
By request of her many former patrons, has returned again to Plainfield; can only remain a few weeks, from
August 26 to September 10.
Call at once, as this is positively your last chance.
Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Ladies 50c to $1. Gentlemen, $1.
Can be consulted at the City Hotel, Room 4, (one flight up) Plainfield, N. J. 8 27 tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 182. 6-30-3m

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. SO TRY THEM.

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 27, 1890.

| | |
|---|---|
| Atmor, Mrs S | Millings, Milton M |
| Burrows, Miss Alice | Macauley, Thos |
| Blackwell, Mrs E | Neal, Wm |
| Berry, Mrs Lydia | Oliver, Miss Jennie |
| Boock, Sadie | Phillips, Arthur B |
| Culley, Miss Marie | Probasco, Mrs Martha |
| Coe, Mrs Mary F | Pound, J F |
| Dorden, Wm | Ryan, Wm |
| Foster, T | Sweeny, Miss Jennie L |
| Geary, Mrs John | Sheppard, B B |
| Jones, Isica | Toucey, Mrs Walter B |
| Knapp, Mrs Rachel | Van Tine, Mrs |
| McCauley, Miss Mary | Vanderwoort, Mrs Mary |
| McCaffrey, Miss A Ida | Wilson, Mrs Laura F |
| McCabe, Miss Sarah | Wenzinger, A |
| | Walter, Mrs A M |

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 8 P. M.
SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 4:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.
E. R. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

LOST—A dark red Irish setter dog. Answers name of Jack. Liberal reward for his return to H. Voehl's bakery, Somerset street.

ROOMS to let: near Scott press works. Apply at PRESS office. 8 26 2

A NORWEGIAN, who speaks English fairly, wants place; single and sober; understands horses, carriages and cows. See at 49 Putnam avenue.

WANTED—A Protestant girl for general housework in family of three. 46 Madison avenue. 8 26 2

FOR SALE, at 22 West 7th street, one parlor suit, a cherry bedroom suit, and one black-walnut suit; a black walnut extension table and other household effects. 8 26 6

WANTED—Woman to do general housework. Apply 7 West Second street. 8 26 2

A FRESH cow for sale; calf by her side. W. H. Rogers, Washingtonville. 8 26 6

TO LET—House 7 rooms, on Pearl street; pump in kitchen. Apply to J. Leonard, 31 West 6th street. 8 27 6

STOUT boy wanted to make himself generally useful. Must be able to assist in milking. Apply at PRESS office. 8 25 tf

TO LET—Part of a house. Inquire at 52 Madison avenue. 8 25 tf

NICELY furnished rooms, with board, at 29 West Front street. 8 25 6

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & Co. 6-11-tf

Rexwheat.
The most healthful, appetizing and palatable
SPRING AND SUMMER FOOD
For young, old, weak or strong. Marion Harland calls it: "Delicate and Delicious."
At leading grocers. Wholesale by N. W. FRENCH.

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY.
The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced.
Apollinaris Water; pints, $1.50, quarts, $2 dozen; Belfast Ginger Ale, $1.40 dozen.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEMAREST.
25 PARK AVENUE. 8-6-t

MOY.
8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S
EXPRESS.
OFFICE—39 North Avenue,
Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.
Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-8-y

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 3-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 8 25-y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 3-13-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING,
Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 5-26-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,
NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE.
OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2-4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
46 North Avenue,
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[FORCE'S HOTEL,] No. 5 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting. 2-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 35.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 8-6-t

PECK'S CORNER.
NOT HOW CHEAP
BUT HOW GOOD
AT PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS.
CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

BARGAINS!
To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!
Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:
GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.
GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.
CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.
GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.
TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.
FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.
SELLING OUT CHEAP!
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-8-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters,
Sea Bass, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. Points worth considering:
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,
A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And
Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

A JOURNALISTIC VALEDICTORY.

Editor Leonard Introduces Editor Runyon, and Bids the "Times" Good-Bye.

The editorship of Wm. J. Leonard over the Central New Jersey Times ceased with the issue of yesterday. The edition of next week will be the first under the new management of Frank Willetts Runyon, who has purchased the entire plant, as announced exclusively in THE PRESS of Tuesday, August 19. The retirement of Mr. Leonard from the editorial chair which he has occupied sixteen years has much of that sense of parting sadness experienced by old friends bidding each other a long good-bye. There is a deal of sentiment in the picture of an able veteran newspaper man putting aside the journalistic harness while still in vigorous manhood. But the retiring chief has a worthy successor. The new proprietor and editor, talented, trained and experienced for energetic and effective newspaper work, is in the full strength of earnest life, and gives promise of achieving continued successes. The Times loses in Mr. Leonard an excellent executive head, an honorable and faithful newspaper man; it gains in Mr. Runyon a zealous, tireless worker who will devote his every energy to the development and extension of a valuable newspaper property, whose mission will be the guardianship of the public welfare and of Plainfield's prosperity. Mr. Runyon is sole owner of the Times, as THE PRESS has already stated. Its ideas, opinions and endeavors will be those possessed and exerted by himself. The personality of his paper will be as fearless and pure as his own; its politics will be as clean, honest and straightforward.

The retiring editor, Mr. Leonard, publishes the following valedictory:

As announced last week, the present proprietorship of the Times will end on Monday next. At that time Frank W. Runyon will become the sole and individual owner of the paper and the printing office plant. This number is therefore the last to be issued under the old proprietorship which extends, in part at least, over a period of more than nineteen years.

The Times never had stancher friends than it has at this moment, and the old management believes that these will remain true to the paper under the new manager and editor, and that many new friends will be found to join their number.

Mr. Runyon is well qualified to make a good newspaper. He is an educated journalist, having this profession in view during his entire course as a student at Cornell University, where he was graduated in 1883. While at Cornell he was a writer on several New York journals, besides being one of the leading members of the editorial corps of two of the college papers. Immediately upon his graduation he became one of the New York Sun staff, and was making a name for himself when his health failed. His friends feared that he was to become a confirmed invalid, and he gave himself diligently to the task of recovering his strength, first by a forced resting, then by traveling, performing meanwhile such literary tasks as he could safely undertake. The years have brought him health again, and he is ready to take up his chosen life-work in the very vigor of his young manhood.

Mr. Runyon was born in Plainfield. Naturally, therefore, he has an abiding interest in the town and will use the columns of his paper to advance its highest moral and material well-being.

It is necessarily with twinges of regret that the old management parts from the excellent constituency with whom it has communed from week to week for many a year. In doing so it cordially asks its friends to give the incoming manager and editor a generous welcome and a loyal support.

The Handsomest of Its Kind.

Recent improvements made in Force's Hotel, on North avenue, reflect credit alike on the proprietor and workmen engaged. The latest improvement is the change of the bar from its former location in the rear of the office to a commodious front room, which has been handsomely papered in figured cartridge, or Boston ingrain, by W. S. Chase, who is excelled by none as a workman in his line of business and judgment in the matter of selection of paper and colors. The floor is covered with linoleum cloth, and the bar and surrounding woodwork are finished in cherry.

John Robertson, who has had long experience in large hotels in New York city, has charge of the bar, and it is needless to say he is adept in his business and understands how to cater to the wants of the numerous patrons of the hotel. T. O. Doane did the refitting of the bar. John L. Force put in the electric wires. Messrs Marsh & Ayres, of No. 10 Park avenue, were the contractors for refitting the room, which is the handsomest of its kind in the city.

Bound Brook Briefs.

(Special to THE DAILY PRESS.)

The turn-table at the Central Railroad roundhouse jumped from its pivot Monday night, and one of the iron braces was broken. The accident was very troublesome, as no engines could be turned. Men are busily at work repairing the damage.

The Raritan River now affords fine fishing for eels, catfish, pike and bass. Yesterday two natives caught a fine string. When one goes fishing at Bound Brook the proper thing to do is to go in a scow a mile down the river, and bites will be plentiful.

The death of Mrs. B. F. Littell is hourly expected.

The Clam Bake Open to All.

The public has been clamoring so loudly for admission to the great clam bake which the grocers are planning as a feature of their excursion to Boynton Beach, Labor Day, that it has been decided to open it to all who make the trip. Tickets for both excursion and clam bake may be procured at every grocery store.

THE BROTHER'S SIDE OF THE CASE.

He Presents Many Mitigating Circumstances That Excuse Much and Will Excuse More.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In justice to myself and my family, it is but right that under the circumstances—after having been so often misquoted by the papers, relative to my position towards my sister—I should make myself understood through your columns touching my relationship with her, as spoken of in last Thursday's PRESS. The writer, whoever he may have been—certainly not your reporter—sought to do me great injustice in the article headed: "A Brother's Brutality." That article intimated that I had abused my sister and had cast her adrift, when the fact of the matter is that I have always protected her and given her a home under my roof, even after the time she made complaint against me.

It is true that the counsel who appeared for her did offer her some money, not perhaps so much out of charity, as the article would intimate, as in his endeavor to gain more sympathy for an undeserving woman. I did not cast her adrift that night, nor have I since, the truth of the matter being that she is still living with me. But I now desire to state through your columns, in order that my motives may not be misconstrued or impugned, that I propose to request her counsel to ask her to leave my premises; and in case of her failure so to do I shall deem it my duty, in as gentle a manner as possible, to request her to leave, which if she fails to do I must take some measures to dispossess her. Her actions before the trial, and since, have been entirely unbearable. Her condition is not of such a state as to make things as pleasant as a sister should towards her brother. She is a constant thorn in the side of my wife, and makes things very unpleasant for me. Since her supposed victory of the case, she has an idea, which she constantly throws out in my house, that the law compels me to do just exactly as she bids, and time after time she is constantly threatening law.

I do not wish to enter into the merits of your last Thursday's article, but this much I have to say. Those who heard the trial—and many were there—will deny the article entirely. This much, however, can be said: there was nothing shown that she came here for the purpose of collecting a debt. To the contrary, I can refer anybody who is interested to Frank B. Fay, No. 1 Pemberton Square, Boston, who will certify that I offered to my sister a permanent home, and for that purpose, and no other, I took her and her child into my house. As to the general character of myself, or complainant, I take great pleasure in referring you to my uncle, Chas. Wix, 53 Dey street, New York, who is acquainted with all these matters and understands her conduct for the past thirty years.

Now, sir, it is very distasteful to me to make any reference concerning her, or to drag family matters into public print, but I have a reputation and some honor at stake, and it is only right and just that the public who were not at the trial, hear the facts, and be informed of at least a portion of my story. She seeks daily to slander me at various places and to various persons, and I do this as a personal safety to myself.

OTTO HARTMANN.

[The article in THE PRESS merely presented such evidence as was given in court. Under it the Justice was compelled to hold Hartmann. As THE PRESS has already said, it believes but little of Mrs. Goetze's story, and her brother is entirely justifiable in taking means to remove her from his house in view of her recent proceedings.—ED.]

THE LOCAL FRUIT MARKET.

The Best Week of the Season for Peaches, Plums and Melons—Prices That Prevail.

It is possible to get some really delicious peaches this week. There are a few peaches ripening in New Jersey, in the Hudson River Valley, in Northern Pennsylvania and in Ohio. Several hundred baskets arrive daily at the markets this week from these various points; most of them are well-flavored, and many of them attractive in appearance and of good size. They sell, however, for very high prices. The best come from New Jersey, and the very best of them wholesale—if selling by single baskets from commission house may be termed wholesaling—at as high as $6 a half-bushel basket. Common peaches readily sell for upward of $2 per basket. There is quite a supply of Crawfords from Ohio also, but it is necessary for retailers of fruit to get from 40 cents to $1 25 for a two-quart basket of these peaches to realize their usual profits. Common but good fruit is sold at the lowest price, while the higher price is demanded for the very choice New Jersey Rare Ripes.

There are probably more plums of all varieties in the market this week than there will be again this year. This is "plum week." But there is no great quantity of plums. However, housekeepers, if they are willing to pay the price, may this week obtain almost any variety of plums they desire, and at the most advantageous price of the season, unless it be damsons. They will be of better quality and less price later on in the season. Any good egg plum or green gage wholesales for upward of $7 per barrel, and really fine ones go as high as $12. When sold in the five-pound basket, now so popular with shippers of plums, about 60 cents per basket is the wholesale price, and they are retailed at from 75 cents to $1 per basket.

Both watermelons and muskmelons are more abundant and cheaper this week than before this season. The outlook for a fine crop of good cranberries from both New Jersey and Cape Cod is very favorable.

THE WORLD'S TELEGRAPHS.

Interesting Facts and Figures Gathered in Many Countries.

Sixty-one per cent. of the telegraph lines of the world are owned and operated by the governments. Of the sum total of lines, those in the United States constitute more than 30 per cent. Leaving this country out of consideration, about 88 per cent. of the remainder is under control of governments; or, leaving the United States and Canada out, fully 95 per cent is owned by governments. There are at least 2,500,000 miles of wires in use in the world.

Tariffs vary greatly. In North America the body of the message only is charged for; in other countries the address, or signature, or both are billable. In the United States the toll ranges from 25 cents to 81 for 10 words, according to the distance; in the Argentine Republic it is 40 cent for 10 words; in Denmark and in Sweden and Norway, 13.4 cents for 10 words, and 13.4 cents for each additional word; in Ecuador, 50 cents for 10 words; in Egypt, 48.6 cents for 10 words; in Germany 1.4 cents per word, the minimum being 14 cents per message; in the United Kingdom 6 pence for 12 words; in the Cape Colonies, 1 shilling for 10 words, and 6 pence for each additional five words or part thereof; in Guatemala, 25 cents for 10 words, exclusive of the address; in Honduras, 25 cents for 10 Spanish words, and double that amount for English words; in Italy, 20 cents for 15 words, and 1 cent for each additional word; in Japan, 4 cents per word, including the address and signature; in Portugal, 5 cents for the first word, and 1 cent for each additional word; in Roumania, 1.56 cents per word; in Siam, from 35 cents to $3.65 cents per word; in Switzerland, one-half cent per word; in Turkey, 2 to 4 cents per word, and in Venezuela, 20 cents for 12 words. In New Zealand messages are classified as urgent, ordinary, and delayed, the rates being respectively 2 shillings, 1 shilling and sixpence for 10 words, with a halfpenny for each additional word.

In mileage, relative number of offices, popular use of the telegraph and cost of sending a message, we are not in advance of leading countries, and we are even behind some of the inferior ones. Within the years 1870-89 the increase in population in England has been 18 per cent., the increase in the number of letters carried 70 per cent., and the increase in the number of telegrams 455 per cent. In the United States in the same time the increase in population has been 50 per cent. and the increase in the number of messages 350 per cent. In the ratio of increase of messages to increase of population the English have beaten us three to one.—Forum.

SIGNING DOCUMENTS.

An Ancient Mode of Giving Formal Assent to Written Contracts.

The practice of signing as a mode of giving formal assent to written contracts, or characters, is as old as, and in one sense older than, the art of handwriting. Among all people the act of authenticating a document was accomplished by the most illiterate persons either by affixing a stamp with the signet ring they carried, or by imitating the process of signing by some other rude device. Conspicuous among these more rustic sign-manuals was that which Gibbon mentions as adopted by Theodoric, the great Ostrogoth, King of Italy. He had a gold plate made on which the first few letters of his name were cut in Greek characters; and when a paper had to be signed by him the plate was laid upon it, and His Majesty, passing the pen along the paper in the interstices of the metal, traced by these means the royal signature, which he could never remember in any other way. A still more barbarous and ungainly device was that which was invented, or at least practiced, by the Turkish Sultans of Iconium, when that city was their capital. They simply dipped their hands in the bowl of ink presented to them, and, laying it flat upon the paper or papyrus, left the indelible impress of it in gigantic and conspicuous outlines. A somewhat similar habit is reported from Farther India, where land-owners are, or were at a recent date, accustomed to dip their thumbs in the sandal dye, and, by pressing it on the paper, leave their sign manual, or, as in this case, it would perhaps be termed their sign-digital. This is the case with the rajahs, who can not even write their names; but it is said that in another part of India a Brahmin that was highly educated resorted to a practice very like that of the Iconian Sultans whenever it was his intention to make a very generous and comprehensive grant, the character of which he thought would be the best typified by a mark made with the open hand smeared with ink. The origin of the mark with which illiterates now sign is enveloped in some doubt; but it would be quite wrong to suppose that the cross they now use was employed in very early times. On the contrary, it is said that for many centuries after the "Dark Ages," those who could not afford to wear a ring or keep a signet, used to make a special and peculiar mark, such as an arrowhead, in which it was supposed, and perhaps rightly, that their autographs could be recognized.—St. Louis Republic.

The Proverbial Straw.

A woman rushes into an up-town station-house bathed in tears, but evidently more angry than sorrowful.

"And what can we do for you, madam?" asked the sergeant politely, as she stopped in front of his desk, exhausted by her emotions.

"Oh, sir! my rascal of a husband has played me such a scurvy trick!"

"What has he done?"

"Why, gone and cut his throat in the parlor that's just been newly furnished, and his wicked old blood has blotted out all the roses in our handsome Moquette carpet. Oh, dear! oh, dear! why couldn't he have done it in the garret?"—Judge.

—A South Carolina paper contains an advertisement for bids from undertakers who will agree to conduct funerals "reverently."

LOST KENTUCKY MINE.

Stories of Large Amounts of Silver Taken from the Mountains.

One of the most persistent, and yet one of the most elusive traditions of Kentucky is that of Swift's Silver Mine, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. Half a dozen mountain counties claim to have within the borders of each the original mine, but as no search has ever revealed the existence of argentiferous ore in any of them, half a dozen other counties claim that a mistake may have been made, and hope the wonderful mine may be within their own limits. Every now and then some person crazed on the subject makes his appearance with a map or chart, assuming to show by actual survey the location of the long lost mine.

John Swift was in East Tennessee and Eastern Kentucky as early as 1761, accompanied by two Frenchmen, and somewhere in that region they coined, or pretended to coin, large quantities of silver money. There were no mints in the United States then, and Swift was arrested upon the suspicion of being a counterfeiter. This was in North Carolina. The coin turned out to be purer silver than that of the British mint, and he was released. Swift left Bell County, Ky., because the Indians were troublesome, and he gave a lady of that county the journal of his wanderings. His journal gave a vague account of about $54,000 and "crowns" which he and his companions concealed at various places in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky to facilitate their journey and secure safety. Ever since that journal became public search parties have hunted for the hidden wealth as persistently as ever Eastern people hunted for the hidden treasure of Captain Kidd, or the Southern people searched for the secret treasure-cave of Captain Blackbeard.

It goes without saying that nobody has ever found any signs of the treasure. True, there are more or less plausible traditions in various localities. For instance, in Carter County ancient tools and instruments used to coin money were found at the foot of a cliff many years ago. The crumbling away of a ledge of the cliff had allowed the tools to fall from their concealment. It is claimed, also, that one of the first settlers of Carter County found near his pioneer cabin a quantity of peculiar cinders so heavy as to cause him to have them tested. The result was the extraction of sufficient silver to make several silver spoons, which, it was said, were as late as 1870 in possession of members of the family. Crucibles, furnaces, cinders and other relics of mineral smeltings, upon a small scale, have been found in several counties and attributed to a vicinage of Swift's silver mine. In 1871 three Cherokee Indians visited Wolfe County and carried away two sacks full of some weighty substance, which the residents in the neighborhood united in believing was some of Swift's silver. The presence of the Indians was well known, their object plainly guessed, yet nobody watched them closely enough to discover the place where they procured their treasure.

SYMPATHY WASTED.

How Street Gamins Fooled Many Kind-Hearted Persons.

It is seldom that the New York street urchin fails to get amusement out of any thing where he sees the chance. Some youngsters saw an opportunity recently in the union of the following elements: A pair of trousers, an old jacket and vest, a hat and some straw. The straw was put in the other elements, and the whole, when completed, made a very fair specimen of the genus "tramp." The boys carried the figure around to a neighboring church, and placed it in a position which was skillfully intended to give the impression to passers-by of a fellow-being in agony. Then they hid to watch developments, says the New York Times. A lady and gentleman passed the church. "Oh, look at that poor fellow, John! He seems to be ill," remarked the lady. The small boys didn't say any thing, but kept their eyes on "John." "John," who was a courtly cavalier of the olden days, benevolently went up and touched the figure, saying: "What's the matter with you, my man?" He did not wait to get an answer, but left suddenly, and his departure was punctuated by various cat calls and scoffing remarks.

Many persons passed the figure, and many, overcome by emotions of pity, when up and spoke words of kind encouragement to it, patted it on the shoulder, shook it, and then went away quickly, accompanied by cries of "Git de ambulance fur de man, boss! Call der cop! He's McGinty's brother, boss!" and various other expressions of Americanized Anglo-Saxon that were more or less forcibly understood by those who heard them.

The urchins kept it up until one of their number suggested carrying the figure to the park and "make a soo'cide or murder." The idea was seized, and the poor agonized figure was hurried from the church steps and borne off into the surrounding darkness with a yell that made a nervous old lady who was standing on the street corner shiver and exclaime to her aged companion: "Laudy! look at those boys a-tormentin' that poor man."

Cure for Writer's Cramp.

John Brown, stenographer, tells the Globe-Democrat: "People often ask me when I sit down to do a long job of short-hand why I lay before me so many pencils of different sizes. My reason for it is that by picking up pencils of different sizes, and consequently weights, I am enabled to rest my hands while continuing to work. Each different pencil brings into active play different muscles, and I never suffer from cramps, as might be the case if I used but one size pencil. A horse going over an ordinary turnpike, up hill and down, will be in better condition at the end of a day than a horse which has traveled the same number of miles on a race track."

Queer Canine Mania.

There is a dog in Philadelphia that has a mania for tearing off door-knobs and plates and wrecking the woodwork of the doors generally.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.
Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 25c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers.
29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
20 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St 4-tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 5-26-w

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
80. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 6-21-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This piece is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig place. 5-15-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front St eet,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This W ek
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St. 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & Co.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 5-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-5-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-25-y

P. AGNEY.
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 307. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 703, Plainfield, N. J.
All new work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 6-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year.
NEAR FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!
22c. Pound.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street
1-18-tf

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,
That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.
Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.
Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.
ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Carpenters and Builders.
PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK 6-3-tf

G. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—32 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 7,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot.
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 5-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
AND HIS
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
ALSO
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Process Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sept

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.
PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENION, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten and School,
48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),
REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.
In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application. 8 21 2m

HARNED ACADEMY,
A Boarding and Day School,
Will reopen September 15, 1890.
For circulars and other information, address the Principal,
EDWARD B. HARNED,
187 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J. 8 28 1m

Professional Cards.
MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol. For men only. Hours 9 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 9 p. m. H. HORNER, 25 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 7-25-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 6-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer.
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.
A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my1671 ROBERT E. COOK

J. G. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
. 6 E. FRONT STREET. my179

Miscellaneous.
RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
24 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 137. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my29

J. B. STICKLER
21 East 54th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-to6-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR
TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY.
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.

YOUNG NOODLES.

His Terrible Time Trying to Lose an Umbrella.

Ycung Noodles has often been heard to say that a gentleman's umbrella should always be in its neatness and even in the careful manner of its rolling, an outward and visible sign of his own inward and spiritual grace—that it should be regarded, in a word, as a most important article of dress. On rainy days, at all events, the man who is well booted and well gloved is not well attired, notwithstanding the French saying, unless he carries a proper parapluie. Noodles himself has been more than once seen to seek shelter from a storm in a doorway, in order to avoid undoing his umbrella and thus spoiling its walking-stick-like symmetry.

The other day, however, while hastening down F street to meet an important engagement, he was overtaken by a squall, which turned his umbrella inside out and transformed it into a hopeless wreck in less time than it takes to tell the tale, says the Washington Star. He dodged into a shop and waited there five minutes until the shower had passed and the sun shone out again. While thus delayed he wrapped the umbrella up into some sort of shape and stood it conspicuously near the door; then he walked back to the rear of the store and looked over the stock.

"DOAN' FERGIT YOUR UMBRELLA, SAH."

"I'll give somebody an opportunity to steal it," said Noodles to himself. "It would never do for me to be seen walking down the street with an umbrella like that."

But, to his disgust, the umbrella was still there by the doorway when he came back. He took it reluctantly and walked out upon the sidewalk. A very pretty girl chanced to pass by at the moment and bowed to him; he was sure that her eye fell upon the umbrella in his hand, and that she smiled slyly at it.

"I must get rid of it in some way," he thought. "The best way will be to go into this saloon and leave it behind me."

So Noodles turned into a place that was advertised as a gin mill by the word "Cafe" in big letters on the outside. He took a dose of whisky with cracked ice in a champagne glass, and leaned the umbrella up against the bar while he drank. Then, having paid for the beverage, he started to go out without the umbrella; but, unfortunately, he touched it with his foot as he turned to depart, and it fell down with a most embarrassing crash. The noise attracted the attention of the next customer, who picked the umbrella up and said politely:

"Is this yours, sir?"

Noodles gritted his teeth and accepted the umbrella with pretended thanks.

"I must dispose of this awful thing," he reflected, as he let fly the screen door of the saloon behind him. "To deposit it in the gutter is not practicable. Perhaps the best plan will be to abandon it in a barber's shop. I have missed my engagements already, and I may as well get shaved."

So Noodles descended into a "tonsorial parlor," and reposed his graceful person in a reclining chair, while the colored man in attendance tucked him in with a sheet fastened about his neck and a few napkins. He had taken care to leave the umbrella, as he entered, in the rack by the door, believing that, on such a showery day, some one would be sure to walk off with it.

While he underwent the scraping operation he kept a stealthy eye upon it, but it remained undisturbed. The time came for the barber to say: "Bay rum, sir?" but no one had seemed to care to appropriate that umbrella.

"Give me a hair cut," said Noodles, still hopeful.

The shearing consumed half an hour more, but still the umbrella had not found anybody to steal it. So Noodles slid out of the chair, tipped the barber with a silver quarter, was helped on with his coat, adjusted his necktie, paid his check and had actually opened the door half way to go when the colored razor manipulator touched him on the shoulder and remarked:

"Don't fergit your umbrella, sah."

"It isn't my umbrella," replied Noodles in desperation.

"Dis am de one you brought in, sah."

"I tell you you're mistaken; I had no umbrella. I never saw that thing before. I don't want it, and I won't take it. To blazes with it, any way!"

"M'sieu is in error, if he will allow me so to say," interrupted the cashier. "Zat umbrell is ze one I saw him come in wiz a few moments ago. We would not permit M'sieu to rob himself of hees property."

Noodles didn't say another word. He just looked remarkably savage, and, taking the umbrella, marched out.

In the first half block he walked he met three of his friends in succession, and he was convinced that each one of them took notice of the umbrella. Then an inspiration seized him, and, standing the ill-omened article hastily and unobtrusively up against an iron railing, he strode swiftly on, not looking behind. Just as he was chuckling and congratulating himself that he had disposed of the infernal thing at last, he heard a small boy's cry behind him of:

"Hi, mister! You've left your bumbershute!"

And then there was a patter of feet. But Noodles did not wait for the small boy to catch up; he took to his own heels and ran like any thing up a side street until the pursuer and the umbrella were distanced. He was free of the incubus at last!

Two hours and a half later, after spending awhile at the club, he reached his home. He found his sister in the drawing-room, and she, looking up from her book, said:

"What a careless fellow you are, Dolly! You lost your umbrella downtown, and if I hadn't myself seen the name and address on the inside of the silk you would never have seen it again. I gave the boy who brought it back fifty cents for his honesty before I discovered how torn to pieces it was. Pray, how on earth did it get so damaged?"—Boston Herald.

He Was the First.

St. Peter—None but the good can enter. What have you ever done to gain entrance here?

Austin Man—Done! Why, I was the only man in the State who did not get off a joke on the new dam they are now building across the Colorado river.

St. Peter gazed at him long, but with tender, loving eye. Then he threw the gates open wide enough to admit a freight train sideways, as he murmured softly: "Verily, you belong among the truly good."—Texas Siftings.

History All Wrong.

Historical Editor (Great Daily)—a reader asked for the names of the Bostonians who participated in the famous "tea party," which dumped the British taxed tea into Boston harbor. I found the list in an old print and sent it to the composing-room; but I am told you ordered it out.

Managing Editor—Indade OI did thot. Sure that lisht was all wrong. There wasn't any Oirish names in it at all at all—exciptin' one, an' he wor a Scotchman.—Puck.

Knew What He Was About.

New Boarder—That charming young lady whom I saw playing on the piano in the parlor, Mrs. Irons, is a sister of yours, I presume?

Pleased Landlady—No, Mr. McGinnis, she is my daughter.

"Is it possible! How very young you must have married!"

[New boarder gets best cut of roast beef, and his share of the pudding has all the plums.]—Chicago Tribune.

At It Again.

"Hello!" exclaimed Mr. Chugwater, looking over the morning paper, "here's another tragedy in high life."

"What is it?" eagerly inquired the other members of the Chugwater family.

"Giraffe in Van Humbug's circus broke his neck by getting it tangled in a telegraph wi—If you throw that saucer at me, Mrs. Chugwater, I'll plaster your face all over with this mashed potato!"—Chicago Tribune.

On a Business Basis.

"It was a brave act, young man," said the grateful father, with deep feeling. "At the peril of your life you rushed in to the burning building and saved my daughter. How can I ever repay you?"

"Would a couple of dollars be too much?" suggested the brave rescuer.—Chicago Tribune.

A FRIENDLY REGARD.

Rank Prohibitionist—How long have you been in the clutches of this vile demon, whisky?

Old Rats, the Soak—Oh, on'y 'bout forty-t'ree years. You see, boss, when I wus a kid I had a awful tussel wid de ager, and everybody t'ought de jig were up; but whisky saved my life, and natur'ly I been sorter under obligation to de old stuff ever since.—Judge.

A Sign of Luck.

Julius Smiff (recovering from the collision)—Wut's de number ob dat hack?

A Sympathizer—I suppose you want to prosecute the driver, don't you?

Julius Smiff—No, I wants ter play policy. De hack done killed my wife, ain't it?—Texas Siftings.

Neither Would Suit.

Mrs. Fangle—Let us go to the seaside, John, dear.

Fangle—Oh, the air there is too salt.

Mrs. Fangle—Then let us go to the mountains.

Fangle—No, indeed; there it is too fresh.—Judge.

Deadly Ammunition.

Mrs. Lonely Rhoades—Oh, Henry, Towser is dead, and you've taken your gun to be repaired! What ever shall I do to frighten the tramps away?

Mr. L. Rhoades—I don't know, my dear, unless you bake some of your home-made pies.—Light.

There Must Have Been Trouble.

Spit (to joint of meat)—What's the trouble between you and the cook?

Joint—Nothing.

Spit—What is he giving you that roasting for then?—West Shore.

What's in a Name?

The name given to a baby was Lynn C. Doyle, and, wonderful to relate, no one seemed to think of the strange sound it made when pronounced.—The Jury.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

HOW TO ROW.

How to Handle Yourself and Your Oars So As to Get Good Results.

In describing a stroke which you should use, says Walter B. Peet, in Harper's Young People, I will not give the exact stroke of any college, but such a one as will enable you to easily catch the stroke of the college you may attend from the foundation you have acquired from my directions. While you are learning the principles of the stroke, which will take you a week or longer, the whole crew should not row together, though you should all sit in the boat. You should row in pairs, such as "bow" and "two," who pulls an oar on the opposite side of the boat from the "bow" oar. For a month at least you should use stationary seats.

Take hold of your oars with a hand's breadth between your hands. Commence your stroke by reaching forward toward the stern of the boat with both body and arms and putting the blade of the oar in the water, being careful to swing forward from the hips without bending the middle of the back any more than possible. In the swing forward, or "swing down," as it is called, great care should be taken that the last part of this movement should be very slowly and firmly made. The shoulders should be down and back, as shown in Fig. 1, and not up and forward, as is shown in Fig. 2.

FIG. 1.—GOOD FULL REACH.

In dropping the oars into the water, the lower part of the blades should be turned slightly toward the bow of the boat. They should not be dropped in straight up and down. Drop your blades into the water by raising your hands when you are at full reach. You are at "full reach" when your arms are extended and your body bent forward. Be sure that the blade is entirely under water, but do not put it down too deep. Swing back past the perpendicular, at the same time bringing in the hands until they just touch the body. At this point the body should be held firmly, as in Figure 3, without settling down, as is shown in Figure 4. The pull through the water should be strong and firm and not jerky. As the hands come in the elbows should not be spread out, neither should they be very close to the side; they should be between the two. When you have brought your hands in close to the body, immediately drop them to raise the blade from the water, and do not turn your hands to "feather" your oar until they are dropped.

FIG. 2.—BAD FULL REACH.

FIG. 3.—GOOD FINISH.

Start your hands and your body together as you swing toward the stern of the boat, which movement is called the "recover," but "shoot" your hands away from your body very quickly until your arms are straight. The blade should always clear the water on the recover by three or four inches, and should be kept at a uniform distance from the water. When you "feather" your oar, you should chiefly use your hand nearest the rowlock, the oar turning a little in your other hand. In your forward and backward swings be sure to keep your body directly over the keel of the boat, and do not lean either to one side or the other.

After you have learned to row this stroke on stationary seats, use sliding seats. The points that I have given you above can be used when you row on your sliding seats without change. But I want to caution you not to start your slides toward the bow of the boat until you begin to pull on your oars. Never push your stretcher before your oar is under water and you are pulling on it. On the recover the slide, hands and body should start together. During the first part of the recover the slide should move rapidly, and during the last part correspondingly slowly. You can add to the speed of your boat by pushing your legs against the stretcher hard when you are using the slides.

FIG. 4.—BAD FINISH.

GRANDMA'S CAT.

The True Story of What a Persevering Little Kitten Accomplished.

Grandma, I think your grandchildren would like to hear about the tiny letter carrier whose name was just Pussy. This pussy was without a home last summer, and came to the house of Mrs. Brown and cried to come in. Mrs. B. was sorry for her, opened the door and let in the stray cat, but when Mr. Brown came home he told his wife the kitty could not remain in the house, for he disliked cats so much he could endure them around. So Mrs. B. put her in the yard and fitted up a box for her to sleep in.

Every day Pussy would come to the kitchen window for something to eat. She never came in the house till in the month of October. One evening when Mr. and Mrs. Brown were sitting in their parlor they heard a noise inside the blinds. Mr. B. looked and saw a mouse between the blinds and window sash, so what does his wife do but run out in the yard and bring Pussy, and she quickly caught the mouse. After that the gentleman said that Pussy need not be put out of doors any more; she could stay indoors.

The sixth day of November Mrs. B. wanted to send word up to the third story to some friends and tell them about the election, so a card was written and pinned on Pussy's collar, then she was placed on the stairs and told she must go up. She could not understand at first, but after awhile went.

When she came to the room the door was open and Pussy walked in and commenced to mew, then rubbed against the lady's dress and mewed louder. The lady did not know what Pussy wanted and did not take any notice of her for some time. Pussy would not be quiet, and kept making more noise until she made the lady look and see the card. Pussy was so pleased, and seemed to think she had done something very nice. Ever since she has brought the letters upstairs.

One day a large envelope came, and Pussy had hard work to get up the stairs with it, but she was so happy when she reached the third story. Another morning she was sent with a paper. Poor thing! She stopped about midway up the basement stairs and began to cry because the paper would get between her legs. Mrs. Brown stood there and fixed the paper all right again and told kitty she must go. At last she accomplished it, but it took a long while and a great deal of urging and coaxing to have her succeed.

A little bell on her collar would tingle, tingle, then all would be still, then the bell would tingle, tingle again, and at last she came in the room delighted. When Pussy brought the mail she was always petted very much and given something very nice to eat or milk to drink.

Don't you think this was a nice letter carrier? Now, if all grandma's children will try as hard to do what they are told as Pussy did they will surely succeed.

Remember the motto: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."—Christian at Work.

A GAS-JET PROPELLER.

A Pleasing Toy Which Most Any Boy Ought to Be Able to Make.

To make a toy propeller—or, rather, a pair of propellers—take an ordinary cork, such as is used for ginger-ale bottles, and cut it through the middle. After this, bore a hole through each piece with a red-hot knitting needle.

A PLEASING TOY.

Make four cuts or notches in a slanting direction (A) in the sides of each piece, and insert cardboard blades about 3 inches long by 1 inch wide (B). Now take a piece of smooth string (C), and, after making a knot at the end, slip on a glass bead (D), and following this a piece of cardboard the size of a silver half-dime. These form a bearance for the propeller, which should now be threaded on to the string.

About six inches above the first propeller make another knot and repeat the above directions, taking care, however, that the second propeller has the blades in a contrary direction to the first.

If the string is now carried up to the ceiling, directly over the gas jet, with the lower propeller about 12 inches or 15 inches from the flame, they will be seen to revolve rapidly in opposite directions, and the effect is very curious.

A bullet or other small weight attached to the end of the string to keep it straight would be an advantage.—Golden Days.

Electricity Saved the Horses.

An arc light machine of about eight or nine lights' capacity, with bare wire lines, was put up in a large brewery in Philadelphia, two arc lights lighting the stable, in which there were thirty or more valuable horses. One evening a fire started in the hay loft in the story above, where there were no lights of any kind used, and soon the flame and smoke spread to the stable-room and menaced the horses. The proprietor happened to strike the idea of starting up the electric lights at this juncture. Their brilliant rays saved the animals, which were removed without trouble, and the lights were kept burning during the progress of the fire. Its spread was limited by the efficient work of the fire department. The arc lamp globes were at times full of water, but to the surprise of the firemen the lights were not extinguished, but assisted them in their efforts very materially.

Without Honor at Home.

Wife—See here, I want you to understand distinctly that I am not going to be guided by what you say. I don't wonder they call you a fool. That's exactly what you are, in my opinion.

Husband (base-ball umpire)—That will cost you fifty— (remembering his position) All right, my dear.—Munsey's Weekly.

Still True to His Colors.

Weary Raggles—What has become of Lazy Luke?

Tired Tatters—He's at work.

"Horrors!"

"He's at work trying to perfect a labor-saving machine."

"Oh!"—Puck.

LAWS OF OUR FATHERS.

Full List of Connecticut's Famous Puritan Enactments.

Quakers Had a Hard Time in Colonial Days, and Tailors and Barbers Were Closely Watched—A Bad Country for Divorce Lawyers.

The term "blue laws" is applied to such as relate to the private consciences of individuals. All countries formerly had such statutes, and the thirteen colonies were no exception before the revolution. The code of Connecticut is often spoken of in this respect. Those most noted were of the colony of New Haven, which was united with the Connecticut colony in 1665. Here is a full copy of the New Haven lists, often called the "Connecticut Blue Laws:"

The Governor and magistrates convened in General Assembly, and the supreme power under God, of this independent dominion.

Conspiracy against the dominion shall be punished with death.

Whosoever says there is a power and jurisdiction above and over this dominion shall suffer death and the loss of his property.

Whosoever attempts to change or overturn this dominion shall suffer death.

No one shall be a freeman, or give vote, unless he be converted and a member in full communion of one of the churches allowed in this dominion.

Each freeman shall swear by the blessed God to bear true allegiance to this dominion, and that Jesus is the only King.

No Quaker or dissenter from the established worship of this dominion shall be allowed to give a vote for the election of magistrate or any officer.

No food or lodging shall be offered a Quaker, Adamite or other heretic.

If any person shall turn Quaker he shall be banished, and not suffered to return on pain of death.

No Quaker priest shall abide in this dominion; he shall be banished and suffer death on return.

Priests may be seized by any one without a warrant.

No one shall run on the Sabbath day, or walk in his garden, or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting.

No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair or shave on the Sabbath day.

The Sabbath shall begin at sunset on Saturday.

To pick an ear of corn growing on a neighbor's garden shall be deemed a theft.

A person accused of trespass in the night shall be judged guilty until he clear himself by his oath.

No one shall buy or sell land without permission of the selectmen.

When it appears that an accused person has confederates, and refuses to discover them, he may be racked.

A drunkard shall have a master appointed by the selectmen, who are to debar him the liberty of buying and selling.

Whoever publishes a lie to the prejudice of his neighbor shall be put in the stocks, or receive ten stripes.

No minister shall keep a school.

Men stealers shall suffer death.

Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver, or bone lace above two shillings a yard shall be presented by the grand jurors, and the selectmen shall tax the offender three hundred pounds on his estate.

A debtor in prison, swearing he has no estate, shall be laid out and sold, to make satisfaction.

Whoever brings cards or dice into this dominion shall pay a fine of five pounds.

No one shall read the common prayer book, keep Christmas, or set days, or play on any instrument except the drum or jew's-harp.

No Gospel minister shall join people in marriage. The magistrate only shall join them in marriage, as they do it with less scandal to Christ's church.

When parents refuse their children convenient marriage the magistrate shall determine the point.

The selectmen, on finding the children ignorant, may take them away from their parents and put them in better hands at the expense of their parents.

A man who strikes his wife shall pay a fine of ten pounds.

A woman who strikes her husband shall be punished as the court directs.

A wife shall be deemed good evidence against her husband.

No man shall court a maid, in person or by letter, without first obtaining consent of her parents.

Married persons must live together or be imprisoned in jail.

Every male shall have his hair cut round according to a cap.

Obliterating the Lines.

No thoughtful person can fail to see how the lines are being obliterated and how men are taking up the work of women and women that of men, and both succeeding, because work itself has been forced into broader lines by the combined influence of society and humanity. Women lawyers want to be known as lawyers, not women. Women doctors want to be known as skillful physicians, not as women; and the woman writer sends out her work under male nomenclature that it may be judged upon its merits and not handicapped by the estimate that the followers of tradition and the inheritors of prejudice always put upon work signed by a woman's name.

The Joke Came True.

A bon mot, to which fate has since added an ironical comment, has been attributed to the ex-Emperor of Brazil. On being shown one of those mechanical wonders which always interested him more than the cares of government, a wheel that made we know not how many revolutions in the minute, "Why," said the monarch, "it actually beats our South American republics."

A Vessel Manned by Monks.

A vessel arrived the other day at Odessa which belongs to the monastery of Mount Athos, and is manned entirely by monks, all of whom perform their duties on board arrayed in the habit of their order. She is named the Prophet Elias.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,

12 West Second Street,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,

Invites especial attention to his stock of

Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.

In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under

WATERPROOF SHEDS.

Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction. TELEPHONE 129.

Lumber constantly on hand.

Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.

4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,

NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in

Pianos & Organs.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.

3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,

79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.

7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,

[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD,]

Furniture & Bedding,

21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.

Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom

FURNITURE.

Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.

8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES

LOW PRICES.

At C. W. FORCE'S.

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.

11 West Front Street.

TRY

B. T. Barnes

Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.

Simon Pure—No Adulteration.

12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL.

OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV

YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station. 12-

Willcox & Gibbs

S. M. CO.

Orders left at

95 E. FRONT STREET

Will be promptly attended to.

NEEDLES, OIL, &c.

F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.

1869. JULES BOUTES, 1885

No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.

—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—

Exclusively for

—Ladies and Children.—

N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 8-14-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 102. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. 29y10

J. P. LAIRE & CO

LEAD ALL FOR

Gasolene Stoves,

ALL SIZES.

Refrigerators & Freezers,

Horse Sheets and Nets.

$90.00 for $65.00.

THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.

The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.

GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.

Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,

Ball Goods, &c., &c.

A. M. VANDERBEEK,

33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.

4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!

SODA WATER

AT

RANDOLPH'S

This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.

Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.

L. W. RANDOLPH,

21 W. FRONT STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

3-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,

HATTER,

12 PARK AVENUE,

Has fine lot

Spring and Summer Hats,

At prices that suit the people. 4-1-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,

18 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Fancy Silverware, Diamonds, Lace Pins, Chains, Charms and Rings. Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles. Don't forget the number. 12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD

Situated on

NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.

A Convenient and Elegant Resort.

Special attention given to

Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.

FRANK E. MILLER.

5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.

FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.

WM. A. SCHORB, Proprietor

UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. E. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.

With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.

J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.

All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.

4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.

Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.

St. Louis and Imported Beer.

A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day. 4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M.; to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. to meet | 8.32 A. M. train. |
| 3rd do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.37 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.26 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.08 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.55 P.M. | do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do meet 3 51 P. M. train. | |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do | 5.39 | do |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do | 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do | 7.09 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.32, 9.37, 10.10; 11.30 A. M., 2.04, 2.30, 3.45, 4.34, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30 P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—70 EAST FOURTH STREET.

Telephone Call, 18. 7-8-tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA

PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE

Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Plainfield as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily to Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 07, 7 20, 9 05 A. M. and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05 A. M., 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 07, 7 20, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 07, 7 49, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1:39 P. M., week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 25 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 07, 7 20, 7 39, 9 05, 9 35, 11 37 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 07, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 39 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P. M.

For Flemington—7 39 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 39, 9 35, 11 37 A. M., 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M. A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.

J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 7 56, 8 15, 8 51, 9 07, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 1 41, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 27, 8 40, 9 50, 11 A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 8 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 44, 4 34, 5 20, 5 54, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 34, 8 20, 9 43, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 47, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 15, 1 48, 2 05, 3 19 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 8 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

8 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 9 14 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 08 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 8, 8 27, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 37, 8 52, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 37, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 08 p. m. Sunday—3 37, 8 52 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 3 37, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3 51, 5 31 7 08 p. m.

BOUND BROOK ROUTE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 1 17, 5 45, 8 20, 9 48, 11 38* a. m., 1 59*, 2 32*, 4 08, 5 34*, 6 20*, 8 20 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48, a. m., 2 30* 4 08, 5 14*, 6 35 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington at 1 17, 9 48, 11 38*, a. m., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34* p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14* p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA,

Ninth and Green streets, 7 30*, 8 30*, 9 30, 11 05 a. m., 12 45, 1 30, 3 15, 5 15, 6 15, 8 02, 8 45, 12 p. m Sundays—9 a. m., 12 50, 3 10, 5 15, 6 10, 8, 12 p. m.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 10, 8 20*, 11 05, a. m. 12 02, 2 20, 6 18, 8 05, p. m. Sundays—3 10, 9 25 a. m., 12 02, 2 20, 6 18, 8 05 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 30, 4 09, 7*, 8*, 9*, 10 10, 11 55 a.m. 1 28, 2 10, 3 40*, 5 26, 5 55 6 39, 8 47, 10 p. m. Sundays—1 30, 4 09, 9 55 a

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

Madame E. GETTI, of Paris.

Dresses Ready-Made and to Order.

IMPORTED DRESS GOODS. Sole Agent of the celebrated Perrin Freres & Co. Imported KID GLOVES.

Park Avenue and Fourth Street, (Miller Building.)

8 25 3w

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, SAY

Dark Outing Flannels will be very popular this Fall for Children's School Dresses. We are displaying a nice assortment of them. Price 12c.

* * * * * *

Gentlemen, we will sell 50 dozen Unlaundried Shirts, 50c quality, for 39c each.

* * * * * *

We put on sale, and 'tis the last of those remnants of Fine Outing Flannels; our price 10c.

* * * * * *

We are offering some extra good values in Table Linen, Towels and Napkins.

* * * * * *

Our Writing Paper deserves special mention; one at 10c a box, and one at 14c, which is as good as you generally pay 25c for.

* * * * * *

There are 100 sample Corsets, sizes 25 to 30, Corsets that sold for $1 and $1 25. We close the entire lot for 60c pair.

* * * * * *

Housekeepers will find many good things in our Furnishing Department. We keep a fine line of Crockery, Glass and Tinware, and sell them at popular prices.

* * * * * *

We deliver goods everywhere, free of charge.

10 PER CENT. REDUCTION!

ON ALL RUSSET GOODS!

And a LARGE VARIETY to choose from.

We Close at 7 P. M. (except Saturday.)

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

HANDSOME SUMMER SUITINGS!

Gents' Furnishings.

Reasonable Prices!

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE. 12-6-y

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St. 10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET. 11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Truly yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N.J.

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-2-f

A DIVIDED HOUSE

Buffalo Striking Switchmen Seeking a Settlement.

"NO!" MALONEY ANSWERED.

He Will Not Recognize the Strikers as an Organization.

A Possibility of Six Hundred Buffalo Switchmen Striking To-Day—Manager Towey Denounces Master Workman Lee—An Unnamed Engineer Says Lee Was Expelled From the Brotherhood.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—A committee of six of the striking switchmen waited on Trainmaster Maloney at 2 o'clock this afternoon, to see if they could not adjust their differences and go back to work. Ex-Yard Master Charles Stakes acted as spokesman for the men.

"We have come down," said he to Mr. Maloney, "to see if we could not fix up this trouble."

"Can you act without any further word with Mr. Sweeneyf" Mr. Maloney asked.

"We can," was the answer.

"We have the power and the authority to settle the strike now."

"Did Mr. Sweeney give you the authority?"

"He gave it to Mr. Moriarity."

Mr. Stokes asked if the company would treat the strikers as a body.

"Decidedly not," Mr. Maloney answered. "I won't, and I don't think that any official on the Central road will." He stuck to this point, and the committee withdrew.

It is stated that if the men are not taken back in a body to-day all the switchmen on all the roads in Buffalo will strike. There are nearly 600 of them.

"It was an outrage to call out the Knights of Labor men employed by the New York Central in Buffalo," said a labor man this afternoon. "It was hardly two weeks before the strike that the local assembly was organized, and before the men hardly realized that they were in the Knights of Labor they were ordered out on strike. It was a most peculiar proceeding on the part of the Knights of Labor leaders."

"This man, Lee, who ordered the strike on the New York Central is entitled to very little consideration at the hands of the company," said General Manager Towey before his departure for New York. "One month he worked but half a day for the company and I called the attention of our motive power officials to the fact. I summoned Mr. Lee and asked why he did not work. He replied that he had been busy organizing assemblies of the Knights of Labor. I then asked why he neglected his work on the road for that purpose. 'Because I can make more money,' he replied. 'I get $4 a day and my expenses for organizing and that's better than running.'

"When I made that statement to Mr. Powderly," continued Mr. Towey, "he asked me if I had any objection to his making a note of it. I told him no, that anything I said I was prepared to back with proof."

"The less Powderly says to Arthur concerning the New York Central strike the better it will be for him," said an engineer to-day. "Probably you are not aware that Mr. E. J. Lee of Albany, District Master Workman of Knights of Labor Assembly No. 246, the man who ordered the strike, is an expelled member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Do you think it would be right for an organization to go out to help an expelled member! That is the position of the engineers in this matter."

POWDERLY REMAINS FIRM.

He Urges a Speedy Termination of the Strike by the Board of Arbitration.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Mr. Powderly has issued a statement concerning the action of the State Board of Arbitration. He says: "Not having receded from our original position of willingness to present our side of the question to the Board of Arbitration, I have nothing to add to what has already been published.

I am gratified that the State Board will meet but would rather it would do so at once. Our words are doubted, the same as Mr. Webbs, until proven, and we hope to have the State Board probe the matter to the bottom.

When the strike began many people asserted it was the height of impudence for the men to ask an investigation, asserting that the corporation alone had the right to say when it would discharge and hire men, and that no reason should be given for dimissing them. We never questioned the right of the corporation to do this, but we protest against discrimination because we are members of an organization.

The side that is wrong will always oppose arbitration. England did not favor it when the Alabama claims were called for. There was nothing to arbitrate, she said. The United States Government thought differently, and there was an arbitration which proved that England was wrong. I believe that history will repeat itself in this case.

Massachusetts New Chief Justice.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Governor Brackett has nominated Judge Walbridge A. Field as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to succeed Justice Morton, retired.

Another Quincy Disaster Victim.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Benj. Maxwell, who was injured in the Quincy accident, died here last night.

BOARD OF ARBITRATION ACTS.

It Will Investigate the Cause of the Central Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The State Board of Mediation and Arbitration will investigate into the cause of the strike on the New York Central. While this course should have been taken before, the Knights of Labor and the public will be satisfied with the Board's action. The Board met in Albany yesterday morning, and sent copies of the following to Vice President Webb and District Master Workman Lee:

Received, That in the judgment of this Board it is best to inquire into the cause or causes of the controversy growing out of the difference between the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company and certain of its employees, who, on and since the 8th inst., have gone on strike, and that such inquiry be commenced in the city of New York on Tuesday next at 10 o'clock a. m. at such place as may hereafter be designated.

It is requested that the parties in the controversy be prepared with their evidence to enable the Board to proceed promptly at the time named.

Witnesses for whose attendance process may be required will be summoned by subpœna upon presentation of their names and residence to the secretary of the Board.

While it is not likely that the investigation will have any effect in bringing about a settlement of the trouble on the road, it will either prove or disprove the claim of the Knights that their members were discharged simply because they belonged to the order and for no other reason. Mr. Webb will now have a chance to make good his assertion that they were discharged because of incompetency, drunkenness and other offenses. The public is interested in knowing which is right or wrong, and the Board can bring out the truth.

Mr. Webb pooh poohed the idea of there being any strike on the Central, and said that the Knights knew that as well as he did. But they refuse to admit the claim, and continue to allege that there is a strike, and that the company is not doing anything like its regular freight business.

BUSINESS WITH PLEASURE.

An Important Bicycle Contract Completed at the Meeting at Niagara.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—A deal resulting from the League Wheelmen Association's meeting at Niagara Falls was the sale to the Laziere & Yost Manufacturing Company of Toledo, Ohio, the right to manufacture a patent spring fork attachment to the bicycles, to take off unnecessary vibration in going over rough roads. The transfer involves $150,000, and the inventors are F. H. Sercombe and F. H. Bolte, both of Milwaukee.

The Toledo firm agrees to manufacture 20,000 wheels a year with the patent attachment.

Salvator Breaks the Record.

MONMOUTH PARK, N. J., Aug. 29.—Salvator has smashed the record for a mile. He was brought on the track after the third race, and in company with Rosetta was given his warming up gallop. Then there was a short delay, but finally Salvator appeared, followed by Rosetta and Naomona, who were to act as pacemakers. F. Hall, J. J. Galway, F. Littlefield, D. D. Withers, W. L. Scott and Trainer Rogers acted as timekeepers. The first pacemaker carried him along at a rapid pace to the head of the stretch, where he was joined by Rosetta. She helped him along, he running easily in the meanwhile until the last furlong was reached, when Bergen sat down to ride, and he passed by the winning post like a steam engine. For a few moments there was silence, then 1:35½ was hung up, and cheer after cheer rent the air. The fractional time was: Quarter, 0:23; half 0:47½; three-quarters, 1:11½; mile, 1:35½. The betting was two to one on Salvator; two to one against time. Salvator carried 110 pounds.

English Control of Chicago Breweries.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The Journal says: Another big brewery deal is in progress. The London Investment Company, of London, has purchased the following breweries: Rudolph Brand Brewing Company, Bartholomae & Light, and Earnest Brothers, known as the United States Brewing Company, and the K. G. Schmidt Brewing Company, Weiss Brewing Company and Bartholomae & Roessing Brewery. The total capacity is about 270,000 barrels. The purchase will be stocked and floated on this and the English market. These sales give what is supposed to be English capital the control of the Chicago breweries.

Red Cross Incorporation Postponed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The House Committee on Foreign Affairs were to have heard arguments to-day by representatives of the American Red Cross Association in support of the pending bill to incorporate their association and to protect its insignia. At the suggestion, however, of some of the representatives of the association, who see no prospect of speedy action on the bill, its consideration in committee was postponed until next December.

The Wheel Tournament at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The wheelmen of this city opened their tournament last night with an illuminated parade. About 2,000 wheels were in line and presented a brilliant spectacle. The Women's Wheel Club headed the parade followed by visiting wheelmen and the various local clubs. The races begin to-day and continue two days. Many of the stars who took part at Niagara Falls are entered here.

Arrested for Assaulting a Picket.

BINGHAMTON, Aug. 29.—Charles A. Hull, of the firm of Hull, Grummond & Co., one of the leading cigar manufactures of this city, has been arrested for violently assaulting with a heavy walking-stick Harris Frank, a cigarmaker, whom Hull supposed to be a picket. Hull was released on his own recognizance. The affair has caused a great deal of excitement.

A COWARD'S ACT

A Drunken Brute Beats a Woman.

A SO-CALLED "SPORTING MAN"

Breaks Into a Lady's Room at Asbury Park.

The Lady's Name Suppressed—Said to be Connected With a Prominent Washington Politician—Citizens Indignant Over the Outrage—The Ruffian Pleads He Was Drunk.

ASBURY PARK, Aug. 29.—A Washington sport, who gave his name as Ed. Jones, the reputed owner of a string of running horses, created quite a sensation early yesterday morning by forcing an entrance into the cottage of Mrs. Engard, corner of Heck street and Second avenue, and demanding to see one of the lady boarders.

Upon a refusal to accede to his demands Jones became furiously violent and broke open three bed rooms before discovering the object of his anger, who turned out to be a lady of highly reputable connections in Washington, who has been summering here. The panel of the door opening into her room was smashed into splinters.

Once in the room and in the presence of the lady, Jones commenced a most brutal attack upon her, blackening her eye and otherwise ill-treating her and driving her from the room.

The police were telephoned for, and before Jones could make his escape, Officers Whittle and Borden appeared upon the scene and succeeded in arresting him.

The other ladies whose rooms were broken into became hysterical and are now laboring under severe mental strain. The scandal occasioned by Jones' escapade is to-day the talk of the town.

The assaulted lady, who Jones alleges is a married woman, was forced to leave for home in a badly maimed condition in the early morning train, heavily veiled, owing to the notoriety given the affair.

The proprietress of the cottage is a most estimable lady and feels keenly the disgrace occasioned by the fellow's brutal intrusion.

After remaining in the lock-up half the night, the offender was taken to the office of Justice Wyckoff in the early morning hours and liberated upon paying a fine of $15 and costs. The assaulted lady and the proprietress both declined to prosecute, fearful of the scandal that would follow further exposure.

Jones was intoxicated at the time of the outrage. This he urges in palliation of his conduct. Since the facts in the case leaked out, strenuous efforts have been made by the interested parties to suppress publication of the details, and every endeavor to secure the name of the assaulted woman has been unavailing.

Jones was entitled to an immediate hearing, and the assaulted lady failing to enter a complaint, the justice could only entertain the complaints of the officers for disorderly conduct. Much indignation is expressed at the lightness of the fine imposed. It is freely hinted that the assaulted lady is prominently connected with a politician of national repute high up in the councils of his party, which might account for the great secrecy observed.

A NATIONAL ALLIANCE.

Proposition to Unite the Various Social Reformers in One Organization.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—An effort to form an alliance of labor and social reformers resulted in a large gathering of trade unionists, Knights of Labor, Socialists, Nationalists and single-tax men. The purpose of the proposed alliance is to bring about a better understanding, that more practicable and effective work may be planned and carried out.

A committee was appointed to formulate a policy looking to a union of all the organizations represented.

A resolution asserting the the necessity of nationalizing railroads was referred to the Organization Committee. The meeting adopted a resolution denouncing the New York Central Railroad for its position in the present trouble, and adjourned, subject to the call of the committee.

Executive Socialist Conspiracy.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A dispatch received from Rome states that a big Socialist conspiracy has been unearthed in that city. Concealed in the houses of workingmen belonging to secret societies the police have found bombs charged with powder and dynamite, as well as correspondence of a dangerous character with foreign Socialists, and Republican flags intended to be used in case of an outbreak.

Good Templar Delegates Chosen.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The State Grand Lodge, I. O. G. T., has chosen the following delegates to the Right Worthy Grand Lodge session to be held in Edinburgh, Scotland, in May next: Dr. D. H. Mann, of Brooklyn; W. H. Crampton, of Lockport; Alden Chester, of Albany; Mrs. M. S. O'Donnell, of Lowville; Mrs. L. E. Dean, of Syracuse; John N. Stearns, of New York, and W. Martin Jones, of Rochester.

Studying Uncle Sam's Postal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—J. Henneker, Heaton, M. P., of England, who arrived here yesterday, visited Postmaster Van Cott to day with a view of studying up the postal system of the United States. Mr. Heaton will visit Washington, California and Canada.

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 3 | 9 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |

Batteries—Sharrott and Murphy; Esper and Wilson.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Cincinnati | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 0 | x | 7 |

Batteries—Nichols and Ganzel; Duryea and Keenan.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 |
| Chicago | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 6 | 13 |

Batteries—Gleason and Schriver; Luby and Nagle.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 1 | x | 6 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 |

Batteries—Lovett and Clark; Vian and Zimmer.

Players' League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 1 | 0 | 2 | 5 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 9 |
| Chicago | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 4 |

Batteries—Crane and Brown; King and Boyle.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | x | 5 |

Batteries—Kilroy and Kelly; Staly and Quinn.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 2 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 10 |
| Cleveland | 1 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 |

Batteries—Weyhing and Kinslow; Bakely and Brennan.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 3 | 5 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 4 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 15 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 |

Batteries—Knell and Cross; Cunningham and Mack.

American Association.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Athletic | 0 | 3 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 7 |
| Columbus | 0 | 0 | 3 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | x | 21 |

Batteries—Seward, Hughes and Baldwin; Chamberlain and O'Connor.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 6 |
| St. Louis | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1 | 2 |

Batteries—Baker and Townsend; Ramsay and Munyan.

AT ROCHESTER.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Rochester | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 |
| Toledo | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | x | 5 |

Batteries—Titcomb and Grimm; Healy and Briggs.

AT SYRACUSE.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Syracuse | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Louisville | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0 | 6 | x | 11 |

Batteries—Casey and Burke; Stratton and Bligh.

Atlantic Association.

AT HARRISBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| New Haven | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 |

Batteries—Baxter and Sommers; Gilliland and Hofford.

AT LEBANON.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Newark | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 |
| Lebanon | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 |

Batteries—Fitzgerald and Childs; Smith and McCaffrey.

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelpia | 770 | 2,885 |
| New York | 1,315 | 308 |
| Boston | 947 | 2,962 |
| Brooklyn | 873 | 1,065 |
| Totals | 3,905 | 7,220 |

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 69 | 36 | .657 | Chicago | 59 | 47 | .557 |
| Boston | 68 | 39 | .636 | N. York | 46 | 60 | .434 |
| Philadel. | 65 | 41 | .613 | Cleve'nd | 41 | 71 | .366 |
| Cincin'ti | 63 | 40 | .612 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 85 | .182 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 62 | 41 | .602 | Philadel. | 57 | 50 | .533 |
| Brookl'n | 64 | 45 | .587 | Pittsb'rg | 44 | 54 | .449 |
| N. York | 61 | 44 | .577 | Cleve'nd | 43 | 58 | .426 |
| Chicago | 57 | 51 | .528 | Buffalo | 29 | 70 | .293 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'v'le | 63 | 33 | .656 | Col'mb'a | 52 | 48 | .520 |
| St. Louis | 57 | 42 | .576 | Toledo | 51 | 44 | .537 |
| Athletic | 50 | 48 | .510 | Syracuse | 40 | 57 | .412 |
| Roch'st'r | 50 | 46 | .521 | Ba'tim'e | 28 | 73 | .277 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| N. Hav'n | 69 | 25 | .734 | Harrisb'g | 40 | 61 | .396 |
| Newark | 52 | 42 | .553 | Wilm'ton | 32 | 62 | .306 |
| Lebanon | 41 | 43 | .488 | Hartford | 22 | 60 | .268 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburg vs. New York, at New York.
Cincinnati vs. Boston, at Boston.
Chicago vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Chicago vs. New York, at New York.
Cleveland vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Boston, at Boston.
Buffalo vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

St. Louis vs. Baltimore, at Baltimore.
Toledo vs. Rochester, at Rochester.
Columbus vs. Athletics, at Philadelphia.
Louisville vs. Syracuse, at Syracuse.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled.

Lawn Tennis at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 29.—At the Tennis tournament W. P. Knapp and P. Manchester had a long struggle of 4 sets, the one which Knapp lost being a sharp deuce set of 14 games. Decidedly the most important match was that of C. F. Hovey and F. P. Huntington. The latter was the winner in the fifth set. The next contest was between M. G. Chase and Dean Miller. Chase was the winner in three sets. C. A. Chase, the Western wizard, had a four set match with G. H. Herrick, but was at no time in danger of losing it. J. A. Ryerson had a similar experience with B. B. Lamb, and P. S. Sears with C. P. Howland. R. C. Sands defaulted to O. Englistrom.

Progress of the Chicago Strike.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—There is no particular change in the situation at the stock yards. Everything is quiet and the engines, manned as they were yesterday, are doing whatever work is needed. A new force of switchmen is at work in the Chicago & Alton road yards under police protection, and considerable freight is being moved. Many of the Alton strikers now claim that they are not dissatisfied with the appointment of Welch as foreman and are sorry they struck at all.

RECONCILIATION

Emperor William May Forgive Prince Bismarck.

HE LISTENS TO THE PLEA.

And these Negotiations Account for Bismarck's Sudden Silence.

A Friendly Court, It Is Said, Has Intervened in Behalf of the Iron (?) Prince—The Trip to England Abandoned and Bismarck's Criticism of the Emperor Has Stopped.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Confidential influences are at work to bring about a conclusion to the feud which exists between the Kaiser and Prince Bismarck.

While at Kissengen several people of high rank approached the Emperor with well-meant counsels, to which he listened favorably, and, in fact, he seemed more accessible to such influences than when he was at Friedrichsruhe, where he always gave them the cold shoulder.

A satisfactory change may therefore be expected in the relations between the Kaiser, Prince Bismarck and the Government, the initiative in which was taken by a friendly court.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says: "It is reported that influences due to the mediation of a friendly court are at work which point to an approaching reconciliation between Prince Bismarck and Emperor William."

The above cablegram may possibly afford explanation of the silence of Bismarck within the past few months, contrary to the rather vehement announcement on his retirement from the Chancellorship that he would continue to discuss public policy in his official organ. This design, influenced as it was by pique, was followed out at first, and the young Emperor was criticised in all his exploits of State. The second or third article aroused the indignation of the Kaiser, and his warning closely followed. Then Bismarck decided to visit England, where it was expected he would throw off this imposed restraint. The trip was to have been made in September. Just after the Emperor left to visit the Queen the ex-Chancellor declared that he had abandoned the journey. This was regarded as significant. Its explanation probably is found in the statement that influences are being exerted to effect a reconciliation.

Peter's Pence Contributions Decreasing.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Recent advices from the Vatican, believed to be entirely trustworthy, report the Pope as healthy and vigorous to a remarkable degree, considering his advanced age. His Holiness, however, seems to be worried because of the diminution of the "Peter's Pence" contributions. His advisers believe it to be due to the poverty of the masses rather than because of their diminishing zeal for the welfare of the Pontiff.

To Feed London Poor on Horse Meat.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A company is now being formed to establish a series of restaurants for the sale of horseflesh dishes in the East End of London on a similar plan to those which are running in Berlin and Paris.

To Corner Bread in London.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The syndicates are now beginning to fasten on the immediate necessaries of existence. One has been formed, with a capital of $150,000, to create a corner in bread by raising the price of flour.

Abranyi Resigns Under Fire.

PESTH, Aug. 29.—M. Abranyi has resigned his seat in the Hungarian Chambes of Deputies, owing to the scandal caused by his publication of an alleged interview with Prince Bismarck, which the latter denounced as a fabrication.

DEGENENERATE BLUE BLOOD.

A Relative of Lord Sackville in an American Workhouse.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—Among the inmates of the Allegheny County Workhouse, a penal institution, is a near relative of Lord Sackville, formerly British Minister at Washington. Dr. John Sackville came to Washington, Pa., twenty years ago, having run away from his home in England. He took out a medical degree and built up a big practice there.

He came to Pittsburg frequently, and, being a victim of inebriety, finally got sent to the work house for twenty days. During his imprisonment letters arrived at his home from Sackville West, in England, clearly showing that Dr. Sackville is next heir to the large estates of the present lord, who has no sons. Dr. Sackville married during his residence in Washington, and has one son, who may some day become Lord Sackville.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR'S FALL.

Picked Up Unconscious After His Runaway Horse Struck a Hydrant.

NEWPORT, Aug. 29.—John Jacob Astor, son of Mr. William Astor, was driving a dogcart in Belleview avenue last night when his horse took fright and ran away. A short distance down the avenue the runaway collided with a milk wagon, partly smashing it, and throwing the groom out of the dogcart. Two or three hundred yards below the Casino the horse ran into a hydrant and stopped.

Young Mr. Astor, who had meanwhile kept his seat bravely, was thrown out on the stone walk, and was picked up unconscious. He had a cut over the eye and a severe scalp wound. When he recovered consciousness he called a carriage and drove to Beckwood, where a doctor dressed his wounds.

PROSECUTING GAMBLERS.

Endeavors to Recover a Corporation's Money Lost at Play.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Charles Gilpin, assignee of the Glamorgan Iron Works, of Philadelphia, has brought suit against William J. McCall, and several others, to recover $22,000.

The suit grows out of the defalcation of Charles B. Wigton, former treasurer of the company, and it is claimed the defendants received this money, which belonged to the company from Wigton.

The greater part of the money received by Wigton was spent in gambling, and the assignee of the iron works has brought action against Phil Daly and a number of other prominent gambling house proprietors.

It's All Fixed Up Now.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 29.—Prof. Charles A. Totten of Yale, who recently announced his identification of Joshua's "Long Day," now claims he has placed exactly the only other stoppage of time recorded in the Bible. This is the reversion of the sun's shadow upon the dial of Ahaz. Prof. Totten identifies the day upon which it happened as the 1,302, 744th from the creation, which was Wednesday, the 18th day of the first civil (seventh sacred) month of the year, 3,293 A. M.

The Nat Jones Failure Denied.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The rumor from New York that Nat Jones, of the late firm of Jones, Kennett & Hopkins, had lost $3,000,000 and was financially embarrassed, is denied by Mr. Kennett. Mr. Kennett said: "Mr. Jones is a personal friend of mine, and if he has had bad luck or lost any money I would surely know it.—It's all talk—no truth in it."

A Governor's Resignation Acceptable.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Governor Wolfey, of Arizona, who has criticised Major Powell's irrigation project, was to-day notified by Secretary Noble that his resignation as Governor of the Territory will be accepted.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Prince George played polo at Halifax and his side was beaten, 1 to 6.

The now famous board walk at Asbury Park has again been wrecked by the sea.

It is reported in Richmond, Va., that a rich spring of petroleum has been discovered in Rockingham County.

Mr. John Scanlon of Brooklyn, N. Y., who arrived in Queenstown on the Teutonic, was fined for trying to smuggle cigars.

The Charleston, which has just come from Honolulu, has been ordered to return at once to protect the interests of American citizens.

One of Leary's rafts, in tow of the tug Dirigo, has arrived at Portland, and reports the loss of the other raft which started in its company off Seal Harbor.

Judge Knowlton of Boston refused to grant an injunction restraining the "Fall of Babylon" troupe from using a bass drum. The application had been made by six persons.

Louise Michel is coming to America to enlighten us on Socialism. She lectured at Athenæum Hall, London. An enormous crowd gathered to hear her discourse on "Anarchism and Revolution."

John Meehan is under arrest in Chicago for robbing a saloon. Four years ago he robbed the Bank of England of $48,000, and, after a chase all over Europe, was run down by Bob Pinkerton. He served three years for that job.

Lieut. Augustin de Iturbide, grandson of Emperor Augustin I., of Mexico, has been sentenced to ten years' dismissal from the Mexican army for publishing a letter which has been construed into a criticism of the Government.

The Potter-Lovell Company of Boston, dealers in commercial paper, went to the wall owing, it is said, to the stringency of the money market. The liabilities are said to be close on to $2,000,000. The failure caused great excitement on 'Change.

From Erie, Pa., comes the news that four young highwaymen, none of them 15 years of age, "held up" a prominent citizen of Union, Michael Barry by name. Before taking his money the gang beat Barry unmercifully. They were subsequently captured by the police.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—For New England: Fair; stationary temperature; showers and slightly cooler weather to-morrow; westerly winds.

For Eastern New York: Fair; showers; variable winds; slightly cooler.

For New Jersey: Fair, followed by showers; northerly winds becoming variable; slight changes in temperature.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Fair, followed by showers on the lakes; southerly winds; slight changes in temperature.

NEW YORK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Money on call to-day, 0½ per cent.

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg | 104 | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup | 105 | 105 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg | 127¾ | 128 |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup | 128¾ | 129 |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | — | — |
| Central Pacific | — | — |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 102 | 103 |
| Delaware & Hudson | 136¾ | — |
| Del., Lack. & Western | 145¾ | 144½ |
| Erie | 20¾ | 20¾ |
| Erie pref | — | — |
| Lake Shore | 107 | 107¾ |
| Louis. & Nash | 69 | 69¾ |
| Michigan Central | 70¾ | — |
| Missouri Pacific | — | 71¾ |
| New Jersey Central | — | 125½ |
| Northwestern | 107½ | 109¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | — | — |
| Pacific Mail | 44 | 45 |
| Reading | 42¾ | 43¼ |
| Rock Island | 85¾ | 85¾ |

THE DAILY PRESS

AN EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $5.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 10 CENTS A WEEK.

IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

M. L. AND A. L. FORCE, • PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, • • MANAGING EDITOR.

LABOR DAY.

As Monday next is Labor Day and a legal holiday in this State, there will be no paper published from this office on that day.

BY THE WAY.

—A service of song will be rendered in the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

—Where have the black straw hats gone? Within the last two weeks the majority of their owners have "shed" them. White straw still reigns!

—The colored folks are holding camp-meeting in Hyde's grove. There is good singing and speaking every night, and interesting services on Sundays.

—Weather wiseacres were telling last night that a big storm would be along in one day—because the moon had a big ring around it, with only one star visible within the circle.

—The Chathams defeated the Dwarfs at base ball this morning by the score of 17 to 6. The battery of the Chathams was F. Farley and G. Bolsterle; for the Dwarfs, Vail and Thiers.

—N. W. Pike, of this city, will officiate for the Chaplain at Ward's Island Prison, N. Y., Sunday afternoon, and in the evening will preach in the new Congregational church at Fort Lee, N. J.

—Lovers of peanuts will not have to experience the sensation of biting into stale and old nuts this Winter, as last years crop is already practically exhausted and the new crop will not reach our markets before November 1.

—At a cost of fifty cents for the round trip, you can spend next Monday, which is a holiday, at Boynton Beach. The Grocers' Protective Association of this city, will have an excursion and clam bake there. Train leaves Plainfield at 8 A. M.

—A man of about 35 years of age was soliciting assistance from Plainfield shop keepers, this morning, with the plea that he was a member of the G. A. R., in hard luck. According to his evident age, he was about six years old when the war broke out.

—The colored contingent of base ball cranks in this city, are full of glee today. They say: "De Crescents beat de Germans, but dey can't do der Cuban Joints." If Plainfield wins to-morrow, there won't be a colored man or boy in the city with a cent in his pocket.

—Watermelons and muskmelons have had to perform extra service in this season of scarce fruit, and the sales have been enormous. The Catharine muskmelon is a valuable addition. It is sweet, aromatic, and handsome in color, being of a rich buttery yellow, and can be eaten close to the rind. It is said closely to resemble a naturally ripened West Indian banana.

—The Home Oil Company imparts the information that, like the Phenix, it will rise from its ashes September 1, as will be announced in the columns of THE PRESS in a few days. The business will then pass into the hands of an organized company, who will continue the business under its old name. Meanwhile, at a sacrifice of his personal affairs, Paul F. Wachenhusen will serve the patrons of the concern.

—The high prices at which blackberries have been selling in local markets have attracted from Western New York a number of shipments of wild berries. They have come in rather poor shape, but have succeeded in finding a market at from 8 to 11 cents per quart. Really fine blackberries—a few of them are still to be had—readily wholesale at from 15 to 20 cents per quart. The recent heavy rainstorms have greatly injured the huckleberries, and the quality of that fruit will be very poor until the end of the season.

Playing Ball for a Bell Tower.

The Westfield firemen want to have a new bell tower, and to-morrow will play a game of ball, the gate money to be devoted to the purpose of erecting the tower. The competing nines will be from Engine Co. No. 1, and Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1.

Would you know the keen delight
Of a wholesome appetite,
Unrestrained by colic's dire,
Headache's curse, or fever's fire,
Thoughts morose, or icy chills?
Then use Dr. Pierce's pills.

Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets—the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills; 25 cents a vial.

WHAT WILL THE WATER BOARD DO?

Should it Not Order the Work Stopped Pending the Court's Decision as to the Legality of the Contract?

The Water Board was to meet Wednesday night, but didn't. It was to meet last night, but today all its members are out of town so THE PRESS could not learn what action the Board proposed to take while the Supreme Court's decision is awaited upon the question whether the Water Works Company of Plainfield has been granted a lawful contract.

Is it not good business policy and for the city's protection, that the Board should order Contractor Moore to stop work? Suppose the Supreme Court decides that the city's enemies, who are determined to break the present contract, are right and that the action of the Council of 1889 in granting the contract was unconstitutional, then Contractor Moore must be reimbursed every cent he has spent. Nobody questions that. And this sum grows every day the work continues.

Should the claim of the City's enemies—as set forth by their tool, the news—be upheld; and the law under which the present water works contract was granted, be declared null and void; then the contract and the bond would be wiped out and the sureties released. The City would be compelled to pay back to the Water Works company whatever money has been spent; added to the $6,000 deposited in monthly installments with the Treasurer; added to Contractor Moore's claim for services rendered, and added to such an amount of damages as the Courts would surely grant the incorporators who in good faith accepted the contract awarded them, and devoted their time and money to carrying out its provisions at the sacrifice of such other business as might have been set aside or lost through their acceptance of the work in this city.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Virginia F. Randolph is at Crosswicks, N. J.

Theodore Kurzhals, has returned from a two weeks' vacation at Asbury Park.

Miss Sadie Connors, of West Third street, is visiting relatives at Far Rockaway.

David S. Dunavan, of West Second street, is confined to his home by a complication of diseases.

Mrs. J. H. Evans, and Miss May Evans, have returned from Lake Placid and are at Hotel Netherwood again.

Mrs. Hannah Curtis, of San Jose, Ill., is the guest of her brother, ex-Street Commissioner Geo. M. Angleman.

Peter Flynn, Jr., Letter Carrier No. 4, entered on a fifteen days' vacation today. He will spend part of the time at Johnstown, Pa.

Miss Netta McCall, of Delancey place, Philadelphia, is visiting the family of A. E. Faber, of Rock View avenue, North Plainfield.

Mrs. B. F. Littell died at her home in Bound Brook, yesterday afternoon. Her seizure with lock-jaw a few days ago, was told of in these columns.

Mrs. John McGaley has returned, with her family, to her New York home, after a very pleasant visit with her cousin, Mrs. McGaley, of West Third street.

In the absence of the pastor, the Rev. W. C. Daland, of Leonardsville, N. Y., will preach in the Seventh Day Baptist church to-morrow morning at half-past ten o'clock.

The Misses Alice, Gertrude and Elizabeth Vandenbergh, of East Fifth street, have gone to the Delaware Water Gap, where they will spend two weeks at the Riverview House.

E. D. Scofield, of Portland, Me., Superintendent of Agencies of the Union Mutual Life Insurance company, was the guest in Plainfield, last evening, of John M. Crane the Company's New York manager.

The Phillipsburg Democrat says that the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, of North Plainfield, is at present engaged in making important improvements in and around his property at Carpentersville, Warren county.

On Wednesday evening George Ryno, of South Plainfield, was united in marriage to Lena, daughter of Mr. L. Harris, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mr. Cubberly, at the residence of the bride's parents.

Miss Eleanor T. Morrison of the Borough, is the recipient of compliments for successfully conducting the classes in esthetic physical culture at the Seaside Assembly, Avon-by-the-Sea, during the absence of Mme. Alberti.

E. R. Collins, of Westfield, and one of the staff of Texas Siftings, spends his vacation this season in a novel and pleasant manner. He will sail Tuesday, Sept. 2, from New York in the naphtha yacht "Bonnie" for a trip up Long Island Sound and the Connecticut river—Holyoke, Mass., on the river, being the objective point. Lewis M. Sweet accompanies him and they will carry along a small tent with camp equipments, so that wherever night overtakes them they can cast anchor, go ashore and pitch their tent, thus having a combination of sailing and camping. Photographic apparatus will be carried and pictures taken to illustrate an account of the trip which will appear in November Outing.

—Harry Richardson, the little lad whose foot was cut off by a coal train at Fanwood, Wednesday, is feeling remarkably well this morning. He is in the tenth year of his age.

THAT SODA-WATER OUTBREAK.

A Peculiar and Dangerous Accident That Happens Very Rarely.

The soda-water explosion in J. G. Miller's pharmacy yesterday afternoon, reported exclusively in THE PRESS, came within an ace of being a very serious affair. The cylinder which burst was partly filled with water, which was being charged with carbonic-acid gas from the generator in the rear of the store. The pressure was not unusually high, and no thought of danger was entertained. Pharmacist Miller himself was in charge of the generator, and his assistant, Peter Hodge, was rocking the cylinder in the soda-water cradle, to distribute the gas through the interstices of the water. Three of the druggist's friends, who were mentioned in yesterday's exclusive report, were standing near the cylinder, chatting and laughing. Suddenly there was an explosion like that of a cannon, loud enough to be heard a considerable distance down the street. The bottom of the cylinder, a heavy mass of chilled steel and copper, was hurled with terrific force directly over the spot from which A. C. Horton, Wm. Egbert and I. D. TenEyck had moved but a moment before. Had they been in its path some one must have been frightfully mangled. As it was, the projectile smashed to pieces a heavy iron mill used for grinding and mixing drugs, crashed against the woodwork, bounded back and forth, and smashed everything it touched. The broken cylinder, repelled by the sudden rush of gas, kicked like a gun, struck Mr. Miller in the legs and severely injured his knee. He was taken home in a carriage, and will be lame several days. Peter Hodge had a tight grip on the rim projecting from the bottom of the cylinder when the explosion occurred. When the rim flew away it nearly wrenched his fingers from their sockets, and for hours he felt as though he had received a shock of electricity. The force of the rush of gas that enveloped him brought blood to the surface of his skin. All the bystanders were drenched with the soda water, which was thrown about in all directions.

The accident was caused by a flaw in the cylinder, which hitherto had stood the regulation tests for hundreds of pounds to the square inch. It is considered miraculous that no one was more seriously injured.

Plainfield once before had a soda water explosion, when a cylinder under high pressure burst during the night in an underground vault at Stelle's pharmacy and blew up a portion of the sidewalk overhead.

THE EXPENSE OF A CONSCIENCE.

A Plainfield Dominie's Ideas of Honor Are Taxed by Uncle Sam.

The Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham, whose return from Europe was announced exclusively in THE PRESS yesterday, has been having an interesting brush with the Custom House people in New York. While in England he bought three bicycles, one for himself, and one for each of the Plainfield young ladies for whom he was acting as chaperon, the Misses Yates. Uncle Sam imposes a duty on bicycles, except when they bear evidences of having been appropriated to personal use, and the popular Plainfield pastor was told that he would have to "muss the machines up a little," either by riding them about the streets of London himself or hiring a professional "musser" to do it. Such a thing didn't exactly accord with Dr. Ketcham's high ideas of what was honorable, and he decided that he would ship the machines just as they came from the warehouse, in the full glory of their enamel and brightness. When, however, the Majestic passengers exhibited their baggage to the officers on this side of the Atlantic, Dr. Ketcham was informed that he would have to pay duty on the three bicycles, which were evidently salable merchandise. The clergyman assured the officials that the machines were for private use, but the Custom House inspectors asked for "evidences of wear." Dr. Ketcham responded—ignoring the suggestion that he produce the evidences by riding the machines about on the deck of the Majestic—that he had supposed a man's word of honor was sufficient in such a case as this, but nevertheless was compelled to pay duty. He surrendered the tariff tax under protest, and will appeal to the Government for redress.

Won't Drive That Horse Again.

I. A. Connett had a narrow escape from serious injury in a runaway accident this morning. He was driving a horse attached to his market wagon, with a view to purchasing the animal. Either the horse didn't like the idea of casting aside carriage life for butcher-wagon service, or something startled it. At any rate, it suddenly plunged forward and dashed down East Second street, on which thoroughfare it ran away once before this Summer. Reaching Park avenue it swept around towards the grocery store of Martin Brothers, leaped across the curb and spurned the sidewalk with its feet till a convenient fence and hitching post effectually blocked the way of the wagon it was pulling. The fence and post both suffered, and one of the wagon wheels was wrecked. Connett and his companion were hurled from the seat to the pavement, but despite the heavy fall on the hard flagging neither was greatly hurt. The harness held the horse, which was returned to its owner.

—J. P. Laire & Co., change their advertisement in this issue of THE PRESS.

Road Hogs Rat a Moonlight Run.

The run through Dog Tavern and Rahway to Elizabeth taken by the members of the Plainfield Bicycle Club last evening, was a merry affair. When the boys were about three miles from Rahway a carriage containing four men passed by, the driver, urged on by the others, lashing viciously at the bicyclists with his whip. Only one of the riders—Captain F. L. C. Martin—was hit, but the signal of war had been sounded, and the wheelmen dismounted, and ran after the carriage, intending to stop the horse and make the men pay for their fun. The driver, however, whipped up his horses, and the fellows escaped punishment.

At Rahway the cyclists took the new county road and followed it to Elizabeth, returning to Plainfield by train. On the cars one of the number, Ed. French, was missed. It was supposed that he had been inadvertently left behind studying the beautiful effects of the moonlight over the surrounding country.

That Colored Barber Disappears.

Charles Mann, the colored barber of Somerset street, whose misfortunes at the hands of several dusky belles whose affections he had won, have been told of in THE PRESS, has utterly and mysteriously disappeared. A few days ago he left his shop in charge of a friend, and has not since been seen.

He had invited a party to go to Florida Grove, yesterday. They were all ready but he did not appear. Some anxiety is felt as his life has been threatened by divers colored ladies of his acquaintance. Readers of THE PRESS will remember his being chased down the railroad track one Sunday night by a girl who said she was bound to have him; and only a few days ago another girl with a razor in her hand, chased him out of his shop threatening that if he didn't marry her she'd fix him so he wouldn't marry anyone else.

Oh, If 'Twere Only So!

(From the Newark Advertiser.)

The congregation of Grace Protestant Episcopal church, at Plainfield, will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the rectorship of the Rev. E. M. Rodman this Fall, and contemplate making the event especially memorable by the erection of a handsome new church edifice on the commanding site at the junction of West Seventh and Sycamore streets.

A Train Stopped by An Equine Quartette.

Four horses wandered away from their pastureage this morning and climbed upon the embankment of the Central Railroad at Liberty street. They roamed about the tracks and got directly in the path of a passenger train. The train was stopped, and the horses were tethered in a vacant lot to await the coming of their owner.

Organizing Under Captain McQuoid.

The Nameless Bowling club, that can beat anything in its vicinity barring the Crescent League's team of bowlers, reorganized at Westfield, last evening, and elected the following officers:

President—Henry Jackson.
Vice President—Nathaniel Gardner.
Sec'y and Treas—Eugene Hanford.
Captain—Charles McQuoid.

For Recess, Not an Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The talk of calling Congress together in extra session in November in order that the Senate may get an early start with the Force bill is not so much considered here as is the proposition that no adjournment take place at all, but a recess to be taken instead from early in October until the 10th or 15th of November. Several prominent Republican Senators have discussed the matter and expressed themselves in favor of it. As yet, however, neither proposition has been received with much favor.

A Three Million Rouble Fire.

A conflagration at Kineshma, has destroyed three-quarters of the houses. The damage amounts to 3,000,000 roubles. The inhabitants are threatened with famine. Serious fires have also occurred at Kursk and Orel.

Dr. Peters Honored.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Dr. Peters, who recently returned from Africa, was granted audiences to-day by Chancellor von Caprivi and Minister Marschall. Arrangements have been made for him to enter the imperial service.

His Loss Killed Him.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—A barn used by Wm. Richter in Roxborough was burned to-day. All the live stock except one horse, which perished, was gotten out rapidly. The loss is about $2,000. After the fire Mr. Richter, who had worked hard to save his property, dropped dead, presumably from heart disease.

Raging Elements.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 29.—A terrific storm is raging. The rivers and canals are flooded, and the water is two feet deep in the lower streets of the city. Guns are being fired from the fortresses to warn the inhabitants of danger.

CARRIAGES

Of every description in stock or built to order.

Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depo Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phætons,

AT

RYERSON'S

Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods

EMPORIUM,

33 Somerset Street.

Open until 8 P. M. 1-14-tf

House Numbers

At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,

WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.

Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—No BOOKING. 1-16-tf

A perfect complexion, free from pimple or blemish, is very rarely seen, because few people have perfectly pure blood. And yet, all disfiguring eruptions are easily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Try it, and surprise your friends with the result.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

NEW LIVERY!

IRVING C. STELLE,

(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery Boarding and Exchange Stable at

No. 26½ West Front Street,

In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.

First-Class Horses and Carriages

Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.

A share of public patronage is solicited.

Telephone call 192. 6-30-3m

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!

But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at

Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,

Opposite R. R. Station.

He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

NOTICE.

No one has authority to contract bills or make purchases on my account. I will not pay any account or bill charged, except on my written orders, JNO. P. WILSON.

August 28, 1890. 8-29-3

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 27, 1890.

Atmor, Mrs S
Burrows, Miss Alice
Blackwell, Mrs E
Berry, Mrs Lydia
Boock, Sadie
Cully, Miss Marie
Coe, Mrs Mary F
Dorden, Wm
Foster, T
Geary, Mrs John
Jones, Isica
Knapp, Mrs Rachel
McCluskey, Miss Mary
McCaffrey, Miss Alice
McCabe, Miss Sarah
Millings n, Milton M
Macauley, Thos
Neal, Wm
Oliver, Miss Jennie
Phillips, Arthur B
Probasco, Mrs Martha
Pound, J F
Ryan, Wm
Sweeny, Miss Jennie L
Sheppard, B H
Toucey, Mrs Walter B
Van Tine, Mrs
Vanderwoort, Mrs Mary
Wilson, Mrs Laura F
Wenzinger, A
Walter, Mrs A M

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. B. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7: 30, 8 40, A. M., 12:15, 2: 30, 5: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 and 9: 30 A. M., 1: 45, 6: 30 and 9 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—9: 40 A. M., 2: 40, 6: 30 P. M.
Close—7: 30 A. M., 4: 30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 4: 30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9: 30 to 10: 30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6: 30 P. M.

E. B. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

A NORWEGIAN, who speaks English fairly, wants place; single and sober; understands horses, carriages and cows. See at 49 Putnam avenue. 8 29 tf

GIRL wanted for general housework, family of two. Apply at once, No. 5 First place.

HOLLY GROVE Gold Medal Prize Butter, in pound rolls, 40c; cream, 40c; pure Jersey milk, 8c; buttermilk 6c per quart, in sealed glass jars. Geo. A. Moore's, 14 North avenue, or Holly Grove Dairy, Plainfield. 8 29 3

LARGE pleasant rooms; good table board. Jacob Tingley, 25 West Fourth street.

GIRLS may secure situations at Miss Sullivan's intelligence office, 53 Park avenue. Apply now.

LOST—Between 66 East Second street and the shoemaker's shop corner Front and Church streets, a lady's Oxford tie, with patent leather tip. The finder will please return it to No. 66 East Second street. 29-2

ROOMS to let; near Scott press works. Apply at PRESS office. 8 29 2

FOR SALE, at 22 West 7th street, one parlor suit, a cherry bedroom suit, and one black-walnut suit; a black walnut extension table and other household effects. 8 28 6

WANTED—Woman to do general housework. Apply 7 West Second street. 8 28 3

A FRESH cow for sale; calf by her side. W. H. Rogers, Washingtonville. 8 28 4

TO LET—House 7 rooms, on Pearl street; pump in kitchen. Apply to J. Leonard, 11 West 6th street. 8 27 4

STOUT boy wanted to make himself generally useful. Must be able to assist in milking. Apply at PRESS office. 8 25 tf

TO LET—Part of a house. Inquire at 32 Madison avenue. 8 25 tf

NICELY furnished rooms, with board, at 29 West Front street. 8 25 4

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing, kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield. tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 266 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with JONES & CO. 8-11-tf

OUR MOTTO—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY

The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced.

Apollinaris Water: pints, $1.50, quarts, $2 dozen; Belfast Ginger Ale, $1.40 dozen.

Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c

The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEWAMENT.

25 PARK AVENUE. 8-4-1

CLAIRVOYANT

Mrs. DR. EDWARDS,

By request of her many former patrons has returned again to Plainfield; can only remain a few weeks, from

August 26 to September 10.

Call at once, as this is positively your last chance.

Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Ladies 50c to $1. Gentlemen, $1.

Can be consulted at the City Hotel, Room 4, (one flight up) Plainfield, N. J. 8 27 tf

SECOND ANNUAL

EXCURSION

AND CLAM BAKE,

OF THE

Grocers' Protective Association,

Of Plainfield, N. J., to

BOYNTON BEACH,

On LABOR DAY,

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.

Train leaves Plainfield 8 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.

Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. Tickets for the Bake, 50 cents. 8 22 8

MOY.

HOAGLAND'S

EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 North Avenue,

Opposite Railroad Station. 8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.

Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

14 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.

C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 5-5-7

J. T. VAIL,

REAL ESTATE,

AND INSURANCE, 40 NORTH AVE.

DEALER IN

BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c. 2-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY,

REAL ESTATE

AND INSURANCE AGENTS,

61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 3-25-7

M. M. DUNHAM.

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 8-13-7

HOUSE AND FRESCO

PAINTING,

Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.

MARSH & AYERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to. First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.

CALL AND SEE US. 5-25-7

ARNOLD,

THE GROCER!

92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,

NORTH PLAINFIELD. 4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,

FIRE INSURANCE.

OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. 2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

45 North Avenue,

Opposite Station.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-3-7

BROWN & HILL,

Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,

[FORCE'S HOUSE,] No. 6 North Avenue.

Special attention paid to

Children's Hair Cutting. 2-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,

Straw and Grain.

TELEPHONE CALL, 28.

Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave

BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.

The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 9-4-1

PECK'S CORNER.

NOT

HOW CHEAP

BUT

HOW GOOD

AT

PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.

JELLY JARS,

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.

FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.

GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST. 10-25-tf

BARGAINS!

To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!

Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:

GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.

GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.

CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.

GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.

TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.

FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,

Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.

SELLING OUT CHEAP!

Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!

Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.

FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY. 1-9-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!

42 WEST SECOND STREET.

Blue Fish, Halibut,
Mackeral, Cod,
Porgies, Salmon,
Weak Fish, Lobsters.
Sea Base, Soft Crabs,
Butter Fish, Little Neck Clams,

ARE IN SEASON. 3-13-tf

DON'T

Get OVERHEATED!

DON'T Buy POOR Goods,

You can always find Good ones at

H. A. POPE'S,

Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.

The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!

The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 25 Points worth considering:

FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.

SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.

THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.

A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,

Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J.

N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-tf

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS

FOR

FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE.

A SPECIALTY. 4-11-y

COAL LUMBER

And

Builders Supplies

LOOMIS & RICE

49 B'DWAY

NEGLECTING THE PEOPLE'S DESIRE AND THE CITY'S INTEREST.

The Central Railroad Company Assures THE PRESS That They Never Knew of the Existence of Committees Appointed by the Council to Request the Removal of the Freight House.

In an interview with a PRESS reporter yesterday, Gen'l Sup't Olhausen of the Central Railroad, said that the project of removing the Plainfield freight house and yard from its present location, called up a number of points for consideration that almost universally weighed heavily against the scheme. Even putting aside, he said, the question of dollars and cents —and the change if made would cause an enormous outlay on the part of the company—would the majority be benefitted? The convenience of a yard so centrally located as that now in use in this city, was of great advantage in every way to the receivers and shippers of freight. Move it in any direction to a point where the company owned land sufficient for the purpose, and the cost of cartage to and from the new yard, would be largely increased.

Another location must be chosen where there was vacant land sufficient to accomodate the growth of the city's freight patronage for years to come. There was no such extent of land within reach of any of the streets that are now macadamized, and during the Spring and rainy seasons the yard could only be approached through roads hub-deep with mud.

Mr. Olhausen was assured by the reporter that if he would remove the freight house and yard from its present objectionable location, the city would willingly build macadamized streets to the new location; and furthermore, the people would undoubtedly subscribe liberally towards the cost of making a handsome park of the present yard, and laying out attractive driveways and approaches to the station from the South side of the track. The Superintendent confessed that such assurance placed another face upon the matter, and promised that a fresh start would be made at his end of the line towards a renewed contemplation of the scheme.

He intimated, however, that he was not aware there was a universal demand by the people for the removal of the present freight house. The letter to President Maxwell—published in THE PRESS of last Tuesday—was understood by the company as coming from a man who was not a resident of the city proper, and one who got on and off at the Grant Avenue station. Upon being told by the reporter that the Councils of both 1889 and 1890 had, in compliance with the popular demand, gone so far as to appoint committees from its own members to confer with the railroad authorities towards the accomplishment of the project, he was much surprised. He said that the company had never received a visit or communication from such committees, had never heard of their appointment and was not even cognizant of their existence or the existence of any extended popular advocacy of the scheme or organized effort in the city to bring about the change THE PRESS was so earnestly advocating.

The reporter left justly impressed with the sincerity of Mr. Olhausen's expressed wish to do whatever the people desired in the matter so far as the company was able and the greatest number of its patrons could best be served. Although one of the busiest men in the country, he set everything else aside when the reporter's card reached him through the hands of the many officials that stand between him and the outside World, and devoted his time without restriction, and his most courteous attention to his visitor's rather feeble presentation of a matter that the Plainfield people have so earnestly and generally desired the consumation of, for many months.

Will The Crescents Retrieve Their Reputation To-morrow?

To-morrow's ball game will be of particular interest. It is against the celebrated colored Cuban Giants, and for the first time this year they will have a number of their original nine. Shortly after the Giants won such fame two years ago, most of that nine were engaged to play at York, Pa., and that city's colored team has since been the champions of its kind. It disbanded a few days ago, for the season, and five of the old players are back with the Cuban Giant nine that will play here to-morrow.

Another reason why to-morrow's game should be of particular interest, is because the Crescent League's team is under obligations to retrieve its misfortunes of Wednesday at Norwich. The people are full of sympathy and will probably turn out in large numbers to show the boys they have not entirely given them up.

But for the Next Offence They'll Go to Jail.

Three big boys who in spite of their sixteen or seventeen years of age haven't yet learned not to jump on moving freight trains, were caught by special officer Stephen R. Hope stealing rides on the Central Railroad yesterday. They blubbered and begged to be released, and the biggest one of all offered his watch and chain as a ransom. When the station-house was in sight they cried pitifully, and promised so faithfully never to do it again, that the kind-hearted Hope gave them their freedom.

Few children can be induced to take physic without a struggle, and no wonder —most drugs are extremely nauseating. Ayer's Pills, on the contrary, being sugar-coated, are eagerly swallowed by the little ones, and are, therefore, the favorite family medicine.

DOESN'T BELIEVE THE STORY.

A Gasoline Expert of Little Faith in Drake's Tale.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Having been to a quite considerable extent instrumental in introducing gasoline and gasoline stoves in Plainfield and vicinity, and as it has been suggested to me that the recent conflagration would probably give the sale of gasoline a set-back, I should like to say that the accident should be a warning to all people using gasoline, and if it has the result of making them more careful than they have been in the past, few accidents will occur, and that if they are going to deprive themselves of the comfort, economy and cleanliness gained by the use of gasoline stoves, simply because of the careless handling of matches in the hands of a careless boy, they will be as foolish as they would be should they refuse to ride in railroad trains because numerous accidents occur.

I have not much faith in the story of the accident as chronicled in your graphic account. In all my experience in the oil business I have never seen a film of oil surrounding a gasoline barrel, in fact gasoline barrels are particularly free from anything of the kind, owing to the evaporation. Young Drake is the only one who can account for the accident. He was the one who asked for the matches, and whether he used them for the purpose of placing them on the floor to roll gasoline barrels over; or to light a combination of wood and tobacco known as a pipe, or a combination of paper and tobacco known as a cigarette: he was equally careless, and the blame should rest where it belongs, and not on poor innocent gasoline, which has the virtue of "going off" only when "fired"—a virtue shared by book canvassers, news reporters, sewing machine agents, etc.

PAUL F. WACHENHUSEN.

The Truth as Wrote Under a Bible Text.

In the House of Representatives Wednesday, a Republican leader called a fellow congressman so filthy and blackguard an epithet, that the ladies of the congressmen's families fled from the House and the galleries were ordered cleared. During the excitement that followed, three other Republican congressmen called one another "liars," "tramps" and "cowards," and struck one another with their fists.

Then the Mail & Express on its editorial page headed daily with a text from the Bible, said of it:

That was a real free fight in the House yesterday, and the language they used was wonderful, as Rudyard Kipling would say. But the Democrats who disgraced themselves will be more concerned to hear what their constituents will say.

How much more honest and manly is the Elizabeth Journal's editorial, although no bible text tops its columns.

If the scene which occurred yesterday in the House of Representatives had been participated in by Democrats only, the Republican papers throughout the land would have scored each individual member unmercifully, and they would have done right. But the humiliating admission must be made that Republicans, and New Jersey Republicans at that, were actors in some of the most disgraceful parts of the whole disgraceful row. Never before have members elected from New Jersey stooped, in the great halls of our nation, to use billingsgate too contemptible for public print, and to make use of their fists in a wrangle that would humiliate the habitues of the prize ring. When, many years ago, a scene of the same character took place in our city council, the whole city felt ashamed. Today the whole nation feels ashamed and New Jersey hangs her head. If we can't elect to congress men who have at least a sense of manliness and propriety we would better leave off electing them altogether.

Giving the Secret Away.

There have been some wonderful catches of bass and pickerel in Lake Hopatcong, which is a charming sheet of water, but it has always puzzled many anglers to account for the very handsome display always found in the basket of a well-known New York broker who married Miss Julia Bedloe, of this city. He produced at sundown one pleasant Sabbath day recently ninety-one bass and pickerel that aggregated in weight 263½ pounds. The secret is claimed to be given away by the Record of Summit, N. J., which says:

Howard P. Frothingham is a New York broker who has displayed commendable interest in the protection of the Hopatcong bass, but the tales related of his wonderful skill with the rod are for the most part purely mythical. The facts are that Mr. Frothingham has in his employ George Decker, the son of his dad, Morris, known for years as the most expert fisherman at the lake. During the week while his employer is battling with the bulls and bears of Wall street, Decker is engaged in contest with the finny denizens of Hopatcong. Every fish caught by him is carefully saved. On Sunday Frothingham visits the lake and passes that day in Decker's boat with his rod and reel. At night the festive broker astonishes the natives with the number and size of his bass and pickerel, most of which are the result of Decker's industry during the preceding six days. That Frothingham does not include this explanation in exhibiting his fish may perhaps be excused by those who are at all familiar with the danger that lurks in the waters of Hopatcong.

New Brunswick Loses Dr. Gates.

Merrill Edwards Gates, President of Rutgers College at New Brunswick, telegraphed to Julius H. Seelye at Amherst, Mass., yesterday, that he heartily accepted the Presidency of Amherst College. Prof. T. S. Doolittle, the busiest member of the Rutgers Faculty, will probably succeed Dr. Gates at Rutgers.

Is it not to some extent your own fault that your children seek recreation outside of the family circle? Why not furnish them amusement at home? Why not treat them at home to a safe, delightful and wholesome beverage, such as you can easily have made from Hires' Root Beer Packages?

RUNNING A RAILROAD.

How an Eastern Pooh Bah Manages His Valuable Property.

"The public generally suppose that it takes a man with a big head to run a railroad," said the general manager of one of the biggest corporations in the West to a Chicago Post reporter, "but the business becomes comparatively simple to a man who has been trained to the service, and who has an able corps of assistants to look after the various departments and attend to all the details of administrative work. I have often thought that the manager of the biggest trunk line in the country has an easy task compared with the president of a certain road down East. He has not only to dictate what the general policy of the road shall be, but has personally to attend to carrying out the policy down to the minutest details. He embodies in his own person the offices of president, director, general manager, general superintendent, general freight agent, general passenger and ticket agent, a whole corps of clerks, locomotive engineer, conductor and baggage-master. He, in fact, represents in his own person the entire official staff and force of employes of the company, and all he receives for his services in these multifarious offices is $900 a year. The road he manages is the smallest in America. It is owned and operated by the Monson (Me.) Slate Company and is but six miles in length. It has only a two-foot gauge, but it is thoroughly equipped with locomotives, passenger, baggage and freight cars, and so carefully has it been operated that there has not been a single accident on it during the six years it has been running. The road carries freight and passengers. The principal portion of the freight consists of stone from the company's quarries. It is carried to Monson Junction, where it is transshipped over the Bangor & Piscataquis road to Bangor and other points west. The runs made average about fifty miles a day in summer and twenty-five in winter. If a passenger misses a regular train he can charter a special one for $5. Last year the road carried 9,000 tons of freight and 4,200 passengers. The receipts of the passenger department amounted to $12,000, and more than paid the entire running expenses of the road. There was a surplus of some $3,000 for dividends, without charging any thing for the freight carried. The carriage of this freight actually cost nothing. The road is all down hill one way, and it is only on the return trip that locomotives are required. I think they might improve this part of their service so as to abolish the use of locomotives altogether. By laying a double track and providing an endless cable they might make the cars decending furnish the motive power for those ascending. In this way the duties of the Pooh Bah who does all the work of the road would be considerably lightened."

HENRY WAS DAZED.

Mr. Newbride Disgraces Himself in the Sight of His Pretty Wife.

"A word to the wise is sufficient." There is no doubt but that every young wife who reads the following many times true story from Puck will profit by it and always give "Henry, dear," a sample of just the shade of ribbon she wants, with plainly-written instructions pinned, or perhaps better, glued upon it. When she does she will save him much mortification, and herself time and trouble.

"Henry, dear," said Mrs. Newbride to her husband the other morning, "I wish, if it won't be too much trouble, dear, that you'd bring me home a yard of orange ribbon this evening. I don't want it so very wide nor so very narrow; something between an inch and an inch and a half, or, at most, an inch and three-quarters will be about right. Be sure and get a pretty shade of orange, dear, and I'd prefer it with one side satin; for the other, gros-grain will do, but I think you can easily get the other satin if you look around a little; and be sure, dear, not to get a pico-edged ribbon, but one with just a plain corded edge; and don't get a sleazy piece; and don't get any shade but orange; not a real vivid orange, either, but a piece that will look well with pale green, and don't pay over thirty-five or forty cents for it; and don't get red or blue or green or pink by mistake. You won't forget, will you, dear? I must have the ribbon to-night."

Was it any wonder that when the dazed Henry came home he brought three yards of sky-blue watered ribbon? or that, when his wife saw it she sank into a chair and gasped out:

"Why—Henry—Newbride!"

It Sounded Like Grandma Stowe.

One might hunt a good while, remarks the Congregationalist, for a spicier reference to an artist's thought and style than may be found in the utterance of a little grandson of Harriet Beecher Stowe, made the other day when he was discovered swinging on a gate, somewhat to its damage, near his father's house. The owner asked him if he wished to injure his neighbor's gate. "I don't care for my neighbor's gate," said he. Then, as the words suggested some others, he added: "Nor his ox, nor his ass, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, nor any thing that is my neighbor's." "Who said those words?" asked the neighbor. "I dunno," answered the young hopeful; "but it sounds like Grandma Stowe."

North Atlantic Cyclones.

H. Habenicht has written an article on the causes of the cyclones of the North Atlantic. The author points out that, if the globe were covered with water, the general circulation of the air would be very regular, without local depressions and steep barometric gradients, and he refers to the contrast of the systems prevailing, e. g. between the South Pacific and the North Atlantic. He finds the explanation primarily in the obstruction offered to the regular courses of the winds by the great continents to the east and west of the Atlantic; and, secondly, in the constant barometrical maxima over the continent in winter and in the neighborhood of the Arctic regions.

THE BARKING SANDS.

One of the Many Wonders of the Hawaiian Islands.

Results of a Savant's Investigation of the Curious Phenomenon—Sand that Emits Peculiar Noises—The Cause of the Sonorousness.

The so-called "barking sands" of Kauai are mentioned in the works of several travelers in the Hawaiian Islands, and have a world-wide fame as a natural curiosity; as a rule, however, the printed accounts are meager in details, and show the authors to have been unacquainted with similar phenomena elsewhere.

Writing to the Honolula Commercial Advertiser, H. Corrington Bolton, Ph. D., says: Jointly with Dr. Alexis A. Julien, of Columbia College, New York, I have been studying the properties of sonorous sand for a long time, and have visited many localities in America, Europe and Asia; hence I was able during a recent visit to Kauai to make some notes and comparisons that may interest the residents of this kingdom.

Notwithstanding recent rains, I found the sand on the dune at Mana dry to the depth of four or five inches, and when pushed down the steep incline it gave out a deep base note having a tremulous character. This hardly resembles the "barking" of a dog; but a sound somewhat like it is produced by plunging the hands into the sand and bringing them vigorously together. Another way is to fill a long bag three-quarters full of sand and then, dividing its contents into two parts, holding one in each hand to clap the two portions together. This I had found to be a good method for testing the sonorousness of sand on sea beaches. A bag of the sand will preserve its acoustic qualities a long time if kept dry and not too frequently manipulated. The angle at which the sand lies where it falls over the dune is thirty-one degrees; the sonorousness extends several hundred feet along the dune, being interrupted by a creeping vine that thrives marvelously in such a soil.

A similar dune of sonorous sand occurs on Nihau, as has long been known to residents of the island, and it has been also reported to occur near Koloe.

These observations, simple as they are, have been of special interest to me, because they show that the sand of these localities forms a link between that of the sea beaches and that of a certain hill on the Gulf of Suez known as Jebel Nagous, and which I visited in April, 1889. Sonorous sand is of more common occurrence than generally supposed. It is found on the Atlantic coast of the United States from Maine to Florida, on the Pacific coast, in Europe, Japan, Africa, Tasmania, etc., as well as on the shores of many fresh-water lakes. The musical notes obtained at these far separated localities are also the same, but in Arabia the incline is 390 feet high, and consequently the sounds are far louder, especially as they are further magnified by being echoed from adjoining cliffs.

The sand at Kauai and Nihau is made up of fragments of shell and coral, while that of all other localities known to us (over one hundred in number) is siliceous. This shows that the sonorousness is independent of material. Examination under the microscope further shows that the sonorous quality is not connected with the shape of the grain. Sonorous sand is distinguished by being free from fine dust or silt; the individual grains are very uniform in size. It is very easy to deprive sand of its acoustic power by mixing a little earth with it, or by wetting it.

A number of hypotheses have been proposed to explain the cause of this curious property of certain sands. The prevalent idea in these islands that the sound is due to the cellular structure of the sand must be abandoned, since most sonorous sand is not so constituted—that of Kauai forming an exception. Some have attributed the sonorous quality to saline crusts, others to electricity, effervescence of air between the particles, reverberation within subterranean cavities, and to solarization; and one author attempts to explain the phenomenon by writing of "a reduplication of impuses setting air in vibration in a focus of echo." These theories Dr. Julien and I reject for reasons I can not here detail, and we believe the true cause of sonorousness to be connected with thin pellicles of films of air or of gases thence derived, deposited, and condensed upon the surface of the sand grains during gradual evaporation, after wetting by seas, lakes or rains. By virtue of these films the sand grains become separated by elastic cushions of condensed gases, capable of considerable vibration, whose thickness we have approximately determined. The extent of the vibration and the volume and pitch of the sound produced we also find to be largely dependent upon the forms, structures, and surfaces of the sand grains, and especially upon their purity or freedom from fine silt or dust.

We have shown that the pitch of the musical notes obtained on sea beaches is proportional to the mass of sand moved, the greater the mass the lower the tones; on the dunes of Kauai and Nihua the same holds true. Those who wish to learn more details of our investigations can find abstracts of three papers read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science in the proceedings for 1883, 1884 and 1889.

The Best Is the Cheapest.

It is false economy that induces people to use cheap butter, cheap coffee, cheap tea, cheap meat, cheap flour and other cheap articles of food. It is a flagrant violation of the laws of physiology and a reckless defiance of disease and death to use such things. Our health is impaired and our doctor bills increased by the use of cheap and badly cooked food. It is impossible to do good work of any kind without good food. Good food, well cooked, makes itself felt through every department of human industry. And the more perfect the food is that man or woman eats the better in every way will be that man or woman, and the broader and brighter will be his or her outlook on life.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.

Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 25c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 80c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET.
7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA. WATER
At MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared.
12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
39 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE.
5-26-w

TRY OUR
QUEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET.

Valuable Building Lots for Sale.
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantity to suit. Apply to Owner, at 28 Craig Place.
8-16-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blouses and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St.
8-28-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave.
6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J.
9-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St.
6-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-28-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. BOX 307. NORTH PLAINFIELD.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 3-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER AND REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 709. Plainfield, N. J.
Orders New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 4-19-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year.
WEST FRONT ST.

FINEST BUTTER!
22c. Pound.
J. F. Mac DONALD, Up-town Grocer,
Nos. 46 and 48 East Front Street.
1-18-tf

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,
That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3.00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.
Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.
Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.
ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Carpenters and Builders.

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Gayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK
6-5-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

E. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,228. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot.
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 37 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 2-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
AND HIS
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
ALSO
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S.
ICED CREAM!
In Fancy Forms Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Place—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sept

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.

PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss L. E. KENYON, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten and School,
418 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),
REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.
In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application. 8 21 2m

HARNED ACADEMY,
A Boarding and Day School,
Will reopen September 15, 1890.
For circulars and other information, address the Principal,
EDWARD B. HARNED,
187 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
8 28 1m

Professional Cards.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol For men only. Hours 8 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 3 p. m. E. HOAGLAND, 28 W. 3d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Frits, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow, and T. S. Armstrong. 5-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON,
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 9-30-1y

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-22-3m

HARRY C. BUNTON,
Typewriter and Stenographer,
COLLECTION AGENT,
With Clark & Reed. 3-21-y

Coal and Lumber.

A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants,
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my1071 ROBERT H. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO
INSURANCE AGENTS
6 E. FRONT STREET. my1079

Miscellaneous.

RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
24 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 127. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my991

J. B. STICKLEY
21 East 54th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a SPECIALTY. 6-20-105-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 20 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.

FOR LITTLE PEOPLE

TOMMY'S GRIEVANCE.

"It's hard on a fellow, I do declare!"
Said Tommy one day, with a pout;
"'Tis every one of the suits I wear
The pockets are 'most worn out.
They're 'bout as big as the ear of a mole,
And I never have more than three;
And there's always coming a mean little hole
That loses my knife for me.

"I can't make 'em hold but a few little things—
Some cookies, an apple or two,
A knife and pencil and bunch of strings,
Some nails, and may-be a screw,
And marbles, of course, and a top and ball
And shells and pebbles and such,
And some odds and ends—yes, honest, that's all!
You can see for yourself 't isn't much.

"I'd like a suit of some patent kind,
With pockets made wide and long;
Above and below and before and behind,
Sewed extra heavy and strong,
I'd want about a dozen or so,
All easy and quick to get at;
And I should be perfectly happy, I know,
With a handy rig like that."

—Eudora S. Bumstead, in St. Nicholas.

THE PRINCESS BELINDA.

Why She Had to Go to Kryland Island, and How She Climbed the Mountain of Cheerfulness.

Once upon a time, long, long ago, before all the fairy godmothers died and left poor mothers to take care of their own children, there lived in a beautiful palace a little Princess named Belinda. Her beauty would have been perfect but for a disagreeable look about her mouth, caused by a dreadful habit of crying over every little trouble. She not only made herself unhappy, but all her friends and relations as well.

The first thing heard in the morning was: "Boo, hoo, hoo! I don't want to be bathed in cold water!" then, "Boo, hoo, hoo! you are pulling my hair." In fact, all day could be heard the weeping and wailing of this miserable little Princess. If nurse was not near just when Belinda called her, or if mamma could not give her every thing she wished, she would cry and cry until mamma was nearly heart-broken to think what an unhappy woman her little daughter must become if not cured of this fault.

Belinda was blessed with a fairy godmother, and one day, just when mamma was nearly distracted by the constant flood of tears, the fairy godmother appeared, for fairy godmothers always used to come when very much needed.

"Why this sadness?" she asked.

Mamma told her how badly she felt that Belinda should fret and cry over trifles and not be happy and contented. The fairy thought for a moment, then said: "Kryland might cure her, but it is a severe remedy, and you will have to let me take her away for some time."

"Any thing," answered mamma, "would be better than to have her ruin her disposition by crying all the time."

Such crying and screaming as Belinda indulged in when told that she was to leave home, had never been heard in the palace before. The fairy paid no attention to it, but took a pair of silken wings from her pocket, fastened them to her shoulders, and lifting Belinda in her arms flew out of the window. The little Princess was so surprised at this that she actually forgot to cry.

Away they flew over land and sea until they came to a small island, over which a heavy mist hung, caused by the warm streams of tears constantly flowing from the eyes of its inhabitants.

"This," said the fairy, "is Kryland. Here all the people who love to cry, may stay and cry to their heart's content without troubling any one else, or they may climb the Mountain of Cheerfulness, just as they choose."

In the center of Kryland stood a high mountain up which Belinda could see many people climbing, each by a different path; but its top was hidden from view by heavy clouds of mist.

"Now," said the fairy, "if you ever want to go home again you must climb to the top of this mountain; but I warn you that every time you cry you will slip back a day's journey."

She then pointed out the path Belinda was take, and left her. For hours the Princess cried and cried, but at last, remembering what the fairy had told her, she started on her journey.

The first day of climbing was the most difficult task Belinda had ever undertaken. The path was wet and slippery. When she put her hands on the rocks to help herself she found them damp and moldy.

At night ugly brownies brought her a supper of black bread and muddy water, at the sight of which her ready tears fell, and down she slipped to the foot of the mountain. The next morning she started up again, and after some days of climbing, with occasional back-slidings, grew so much interested in her journey that she felt no desire to cry. She kept steadily on and there was no more slipping back. The wet slippery mud gave place to firmer ground and flowers began to spring up beside the path—primroses and violets.

To her surprise, as she climbed, the path became easier. Through the breaking mist a rainbow appeared, over which bright fairies came, instead of ugly brownies, to attend to her needs. At last, one day she reached the top, where all was sunshine and gladness, a happy, cheerful child.

Then the godmother again appeared, and they flew over land and sea, back to delighted mother; and for the rest of her life Belinda was a joy and blessing to all about her.—Annie E. Atkinson, in Our Little Men and Women.

A SIMPLE TELEPHONE.

How It Can Be Made and How to Use It.

The little apparatus which I am going to describe certainly deserves the title of "simple" which I have given it. I do not intend to introduce you to the bona fide electrical telephone, with electro-magnets and battery all complete.

All I want to do in this article is to tell you how you can make in a few minutes a telephone quite as good as those sold for a quarter in the toy shops out of materials that will cost you probably nothing at all.

To begin with, you must get two tin cans about three inches in diameter. Take away the lids, which are not wanted, and set to work carefully to knock off the bottoms, bending the tin, if you can, with a small pair of pincers. Having taken off the bottoms, you will have two tin cylinders, which ought to be quite circular, if you have not bent the sides in getting off the bottom.

Now take a piece of cartridge-paper or thick writing-paper — better still parchment, if you have any—and cut out two circles a little larger than the size of the cylinders—in our case about three and a half inches in diameter—bend down the circles of parchment over the cylinders and glue the edges over the tin.

It is just like fastening a jar of preserves. Pull the parchment or paper as tight as you possibly can without cracking it, and leave it to get quite dry. When dry the paper should be "taut" and sound like a drum when tapped with the finger.

Now take a piece of fine string, or "crochet cotton," which answers better, about twenty feet long, and making a small hole in the center of each of the little drums, push one end of the cotton through and tie a knot so that it will not come out again.

The telephone is now finished. Get some one to hold one of the drums and go to the other end of the room, pulling the string tight, but not so tight as to crack the parchment.

Every word that either speaks into his telephone will now be heard distinctly by the other; even a low whisper will be clearly audible if the drum is placed over the ears.

I have only mentioned a cord of twenty feet, but practically you can hear at a much greater distance than this. I have used a telephone made in this way out of doors at a distance of several hundred yards, and quite low whispers are distinctly audible, though either speaker would have to shout at the top of his voice to be heard by any one standing midway between them.

As long as the connecting string does not touch any solid object it will work, but it must be kept clear of the branches of trees, or furniture, if used in the house.

You can arrange the cotton up the stairs if you like, so that a person speaking in the hall can be heard in the attic. The string must be kept away from the stairs by having pieces of cotton tied to the banister at one end and the connecting string at the other, so that when the telephones are pulled the string will become tight and not touch any thing but the cotton tied to the banisters. As long as these precautions are taken it will work just as well as when both speakers are on the same floor.

I can assure those who intend to make one that they can get a lot of fun out of this extremely simple instrument; the juniors of the family, at any rate, will think it very amusing, and probably be continually conveying information to one another through the telephone when with even less trouble they could make themselves understood without its aid.—R. A. R. Bennett, in Golden Days.

HARRY'S OBEDIENCE.

A Little Boy Who Always Had a Cheerful Answer For His Mother.

Little Harry had seen some older boys fly their kites from the tops of the houses, and he thought it would be nice fun if he could do so, too, so he came to his aunt and said:

"Aunt Mary, can I go up to the top of the house and fly my kite?"

His aunt wished to do every thing that was proper to please him, but she thought this was very unsafe, so she said:

"No, Harry, my boy; I think that is very dangerous sort of play. I'd rather you wouldn't go."

"All right. Then I'll go out on the bridge," said Harry.

His aunt smiled, and said she hoped he would always be as obedient as that.

"Harry, what are you doing?" said his mother on one occasion.

"Spinning my new top, mother."

"Can't you take the baby out to ride? Get out the carriage, and I'll bring him down."

"All right!" shouted the boy, as he put his top away in his pocket, and hastened to obey his mother.

"Uncle William, may I go over to the store this morning?" said Harry, one day at breakfast. "I want to see those baskets again that I was looking at yesterday."

"Oh yes, Harry," said his uncle; "I shall be very glad to have you."

"But I can not spare you to-day, Harry," said his mother; "I want you to go out with me; you shall go to the store another time."

"All right," said Harry, and went on eating.

No matter what Harry was asked to do, or what refusal he met with when asking for any thing his constant answer was "All right." He never asked: "Why can't I?" or "Why mustn't I?" Harry not only learned to obey, but he learned to obey in good humor.—Little Christian.

No Evidence to the Contrary.

A young Catholic priest, shortly after beginning his labors in his first parish, received a visit from one of the older fathers. Anxious to show the progress he had made, he called up a class in catechism for questioning.

"Biddy Maloney," he began, "stand up."

A slip of a girl, with blue eyes and brown freckles, arose in her place.

"What, Biddy," said the young father, "is meant by the howly state of matrimony?"

"Shure," began Biddy, glibly, "'tis a sayson of tormint, upon which the soul inters to fit it for the blissid state to come."

"Och!" cried the questioner, angry and mortified; "to the foot of the class wid ye, Biddy Maloney. It's the m'aning of purgatory ye're after givin'."

But here the old priest interposed, with a quizzical smile. "Not too fast, me young brother," he said, restrainingly—"not too fast. Fer aught you and I know to the conthrary, the gurrul may be perfectly right."—Harper's Magazine.

—"I sell cigars in seven languages" is a sign in Philadelphia.

THE BOWSERS.

Mr. B. Tries Sleeping in a Hammock on the Roof.

"HUMPH!" suddenly ejaculated Mr. Bowser the other evening as he sat reading his paper.

"What is it?"

"Nothing, except that I've been a fool."

"How?"

"Why, here we've been roasting almost every night this summer in our bedroom, when the exercise of a little common sense and natural philosophy on my part would have made us comfortable. Mrs. Bowser, if the wind was blowing in the window over a pan of coals, would it be hot or cold?"

"It would be hot."

"Exactly. I am glad to find a woman possessed of so much knowledge. Now, suppose the wind blew over snow or ice?"

"It would be cold."

"Certainly, and I am an idiot for not thinking of it before. I'll try it to-night."

When we went to bed Mr. Bowser brought up a large lump of ice and placed it on the window-sill. He contended that it made a great difference, and fell asleep chuckling over his natural philosophy. By midnight, however, he had all the clothes kicked down to the foot-board and his pillow on the floor as usual. The lump of ice had disappeared, but we soon found the results of it. As it melted the water had soaked into the carpet half way across the floor, and running down through the parlor ceiling had flaked off two square yards of the fresco. I fully expected Mr. Bowser to declare that the idea was mine and that I urged its adoption, but he surveyed the ruin and then calmly observed:

"That's what comes of marrying a woman who doesn't know any thing!"

"But what did I do?"

"It's what you didn't do. Why didn't you tell me to put that ice into the bowl? Here's fifty dollars' damage all on your account!"

That evening he came home an hour earlier than usual, and he had a large bundle under his arm. He didn't wait for me to ask what it contained, but unrolled it and said:

"Here's a better thing than ice. I propose to sleep in this hammock after this."

"But where will you hang it?"

"Oh, I'll find a place. How stupid of me not to have thought of it before!"

After prospecting for awhile he decided on the flat, graveled roof of the kitchen, which was easily reached from an upstairs window. He found a place for the hooks and stretched the hammock, and an hour before our usual bed-time he was prepared to occupy it. He removed his coat, vest, collar and shoes, kissed baby good-night and went out of the window, while I sat down beside it to watch the course of events. Mr. Bowser had slung the hammock about three feet above the roof. He walked over to it, gave it a shake and fell into it. No, he didn't. It dodged him and he went down on his hands and knees and got up muttering:

MR. BOWSER CAME DOWN WITH A CRASH.

"Oh! That's your game, is it? Well, you won't beat me again!"

It took him ten minutes to get stretched on his back in the folds of the hammock, and he had scarcely heaved the first sigh of satisfaction when he gave a kick and growled:

"Consarn it, but the mosquitoes have found me out already! Take that!"

For the next ten minutes he was busy with the pests, and it was while he was thrashing his arms about and kicking his feet that the hook at the foot of his hammock pulled out and Mr. Bowser came down with a crash on the roof. The gravel flew and he uttered a yell, and I appeared at the window to ask:

"Mr. Bowser, what has happened? Has the roof collapsed?"

"Collapsed nothing!" he growled, as he hunted for the hook.

"But what was that awful noise?"

"I didn't hear a sound. I got out of the hammock to lower it a bit. Go back to bed and stay there!"

When he thought I had gone he fixed the hook and got back into the hammock, but I could hear him growling under his breath about pitch, gravel, mosquitoes and idiots, and I knew he wasn't at peace with all mankind, for the next half hour I could hear him slapping at the insects and twisting about. Then I suddenly caught sight of three or four boys skulking up the alley. It was bright moonlight, and from the way they acted I knew that they were "on" to Mr. Bowser. Some of them had probably seen him slinging the hammock before dark and suspected his design. They came opposite, stood in line and at a signal all let fly and jumped behind the barn. Each one threw a potato, and while only one hit the hammock, the others crashed against the house with a loud noise.

"Jewhittaker! but what on earth is that?" gasped Mr. Bowser, as he sat up.

"Mr. Bowser, is every thing all right?" I asked from the window.

"Every thing all right! What's the matter with you? Why don't you go to bed?"

"I—I thought I heard another noise."

"Oh, you did! Well, I didn't. I was almost asleep when you yelled out."

I pretended to go away, and after a bit Mr. Bowser settled down on his back and every thing was quiet. Then the boys came out again. There were four of them. They had a hat full of missiles, and each threw three or four before making a retreat. Mr. Bowser was hit in the head with a potato, and in the side with a tomato, and on the leg with a cucumber, and the noise of the other missiles against the house was like a cannonade.

"Here—whoa—police!" shouted Mr. Bowser, as he struggled up, but at that moment the head of the hammock gave way and he was poured out on the roof in a confused heap. He made two jumps for the window and got in, but not in time to catch me. He came into the bedroom with pitch on his hands and feet and gravelstones in his hair, and before I could say a word he began:

"Mrs. Bowser, I'll get even with you for this, if I have to live one hundred years!"

"Why, what have I done?"

"Never you mind! Look at me! Aren't I a purty sight?"

"Yes; but why did you try to sleep out there?"

"You ask why—you! Why—why—?"

And he was so overcome that he danced around on one leg and couldn't find the soap and towel until I got up and placed them in his hands. It took him an hour to get the pitch off, and as he came to bed he said:

"The train leaves at 10:30 in the morning."

"What train?"

"For your mother's. My lawyer will open a correspondence with you there. I shall instruct him to deal liberally with you, and you can see our child two or three times a year."—Detroit Free Press.

The Long and Short of It.

Cleverton—I have just been reading an article on how long animals can live without food. What do you think about it?

Dashaway—I don't know any thing about long animals, but I put all my money on a short horse the other day and I haven't had any thing to eat since.—The Jury.

Keeping the Old Man Busy.

Miss Fonduv—Have you seen papa?

Mrs. Fonduv—Yes; I found him figuring in the library, and induced him to stop long enough to listen to my plans for spending August at the seashore.

Miss Fonduv—And where is papa now?

Mrs. Fonduv—Oh, he is still figuring. —Puck.

The Power of Imagination.

Mrs. Brown—I don't see how you could pay your good money for such a bottle of ink as you brought home today. It hardly holds any thing.

Brown—I guess you won't think so when you go in the parlor. I broke the bottle on the carpet.—Drake's Magazine.

Getting Pointers.

First Burglar—Bill, wot ye lookin' over that paper fur?

Second Burglar—I'm findin' out wot fam'lies has shut up their houses an gone to waterin' places to spend the summer. It's a mighty lucky thing fur us, Jake, that some folks likes to see their names in print.—Chicago Tribune.

Why He Wore Them.

Cholly—Fweddy, old boy, what are you wearing those big spectacles for?

Fweddy—Because all the snobs, don't y' know weah a single eye-glawss. I weah the lahge spectacles to let 'em know I'm not a doosid snob, bah Jove! —Chicago Tribune.

A Costly Seat.

First Sweet Girl—Just think! The Czar of Russia has a throne that cost $5,000.

Second Sweet Girl—Really? Why, that is not as much as papa paid for his seat in the House of Representatives.—The Jury.

Nothing New About It.

Mercury—They have adopted a new plan with criminals on the earth. They execute them with electricity.

Jove (shaking his thunderbolts)—What a chestnut! That has been my method since time immemorial.—Munsey's Weekly.

SANCTUM SARCASM.

City Editor—Where's Carnage? Gone to that hanging yet?

Browne (rival reporter)—No. He's out sharpening up his dull thud.—Drake's Magazine.

Multifarious Duties.

Biggs—Our forefathers had wives that were of some account. They could do every thing, from the family sewing to driving oxen.

Boggs—Yes, they hemmed and hawed, as it were.—Detroit Free Press.

Remains to Be Seen.

Charlie—Going out hunting, are you? Dick—You bet.

Charlie—What are you going to shoot?

Dick—Can't tell till I see what I hit.—Texas Siftings.

A Gentle Hint.

Mr. Dashley—Here's an advertisement of "Novelties in Pocket-Books." I wonder what they are like.

Mrs. Dashley—A pleasing novelty in my pocket-book would be a twenty-dollar bill.—Light.

GEORGE HOLLAND'S JOKE.

How the Great Comedian Once Upon a Time Hooked a Policeman.

From "The Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson," in the Century, we quote as follows: "George Holland was distinctly an actor of the old school, invariably introducing even into modern characters its traditions and conventionalities; his effects were broadly given, and his personality was essentially comic. He was quite an old man when I first knew him, and I had serious doubts as to whether our acquaintance in the theater would be an agreeable one; for by the terms of my engagement I was to hold a leading part as the commedian of the company, and he, who had always occupied that station, was placed as second to me. I naturally thought that feeling himself comparatively subordinate, and that I, a younger man, was to outrank him, he would, by his manner at least, resent my intrusion upon his former ground. I was, however, agreeably mistaken; for I found him too generous a man to harbor any jealous feelings, and to my gratification we were friends from our first meeting. It is pleasant also to know that this relationship extended over many years, and up to the day of his death.

"The useful career and unblemished character of George Holland will be recalled by all who knew him. He lived, a bright and cheerful spirit, in this world for eighty years, for time could not age his youthful heart. He was the merriest man I ever knew. Practical joking was a passion with him, and though his pranks were numerous, by some good fortune they always ended innocently and with harmless mirth. I remember that on one occasion, when some goldfish had been placed in the ornamental fountain in Union Square, Holland dressed himself in a full sporting suit, and with a fish-basket strapped upon his shoulder, a broad-brimmed hat upon his head and a rod in his hand, he unfolded a camp-stool, and quietly seating himself in front of the fountain began to fish, with such a patient and earnest look in his face that no one could have supposed that it was intended as a practical joke. This strange spectacle soon attracted a curious crowd about the sportsman, who with a vacant and idiotic smile sat there quietly awaiting a nibble. A policeman soon forced his way through the crowd and arrested Holland, who explained with a bewildered look that he was fishing in his own private grounds. The policeman naturally concluded that the intruder was some harmless lunatic, and, patting him kindly on the shoulder, bade him go home to his friends. Holland burst into a flood of tears, and while affectionately embracing the guardian of the law contrived to fasten the fish-hook into the collar of the policeman's coat, who walked slowly and sympathetically away, unconsciously dragging the line and rod after him. The crowd, seeing the joke, roared with laughter, as Holland quickly made his way to the nearest omnibus, which he reached before the infuriated policeman could catch him."

AN ODD STEAMBOAT.

How an Ingenious Negro Built One Out of Odds and Ends.

Some amusing descriptions have been written about the home-made steamboat that plies on the St. Paul river, Liberia, but very little has been said of the mechanical genius who knocked the boat together out of material that was never intended for a steamboat.

His name is Irons and he used to be a slave in South Carolina. Awhile ago he made up his mind that it was high time there was a steamboat plying on the St. Paul river between Monrovia and the first rapids. He secured the engine of an abandoned sugar-cane crusher, and went to work to build his steamer. He took a canoe fifty feet long and ripped it from stem to stern with a saw. He placed the halves nine feet apart, ribbed and planked them, and before long the hull was ready for the machinery. Hardly any two pieces of the machinery were ever together before. He had to make a score of things before he could induce that engine to turn a paddle-wheel. He picked up bits of iron shafting and so on here and there, and with the aid of a blacksmith shop knocked them into shape so that they would work smoothly together. He made a pair of paddle-wheels, built a deck-house, secured an old steam-whistle, fitted up a rudder-wheel, launched his creation and was ready for business.

This man was once an illiterate slave on a cotton plantation, but inventive talent was born in him. His side-wheel steamer is not conspicuous for speed or beauty, but she is serviceable, and is noteworthy as the first steamboat ever built in Africa and probably the first that was ever built out of picked-up material. One of Liberia's disadvantages is the fact that the former slaves who compose her citizens are most of them poor, not only in purse, but also in intellectual equipment. But she has her men of mark like Dr. Blyden, who would be respected anywhere for their attainments and ability; and she has reason to be proud of such a man as Irons, who was known for his remarkable inventive and mechanical talent long before he built Liberia's first steamboat.

Insurance Against Banks.

A company has been established to guarantee depositors in National, State and savings banks and trust companies against loss by reason of the suspension or failure of such institutions in which those guaranteed may have their deposits. In case of the suspension or failure of such an institution in which the party guaranteed has money on deposit, the company, upon receiving evidence of the fact and a transfer of the claim with power of attorney to collect, pays the full amount due the guaranteed by the insolvent institution. The rates are as follows: For any amount not exceeding $300 $1 per year; for any amount not exceeding $500, $1.50 per year; for any amount not exceeding $1,000, $2.50 per year, and $2.50 for every additional $1,000 guaranteed. It is a New Jersey institution and has been incorporated less than a year.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS.
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
79 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-26-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD.]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE,
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At C. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes'
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-12-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-23-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 5-16-tf

Marketing.

J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 19 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 155. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me. myl0

J. P. LAIRE & CO
SELLS
Parlor Stoves and Ranges
The CHEAPEST in the city. Stock will be LARGE and designs the LATEST.
The Wonderful Howe Ventilator
Constantly on hand, and all equipments.
Horse Blankets and Robes.
Electric House Paint $1 per Gal.
423

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Coods, &c., &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-25-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
8-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
12 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people.
4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician, 13 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES, Solid Gold Chains, Charms and Lockets, Diamond Rings, Gold Spectacles, Silver Ware. Solid Silver Spectacles. Don't forget the number. 12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUSSEBROWER, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Mill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE. STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway, 7:40 A. M., to meet 7:59 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.32 A. M. | train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.17 | do |
| 5th do | 11.00 | do | 11.24 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.08 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 P.M. | do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do | meet 3 51 P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do | do 5.39 | do. |
| 11th do | 5.45 | do | do 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do | do 7.05 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.32, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.34, 5.39, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.

STABLES—76 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-5 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

8.35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

9.08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8.42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00, 6 07, 7 59, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 39 P. M. On Sunday at 1 00, 8 59 A. M. and 9 39 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 07, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 01 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2.54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 40, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 8 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2.25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For Cape May, 1.39 P. M. week-days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 2- P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 07, 7 59, 9 05, 9 35, 11 01 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2.54, 5 15, 6 37, 7 40, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 8 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lamberville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 59, 9, 35, 11 01 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 40 P. M. Sundays at 10 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 5 24, 5 39, 6 29, 6 59, 7 26, 7 36, 7 56, 8 18, 8 25, 8 37, 9 07, 10 05, 11 09, A. M., 1, 1 41, 3 07, 3 30, 3 52, 4 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 9 28, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 55, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 3 30, 6 16 7 01, 7 15, 8 23, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 27, 9 32, 10 05, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 05, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—6 01, 8 05, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 30, 2 35, 5 56, 7 01, 7 15, 8 23, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 39, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 36, 8 20, 9 25, 10 10, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 25, 8 40, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 55, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 59, 2 32, 3 45, 4 32, 5 20, 5 54, 6 20, 6 38, 7 03, 7 12, 7 54 8 20, 9 43, 11 15, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 7 30, 7 52, 7 55, 8 30, 9 05, 10 47, 11 59, A. M., 2 45, 4 08, 5 34 p. m. Sundays—1 17, 9 48 a. m., 2 47, 4 08, 5 14 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 5 20, 6 38, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 13 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 9 44, 10 A. M., 12 22, 4 09, 6 40 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 02, A. M., 6 40, 7 50 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD,

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge Branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Manch Chunk.

9 43 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Nanticoke, Drifton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c.

1 39 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 13 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 3 27, 8, 8 27, 10 05, 11 09, a. m., 1, (2 07, through coach,) 3 51, 5 31, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove) 3 27, 8 02, a. m., 3 20 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 3 27, 5 38, 8, 10 05, 11 09 a. m., 1, 2 07, 3 51, 5 31, 7 08 p. m. Sunday—3 27, 8 02 a m., 3 20 p m.

For Freehold, 3 27, 8, 11 09 a. m., 1, 3

If you don't see it in THE PRESS it isn't so! This applies to the News of the Day, as well as the Goods the Shops are offering.

THE DAILY PRESS.

PLAINFIELD'S ONLY NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The man who knew how to run a paper to everybody's satisfaction was, unfortunately, one of those unlucky individuals who missed getting aboard the ark.

FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

Madame E. GETTI, of Paris.

Dresses Ready-Made and to Order.

IMPORTED DRESS GOODS. Sole Agent of the celebrated Perrin Freres & Co. Imported KID GLOVES.

Park Avenue and Fourth Street, (Miller Building.)

8 25 3w

VAN EMBURGH & WHITE, SAY

Dark Outing Flannels will be very popular this Fall for Children's School Dresses. We are displaying a nice assortment of them. Price 12c.

* * * * *

Gentlemen, we will sell 50 dozen Unlaundried Shirts, 50c quality, for 39c each.

* * * * *

We put on sale, and 'tis the last of those remnants of Fine Outing Flannels; our price 10c.

* * * * *

We are offering some extra good values in Table Linen, Towels and Napkins.

* * * * *

Our Writing Paper deserves special mention; one at 10c a box, and one at 14c, which is as good as you generally pay 25c for.

* * * * *

There are 100 sample Corsets, sizes 25 to 30, Corsets that sold for $1 and $1.25. We close the entire lot for 60c pair.

* * * * *

Housekeepers will find many good things in our Furnishing Department. We keep a fine line of Crockery, Glass and Tinware, and sell them at popular prices.

* * * * *

We deliver goods everywhere, free of charge.

WE STRUCK IT LUCKY

This year by ordering our

FALL & WINTER STOCK

Before the rise in leather. YOU will get the benefit of it, as we intend to hold to the OLD LOW PRICES!

DOANE & VAN ARSDALE,

22 WEST FRONT ST. THE ONE-PRICE BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE.

SEBRING'S,

PARK AVENUE.

LARGE STOCK OF

FALL OVERCOATS!

12-6-y

Blaziers, White Vests, Flannel Dress Shirts, Gordon Sashes and

STRAW HATS

—FOR—

GENTLEMEN,

At A. C. HORTON'S, 5 W. Front St.

10-1-tf

C. K. COMPTON,

Baker, Confectioner and Iced Cream Manufacturer.

Iced Cream in Fancy Form, and Individual Bricks for Teas and Parties.

Plain and Fancy Cake, Charlotte Russe and Macaroons, fresh every day. MY OWN MAKE.

Try my Home Made Bread; it will please you; hot at 5 P. M.

If you desire FRESH and PURE CANDY, you can make NO MISTAKE in buying my goods.

I manufacture LARGELY, and GUARANTEE THE QUALITY.

26 WEST FRONT STREET.

11-18-tf

Wishing you good luck
Truly yours
Karl Kaerth
Plainfield N J

First Catch Your Hare

Reads an old recipe; that's well enough in Culinary matters, but it dosen't do to wait until you Cut, Scald or Burn yourself, and then run for a bottle of CARL KAERTH'S

"Instantaneous Liniment."

A much wiser plan is to spend 25c., and keep a bottle in the house.

Ask your Druggist for it.

Has no equal for CUTS, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA. For sale at all Drug Stores or at the FACTORY, 16 E. 2d St. 4-2

NO, NEVER NO MORE

Trainmaster Maloney Gives Out "A Straight Tip."

THIS COMES FROM ONE "WAY UP"

And It Is that No Strikers Will Again Work for the Central.

The Switchmen at Buffalo Passed Maloney and Wired Toucey—They Have No Reply Yet, But Maloney's Tip Discounts the Answer and Gives Budding Hope Over to Despair.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 30.—It was learned that the striking switchmen had telegraphed to General Superintendent Toucey, at New York, asking him to grant them a conference to settle the present difficulties. So far as learned no answer had been received.

"Have you any idea what the answer will be?" a reported asked Trainmaster Maloney at East Buffalo, telling him of the report that Mr. Toucey had been telegraphed to.

Mr. Maloney could not answer. What he did tell the reporter, caused a good deal of surprise among the striking switchmen. He said:

"I can give you a straight tip that none of the strikers will be received back into the employ of the company, either as individuals or as a body. The men who went out will never do another day's work for this company. This decision does not come from me, but from one a good deal higher up in authority. We have not told the men this yet, but they might as well know it now as any other time."

Twelve trains were sent off yesterday. Five went to Niagara Falls and there were a good many cars sent over from Ohio street. There was no trouble of any kind.

HE'LL NEVER "SMILE" AGAIN.

Intemperate J. F. Rouse Blows His Brains Out at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 30.—J. F. Rouse, who is believed to belong to a wealthy New York family, shot and killed himself in his room at the Commercial Hotel last night or early this morning.

The tragedy was not discovered until late this afternoon, when the body was found lying on the bed with a bullet hole in the head. Rouse was of intemperate habits while here and he had been expelled from one of the largest hotels on that account.

It is thought that despondency caused by drink led to the suicide. The body is in the hands of the coroner.

MR. CLEVELAND AND PARTY.

On Their Way to Saranac Lake—To Be Gone a Month.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 30.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland and wife, and Mrs. R. W. Chapin, arrived in this city by a New York Central train at 9:55 last night. The party dined at the Delavan House, and left on the Delaware & Hudson road at 11:20 for Saranac Lake. The only persons meeting Mr. Cleveland here were Assistant-Adjutant-General McEwen, Eugene Chamberlain and G. E. Graham. Mr. Cleveland conversed with the party about ten minutes, but declined to say anything of a political nature. He said that he intended to stay away about a month. He inquired concerning Governor Hill's health.

For Murdering an Infant.

BELAIR, Md., Aug. 30.—The coroner's jury has rendered a verdict holding Mrs. L. V. Bay and her daughter Alice M. Bay on the charge of infanticide. The evidence was that Alice gave birth to a child last Sunday, and that shortly afterwards the child was found under the mother's pillow. One of the physicians attempted to take the child from its hiding place, when the mother caused him to desist and the babe was was smothered to death before being released. The mother is in a critical condition.

His References Didn't Know Him.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Charles Hutchins was arrested here charged with having stolen a large quantity of jewelry from J. H. Leroy's residence. The man is a stranger and the police are of the opinion that he is a professional sneak thief, who is now making a trip of the country. Hutchins claims that he is the brother-in-law of James L. Atwood, cashier in Damon's safe manufactory at Boston. Atwood telegraphs that he does not know the man.

Kisses Mother-in-Law and Dies.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug 30.—John H. Bottger committed suicide by taking a dose of laudanum. He told his mother-in-law that he had taken poison and was going to die. He asked her to kiss him good-bye. Then he went to his father-in-law's store and bade him good-bye also. Soon after he became unconscious and died. Bottger has a sister living in Brooklyn, and a brother in Augusta, Ga. He was a prominent Odd Fellow.

To Advance Price of Coal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Representatives of all the leading anthracite coal companies met at the Delaware & Hudson Coal Company's office to-day and decided to advance the price of coal on Sept. 1 10 and 15 cents a ton, and to limit the output to 3,50,000 tons.

Pork for Art.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Le Paris prints the following: "The negotiations between France and the United States relative to the American tariff are approaching a favorable conclusion. The Washington Government will remove the duty on works of French art and France will remove the prohibition against American pork."

WEDDERBURN'S SOFT SNAP.

His Unique Method of Paying Postage to Himself.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Postmaster-General Wanamaker has sent to the House an answer to the resolution adopted by the House on the 16th inst., calling for information concerning the case of Alexander J. Wedderburn. The resolution recited that gross frauds had been practiced on the Post Office Department by Wedderburn in connection with the transmission through the mails of a newspaper called The National Farm and Fireside at one-eighth the lawful rates; that the newspapers, though printed at Alexandria, Va., were mailed at a post office called Grange Camp, established at the request of Wedderburn, one of whose employes was postmaster; that the Post Office Department did not establish criminal proceedings against Wedderburn because the Department of Agriculture interposed in his behalf, and requesting the Postmaster-General to submit any correspondence had with him to the Department of Agriculture.

It had been charged on the floor of the House, during the debate on the Compound Lard bill, that Wedderburn was a lobbyist in the employ of the hogs' lard men, and that the answer of the Postmaster-General had been purposely delayed until the bill was disposed of.

In his letter the Postmaster-General says that the delay was caused by the absence from the city of himself and the Third Assistant-Postmaster-General, who alone had full knowledge of the facts. The department, he says, has no correspondence in the matter with the Department of Agriculture, and the question as to the prosecution of Wedderburn has been submitted to the Attorney-General for his opinion. Mr. Wanamaker states that the post office at Grange Camp was discontinued because Wedderburn, though not postmaster there, was in reality inspector of the office.

He was, it is stated, almost its only patron, and he mailed large amounts of matter himself, not paying any stamp money, and as a result, while the receipts of the office during the time it was in existence amounted to $1,495, the sum of $1,215 went to pay the commissions of the postmaster, an employe of Wedderburn.

GLADSTONE AND NEWMAN.

Eulogy of Dollinger for His Brave Defense of the Jews.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—In his article on Cardinal Newman and Dr. Dollinger, published in the Speaker, Mr. Gladstone eulogizes these as the two most remarkable men of the contemporary Christian church.

The construction of Dr. Dollinger's mind was simple; that of Cardinal Newman's was complex. The Cardinal was endowed with a subtle and far-reaching genius and the shadings of his thought were like the countless ripples of the sea.

Dr. Dollinger's address on the Jews in Europe was issued when the anti-Semitic movement was raging in Germany, and was written evidently for the purpose of making the Germans ashamed of their bigotry. Dr. Dollinger knew, as others did not, the incredible sufferings of that race; sufferings which dishonor Europe almost as much as those of Ireland dishonor England.

Belgian Military Refugees Pardoned.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—The Belgian Consul in this city has received official notification from his Government that King Leopold II. had granted amnesty to all military deserters. This also includes those who left the country to avoid serving in the army. All those affected thereby in this country who may wish to return to Belgium can do so by obtaining credentials from the Belgian Consul in the district in which they are located.

Extensive Socialist Conspiracy.

LONDON, ug. 30.—A dispatch received from Rome states that a big Socialist conspiracy has been unearthed in that city. Concealed in the houses of workingmen belonging to secret societies the police have found bombs charged with powder and dynamite, as well as correspondence of a dangerous character with foreign Socialists, and Republican flags intended to be used in case of an outbreak.

Phillipsen Sues for False Arrest.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Gen. O'Beirne and John Simpson have been served with papers in a civil suits for $20,000 damages for false arrest brought against them by Hayman, Marx and Rosenthal, attorneys, representing Alexander Ludwig Phillipsen, the Dane who was arrested and held on suspicion of being the murderer of the man Meyer whose body was shipped to this country in a barrel of cement.

Stock Yards Strike Off.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—The stock yards switchmen's strike has been declared off and the trouble in the Alton yards has been settled in a manner agreeable to both the company and the men. All the roads are again running as usual, including the Lake Shore. At the Lake Shore yards 47 men of the day crew went to work and new men are being hired to replace the 20 men who failed to go to work as ordered.

Labor Day Proclamation.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—Gov. Beaver has issued a proclamation calling for a proper observance of Labor Day, on Monday next, and requesting that the several departments of the State Government be closed on that day.

An Imperial Defense of Opinion.

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—The Neue Freie Presse asserts that the conference between Emperor William and the Czar at Narva ended in a disagreement, which caused the Emperor to hastily leave Peterhof a day earlier than had been planned.

TRADE ANNEXATION

Not the Conquest or Extension of Territory

THE POLICY FOR THE UNION.

So Says Mr. Blaine in His Speech at Waterveit Last Night.

Mr. Mason Opens the Meeting—Mr. Blaine Hopes All the Republican Nominees for Congress in Maine Will be Elected Without Exception—Henry Cabots Lodge Speaks.

WATERVILLE, Me., Aug. 30.—About 2,500 people assembled at a mass meeting last night to listen to an address by Secretary James G. Blaine. After remarks by Governor Burleigh, President Small of Colby University, introduced Mr Blaine as the leader of the Republican party and a famous advocate of an interesting and progressive tariff.

Hon. Wm. E. Mason of Illinois followed, in an enthusiastic speech, endorsing the principals of reciprocal trade. The meeting closed with an earnest speech by Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, endorsing the Federal Election bill, warning the voters that the Government must protect all its citizens in the right to vote, Mr. Lodge's presence was unexpected and the people greeted him warmly.

Mr. Blaine said he was glad to speak in Waterville, since it was there he was first nominated for Congress.

Referring to State affairs, he said the affairs of no other State in the Union had been more justly, more wisely and more economically administered. Maine's succession of Republican Chief Magistrates had been without spot or blemish.

The election which takes place on the eighth of next month involves in great part the political issues now under discussion in the national field. The decision of Maine will have due influence on the other States, and that decision will be pronounced in the majorities we shall give in our four Congressional districts. Each of these districts is represented by an able man in whom the Republican people of Maine have confidence. I should regard it as a political calamity to the State if any one of the four should by any possibility be defeated.

In regard to National questions, he said: "I wish to declare the opinion that the United States has reached a point where one of its highest duties is to enlarge the area of its foreign trade. Under the benificent policy of protection we have developed a volume of manufactures which, in many departments, overruns the demand of the home market. In the field of agriculture, with the immense propulsion given it by agricultural implements, we can do far more than produce breadstuffs and provisions for our own people; nor would it be an ambitious destiny for so great a country as ours to manufacture only what we can consume, or to produce only what we can eat. We are already, in many fabrics and in many products, far beyond that, and our great demand is expansion of trade with countries where we can find profitable exchanges. We are not seeking annexation of territory. Certainly we do not desire it unless it should come by the volition of the people who might ask the priceless boon of a place under the protection of a flag of the Union. I feel sure that for a long time to come the people of the United States will be wisely content with our present area and not launch upon any scheme of annexation.

At the same time I think we should be unwisely content if we did not seek to engage in what the younger Pitt so well termed annexation of trade.

After a defence of the policy of protection; and giving the statistics of our international trade, Mr. Blaine said: "The inevitable tendency is, I think, toward the increase of the free list. Our great mistake was made when we began to repeal the war duties on so large an amount of imports. Any duty repealed was a favor and an advantage to the exporting country, and we have asked nothing in return. Instead of this course (which I must say was one of carelessness and wastefulness by both political parties) every repeal of duty should have been preceded by a most thorough investigation, and whenever it was found practicable to export anything from the United States and thus establish reciprocity of trade it should be done. It is not a question of setting deliberately to work to establish reciprocal exchanges. But with all the duties we have thus far repealed it has been a question of whether we should get something or get nothing. I hope now with our eyes open that we shall in future choose to get something.

"We encounter opposition to this policy from those who declare that if we enter into reciprocity of trade with one country we must do it with all countries, and thus indirectly bring about complete free trade.

"I do not see the logic of this, and I am sure the fact will not prove what is predicted. We may enter into reciprocity with one nation because we find advantage in it. We may decline to enter into reciprocity with another nation because we see no advantage in it.

"Reciprocity is simply a policy of circumstance to be determined favorably or adversely, according as its operation may make or lose for us. To say that because we enter into reciprocal relations with one country on one thing we must enter into reciprocal relations with all other countries on all things is, to my mind, as absurd as to say that if I buy a horse to-day I must necessarily buy a drove of asses to-morrow. All objections of that kind are, I am sure, unfounded, and will not stand the test of argument or a practical trial."

BASEBALL GAMES.

National League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | —1 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —0 |

Batteries—Welch and Buckley; Anderson and Decker.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —2 |
| Cincinnati | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —1 |

Batteries—Clarkson and Ganzel; Mullane and Harrington.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —4 |
| Chicago | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | —6 |

Batteries—Vickery and Schriver; Stein and Kittridge.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 4 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | x—10 |
| Cleveland | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —6 |

Batteries—Terry and Clark; Beatin and Zimmer.

Players' League.

AT NEW YORK.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 0—11 |
| Chicago | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 1—5 |

Batteries—O'Day and Brown; Baldwin and Farrell.

AT BOSTON.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 3 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 5—18 |
| Pittsburg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—0 |

Batteries—Radbourne and Murphy; Maul and Hurley.

AT BROOKLYN.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brooklyn | 1 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1—10 |
| Cleveland | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 3 | 0—9 |

Batteries—Hemming and Daily; Gruber and Brennan.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 2 | 1 | 2—8 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 5 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0—6 |

Batteries—Husted and Hallman; Stafford and Mack.

American Association.

AT BALTIMORE.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baltimore | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0—2 |
| St. Louis | 1 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | x—6 |

Batteries—German and Townsend; Hart and Munyan.

AT SYRACUSE.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Syracuse | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0—9 |
| Louisville | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 3 | 1 | x—10 |

Batteries—McCullough and Briggs; Ehret and Bligh.

POSTPONED.

At Rochester—The Toledo-Rochester game was postponed on account of rain.

Atlantic Association.

AT HARRISBURG.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Harrisburg | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 5 | 0—9 |
| Newark | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1—4 |

Batteries—Gamble and Sommers; Serad and Murphy.

Standing of the Clubs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Brookl'n | 70 | 36 | .660 | Chicago | 60 | 47 | .561 |
| Boston | 69 | 38 | .638 | N. York | 47 | 60 | .439 |
| Philadel. | 65 | 42 | .607 | Clevl'nd | 31 | 72 | .301 |
| Cincin'ti | 63 | 41 | .606 | Pittsb'rg | 19 | 86 | .181 |

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 63 | 41 | .606 | Philadel. | 58 | 50 | .537 |
| Brookl'n | 65 | 43 | .591 | Pittsb'rg | 44 | 55 | .444 |
| N. York | 61 | 44 | .577 | Clev'l'nd | 42 | 59 | .416 |
| Chicago | 57 | 52 | .523 | Buffalo | 29 | 71 | .290 |

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Louis'v'le | 64 | 33 | .660 | Col'mb'a | 52 | 48 | .520 |
| St. Louis | 58 | 42 | .580 | Toledo | 51 | 44 | .537 |
| Athletic | 50 | 48 | .510 | Syracuse | 40 | 56 | .408 |
| Roch'st'r | 50 | 46 | .521 | Ba tim'e | 28 | 74 | .274 |

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

| | Won | Lost | P'ct | | Won | Lost | P'ct |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| N. Hav'n | 69 | 25 | .734 | Harrish'g | 41 | 61 | .402 |
| Newark | 53 | 44 | .546 | Wilm't'n | 33 | 62 | .300 |
| Lebanon | 41 | 43 | .488 | | | | |

Attendance at Games.

| | Players | League |
|---|---|---|
| Philadelphia | 612 | 2,774 |
| New York | 1,712 | 203 |
| Boston | 1,193 | 2,816 |
| Brooklyn | 641 | 896 |
| Totals | 4,218 | 6,159 |

Schedule of To-Day's Games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburg vs. New York, at New York.
Cincinnati vs. Boston, at Boston.
Chicago vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.
Cleveland vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE.

Chicago vs. New York, at New York.
Cleveland vs. Brooklyn, at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg vs. Boston, at Boston.
Buffalo vs. Philadelphia, at Philadelphia.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

St. Louis vs. Baltimore, at Baltimore.
Toledo vs. Rochester, at Rochester.
Columbus vs. Athletics, at Philadelphia.
Louisville vs. Syracuse, at Syracuse.

ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

No games scheduled.

A FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

A Man Run Through a Threshing Machine and Horribly Crushed.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 30.—A special from Carlton, N. Y., says: Morris Hoyle, while engaged in feeding a threshing machine to-day, put his hand into it to pull out some straw that had clogged the feeder.

His hand was caught into the cogs and he was pulled into the machine. His skull and shoulder were crushed and run through the machine into the straw stack before it could be stopped.

He was about 25 years old and unmarried.

The Ameer Again on Top.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—A despatch from Calcutta says that the Ameer of Cabul has returned in triumph to his capital, after an absence of two years, during which he has been engaged in subduing the rebels against his authority. He has treated the rebels with great severity and cruelty. All Afghanistan is now tranquil and quiet, his principal enemies being fugitives in Russian territory.

The Newfoundland Question.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The "Standard" commenting on the article of Prime Minister Whitewav and his colleagues in the "Fortnightly Review" on the Newfoundland fisheries question, says: "No time ought to be lost in ascertaining definitly the French rights, and in purchasing their surrender by the method which Lord Salisbury adopted so successfully in an analogous case."

SOAKED HIS UNCLE

A Connecticut Man Swindled Out of $5,000

BY HIS NEPHEW FROM KANSAS.

The Old, Old Story of Gold Bricks and a Gullible Fool.

Farmer Jordan, of Morris, Skirmishes Around to Raise Five Thousand Dollars to Hand Over to Entire Strangers and Takes Bra s Bricks as Security. Big Interest the Ball.

DANBURY, Aug. 30.—About a fortnight ago a man called upon Farmer Timothy Jordan of Morris, convinced him that he was his nephew from Kansas, and stayed for a visit.

It became known presently that the nephew had some gold bricks which he had brought with him from California, and that he needed money. He could afford to pay a high rate of interest for the money for a few days, and would pledge the bricks as security.

In order to convince Mr. Jordan that the bricks were genuine, he proposed to take them to Waterbury to have them tested. Mr. Jordan went along and on the way they fell in with a friend of the nephew. The friend advised them to be very careful and recommended a certain jeweller in Waterbury.

Arrived there, the nephew volunteered to negotiate with the jeweller. He came out of the jeweller's shop presently with a card containing what purported to be a message feom the jeweller in which he referred them to a United States assayer, who, the message said, was staying at the Scoville House. Here the nephew found the pretended assayer. He at first refused to have anything to do with private work of that kind, saying that it was incompatible with his duty as a public officer; but finally he was persuaded to test the bricks, and certified that they were all right.

By borrowing $2,000 from a neighbor, and realizing on securities, Mr. Jordan finally got together $5,000, which he paid over to the nephew and took the bricks.

The few days allowed for redeeming the bricks passed, but no one appeared for that purpose, and Mr. Jordon has finally discovered that he is the victim of a very old game, that the bricks are worthless, and that the supposed nephew wasn't his nephew at all.

GRIEF OVER HER CHILD.

A Mother Cuts Her Throat Because of a Wayward Daughter.

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 30.—Mrs. J. B. McKenzie, of Duke Centre, McKean County, Pa., committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor during the parade of the G. A. R. to-day.

The body of the unfortunate woman was discovered by her husband. The body was still warm but life was extinct. The woman used her husband's razor and slashed her neck in four places. The head was nearly severed from the body.

The cause assigned was despondency over a wayward daughter who is an inmate of a house of prostitution in this city. The unfortunate woman was highly esteemed.

URGENT DEMAND FOR LABOR.

The Colorado Railroads Want 5,000 or More Men at $2 Per Day.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 30.—Improvements, especially railroad construction in Colorado, is greatly retarded through the inability of the companies to secure labor. The Denver & Rio Grande are the greatest sufferers.

The officials of the road say they can give employment to from 5,000 to 8,000 men on the new works at $2 per day. The work is so located as to admit of working all winter.

The several ditch companies and smaller corporations are equally, if not greater, sufferers.

The National Grange Meeting.

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa., Aug. 30.—About 7,000 people attended the Grangers' Exhibition yesterday. The meeting was opened by Leonard Rhone, who introduced Hon. A. J. Warner, of Ohio, the speaker of the day. Mr. Warner spoke on the silver question, and told the farmer that the present Congress would give them no relief. The afternoon meeting was addressed by Senator Brown, of York County, who explained why the Grange bill was defeated in the last Legislature. This evening a general love feast was held in the grove.

Chinamen Say They Will Steal In.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 30.—Fifteen Chinamen arrived by steamer last week at Victoria from San Francisco, where they had been refused a landing by U. S. officials. They say they will work their way across the Sound into Washington State, and thence to San Francisco, in spite of the U. S authorities. Within the last month or so a large number of Chinese have arrived at Victoria, where they plan to smuggle themselves into the United States.

A Well Known Eastern Man Dead.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 30.—A private telegram from Mandan, North Dakota, reports the death at that place, of heart disease, of Charles E. Meech, Mayor of Mandan and Democratic candidate for State Auditor. Mr. Meech is a brother of the theatre proprietors of this city, and was formerly with the Mercantile National Bank of Hartford, Conn.

THE POTTER-LOVELL FAILURE.

It is Feared Further Troubles Will Follow With Involved Firms.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—There are many reports regarding the Potter, Lovell & Co.'s failure. The firm from the nature of its business is largely involved. The assets will be large but their value will not be ascertainable for some time. Other firms are undoubtedly affected, but they have other resources and will probably weather the storm. It is understood a note for a large amount, between $600,000 and $1,000,000, was found among the effects of Potter, Lovell & Co: The note was given by C. W. Clements, trustee, and is said to be the cause of the attachment against the Shaw estate. When F. S. Shaw & Bros. failed in 1878, Ferdinand A. Wyman was made assignee. Mr. Wyman subsequently sold the assets of the concern to a syndicate for $600,000. D. Cummings & Co. and C. W. Clements were members of this syndicate. The business has been conducted under the name of Chas. W. Clements, trustee, and his paper has been negotiated by Potter, Lovell & Co. Thursday Clements allowed his notes to go over and the assignee of Potter, Lovell & Co., who holds some of his paper, brought a suit in equity against the parties in interest in the estate of F. Shaw & Bro.

A Broken Train Collides.

DANBURY, Conn., Aug. 30.—Two sections of a parted freight train on the Danbury & Norwalk Railroad came into collision near Bethel. Six loaded cars piled into a heap and Brakeman Woodruff of New Haven was severely

A Bishop Dying.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—John Leahy, Bishop of Dromore, is dying.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Twenty-three of the French outlaws have been indicted at Hazard, Ky. It is thought that this action will crush the feud.

There is reason to believe that Emperor William of Germany will make up with Prince Bismarck before long. He has listened recently to courtiers who advise the reconciliation.

The Paris papers are much exercised over the McKinley bill, and warn the French that in the matter of adulterated French wines, they had better make their peace with Americans, as these beverages are all more or less doctored.

Fred Wittrock, alias Jim Cummings, who with two others last October held up an express messenger on a Missouri Pacific train and robbed the safe of $100,000, is said to be dying in the Jefferson City Penitentiary, where he is serving out a term of ten years. Heart disease is his malady.

The authorities of the Alexandra Park Trotting Club, London, are doing their best to promote trotting in that place. They are about to construct a track at Kensal Green and increase the prize money. Mr. Catheart, the secretary of the club, is coming to America to make purchases of trotting stock for some British supporters of the sport.

Mr. Ben Davis has been engaged to sing the principal tenor part in Sir Arthur Sullivan's new opera. His salary is to be $12,000 a year. Mr. Davis, before he went on the comic stage, was one of the leading members of the Carl Rosa company.

The work on the Yale gymnasium will be at a standstill for a month, because the iron beams will not be ready until the latter part of September.

Charles Chamberlin, a prominent Denver man, is said to have offered to put up $50,000 as a campaign fund if nominated for the office of Governor of Colorado by the Republican convention.

The people of Pittsburg, Pa., are face to face with a most famine. The meat men say that if the strike of the Chicago switchmen continues beyond Saturday, the citizens will have to go on short rations. The beef that is received there on Mondays is shipped from Chicago Fridays.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—For New England: Light local showers; cooler in western; stationary temperature in eastern portion; winds shifting to westerly.

For Eastern New York: Local showers; slightly cooler; winds shifting to northwesterly.

For New Jersey: Local showers; cooler in northern; stationary temperature in southern portion; winks shifting to westerly.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Clearing; slightly cooler; northwesterly winds.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Money on call to-day, 5 per cent:

BONDS.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| 4½s, 1891 Reg. | 104 | 104 |
| 4½s, 1891 Coup. | 105 | 105 |
| 4 s, 1907 Reg. | 125¾ | 125¾ |
| 4 s, 1907 Coup. | 125¾ | 125¾ |

STOCK MARKET.

| | Closing Yesterday. | Closing To-day. |
|---|---|---|
| Canadian Pacific | — | — |
| Central Pacific | — | — |
| Chicago, Bur. & Quincy | 103 | 102¾ |
| Delaware & Hudson | — | — |
| Del., Lack. & Western | 144½ | 145 |
| Erie | 26¾ | 26¾ |
| Erie pref. | — | — |
| Lake Shore | 107¾ | 107¾ |
| Louis. & Nash. | 80¾ | 80¾ |
| Michigan Central | — | — |
| Missouri Pacific | 71¾ | 71¾ |
| New Jersey Central | 121¾ | 121¾ |
| Northwestern | 109¾ | 109¾ |
| Oregon Navigation | — | — |
| Pacific Mail | 45 | 45¼ |
| Reading | 43¾ | 43 |
| Rock Island | 85¾ | 86¼ |
| St. Paul | 72 | 71¾ |
| Union Pacific | 61¾ | 61¾ |
| Western Union | 86¾ | 84¾ |

PRODUCE MARKET.

| | Sept. | Oct. | Nov. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat | 100¾ | 107 | — |
| Corn | 54¼ | 53¾ | 54¾ |
| Oats | 40¼ | 40¾ | — |

MERCANTILE EXCHANGE.

Butter—Market firm. Creamery—Eastern 22c.a24c.; western, 16c.a17c. Elgin, 17½c.a18c.; imitation, 14c.a15. Dairy—Eastern, half firkin tubs, 14c.a16c.; eastern Welsh tubs, 13c.; western 9c.all.

THE DAILY PRESS

THE EVENING EDITION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST AND IS ISSUED AT No. 3 NORTH AVENUE, EVERY DAY—EXCEPTING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS—AT FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON; SENT THROUGH THE POST OFFICE AT $2.00 A YEAR, OR DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 12 CENTS A WEEK.

IT IS DEVOTED, LOCALLY, TO THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD, ITS SUBURBS AND ITS NEIGHBORING TOWNS; AND, POLITICALLY, TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED ON ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN, BUT PUBLISHED ONLY WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY THE NAME OF THE WRITER, IN CONFIDENCE, AS ENDORSING THE TRUTH AND HONEST INTENT OF THE COMMUNICATION.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION AT THIS OFFICE. NOTES OF CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS, FAIRS, SOCIABLES, LECTURES, CARDS OF THANKS, LODGE RESOLUTIONS, ETC., INSERTED FREE OR NOT, AS CHARITY OR JUSTICE MAY DEMAND.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

A. DEMAREST, - - MANAGING EDITOR.

LABOR DAY.

As Monday next is Labor Day and a legal holiday in this State, there will be no paper published from this office on that day.

BY THE WAY.

—Sebring the clothier announces a large stock of Fall overcoats.

—Patrick Keely, hackman, was fined $5 this morning by City Judge Codington for not displaying his badge.

—James Haley pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication in the City Court this morning and cheerfully paid a fine of $4.

—The new "Howard" car is very nice, but there ought to be some law that would apply to the man who painted the name on it.

—As Monday next is a legal holiday, the regular meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association, will be held the Monday following, at 8 P. M.

—Trinity Reformed church will be closed to-morrow on account of repairs and general cleaning. The Sabbath school will meet as usual at 2:30 P. M., in the lecture room.

—Washington postmen ride safety bicycles when making collections, and their work becomes a pleasure. Why cannot our postmen enjoy the same privilege on our fine streets?

—The regular monthly meeting of Gazelle Engine Co., No. 1, will be held in their parlors on Wednesday evening of next week when important business will be brought up for consideration.

—The Westfield Standard says that "several Plainfield and Summit crack tennis players have already signified their intention of entering the Westfield Athletic Club tournament in October."

—Among the entertainments of Labor Day will be an enjoyable picnic of Engine Company No. 2, in Amphion Hall. Conspicuous among the festivities will be dancing, for which there will be twenty-eight numbers.

—Crescent Division No. 13, U. R. K. of P., will attend the parade of the 1st Regiment Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias of New Jersey, at Red Bank, on Monday, Sept. 1. Leave Plainfield on the 8:15 train. Preparations have been made to insure a good time.

—The many friends of James B. Regan, in the great Metropolis of New York, will learn with regret that he has severed his connection with a former employer, William Moulds, to take charge of the cafe of the famous Hotel Netherwood at Plainfield, N. J., where he is a favorite with the public.

Rather Suffer Himself Than Trouble His Mother.

Albert, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Love of East Ninth street, while playing with a number of lads about Crescent Square, the other day, had a tumble from his bicycle and a companion falling on him, young Love's collar bone was broken.

Mrs. Love at the time was worried about her servant girl who had taken too much ether, and with a doctor was anxiously attending the girl. Albert remembered this, and unconscious of the nature of his injury went and sat on the steps of the Crescent Avenue church for over an hour in great pain. He did not want to go home and make any more trouble for his mother. When he did the doctor set the broken bone; and the brave boy is doing nicely.

Commissioner Mecker Will Have to Attend to Him Again.

If there is no way to prevent ex-Captain Carey from obstructing the sidewalk on Grove street near Front with his express wagons, there ought at least to be a means of making him put up danger signals in order that persons who are not prepared to die on the spot may cross the street in time to bring their lives away with them.

The People Would Like to Hear from the Water Board.

As Secretary Rushmore of the Water Board is out of town, there has been no meeting of that body recently; and as President Newhall is going away for a day or two, there will be no meeting before next Monday evening. But a report of some sort will be expected.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Mable Force is visiting relatives at Philadelphia.

Henry D. Janes and family, of First place, have returned from Vermont.

Dr. T. S. Davis and family, and Mulford Estil, are due from Europe on Sunday.

Robert Fairbairn, Jr., of Second place, is home again much improved in health.

Thos. E. Warman and family, of Grove street, have returned from their Summer sojourn at Belmar.

Miss Edith Clapp entertained a party of young friends at her home on Mercer avenue, last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Homan and family and Miss Florence Honnegar are home from Lake Hopatcong.

Miss Mary Wells, of Washington avenue, returned yesterday after a few weeks at St. Andrews, New Brunswick.

The Rev. T. Logan Murphy having returned from Belmar, will conduct the services at Holy Cross church to-morrow.

Corporation Counsel Marsh is expected home from Europe, early in next week. He will find plenty of work laid out for him.

Samuel B. Haines, of New York, a minister of the Society of Friends, will be at the meeting on Peace street, to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

In the music services of to-morrow, the regular choir of the Rev. Dr. Ketcham's church will be assisted by Mr. Fellows, the well-known tenor of Albany.

Peter Bergen, father of ex-City Attorney Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, died yesterday at his home in Somerville. Mr. Bergen was one of the oldest residents of Somerset county.

Councilman Spangenberg was asked the other day to agitate the question of a sewer system in Plainfield. He replied that the city seemed to be in the sewer, already, with its water works scheme.

In a game between picked nines of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., at Boynton Beach, yesterday, Dr. D. C. Adams in the pitcher's box tried to catch a high fly. The ball struck fairly in his hands but twisted out so suddenly as to tear the whole nail of one his fingers, entirely off.

George Wharton Edwards, of Plainfield, has adorned Amelia Gere Mason's article on "The Women of the French salons," in the September issue of The Century Magazine, with excellent ornamental drawings and decorative borders, together with an accurate sketch from one of the famous salon paintings.

The Bound Brook Chronicle says of Mrs. B. F. Littell whose death was recorded in yesterday's PRESS: "Mrs. Littell was a quiet, motherly woman, loving her home and taking great pride in her children. She was also a kind-hearted neighbor, and many poor families will remember her kindness to them in days of hardship and affliction. The funeral will take place on Sunday at the Methodist church, of which Mrs Littell was for many years a member. Her brother, John Milliken, of Plainfield, was for a long time a constable here. Mr. Littell and his family have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement."

Death of George H. Babcock's Father.

Asher M. Babcock, one of the oldest men in the town of Westerly, R. I., and father of one of Plainfield's best known citizens, died on August 25, in his ninety-third year. He was born at Leyden, Mass., June 16, 1798, of Rhode Island stock, and was one of a family of twelve children, all of whom lived to marry and raise large families. Two brothers and a sister survive him. A noted mechanic in his day, Mr. Babcock took a prominent part in early manufacturing enterprises both in Central New York and Rhode Island. He also invented and operated for a time one of the first machines for making shoe-pegs. Among his inventions is what is known as the "pin-wheel motion" in plaid looms, by which it is possible to weave a number of patterns with one cam. This was extensively used at one time, but is now largely superseded by what is called the Crompton motion.

Mr. Babcock was one of the early Abolitionists and was always identified with the "liberty" party, by whatever name it was known. He married on January 1, 1829, Mary E. Stillman, by whom he had eight children, and in 1847, Prudence C. Cleveland, by whom he had one son. Five children survive him, George H. Babcock, of Plainfield, who is at the head of the Babcock and Wilcox Co., New York and Glasgow; Herbert A. Babcock, at whose house he died; Harriet Eugenia, the wife of William L. Burke, the Broadway hatter, and two other daughters in California.

State Scholarships.

An examination for scholarships for the State College, will take place at the county court house, Elizabeth, on Saturday, September 13, 1890, at 9 o'clock A. M. The examination is open to all candidates in this county who may wish to make application. For further information apply to the County or City Superintendents of Schools.

Save the Fish.

Mr. Otto is about to make some alterations and repairs which will necessitate the letting out of the water in the New Market lake. It is hoped that the Fish Commissioner of the district will take some steps to place a netting in position so as to avoid the entire loss of the fish out of these waters that are the source of so much pleasure and sport to the boys and young women folks of Plainfield.

ENGLAND AND IRELAND AT WAR.

Fists, Dogs and Pistols the Weapons That Follow Tongue-Lashings.

The Burke family and the Jackson family, next-door neighbors in the region of "the Cedars," a clump of trees beside the railroad track not far from the Potter Press Works, have long been indulging in open hostilities, the history of which was related in the City Court this morning.

The fact that the Burkes are Irish and the Jacksons English seems to have had something to do with arousing the belligerent feeling, although Mrs. Burke says that she lived in the same neighborhood, among Irish, English and Scotch, before the Jacksons came, and never had a bit of trouble. At any rate, the Burke army, in the shape of an adopted son James, and the Jackson army, in the shape of a natural son Henry, have been having it hot and heavy for some time past. At first only saucy and naughty words were interchanged, but presently stones began to follow threats, and pistol-shots to follow dog-bites. The stones never caused any bruises, except on the face of the earth, and the bullets never bored any holes except through the high board fence separating the two back yards. Finally the boys began to lie in ambush, awaiting each other's coming, in the "Cedars." One night Jamesey Burke reached home with his back all red "from Hennery Jackson's poundin' an' kickin'," and his brand new hat missing, "an' being all tored up by Hennery and Hennery's dorg." Michael Burke, head of the Burke cohorts, visited the Jackson castle instanter, and insisted that "Hennery" go out into the night and the wildwood and gather up the fragments of "Jamesey's" two-dollar straw helmet. The Jacksons were amused and sarcastic, and sent Michael home in high dudgeon, and declaring that "Well, if Hennery wouldn't bring back the hat he had stolen they'd see who was what."

The arrest of Hennery resulted, and the Burkes appeared against him in Court this morning, when Mrs. Burke, besides telling Judge Codington that she'd lived here since 71, when she came here very young, took particular pains to ventilate the skeletoned closets of the Jackson family. Mrs. Jackson and daughters, she said, had often been obliged to take refuge over night on the Burke piazza and in the Burke parlors, and they were so ungrateful as to "sic" "Hennery" and "Hennery's dorg" on poor "Jamesey." "Why," she continued, "old man Jackson had told Hennery that if Hennery didn't lick Jamesey's he, the old man, would slap Hennery's mouth."

The Jacksons had lawyer Reed for Counsel. The Burkes had no lawyer, and no witnesses. No case was made out, and the complaint against Hennery was dismissed. But the Court warned all parties that their bickerings must stop at once and forever.

MONDAY'S TWO GAMES.

Elizabeth Will Come Here With the Three Big Browns on the Bases; and the Ridgewoods Have Been Training All the Week For a Second Victory.

The batting order of the Alerts of Elizabeth, who will play the Crescent League team next Monday morning, is as follows: Cook, centre field; Carter, catcher; D. Brown, first base; C. Brown, second base; A. Brown, third base; Tuite, left field; Mills, Pitcher; Schwabe, short stop; Van Ness, right field, and Chandler extra.

The above list shows that the team has been greatly strengthened for the occasion. The big Browns are well known as heavy hitters, and good players in general. They have played in this city before on winning nines, and last year were with the Rahways. Other of the men on the Elizabeth team are also strong batters, and Shaw, who will pitch for the Crescents in the morning, will have his hands full to hold down the total hits. Shaw pitched for the Crescents before on the afternoon of Decoration Day, and struck out 13 of the Monroes.

The Ridgewoods who defeated the Crescents on August 2, by a score of 8 to 3, will play on Monday afternoon. The batting order will be exactly the same as before—Ryman, right field; Heiser, left field; Gatens, second base; Evers, short stop; Leinbach, first base; Landman, third base; Fritz, centre field; Haley, catcher; Livingston, pitcher.

Gregg will take a rest in the morning so as to be in good form when he meets the Brooklyn boys again in the afternoon. The Ridgewoods have been in training all this week to win another victory. They have been ordered to bed early every night by their manager, and forbidden to smoke. Monday will be a great base ball day in Plainfield, if the weather permits.

Knocked Out the Villagers.

The Young Arlingtons went to Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon to play a nine of that place. The Young Arlingtons say they had "blood in their eyes," the result of which was that they won the game with ease. They knocked four of the Scotch Plains pitchers out of the box in six innings. The Young Arlingtons played a very nice game in the field and at the bat, while the Scotch Plains nine could not find the ball at all. The score was 15 to 9, in favor of the Young Arlingtons. The Arlingtons say that the umpire couldn't tell a strike from a foul ball, and yet they won. The features of the game were the pitching of G. Mattis, who struck out ten of the Scotch Plains, and the first-base playing of M. Sutphen, who stopped everything that came his way.

TRIED TO BURN THE ENGINE HOUSE.

But Only Slight Damage Beyond the Destruction of the Dog Pound.

Another fire whose origin is attributed to incendiaries, visited North Plainfield last night, and in this instance the supposed firebug was especially audacious, for he chose the Borough engine house itself as his shining mark.

Back of the lockup in the rear of the engine house has for some time stood a large box-closet filled with excelsior, spare lengths of hose, and similar supplies. It was also used as a dog pound. At half-past eleven o'clock this closet was discovered to be ablaze, and in a few minutes it was enwrapped in flames which were rapidly communicating with the engine house building. Cornices, windows and doors were quickly afire, and it began to look as though the alarm bell clanging in the tower overhead was tolling its own death-knell. Presently, however, Warren engine was dragged forth, lengths of hose were laid, and streams of water were directed on the flames. The fire was extinguished after causing a loss, as estimated by Foreman Fairchild, of $150.

There was nothing of an oily nature among the supplies destroyed, and the firemen scout the theory of spontaneous combustion. They insist that the hand of a firebug is apparent.

The Borough people were greatly excited over the fire last night, and considerable alarm is expressed because fires of mysterious origin have become so frequent.

The Great Mount Holly Fair.

The great Fair of the Burlington County Agricultural Society will be held at Mount Holly September 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12. This great exhibition of fine stock, products of farm, garden, orchard and dairy, has enjoyed for years a reputation equal to that of any kindred exposition in the Eastern States. It improves with age, and this year much that is new and many features that are novel will be introduced for the entertainment of the hosts of visitors. The trials of speed and various classes of racing on the fine track, to the enjoyment of which the comfortable grand stand contributes a great deal, will occur every day.

The fact of the date of the Fair being fixed a month earlier than in previous years, will add greatly to the agricultural and fruit display, and afford the opportunity for many to visit it who could not later in the season.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets, including admission to the Fair, from all stations in New Jersey, at the usual reduction in rates, and the usual special train arrangement will supplement the regular schedule. The round-trip rate from Philadelphia and Trenton, including admission, is $1.00.

Is it not to some extent your own fault that your children seek recreation outside of the family circle? Why not furnish them amusement at home? Why not treat them at home to a safe, delightful and wholesome beverage, such as you can easily have made from Hires' Root Beer Packages?

Draw No Hasty and Unwarranted Conclusions.

We are at liberty to quote the following from a private letter to the editor of THE PRESS, from the President of the Central railroad, concerning the project of moving the freight house:

Necessary delays in carrying out intentions and plans for improvements to facilitate our service and promote the convenience of our patrons, are sometimes regarded as indifference to the wants of the public, but such conclusions are at best hasty and unwarranted.

Yours respectfully,
J. R. MAXWELL.

The Handsomest American Vineyard.

Mr. Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J., has been long and favorably known as the pioneer Grape Grower of America. His Vineyards at Passaic, N. J., are the handsomest in the Country, and contain over 300 miles of wire stretched on posts, and over two miles of carriage drive under grape arbors. At the season of the year when the grapes are being gathered for the press, it will well repay one for a visit. Mr. Speer's Wines are used in the leading hospitals of the country. Can be had at all druggists.

House Numbers
At Collier's, 3 Park Avenue,
WATCHMAKER, JEWELER AND ENGRAVER.
Established, 20 YEARS. N.B.—NO BOTCHING. 1-14-tf

F.E.C. KIDNEY BLOOD & LIVER REMEDY
$1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5. TRY IT TO-DAY

DELICATE women need not be told how much they would give to get and stay well. If their blood is free from the poisonous ferments of the Kidneys and Liver, they will never know what "weakness" is. The blood is the source and sustainer of health; it cannot be kept pure except the Kidneys and Liver do their work naturally, and to aid them nothing equals the herbal, guaranteed

F.E.C. KIDNEY BLOOD & LIVER REMEDY
$1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5 TRY IT TO-DAY
For sale by R. J. SHAW, Druggist, Sole Agent. 8 26 eod

REXWHEAT
Largest package, greatest usefulness of any cereal.
Equally delicious and wholesome in porridge and mush (hot, cold or fried), Gems, Griddle Cakes, etc.
Better than drugs as a hot weather tonic and regulator.
For young or old.
At leading grocers.
Wholesale by E. W. FRENCH. 5-24-6m-t,tas

CARRIAGES
Of every description in stock or built to order.
Coupes, Cabriolets,
Surries, Depot Wagons,
Buggies, Road Wagons,
Physicians' and Ladies' Phaetons,
AT
RYERSON'S
Carriage, Harness and Horse Goods
EMPORIUM,
23 Somerset Street.
Open until 8 P. M. 1 4-tf

NEW LIVERY!
IRVING C. STELLE,
(Formerly of Dunellen,) has opened a Livery Boarding and Exchange Stable at
No. 26½ West Front Street,
In the rear of S. C. Peck's store.
First-Class Horses and Carriages
Constantly on hand for hire, calling and picnic purposes.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Telephone call 152. 6-30-3m

NO CIGARETTES SOLD!
But any kind of a SEGAR you desire can be purchased Wholesale and Retail, at
Dobbins' Segar Store, 37 North avenue,
Opposite R. R. Station.
He manufactures them and knows what the contain. TRY THEM.

NOTICE.

No one has authority to contract bills or make purchases on my account. I will not pay any account or bill charged, except on my written orders, JNO. P. WILSON.
August 28, 1890. 8-29-3

List of Advertised Letters

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Aug. 27, 1890.

| | |
|---|---|
| Atmor, Mrs S | Millings n, Milton M |
| Burrows, Miss Alice | Macauley, Thos |
| Blackwell, Mrs E | Neal, Wm |
| Berry, Mrs Lydia | Oliver, Miss Jennie |
| Boock, Sadie | Phillips, Arthur R |
| Culley, Miss Marie | Probasco, Mrs Martha |
| Coe, Mrs Mary P | Pound, J F |
| Dorden, Wm | Ryan, Wm |
| Foster, T | Sweeny, Miss Jennie L |
| Geary, Mrs John | Sheppard, B H |
| Jones, Isica | Toucey, Mrs Walter B |
| Knapp, Mrs Rachel | Van Tine, Mrs |
| McCauley, Miss Mary | Vanderwoort, Mrs Mary |
| McCaffrey, Miss A Joe | Wilkins, Mrs Laura F |
| McCabe, Miss Sarah | Wenzinger, A |
| | Walter, Mrs A M |

Persons calling for the above, please say advertised. E. R. POPE, Postmaster.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

NEW YORK MAILS.
Arrive—7:30, 9 40, A. M., 12:15, 2:30, 5:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 and 9:30 A. M., 1:45, 5:30 and 9 P. M.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.
Arrive—8:40 A. M., 2:40, 6:30 P. M.
Close—7:30 A. M., 5:30 P. M.

Direct mail to Trenton and Philadelphia at 6:30 P. M.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M.
Mail closes at 6:30 P. M.
E. R. POPE, P. M.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, one cent for each word each insertion.

TO LET—Two Flats, 4 rooms each; all improvements; $10 and $11. L. L. Martin, 20 Crescent avenue.

GIRL wanted in a shoe store, to make change, and make herself generally useful. Sherwin's, 23 West Front street.

GIRL wanted to do general housework. References required. Apply No. 1 Myrtle avenue. 8 30 4

A LARGE Front Room, furnished, to rent. 21 West Second street. 8 30 2w

$100 to $300—Partner wanted: good business vim. PRESS office.

FIFTY Acres Good Pasture, with running streams, for horses and cattle. Apply Ellis Campbell. 8-14-m-tf

A NORWEGIAN, who speaks English fairly, wants place; single and sober; understands horses, carriages and cows. See at 49 Putnam avenue. 8 29 tf

HOLLY GROVE Gold Medal Prize Butter, in 1 pound rolls, 40c; cream, 40c; pure Jersey milk, 8c; buttermilk 6c per quart, in sealed glass jars. Geo. A. Moore's, 14 North avenue, or Holly Grove Dairy, Plainfield. 8 29 2

LOST—Between 66 East Second street and the shoemaker's shop corner Front and Church streets, a lady's Oxford tie, with patent leather tip. The finder will please return it to No. 66 East Second street. 29-2

FOR SALE, at 22 West 7th street, one parlor suit, a cherry bedroom suit, and one black walnut suit; a black walnut extension table and other household effects. 8 28 6

A FRESH cow for sale; calf by her side. W. H. Rogers, Washingtonville. 8 28 4

TO LET—House 7 rooms, on Pearl street; pump in kitchen. Apply to J. Leonard, 11 West 6th street. 8 27 4

STOUT boy wanted to make himself generally useful. Must be able to assist in milking. Apply at PRESS office. 8 26 tf

TO LET—Part of a house. Inquire at 52 Madison avenue. 8 26 tf

WANTED—Jobbing at painting, glazing kalsomining and roof painting. Address Isaac Kennedy, 49 Chatham street, North Plainfield tf

WANTED—Work cleaning Vaults and Cesspools. Satisfaction guaranteed. City Odorless Excavating Works, 206 Broadway. Mrs. David Jones, Proprietor. No connection with Jones & Co. 6-11-tf

OUR BUTTER—LOWEST PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD QUALITY AND HONEST QUANTITY
The choicest Creamery Butter that can be produced.
Apollinaris Water: pints, $1.50, quarts, $2 dozen; Belfast Ginger Ale, $1.40 dozen.
Excelsior Sugar Cured Hams are the best—15c.
The finest Java and Mocha coffee in town, and the prices are right. Won't be undersold for same quality of goods. P. M. DEMAREST.
26 PARK AVENUE. 8-4-t

CLAIRVOYANT
Mrs. DR. EDWARDS,
By request of her many former patrons has returned again to Plainfield; can only remain a few weeks, from
August 26 to September 10.
Call at once, as this is positively your last chance.
Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Ladies 50c to $1. Gentlemen, $1.
Can be consulted at the City Hotel, Room 4, (one flight up) Plainfield, N. J. 8 27 tf

SECOND ANNUAL
EXCURSION
AND CLAM BAKE,
OF THE
Grocers' Protective Association,
Of Plainfield, N. J., to
BOYNTON BEACH,
On LABOR DAY,
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '90.
Train leaves Plainfield 8 A. M. Returning, leave Boynton Beach 7 P. M.
Fare for round trip, Adults, 50 cts. Children, under 12 years, 40 cts. Tickets for the Bake, 50 cents. 8 22 8

MOY.
8-11-tf

HOAGLAND'S
EXPRESS.
OFFICE—39 North Avenue,
Opposite Railroad Station.
8-15 tf

LAUNDRY.
Having purchased of Henry C. Drake the business known as the
AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
16 East Front St., I desire to inform the public that I will endeavor to serve them in the best possible manner, and respectfully solicit their patronage. Goods promptly called for and delivered, upon notice by postal.
C. A. BROWN, Prop'r. 8-6-7

J. T. VAIL,
REAL ESTATE,
AND INSURANCE, 49 NORTH AVE.
DEALER IN
BLUE STONE FLAGGING, &c.
2-6-tf

LYMAN & ANTHONY.
REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE AGENTS,
61 NORTH AVE., opposite Depot. 2-28-y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance,
7 EAST FRONT STEEET. 2-12-y

HOUSE AND FRESCO
PAINTING,
Nos. 10 and 10 1-2 PARK AVENUE.
MARSH & AYERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to First-class work guaranteed. Prices reasonable. Estimates promptly furnished.
CALL AND SEE US. 1-26-y

ARNOLD,
THE GROCER!
92 Somerset St., opp. Emily,
NORTH PLAINFIELD.
4-15-tf

ISAAC BROKAW & SON,
FIRE INSURANCE,
OFFICE—30 DUER STREET,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
2 4-tf

EDWARD C. MULFORD,
46 North Avenue,
Opposite Station.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE. 1-2-y

BROWN & HILL,
Shaving and Hair Cutting Parlors,
[PONCE'S HOTEL.] No. 5 North Avenue.
Special attention paid to
Children's Hair Cutting.
1-25-tf

J. B. KLINE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Hay, Feed,
Straw and Grain.
TELEPHONE CALL, 38.
Yards—Corner of Front St. & Grant Ave
BRANCH OFFICE—North Ave., opposite Station.
The BEST GRADES OF EVERYTHING at the MOST LIBERAL PRICES. 4-4-t

PECK'S CORNER.
NOT HOW CHEAP
BUT HOW GOOD
AT PECK'S!

FRUIT JARS.
JELLY JARS.
CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASSWARE.
FINE LAMPS AND GAS FIXTURES.
GAVETT'S, 15 E. FRONT ST.
10-25-tf

BARGAINS!
To make room for Fall goods, we will sell the balance of our Summer stock, CHEAP!
Will mention a few of the SPECIAL BARGAINS:
GENTS' FLANNEL SHIRTS—50c shirt for 39c; 75c shirt for 55c; $1 00 shirt for 75c; $1 40 shirt for $1 15; $1 75 shirt for $1 40; $2 25 shirt for $1 85.
GENTS' HALF-HOSE—13c half-hose for 10c; 20c half-hose for 15c; 25c half-hose for 19c; 30 and 35c half-hose for 25c.
CHILDREN'S SHIRT WAISTS—25c waist for 21c; 40c waist for 32c; 50c waist for 40c; 85c waist for 69c.
GINGHAMS—10c Ginghams for 7c., and 12c Ginghams for 9c.
TOWELS—12c towels for 9c; 25c towels for 19c; 30c towels for 22c; 35c towels for 25c.
FANCY PARASOLS marked down very low. Other bargains too numerous to mention.
EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

GARRET Q. PACKER,
Nos. 23, 25, 27, and 29 PARK AVE.
—SELLING OUT CHEAP!—
Baby Carriages and Summer Furniture!
—Get A Bargain While Assortment is Large.—
FURNITURE, BEDDING, UPHOLSTERY.
1-5-tf

ROGERS' MARKET OF SEA FOOD!
42 WEST SECOND STREET.
Blue Fish, Mackeral, Porgies, Weak Fish, Sea Bass, Butter Fish, Halibut, Cod, Salmon, Lobsters, Soft Crabs, Little Neck Clams,
ARE IN SEASON.
3-13-tf

DON'T
Get OVERHEATED!
DON'T Buy POOR Goods,
You can always find Good ones at
H. A. POPE'S,
Corner FRONT and SOMERSET STS.
The old reliable Dry Goods, Carpet, and Notion House. 11-13-y

First Annual Clearing Out Sale of WALL PAPER!
The purpose of which is to dispose of our entire stock and renew it exclusively with the new patterns of the coming season. 25 Points worth considering:
FIRST—Our stock is very large, carefully selected, and all this season's goods.
SECOND—The first customers will have a larger stock to select from, and will get the choicest bargains.
THIRD—Prices will be the lowest ever offered—bargains being offered daily below cost. Sale closes September 1.
A. D. VAN SCIVER, 47 NORTH AVE.,
Opposite Depot. (Chotola Building), Plainfield, N. J.
N. B.—ALL BRANCHES OF PAINTING A SPECIALTY. 1-10-t

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
ALES, WINES, LIQUORS, SEGARS, Etc.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
PURE WINES AND LIQUORS
FOR
FAMILY & MEDICINAL USE,
A SPECIALTY.
4-11-y

COAL LUMBER
And Builders Supplies
LOOMIS & RICE
49 B'DWAY

A BABE IN THE COURT ROOM.

Unconscious of Trouble and Shame, It Prattles While Its Erring Mother Weeps.

Maggie Bensworth, with a baby in her arms, was a prisoner in the City Court this morning, charged with various offenses unknown to polite society.

Yis, plase God, she said, she was guilty; an' by the blissid Vargin, an' all the saints, 'twas the phwisky and the beer that done it; shure 'twas the drink in her, an' she didn't know what she was doin'. She'd plade guilty if she hed t' die and go to State Prison for it.

Judge Codington told her that she had been doing some very wicked things, and deserved severe punishment, yet he didn't know what to do with her. At this Maggie began to whimper and to mop her face with her baby's shawl, the only garment it wore besides a thin slip of a dress. She said she had three other children, and had to work to support them; and if she went to jail who would give them food and clothes?—and Winter coming on. The Court asked if her husband couldn't supply their wants, and she sobbed that he'd been out West these twilve years now, and was maybe dead, an' God be wid him wherever he was, and he had been such a care to her anyhow, wid havin' t' be bailed out o' jail, or his fine paid, ivery wake reg'lar, an' he was a good man, an' a lovin' one, an' had wint away wid all her money but wan dollar in the bank, the Saints be praised, an' God be wid him.

As for the prisint offinse, she wasn't the only wan that hed been intoxicated, fer 'twas the day o' the circus, an' the circus min hed been tratin' all the wimin t' beer till they was all as bad as her, to be shure.

The Court couldn't decide what punishment to inflict, under the circumstances, without inflicting hardship on the little ones, and told Maggie to appear for sentence Tuesday morning.

"The Saints be praised," she said. "I'll be here afther goin' on the excursion on the Moonday. Shure I'll be here mesilf, an' hev me $5 riddy in me pocket. An' if I don't may I dhrop did in me tracks!"

The officers motioned the woman out, and she shambled away. The baby, which had been industriously engaged in emptying a bottle of milk, completed its labors, smiled and shook its chubby fists, and prattled gleefully.

A Model Cuisine.

The Hotel Netherwood table is noted all over the country. It is proprietor Miller's particular pride. The cooking and service can of course only be appreciated by those who have enjoyed and been gratified with it, but a glance at to-morrow's dinner menu, for instance, will show many who have heard of the table's great reputation what part of the general praise is due because of the courses as selected.

SOUPS.

Green Turtle, Clear
Consomme Printaniere Royal

RELISHES.

Olives Chow-Chow Pin-Money Pickles
Cucumbers

FISH.

Boiled Kennebec Salmon, Joinville
Pommes Parisienne

BOILED.

Fresh Beef Tongue, Tomato Sauce
Ham Glace, Sauce Madeira

ENTREES.

Sweetbread Pate, Perigeux.
Filet de Beef, Pique, Mirabeau.
Calf's Head, Poele, en Tortue.
Stuffed Green Peppers. Spaghetti, Milanaise.

ROASTS.

Ribs of Prime Beef.
Spring Chicken, Stuffed.
Spring Lamb, Mint Sauce.

SORBET.

Au Kirsh.

VEGETABLES.

Corn, Spinach au Jus, String Beans,
Rice, Stewed Tomatoes, Boiled Sweet Potatoes,
Boiled and Mashed Potatoes.

GAME.

Red Head Duck, Currant Jelly.

SALADS.

Celery. Tomatoes with Mayonnaise.

PASTRY AND DESSERT.

Plum Pudding Peach Pie. Cocoanut Pie
Assorted Cakes
Charlotte Russe Vanilla Ice Cream
California Peaches Grapes Bananas
Watermelon
Mixed Nuts. Bent's Water Crackers,
Layer Raisins
Roquefort and American Cheese Coffee

Sunday, August 31, 1890.

Washingtonville Warblings.

Richard A. Rogers, of New York, is the guest of his cousins of Highland Farm.

Otto Schwalb, of the United States steamship Enterprise, is on a leave-of-absence and is visiting at his home at Union Village.

The school house has been put in thorough repair and the grounds around it nicely graded and sodded. The paths have been spread with cracked stone, and the general appearance of the place is greatly improved, thanks to the enterprise and generosity of those taking an interest in the school. Charles Gifford, of Little Valley, is engaged to teach for one year. The school will open Monday, Sept. 8.

Frank Mobus is confined to the house by an attack of typhoid fever.

Miss Addie Halsted, of Brooklyn, is visiting her friends, the Misses Milligan, at Maplewood Cottage.

Principal Campbell.

The public school at New Market will re-open on Monday, Sept. 8, being one week later than usual. This change has been made on account of the Trustees purchasing new Globe single desks for the grammar department. The school will be under the charge of David S. Campbell, formerly of the Public schools of this city, as Principal. He holds a first grade certificate and is highly spoken of as a successful and competent teacher.

HOW FRUITS ARE SELLING.

Apples, Pears and Grapes: Their Scarcity and High Prices—One Fruit Not a Failure.

The supply of Maryland, Delaware, and South Jersey Bartlett pears has been nearly exhausted. Most of the pears from these places of late have been of poor quality. And this week about ends the Bartlett pear season from these sections. The Hudson River crop is not of good quality. But the few pears that have already come from Central New York indicate that some very nice Bartletts may be expected from there. However, prices will continue to increase after a few days until the season ends with the ice-house pears, which come here in bushel boxes.

There will, however, be a more liberal supply of commoner pears, and good table pears may now be had for as low prices as at any time during the season. But no good table pears will wholesale for less than $6 per barrel.

Besides the Bartletts, the Clapp's Favorite, Flemish Beauties, Louise Bonne, Seckel Bell, LaConte, and Sheldon pears may now be obtained in the markets. There is now a better supply of apples in the market than at any time before this season. There is a better crop of apples in the vicinity of New York and along the Hudson Valley than elsewhere within a thousand miles of New York. Fairly good cooking apples are obtainable for $1 a barrel less than at any time before this season. But this condition of the apple market will last only a few weeks. It is impossible to get any really fine apples. They have not grown this year.

Grapes are coming into the market in great quantities, and are being picked by growers before they are properly ripened, but they sell very freely and at double the prices usually obtained for the best grapes. The Ives is a small black grape, acid when ripe, but when half ripe most unpleasantly sour, yet tons of them were sold daily all last week and part of this for upward of 6 cents per pound. The supply of grapes is beginning to be greater this week, and the quality is better, but the prices are not yet lowering.

California grapes are beginning to arrive quite freely. This is the one fruit from California that is really meritorious. The best of California grapes, perhaps, are Tokays. They are as yet mostly too green. The best California grape now to be obtained is the Muscat, a white grape—sweet, but possessed of a decidedly spicy flavor. A five-pound box of either Tokay or Muscat may be purchased at retail for about $1.

"The old reliable cranberry" is the affectionate term used by epicures concerning the one fruit that will not be a failure. This year's total crop in the United States is estimated at 750,000 bushels. Prices usually range from two dollars at the beginning of the season, to three or four dollars at its close. Last year the price ran up to six dollars, and this year, owing to the scarcity of other fruits, cranberries will probably start at seven dollars per barrel. The Cape Cod crop is later than usual this year, while that of New Jersey is in advance. Contrary to the usual custom New Jersey berries will probably be the first in the market. Wherever there are lands suitable for the cultivation of the cranberry, the industry is gradually increasing. This is especially the case on Cape Cod, where suitable bogs abound, and where the cool nights favor early ripening.

New Jersey's cranberry crop will be at least twenty per cent. larger this year than the crop of 1889, and will bring better prices. The crop of last year was 135,000 bushels, and it is probable that the price will be much higher than that which was quoted late last season, $5 a bushel. Placing this year's crop, which will be picked after September 15, at 175,000 bushels, at $5 per bushel, the product of this season will be worth nearly a million of dollars. The berries are grown on low pine land, and at little or no expense. Owing to the scarcity of other fruit the market will open very steady and the demand is expected to be very brisk. Everything has been favorable to a big crop.

Our Neighbors Still Saying Spiteful Things.

(From the Railway Advocate.)

The Plainfield Crescents sighing for other World's to conquer, started Tuesday, for Norwich, Conn., and on Wednesday played the game with the Norwich's. They were anxious to show the World what they could do—result a defeat by a score of 7 0. They could have secured the same result by accepting the Rahway's challege, and saved considerable car fare at the same time.

The "Mets" say that they were not defeated, on Saturday by science, but by the "defugality of skuldugary" and design on the party of the "Crescents." Their errors were, two against ten for the Crescents, while they made more base hits and struck out more men than their opponents, in fact they show by their record of that day that they played first-class ball.

Let's Return the Compliment.

Crescents went to Norwich;
Nutmeg men were game.
Norwich—7,
Crescents—0.
Heavens! what a shame!

Norwich coming here next;
Won't the welkin ring!
Crescents—7,
Norwich—0.
That's the proper thing.

—Doane & VanArsdale's shoe store will be closed Monday (Labor Day). Open this evening until 11 o'clock.

The Norwich Cranks Were Pleased.

(From the Norwich Record.)

If the people were disgusted with the playing of the Norwich team last Saturday, the 1500 lovers of the game who saw the contest between the home nine and Crescent ball club from Plainfield, N. J., on the Greeneville diamond yesterday afternoon had every reason to be pleased with the game the Norwich team put up.

If the home team would only play as good ball in every game, even the most fastidious could not find fault. The only criticism that could be made is that the playing at the close of the game was not as sharp as it might have been.

The young men from New Jersey put up the best kind of game they knew how, but they were in the wrong class, and Mr. Ryan threw the sphere over the plate too quickly to suit them. Still they played a good up hill contest and are a good natured lot of young men. The first baseman would easily tip the scales at 250 pounds, and is the strong man of the club. After the contest the Jerseyites said they were here for a good time and did not feel baddly over losing the game. All declared that the Norwich nine is a good one and can vanquish any club outside of the League or Brotherhood teams.

CRESCENTS.

| | AB | R | BH | PO | A | E |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hatfield, 2b | 3 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 5 | 3 |
| Martin, ss | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 2 |
| Lever, rf | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| Wiegand, 1b | 4 | 0 | 0 | 12 | 0 | 2 |
| McIndoe, lf | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 |
| Jones, c | 3 | 0 | 0 | 6 | 2 | 0 |
| Gregg, p | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 0 |
| Lee, 3b | 3 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 3 | 1 |
| Gillis, cf | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Total | 26 | 0 | 0 | 27 | 17 | 9 |

NORWICH.

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| O'Connell, 3b | 4 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 |
| Quinn, 1b | 5 | 0 | 1 | 17 | 0 | 0 |
| Ryan, p | 4 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 8 | 1 |
| Gardner, 2b | 4 | 1 | 2 | 3 | 5 | 0 |
| Hackett, c | 4 | 0 | 1 | 3 | 2 | 0 |
| Snow, ss | 4 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 |
| Murphy, W., lf | 4 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| Shea, rf | 4 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Moore, cf | 4 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Total | 37 | 7 | 8 | 27 | 17 | 2 |

SCORE BY INNINGS.

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Crescents | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —0 |
| Norwich | 2 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —7 |

Earned runs—Norwich, 2. Two base hits—Gardner, 2. Double plays—Lee, Hatfield, Wiegand of Crescents. Bases on called balls—Ryan, 3; Gregg, 2. Bases on hit by pitched ball—2. Struck out—By Ryan, 2; by Gregg, 5. Passed balls—2. Time—1: 0.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Brief notices will be inserted under this head free of expense, but must be delivered at this office not later than eleven o'clock on Saturday morning to insure publication.

First Unitarian Society, Second place. The Rev. Joseph Osgood, of Cohassett, Mass., will preach. Services to-morrow at 10:30 A. M.

The masses in St. Mary's church to-morrow will be at 8:30, 9:45 and 10:45 A. M. Vespers will be held at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Samuel B. Haines, a minister of the Society of Friends, will attend Friends' meeting on Peace street, First Day, (Sunday), at 11 o'clock A. M.

Mr. H. C. Munger will conduct the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Sunday at 4:15 P. M. Good singing may be expected. All men will be welcome.

Warren Mission Sunday school to-morrow at 2 30 P. M. Young People's meeting Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. The Sunday evening services will be resumed Sunday, September 7. All are invited.

The second lecture for the assistance of young Christians introductory to the study of the book of Revelations, commencing at 7:45 P.M promptly, will be held to-morrow at 6 East Front street.

Services in the German Reformed church on Craig place, North Plainfield, will be held to-morrow at 10:30 A. M. and at 8 o'clock P. M. Sunday school at 2:30 P. M. Weekly service at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

Services in the First Presbyterian church at the usual hours, 10:30 A. M., and 7:45 P. M., conducted by the pastor the Rev. K. P. Ketcham. The evening service will be a special service of song. All welcome.

The Church of the Holy Cross, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, rector, divine service to-morrow at 11 A. M. On Sunday Sept. 7 the Sunday school will be held at 9:45 A. M. Early celebration at 8 A. M. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 A. M., Vesper service at 5 P. M.

Meetings to-morrow of the First church of Christ in Plainfield, in Amphion Hall, 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Mr. Cleaver will preach (the Lord willing) from the ninth chapter of Ecclesiastes, the first ten verses, in the morning. The evening theme will be: "Search the Scriptures." All are welcome.

Meetings in Reform Hall to-morrow at the usual hours of 9:15 A. M., in the basement parlor, and at 4 and 7:45 P. M. in the main auditorium, to which a cordial invitation is extended to everybody. In the evening J. Howard Titsworth of Kansas, will make the address. The subject will be "Prohibition in Kansas."

Somerville Fair.

The 21st annual fair of the Somerset County Agricultural Society will be held on the grounds in Somerville one month earlier than usual, viz; on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 9, 10 and 11. Trotting Wednesday and Thursday, commencing at 12:30 P. M. each day. On the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, one hour's ride from New York. Competition open to State. Send for premium list to W. S Potter, Somerville, N. J.

—THE PRESS forgot to mention yesterday that there will be music for dancing and the platform will be free to all who go on the Grocers' Excursion, to Boynton Beach, Monday.

Would you know the keen delight
Of a wholsome appetite,
Unrestrained by colic's dire,
Headache's curse, or fever's fire,
Thoughts morose, or icy chills?
Then use Dr. Pierce's pills.

Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets—the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills; 25 cents a vial.

AMONG THE EGYPTIANS.

They Live in Mud-Houses Together with Millions of Parasites.

There is little ornamentation about these Egyptian houses. They are all flat-roofed. The majority of them have no glass in their windows, and the lower half of each window is covered with wooden lattice-work, through the meshes of which you may see the large, dark eyes of the ladies of the harem peeping out. I asked one gray-bearded Mahometan as to what the people did in case of rain. He did not appear to know what the word rain meant, and I was told that they have no blizzards or rain storms in this part of the Nile valley. One of our spring rains would make this town of 40,000 inhabitants a vast mud pie. The houses are rude inside as well as out. Most of them are mere hovels and families live here in quarters in which an American farmer would not trust his best Jersey cow. During my stay in Asyoot I tried to learn all I could about the life of the people, and I found that several families often lived in one of these little mud huts, and that most of them slept on the ground, with only a blanket or a cotton rag as covering. The poor Egyptian, like the poor Indian, sleeps in the same clothes that he uses during the day-time, and in these huts chickens, donkeys and cattle are kept in the same room with the family. Even these by no means make up the inhabitants of the house. The lice and fleas of the hard-hearted Pharoah still stick to the land, and bed-bugs are everywhere. You can have no idea of the lice of Egypt, and the graybacks of army days are mild in comparison. The chief business of Egyptian leisure seems to be in picking over clothes for body-lice, and everywhere I went about Asyoot I saw a man, boy or woman sitting half naked, and looking and catching and cracking these insects. In many cases two men or two women combine forces and work together, one picking from the other, and vice versa. Every time I took a walk through the streets I trembled to think of the possibilities, and several times in searching my clothes on returning to my room I found that I had carried away some other man's property. These lice are very prolific, and one good female will in a week colonize a whole man. I spent about an hour every day in searching the seams of my underclothing for eggs, and I did not wonder that Pharaoh was ready, when Moses sent this pest upon him, to allow the Israelites to go. You can have no idea of the flies and fleas of Upper Egypt. They cover everything and everybody. You see men sleeping by the roadside with great handfuls of flies on their eyebrows. Babies have flies resting upon their mouths, and every child in repose has a half dozen flies on his eyelids. Egypt has more sore eyes to its population than any other country in the world, and eye diseases are caused by these flies. You find hundreds of blind men in every Egyptian city. They go about with long sticks and are respected by the people.—F. G. Carpenter, in National Tribune.

THE BUFFALO'S FATE.

How the Great American Ruminant Was Wantonly Exterminated.

In 1868 the Union Pacific railroad and its branch in Kansas was completed across the plains to the foot-hills of the Rocky Mountains—the western limit of the buffalo range—and that year witnessed the inauguration of the wholesale and wanton slaughter of the great ruminants, ending only with their practical extinction in 1885, by regular hunters for their hides, and by the crowds of tourists who crossed the continent for mere pleasure and sport, then made possible by the advent of the "iron-tail": these latter heartlessly killed for the excitement of the novel experience, often never even touching a particle of the flesh, or possessing themselves of a single robe as they rode along at a slow rate of speed. The former, numbering thousands of old frontiersmen, all expert shots, and as many novices—the pioneer settlers on the "public domain" just opened under the various land laws—from beyond the Platte to far south of the Arkansas, within transporting distance of the two roads, day after day for years made it a lucrative business to kill for robes only, a market for which had suddenly sprung up all over the country.

On either side of the lines of the railroad, within close range for nearly their whole distance, the most conspicuous objects in those days were the desiccated carcasses of the noble beasts that had been ruthlessly slaughtered by the thoughtless and excited passenger en route across the continent. On the open prairie, too, miles away from the course of legitimate travel, one could walk in places all day on the dead bodies of the buffaloes, killed by the hide-hunters, without stepping on the ground! Then was the opportunity for Congress to interpose. Restricting the transportation of robes by the railroads and express companies could have saved the buffalo from extinction. I believe there was some absurd law enacted in relation to preventing the terrible slaughter, but it made it only a misdemeanor on the part of the hunter to kill—about as effective a provision, so far as the average plainsman was concerned, as to attempt to deflect a tornado with a palm-leaf fan. The price of robes ranged all the way from fifty cents—the amount paid primarily—to two dollars and a half as they became scarcer. I have bought many a finely-tanned and ornamented "silk robe" from the Indians for half a loaf of bread or a cupful of sugar; but that was twenty-five years ago. To-day the same kind would easily bring one hundred and fifty dollars, if procurable at all anywhere, which I very much doubt.—Henry Inman, in Harper's Weekly.

—A Cameron (Mo.) woman employed a neighbor woman to do the family whipping for her, and after the job had been done in a thoroughly artistic manner she brought suit against her substitute for cruelty to animals.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
6-30-y

C. C. BROWER & CO.,
Proprietors of the
New Club Stables,
WEST 6th ST., near PARK AVE.
Stables devoted wholly to Boarding and Training purposes.
Special attention given to Trotting and Road Horses. 8-15-m

Don't Miss This!
Pay cash for your goods, and when your purchases amount to Thirty Dollars, we will present you with an elegant volume of
"Stanley in Africa."
(Purchase cards must be filled by November 1, 1890.)
This is the most wonderful and thrilling book ever published. The best, most complete and finely illustrated account of Stanley's travels.
The Wonderful Discoveries!
Thrilling adventures, marvelous escapes and dazzling achievements of the great explorer, and other renowned travelers, pioneers and missionaries.
Beautifully and elaborately illustrated, with nearly three hundred engravings. Value, $6.00.
Sugar, 4½c lb; New Crop Tea, 25c lb; Fine Coffees, from 20c lb; "O. K." Baking Powder, 20c lb; Kerosene Oil, 150° test, 10c gallon; Good Family Flour, 50c Bag.
United Tea & Coffee Growers Ass'n.
Wholesale and Retail Cash Grocers,
29 WEST FRONT STREET. 7-14-tf

Irrespective of the high price of Ice, Sugar, etc., the price of
SODA WATER
AT MILLER'S PHARMACY,
No. 10 East Front Street,
Still remains at 5 Cents per glass, while the Syrups are manufactured direct from Fruit.
Prescriptions Accurately Prepared. 12-17-tf

G. H. VAN NEST
Meat, Vegetable & Produce Market!
Also, a full line of Staple Groceries.
30 SOMERSET STREET.
Orders called for and goods delivered free of charge. 11-14-tf

Paper by the Pound.
We have just received a line of Note Paper put up in pound packages, which we are offering at a bargain! Come and see it.
A. W. RAND,
24 West Front St -tf

Woman's Exchange
8 PARK AVENUE.
Persons wishing to become members, will call at the earliest opportunity.
Mrs. W. L. FORCE. 8-26-w

TRY OUR
Q'JEEN and NEW ENGLAND BREAD.
HENRY LIEFKE
NO. 27 WEST FRONT STREET. 8-16-tf

Valuable Building Lots for Sale,
On Grove street and Craig place, North Plainfield. This plot is one of the most desirable in the Borough, and is offered for sale at a reasonable price and on easy terms. Will be sold in quantities to suit. Apply to Owner, at 25 Craig Place. 9-14-tf

I. H. BOEHM,
7 West Front Street,
Popular Dry Goods House.
Special Bargains This Week
300 Parasols, in stripes, checks, solid colors and black. These goods are manufacturers' samples, and are sold less than wholesale jobbers' prices.
50 pcs Fine Challies—equal in appearance to all-wool goods, at 5c per yard—worth 10c.
Will open the latter part of the week, 1 case Fine Lawns at 3c per yard.
Large line of Ladies' and Misses Blazers and Jerseys.
Great reductions in Millinery Goods, and Children's Lace Caps.
I. H. BOEHM, 7 West Front St; 6-25-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, AGENTS.
Practical Plumbers and Sheet Metal Workers.
Constantly on hand a full line of all the improved Odorless Water Closets, Sewer and Gas and Bath Water Traps.
All kinds of light Machinery and Bicycles repaired at short notice.
We take pleasure in informing our many friends and customers that arrangements have been made with the present owner whereby we are employed as Agents and General Managers.
Sincerely thanking our friends and customers for the many favors in the past, we solicit the continuance of their valued orders, which will receive prompt attention.
Personal supervision given to the examination of Soil Pipes. 7-26-tf

WE SELL
TO THE
BEST TRADE
IN
PLAINFIELD AND BOROUGH!
If You Want Selected Goods,
TELEPHONE TO
R. W. RICE & CO.,
Number 75, B. GROCERS. 1-12-tf

For all the Latest Styles and Shapes in
Ladies Oxford Ties
AND
Men's Patent Leather and Russett Shoes,
Everybody goes to
KENNY'S,
At the corner of Front St. and Park Ave. 6-7-tf

BALDWIN REFRIGERATORS
Gasolene Stoves,
Rapid Ice Cream Freezers,
Plumbing, Tinning, and Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL 6.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Base Ball
AND
Lawn Tennis Goods,
Hammocks, Fans, and Bicycle Sundries.
Joseph M. Harper,
No. 75 PARK AVENUE,
3d store South of 4th street, Plainfield, N. J. 8-5-y

A WORD TO THE WISE.
The word we would utter to the wise is QUALITY; on quality hinges CHEAPNESS, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefor, remember, when in need of Groceries, that with us a LOW PRICE never means a POOR QUALITY.
F. WESTPHAL & SON,
Cash Grocers, 38 & 40 Liberty St. 4-9-tf

At the Crescent Parlor,
23 North Avenue,
A full line of
CIGARS AND TOBACCO. 11-26-y

P. AGNEY,
KINDLING WOOD.
Yard—Mountain Avenue.
P. O. Box 307. North Plainfield.
Orders attended to promptly in city and Borough. 8-6-tf

JOHN T. ODAM,
Plain and Ornamental
SLATE ROOFER and REPAIRER.
Residence, corner Fourth and Sycamore Sts. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box 705, Plainfield, N. J.
New work warranted for one year. Slating over Shingles. Also, Felt and Gravel Roofing. 6-13-y

ALLEN, THE STATIONER,
Has added to his stock a fresh line of
Cards, Calendars and Toys for the New Year.
EAST FRONT ST.

J. F. Mac DONALD,
-UP-TOWN GROCER,-
Telephone No. 135. 44 and 46 EAST FRONT STREET. 1-18-tf

How Astonishing, Yet it is True,
That ROGERS BROS. are selling that beautiful French Dongola Shoe at the exceedingly low price of $3,00. It is perfect in fit and fineness, and is the longest wearing shoe in the market for the money.
Don't forget—We always carry a fine line of E. C. BURT'S SHOES, at very reasonable prices.
Our store is no LOTTERY, as we GUARANTEE every pair of shoes we sell.
ROGERS BROS., 12 W. FRONT ST.

Carpenters and Builders.
PEARSON & CAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. E. Cayle, No. 78 E. 2d St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. 7-31-tf

WHITLOCK & HULICK,
CARPENTERS,
And General Jobbers.
SHOP, 11 SOMERSET ST., Plainfield, N. J.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
G. S. WHITLOCK. D. L. HULICK. 6-3-tf

C. R. MUSGRAVE,
Carpenter and Builder,
66 W. FRONT STREET.
The cheapest place in town to get your JOBBING and REPAIRING done.
RESIDENCE—52 MADISON AVENUE. 8-14-y

R. V. SAUMS,
Carpenter and Builder.
RESIDENCE—Clinton ave., near depot, Evona. P. O. Box, 1,226. Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work. 9-15-tf

YOU CAN GET
Screens Fitted to Your Windows
For 15 cents per square foot,
At No. 30 Somerset Street.
Also JOBBING of all kinds.
HARDWOOD work a SPECIALTY.

The above line of shoes for sale by C. P. WHEELER, at No. 27 Somerset St., where may also be found other lines of desirable footwear for Ladies, Misses, Children, Men's, Boy's and Youths', at prices that cannot fail to suit. 3-17tf

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
AMPHITHEATRE.
The Largest, Coolest and Most Magnificent Place of Amusement in the World.
SEATING 11,000 PEOPLE.
Madison Ave., 4th Ave., 26th & 27th Sts.
SAMUEL FRENCH & SON, - General Managers.
EVERY NIGHT AT 8.
Sacred Concert Sunday Evening.
STRAUSS,
—AND HIS—
Imperial and Royal Court Orchestra.
—ALSO—
TWO GRAND BALLETS—"Peace and War," and "Choosing the National Flower."
250 PEOPLE ON THE STAGE.
Prices 50c., $1.00, $1.50.
The three performances conclude at 10:45, giving ample time to reach all trains for home. 6-14

TIER'S
ICED CREAM!
In Frozen Bricks of all Sizes, Single or Mixed Flavors.
8 Bank Places—East Front Street.
6-16-to-sep1

--No. 8--
PARK AVENUE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
STAMPING!
PROMPTLY EXECUTED.
FANCY GOODS,
NOTIONS, ETC.

Educational.
PLAINFIELD SEMINARY
Will re-open on Thursday, September 18. The Kindergarten will re-open on Wednesday, October First.
For particulars, address
Miss E. E. KENION, Principal. 7-18-3m

RODMAN SEMINARY,
25 East Fifth Street,
For Young Ladies and Children, will Reopen September 17.
FRENCH and GERMAN taught by the BERLITZ method. MRS. R. C. DINGEE, PRINCIPAL. 8-18 3m

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten and School,
48 CRAIG PLACE, (near Grove Street),
REOPENS WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1890.
In each department thorough instruction is given, care being taken to make school life attractive. Simple interesting reading with the children on American and English History, Physiology, Zoology and Botany. Calisthenics daily. Circulars on application. 8 21 2m

HARNED ACADEMY,
A Boarding and Day School,
Will reopen September 15, 1890.
For circulars and other information, address the Principal,
EDWARD N. HARNED,
187 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J. 8 28 1m

Professional Cards.
MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths!
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol For men only. Hours 9 to 11 a. m.; 1 to 8 p. m. H. HORNEM, 26 W. 2d street, Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong. 6-27-tf

DR. M. S. SIMPSON.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—30 W. FIFTH ST., CORNER OF LIBERTY.
OFFICE HOURS—Until 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., after 6 P. M. 6-26-ly

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counselors-at-Law
Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Commissioners of Deeds, Special Master etc. Corner Park avenue and Second street. Money to loan.

WM. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
Supreme Court Commissioner.
First National Bank Building. my9

CLARK & REED,
Counselors at Law,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

W. V. STEELE,
Counselor-at-Law,
Master and Examiner in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner.
COR. PARK AND NORTH AVES. 4-23-3m

HARRY C. RUNYON,
Typewriter and Stenographer,
COLLECTION AGENT.
With Clark & Reed. 8-21-y

Coal and Lumber.
A. D. COOK & BRO.,
Lumber and Coal Merchants.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND RAILROAD,
PLAINFIELD.
All Lumber and Coal UNDER COVER.
ALFRED D. COOK. my19'71 ROBERT H. COOK

J. C. POPE & CO.
INSURANCE AGENTS
. 6 E. Front Street. my10y

Miscellaneous.
RICHARD DAY,
Livery Stables,
24 West Fourth Street. Carriages to meet all trains. All kinds of Turn-outs day or night. Family riding a specialty. Telephone Call 151. Leave orders at A. Titsworth's, No. 26 North ave. my10y

J. B. STICKLEY
21 East 54th Street
Special attention to all
AWNING WORK
Orders promptly filled for all classes of Upholstery. Carpets made and laid.
MATTING.
Window Shades a Specialty. 6-20-to5-1

FISCHER
ESTABLISHED 1840.
PIANOS
RENOWNED FOR TONE & DURABILITY
MODERATE PRICES
EASY TERMS, EXCHANGED.
DELIVERED FREE WITHIN 50 MILES OF NEW YORK CITY
Catalogue Mailed on Application.
110 Fifth Ave., cor. 16th Street,
NEW YORK CITY.
4 4 6m

'TIS MONEY MAKES THE MARE GO.

Deep learning is a splendid thing;
There's strength in erudition,
And wit and beauty each may bring
Its share of recognition.
But those who take the pains through life
Its features to compare know
These are but trifles in the strife—
'Tis money makes the mare go.

Wealth hides a boundless sea of sin
Or beautifies its features
Until the ones who dip therein
Are quite respected creatures.
For there are wrongful paths in which
The poor would never dare go
That may be followed by the rich—
'Tis money makes the mare go.

Ofttimes a true but poor young man
Will seek the aid of Cupid,
But do the very best he can,
The ladies vote him stupid.
The while some wealthy, witless dunce
Will never have to fare so.
They'll all be after him at once—
'Tis money makes the mare go.

By many a maiden proud and cold
Are scores of hearts rejected,
While others worth their weight in gold
By lovers are neglected.
For those with wealth the men beset,
Their fortunes they would share though
Their loveless bonds bring deep regret—
'Tis money makes the mare go.

And in the end there'll come a day
When wealth shall lose its power,
And all their gold be swept away
In one short, fleeting hour.
And when they stand on Jordan's brink
Their hearts shall deep despair know
Who all their lives are wont to think
'Tis money makes the mare go.
—Chicago Post.

LITTLE DOT'S MESSAGE.

A Note and a Bouquet for Mamma in Heaven.

"LESS your heart, she'll be all right in less than no time now," exclaimed the old doctor. "You go and lie down for a bit, Miss Anna. I shall have you on my hands if I don't look out. I've given Miss Mary a sleeping draught, and she's sure to sleep for a couple of hours. I'll send one of my girls down to watch her, so just you go and lie down."

The old man bustled off, and Miss Anna sank down into the rocking chair with a long-drawn sigh of relief. Of course she was tired—who wouldn't be after ten such days of ceaseless watching. But, nevertheless, she had no intention of carrying out the old man's advice. Sleep, indeed, while Mary lay there in the next room almost at death's door. Why, the very idea was preposterous. What on earth could the doctor be thinking of? She'd never heard—

But, strange to say, when presently there was a patter of tiny feet upon the gallery, Miss Anna did not hear them; and a moment later, when the door was pulled open, after several vain attempts, and a great flood of September sunshine came flowing into the room, Miss Anna spoke no words of welcome to the quaint little stranger that stood there craving admission.

It was Tot. Everybody knew Tot thereabouts, even though she was such a little mite. She stood there just for one moment, her big, gray eyes fixed in wonderment upon Miss Anna's sleeping form. Then, as the situation dawned upon her baby mind, she let the door slam to behind her and trotted across to the threshold of the room where Miss Mary lay.

Miss Mary turned over presently and could scarcely believe her eyes. She must be dreaming, she told herself, and yet, although the blinds were lowered and the room in semi-darkness, there was a little child over there in the doorway that looked marvelously like Tot. She gazed at the little figure steadily for a minute; until the sweet little face beneath the broad black sailor hat stood out distinct and clear. She had a pretty little white dress on, and her two tiny hands were clasped tightly about a huge bouquet of flowers.

MISS MARY RAISED HERSELF ON ONE ELBOW.

Miss Mary raised herself on one elbow and asked softly:

"Tot, dear, is that you?"

For answer the child ran toward her, and, laying the flowers down upon the coverlet, gazed up expectantly into the thin, pale face.

Miss Mary leaned forward and kissed her, and then she looked at the flowers. For the life of her she could not keep from smiling. It was such an incongruous bouquet. There was larkspur, and there were marigolds, bachelor's buttons, sweet-william and just one late moss rose. Miss Mary couldn't help wondering to herself how it had managed to outlive its fellows. Then as she glanced at the huge sunflower in the center of the bunch, her smiles broke out afresh.

"Why, Tot, this is awfully good of you. Are all these lovely flowers for me?"

The child shook her head emphatically until every golden curl was set a-bobbing.

"No," she said, "those is for muzzer. I wants you to take them, please." Miss Mary started and grew a shade paler, if that were possible. "But, Tot, dear—how can I, darling. Your mamma, you know, is d—is in Heaven."

Tot nodded her head and looked up at Miss Mary triumphantly. "I know; that's why I brought them; and you is going there, too. Nurse says so, and so did cook. They was talking and Tot was out in the garden, and they didn't know she hearded it. Nurse said as of all the angels without wings she'd ever seen anywhere you was the best she'd ever knowed, and then cook wiped her eyes with her apron, and she said if it was the doctor she'd have her doubts about it, and even if it was the clergyman hisself she wouldn't feel quite sure, but she was so dead certain you'd get to Heaven she'd be willing to bet on it. That's just what she said, Miss Mary—dead certain. Only Tot musn't say it any more. Papa says it's slang."

Miss Mary turned her head away so that the child might not see that she was crying; but she held out her hand to her, and by its feeble assistance the child scrambled up upon the bed.

"Tot thought as you was going there she'd love to send someting to muzzer. Muzzer never writes to Tot, you know, never once since she went away. Why doesn't muzzer write to Tot, Miss Mary? When papa goes away he always writes a letter to Tot, all for her own self. He puts Miss Marjorie Hastings on the envelope, and nurse reads it to Tot out loud. When Teddy and Tom is at school they writes to Tot lots and lots, so why doesn't muzzer write? Muzzer isn't like cook neither; she could spell beautiful and cook can't. She could spell 'the cat and the rat on the mat' just as easy, and talk lovely out of a book. Muzzer was teaching 'the cat and the rat on the mat' to Tot just before she went away. Nurse teaches it to Tot now, and when Tot gets stupid she raps her over the fingers. Muzzer didn't do that—never!" she added with a little sigh that was half a sob.

There was silence for a little while, and then Tot lifted her head again and her little face was as bright as ever.

"Is your trunks all packed, Miss Mary?" Miss Mary could not answer, so the child took her silence for consent. "If you hadn't packed them Tot was going to get cook to come down and help you. Cook packs trunks just boofully. She always packs Tom's and Teddy's. She sits on the top and squeezes them down. It's the only way they can shut them. Last time on Tedd's trunk she jumped up and down three times; but if your's is packed, Miss Mary, you can carry the flowers in your hands. Give them to muzzer with Tot's love and a kiss, and ask her to write Tot a letter. Muzzer will know Daddy Longlegs right away; that's the sunflower. Muzzer always called him that. He grows right up in the corner of the garden, and Tot had a dreffal time picking him, he was so high up. Tot got a box and stood on that and pulled Daddy Longlegs down. Muzzer won't remember the rest of them cos they've growed since she went away. But muzzer helped Tot to plant them all, Tot remembers. Tom and Teddy was home for a holiday, and muzzer and all of us went out into the gardens. Tom had a shovel and Teddy had a hoe, and Tot dropped the seeds in. Muzzer had gone away before they comed up, but Tot always remembers to give them a drink just as she told her to. Tell muzzer that we've got a new watering pot now, and Teddy's gone into long trousers, and the little bantam hen has laid an egg. It was a weeny little bit of a one. Tot had it for breakfast. And tell her Tot's getting a dreffully big girl. She comed down here all alone."

"Alone! Across the bridge!" exclaimed Miss Mary, sitting almost upright in bed. "The bridge was safe enough for a grown person, even though it was such a wretchedly made affair, but for a child like that—why it would be the easiest thing in the world for her to slip underneath the railing. The creek was deep just at that point and the current very swift. Miss Mary uttered a prayer of thankfulness as she thought of the child's escape.

Then the medicine began to assert its sway, and though Miss Mary fought valiantly against it it was as much as she could do to keep awake.

"You'se sleepy, Miss Mary," remarked the child.

"Yes," she answered, "I'm afraid I must plead guilty, Tot. I'm not at all polite, but you must blame the doctor for that; he's given me some horrid medicine. Make yourself comfortable, Tot, dear. There's your little rocking chair over in the corner, and Ruperta Ann is in the cupboard. We'll just put the flowers in this vase for the present until—until I am ready to go."

So the little chair was brought over to the bedside, and Ruperta Ann, a huge rag baby, was brought forward to be put asleep. It was a peculiarity of Tot's to talk to her mimic children precisely as though they were possessed with all the attributes of flesh and blood. She fondled Ruperta Ann for a little while, then reproached her sharply for her extreme wakefulness. Finally she began to sing to her in her sweet treble a little song which her mother had taught her. Miss Mary opened her sleepy eyes in surprise as the child began to sing. It was the first time since her mother's death that Tot had ever sung this song. They had often coaxed her to do so, for it was by far the prettiest song in all her baby repertoire. Once up at the Red House, during the boys' holidays, Miss Mary had been seated at the piano playing for the three children. They had just finished singing: "The Frog He Would a-Wooing Go," and half unconsciously Miss Mary's fingers strayed into the opening bars of Robin Redbreast. "Come along, Tot, and sing it," cried the boys. And so Tot stood up there beside the piano and began:

"Good-bye, good-bye to summer,
For summer's nearly gone;
The garden's——"

And then she stopped suddenly; she could not go on with it. Her little lips were quivering, and a great lump had crept into her throat. Since then no one had ever asked her to sing it, and consequently Miss Mary was all the more surprised to hear her begin it now of her own accord.

The last sight that Miss Mary's tired eyes rested on was little Tot, with Ruperta Ann's decidedly wooden cast of countenance looking over her shoulder, as she rocked slowly to and fro, and the last sound that reached her was the chorus of the little song which Tot was singing:

"Robin, robin redbreast,
Oh, robin, dear!
Robin sings so sweetly
At the closing of the year."

Tot sat there for a long time after Miss Mary fell asleep, but finally she rose, and, with visions of nurse in an irate state of mind before her, set out on her homeward way. Miss Anna was still asleep in the sitting-room, and passing out as silently as she had come Tot closed the door softly behind her. She had brought Ruperta Ann with her for company's sake, and she chatted softly to her as she trudged along. She stood at the garden gate just for an instant and gazed along the road which lay before her. It was not a long journey even for such little feet as hers—a stretch of common, then round the corner across the meadow, and after that, once the creek was crossed, there was a short cut through the garden which would take her right up to the Red House. The leaves of the trees about the Red House were crimson with the touch of autumn, but now as the sun sank down behind them they turned to a ruddier glow. Tot looked at them and wondered in her baby fashion how long it would take to reach them and nurse. Then she turned the corner and went on.

ANNA TURNED AWAY TO THE WINDOW.

It was after ten when Miss Mary awoke, and her sister was still asleep. When at last she awakened Miss Mary told her of little Tot's visit. "Why, Mary, you've been dreaming!" she exclaimed. But Miss Mary pointed to the flowers upon the table. Shortly after that Miss Mary fell asleep again, and she did not really regain consciousness until forty-eight hours had passed. The first thing she looked for was Tot's bouquet, but to her dismay she found that it was gone. There stood the table and the vase upon it, half filled with water, but the flowers were gone.

"Anna," she exclaimed, "what have you done with them? They were better than all the medicine I ever had."

Miss Anna turned away to the window that her sister might not see her face. It was no time for particulars, so she just said simply:

"I sent them back to the Red House. Tot needed them, dear, for the dear little soul has taken the message herself."
—N. Y. Sun.

AMERICAN TITLES.

Nothing Is Too Grand for the Average Citizen of This Glorious Republic.

It is a very curious fact that, with all our boasted "free and equal" superiority over the communities of the Old World, our people have the most enormous appetite for Old-World titles of distinction. Sir Michael and Sir Hans belong to one of the most extended of the aristocratic orders. But we have also "Knights and Ladies of Honor," and, what is still grander, "Royal Conclave of Knights and Ladies," "Royal Arcanum," and "Royal Society of Good Fellows," "Supreme Council," "Imperial Court," "Grand Protector," and "Grand Dictator," and so on. Nothing less than "Grand" and "Supreme" is good enough for the dignitaries of our associations of citizens. Where does all this ambition for names without realities come from? Because a Knight of the Garter wears a golden star, why does the worthy cordwainer, who mends the shoes of his fellow-citizens, want to wear a tin star, and take a name that had a meaning as used by the representatives of ancient families, or the men who had made themselves illustrious by their achievements?

It appears to be a peculiarly American weakness. The French Republicans of the earlier period thought the term citizen was good enough for anybody. At a later period "le Roi Citoyen"—the citizen king—was a common title given to Louis Philippe. But nothing is too grand for the American in the way of titles. The proudest of them all signify absolutely nothing. They do not stand for ability, for public service, for social importance, for large possessions, but on the contrary are oftenest found in connection with personalities to which they are supremely inapplicable. We can hardly afford to quarrel with a National habit which, if lightly handled, may involve us in serious domestic difficulties. The "Right Worshipful" functionary whose equipage stops at my back gate, and whose services are indispensable to the health and comfort of my household, is a dignitary whom I must not offend. I must speak with proper deference to the lady who is scrubbing my floors, when I remember that her husband, who saws my wood, carries a string of high-sounding titles which would satisfy a Spanish nobleman.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, in Atlantic.

Travel in the West

Nebraska Farmer—Nellie, didn't I hear you say you wanted to go over into Kansas on a visit?

Daughter—Yes, pa.

Nebraska Farmer—Well, hurry up and get your valise packed. There's a cyclone due in a half hour that'll take you over.—Judge.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

ACTION OF ALCOHOL.

Scientifically Considered Inebriety Is a Dissolution of Brain Functions.

All clinical study shows that same state of defective brain and nerve development, or some form of functional or organic degeneration, precedes the first use of alcohol. In certain cases it is clearly central nerve exhaustion, functional perversions, organic defects from injury or disease, or hereditary predisposition. The first use of alcohol, either in so-called moderation, or in toxic doses, as in intoxication, seems to concentrate and organize the forces of dissolution, which, from this time, move on with great uniformity and accelerating speed. When inebriety is fully developed, this is very apparent, and often traceable from stage to stage.

The action of alcohol as a paralyzant on both cell and nerve fiber, and its chemical interference with nutrition and circulation, together with the complex forces of heredity and environment, are all powerful causes readily explaining the presence and progress of dissolution.

In the more recent studies of the mind, three divisions are recognized, the emotions, the volitions and the intellect; from these the evolutions and dissolutions can be traced. The study of inebriety should follow these divisions, and point out the changes from a healthy mind. Beginning with the present trace back the emotional, volitional and intellectual changes, and ascertain how far they have been the result of alcohol and narcotics; or of previous degenerations, defects, injuries or hereditaries. While the facts are numerous and complex, and often difficult to substantiate, yet when grouped and compared they range themselves into certain outline forms of dissolution that can not be mistaken. The following are some of the general facts seen in all cases of inebriety. The dissolution of volition is the first prominent symptom. This is loss of self-control, either local or general. The coordinating brain centers are enfeebled, and the man is unable to direct his acts or conduct with consistency. The greater the loss of vital energy, the weaker the volition, until finally he is a mere creature of any functional impulse that may be present. Alcohol not only produces loss of nerve energy, but damage to nutrition, and inability to restore this loss, and the desire for relief becomes more and more intense, demanding a continuance of spirits for this end. This dissolution process may be apparent only in matters controlling the functions of the body, and the influence of surroundings upon them, or it may extend to relations of life beyond this. Dr. Wright has very aptly termed "this paralysis at first functional, then organic." Beginning in failure to regulate the more simple acts of the body, it extends to the complex duties and relations, and finally ends in dementia. The inebriate has always more or less pronounced dissolution of volition, which increases as his case becomes more chronic.

The next prominent phase of dissolution is that of the emotions or feelings. The exhaustion from the palsy of alcohol and the derangement which may have preceded it, manifests itself in emotional changes, in great exaltations and depressions. The psychical sensory centers are in a state of intense irritation, and all impressions cause pain, both psychical and physical. Alcohol relieves this quickly. States of brain anæmia, which Meynert thinks are due to a spasm of the arterioles and an arrest of the blood supply, cause deep despair and melancholia. In the early stages an effort is made to escape these nerve depressions by the increased use of spirits. Later it deepens into despair and suicide. The exaltations and hyperæsthesia are followed by a profound lowering of all the functions with anæsthesia. These emotional exaggerations and depressions are palsies of the sensory centers and dissipations of energy. Manifest in slight changes at first, then it passes on to mania and melancholia. The inebriate has always a pronounced dissolution of the emotions. He is subject to every appeal from both within and without, and the capacity of discrimination and control becomes weaker steadily. In the Temperance, political and prayer meeting these cases are very interesting studies, and the degree of dissolution can be very readily seen.

The third diversion is the dissolution of the intellect and intelligence. This function is the power of associating ideas and comparing them with others. It has been described as the process of the formation of new ideas by the union of one already impressed tract of nerve tissue with another. Or the process of utilizing new and unusual groups of sensory motor cells by uniting them to those already in use; or of getting into action organized tracts of thought in the exercise of memory. Any state or condition of paralysis which will break up the complicated sensori-motor groups, or sever their minute attachments, will be manifest in the intelligence.

The delusions, the false beliefs, the strange unreasonings and credulities of inebriates are common in all cases. Beginning in simple matters pertaining to the bodily functions, it grows until it includes all the relations of matter and mind. With the decline of nervous energy, and impairment of the higher functions of the brain, the lesions of intelligence increase. It may be for a long time apparently confined ot the care and control of the body, but as dissolution goes on it embraces every function of the brain. In some cases a degree of automatic intelligence remains long after general brain failure appears. This has given rise to a false belief that an inebriate may possess unimpaired judgment and intelligence on to the end of life. In these three ways the march of dissolution can be traced in all cases. Beyond this there is a phase of dissolution not so clear, because it concerns the higher and more obscure functions of the brain called conscience. The inebriate early exhibits failure of this, the latest formed element, the character. His conception of truth and duty to others, and his recognitions of the higher relations and duties of life, undergo a marked dissolution. His veracity, his honor, his pride of character, his sense of duty, all suffer, and are finally paralyzed.

Thus in all cases of inebriety there is a chain of dissolution which can be traced back to causes and conditions which may be reached by therapeutic aids and means of prevention. This is the line of scientific study from which the real facts may be discovered.—Quarterly Journal of Inebriety.

AN EVERY-DAY STORY.

How a Bright Young Man Ruined Home, Character and Happiness.

Many years ago, while a clerk in Wall street, New York, a new financial institution was started in Broadway, and, learning that an acquaintance of mine had been appointed to a prominent position therein, I called to see him with my congratulations for his good fortune. Being a young man of very good abilities, the prospect seemed favorable for his further advancement and usefulness.

But who can tell what lies in the unseen future! Some years after I learned that he had lost his situation on account of intemperate habits. These evil habits, I was informed, had been contracted by the free use of wine among his friends socially and at public dinners.

After losing trace of him for many years he called at my house in the spring of 1874 to solicit pecuniary assistance. He was so altered in his appearance that I at first hardly recognized him. I listened to his sad tale of degradation and suffering, he having been separated also from an interesting family by his own acts. In the midst of his drunken career he had come near to the borders of death, and, on recovery, a kind physician, who had attended him in his sickness, took him into his employ in order to try and save him. He accompanied this physician in his visits to many persons who had limbs maimed and broken by accidents which occurred when they were stupefied with liquor. The sight of their helpless and forlorn condition led him to reflection, and the thought came to his mind that perhaps his body might yet be a case for the surgeon's knife. He then resolved at once to stop short in his downward career, and proposed, with the assistance of friends, to go to Binghamton and spend a year at the Inebriate Asylum at that place, hoping that course would be the means of his cure.

About a year after this interview, I heard that he had left Binghamton fully cured, and succeeded in obtaining a situation as book-keeper in a railroad office in New York. While he was employed there, a vacancy occurred in the cashiership of a bank in the city of his former residence, not far distant from New York, and through the influence of relatives and friends there, he was appointed to fill the vacancy. Shortly after his appointment I called upon him at his office, and found him very happy in the changed condition of his affairs. He said he was now restored to his wife and family, and the future looked bright and encouraging. But in my visit there, an incident occurred which struck me unfavorably. As I was walking near his place of business I observed him enter the bar-room of an inferior-looking hotel. I followed him to the bar where liquor ran freely, but he purchased only a few cigars. He apologized to me for being found there, but gave as his reason, that in that place they had a favorite brand of cigars which he could not get elsewhere. I remonstrated and told him that I thought it was very unsafe for him to go where there was even the smell of liquor. But he replied that he apprehended no danger, as he was so sick and disgusted with alcoholic drinks that nothing could again induce him to touch them.

Hardly a year passed before I heard that he had relapsed into his former habits and lost his situation. Soon after he called at my office in a partially intoxicated condition and solicited money to buy food, stating that he was almost starved. I refused to give him money, but offered to get him a dinner. He thanked me, and I told my son to go with him to a certain "Temperance restaurant," and provide him with a good meal. My son afterwards took him to the "Womans' Christian Temperance Prayer Meeting," where he was introduced, and, at his request, made the subject of prayer. He left before the close of the meeting, stating that he was anxious to be in time for the next Philadelphia train. My son followed him towards the depot, but on the way his appetite seemed to furiously crave drink, and he took opportunity suddenly to escape out of sight.

The last sad news that came to me was that he had died of delirium tremens in a police station in Brooklyn.

How my heart ached for his poor wife and family, who had their hope so raised to be cast down again in utter disappointment.

This sad case teaches us an important lesson. It shows the fearful strength of the chains of intemperance, the necessity of watchfulness and of looking to a Higher Power for deliverance.

It would seem that this man, with such a favorable change in his circumstances, had every inducement and encouragement to persevere in the work of reform. It shows that there is no safety for one who has been formerly addicted to intemperate habits to place himself in the way of temptation by visiting where liquor is sold, even for the purchase of other articles. We are told to pray: "Lead us not into temptation," but if a reformed man is unavoidably thrown into such places, he should cry mightily unto God to "deliver him from evil."—Christian at Work.

THE veteran Von Moltke considers the misuse of alcohol one of Germany's greatest enemies, and adds: "A healthy man needs no such stimulant, and to give it to children is absolutely wicked."

WHEN the devil wants to run his claws clear through a man and clinch them on the other side he makes him believe that moderate drinking won't hurt him.—Ram's Horn.

ALCOHOL is a poison—an enemy to the healthy human system.

LISTEN TO MY TALE OF WOE.

I will present to each purchaser of 50c worth of Segars, a

Handsome Nickle-Plated Match Safe.

And to all buyers of my Chip Meerschaum Pipes, a sample package of

Old Tar Smoking Tobacco.

Purchasers bringing me 25 copies of THE PRESS with this advertisement in, (each of different dates) will be presented with a Patent Asbestos Pipe.

N. H. GUTTMAN,
12 West Second Street,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-2-tf

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 42d ST.,
Invites especial attention to his stock of
Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal.
In sizes to suit the trade. This coal was bought early, when most care is always taken to clean it at the mines, and it is therefore unusually free from slate and stone. It is stored under
WATERPROOF SHEDS,
Which are furnished with steam elevators for loading and screening. This, with the use of the patent self-dumping wagon, enables him to fill orders in the most rapid manner. The coal has already given the highest satisfaction.
TELEPHONE 129.
Lumber constantly on hand.
Turning and Scroll Sawing done in the best manner at short notice.
4-16-tf

VANDERBEEK & SATTELS,
NO. 33 PARK AVENUE.

All the Newest and Latest Styles in
Pianos & Organs.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED.
3-27-tf

A Great Bargain in the Following
Canned Fruits and Vegetables!

| | Canned | Doz |
|---|---|---|
| California Cherries, | 25c | $2.50 |
| " Plums | 25c | 2.50 |
| " Apricots, | 25c | 2.50 |
| Franklin Brand Corn, | 10c | 1.15 |
| Standard Jersey Packed Tomatoes, | 10c | 1.10 |
| Stringless Beans, extra choice, | 15c | 1.50 |

Estelle, Taylor & Neuman,
70 Broadway, cor. Fifth St.
7-24-

Geo. H. Fairchild,
[Successor to R. R. FAIRCHILD.]
Furniture & Bedding,
21 & 23 EAST FRONT STREET.
Parlor, Dining-room and Bedroom
FURNITURE.
Spring Beds, Tables and Chairs.
8-13-tf

BOOTS AND SHOES
LOW PRICES.
At G. W. FORCE'S.
SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.
11 West Front Street.

TRY
B. T. Barnes
Crushed Raspberry Cream,
Pineapple Ice,
Vanilla Cream,
Lemon Cream,
Chocolate Cream.
Simon Pure—No Adulteration.
12-13-tf

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL.
OFFICE—With Adams Express, 25 NORTH AV
YARD—Madison Avenue, opp. Electric Light Station.
12-

Willcox & Gibbs
S. M. CO.
Orders left at
95 E. FRONT STREET
Will be promptly attended to.
NEEDLES, OIL, &c.
F. A. WEEKS, Agent. 5-25-tf

LADIES' HAIR DRESSER.
1869. JULES BOUTES, 1888
No. 7 WEST SECOND STREET.
—Artistic French Hair Cutter,—
Exclusively for
—Ladies and Children.—
N. B.—All kinds of HAIR GOODS on hand or MADE TO ORDER. 5-16-tf

Marketing.
J. W. VANSICKLE,
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats, Oysters, Clams, etc. Game in season. No. 10 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone No. 188. Orders called for and promptly delivered. All bills payable to me.
Sept 6

J. P. LAIRE & CO
SELLS
Parlor Stoves and Ranges
The CHEAPEST in the city. Stock will be LARGE and designs the LATEST.
The Wonderful Howe Ventilator
Constantly on hand, and all equipments.
Horse Blankets and Robes.
Electric House Paint $1 per Gal.

$90.00 for $65.00.
THE "JEWEL" SAFETY.
The cheapest Wheel ever offered for the money.
GRAPHITE—For Safety Chains, 17c per Bottle.
Fishing Rods, Reels, and Tackle,
Ball Coods, &c., &c.
A. M. VANDERBEEK,
33 PARK AVE., Plainfield, N. J.
4-26-tf

Oh! for a Drink!
SODA WATER
AT
RANDOLPH'S
This season is better than ever before. Many new syrups. Milk Shakes, the popular drink, with all flavors.
Use "Glycerine and Quinine Hair Tonic" for the Hair.
L. W. RANDOLPH,
21 W. FRONT STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
5-4-tf

U. B. CRANE,
HATTER,
19 PARK AVENUE,
Has fine lot
Spring and Summer Hats,
At prices that suit the people.
4-4-y

DICKINSON, Jeweler and Optician,
19 PARK AVENUE, has a fine line of CHOICE GOODS, consisting of Gold and Silver Watches, Chains, Charms, Lockets, Diamond Rings, Lace Pins, Studs, Cuff Buttons, Silverware, Clocks, &c. Sole Agent for Dr. King's Spectacles.
Don't forget the number.
12-14-tf

Hotels and Saloons.
HOTEL NETHERWOOD
Situated on
NETHERWOOD HEIGHTS.
A Convenient and Elegant Resort.
Special attention given to
Luncheon, Dinner and Driving Parties.
FRANK E. MILLER.
5-21-tf

CENTRAL HOTEL.
FIRST CLASS BAR ATTACHED.
WM. A. SCHORB, - Proprietor
UNDER THE POST OFFICE. 4-5-tf

CITY HOTEL,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
CORNER PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BUSBEE, Proprietor.
With STABLES attached. 4-5-tf

LAING'S HOTEL.
J. B. MILLER & BRO., Proprietors.
All Modern Comforts and Conveniences.
4-5-tf

CHARLES SMITH.
Corner of Front and Somerset Streets.
St. Louis and Imported Beer.
A Fine Bill of Fare Served Every Day.
4-5

Higgins' Stage Line

TO BE RUN ON THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE STRICTLY ON TIME:

First trip from Hillside ave. and Broadway—7:40 A. M. to meet 7:58 A. M. train. Route—Hillside ave. and Broadway, Broadway to 9th st.; to Second place; to Crescent ave.; to Park ave.; to Depot.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2d trip | 8.15 A. M. | to meet | 8.32 A. M. | train. |
| 3d do | 9.15 | do | 9.32 | do |
| 4th do | 10.00 | do | 10.17 | do |
| 5th do | 11 00 | do | 11.24 | do |
| 6th do | 11.45 | do | 12.08 P.M. | do |
| 7th do | 1.45 P. M. | do | 2.15 & 2.35 P.M. | do |
| 8th do | 2.45 | do | To the Post Office. | |
| 9th do | 3.30 | do meet | 3 51 P. M. | train. |
| 10th do | 5.00 | do do | 5.39 | do. |
| 11th do | 6.45 | do do | 6.07 | do |
| 12th do | 6.45 | do do | 7.03 | do |

Stage will also leave Plainfield ave. and 7th st., and Rockview and Mercer aves., North Plainfield, according to the above time table, and make same connections.

Stage will make return trips over above routes, leaving Plainfield depot as follows: 8.07, 8.29, 9.37, 10.10, 11.30 A. M. 2.04, 2.30, 3.45 4.54, 5.30, 6.30, P. M.

Horses and Carriages kept expressly for ladies' pleasure and calling purposes. Saddle Horses a specialty, for gentlemen and ladies.

Busses after 7 o'clock in the evening, for private parties, at moderate rates.

M. A. HIGGINS, Proprietor.
STABLES—70 EAST FOURTH STREET.
Telephone Call, 18. 7-8 tf

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PROTECTED THROUGHOUT BY THE
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

On and after June 21, 1890, trains leave Elizabeth as follows:

9:35 A. M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus Cleveland, and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday, for Chicago and Toledo.

7:08 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car to Philadelphia daily to Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland and Toledo.

8:42 P. M. PACIFIC EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, and Toledo, daily except Saturday, for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South 1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05 A. M.; and 9 20 P. M On Sunday 1 00, 9 05 A. M. 9 20 P. M.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A.M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 39 P.M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY.

2:25 P. M. (Through parlor car and day coach, week-days. For time May, 1:39 P. M., week days.

For Brown's Mills-in-the-Pines, with through car, 2 2 P. M., week days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 50, 9 05, 9 35, 11 57 A. M.; 12 55, 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 6 27, 7 49, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 35, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40 7 47 and 9 39 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 09 A. M., 2 54 and 5 15 P. M.

For Lambertville and Phillipsburg only, 1 39 P.M.

For Flemington—7 09 A. M.; 2 54 P. M.

For Bordentown, Burlington and Camden via Trenton—7 09, 9 35, 11 57 A. M. 1 39, 2 54, 5 15, 7 49 P. M. Sundays at 5 40 41 A. M. and 7 47 P. M.

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

CHARLES E. PUGH, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in effect, June 22, 1890.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 37, 5 24, 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 28, 7 30, 7 58, 8, 8 15, 8 31, 9 37, 9 52, 10 05, 11 09, 11 29, a. M., 1, 2 07, 3 23, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 9 26, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—3 37, 5 24, 8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16 A. M., 12 33, 1 33, 3 20, 5 16 7 01, 7 10, 8 23, 8 52, 10 02 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 5 45, 7, 7 45, 8 45, 10, 11, A. M., 1, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, 5 30, 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 30, 7, 8 30, 9, 9 30, A. M., 12 M., 1, 1 15, 4, 5 30, 6, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 29, 6 59, 7 30, 8, 8 37, 9 32, 10 06, 11 09, 11 39, A. M., 1, 2 07, 2 30, 3 23, 3 51, 5 08, 5 31, 6 07, 6 54, 7 03, 8 31, 10 12, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 11 02, 11 16, A. M., 12 33, 1 50, 3 30, 5 16, 7 01, 7 10, 8 32, 10 02 P. M.

Leave Newark 7 10, 7 50, 8 55, 10 10, 11 05 A. M., 1 05, 1 35, 2 40, 3 40, 4 02, 4 37, 5 05, 5 30, 5 55, 6 25, 7 15, 7 35, 8 20, 9 35, 10 16, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 40, 9 05, 9 50, A. M., 12 05, 1 10, 4 10, 5 40, 6 05, 7 05, 9 25, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, 11, 11 58 A. M., 1 50, 3 12, 5 45, 6 05, 6 50, 8 50, 11 03, 7 12, 7 30 8 20, 9 45, 11 13, 12 43 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 15, 9 48, A. M., 2 03, 2 30, 5 14, 6 35, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 03, 7 25, 7 35, 7 48 9 05, 9 32, 11 15 A. M., 12 35, 1 34, 2 05, 3 34, 4 40, 5 12, 5 35, 8 05, 8 50, 11 05, P. M. Sunday—8 25, 10 35 A. M., 12 08, 1 05, 4 50, 6 40, 8 03, 9 05, 9 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7, 8 07, 9 42, A. M., 1 59, 4 34, 6 20, 6 58, 8 20 P. M. Sunday—5 45, 8 15 A. M., 2 03, 6 35 P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 8 44, 10 A. M., 12 32, 4 09, 6 49 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M., 6 40, 7 30 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7, 9 42 A. M., 1 59, 5 20 P. M. Sunday—8 13 A. M.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

7 A. M. for High Bridge branch and Easton.

8 07 A. M. for Flemington, D., L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 42 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

1 59 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, &c.

4 34 P. M. for D. L. & W. R. R., Easton, Bangor, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

5 20 P. M. for Flemington, High Bridge Branch, Schooley's Mountain, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, &c.

6 20 P. M. for Flemington.

6 58 P. M. for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg.

8 20 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton, 8 14 a. m. Sundays for High Bridge Branch, Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Shamokin, &c., 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua and Pottsville. 6 35 p. m Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c.

For Atlantic City, 3 37 a. m. 1 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.